CZECHO SEEKS ASSURANCE OF RUSSIA'S HELP

Foreign Office Expert Confers With Soviet Minister

CONVERSATIONS HELD AT GENEVA

Czechs Believed Trying Influence Russia To Approach Britain and France

Geneva, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Czechoslovakia was reported today to have asked Russian officials here for the Soviet Union's support against delivering over the Sudeten-German area to Germany.

E. Heldrich, Czechoslovak foreign office expert, conferred with Jacob Surits, Russian ambassador to France, and was said later to have seen Maxim Litvinoff, foreign commissar of foreign affairs.

Neither Russian nor Czech quarters, however, would say anything officially except that "this is a very delicate matter."

Persons in contact with both delegations said they understood the Czechoslovaks proposed that Russia try to induce France and Great Britain to stiffen their stands against Germany, should Prague refuse to accept Reichsfuehrer Hitler's terms.

These sources hinted the Czechoslovaks also asked the Russian diplomats what chance there was of getting military aid from the Soviet Union in the event Prague went to war and France and Britain refused to help.

If Germany should invade Czechoslovakia and the League of Nations should declare Germany an aggressor, Rumania—which separates Russia from Czechoslovakia—might be obliged to let Red army forces through to Czechoslovakia.

Poland, also a League member, would be in a similar position.

Ormond Wholesale Victim Of Thefts

Chief of Police George Clark and Officer L. D. Page today were investigating a series of thefts at the Ormond Wholesale Company, three of which have occurred on three past consecutive Saturday nights.

Two white and four Negro suspects, according to Page, are being held for investigation with the robberies. The suspects are being questioned and other arrests may be made.

Officers declined to estimate the value of the stolen merchandise, in that the value has not yet been determined by police nor by proprietors of the firm. Part of the loot, which included tobacco goods, candies, chewing gum, and other merchandise, has been recovered.

Page said that Saturday night's robbery occurred after the intruders smashed a door panel. Commenting on the two previous Saturday night robberies, it was explained that the robbers apparently concealed themselves in the store during the day and removed the merchandise after closing hours.

Chief Clark said merchandise had been taken from the store over a period of several months. None of the merchandise taken in either of the robberies was found until late Sunday afternoon. The suspects were "picked up" after part of the loot was discovered.

Negro Jailed Sunday After Shot Gun Duel

Frank Stafford, Greenville Negro, was lodged in the city jail yesterday following a shooting affray with Neal Joyner, another Negro who was released under bond.

Sergeant H. B. Drum said that Stafford opened fire on Joyner with a shotgun and that Joyner answered with a volley of shot from his gun. The second charge from Joyner's abdominal region, but the bullets barely pierced the skin. Stafford shot at Joyner again after he had been shot.

Both Negroes are charged with assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill. The shooting was said to have been the outgrowth of an argument.

PIGEON'S OWNER GOT HIS ANSWER, ALL O. K. Ottawa, O. (AP)—Sheriff Arnold Potts thought he would have some fun. He saw a pigeon on his office window ledge and noticed it carried a metal tube on its leg. He caught the bird and inserted a note in the tube reading, "Call Arnold Potts, Ottawa, O."

MUSSOLINI LINES UP WITH HITLER

Premier Mussolini of Italy is shown in this radiophoto at Trieste as he told cheering thousands of his countrymen that in case of a general European war, Italy would be on the side of Germany. Mussolini ranted a plebiscite for the Sudeten German minorities in Czechoslovakia.

Il Duce To Speak Again On Situation In Europe

Virtual Dismemberment of Czecho Proposed Sunday

Rome, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini, keeping pace with swiftly moving events of the European crisis, let it be known today he would deliver an address tomorrow to be broadcast to Italy and foreign nations—his second in three days.

Il Duce spoke yesterday at Trieste, proposing plebiscites for all minorities in Czechoslovakia "which demand them"—virtual dismemberment of Czechoslovakia—as the only way to European peace. He said Italy's "place is already chosen" in event of general war.

The announcement today said Mussolini would speak at 5:20 p. m. (11:20 a. m. EST) at Udine, near the border of German-Austria.

Dink James Located In Wooten Building

Dink James, judge of County court, today was in his new offices in the Wooten building, having moved from his former location in the Blount building, where he was associated with Blount and Taft.

Judge James is occupying the offices formerly occupied by the late W. A. Darden.

TRY 13 CASES IN CITY COURT

Monday Docket Completed Before the Noon Recess

Officials in city recorder's court worked steadily in the regular Monday morning session and completed their docket for today before the noon recess was taken.

Ollie Lane, Negro, was ordered to serve a 30-day road sentence, suspended upon payment of costs, after being convicted on an assault charge.

Alton Phillips and Austin Smith, were tried on a charge of operating a motor vehicle in a careless and reckless manner. Phillips was adjudged not guilty. Smith paid $5 to apply to the cost of the court.

J. R. Jones, convicted on a charge of being drunk, engaging in riotous and disorderly conduct and assault, was ordered to serve 30 days on the roads, suspended upon payment of costs.

Frank Stafford and Neal Joyner, Negroes, were charged with assault with a deadly weapon, with intent to kill. Stafford entered a plea of guilty to a deadly weapon, which was accepted by the State. Joyner was adjudged not guilty. Stafford was given a 90 day road sentence, suspended upon payment of $25 and costs.

Lee Duncan and Willie Watson, both Negroes, were adjudged not guilty in a case charging them with assault.

Johnnie Buck was given a 30-day road sentence, suspended upon payment of costs and payment of $30 for damage done to the automobile of the prosecuting witness. He was convicted on a charge of assault.

FDR ARRANGES CONFERENCES IN NEUTRALITY

To Consider Trade Treaties and General Situation

SECRETARY HULL REMAINS QUIET

Department Head Has No Comment on Reports Efforts Made Learn U.S. Attitude

Washington, Sept. 19.—(AP)—President Roosevelt arranged conferences with State Department officials today on the neutrality law, trade treaties and the general foreign situation.

He also went over the neutrality problem with Chairman McReynolds (D-Tenn.), of the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

McReynolds recently said he had no amendments to the act in mind for the next congressional session, but expected some sentiment to develop for giving the President the right to imply embargoes on shipments of war materials and munitions to aggressor nations.

The neutrality act now provides embargoes must apply alike to all combatant nations.

After his conference with the President, McReynolds said possible amendments to the act were not discussed and that he saw no reason for changing the law.

He added, however, he felt a section permitting the President to require a "cash and carry" basis for purchases of war materials in this country by belligerents should be reenacted, but "a change in conditions might change my opinion."

The cash and carry section expires in May.

