Concentration On Great Britain Next German Move

HOPE FOR PEACE SAID TO BE AIM

France's Air and Land Armies Watch Movement of Troops Beyond Border While Awaiting Czech Crisis Developments

Nurnberg, Germany, Sept. 8. — (AP) — Adolf Hitler who yesterday ordered Sudeten Germans to discontinue negotiations for self-rule with the Czechoslovakian government, today instructed the minority leaders to resume their talks. The reason for this change, it was said, was the desire of the chancellor and self-styled protector of the Sudeten Germans to convince the world he was leaving nothing undone to find a peaceful solution to the Czech-German crisis.

Informed quarters said "with this additional evidence of conciliatory spirit to the Sudeten-German crisis, Hitler could all the more press on the British and demand maximum concessions from the Czechs in Sudeten administration."

"The German effort will now be concentrated on getting the British to act quickly and decisively," these sources added.

Konrad Henlein, Sudeten German leader, returned to Nurnberg this morning after an overnight journey to Czechoslovakia which he took in Hitler's behalf. The Sudeten leader ordered his followers to refrain from intensifying the conflict with Czechoslovakia and Hitler's negotiations with Britain, which are in progress. Henlein hastened home after receiving a report of the "horsewhipping" of a Sudeten deputy by a Czech policeman in a border town had caused a rupture of the Sudeten-Prague government negotiations. Henlein told his followers to reopen these negotiations, informed persons said.

Sarrequeines, On the Franco-German Frontier, Sept. 8.—(AP)—France's air and land armies in the Maginot zone watched movements of German troops across the frontier today and awaited developments in the Czechoslovakian crisis.

Citizens at Metz awoke to see large army observation balloons floating from cables high above the city. In the baskets observers scanned the northern horizon with field glasses and kept in touch with the ground crews by telephone.

French observation and pursuit planes roared over the valleys of the Maginot line of fortifications long before the morning fog had lifted.

During the night troops in the fortresses were strengthened by thousands of trained reserves and constant watch was kept in the garrisons and at the entrances of the underground forts.

Little parish churches of the frontier zone were lighted this morning by hundreds of candles placed before the altars by hundreds of devout Lorraine women.

Extradition Papers Are Sent To Lehman

Raleigh, Sept. 8.—(AP)—Governor Hoy today sent Governor Herbert Lehman of New York extradition papers in which he said Eddie Pope listed as under arrest in New York, was wanted in Robeson County for assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill and for forcible robbery with a deadly weapon, and asked that he be turned over to North Carolina officers.

DANGER ZONE IN CZECH CRISIS

This map shows the area literally resting on powder kegs as great armies of France and Germany face each other behind heavily fortified lines pending the outcome of the Czechoslovakian crisis. Thousands of soldiers, ready for an eventuality, are on guard in France's ironclad Maginot line of steel and concrete fortresses. Just across the border, prize troops of Hitler's armies are fortified in Germany's Siegfried Line. Reports, leaking through from Germany indicate the Siegfried line is backed up by a second defense barrier known as the Hindenburg line and still another that is nameless. The line of question marks on the map what may be the approximate location of these second and third lines.

POSTMISTRESS FACES CHARGE

Violates Federal Law By Aiding Senatorial Nominee

Washington, Sept. 8.—(AP)—The Senatorial Campaign Expenditures Committee expressed the opinion today in a formal statement that Mrs. Maud Toulson, postmistress at Salisbury, Md., had violated the federal laws by assisting Representative Lewis, Democrat, Maryland, in his campaign for the Democratic senatorial nomination. The committee said it would turn its findings over to the Justice Department and the Postmaster General.

The committee statement said the reports of its investigators "do not sustain the charge that the C. I. O. is financing the campaign of Representative Lewis." Lewis, who is President Roosevelt's choice in the Maryland primary against Senator Millard Tydings, asked the committee to investigate newspaper advertisements in which it was indicated that the C. I. O. had helped finance his campaign. Lewis charged that the advertisements were paid for by Tydings' supporters.

The committee investigation of Mrs. Toulson's activities was undertaken at the request of Senator Tydings.

Evidence presented by the investigators did not confirm the report that Morris Schapiro, president of the Boston Iron and Metal Company and Globe Brewing Company, had contributed $5,000 to Tydings' campaign fund.

The PWA reported 370 non-federal projects were under construction in the 1938 program. Simultaneously Administrator Ickes announced approval of an additional 51 non-federal projects having an estimated construction cost of about $8,700,000 toward which the PWA authority authorized nearly $4,000,000 in grants.

Allocations announced today included: Raleigh, State Capitol improvements $61,877. The treasury announced a $70,000 project for site and building of a new post-office at Scotland Neck had been added to the program to be carried out under the 1938 public works appropriations act.

LEASE OF LINE SUGGESTED AT BOARD SESSION

Fate of State-Owned Railroad to be Decided Later

DELAY IS ASKED TO STUDY PLANS

Atty. - General Outlines Gov. Hoy's Proposal to Stockholders and Directors At Goldsboro Meeting

Raleigh, Sept. 8.—(AP)—Governor Hoy today recommended to the board of directors and stockholders of the state-controlled Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad that the line be leased to the Southern Railway System or some other organization or that an agreement for its operation be reached with the Southern.

The stockholders and directors met in a postponed session at Goldsboro today and Governor Hoy had Attorney General Harry McMullan outline his plans. R. O. Self, chief clerk of the Utilities Commission, cast the state's proxy for the majority of the stock.

Hoy asked the governing bodies of the railroad to adjourn their meeting for 30 days or so to permit definite working out of plans if they approve the idea of leasing the line or securing its operation.

The Southern is interested in the operation of the line at the joint request of the state and the National Railroad Administration.

Goldsboro, Sept. 8.—Governor Hoy today moved toward leasing the state-owned Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad, preferably by leasing it to some railroad interested in operating the old Muller Line between here and Morehead City.

