Hitler And Chamberlain Meet To Seal Peace Pact

HOLD FATE OF ONE REPUBLIC

Conference Gets Under Way Amid Reports That Hitler Might Raise Price of Peace by Demanding Rights for All Czech Minorities

Godesburg, Germany, Sept. 22. — (AP) — Adolf Hitler and Neville Chamberlain discussed changes in the map of Europe for more than three hours today and parted with promises to continue their talks tomorrow.

The British Prime Minister, who had come to this Rhineland town for a second conference in a week with the German Führer in search of assurances for Europe's peace, left Hitler's hotel at 7:15 p. m. (1:15 p. m. EST).

Godesburg, Germany, Sept. 22. — (AP) — Adolf Hitler and Prime Minister Chamberlain met today for the second time in a week to seal their arrangements for assuring Berlin, Sept. 22. — (AP) — The controlled German press indicated today that the resignation of President Benes of Czechoslovakia was one of the demands Reichsführer Hitler was presenting to Prime Minister Chamberlain at their meeting at Godesburg.

There were intimations the British Prime Minister would find the proposals for meeting Hitler's demands, which Britain and France compelled the Prague government to accept, no longer would meet the situation.

Europe's peace by re-drawing the map of Czechoslovakia.

The British Prime Minister arrived at the hotel Dresden, the Reichsführer's headquarters, at 4 p. m. (10 a. m. EST) and was received at the entrance by Hitler himself.

Together the two statesmen, followed by their suites, proceeded to the conference room on the second the fateful conference, on which the fate of at least one European state depends, began at once.

Chamberlain reached his hotel at 1:50 p. m., having flown from London to Cologne and motored the rest of the way.

The conference was underway amid reports that Hitler might raise his price for peace.

Charge Preferred In County Slaying

A. A. Ellwanger, Pitt county coroner, said today that he had considered an inquest unnecessary into the death of Mate Jordan, Fountain Negro, who was shot to death Saturday about midnight in a beer garden.

Tommy Morgan, Negro, charged with the fatal shooting, was under a $2,500 bond following a preliminary hearing before a magistrate, Jimmy Jordan, another Negro, who happened to be in the path of bullets from Morgan's gun, was wounded. He is expected to recover.

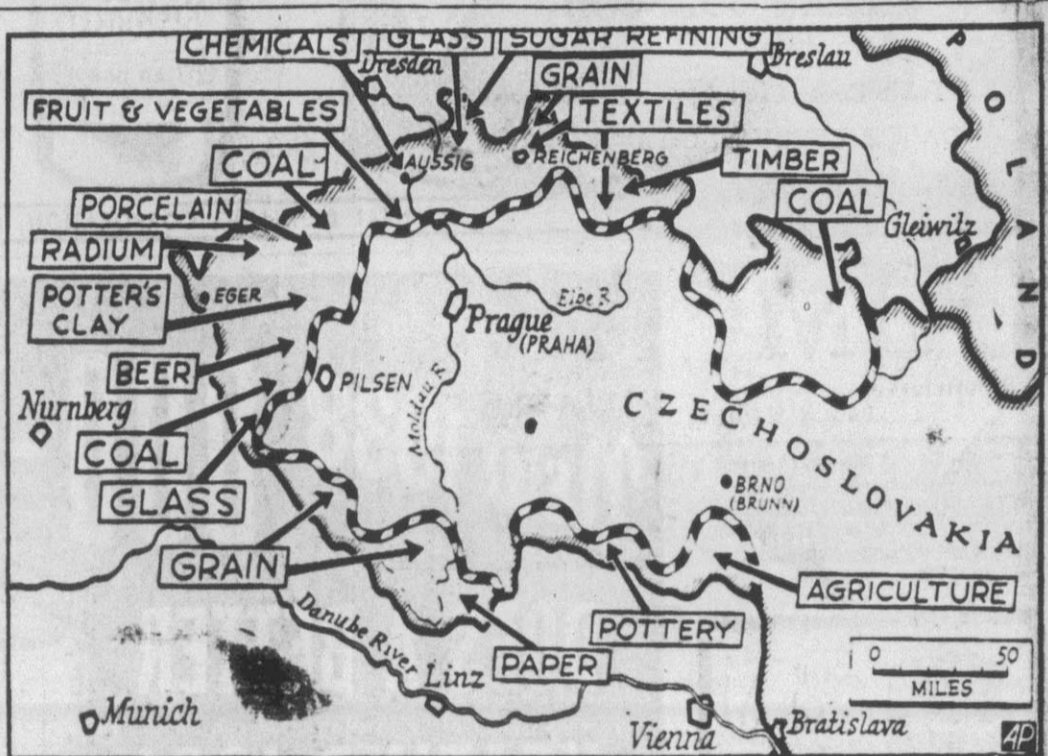

Henry Edwards, Negro, has been lodged in the Pitt county jail by Constable Gus Stokes for investigation. Edwards is said to be an accessory to the shooting affray.