Meanwhile, at the State Department, it was said the advice and collaboration of the United States in the present European crisis had not been asked by any government.

Officially Secretary of State Hull is saying nothing about the crisis despite dispatches from abroad indicating efforts are being made to induce the United States to adopt an attitude.

Other developments: Four issues which appear likely to cause wrangles in Congress next winter are shaping up as sources of controversy in this fall's election campaign.

They are: Expansion of the federal social security program, revision of the Wagner labor act, application of the administration's farm program and the nation's general economic condition.

CZECHS STUDY PEACE OFFERS

Indignation Evident, However, Over Proposed Solution

Prague, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Amid increasing resentment through the country the Czechoslovakia cabinet went into session today to consider the reported Anglo-French plan for settlement of Europe's crisis by handing the Sudeten areas over to Germany.

President Benes and his ministers started a close study of proposals in which it was believed the London Paris governments were urging that Sudetenland territory inhabited by the dissident German minority be cut off and given to Germany.

Indignation over a proposed solution of the Czechoslovakia-German crisis became widely evident.

From conferences begun at dawn came hints that the Prague government, although hard-pressed diplomatically, would stand firmly against territorial revision.

The governing committee of the Slovak peoples party convened and although there was no official announcement on the discussion, it was expected the Slovak conferees would expect the Slovak conferees membership.

To Close Schools For Noon Circus Parade

J. H. Rose, superintendent of the Greenville schools, today said classes would start in both colored and white schools tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock.

The change in schedule was made in order to complete as much work as possible before the schools close for the day on account of the circus.

The circus management has postponed the hour of the parade from 11 to 12 o'clock. Students will be dismissed for the day in time to watch the parade.

Great Britain And France Bow To Hitler Demands; Czechs Look To Russia

ANGLO-FRENCH PLAN RATIFIED

France, Apparently Determined to Stay Out of War, Looks to Prague See If President Benes to Sacrifice Country on Altar European Peace

Paris, Sept. 19.—(AP)—France, through her government today, ratified the Anglo-French plan to dismember her Czechoslovak ally in response to Adolf Hitler's demand.

The cabinet, in a 80-minute session, unanimously approved the results of Premier Daladier's deliberations with Prime Minister Chamberlain in London yesterday, assuring the British leader of full French consent when next he meets the German Chancellor.

The eyes of the Paris government then turned toward Prague. Whether President Benes of Czechoslovakia would agree to sacrifice his country on the altar of European peace or whether he would fight remained a question.

But in any event it appeared France was resolved to stay out of war.

It became known that the government had issued orders to cease the nation's military preparations, which in recent weeks had placed an estimated 2,000,000 under arms.

The decision taken by the cabinet coincided with a fresh outbreak of strikes in France.

In the Paris region 160,000 building trades workers walked out in wage disputes with contractors and the movement spread to nearby departments.

AUTO FIRE SATURDAY

Greenville firemen were called to extinguish an automobile fire Saturday afternoon, but before they arrived, Willie Stancill, Negro, already had extinguished the blaze by throwing dirt on it. Firemen reported the fire was checked before it spread and the damage was negligible. It was the only fire of the week-end.

LOCAL CITIZEN KILLS HIMSELF

Carl V. Croom Dies By Asphyxiation at Home Sunday

Carl V. Croom, 49, took his own life by asphyxiation at his home at 505 East Tenth street some time yesterday.

Funeral services were conducted from the late home this afternoon at 4 o'clock by the Rev. W. A. Ryan, pastor of Eighth Street Christian Church of Greenville, assisted by the Rev. James M. Perry, Christian minister of Robersonville. Burial was in Greenwood cemetery.

His body was found on the kitchen floor of the Croom home late yesterday afternoon by his sister, Mrs. Bettie Davis of Columbia, S. C., Mrs. Croom and her son went to Gold Point in Martin county, yesterday morning and Mrs. Davis returned to Greenville with them.

Mr. Croom covered his head and the stove with a heavy blanket and then turned on the gas. He had been dead several hours before the tragedy was discovered. The suicide is believed to have occurred around noon Sunday. Deputy Coroner Ed S. Williams investigated, but deemed (Continued on page six)

Ban Bee Shipments Into North Carolina

Raleigh, Sept. 19.—C. H. Brannon, chief entomologist of the state agriculture department, announced today wholesale shipment of bees into North Carolina would be prohibited as a step in the fight against foul brood.

This bee disease has been found in hives in 48 counties and eradication work is now being centered in Beaufort, Haywood, Hyde, Martin, Robeson and Washington counties.

Bogus Money

Greenville merchants and proprietors of other local business establishments are requested to be on the lookout for counterfeit $10 bills which may be circulating in this city. The series of the bogus money is B 19032238-A and B 01018952-A.

WHERE 'FREE CORPS' WILL FORM

Jittery Europe became even more nervous when Nazi Konrad Henlein, outlawed leader of the Sudeten German party, announced in Germany formation of a "free corps" of army-trained Sudetens. The armed corps will be drilled and held in readiness against the day when they may be ordered into action for the Fatherland. This map shows the border territory where the corps will form. It was stated that the corps will be on duty in Czechoslovakia, as well as the German provinces of Silesia, Bavaria and Saxony.

German Clipper Feared Facing Forced Landing

Coast Guard Cutters Dispatched to Martha's Vineyard

Boston, Sept. 19.—(AP)—The coast guard reported today it had received word from the German trans-Atlantic clipper Nordwind that it might have to make a landing off Martha's Vineyard, an island off Cape Cod.

The coast guard, fearing a forced landing in heavy weather, immediately sent two cutters to Edgartown on the east coast of Martha's Vineyard.

At the time the cutters were dispatched the coast guard said it had new word from its New London, Conn., base, where the first radio message was received, that a landing actually had been made.

Simultaneously the Pan-American Airways said it had word the German ship was off the coast after a flight across the Atlantic and that it might have to go as far south as Norfolk, Va., to make a landing because of the weather.

SUDETENLAND IS SACRIFICED

Cabinets of two Democracies approve Decision of Premiers; Czechoslovakia Still Determined To Defend Itself and Expects Help of Soviets

London, Sept. 19.—(AP)—The governments of Britain and France today gave approval, apparently unanimous, to a tremendous international deal to satisfy Adolf Hitler and keep Europe's great democracies out of war.

With almost desperate finality the cabinets of London and Paris approved the decision made by their Premiers here yesterday accepting Hitler's demands on Czechoslovakia and proposing a system of guarantees which they hope will bring central European peace at the price of Czechoslovakia's Sudetenland.