Through his personal representative, Attorney General Harry McMullan, the Governor recommended to the board of directors that careful and sympathetic study be given any feasible plan to lease the road.

No definite prospective lessee was named by Mr. McMullan for publication, but the Attorney General came here this morning almost directly from a trip to Washington, D. C., where he conferred with a number of railroad officials and with government agencies charged with supervision of railroad operation.

Final Rites For Mrs. Olivia Clark

Mrs. Olivia Clark, 61, wife of W. Jesse Clark, died at 8:30 yesterday evening at the home near Falkland following several months of failing health. Funeral services were held at the home at three o'clock this afternoon, conducted by Rev. L. B. Manning, Free Will Baptist minister of King's Cross Roads community. Burial followed in the Brewer family burying ground in Belvoir township.

Mrs. Clark was a faithful member of Gum Swamp Free Will Baptist church. She had spent her entire life in Pitt County and was well known throughout the western section of the county. She was the daughter of the late James Brewer, and Lizzie Corbett Brewer, of Belvoir Township.

In addition to her husband, other survivors include James Oliver Clark, of the home place, two daughters, Mrs. C. H. Garris, of Greene County, and Mrs. Dempsey Parker, of Belvoir township, seven grandchildren, three sisters Mr. J. E. Pollard, Falkland, Mrs. H. B. Basley, Durham, Mrs. Cora Meeks, Farmville; two brothers, J. P. Brewer, Belvoir township and S. J. Brewer, Tarboro.

Making Plans For Safety Divisions

F. E. Fox, representative of the Carolina Motor Club and American Automobile Association, is expected to return to Greenville during the ensuing week for the purpose of launching an anticipated safety patrol movement in the city school system.

Fox came to Greenville recently to work with school and law enforcement divisions toward establishing the program. The work is expected to trail the school opening next. Thousands of boys and girls are said to have been taught better citizenship due to training and supervision received as members of the patrols. Fox said that during the 16 years the Carolina Safety Club has operated in the two Carolinas, the organization has not realized a single child accident or fatality where the safety patrols were established.

M'CARRAN FAR AHEAD OF NEW DEALERS IN NEVADA

Senator Pat McCarran, opponent of President Roosevelt's Supreme Court and government reorganization plans, ran far ahead of two avowed New Dealers in his bid for re-nomination in Nevada's Democratic primary. McCarran and his wife are shown casting their ballots at Reno.

DIPHTHERIA ON UPWARD TREND

Seven Cases Already Reported for Month of September

Dr. N. Thomas Ennett, Pitt County health officer, said today that diphtheria is on an increase in the county and is continuing to spread.

Ten cases of the dreaded child health malady were reported during the month of August. Five of this number were among the white population. "For the present month," declared Dr. Ennett, "seven cases have already been reported."

It was explained that the ages of the present diphtheria patients ranges from one to six years. The present diphtheria increase, he said, is an average of one case per day.

Dr. Ennett stated that many parents do not seem to understand the importance of observing quarantine regulations. As an example, he said he went to a home earlier in the week for the purpose of putting up quarantine signs where there were three cases of diphtheria.

"Despite the fact that diphtheria prevailed in the home," said Dr. Ennett, "the parent had five children in school, and objected to their being excluded from school." He pointed out that the parent sent the children to school, knowing that children in the home were stricken with diphtheria.

"With any such lack of co-operation on the part of the parent," the health officer commented, "it will be almost impossible to control the disease."

Physicians recommend that babies from eight to twelve months of age be vaccinated against diphtheria. The health officer is urging all parents to have their children vaccinated in infancy. He said the children should be taken to the family physician. "All parents who are unable to have a private physician," he said, "can have the vaccination done at the health department any Wednesday or Saturday afternoon."

Prisoner Escapes From County Unit

F. W. Jacobs, Pitt County convict camp superintendent, said last night that Flaveris Pruitt, 22-year-old trusty, walked away from the camp yesterday. This was the first prisoner to escape from the Pitt prisoner camp over a period of three years.

Jacobs said that Pruitt was sentenced in Wake county last October to serve a sentence of from two to three years after being convicted on a charge of larceny of an automobile. He had completed 10 months of the sentence, Jacobs said. Pruitt was described by Jacobs as having red hair, is freckled face, and five feet, eight inches tall. The State Highway Patrol, sheriff's officers, and local police have joined in the search for the escaped prisoner.

Five Bond Issues Being Put To Vote On Monday

City Clerk Releases Sample Ballot for Election

Greenville citizens will go to the polls next Monday to vote for or against five separate bond issues approved by the federal government for this city. The five projects will entail an expenditure of more than half a million dollars but the approved grant from the government will cover 45 per cent of the total leaving the city to issue bonds for $343,000 to cover its part if all five of the issues carry.

The five projects include improvements to the water and light plant; the installation of a new fire alarm system; the erection and equipping of a new fire station; the erection and equipping of a city plant for the storage, maintenance and repairing of materials and equipment of the city street department.

In an interview this morning City Clerk J. O. Duval pointed out that each of the above mentioned projects are to be considered on a basis of separate and distinct from the others and that the citizens will be given the privilege of voting on each issue separately at the polls Monday. In reply to the question as to why the regular registration books instead of a special registration were to be used in this bond election, Mr. Duval stated that the State Local Government Commission had ruled that where the projects were considered as public necessities the regular registration books were to be used for bond elections and the commission classed each of the five projects as coming under the head of public necessities.

In recent meetings of the Board of Aldermen and other public meetings Martin Swartz, superintendent of Water and Light Commission set forth that the plant improvements being requested were an immediate necessity if the city was to continue to show the growth that it has shown in the past. He revealed that at present the electric plant was carrying almost a capacity load with practically no provision to take care of an emergency. He likewise pointed out that under its present and contemplated basis of earnings the commission could retire its own bonds and at the same time continue to pay over to the city a minimum of $50,000 a year to go into the general tax fund. He also expressed the belief that if the bond issues for all five of the proposed projects, the commission would be able to pay over to the city an additional $5,000 annually until such time as the city had retired enough of its present outstanding bonds to take over the new bonds without any increase in the present city tax rate of $1.00.

