STORM MOVES NORTH AFTER HITTING SOUTH

Heads Toward Sections Struck by Recent Hurricane

HEAVY RAINS AT WILMINGTON N. C.

Observers Report Little Likelihood Storm Be as Devastating as That of Last Week

(By The Associated Press) A southern storm which formed over Eastern North Carolina after two tornadoes had ripped through Charleston, S. C., yesterday moved rapidly toward Long Island and the hurricane-stricken areas of New England today, but the weather bureau said there was little likelihood its force would be as devastating as last week's storm.

Dr. James Kimball, meteorologist in charge of the New York weather bureau, said the storm would swirl up the coast with Long Island shores and Nantucket, Mass., feeling the outer edge of it. New York City likely will experience strong northeast winds, he said.

Rain fell over the metropolitan area of New York this morning and the Coast Guard at Fire Island, the isolated barrier beach off Long Island which was devastated last week, said the wind was slowing at 40 miles an hour, whipping up thunderous surfs as the tide rolled. The wind was increasing hourly, the reports said.

As winds and rains raged up from the south, word came from Wilmington, N. C., that a large part of the city was flooded after a 9.53 inch rain which fell in the last 24 hours. More rain was predicted for today.

Storm warnings were posted along the coast from the Virginia capes to Eastport, Maine. Rain was falling steadily in Maryland and in the Philadelphia area. Philadelphia reported winds of 20 to 25 miles an hour.

Dr. Kimball said he doubted there would be any tornadoes like the two which struck Charleston, bringing death to at least 26 persons, injuries to hundreds and inflicting property damages estimated at between two and three million dollars.

Court Term Ends; Defer One Trial

Judge J. Paul Frizzelle this afternoon ordered a mistrial in the case of E. D. Britt and B. G. Taylor vs. the Virginia Trust Company and the Worthington brothers. The action was taken when it was found that insufficient time was available to complete the case in this term of court. It was docketed for a similar term set for the week of October 24.

This case was brought about by E. D. Britt and B. G. Taylor for redemption of property sold by the Virginia Trust Company and purchased by the Worthington brothers.

Earlier, Mrs. Reva Warren was awarded the verdict in a case against the Pilot Life Insurance Company. Mrs. Warren will receive double indemnity for the death of her son, Alexander Warren, who was murdered. The jury agreed that Warren came to his death by accidental means and that the company was liable for the double-indemnity benefit.

HAMLET NEGRO PUT TO DEATH

Executed At State's Prison For Murder of White Man

Raleigh, Sept. 30.—(AP)—George Ford, 20-year-old Hamlet Negro, was executed by gas at State's prison today for the murder of Eunice (Bill) Munn, a white taxi driver and world war veteran.

Ford was convicted in Scotland county in August and did not appeal to the Supreme court. Governor Hoyer declined to intervene. Capt. T. D. Thames of the Scotland prison camp, who saw the execution, said Ford had several terms at his camp for larceny, breaking and entering and theft of an automobile.

Chaplain E. C. Cooper of the prison said Ford admitted his guilt and expressed his readiness to die. This morning the Negro was baptized.

Ford entered the death chamber at 10:32 and closed his eyes as Chaplain Cooper prayed with him. The gas was started at 10:34 and administered for 13 minutes, 52 seconds. Dr. Hightower pronounced Ford dead at 10:48, making him the 38th gas victim and 209 persons executed here since 1910.

Would Separate Covenant from Treaty of Versailles

ASSEMBLY VOTES FOR SUGGESTION

Paves Way for Erasure of One of Germany's Arguments Against Membership

Geneva, Sept. 30.—(AP)—The assembly of the League of Nations today accepted the principle of separating the League covenant from the Versailles treaty.

The League of Nations was born of the post-war peace pact and the covenant, its constitution, was written into the Versailles treaty.

Approval of separating them, coming a day after the Munich conference on Czechoslovakia, paves the way for erasure of one of Germany's main arguments against membership.

The assembly accepted the recommendation of a sub-committee for the separation. The governments represented in the assembly now must ratify the recommendations which made in the form of an amendment to the covenant.