Edwards said today that Jordan had been drinking. He said also that pop bottles were hurled by Jordan before the shooting. The Negro said little about the shooting. "I was too busy dodgin' bottles to notice dat," he said.

Prices Strong

Prices continued strong on the Greenville tobacco market yesterday and 741,378 pounds of the golden weed brought $74,499.21, for an official average of $23.54 per hundredweight. So far this season 19,656,204 pounds of tobacco have been sold on the Greenville market, bringing $4,190,036.41, for a general average of $21.32 per hundred.

HERE'S WHAT HITLER WINS FROM CZECHOSLOVAKIA

This map designates the vast territory rich in agriculture, industry and materials, which Adolf Hitler's Nazi Germany would win from Czechoslovakia, now that the Czech government has accepted the British-French plan for surrendering the Sudeten German territory to Hitler. The black-and-white striped line marks the new frontier suggested under the British-French plan.

HOEY TALKS ON HIGHWAY FUND

Says He Would Oppose Anti-Diversion Amendment

High Point, Sept. 22. — (AP) — Governor Hoey served notice here today he would oppose any constitutional amendment to prohibit diversion of highway funds into the general fund, though he promised to fight to keep such revenues intact for road purposes.

The chief executive spoke to High Point civic clubs at a luncheon meeting and will speak again tonight at a meeting of southern furniture manufacturers.

Explaining his position, Hoey said: "I do not believe in diversion of highway funds, except in the case of absolute necessity, and then only on the basis of the application of the sales tax to the gasoline tax collections, and then only to the extent necessary."

"This can be justified only for the purpose of preventing a deficit or the reduction of teachers' salaries or restricting some governmental service, like old age assistance or aid to dependent children."

"I believe the highway fund is sacred for the purpose for which it is collected and the need for the roads is imperative, but the cause of childhood and education are also sacred and should not be sacrificed."

"I shall insist that enough revenue be provided from other sources to meet the appropriations for all general purposes, so that there will be no encroachment upon the road fund, but I am unwilling for the door to be closed by constitutional amendment, for in the hour of emergency the state should have all of its resources available to meet the imperative demands of that period of crisis."

Chamberlain Secretary To Speak to Kiwanis

Willard T. Kyzer, secretary of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce, will be the featured speaker at the regular meeting of the Greenville Kiwanis Club, to be held Friday evening at 6:30 o'clock.

The program will be in charge of the House committee, composed of Grady Bell, chairman, and John Cannon, Robert Coleman and Alvin Bunting.

Kyzer was a member of the Morganton Kiwanis club before coming to Greenville. Friday night's meeting will be the first to be held for this year under the fall schedule.

Police Investigating Embezzlement Count

Pennie Edwards, Negro, is being held for investigation by Greenville police in connection with embezzlement of $283.70 from W. D. McLawhorn, Pitt County farmer.

The Negro, who works on the farm with McLawhorn, is understood to have sold some tobacco here and obtained a check for it. He contends, however, that he lost the check while going to the bank.

Two To Die

Raleigh, Sept. 22. — (AP) — Tom Liney and T. J. Jefferson, Forsyth county Negroes, sentenced to be executed at State's prison tomorrow, calmly said today they were not afraid to die.

The men steadfastly maintained they were innocent, but Governor Hiley said he could find no reason to intervene. They were convicted of the June, 1937, slaying of Herman Fogelman, allegedly in an attempted robbery.

ORDERS GRANT FOR MARYLAND

President Changes Mind, Authorizes Bridge Fund

Washington, Sept. 22. — (AP) — President Roosevelt today approved a $2,167,000 Public Works grant for construction of a $4,815,000 bridge across the Susquehanna river at Havre de Grace, Md.

He had instructed Administrator Ickes during the recent Maryland Democratic senatorial primary to expedite the application for PWA aid for the Havre de Grace bridge and another span across the Potomac river at Morgantown, Md.

Subsequently Rep. Lewis, whose candidacy Mr. Roosevelt favored, was defeated for the senatorial nomination by the incumbent, Millard Tydings, and the President said at his Tuesday press conference the two bridge programs would not be carried out for the time being.

Also, the AAA announced more than $10,400,000 in cotton adjustment payments on the 1937 crop had been approved for payment, to 79,500 farmers.

About 41,000 checks, averaging $83 each and totaling $3,400,000 already have been distributed, it was said.

Former Local Citizen In Colorado Accident

Word was received here today that Robert E. Lee, nephew of Mrs. C. T. Munford of Greenville, had met with an accident in Solida Colorado, and was seriously hurt. Details of the accident were not known.

Mr. Lee is well-known in this city, having moved to the west coast from Greenville some time ago. He is a World War veteran. He was a member of the battery that fired the first American shot in the World war.