Mayor M. K. Blount in presenting facts regarding the other four projects pointed out the need of the city for a modern and adequate city hall. He likewise called attention to the necessity for a new fire station in order that the fire fighting equipment might be moved to a less congested section of the city. The present location adjacent to the city hall.

REFERENDA IS PROGRAM TEST

Cotton and Tobacco Farmers to Cast Ballots; Meanwhile Department Officials Estimate 1938 Cotton Production At 11,825,000 Bales

Washington, Sept. 8.—(AP)—Cotton and tobacco farmers will get the opportunity soon to vote on continuing for another year the crop control programs approved last spring for the 1938 yields. Federal farm officials said today they had begun arrangements for submitting the question at new referenda, probably in December, since there was little doubt that cotton and tobacco supplies would be excessive.

Officials said they regarded the forthcoming referenda as an important test of the farm legislation. It will be the first opportunity for the farmers who have tried out its provisions, to express themselves.

Some farmers have expressed dissatisfaction with the operation of the act, particularly with respect to providing the government with authority to regulate crop sales and levy penalties on those exceeding their quotas.

Two thirds of the growers of each of the crops participating in the election must approve the programs to make them effective.

Cotton and tobacco farmers gave the programs overwhelming approval in the first referenda.

Meanwhile agricultural department officials estimate this year's cotton crop at 11,825,000 bales. This estimate based on September 1 conditions compared with 11,985,000 bales forecast a month ago. 18,946,000 bales produced last year and an average production of 13,201,000 bales during the 10 years period from 1927 to 1936.

The census bureau reported 1,331,745 bales of 1938 growth had been ginned prior to September 1 compared with 1,874,320 to that date last year and 1,374,247 bales two years ago.

Acres remaining for harvest, condition of the crop September 1, indicated per acre yield lint cotton, indicated production by states include North Carolina, 902,000; 61 (Continued on page eight)

Civil Court Term to Start Here Monday

J. Frank Harrington, clerk of Pitt Superior court, said today that a civil session will get under way Monday morning, with Judge J. Paul Frizzelle of Snow Hill, presiding.

Clerk Harrington said that a heavy docket prevails and that court officials will likely have enough cases to keep them busy during the whole time the court is in session.

J. H. Rose Had Close Call From Injury

J. H. Rose escaped possible serious injury yesterday afternoon at one of the city schools after he had leaned over a window sill to call a janitor.

When Mr. Rose proceeded to draw himself back into the building, a sash cord snapped and the heavy window dropped on Mr. Rose's shoulders. Had the accident occurred two or three seconds later, a severe injury would likely have been the result.

The number of chemical agents to which the skin is exposed in everyday life has increased enormously during recent decades.

Recently there has been developed a method called "patch-testing" by which the patient, with comparatively little discomfort may be tested.

substance, in full strength or diluted, is put upon a small piece of gauze. The gauze is then affixed to the skin for 24 hours or longer. If the individual is sensitive to the suspected substance, an area of redness and swelling develops at the place of the application.

Many cases of dermatitis are caused by excessive irritation. When healthy skin is subjected to prolonged assault, it is likely to break down.

Thus the occasional use of an alkali soap or alkali-containing washing powder may not hurt the skin of the hands; but prolonged immersion of the hands in such solutions will in time destroy the horny top layer and produce a dermatitis.

Once such a "traumatic" dermatitis has been produced, even minor irritants such as dust or washing of the hands with soap and water but once or twice a day may suffice to keep up the inflammation. In addition to the dermatitis caused by traumatic agents and experiences, there is what is called the sensitization dermatitis. In this condition the skin appears to have acquired an uncommon sensitiveness to a heretofore harmless substance. This is seen notably in trades, such as baking where a baker becomes sensitive to dough. Individuals may acquire sensitiveness to hair dyes, lipstick, face powder, and to such antiseptics as picric acid and boric acid. Even areas of skin on parts of the body not exposed to the provocative agent may become inflamed.

Washington Daybook

By JOHN COLLIER (U. S. Commissioner of Indian Affairs)

Washington—There is a widespread belief that the so-called New Deal for Indians is a novel, unprecedented thing which leaped into action from the brains of Brain Trustees in 1933. The case of the Jicarilla Apaches serves to correct that misunderstanding.

Across 40 years, after the United States annexed the Southwest, the Apaches were the terror of everybody else, and the Jicarilla Apaches were as bad as the worst. In 1887, the Jicarillas were set down on a tract in New Mexico upon the high plateau which straddles the Continental Divide, close to the Colorado line.

In that same year the General Allotment act for Indians was passed, requiring the breaking up of tribal lands into individual holdings, and disregarding even the family institution among Indians. Under this act, the Indians lost ninety million acres of their best land in the 45 years after 1887.

Hopeless, Dying
Twenty years ago, the Jicarilla Apaches were an embittered, hopeless and literally a dying tribe. Their families had fallen from 795 in 1909 to 585 in 1919. They were leasing their entire reservation — 750,000 acres — to commercial stockmen for $10,000 a year, and they were starving upon this lease money and U. S. doles.

In that hopeless hour, there were two necessities. One was to check the shocking death rate. The other was to get the Jicarillas to go to work. The work could be only one sort—livestock work. The devastating mortality rate was partly a refect of a despairing and unoccupied intellectual and emotional life. Small issues of sheep were made to each family on a loan basis. Additional issues rewarded ability and willingness. As a result, from an embittered and dying people in 1920, the Jicarillas last year, after 18 years of upbuilding, showed an earned tribal income which had jumped from $10,000 to $150,000, and an earned individual income which had jumped from $20 to $200. In place of dying, they were multiplying.