The British government has urged the change, declaring that separation of the Versailles treaty and the covenant "changes neither the permanent sense nor the spirit of the league."

Nazi Germany left the league and has consistently refused to cooperate with it.

Reichsfuehrer Hitler's prime objection was that the Versailles treaty, which was imposed on defeated Germany after the World war, was coupled directly with the covenant of the international body.

Poland and Hungary vainly opposed adoption of the report.

Lieut. D. T. Griffin met with Pitt county post observers for the anti-aircraft maneuvers to be held in Eastern North Carolina, October 10-15, at the high school this morning and gave them instructions in procedure to be followed in sending "flash" messages.

It also was revealed that a trial of the warning net would be held Sunday, when the 12 observers in this county will send messages to district headquarters in Wilson, from which place they will be relayed to Fort Bragg, home field of the "defense."

Officials stressed the fact that no one except post observers would send messages during the trials or during the actual maneuvers. Per-

Roosevelt Praises Work Of Staff In War Crisis

Permanent Peace In Europe May Follow Munich Treaty

Washington, Sept. 30.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today praised the work of the State Department and the country's diplomats abroad during the European crisis.

In response to press conference questions regarding the four-power agreement for the partition of Czechoslovakia, Mr. Roosevelt told reporters all he had to say was that a very wonderful service had been performed by Secretary Hull, Under-Secretary of State Sumner Welles, other State Department officials and the American diplomatic staffs in various world capitals.

The work of these persons, Mr. Roosevelt said, was a fine example of team play and cooperation which met with very great success.

Some well informed persons, meanwhile, expressed the opinion that out of the Munich agreement might come a larger settlement aimed at assuring "permanent" preservation of European peace.

Also, the President told reporters he was extremely happy over Governor Lehman's decision to accept renomination.

Mr. Roosevelt said he had received word early in the day that the New York Governor had decided to stand for a fourth term.

HITLER HAILED AS DELIVERER

Praised by Henlein; Premiers Welcomed Home

Bayreuth, Germany, Sept. 30.—(AP)—Konrad Henlein, leader of the Sudeten German party, today sent a telegram to Reichsfuehrer Hitler hailing him as "deliverer" of 3,500,000 Germans.

"In the name of Sudeten Germanism, tormented and oppressed for 20 years, I thank you, my fuehrer, from a deeply moved heart for the freedom which you have won for us by fighting," the message said.

Henlein on September 15 issued a proclamation calling for German annexation with Czechoslovakia Sudetenland and on the same day the Prague government ordered his arrest on a charge of treason.

He fled into Germany and announced organization of the Sudeten Free Corps, irregular soldiers, to harass Czech authorities along the border. On September 16 the Sudeten German party was outlawed in Czechoslovakia.

Henlein's telegram continued: "Children and their children's children still will praise the day on which you, my fuehrer, transformed the unspeakable sorrow of millions into intense rejoicing and proud confidence through anschluss (union) with the German Reich x x x"

IN ADDITION TO AGREEMENT AT MUNICH MEET

Two Powers Add To Accord Avert European War

FRANCE PLEDGES NAZI FRIENDSHIP

Mussolini Returns To Italy to be Hailed as the 'Savior of Peace in Europe'

Munich, Sept. 30.—(AP) Prime Minister Chamberlain and Reichsfuehrer Hitler today added a new Anglo-German declaration of peace to the four-power Munich accord that gave Germany part of Czechoslovakia and averted a European war.

After the British and German chiefs had signed with Premier Mussolini of Italy and Premier Daladier of France the pact for Czechoslovakia's dismemberment they made a joint declaration of the will of their "two peoples never to go to war with one another again."

German troops were at the border to begin the gradual occupation of the Sudetenland at midnight as Chamberlain announced that: "The Czech government accepted the Munich accord."

The international commission to supervise the action was meeting in Berlin and would enter the Sudetenland tomorrow.

Demobilization of Europe's armies and the British navy would "come later" after the German occupation was accomplished, within 10 days.

Chamberlain expressed belief Munich would open the way to appeasement in Europe.

On this note of peace he flew back to London. Daladier left by air for Paris after a declaration of French friendship for Germany Mussolini had entreated earlier to return to the acclaim of his own people as "the savior of peace in Europe."