Breaking up their 125-minute session, the British Ministers merely announced they had no plans for a further meeting today. But highly authoritative sources said they had made final their previous tacit approval of the French and British Premiers' agreement.

In Prague itself, the Czechoslovakian government faced fateful decisions on proposals communicated to it by the envoys of British and France.

There were indications the Czech leaders still were standing by their previous determination to defend themselves, even without the help of the western democracies, and counting to the last on help from Soviet Russia.

Loot Is Found In Stolen Automobile

It was revealed at the sheriff's office this morning that an automobile stolen from here Thursday night was found abandoned in Sanford and containing part of the loot taken from J. Paul Davenport's store at Pactus Friday night.

The car, owned by Stuart C. Paige, was taken from the streets some time Thursday night and the Pactus robbery occurred during a hard rain Friday night. In addition to a quantity of merchandise, $400 in cash was taken from the safe, which was said by officers to have been left unhooked when the store was closed for the day.

The sheriff's office declared it had been unable to make little progress on solving the robbery of H. H. Porter's store in Simpson on Friday night, although officers were working on it, along with the Pactus case.

County Court Is Set For Tuesday Morning

County court will be resumed tomorrow morning, no session of Superior court being scheduled for this week. The next term of Superior court scheduled is a civil session scheduled for the week of September 26.

Assistant Court Clerk E. P. Tucker said this morning that a comparatively small number of cases were awaiting trial at tomorrow's session. Last Tuesday was one of the busiest days in the history of the tribunal.

Junior Woman's Club Meets.

The Junior Woman's Club held its first meeting of the year Friday afternoon at the Woman's Club building. Mrs. Dink James, Mrs. William Taft and Mrs. Joseph Taft, hostesses, invited the guests and members to the punch bowl where they were served with punch, cakes, salted nuts and mints.

Mrs. Lindsay Savage, the guest speaker for the afternoon, gave a most informative talk on "The Women's Prison" in New York. She visited this prison with a Sociology study group while in New York this past summer. She stated that the prison was a place of correction rather than a place of punishment. After a vivid description of the prisoners, their uniforms, their work, the well equipped hospital and their place of worship, Mrs. Savage urged the club to help promote the betterment of state penal institutions.

Mrs. Dink James, president, presided over the business meeting. Mrs. Vance Perkins gave a splendid report of the kindergarten which was a Junior Woman's Club project this summer under the supervision of Mrs. George Gardner. Plans were made to have the interior of the club building painted. The club voted to graduate from the Junior Woman's Club into the Senior Woman's Club as a Citizenship Department, feeling that in this way the club can render the same service to the community. —Reported.

N. T. Hood has entered Pitt General Hospital, where he will undergo an operation.

100 Years Ago.

An article appearing on the 100 years ago page of The State Magazine, taken from The Washington Whig, is of interest in this county. It follows:

"Pursuant to previous notices, a public dinner was given at Pactolus, in Pitt county, last Thursday in honor of the recent Whig victory in that county. About 500 persons were present, including the members elect and a number of other citizens of Beaufort county who were politely invited by the Committee on Arrangements for the occasion.

"A table, shaded by a handsome grove, was spread, 87 yards long, and provided with seats on both sides. It was sumptuously furnished with choice meats and liquors, and amply sufficient for 1,000 persons, had they been present."

Mrs. Larry Moore Honored.

Mrs. E. Lee Moore delightfully entertained at a bridge luncheon Friday at the Episcopal Parish House, honoring Mrs. Larry Moore. Fourteen tables were arranged in the two rooms which were artistically decorated in a beautiful setting of fall flowers. For high score prizes in each room Mrs. George Wallingford was presented a waste basket, and Mrs. W. D. Turner, salad plates. For second high, Mrs. Jack Edwards received a set of novelty baking shells, and Mrs. A. C. Ruffin a nest of ash trays. Consolation prizes fell to Mrs. Harvey Clayton and Mrs. Chas. Howard, nests of ash trays. The bride was remembered with a corsage of red roses and as a guest prize, plates in her chosen pattern. Mrs. Durwood Hart, a recent bride, was given a rose jar. Mrs. John Winstead, whose wedding anniversary fell on this day, was surprised with a lovely picture frame as a remembrance. Mrs. Wm. Adams of Four Oakes, received a beautiful piece of Italian pottery, and Mrs. Chitwood of Wytteville, Va., a double deck of cards. Mrs. Moore served a lovely two-course luncheon.

Horses Are Needed

Those people who were at the fire Friday night and who witnessed the struggles of the firemen in dragging the engine through the streets, ought to be convinced that horses are needed for this purpose. Besides the burden to the firemen, by not having horses they are so delayed at a fire that it is dangerous to property by much time being lost. Among the members of Hope Fire Company are but six owners of real estate. The Reflector mentions these things that the citizens and property owners may realize their duty toward the firemen. More interest should be manifested in the work that they voluntarily do for the protection of the town.

NEW INDUSTRY BOOM IS SEEN

92 New Concerns Locate in State First Half of 1938

Reflector Bureau
Raleigh, Sept. 17.—A total of 92 new industries located in North Carolina during the first eight months of 1938, while 53 plants already in operation built additions to their establishments, it was revealed today in a report of survey announced by J. T. Anderson, industrial engineer in charge of the division of commerce and industry, Department of Conservation and Development.

Mr. Anderson optimistically said the figures indicate clearly that new industry is continuing to come into the state while plants already here are expanding in many instances.

Total capital invested in the new plants and in additions was estimated by the industrial engineer at close to $10,000,000.

An added favorable aspect of the situation is the fact that a larger number of new industries located in North Carolina from May thru August than came in during the first quarter of the year, Mr. Anderson said.

In the second quarter there were 51 new industries and 27 additions against 42 new plants and 26 additions during the first four months of the year, he added.

Among the new industries, hosiery mills claimed the biggest proportionate share, reversing a previous trend in North Carolina to cotton spinning and weaving mills in the State.

Of the 51 new industries coming in during the second quarter, 13 were hosiery plants. Only one of the 51 new plants will make cotton goods and only two will do dyeing and finishing, Anderson said.

Second quarter new industries were: Cotton goods 1; dyeing and finishing 1; hosiery 3; knit goods 2; silk throwing 1; feed and meal 1; furniture 5; food processing and bottling plants 10; mines and quarries 3; chemicals 1; warehouses 2; lumber 2; paper and products 3; miscellaneous 5.

The 2 plants to which additions were made during the same period were hosiery 16; dyeing and finishing 1; knit goods 1; silk throwing 1; furniture 1; cotton yarn 2; miscellaneous 5.