The Indian Reorganization Act was advocated by President Roosevelt and signed by him in 1934. Almost everybody said: "These Jicarillas will not understand the act. The only time they have ever taken collective responsibility was on the warpath. Their ancient forms simply cannot be readjusted into a modern program. Forget about the Jicarillas." In addition many people said: "There is an Indian trader who for 40 years has been a sort of federal overlord of the Jicarillas. His name is Emmet Wirt and he will never let the Jicarillas organize." Hopeful, Thriving Curious to know the real situation, I went there and was met by this reputedly ruthless dictator, Emmet Wirt. He proved to be one of the most interesting human beings I have met in years. He insisted the Jicarillas were capable of any reasonable adjustment the Indians. Most of them do not read English or talk it, but the questions they asked probed to the heart of Indian affairs.

FIND ACCURACY IN GIN SCALES

Experts Indicate One-Fifth Weighing Devices are "Off"

Raleigh, Sept. 8.—Reports of North Carolina Department of Agriculture weight experts indicate that only about one-fifth of cotton gin scales are now accurate, compared with the nearly 90 per cent inaccurate heavy duty scales found in a preliminary check made in 30 counties last year.

The inspectors have been on the road for three weeks now in a state-wide testing tour which is expected to last almost two years.

"A general cleanup and repair program has been adopted by gin scale operators," said Fred P. Johnson, the department's gin inspector with a result that the percentage of inaccuracies found on this tour has dropped to 20 per cent."

When the U. S. Bureau of Standards loaned the weight and measures division government-owned testing equipment last year a check of heavy duty scales in 30 counties resulted in finding some 87 per cent to be inaccurate.

"Ginners, as a class, have cleaned up their scales, made repairs and in many cases have installed scales within the past year," Mr. Johnson said. "They were looking forward to receiving state certificates of accuracy."

"Ginners and other scale owners realize that the scales testing is being made as much for their benefit as in behalf of the consumer."

The inspectors carry with them some 11,000 pounds of weights to check scales. They plan to test all ginners' scales and all other heavy duty scales throughout the state.

This task, the department estimates, will require practically two years to complete.

"She has a very wonderful scrap book, accumulated over a period of years, which contains thousands of items and stories about the navy. And she has also received letters, from the Secretary of Navy down to second class seamen."

"For awhile she was wearing the rating of a signalman second class, but someone advised her they thought she didn't know quite enough to rate second class, so she justed herself down to signalman third. She wears two 'hash' marks (service stripes), each indicating four years service. Next May 13 she will have had 12 years service and she will add a third stripe."

"She never goes out with men—is always with her mother, and spends her spare time as a dancing instructor."

"The Texas is her favorite ship. While we were in New York she was aboard three of the four days. She always salutes the flag when she comes aboard and also the officer of the deck. On each visit she was equipped with a Texas library card which someone had procured for her."

"And that's about all. When we left New York she was standing at the Battery signaling semaphore. She certainly seems fascinated by the navy and especially the signal corps."

FIVE BOND ISSUES BEING PUT TO VOTE ON MONDAY

Five Points, he pointed out, is one of the most congested parts of the city and the answering of a fire alarm from the present station is a hazard to life and property. The present fire alarm system, he pointed out, has been in operation here for the past 25 years and the growth of the city during that time has rendered the present system inadequate. Regarding the procuring of a site and the erection of a plant for storage and maintenance of street department materials and supplies, the mayor pointed out that while this apparently was one of the minor projects, as a matter of fact it would save the city several times its cost within the period of a few years.

In giving the press a sample ballot this morning Clerk Duval requested that each person to visit the polls to cast his or her vote for or against any of the issues be emphasized. He likewise made it clear that each of the issues was to be voted on separately and a voter could cast his or her vote according to his or her own desires on each of the projects without affecting the other projects.

met the home of Mrs. Oscar Teft Tuesday evening at 8:30 o'clock. The program consisted of a study of the life of Booker T. Washington. Members related to the bill with quotations from Washington. Miss Christine Cline gave a short sketch of the life of Booker T. Washington, and Mrs. Belle Atkinson recited his Cotton States Exposition speech. A brief discussion followed which included Washington philosophy of education for the Negro and also his ideas for his economic salvation.

While 288,000 more persons moved from farm to city in this country in 1937, than vice versa, farm population still showed a gain because of the high birth rate.

Man About Manhattan

By George Tucker

New York—Perhaps you noticed a young woman in a Middy's jacket down on the docks when those two naval destroyers were at anchor in the Hudson recently—I mean the U.S.S. Texas and the Wyoming which put into port here at the conclusion of the Midshipmen's cruise.

She piqued your imagination, really, for she was communicating via semaphors with the signal officer aboard the Texas, and she accomplished this chore with such precise sureness that I inquired after her. I was standing with Midshipman James Elsom, of Chicago, at the time and he said, "Yes, she's very good at that. If you want some information on her I'll be glad to dig it up for you."

"That'll be swell," I told him. "I certainly will be glad to have it."

Next morning the Texas and the Wyoming sailed with the tide, and three days later came this communication from my midshipman correspondent:

"That story about the girl who was so absorbed in signaling proved more interesting than I thought. I'll start at the beginning. She first came aboard a navy ship on May 13, 1927, on the Texas, and since that time she has been on 76 ships. The navy is her hobby. She refuses to marry because she doesn't want to bore a civilian with constant chatter about the navy, and a navy man would want a rest from it."

"Her name is Elizabeth Kling. She wears a jumper similar to that of a sailor's. Naval officers have spoken to her about wearing a

'RETURN TO SANITY'

As the primaries continue to come off it becomes more evident that Mr. Roosevelt's political "purge" is back-firing on him, the voters showing clearly that they are still not ready to be dictated to in the matter of electing their statesmen. Dale Miller, associate editor of the Texas Weekly terms the actions of these primaries as evidence of a "return to political sanity within the Democratic party itself."

GAINING ON DEATH

During the first six months of this year, 3,670 automobile deaths were prevented in this country! That is based on a comparison of motor vehicle deaths in the first half of 1938 as against the same period in 1937. The decline in fatalities that began last November carried through encouragingly until July.