Report About Airship Is Apparently False

A report reaching Greenville today that an airplane had been forced down in the vicinity of Paeotus could not be sustained.

Cecil Satterthwaite, a merchant at Paeotus, told a Reflector representative, "I have not seen a plane forced down in this area today, nor have I heard of one being forced down."

NEW TROUBLES FOR DALADIER

French Premier Faces Opposition Within Own Cabinet

Paris, Sept. 22. — (AP) — Premier Daladier fought opposition within his own cabinet today in talks with three ministers who reportedly were on the verge of resigning in protest against the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia.

The three were Paul Reynaud, minister of justice; Georges Mandel, minister of colonies; and Auguste de Ribes, minister of pensions.

They were closeted with the Premier in a late afternoon conference which followed a three-hour talk between Daladier and representatives of the People's Front Deputies in Parliament.

After the ministers left it was reliably reported that the questions of their resignations had been left in "temporary suspense."

Socialist and Communist members of the Peoples Front have condemned the Daladier government "shameful policy of treaty betrayal and capitulation to Hitler's threats."

Record developments last night caused some observers to believe the cabinet might break up at any moment as a result of pressure Daladier and Foreign Minister Bonnet exerted on France's little central ally.

King And Baldwin In Surprise Meet

London, Sept. 22. — (AP) — Former Premier Baldwin made a surprise call on the King as Premier Chamberlain flew today to buy European Rhineland to try to buy European peace from Chancellor Hitler with the surrender of the Czechoslovakia Sudetenland.

Earl Baldwin, who led the nation through the crisis of Edward VIII's abdication, lunched with Chamberlain yesterday.

His visit to Buckingham Palace aroused quick political speculation for he is known to be extremely friendly with Anthony Eden, who served as foreign minister under both Baldwin and Chamberlain.

Eden broke with the present Premier seven months ago rather than support efforts to reach a peace understanding with the Italian Premier Benito Mussolini, under what he considered threats.

Convict Is Returned To Finish His Term

Officer L. K. Ganewer of Richmond, Va., came to Greenville at noon today to return Albert Conner, alias Eddie Conner, who escaped about a year and a half ago after having served only a portion of an eight-year term for highway robbery in Virginia.

Conner was nabbed in Greenville after a fist fight. He was identified through fingerprints furnished by the Federal Bureau of Investigation and made no effort to fight extradition. No charges were preferred for the local offense.

Dictatorship Demanded by Czech People

President Faces Task of Forming New Government

Prague, Sept. 22. — (AP) — Amid rising demands for a military dictatorship, President Benes and the cabinet, which tendered its resignation, struggled today with the delicate task of forming a new government acceptable to the Czechoslovak people.

In response to clamorous popular indignation over the government's capitulation to the Anglo-French plan for ceding Sudetenland to Germany, Premier Hodza and his ministers based their resignation on Benes' hands.

But the cabinet remained in office, assisting the president in search for a new regime.

While Benes and Hodza still were in conference at the Palace at 12:30 p. m. (6:30 a. m. EST) crowds gathered on government hill and continued thronging the streets of Prague in noisy demonstrations.

As news spread throughout the country that the government had yielded to the British and French pressure at quest of Adolf Hitler a rising tide of protest followed to ward the capital.

Shouts of "out with the capitulators" and "we want a military dictatorship" resounded through the main thoroughfares of Prague as crowds totaling tens of thousands forced virtual disruption of all traffic.

Police, despite hundreds of reinforcements, were unable or unwilling to halt impromptu parades, demonstrations and speeches.

General Stryov, chief inspector of the army, who appeared to be the choice of most of the demonstrators to head a dictatorship broadcast a message urging the people to remain calm and support the army and the government in the work awaiting them.

While there was much tumult and shouting, there was a remarkable lack of violence. There were no records of violence against persons.

Thirty-Five Cases On Civil Calendar

The calendar for the term of civil court scheduled to begin here Monday morning has been prepared showing a total of 35 cases listed for trial.

Only a small per centage of this number will be tried, however. At the last term of civil court only four cases were disposed of, in addition to the two divorces granted.

Listed for trial on Wednesday is the case of which J. M. Ward ABC enforcement officer, and A. S. Batson, who conducted an undercover drive on bootleggers here, are being sued by Joe D. Heath, who charges that the officers, in pursuit of an alleged bootlegger, fired shots which ricocheted and struck his house, causing the plaintiff and his wife mental anguish and physical harm.

Rail Petition Heard By Stanley Winborne

Raleigh, Sept. 22. — (AP) — Utilities Commissioner Stanley Winborne this afternoon heard the petition of the Virginia and Carolina Southern Railroad to quit passenger service between Lumberton and Hope Mills and to withdraw from use of the Seaboard station at Lumberton, for which it had been paying $25 a month.