"None of these new plants was lured to North Carolina by promises of tax exemptions, free use of buildings or with any of the many baits which some other Southern States are using," Mr. Anderson pointed out. "These industries came to North Carolina because those backing them thought North Carolina offers superior advantages, among which are: proximity to markets, mild climate, low maintenance costs, fair taxes and an adequate labor supply. I am confident that more industries are going to come to North Carolina because of the same factors."

Another factor which has had a part in bringing these new industries to North Carolina has undoubtedly been the state's advertising program which has been reaching thousands of industrialists and business men for a period of more than a year, Mr. Anderson points out.

The advertising the state has been doing in trade and business magazines and periodicals as well as the many news stories which have been printed concerning the state during the past year, have attracted the attention of the entire industrial world, he is convinced.

"The advantages which North Carolina possesses for the location of a large variety of industries simply cannot be overlooked and are not going to be overlooked," Mr. Anderson said. "For North Carolina has many advantages few other states possess when it comes to attracting new industries."

THE CLOUDED MOON

By MAX SALTSMARSH

The Characters
Archie Lumsden, myself, visitor to the French Riviera.
Ottillie Wills, beautiful American actress.
René Geiss, head of a murder conspiracy.

Yesterday: Breaking into Geiss's house to look for the murder gun I find Ottillie already there. Geiss is at home!

Chapter 37 Strange Visitors

"WHAT, in the name of all that's holy, induced you to come here?" I demanded. "Haven't you learned enough by this time to keep out of trouble?"

Even in the half-light I could see the flash of anger in her dark eyes.

"You make me tired," Ottillie retorted in a furious whisper. "Cuthbert told me all about how the servants had gone and Geiss was staying with Rakovsky, over in Italy, and he said how the one important thing was to find that gun, and I thought to myself, if none of you had the gumption to come and look for it, it was about time I got busy myself."

I groaned. "Well," I said, "the one question now is how we can get you safely out of here— But at that instant came a faint but unmistakable sound, the sound of a leisurely tread mounting the marble stairs.

I look round wildly. The room, as much as I could see of it, was a bedroom and, from the gilded, ro-coco splendor of the furnishing, I guessed it to be Geiss's own. It would be madness to conceal the girl there. Then suddenly my eye lighted on the giant cupids that acted as supports to the outer wall of the loggia. Behind their wings on either side was a most merciful net of shadow. I caught Ottillie by the shoulders, thrust her into the angle of the wall. I had just time to flatten myself against the opposite wall, holding my breath, when suddenly the lights inside the room flashed on, and Geiss himself stood at the threshold.

A moment he paused, hesitating, and I saw that he carried a suitcase in either hand. He opened them, set them up against the foot of the gilded bed. Then, as if a sudden idea had struck him, he crossed to the window and stood looking out.

For an awful instant I thought that he had seen us, but after a pause he turned to the side of the window, raised his hand, and a metal sun-shutter rattled down, shutting off the room.

I counted ten slowly, then moved, with infinite caution, to the shutter and peered through the slats, and as I did so, with a faint rustle of silk, the girl was beside me. The room inside was clearly visible, and in the middle of it stood its owner, a fantastic figure in a low shirt and crimson trousers, engaged in the prosaic task of packing.

I soon realized that this was no haphazard preparation for a week-end, for no sooner were the two bags filled than their owner carried them out, returning next minute with another couple. Then he halted suddenly, staring, open-mouthed, for the door was slowly opening.

I felt Ottillie's grasp tighten convulsively on my arm, but when the door opened, all that showed in the aperture was the stark, uncompromising figure of Miss Henrietta Adams. There was something cold, something menacing in the glint of her green eyes through the laces, and I saw the cartoonist make an involuntary step backwards.

"So," she said harshly, "you're quitting?"

He looked at her, slowly raising his eyebrows. "I thought it was foolish to give you that key," he said softly, "and now I know it. What business is it of yours what do?"

'You're Mad'

"HE sat down quietly on the edge of the bed and looked at him oddly. "You're quitting," she said again, "and I don't blame you. The police have been questioning your servants and they've run away. The night instructor has let it be known that he no longer suspects Lumsden, and that means that he knows you were lying and it means, too, that he suspects you and Stahl and Rakovsky." She beat her hands together furiously. "Why did you ever mention their names?" she demanded. "Were you mad? And now Noah More is tried to kill Lumsden and allied because an Arab carpet-seller saved him—"

"An Arab carpet-seller?" he echoed, surprised. "Are you sure of that, Henrietta?"

She silenced him with an impatient jerk of the head. "—and now the man from Marseille guesses that Ludovic killed Venner and he is searching the coast for him. That means that tomorrow's plans are spoiled."

He looked at her smiling, and slowly shook his head. "That means nothing of the sort," he answered gently. "They have not found him yet, have they? And if they catch him afterwards, there is nothing to connect him with the affair at Prague."

"Pah!" said she contemptuously. "Will any man alive not tell the truth to save his own skin? I would tell you but I hope that I shall not have to. That is why I have come to see you tonight. You all three of you, have your way of escape, but what is to become of the rest of us? I for one, am not going to wait to be caught like a rat in a trap. I want money, and when I have got it I am going, tonight, at once. You can give Ludovic your own orders and pay the price if he fails!"

"Just a minute," he broke in smoothly. "In that case you had better tell me where Ludovic is now."

She stared at him blankly. "At l'Amourie, of course. Fatma gave me the message to the chauffeur."

He gave a short, cackling laugh. "Quite, but the chauffeur unfortunately lost it before it reached us. He suspects, in fact, that it was stolen from him by an Arab carpet-seller."

"So!" she said, with a sort of strangled scream. "The man who saved Lumsden, and yet you doubt that the game is lost! You're mad. I tell you—but then you were always mad."

He looked at her consideringly, his head on one side. "I am mad, am I?" he echoed, and there was something so indescribably menacing in his tone that I felt the girl beside me shudder. "That is not a very safe thing to say. But let it pass. How much money do you want? Ten thousand francs?"

The woman sneered in his face. "A hundred thousand would be more like it," she retorted. "You can give me what money you have in the house, and a check on your account in Brussels for the balance. She gave a short, harsh laugh. "And I don't know how," she added, "that you will try to stop the check, because, if you did, I might feel inclined to talk. There are a number of insurance companies who would be very glad to listen to me."

Between Two Fires

GEISS sighed, as two whose faith in human nature has been rudely tried. "How true it is that one should never expect gratitude from one's inferiors! But come then, Henrietta, I will give you what money I have, and for the rest, as you so cleverly suggest, there will be a check on my Brussels account—a check that I shall not dare to stop."

The woman's eyes had never left his face, but save for a tightening of the thin lips, she gave no sign of the effect his diatribe had on her. Now she stood up and motioned him to precede her from the room.