The Munich accord envisaged satisfaction of Hungary's and Poland's claims for cession of Czech territory. After that, Germany and Italy were pledged to join Britain and France in a guarantee of the diminished frontiers of Czechoslovakia.

Diplomats in Rome believed Mussolini might soon begin withdrawal of Italian troops from Spain as a further contribution to general appeasement.

In a joint declaration the British Prime minister and the Supreme leader of Germany accepted the Munich pact together with the Anglo-German pact of 1936 as symbols of the two powers' will to live in friendship.

Quantity Of Weed Stolen Last Night

Members of the sheriff's office today were following every available clue in an effort to locate a quantity of tobacco, estimated at 250 pounds, stolen from Elijah Jenkins of Greenville route one last night.

It was reported at the sheriff's office that the tobacco was stolen from the pack house by a man or men who parked the automobile or truck in a nearby branch and carried the tobacco from the house to the vehicle by foot. The rain had washed away all car or truck tracks, but it was understood that footprints were visible. The tobacco was carried through a corn field to the waiting vehicle.

Perkins entertained at a bridge luncheon announcing the engagement of her namesake, Miss Mammie Latham Rowland of Washington, N. C., to Dr. Claude C. Blackwell of Birmingham, Ala.

The rooms where the tables were set for play, were lovely with a profusion of stock dahlias, zinnias, spider lilies, and all of the most beautiful autumn flowers.

At the conclusion of the game, high scorer, Miss Annie Bridgeman Stancil, was presented with a blue and gold enamel vanity. Mrs. Perkins served a delightful two-course luncheon. On each plate, with the ice course, was a white satin bag, filled with rice, bearing the initials "M.L.R.-C.C.B.," and the date of Miss Rowland's wedding, November 5th, 1938. Mrs. Ben Taylor, a recent bride, was remembered with a pair of blue vases and the guest of honor with exquisite lingerie. AN IMPORTANT MEETING

The meeting in the high school tonight at eight o'clock is an important one and should be attended by our people, especially the parents of this city. This is one of a series of three public meetings being held in this state by a commission appointed by the Governor to give study to the schools in this state and recommend to the next legislature what changes in the system, if any, should be made.

TIME ONLY CAN TELL

War in Europe has been averted, for the time being at least, as a result of the signing of the four-power (England, France, Germany and Italy) pact at Munich yesterday. Despite the fact that the pact apparently meets practically all the demands made by Chancellor Hitler, there was a feeling of relief when it was officially made known that the matter had been settled without a war.

Naturally there are those who feel that Czechoslovakia has been made "the goat" and is being dismembered to keep peace in Europe, but on the other hand, there are those who feel that even with victory, the Czechs would have lost far more in war than under the present plan of settlement.

the results, but within the past few days history has been made and history is worthless unless from it we learn to guard against former pitfalls and build a better world in which to live.

FLANAGAN FOR GOVERNOR

The following editorial from the Oxford Public Ledger and reprinted in this week's issue of the State Magazine, will be read with interest by friends of Col. E. G. Flanagan:

SHORT SHOTS

Raleigh, Sept. 30—With another news man your correspondent dropped into the office of Supreme Justice A. A. P. Seawell, not long promoted from the Attorney Generalship.

Chief Justice Walter P. Stacy has gone to Washington to assume his duties as head of the Railroad commission board—that's probably not the right title, but he's gone to see what can be done about preventing a nation-wide rail strike.

It was raining—a dull, dreary drizzle—Thursday as a dapper young man and an attractive young lady, smuggling closely together under one of these streaked and striped umbrellas, passed across Capitol square.

From an office window looked another equally attractive young thing.

"It's raining, it's sloppy, it's very disagreeable," she said, "but they don't care, it's love in bloom."

Saturday will see State department hours changed back to 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. on all days but Saturday, when they will be 9 to 1.

"Oh, east is east and west is west and never the twain shall meet"—or at least they'll never agree in North Carolina.

The State Board of Elections is in session up rises George McNeill, of Cumberland:

"Now with us in the East, where we give all the Democratic majorities...."