VICTIM OF BORDER OUTBREAK

This picture, sent across the Atlantic by radio, was made in a hospital at Seidenberg, Germany, September 20 as a nurse leaned over one of the German customs officials reported wounded by bullets fired by Czechoslovakian border raiders. The clash was one of a series between Czechs and Sudeten Germans. Note the picture of Adolf Hitler, on the wall.

Government Help Given Persons In Storm Area

FDR Orders Agencies To Render All Possible Assistance

Washington, Sept. 22. — (AP) — President Roosevelt ordered government agencies today to render all possible assistance along the storm-swept north Atlantic seaboard.

The Chief executive, still troubled with a head cold, remained in the White House residential quarters on order of Dr. Rose McIntire, White House physician, but he was kept in close touch with the storm.

Stephen Early, White House press secretary, said the President had instructed the navy, coast guard and the CCC to render all possible aid in Long Island, Connecticut and any other stricken areas.

Mr. Roosevelt also conversed with Red Cross officials regarding the latter's rescue work in the flood area.

An army of 2,500 coast guardsmen and scores of Red Cross workers mobilized virtually overnight led dramatic rescue and relief operations along the storm-swept northeast coast.

Nearly one quarter of the coast guard personnel and equipment was called into land and sea service from Long Island to Maine by Rear Admiral R. R. Waesche.

Three Negroes Jailed After Cutting Affray

Officers Dursey, Mobley and House arrested three Negroes this morning around 2:30 o'clock and booked them on charges of assault with a deadly weapon.

William Harrington is said to have hit Theodore Henderson on the head with a brick and then slashed his neck with a knife. Henderson then slashed Elijah Small with a knife. Several stitches were required to close the wounds of the slashed Negroes.

Each was jailed after the affray under bonds of $100 each. Henderson was later released under a furnished bond and the other two Negroes remained in jail.

FRENCH STORK DERBY HAS ITS SETBACKS

Paris (AP) — Financial reverses and the increasing size of French families have forced the Prix-Cocagne-Jay committee to cut their ninety prizes of 25,000 francs down to 20,000 francs.

The prizes, plus one hundred others of 10,000 francs each, go to families in which the husband is not more than thirty-five years old and has at least five children to support.

The endowment fund, a sort of French "stork derby," was established in 1919 by a wealthy department store owner.

HEAVY DAMAGE LEFT IN WAKE OF HURRICANE

Strikes Inland After Passing Off Carolina Coast

UNEQUALLED FOR PAST 100 YEARS

(By The Associated Press) The ever-lengthening roster of the dead from an equinoctial hurricane which struck the north Atlantic states with a savageness unequalled in a hundred years, neared the 250 mark today, and still the tragic figures mounted.

The damage to property — the hundreds of smashed boats growing or matured crops, to homes, utilities, public buildings, transportation and communication — was beyond calculation, rising to uncounted millions of dollars. How many thousands were homeless could not even be guessed.

A list of the hurricane victims, by states shows: Massachusetts, 77; Rhode Island, 57; New York 32; Connecticut, 31; New Hampshire, 13; and Vermont, New Jersey and Quebec, Canada, one each; total 243.

Many thousands of men and women in the great area of disaster — troops, police, coast guardsmen, naval reservists, Red Cross workers, boy scouts — were called to the work of rescue.

Meanwhile this morning the storm which had been accompanied by fearsome tidal waves on some sections of the coast, moved upward into Canada in the southern parts of the provinces of Ontario and Quebec.

There was the gravest fear that the hurricane had brought catastrophe to the isolated people of Cape Cod, extending like an up-curved forerunner from the Massachusetts mainland and to the island of Martha's vineyard and Nantucket, lying to the south of the cape in the open sea.

The first direct report covering only the base of the cape nearest the mainland at least 22 dead, a tentative figure apparently certain to go much higher.

Fire and flood added to the terror of thousands left homeless by the storm.

Especially hard hit were the areas of Providence, R. I., and the swank north shore of Long Island. Hundreds of summer cottages were smashed in the roaring gale.

Escapes Thought To Have Left Pitt

F. W. Jacobs, superintendent of the Pitt county prison camp, expressed the opinion today that three grade A convicts who "walked off" Tuesday night had been picked up and taken to some other part of the state.

He added, however, he was continuing a search, running down every available clue.

The three escapes are Rancey Quinn, 38; Henry Millwood, 35; and Richard Dowdee, 32, all white men sent here from the Caledonia prison farm in Halifax county. White convicts recently replaced Negroes at the Pitt prison camp.

In addition to the trio who escaped Tuesday night, two of the three convicts who escaped last week have evaded officers so far.

Local Police Aid in Tobacco Thief Hunt

The Chief of Police at Clinton today asked Greenville police to be on the lookout for 500 or 600 pounds of tobacco stolen from a farm near Clinton some time last night.