"I'm in a hurry," she said. "The express leaves at midnight, and I don't fancy you want to linger."

The cartoonist shrugged, smiling gently at her. "Still suspicious?" he said chidingly. "Never fear, Henrietta, I will keep my word."

He passed quietly from the room, the woman following close at his heels, and with a sharp click the light went out.

"Thank Heaven they've cleared out," I said. "Now I can get you away."

"You wouldn't be so silly!" Ottillie retorted sharply. "We're here and we know they'll both be gone in five minutes, and then we've all the night to look for that gun."

"I have," I corrected her gently. "But first, young woman, I'm going to see you clear away." And as I spoke, I peered cautiously over the edge of the balcony. But as I did so, I experienced a sudden sinking of the heart, for across the gravelled forecourt below me I saw a dim shape move, a sinister, slinking shape that I recognized only too well.

"We're too late," I said dismally. "There's a bloke standing sentry down below there."

I heard her catch her breath. "Who is it?"

"A fellow called Noah More," I whispered back. "One of Geiss's creatures. He tried to do me in last night." But even as I spoke, I heard a faint, scuffling noise against the wall that told me, incredibly as it seemed, that the repulsive object below was starting to scale the house even as we had done.

For an instant I hesitated paralyzed by the sheer horror of the situation. It seemed obvious that yet another of the rats had come to salve what he could before leaving the sinking ship, but well I knew that, once we were discovered, all three of them, Geiss the woman and the creature even now climbing up towards us, would combine together against us held by a common fear and a common regard for their own safety.

"Quiet!" I breathed, and bending, caught the bottom of the sun-shutter and gently levered it upward. I gripped the girl's arm and drew her into the dark bedroom. I dragged her out to the landing, shut the door behind me and struck a match looking for a key in the lock, but there was nothing—only a bolt on the inside, which was no sort of use to us.

"Take off your shoes!" I whispered and obediently she slipped off her beach sandals, while I did the same; then we crept silently on our bare feet down the stairs. But even as we gained the foot of the stairs, my heart sank for the door to the right which I knew led to the dining-room, opened suddenly letting a yellow beam of light out across the blackness of the hall and I heard Geiss's voice.

"So now you have your check, Henrietta, and if you will come with me, I will give you what money I can spare for your journey."

In another moment the precious pair would be out in the hall; behind me, on the landing, the soft swish of a closing door told that Noah More was on his way down, and there I was, caught between two fires with a helpless girl to look after.

GOT LEAD POISONING BUT NOT FROM BEING SHOT

Chicago (AP) When the city council received a $313 claim from policeman William O'Brien, covering hospital treatments for lead poisoning the aldermen wanted to know who shot him.

"He didn't get shot," said the finance chairman. "He was poisoned handling cartridges on the police pistol range." The claim was allowed.

TRY TO CLOTHE LAND IN GREEN

State College Extension Service Starts Big Program

Reflector Bureau
Raleigh, Sept. 17.—Clothing North Carolina's farm land in a green mantle this winter is the goal of a gigantic program just launched by the State College Extension Service.

From east to west, farm agents are working with farmers in mapping out a winter legume program, according to E. C. Blair, extension agronomist at the college. Among the most popular of these legumes are Austrian winter peas, hairy vetch, and crimson clover.

Scattered reports from agents in all parts of the State indicate that more of these winter cover crops will be planted this year than ever before.

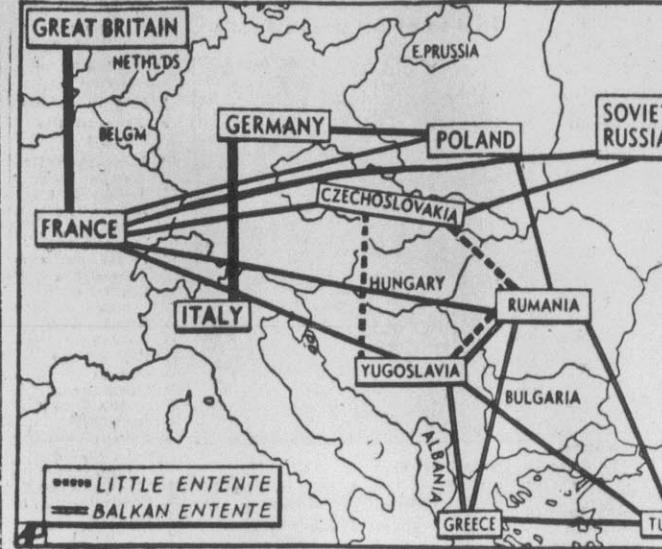

Lasting the benefits to be derived from such crops, Blair said: "Legumes protect the land from erosion during the months of heavy winter rains; they increase the fertility of the soil when turned under in the spring; and the Agricultural Adjustment will pay farmers for planting them."

Winter legumes, if planted early enough, will reduce the loss of soil from erosion and leaching. Then, too, they are of invaluable assistance in the establishment of a crop rotation best suited for soil maintenance and improvement.

In addition, the State College agronomist pointed out, these legumes provide winter and spring grazing, and when incorporated with small grain give a highly desirable hay for summer feeding.

Because of its wide variety of uses, crimson clover is gaining rapidly in popularity, Blair said. For instance, ten tons of crimson clover per acre will add as much organic matter to the soil as about eight tons of barnyard manure besides the large amount of nitrogen.

HOW PACTS BIND EUROPE

(By the AP Feature Service)

A spider-web of treaties, pacts, alliances, and gentlemen's agreements binds Europe today. That's why great events can't happen in Czechoslovakia without jolting every nation on the continent. This map indicates the principal hookups. The fascist axis, Rome-Berlin, is paralleled by the democratic front, London-Paris. Russia, through her French alliance, is tied in with the democracies. The Little Entente was fostered by France as a safeguard against Germany, but the fascist nations lately have been trying to undermine the French influence in Rumania and Yugoslavia. Non-aggression pacts between Hungary and the Little Entente have been agreed upon but not signed. Hungary's best friends just now seem to be Germany and Italy.

CAR DESIGN SLATED FOR MAJOR SHIFT IN '39?

Noted Designer Declares End of Current Style Cycle is Now Overdue

BY JOEL BARBER

Five years ago two radically different schools of automobile design met head-on in the market. The public evinced momentary interest and curiosity in the blunt-end school of streamlining, then swung over and approved the flying-wedge type of design.

The style cycle set in motion by this choice now appears to be nearing completion. Indeed, the question really is, if its end is not overdue, for while major style shifts cost hugely to accomplish, they cost far less than not to sell cars in satisfactory volume.