UNDECIDED ON SALE OF BONDS

Date for Sale of Securities Completely Up in Air

Raleigh, Sept. 29—Nobody knows now when North Carolina will sell the $4,620,000 bond issue authorized by the recent extra session of the General Assembly.

There isn't any European war yet—At least there wasn't when these bills were typed—but the scare over them has already had the very definite and concrete result of stopping sale of these bonds at any immediate date. That much was made sure when bids on the issue yesterday reached the measly figure of two, and the best offer the state had was an interest rate of 3.14—the highest since deficit bonds were marketed in 1930. Naturally, the bids were rejected flatly.

It was a distinct disappointment to State Treasurer Charles M. Johnson who had been sitting on figurative pins and needles for weeks, watching the finest bond market of years run to seed. Finally he took something of a shot in the dark, advertising for bids before PWA approval was given all projects in the contemplated issue.

Unless things get better all of a sudden there will not be any hurry to sell the bonds. The treasurer points out that they can be held off for at least six months while the projects are carried right on with cash now to the state's credit. Postponing the sale six months will save payment of $72,765 in interest even if the best bid then were the same as that made Tuesday, he said. Just the same, it was tough.

Famous Chinese Troupe Of Aerialists Coming

From strife-torn Shanghai comes the Eno Hai-Sheek troupe of celebrated Chinese wizards. With conditions unsettled in their turbulent homeland they fled to America where they are amazing circus audiences from coast to coast. Costumed in gowns of oriental splendor they will be one of the highlights of the Barnett Brothers circus and trained animal show when it comes to Greenville for two performances on Monday, October 3.

The Eno Hai-Sheek troupe being presented by the Barnett Brothers this year is one of the costliest fea-

ELECTION ROW FIRES HEATED

Entire Affair Left As Near an Impasse as Possible

Reflector Bureau Raleigh, Sept. 29—They heated the fires in the Deane-Burgin election row seven times hotter as a result of this week's meeting of the State Election Board.

"They're just as hot in Davidson county as the Germans are under Hitler's fanatical urgings," said a high state official, "and now that the State Board has attempted to oust the Davidson board's democratic members, there's just about as ready to fight about it."

All of which has resulted in leaving the whole affair just about as near an impasse as possible.

The situation as now stands is about like this:

By court ruling, sustained by the Supreme Court, the state board is enjoined from certifying any returns in the Eno Hai-Sheek legal certification of the returns have been made by the county boards.

The Davidson board (or at least its democratic members, J. David Sink and Ford Myers) have been kicked out by the state board, which will appoint members of its own choosing. The kicking was done after the Davidsonians stood by their guns and declined to follow the state board's injunctions to make reference to illegal ballots.

The new board will follow the State Board's directions and certify purported returns in accordance therewith.

The State Board will present these newly certified returns together with new ones from Richmond which it probably will have no trouble getting. Upon this presentation it will ask Judge W. C. Harris to dismiss the mandamus suit of Burgin, still in court (very much so).

Burgin's attorneys will object to reception of these new returns, on the grounds the ouster of the Davidson board is invalid.

Judge Harris will then have to rule on this objection, and no matter how he rules, his decision will be appealable to the Supreme court again. And the November election is getting closer and closer.

It has been suggested that all hands get together sing "Stop Beating Around the Mulberry Bush" and agree on some third party as the nominee.

ures on the American continent. However by offering on the best and ostliest circus features the Barnett Brothers have come to be known as "The Circus Different."

This year they are stressing their claim to this slogan with the finest attractions from nine foreign nations incorporated with many of the foremost in America.

The big top is alive with wire and flying acts. Notable among these daring performances are those given by the following: The Five Flying Rogeenes; Mlle. Helene Cadaret! Amonada Guejerriez and Company; the De Ritzeke Troupe; Johnny Hartzelle; the Famous Forrest Brothers; the Aerial Knights; Nelson Thomasson; Tommy Walsh, Jr., juvenile marvel of the flying trapeze; the renowned Raymond Gudoney; the Kanarr Trio; Buck Harris, and many others.