So far so good. But, as the National Safety Council points out, "This is no time to quit in our fight for safety. This is just the beginning." We've won a partial victory. Unremitting effort on the part of every motorist, pedestrian, traffic judge and law enforcement officer is needed if the victory is to be ultimately complete.

Some of the most dangerous driving months lie ahead. Traffic during September is always heavy. And with the coming of the rains, snow and ice, plus the shorter daylight hours of fall and winter, motoring presents new and difficult hazards. There will be no time for standing still and praising past achievements in safety, until December 31 has passed, and the figures are all in.

A saving of 3,670 lives is a magnificent thing. And it shows that traffic accidents, the pessimists to the contrary, can be sharply reduced. During the first half of this year, there was more and better organized community and state safety work than ever before. We have gradually learned that sporadic safety campaigns solve no problem, and that permanence and continuity of effort are vital. We are learning what courteous, "fixless" law enforcement can do. And we are also learning the excellent results that follow better traffic engineering and scientific traffic control.

You're one of the soldiers in this fight against death. The country needs your help. Keep up the good work—and make it still better.

Had Bully Time.

SHORT SHOTS

By HENRY AVERILL

Reflector Bureau. Raleigh, Sept. 8.—It has probably been a long time since the Supreme Court heard oral arguments in three such picayunish criminal cases as were on its calendar this week—certainly a long time since such a trio constituted the only criminal causes from the districts being called.

One was the appeal of W. C. Thorne, Elm City filling station man from a fine of $15 imposed for violation of a city ordinance making it unlawful for any person to keep a store or place of business open after 8 a. m. on Sunday. He sold soft drinks and other merchandise in addition to gasoline and oil. Appellant argues he should come under an ordinance closing filling stations from 10 a. m. to 12 noon.

Number Two was the appeal of the State, on behalf of the State Board of Examiners of Plumbing and Heating Examiners, from the acquittal (on special verdict) of Jay L. Ingle of Asheville. The question is whether or not Ingle must or must not have a license from the state board. It seems that he performed the labor necessary for the proper installation of plumbing fixtures and received a lump sum price for his work, which the State insists constituted him a plumber contractor rather than a journeyman plumber, for which latter function he held a license.

Number Three involves efforts of Chris Moschoures of Asheville to avoid a sentence of 18 months for possession of liquor, plus another 18 months suspended sentence for selling the same. Christ got only four months in the General County court of Buncombe on a plea of not guilty and convicted by a jury; but he appealed to Superior court, entered a guilty plea and when a deputy sheriff testified he was one of the "big shots" in the Butter and Egg racket, Judge Alley handed out the stiffer sentence, which Chris' lawyers now argue was "cruel and inhuman."

Director R. R. McLaughlin of the Motor Vehicle Division took some samples of the state's proposed 1939 automobile tags over to show to Governor Clyde R. Hoey Wednesday morning.

The numbers on the new tags show up a bit better than those on the present crop, but the lettering of "North Carolina" is nothing to brag about, the numbers are horrible and the aluminum in which the numbers are painted against a maroon background looks bilious to a degree.

Improper alignment of the numbers is due to the fact that the State Highway Commission attempted to make their own dies and made a mess of the attempt.

Probably some improvement will be made before actual manufacture of the tags on any large scale is attempted. It is devoutly to be hoped, at any rate.

Dudley Bagley, state REA director, runs all over the state in an automobile well in the low priced field upon the speedometer of which he had put more than 100,000 miles since he assumed office in 1935. He says he has been in every county during the three year period.

One of the liveliest subjects of debate in North Carolina is whether the 1939 General Assembly will do anything about reform of the existing election laws.

Your correspondent will lay one sfall wager, to-wit: If the Republicans should capture the Eighth district seat over which W. O. Burgin and C. B. Deane have done so much squabbling, the legislature will do something. What it will do is something else again.

In the final analysis it's going to be distantly up to the Governor. If he fights for election reform, the state will get it; if he doesn't, no drastic action need be expected.

The fastest creature that lives is a small fly that looks like a honeybee. It is a scant half inch long and is estimated by scientists to attain a speed of 800 miles an hour. It is the cephemymia, a species of botfly.

NOTICE OF SPECIAL BOND ELECTION AND NEW REGISTRATION

Arthur School District of Pitt County $15,000 School Bonds

A special election will be held between the hours of 7:00 A. M. and Sunset, Eastern Standard time, September 27, 1938, at which there will be submitted to the qualified voters of the Arthur School District of Pitt County, which comprises the territory hereinafter described, the question of issuing not exceeding $15,000 bonds of said school district for the purpose of erecting and equipping a new school building and purchasing a site therefor and altering and equipping existing school buildings in said school district.

The boundary lines of the Arthur School District are as follows:

Beginning at Adam's Bridge and thence northwest along Little Contentnea Creek to Old Woman's Branch; thence along Old Woman's Branch to four corners; thence northeast along the Falkland District line to the Dew farm, (which is not included); thence east through the pocon along the Falkland District line to the Claude Allgood farm, (which is not included); thence east along the Falkland District line to the corner of the Lon Rountree farm on Highway No. 43; thence south along the Greenville District line to the corner of the Tank Smith farm, (which is included); thence down Norfolk & Southern Railroad to the Greenville Township line at the railroad trestle; thence down Patrick's Branch to Highway No. 264; thence down Patrick's Branch to the Country Club; thence around the Country Club to the Mill Run; thence up Mill Run to the Ben Jolly farm (which is not included); and the following lands adjoining the Ben Jolly farm are also not included: lands of J. T. and P. B. Manning; lands of H. P., N. S., N. W., and R. K. Tyson; lands of Mrs. James Case; and lands of J. E. Joyner; thence along Long Branch to Little Contentnea Creek and Adam's Bridge, the beginning.

If said bonds shall be issued, a tax will be levied on all taxable property within the Arthur School District sufficient for the payment of the principal and interest of such bonds.