Which car ushers in the distinctive design that is to prevail during the next style cycle is of course enormously important, since to that car will accrue the advantages of setting the pattern for years to come. It is perhaps too early to forecast, but my advices from Michigan convince me that Buick, pioneer member of the General Motors family, will in 1939 be styleblazer of the new automobile mode.

STATE ARTISTS OFFER DESIGNS

Seventy Christmas Card Ideas Submitted for Approval

Reflector Bureau
Raleigh, Sept. 17.—Some seventy original designs for North Carolina Christmas cards have been submitted to the State Junior Chamber of Commerce by amateur and professional artists throughout the state it has been announced by the committee in charge of the project.

The deadline for submitting designs has been set for October 1, and it is expected that many more will come in before that time.

The cards are scheduled to be ready for distribution and sale about the first of November. So far as is known, North Carolina is the first state ever to attempt to put out its own Christmas cards and the Junior Chamber of Commerce committee in different localities all over the state are cooperating in an effort to make a success of the plan.

There is no connection with any commercial organization, the committee pointed out. The Junior Chamber terms the venture an effort to provide North Carolinians with a distinctive greeting card carrying unusual and beautiful designs and scenes from their state which they will be proud to send to their friends outside the state.

Present plans call for a set of six different cards for this year, to sell for five and ten cents. The designs and scenes will be changed from year to year, so that anyone collecting cards will eventually have an album of North Caro-

Governor Clyde R. Healy has appointed a committee of five men and women from different sections to act as judges of the designs submitted and to select six to be used. The committee consists of Mrs. R. L. McMullan, Raleigh; Mrs. J. W. Cannon, Concord; Mrs. J. Laurence Sprunt, Wilmington; E. H. Latham, Asheville and Dallis Alford, Rocky Mount.

Artists and designers, both professional and amateur, are being urged to send in their pictures before October 1. Color designs are particularly desired.

Bad weather over the week-end no doubt played its part in the large number of traffic accidents in this section. With heavier traffic as a result of the movement of tobacco to market, with less daylight hours and bad weather, motorists from now on must exercise more caution if a big increase in traffic accidents is to be prevented.

Greenville tomorrow will have its first circus parade in several years. Most of us at heart are still kids and we will welcome this opportunity to again watch the painted wagons pass and hear the blaring tunes of the callopie.

WHAT ABOUT NEW YORK?

Much interest is being manifest in tomorrow's New York primary in which the final test of President Roosevelt's "purge" will go before the voters. So far not one of those Senators or Representatives, picked by Mr. Roosevelt for punishment, has been defeated, but all along it has been admitted that the issue in New York would come more likely going the President's way than against him. However, those who believe that Mr. Roosevelt overstepped the bounds of his office when he attempted to take a hand in elections belonging strictly to the individual states, are hoping that New York, too, will show its independence from federal dictation by re-nominating Representative O'Connor. If New York re-nominates O'Connor, the New Deal purge will have become a complete hundred per cent flop so far as the presidential hand-picking of the next Congress is concerned.

Reflector Bureau. Raleigh, Sept. 19.—Those who have openly expressed opinions as to the Governor's pre-appeal commutation of the death sentence imposed on a Wilmington man for arson seem to be unanimously in agreement that time, expense and worry were avoided. Nobody seen by this correspondent favored imposition of the extreme penalty in a case such as this, where nobody was injured.

Which brings up the point that there is likely to be more than a little agitation in the next General Assembly for modification of the existing laws about capital punishment. Many believe that mandatory death sentences, at least, should be abolished with a substituted provision for recommendations to mercy which would make life imprisonment an alternative.

The other day, runs a story reaching Raleigh, manager of the Greenville office of the state employment service was surprised and not a little agitated to hear a rather large and bulky Negro greeted as he entered with "Come right in love."

"What goes on here?" he wondered, hastening to investigate. He found that the full and authentic name of the visitor is Love Baker.

Overheard in a conversation between an attractive young thing and a State College student.

A.Y.S.—Oh, are you a football player?

S.C.S.—No, I miss football by about 20 pounds and three letters on my name.

As a matter of fact, however, the States haven't so many "skis" under the Newton regime.

According to Director W. R. Curtis of the division of research and statistics, Unemployment Compensation Commission, 707 claimants in 26 other states received benefits totalling $15,164.64 from the N. C. U. N. C. during August.

During the same period, 590 claimants in North Carolina filed claims here for benefits in other states: 202 on earnings in Virginia; 68 in Tennessee; 65 in Michigan; 59 in Pennsylvania; 50 in Maryland; 28 each in New York and South Carolina; and 90 in other states.

The largest total of benefit payments going out of North Carolina to individuals in other states was $4,944.24 paid to claimants in Virginia.

'Tis reliably reported that certain cotton mill barons in the state are more than a little agitated over success of the state's advertising program in bringing other kinds of industry into the state.

These tycoons fear that higher wages paid in many other lines of industry will eventually force them to pay their cotton mill operatives more than they are now paying.

As a result, a campaign may be expected in opposition to advertising appropriations for the next biennium. The cotton people are reported to be planning a hard fight against continuation of the industrial part of the advertising program, at any rate, if not against it all.

The easiest things to get in Raleigh offices nowadays is football gossip and predictions. The hardest, a quotable opinion regarding President Roosevelt's so-called "purge,"—though everybody knows there isn't one North Carolina state official in ten who isn't dead against FDR's actions along that line.

WFC-CAROLINA PLAN TO MEET

Both Teams Polishing Up for Annual Contest Saturday

Chapel Hill, Sept. 15.—North Carolina's football squad today started the process of polishing the rough spots and perfecting its passing and running attacks for the opening game with Wake Forest. The Tar Heels and Demon Deacons will go to it hammer and tong here Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The Deacons will have one advantage over their Tar Heel brethren. They got the first feel of competition Saturday when they played Randolph Macon's eleven.

The 1936 Tar Heel model which goes on display for the first time Saturday will have only five of last year's regulars in the lineup. The others probably will be four of last year's reserves and a couple of sophomores.

The performance-tested players include Horace Palmer and Chuck Kline, ends; Co-Captain Steve Maronic, tackle; Jim Woodson and Charlie Slage, guard; Bob Adam, center; George Radman and George Watson, halfbacks; and Tony Cernigoi and Jack Kraynick, fullbacks.

So closely matched are Krainick who improved last year, and Cernigoi, who appears to have recovered from an injury that has kept him out of action for two years, that a flip of a coin might be as good a method as any for picking a starter at fullback.

"Sweet" Lallane, the much publicized sophomore lad from Louisiana, will make his varsity football debut at quarterback, in place of George Stirnweis, the Flying Dutchman.