Belief was expressed that the thieves might attempt to sell their loot in Greenville today. The Chief said about eight inches had been broken off the end of each tobacco stick, which led him to believe that the weed was hauled away in an automobile.

DEATH TOLL FROM STORM APPROACHES 200 MARK

(Continued from Page One) The storm blew up yesterday morning from Cape Hatteras, hitting Long Island in the afternoon, and sweeping northward through western New England. Reaching Vermont, weather bureau officials said, the center bored to the west, crossing the lower St. Lawrence valley near Montreal.

In that section, only one death had been reported, but the destruction of property was heavy.

To the widespread devastation of the wind was added at some points, the destruction of fire.

At one point on the Cape Cod canal, Onset, the whole population of 2,000 rushed to the village's one hill to escape inundation from great waves, which made the town an island.

Of the seven states hit by the storm, Massachusetts has the largest number of dead, well above 50.

Looting started at several points. The disaster, which struck an area that in general is the most heavily populated in the United States, called for vast and immediate reconstruction.

Anxiety grew hourly over the fate of 52 persons who are aboard two boats which put out from Bridgeport, Conn., in the path of the storm.

Swirling up from the south, the hurricane swept in from the sea late yesterday, smashing shipping and shore resorts with waves lashed to tidal power.

Visits of Hungarian and Polish statesmen with Hitler Tuesday led to the belief Hitler might insist the minorities of these two countries in Czechoslovakia fare as well as the Sudeten Germans.

Chamberlain also said to have a list of demands, including immediate demobilization of German army reservists and co-operation of Hitler in a new non-aggression pact among Britain, France, Germany and Italy to guarantee the peace of Europe.

There was no indication how long the talks would continue, but judging from the complicated problems facing the conferees it was believed in reliable quarters they would last at least two days.

BEARS BOTHER TO PICNICKERS

Break Up Many Outdoor Feasts in The Smoky Mountains

Raleigh, Sept. 19.—The bears in the Great Smoky Mountains National Park are becoming so accustomed to people that they frequently interrupt picnickers and eat the lunches which they hastily abandon while in a few cases some of the more daring visitors have had some unpleasant "arguments" with these bears, Charles E. Ray, of Waynesville, has advised the Department of Conservation and Development.

"Attracted by the quantities of food brought in on their backs by visitors and especially by the tasty tidbits left over by hundreds of picnickers, many of the bears in the park which until recently have been more afraid of human beings than human beings are of them, have lost this fear," Ray said. "So instead of running away when they scent humans, these bears have come to associate this scent of food so that they are seeking out the places where people are, especially the picnic grounds."

"At first these bears were content to overturn the trash containers at night after people had picnicked there, to get the many tasty bits of sandwiches, cake, chicken bones and other food left

Pirate Gridmen From 5 States

Eighteen North Carolina Boys on Squad; Offensive Scrimmage Held This Afternoon Under Playing Conditions

This year's East Carolina Teachers College football squad has representatives from five States with 18 North Carolina boys on the squad.

The lightest man on the squad is Bernard Jenkins of Robersonville, who weighs 135.

The heaviest man on the squad is Rockfellow Venters of Ayden who tips the scales at 271 pounds.

Jenkins is a backfield man and Venters is a tackle.

Eugene Carson of Bethel, is the tallest man on the squad reaching 6-2 in the atmosphere.

Lester Ridenhour has more years experience of football to his credit than any man on the squad, having played four years of high school football and is now playing his fourth year of college football.

Bridgers, James, Long, Carson and Hinton are playing their first football.

Earl Smith, regular end last year, has been shifted to the backfield where the coaches are very impressed by his clever foot work and offensive blocking.

Among the likely new comers are Mell Wagner of Derby Line, Vermont, and Woodrow Long of Taboro.

The ETC Pirates began polishing off their offensive tactics in a scrimmage this afternoon.

Many of the afternoon efforts were confined to familiarizing inexperienced men with blocking assignments under actual game conditions, with Ridenhour and Shelton out in the backfield play.

One team built around Bill Shelton in the backfield included:

Lex Ridenhour	FB
Bill Shelton	HB
Earl Smith	HB
Bill Dudash	QB
Ralph Elliott	RE
Mell Wagner	RT
Walter Rogers	RG
Joe Williams	LG
John Kapelac	C
Woodrow Long	T
Floyd Hanton	E

A second team included:

Bucs Take Lead In Piedmont Play - Off

Rocky Mount, Sept. 22—(AP)—George Lacy's 10th inning single scored Mason and gave Rocky Mount a 3-2 victory over Charlotte in the fifth game of the pay-off series here last night.

The Bucs now have a 3-2 lead over the Hornets in victories.

Bucky Jacobs blanked the locals until the 8th when Alex Petruskin and Jake Plummer hit home runs to tie the score.