A new registration has been ordered and no one will be permitted to vote unless registered anew. The books for such new registration will remain open from 9:00 A. M. until Sunset on each day, except Sundays and holidays, beginning August 27, 1938, and closing Saturday night, September 17, 1938. On each Saturday during said registration period said books shall remain open at the polling place.

The Polling place and the names of the election officers, subject to change as provided by law, are as follows:

Polling Place: Mack Smith's Store; Registrar: Melton McLaughlin; Judge Jack Smith, Robert McArthur.

By order of the Board of Commissioners for the County of Pitt. J. C. GASKINS, Clerk. Aug. 23-daily-thru. Sept. 26.

CAROLINA GETS TRIPLE THREAT

'Sweet' Lalanne Being Groomed to Replace Stirnweiss

Chapel Hill, Sept. 8.—With George Stirnweiss out for perhaps three weeks or a month, Jim "Sweet" Lalanne, sophomore triple-threat, who hails from Louisiana, is being groomed to take over the key position of the North Carolina backfield.

Lalanne's three backfield mates are all seasoned campaigners. At halfbacks are George Watson, the Southern Conference's outstanding blocker, and George Radman, able understudy of Tom Burnette last fall. At fullback will be Jack Kraynick, who alternated so well with Art Ditt in 1937, or Tony Cernigle apparently recovered from an injury which interrupted his career two years ago.

Although not the ideal physical build that coaches dream of—he weighs only 163 and is but 5 feet 9—Lalanne has many fine points to offset his deficiency in size.

First of all, he's considered the best passer on the squad. He has the knack of pegging accurately a toss while on the gallop. Lalanne was tutored in spring practice by Sammy Baugh, Washington Redskins star, who rated by many the greatest passer in collegiate or pro ball. He has learned to get his passes off fast and he shoots them like a rifle.

Fast and elusive, Lalanne is also above the average as a runner, and

Speakin' O' Records

St. George, S. C., Sept. 8.—(AP)—Players in a softball marathon started here Monday morning were not stopped by the two rains yesterday but the game was called in the 350th inning, at 2:25 a. m. today, because of a dense fog.

"You couldn't see two feet in front of you in that fog," commented McCoy Johnston, St. George business man.

The score at the close of the marathon—aimed at beating the "world's record" which Johnston said was not known—was Reevesville-Grover 441, St. George 391.

Another marathon will be held "if we find out that this hasn't beaten the record," said Johnston.

Carlisle McAlhenny, iron man pitcher for the Reevesville-Grover outfit, threw away his shoes toward the last because of swollen ankles. McAlhenny retired from the mound yesterday after hurling for 230 consecutive innings, but returned for 10 more innings last night.

The actual playing time for the marathon was 43 hours. Each team used about 25 players.

he is a capable kicker. His boots last year carried distances ranging from 35 to 55 yards. In the final analysis he wound up the season with an average of approximately 40 yards.

Finally, the Louisiana flash is smart and alert. His choice of plays was particularly good throughout his freshman year. He seldom gets rattled or jittery. He has strong psychological elements in his favor.

Kinston, Sept. 8.—New Bern yesterday scored its fourth straight victory over Kinston, 6-3, and moved into the Coastal Plain League finals. The Bruins will meet the winner of the Tarboro-Snow Hill semi-finals.

Jim McMullan, Kinston right-hander, pitched four-hit ball until the seventh inning, when New Bern tallied a half-dozen runs on six hits and a walk. Lefty Muhlenbein, who relieved McMullan, pitched hitless ball the rest of the way. Lefty Burgess pitched the victory. He yielded 10 hits and struck out 10.

A single by Norwood opened New Bern's big inning. He scored on Ben Roth's triple, and Roth tallied on a single by Mack. The bases were filled when Barnes singled and Burge walked. Wayne Harper's single sent in two runs, and a vain throw to the plate enabled Burge and Harper to move up. Red Harper then cracked another two-run single.

The Eagles' first run came in the fifth inning—and it was their first score in 25 innings. Lefty Hamons blanked them in Monday's game, and Duden Archer wielded the whitewash brush yesterday. Kinston's fifth inning run came on a mixture of two singles—by McMullan and Wright—a sacrifice and a wild pitch.

TODAY'S GAME At Tarboro: 3:30 o'clock.

Snow Hill, Sept. 8.—Tarboro evened the Coastal Plain League semi-final series with Snow Hill by staging a three-run rally in the sixth inning for a 7-4 win here yesterday.

The Serpents' game-winning runs came as the result of homers. Ben Bullock, Puquay Springs boy, started things off by belting one over the right-field wall. Ace Elliott walked and came home on Maynard's homer over the left-field barrier. That was all for Lou Cicereale and Steve Studol took over the pitching job.

Except for the brief time that Snow Hill held a 3-2 lead—as a result of Jim Taylor's two-run homer in the third—the clubs were even on even innings until Tarboro put on its game-clinching act.

There was quite an argument during the Billies' fourth. Tarboro had gone ahead in its half by scoring a couple of runs. In the home half, one tally was registered as a result of three singles—by Joyner, Soufas and Bistrot—and Rabb's infield out. The argument over umpire Johnson's ruling that Monk Joyner failed to touch third en route to the plate. Joyner was called out.

The Characters
 Hugo Stern, handsome author, living on the French Riviera.
 Archie Lumsden, myself, Hugo's friend.
 René Geiss, cartoonist and murderer de luce.
 Otilie Wills, beautiful American heiress.

Yesterday: Disregarding Hugo's warning, Otilie poses for Geiss. We go after her.

Chapter 28 First Fetters Of Love

"GET UP!" Hugo said harshly. "You're coming back with us at once. Your uncle is waiting for you."

"Uncle?" she said on a different note. "Goodness! Is he getting fretful too? Well, in that case, I'd better be going. Mr. Geiss," she said, "I fancy we'll have to call it a day. It's been a lovely party, and I'd certainly like to come again."