The seventh position on the team right tackle will be held down by Oates Kimball, rugged sophomore, or Dan Deah, a reserve, who appears much improved over last season.

Wake Forest, rated far more potent than a year ago, will parade a brilliant collection of sophomore players and a number of veterans. The Deacons are captained by Geo. Wirtz, tri-threat quarterback, and one of the fastest backs in the conference.

The Baptists' sophomores will be striving to make it two in a row over Carolina Saturday. As freshmen last season they scored an impressive 17-7 victory over the Tar Heels and went on to win the state championship.

STAGING DRIVE FOR MEMBERS

Newton Club Trying Increase Membership by 1,000

Reflector Bureau
Raleigh, Sept. 17.—The Doc Newton Club, sponsored by the Department of Athletics at State College is driving for 1,000 members at $10 per member, proceeds to be used by the State College Student Aid Association, Inc., of which Bill Sullivan is president and G. Y. Stradley of Raleigh is treasurer.

Prospective members of the club are assured that they can deduct their contributions when filing income tax returns as "this is a legitimate student aid unit."

According to the club's roster there were 262 members up to September 5, 1936—the membership being drawn from 49 cities (12 of them out of the state) and the college campus. Naturally Raleigh led in number of memberships, with 83, Charlotte was next with 138. There were 31 campus members and 18 from Greensboro. No other town had as many as ten members on September 5.

The D. N. C., according to letters being mailed by the Department of Athletics to State alumni is "patterned after the Buck-A-Month Club of the University of Tennessee and the I Pay Ten a Year Club of Clemson College.

In the department's letter to prospective members among the alumni, Doc Newton, the Wolfpack's football coach now in his second year, is given credit for reviving State College spirit.

"As you know, it has been around Doc Newton that the State College spirit has been revived. If you know him, I'm sure you will agree that he is just what the doctor ordered to cure the Wolfpack ailment. If you don't know him, I'm sure when you do have the pleasure of shaking his hand that you will agree."

HAD TO CHANGE NAME BECAUSE OF WRITE-UP

Louisville, Ky.—(AP)—Courtney Noe, Jr., newly-arrived son of a Louisville golf pro and his wife, can thank the newspapers for being named "Junior" in place of just plain "Bill."

The Noes had planned to name the baby William Phipps Noe, but a golf writer, hearing of the birth, assumed it would be named Courtney Noe, Jr., and printed the announcement thus. Another golf writer picked up the stock and likewise named the baby "Junior". So the Noes decided to keep the name—and save a lot of explaining.

Hospital Put On Wheels
San Sebastian, Spain, (AP)—A mobile hospital, financed by popular subscription, has been furnished the Army Corps of Navarre for front line duty. The caravan of buses contain an operating room, X-ray equipment, pharmacy and forty beds.

"Red" Dawson's Question Box

By LOWELL (RED) DAWSON

QUESTION: Why does a coach use the same offense from year to year?

ANSWER: It is unwise to change the offense from year to year, as experience develops confidence and execution. The execution is more important than design, providing fair judgment is used. Attributes for a winning team are morale, poise and determination, and confidence supplies the first two to a large extent.

CITY PUNCHERS TO GO TARBORO

Another Wrestling Show to be Staged Armory Tonight

Several Greenville boys will journey to Tarboro tomorrow night, where they will participate in a boxing show in the city opera house at 7:30 o'clock on a card sponsored by Aubrey Shackell.

Those making the trip are Ford McGowan, 122 pounds; A. B. Bracey, 129 pounds; A. P. Cayton, 130 pounds; Dick Paul, 129 pounds and Sol Bedame, 150 pounds. All of these youths, excluding Bedame of Charlotte, are Greenville residents.

There will also be some athletic entertainment in the city-county armory tonight, when the regular Monday night wrestling show gets under way, with the added preliminaries.

Featuring the main bout tonight are Dick Gammon and Floyd Bird. The wrestler has 90 minutes in which to garner two out of three falls. In the second, semi-final event, the spectators will find Eddie Williams and Jim Logas going the route. This bout is scheduled to last sixty minutes.

Promoter Bracey said today that on next Monday night, he plans to have a regular boxing show. In addition to the wrestling performances. He said there would be no admission.

In the preliminary boxing match tonight, Sol Bedame is scheduled to meet a OCC boy from Washington. Plenty of action is expected.

Lettuce, turnips, spinach, radish, kale, beets, mustard and onions will do well if planted this month. Vegetables grow quickly during the cool moist season of fall.

Remove all weed patches from gardens. They make a home for cut worms and moths to deposit their eggs and in early spring they come up to destroy the tiny plants.

Late fall and winter is a good time to make application of lime in orchard. It supplies calcium and magnesium in soils that are lacking in these elements, reduces acidity, and stimulates the growth of green manure crops.

Plans are being perfected to reorganize the 4-H clubs throughout the county. It is felt that more members will enroll than in the past year since so many were near club age at the beginning of last year. Literature is already in the hands of the agent for each member.

Famous Robbins Circus Showing Here Tomorrow

Top—Jean Evans and Helen Shearer, confirmed checker fans, must have another game before going into the "big top" to thrill the crowd by their daring aerial "stunts."
Right Middle—The Valerdes, sensational high wire artists.
Bottom—Clyde Beatty, internationally known as the greatest wild animal trainer of all time, this season battling 43 lions and tigers.

Tomorrow's dawn will bring the circus! While Greenville sleeps tonight, two circus special trains traveling over the Coast Line railroad from Washington will bring here the famous Robbins circus, with Clyde Beatty, the world's greatest wild animal trainer, and Hoot Gibson, the screen's foremost western star and his congress of rough riders of the world. Afternoon and night performances are scheduled for 2 and 8 p. m. at the old Fair grounds.

The first of the circus trunks, known as "firing squadrons," should reach here about dawn. The second section is scheduled to arrive a short time later, and about the time the milkman is making his rounds the freight yards promises to be filled with long lines of red and silver-coated cars bearing oddities and spangleland wonders from all parts of the world.

As fast as the trains arrive they will be parked on convenient sidings at the Coast Line freight house where the work of unloading will go forward. More than a hundred baggage wagons, cages, dens, allegorical floats and other vehicular apparatuses will be transferred to the show grounds as quickly as possible.

Among the 60 equestrians will be the Greater Hobson family of riding champions from Europe. The petite and charming Armita Velarde intrepid aerialist, comes from the Antipodes to thrill and amaze you. From Germany will be the amazing Moreen troupe, teeter board acrobats; other stars will be the Flying Thrillers and the Behee Troupe, breath-taking high trapeze stars.