In the tenth Mason led off with a walk. Fay sacrificed. After Petruskin was given an intentional pass, Lacy lined a drive into left to bring home the winning run.

Charlotte took a lead in the first inning when Bev Ferrell hit a home run with one on. After that Jarlett held the Hornets to three hits.

The sixth game of the series will be played in Charlotte tonight.

STATE BALLOT PROOFS READY

Eighth District Congressional Nominee Still Uncertain

Reflector Bureau.
Raleigh, Sept. 21.—Although he still doesn't know what name will go in the congressional column on the Democratic side of the ticket in the Eighth district, Raymond C. Maxwell, secretary of the State Board of Elections, is going ahead with preparations for printing and distributing the tickets to be marked in November by some three-quarter million or more Tar Heels.

He already has proofs of the ballot, which rather oddly will be even longer than that of 1936 despite the fact that many fewer important state officials are to be chosen this fall than were named two years ago. The difference comes about in the Superior Court judge list, with 12 such vacancies to be filled this year as against two in 1936.

So far, twenty Democrats are sure to be listed on each ballot, while there are only four Republican candidates in seven districts and three in the other four.

There seems to be some question over when the G.O.P. boys would be barred from making executive committee nominations for one Supreme Court post, for attorney general and for commissioner of labor. These three races got on this year's ballot after the primary dates by reason of resignations of Attorney General A. A. F. Seawell and Commissioner of Labor A. L. Fletcher and the death of Justice George W. Connor.

Nominees on the ballot proofs are: Justices of the Supreme Court—M. V. Barnhill, J. Wallace Winborne and A. A. F. Seawell, Democrats; Herbert P. Seawell, Sr., and Irvin B. Tucker, Republicans.

Attorney General—Harry McMillan, Democrat.

Commissioner of Labor—Forrest H. Shuford, Democrat. (The board secretary has already assumed his nomination, which will not be made officially until next Monday.)

Utilities Commissioner—Stanley Winborne, Democrat.

U. S. Senator—Robert R. Reynolds, Democrat; Charles A. Jonas, Republican.

The twelve Democratic nominees for Superior Court posts.

In all eleven districts the Democratic Congressional nominees and in seven of them their Republican opponents.

SHORT SHOTS

By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, Sept. 22.—Wallace Wade, coach of Duke University's Blue Devils has received so many tributes of one sort or another that any more may appear a bit superfluous, but the current issue of Liberty magazine has one which is a bit unusual in the qualities it attributes to Mr. Wade.

Says Yankee Stade—obviously a pen name—in speaking of graduate managers:

"He is a well paid gentleman who must—and usually does—combine in his person the major gifts of Moses, Napoleon, Beconsfield and Billy Rose."

"A good head coach has to have all the qualities possessed by the graduate manager, plus the moral character of John Wesley the resourcefulness of Gaston B. Means without the dishonesty, and the box office draw of Shifley Temple."

"Nearest approximation to this ideal among current coaches is probably Wallace Wade of Duke University, who is said to receive $15,000 a year and a share of the gate receipts."

Forty or more motorboat skippers, from every point along the eastern seaboard will bring their graceful midget sailing craft to Elizabeth City for the fourth annual national motorboat regatta to be held on October 14.

Turkeys are not going to be quite as plentiful as usual in North Carolina for this Thanksgiving Day, according to W. H. Rhodes, chief statistician of the State Department of Agriculture, who has estimated that the state's crop of the juicy birds is ten per cent off from normal.

The plaint "My neighbor got more than I did" isn't going to get a review of tobacco quotas by county AAA review committees, according to E. Y. Floyd, AAA executive officer at State College, has warned prospective complainants.

But if a grower can show that incorrect data were used in determining his quota, the committee will check over the facts and if a larger quota is found justified, he will be given an increase in poundage, Floyd promises.

Naming of Ronald Hocutt as safety director, and John Armstrong as head of the State Highway Patrol shows that Commissioner of Revenue A. J. Maxwell concurs with Governor Clyde R. Hoey in belief that major appointments are best filled by promotion from the ranks.

Hocutt's appointment in 1936 as assistant safety director was generally regarded as completely political and a reward for his valiant service to Hoey in the primaries, but his work since taking the place has been of the kind calculated to meet with approval.

He has been one of the outstanding leaders in the current aggres-

THE CLOUDED MOON

By MAX SALTmarsh

The Characters
 Hugo Stern, handsome author, living on the French Riviera.
 Archie Lumsden, myself, his friend.
 Otilie Wills, beautiful American heiress.

Yesterday: Otilie and I get out of Geiss's villa. Later she disappears.