As she spoke, she flashed a mocking, impish look at Hugo, and I heard him swear under his breath. I could not blame him, for that girl, when she set her mind to it, could have irritated an archangel; and yet she was such a lovely sight as she stood silhouetted against the dark hangings that I, for one, felt my rage fading away.

The cartoonist looked from one to the other of us, livid with fury. "Yes," he said slowly. "You will come again, and you are quite right—there will be no interruption." He took a step nearer, staring at her intently with his opaque eyes. "Strange," he said, "never before have I used a model that so inspired me. Yet I have never studied you before." He drew a hand across his eyes. "It is like a remembered dream," he added, half to himself.

The girl caught her breath. "I guess it must have been a dream," she said uncertainly, and as she spoke Hugo picked up the thick white woolen wrap that lay on the dais, and threw it across her shoulders.

"That's enough," he said harshly. "Come along out of this."

He led her through the door and down the passage. As we reached the hall there came a sudden interruption. Cassandra Chubb leaped from her chair by the door and rushed at us, emitting a stifled squeak of fury mixed with relief. "Well!" she said. "Otilie Wills, of all the ways to act!"

"Don't, Chubby!" said the girl. "Don't you start scolding. I've got plenty of that coming from other quarters." She gave a half-appréhensive, half-mischievous glance at Hugo. "You're mad with me, aren't you?" she added, naively questioning him.

Hugo moved impatiently. "To be angry with anyone," he told her, "presupposes a certain regard or respect. This last effort of yours so completely passes the bounds of reason that all I can feel is a profound pity for the people who are obliged to look after you."

The girl caught her breath sharply. Her dark eyes flashed daggers at him, and even Miss Chubb at my side gasped in a shocked way.

"My, my!" said she. "On the pavement Otilie turned, her air subdued, her expression all meekness. "Shall I go straight home," she asked, "or shall I tell you what I found out? Once we get together with Uncle, there'll be no more private talking."

"I hope," Hugo said icily, "that your news will be worth the trouble and anxiety your visit has caused."

She looked up at him quickly, musingly yet apprehensive, then drew a deep breath and folded her hands. "Well," she said, "first and foremost, he's asked me to visit a thing they call the 'braderie'—it's a sort of fair and they hold it next Sunday. He asked wouldn't I bring my uncle along, and I said he couldn't walk, because of a lame foot, but that didn't seem to worry Mr. Geiss. All he was concerned about was that I should be there."

The Decoy Duck

"That's simple," I said. "He gets you planted somewhere as the decoy duck, and sends an urgent call to your uncle. What did you say?"

She grinned impishly. "I acted the bashful maiden," she said. "Didn't know if I could go out with him alone, but let him see I'd love to. That's how it stands at the moment. Second," she checked off an item on her fingers, "a friend of his has a yacht which is expected in the harbor tomorrow. She's a seagoing boat, and the friend may shortly take a long cruise in her. He's invited me for a sail in her on Saturday afternoon."

I whistled. "That's interesting. I presume she belongs to either Stahl or Rakovsky, but what's she there for?"

"In case their plans miscarry," said Hugo. His manner was still stiff and formal, but I could see a glint of interest in his eye. "If the yacht is registered under a foreign flag, it would be an admirable way of getting away in a hurry."

The girl nodded slowly. "I guessed that," she agreed. "But why, unless the man's a lunatic, did he tell me about her?"

"Because, my dear," said I, "in

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

Hollywood—Some of these movie people don't have to worry about any balmy old-age pension schemes. Most of them would swap the best of very-Thursday like this—snap!—just for a one-way ticket into a healthy, active movie family.

Once he's in, he's hard to get off the payroll as a relative with the inside dope on the producer. And these comfortable niches, the equivalent of life-time berths for actors, are multiplying as the weeks go by.

SEEK CHANGES IN STATE LAW

Where they haven't families in this new studio craze, they have the equivalent in what amounts to old-time serial stuff—with a difference. The old serials of the Pearl White era were two-reelers, each episode leaving its heroine dangling from a cliff or caught in the nangle at the laundry or facing some such fate worse than death. Today's are features, telling their story at one sitting, but saving the character or further use in sequels.

This type is flourishing. Bonita Granville is set for a long time to come as Nancy Drew, the girl detective. So is Frankie Thomas, her youthful vis-à-vis—contracted on his assurance that his adolescent voice won't change before they've trapped the last crook Lucille Ball as Annabelle the Movie Queen won't be idle either. With her press-agent Jack Oakie she is already involved in further laughable adventures—but when Oakie's contract expires she may have to get a new P. A. Those things can't be predicted.

studying the question with a view to making recommendations to the 1939 General Assembly. Exemption, argued that effects of exemption would be ruinous and disastrous to local governmental units.

Caldwell rebutted charges of "discrimination" made against the proposed exemptions by pointing out that there are exemptions for practically every other subject of taxation except real estate, on which no deductions of any kind are authorized. He contended that there would be some loss of revenue to the counties and cities, but argued that the people of the state, at the polls, have spoken in favor of some exemptions on homesteads; and said that less of revenue can, in large measure, be made up by listing higher valued estates at sums nearer their real replacement values than is done at present.

On the one hand, the contentions of the North Carolina Grange, which favors an exemption of $300 on homesteads were presented by State Master Harry B. Caldwell. ## MOTORISTS GRIT TEETH AS HEN MAKES UP MIND

Wilmette, Ill.—(AP)—A bewildered chicken, running around and around from side to side of the Wilmette-Central avenue intersection tied up traffic from four directions the other night.

Motorists blatted and moored their horns, shouted and swore, which of course, did not help the chicken get straightened out.

The fowl finally found haven in the arms of Edward J. Flannery, stock broker, who took it to his suburb home.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Sept. 8—(AP)—Light buying support helped to stem early slide in today's stock market and closing quotations, while generally lower displayed no particular weakness. A handful of rubber and building material and specialties showed no main comeback stimulus while most was able to emerge with only small fractional gains and some fell back at the finish.
Transactions approximated 550,000.