Twenty-two tents of varying sizes are used to house the transient city. The largest tent, the "big top" is among the largest ever used by a circus with a seating capacity of nearly 10,000 persons. It is almost two city blocks in length. The menagerie tent is of great size, also.

CIRCUS DAY FACTS

CIRCCS—The Famous Robbins Circus—now the largest on tour in America.
ARRIVAL—Two circus special trains of double-length railroad cars are due to arrive in Greenville over the Coast Line railroad at an early hour tomorrow morning.

UNLOADING POINT—At Coast Line Freight House. CIRCUS GROUNDS—At the Old Fair Grounds.
PERFORMANCES—Tomorrow will begin at 2 and 8 p. m.—Gates will open at 1 and 7 p. m.

STREET PARADE ROUTE—Leaving the circus grounds at 12 o'clock sharp tomorrow morning, the colorful procession will proceed on Dickinson Avenue to Pitt Street, to Second, to Evans, to Dickinson Avenue, to show grounds.

FEATURES—CLYDE BEATTY, the world's greatest wild animal trainer; HOOT GIBSON, the screen's foremost Western star, and a vast array of worldwide features.

DOWNTOWN TICKET OFFICE — General admission and reserved seats on sale tomorrow at the Hill Home Drug Co., Same price will prevail at the circus ground—NO HIGHER.

DEPARTURE—Following the performance here tomorrow night, the big show will depart over the Coast Line railroad for Kinston, where it will parade and exhibit Wednesday.

and the Velarde sisters, the dancing, tumbling, somersaulting juveniles on the light wire. Sixty clowns headed by Otto Griebeling, world's greatest funster, will furnish fun for the little folks.

There are 250 head of horses with the show this season including 125 performing thoroughbreds. They will be in charge of Major John Smith, famous trainer.

"La Argentina," gorgeous spectacle will start the ball rolling in the big show and will serve as a prelude to the main performance. It is a picturesque extravaganza of the golden age and embraces the efforts of hundreds of men, women, horses, elephants, camels, yaks and other strange beasts of the forest and jungle. More than 100 dancing girls will be seen.

It is presented in a series of radiant visions, vast tableaux and moving spectacles of iridescent splendor. Yet forming but a single feature of the circus.

The doors to the combined menagerie will be opened at one and 7 p. m. The performances begin at 2 and 8 p. m. A downtown ticket office will be in operation all day tomorrow at the Hill Home Drug Co., and at the circus grounds the white ticket wagon will be continuously accessible for the purchase of reserved seats. General admission tickets will go on sale at the red ticket wagon, simultaneously with the opening of the main gates.

Doc, I bought these teeth at a bargain but I want you to put them in!

IMAGINE the amazement of your dentist if you went to him with a set of "store teeth" you purchased at a bargain and asked him to fit them in your mouth.

Your dentist knows that your health, comfort and well-being depend upon his ability to select teeth which will exactly meet your individual requirements—perfect matching of the teeth to assure a natural appearance and expert fitting to afford satisfactory service for many years.

Neither good teeth nor good plumbing can be purchased economically "over the counter." Plumbing fixtures too, must be of assured quality, carefully selected to meet your requirements, harmoniously matched to enhance the appearance of your home and installed by experienced hands to assure health protection, satisfactory service and vital economy.

Good plumbing is vital to the health of your family for it means the delivery of pure water and the safe removal of dangerous waste matter. It can mean much more than the good health of your family alone, because water contamination can endanger the health of an entire community. Good plumbing is so vital that you should be sure that your present plumbing is good.

Entrust your plumbing only to Master Plumbers. They have the knowledge, skill and experience necessary to assure safe, healthful, economical plumbing. Buy your fixtures from them. Place upon them the entire responsibility, as you would upon your dentist.

Your Master Plumber can recommend the "Standard" Plumbing Fixtures best suited for your requirements, help you plan a new bathroom, powder room or kitchen, and arrange the financing on low F.H.A. terms. And remember, "Standard" Plumbing Fixtures, sold through Master Plumbers, cost no more than others.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Prices moved ahead slightly in the stock market today as Wall street took the Franco-British agreement with Germany in the Czech crisis as a sign immediate hostilities in Europe were unlikely.

The turnover, reflecting the still uncertain tenor of European advances despite a brighter outlook was restricted. Transactions approximated 800,000 shares. Prices were strong from the opening, but most did not hold all gains to the finish.

New York Cotton

New York, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened six to nine points advance on a more favorable view of the European news and on steadier Liverpool cables.

December sold up from 7.83 to 7.88 and shortly after the first half hour was 7.86, with the list eight to ten points net higher.

By midday December was 7.87 and the list showed net gains of 10 to 13 points.

Futures closed four to nine higher, spot nominal, middling 8.25.

GAIN IS NOTED IN N. C. BIRTHS

August Number Increases After Five-Months Drop

Raleigh, Sept. 19.—Reversing a trend which had carried through five consecutive months, births in North Carolina increased during August over the corresponding month of 1937, according to figures issued by the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the State Board of Health.

Last month saw the birth of 6,937 little Tar Heels as compared with 6,747 last August. The total was an even bigger jump over the figures for July of this year, when there were only 6,120 births.

Deaths, for the third consecutive month showed an increase over those during 1937. The August total was 2,703 for 1938, against 2,578 for 1937. There was also an increase over July, during which there were 2,635 deaths.

Cancer, always one of the leading causes of death, was first during August with 187, followed by almonary tuberculosis with 59 and diarrhea in those under 2 years old with 131.

For the first time since August of 1937 pneumonia failed to claim at least 100 victims. The deaths for the month from that disease were 93, drop of just one from the same month a year ago, but a decided drop from the totals of all intervening months. The peak of pneumonia deaths was reached in January this year with 404.

Suicides, which have increased rather steadily this year showed a decline in August with 22 against 30 of August, 1937, but homicides went up from 28 to 34.

Preventable accidents decreased sharply, from 156 to 125, with automobile accidents claiming only 75 victims as against 87 in August, 1937.

MINOR WRECKS ARE REPORTED

struck Ross' car on the scene of the accident. Charges of operating a motor vehicle in a careless and reckless manner were preferred. Each defendant was released under a $200 bond.

Highway Patrolman C. R. Williams investigating officer, said that automobiles driven by Thomas James and Swindell Grimesly were involved in a collision on the Winterville highway about four miles from Greenville Saturday night. James' car, according to the patrolman, attempted to pass Grimesly car before the accident. He was charged with attempting to pass another automobile on an intersection.

Only slight damage was done in another traffic accident at the intersection of Third and Pitt streets last night. No one was injured in the accident. It is understood that no official investigation was made of the collision.