Two sets of twins, the Rogers sisters and the McIntosh sisters, form an unparalleled aerial ballet. Their performance enacted on a web of wire stretched high off the ground just under the dome of the big top is one of the most astounding sensations on the two-hour program.

Beautiful girls form a large part of the cast of hundreds. Not only are they lovely to look at but are thrilling to see as they perform their daring feats in mid-air.

Cowboy Dal Dever heads a roaring contingent of cowboys, cowgirls and Indians. This company comes direct from the western ranches and present a performance far greater than anything before attempted under canvas.

The circus will present two performances here. The matinee begins at 3 o'clock and the evening performance at eight o'clock. Doors to the huge menagerie will be thrown open one hour in advance of each performance.

SEEKS DATA ON NEW CITIZENS

Information Concerning Newcomers Desired by Dept.

Raleigh, Sept. 29—Information concerning new people who have come into North Carolina from other states who have bought farms, homes, businesses or large tracts of land for fishing or hunting clubs, from leads developed by the State Advertising program is desired by the Department of Conservation and Development.

In the September bulletin now going out to the members of the Governor's Hospitality Committee and of all the county hospitality committees, the members are requested to notify T. E. Pickard, Jr., Secretary of the Committee, of such new purchases.

In order to get still more information about new home-owners who have come into the state, Mr. Pickard is asking those who know of any new families or persons who have moved into North Carolina and bought property within the past year as a result of the advertising program, to notify him and if possible to give the name and address of the family and the amount involved in the purchase. Hundreds of inquiries have been received by the department and by the Governor's Hospitality Committee from persons in other states showing interest in locating in North Carolina either through the purchase of farms, homes, business, or other types of property. Most of these inquiries were received as a result of the state's advertising program directed specifically to attract home-seekers and investors. Some reports have been received of sales made in various sections of the state to some of the inquirers and the Department is eager to complete its report as far as possible.

NOTICE
Notice is hereby given that application for parole has been made to Honorable Edwin M. Gill, Parole Commissioner at Raleigh, North Carolina, for Arthur Ormond.

All persons having objections will please notify the Commissioner at once.

Pitt County Gets Many PWA Grants

A letter from Rep. Lindsey C. Warren expels all doubt that Pitt county is getting its share of PWA projects, it having been revealed that the county has received more from the PWA than the remainder of the First district combined.

The total amount of grants approved for the county is $1,649,740. Of this amount the greatest portion went to Greenville for a street (46,636) municipal ($112,275) and power plant ($1,345) improvements. The college received $150,000 and $238,000 was allotted for the dredging of Tar river.

Other projects in the county are Bethel municipal water works $13,813; Farmville power and water $79,774; Pitt county schools $32,181; another Pitt county school project $20,295.

All PWA projects submitted by the towns and the county were approved with the exception of a Pitt county project for a county office building which is now pending and being considered.

Paris, Sept. 30.—(AP)—The French government, after hearing Premier

Announcement of the call came from a cabinet session at the Elysee palace with President Leornu presiding, shortly after Deladier had returned from the conference which ended the German-Czech crisis and immediate threats of a European war.

The Premier made a triumphal entry into Paris after landing at the airport on his return from Munich. He drove through miles of flower-strewn streets, echoing with the cheers of half a million Parisians.

DON'T MARRY THE MAN

By Jeanne Bowman

The Characters
Kathleen Gregory: beautiful and peppery, redhead.
Angus Gregory: her father, owner of The Golden Girl mine.
Bridget: Gregory's secretary.

Yesterday: Because of a feud between the two families, MacDonald, owner of The Stubborn Boy, has refused the Gregor right-of-way around his shaft.

Chapter Two Marry The Man?

THERE wasn't much Kathleen wouldn't do for this beloved uncle; anything to show the others she preferred his gentle kindness to the domineering members who despised him.

She accepted the letter and started to read, and as she read her shoulders lifted, her chin lifted and her brows became angry arcs.

The letterhead told her the missive came from the office of The Stubborn Boy. The signature told her it was written by the last of the MacDonalds, one Donald MacDonald.