Convene For Meeting At Asheville Friday

J. H. Rose, city school superintendent, left for Asheville today for a public hearing and general meeting of the Government's Education Commission, which is making a study of North Carolina schools for the purpose of making possible curricular change suggestions to the next General Assembly.

Supt. Rose said the hearing would be conducted Friday and that the general session will last all day Saturday. He will return to Greenville Sunday.

Tenders Resignation As Sheriff Of Onslow

Jacksonville, N. C.—Sept. 8—(AP)—Sheriff D. W. Russell Jr., confined abed in a New Bern hospital, has tendered his resignation to the board of county commissioners. The resignation was accepted and the board appointed B. P. Morton, the sheriff-nominate to fill the unexpired term.

Vaccinating Students County School Units

Following a conference between D. H. Conley, Pitt county school superintendent, and Dr. N. Thomas Ennet, health officer, the health department nurses are now visiting schools in the county system for the purpose of making vaccinations against smallpox.

When work is completed, the health department will inspect the students of the schools for such conditions as scabies (itch) and pediculosis (parasites of the hair).

Dr. Ennet said that the health department is this year exerting every effort to see that a child may attend school without catching some contagious disease.

Kiwanians Will Hear Judge Paul Frizzelle

Judge J. Paul Frizzelle of Snow Hill will be the principal speaker at a regular meeting of the Greenville Kiwanis Club tomorrow night at 7 o'clock. He has been invited to speak on the Constitution in observance of Constitution Week, Sept. 11 to 17.

The Kiwanis Club began observance of this week in 1922, an occasion which is described as "having great appeal." The main purpose of the fête is to bring to the citizens, fundamentals of free government and patriotic observance and development of a "more intelligent aggressive and servably citizenship."

Mayor M. K. Blount and one or two other city officials will speak briefly on the proposed municipal improvement projects, which will be put to a vote on Monday of the coming week.

PLAN CROP CONTROL VOTE FOR MONTH OF DECEMBER

Total ginnings to September 1 as reported by the census bureau included; North Carolina 1,714 bales.

Raleigh, Sept. 8—(AP)—E. F. Arnold, executive secretary of the North Carolina Farm Federation, said today he would confer with federal agriculture officials in Washington this week-end on plans for the 1939 tobacco crop program. The executive committee of the federation last night instructed Arnold to pursue the matter of continuation of crop control at once and to report back at a series of meetings in the tobacco counties starting next week. Continued control is needed to assure farmers a reasonable price, Arnold said.

Reports given the executive committee meeting in Wilson were that the opinion for continued control did not seem unanimous but was overwhelmingly above the necessary two-thirds majority of the growers. The committee adopted resolutions opposing any changes in the regulations which would permit the tax free sale of any tobacco, scrap or otherwise, in excess of quotas, Arnold said. He said some pressure was being exerted to allow the sale of scrap tobacco outside of the quota limits on a tax free or a lower tax basis.

The results of the Washington conference on tobacco control and proposed changes in the peanut control program will be reported by Arnold meetings of farmers in Pitt county at Greenville September 15; at a similar meeting to Johnston county farmers in Smithfield September 16, and to Wilson county county farmers at Wilson September 17.

LEASE OF LINE SUGGESTED AT MEETING OF BOARD

Inasmuch as the state owns approximately two-third of the stock in the A. and N. C., the Governor's recommendations amounted to directions and consideration of plans for leasing the road, or at least devising some new form of operation were immediately begun.

R. O. Self, chief clerk of the Utilities Commission, attended to vote the state's stock as proxy for the Governor.

There were strong intimations that the leasing program is likely in the not too distant future, as the Governor, through the Attorney General, advised against election of officers at this time, indicating that there would be no need for installing a new official setup.

H. P. Crowell, who has been in active charge of management of the Mullet Line, has been opposed in many quarters, but will almost certainly continue in charge until something definite is accomplished. Prior to today's meeting there were many reports that the directors, at the Governor's suggestion, would consider the possibility of selling the road; but nothing was done, in the open at least, along that line.

There is not the slightest doubt that Governor Hoey and all the directors would jump at the chance to sell, and thus permanently rid themselves of a perennial headache; but at present there is no legal authority for them to do so, and as far as can be learned there is no prospective purchaser in sight.

Some months ago the Governor was approached by certain North Carolina interests who wanted to find out what could be done in the matter of buying the Mullet Line, but when the matter was referred to the Attorney General—then Supreme Court Justice A. A. F. Sewell—it was learned that there would have to be legislative authorization before any sale is possible.

With that, the interests lost all interest as they were planning either to buy the road then or do something else. When they found they could not buy immediately but would be forced to wait until another session of the legislature, at the earliest, they dropped out of the picture.

The road has been something of a losing proposition of recent years and, in addition, there has been perpetual and incessant bickering over its operation.

Crowell was imported from the North as an outstanding expert in doctoring sick railroads, but despite his reputation in the matter of getting better results.

Recently drastic reductions in operating expenses, including wholesale layoffs have helped to keep the road out of the red.

NOTICE OF SUMMONS North Carolina—Pitt County. In The Superior Court. Town of Greenville

Edenton Harris and wife, Rena (or Renner), Harris, The defendant, Edenton Harris, will hereby take notice that a civil action entitled as above has been instituted in the Superior Court of Pitt County, North Carolina, for the purpose of foreclosing tax liens for the year 1927 to 1935, both inclusive, held by the plaintiff and against said defendant against the real property of the defendant described in Book M-16, at page 253; and said defendant will further take notice that he is required to be and appear before the Clerk of the Superior Court of Pitt County at his office in the court house in Greenville, N. C., within thirty days after service hereof and answer or demur to the complaint filed herein, or the relief therein demanded will be granted. This the 15th day of August, 1938. J. F. HARRINGTON, Clerk Superior Court. Harding & Lee, Attys. Aug. 23-30-Sept. 6-13.