Chapter 40
 The Zero Hour

DUNNING lifted a large, white hand. "Just a minute. There are a few points to consider before we take any hasty step, and the first and most important is the safety of Virgoe Wills. We have pretty good authority for believing that this day will see the attempt on his life, and we know his death is the stake these gentlemen are playing for. Our first duty is to attend to his safety. Up to now, I'm happy to say, he is ignorant of his niece's disappearance, and I warn you that I shall resist, by force if need be, any attempt to alarm him about her. See here, son," he continued on a softer note. "If you go to the police about Otilie's vanishing, you'll have the whole circus, complete with elephants, dashing around here to interrogate him. Before you know where you are, the old man'll be out scouring the town for her, and now, in the name of all that's holy, are we going to keep an eye on him in the sort of free-for-all frolic that'll be filling the streets shortly?"

He was right, and I knew it, but nevertheless my whole soul recoiled from the thought of leaving the girl for her fate. Minx might be a bit of a flirt, but she has a charm, a courage, an innate honesty about her that made the thought of leaving her to Geiss completely unthinkable. Therefore, when Hugo spoke, I had already ranged myself mentally and physically on his side.

"I can't do it," he said, and his voice was tired. "You're right, Dunning, according to your lights—but you see, I love her and I've got to have a shot at finding her."

"I never suspected that. You go out and look for your girl, and take Archie along to help you. I'd come myself if I could, but you know how it is. I'll have my hand full, but there's two or three of my men hanging around this locality to help me, and I guess we'll win out."

Hugo threw him a swift, grateful glance. "I won't forget that, Dunning," he said. "The sooner we find her, the sooner we'll be back to give you a hand. Archie, are you ready?"

"Champing at the bit to be gone," I retorted, much relieved, but even as I turned to follow him, I halted, stopped short in my tracks by the sight of a tall, rugged figure emerging from the lift. It was Virgoe Wills himself, and at sight of us he reddened his gray head in dignified salutation and came towards us.

"Good morning gentlemen," he said. "If you are waiting to see me you are most welcome, but if by any chance you have a date with Otilie, I fear you'll be disappointed. Cassandra tells me she's feeling poorly this morning."

"Now, if that isn't too bad!" said Dunning with a spurious heartiness. "Here's Mr. Stern come with an invitation to you and Miss Otilie to spend the next two-three days with him and his sister at their chalet."

The old man bowed gravely. "We are much obliged to you, Mr. Stern," he said, "but Otilie, as you have just heard, is keeping her room." He broke off sharply, for another voice had sounded at his elbow, a fat, oily voice that I knew only too well.

"But no, monsieur!" it said. "You are mistaken. Mademoiselle Otilie, she is already out enjoying the braderie. Just one little moment ago I met her, and she asked me to come and tell you to join her!"

I swung round and saw, with a mixture of stupefaction and dismay, the squat, obese figure of Baron Stahl standing at my elbow. For a moment we all stared at him in a dazed silence; then Hugo spoke.

"That's a lie!" he said sharply. "Miss Wills is in her room, suffering from a headache."

It's Come At Last

THE old man looked from one to the other of us, knitting his shaggy brows. For a moment, it seemed, he almost suspected that something was wrong—and then, as his eye lighted on Hugo, his face cleared. I knew only too well what he was thinking. Here was yet one more of his niece's victims, jealous that she had chosen another escort to show her round the fair.

"Well," he said slowly, "I guess the Baron should know what he's talking about. Mr. Stern, you'll find Otilie's made that way—sudden decisions and impulsive actions, but she doesn't mean a mite of harm. If she wants me, though I imagine I'd better be getting along. Where did you say she was waiting, Baron? In the main street?"

"In the main street, yes!" the small, fat man assented with a triumphant glance at us. "I take you there right away, no?" But now it was Dunning's turn to protest.

"See here, Mr. Wills," he drawled, "there's a crush out there by now it's scarcely the kind of spot for Miss Otilie to be wandering around in. Why not let Mr. Stern and Mr. Lumsden here go along and bring her back?"

"Cuthbert," Virgoe Wills said dryly, "you're well-meaning, but you're not so bright as you'd like to be. There's nothing in the kind of innocent fun that's going on out there to offend Otilie. Lead the way, Baron," and with that he turned and stomped firmly out to the terrace.

We stood there, three angry, helpless men. Dunning's face was very anxious, and in the silence I heard him mutter, half to himself: "It's come—it's come at last."

"Leave it to me," said I, for an idea had struck me. I sprinted after the two receding figures.

"Mr. Wills," I said, a trifle breathlessly, "you won't mind if we come along with you? My friend Stern is rather anxious to have a word with your niece."

He halted, fixing his wise, shrewd old eyes on me.

"Mr. Lumsden, quite a number of young men have been anxious to have a word with Otilie in the past, and most times the result of that word has been a heart-ache for them and a scalp in the war-belt for her. I like your friend, and a man of his age takes a hurt harder."

"Mr. Wills," I answered soberly, lowering my voice to meet his "hasn't it occurred to you that one day Otilie might get tired of scalp-collecting—I mean, prefer to acquire one permanent specimen and discard the others? Hugo's a fine chap. You wouldn't find a better nephew-in-law anywhere?"

"Does Otilie like him that much?" And when I nodded, "Well, well," he said thoughtfully, "that takes a considerable weight off my mind, for he looks as if he could handle her." He turned to Hugo and Dunning and halted tentatively a few feet away. "Gentlemen," he called genially, "I'm firing right along behind us, if you wish; and you, Baron, you won't mind joining them? Mr. Lumsden and I have certain matters of importance to discuss." The Baron swallowed hard, gave me one swift, malevolent look, and turned, with a deferential bow back to where the others waited.

I was gratified to see that Hugo and Dunning automatically formed up on either side of him, linking their arms in his in the friendliest way imaginable, and I was still more pleased that the old man had chosen me as his companion, for I was by a long way the biggest of the three and would therefore make the best shield for him when trouble started. And that trouble would shortly start I had not the smallest doubt.

Completely Unaware

AS WE turned from the sun-glare of the front into a narrow side-street, thronged with straining merry-makers, I saw that my friend the Arab carpet-seller had fallen into place between us and the other three. A second later two dusky-looking sailors emerged from an alley and strolled on just ahead of us. Dunning's reinforcements were rolling up, and it was a considerable relief to my mind. But the work of both advance and rear guard was becoming complicated, for with every step we took the crowd thickened, and at the entrance to the main street we stopped dead, brought up short by an impassable wall of jostling, laughing, singing humanity.

The old man made a rueful grimace. "I'm afraid Cuthbert was right, at that," he admitted. "This is no place for Otilie, but now we're here, we'd best go find her. Which way, Baron?" he shouted over his shoulder, and the fat man pointed a stubby finger, shrieking.

Virgoe Wills gripped my arm with one sinewy hand and his stick with the other. "Come on, son!" said he. "Get a move on!" and dragged me unwillingly into the thick of the press.

The crowd was keeping a semibalance of order, even to its merry-making, for down one side of the street a solid mass traveled stolidly westward, while the other half headed equally determinedly east. The sailors were still ahead, but divided from us now by a solid sea of heads, and when I glanced over my shoulder all I saw of the carpet-seller was the top of a red tarboosh, while of the other three no trace remained. There was nothing for it but to let myself be borne onward, keeping a sharp look-out for any face I knew.

It was a queer frame of mind that I was in, resigned, fatalistic, and yet acutely watchful; and yet, when the thing happened, it caught me completely unaware. As we stood jammed behind and before by the press of people, suddenly in the queer, hazy way of crowds, a tiny space opened before us, and across it, cringing and sidling, came a gangling, dust-colored figure that I knew.

The wretched creature whistled shrilly. From the milling crowd of people ahead there sprang a second figure, thin, stringy, with a flying mop of tow-colored hair, and in his hand I saw something short, black and deadly, pointed straight at Virgoe Wills' heart.

I sprang forward, trying to throw myself in front of the old man, but there were strong hands gripping my arms, holding me back. I struggled wildly, waiting for the sickening report, the wisp of smoke that would herald death, and in that instant which seemed to hold eternity, something else happened.

Concern Felt For Missing Pitt Man

Sheriff J. Knott, Proctor, Chief of police George Clark revealed today their offices had been requested to aid in locating Lantis Howard, 43-year-old Pitt county man said to have been "very sick" when he left his home on J J Perkins Ward farm Tuesday.

According to information received from the man's wife, Howard left in company with Richard Byrd, who reported that they parted in Greenville. Howard was said to be subject to high blood pressure and his wife expressed much concern over him. He weighs about 170 pounds, has gray eyes and is bald-headed. When he left home he was wearing a gray suit and a gray hat. A brother, Jasper H. Howard, lives

ed with brick, furring tile and plaster, while the floors will be of the metal pan and concrete joist type with terrazzo in the offices and tile in the wash rooms.

The building is six stories high with a basement under the center, is L-shaped with two wings, each approximately 134 feet wide and a center section approximately 76 feet wide and 65 feet deep. Structural steel was used in the superstructure, granite in the street elevations and ends of each wing, brick in the rear wall, and the insulated roof is composed of slag materials laid on insulating board.

The walls will be of granite block-

DO THIS: Put some Vicks VapoRub up each nostril and sniff well back.

NEXT, melt a spoonful of VapoRub in a bowl of boiling water; breathe in the medicated vapors for several minutes. This loosens phlegm and further clears the air-passages.

AT BEDTIME, rub VapoRub on throat, chest, and back so its long-continued double action can relieve the misery of the cold while you sleep.

TRY IT—then you'll know why VapoRub is a standby in 3 out of 5 homes.