But it was the content which sent her temper flaming until her to the admonitions, warnings and advice of the clan. Her brown eyes were dark with thought. The nucleus of a plan was forming in her mind; a very pleasing plan encompassing conditions of which she had dreamed for the last four years.

Silence restored she turned to her father. "When do I start?" she asked.

"Immediately," answered Gregory. "That is, as soon as I can arrange to have our car coupled on a westbound. You'll go as far as Salt Lake City, then the car will be transferred to a short line. At Green River I'll arrange for a work train on the mine spur to take over."

"You do this and I don't go," Kathleen interrupted. "I'm the one who has to face the music and I'm not going to stand there with a forty piece band playing the theme of The Golden Girl. This head of red hair is going to be handicapped enough. If I go in as Kathleen Gregory, I'm defeated before I start."

"She's right," affirmed Beatrice. "Now this is the way I'll manage it. Kathleen and I will drive down from Salt Lake City, as tourists—"

"Oh no, we won't," checked Kathleen. "This is my expedition and I'm choosing the personnel. There won't be any Gregorv included. If you trust me enough to ask me to do this favor for the clan, then you're going to have to trust

"Hurry, Bridget. I want to talk to you where no one can hear us."

cheeks rivaled the color of her hair. Angrily she read:

I wouldn't allow the shaft of The Golden Girl to contaminate my property. I wouldn't allow a damned Gregory on my land to discuss the matter. I wouldn't allow a hypocritical, effete, deteriorating offspring of a conniving, double-crossing Gregory within speaking distance.

Why don't you come out and see what your remote control is doing to this country? Why don't you take some interest in your miners as men? Why don't you give them a few extra pennies for decent shelter instead of spending every cent you can squeeze out of your mine on that vapid, silly flapper of yours?

I got so sick of seeing her smirking from the rotogravures of magazines that I've quit taking them. So far I haven't strained my eyes with a good look, but some day when I'm ready to go off the deep end over the way the Gregory side is handled, I'll pin one of her dental displays on the wall and... oh, what's the use.

My answer is no to every favor you've asked, and that is final.

Kathleen was tapping her slipper toe on the polished floor. As the tapping increased in fervor and tempo, the clan relaxed. When the heel came down with a stomp they smiled. They even laughed, but softly, when she strode back across the room and started pounding on her father's desk.

"I'm going out there and make that black-browed sor of a MacDonald eat out of my hand. I'm going to make him eat every word in this letter. I'm going to cram it down his throat until he chokes on it. Silly, vapid flapper, am I? Won't strain his eyes? Well here's where he starts chumming with an oculist. When I get through with that Donald MacDonald he'll be so blind he'll sign away his right-of-way and his freedom with the same stroke of the pen."

"Kathleen," cried Mrs. Gregory in alarm, "don't marry the man!" Kathleen looked up and her eyes seemed flecked with the red flame of her hair. "Marry the man?" she repeated. "That's an idea..."

No Forty Piece Band
 ANGUS GREGORY brought order into his office by sending all but the immediate family on their way.

Kathleen had listened, unmoved.

me enough to let me handle it my way, no questions asked."

"I told you how she'd act," cried Beatrice with an air of washing her hands of the whole affair.

"You have a plan, daughter?" queried Angus.

Kathleen nodded. "The beginning of one. This I know: Donald MacDonald is just as much prejudiced against the Gregorv as we are against him. I want a chance to meet him and have him know me as an individual before he associates me with his enemies. I don't want to divulge my plan to anyone save Uncle Douglas. If you'll feel better about things I'll take him with me to some nearby point—"

"Take Care Of Yourself!"

"DOUGLAS," spat Beatrice, "he hasn't a brain in his head."

"His brains are in his heart," Kathleen snapped back. "And his tongue isn't hinged in the middle and wagging at both ends. How about it, Dad?"

Angus paused a moment. "Kathleen," he murmured, "I think you're smarter than the lot of us put together. All I ask is that you take care of yourself."

"See you at home," Kathleen cried in triumph, stooped to kiss her mother, patted her Uncle Douglas and whirled out of the room.

"Bridget!" She caught the surprised secretary by her arms. "Hurry out of here. I want to talk business to you where no one can hear us. Honey, you and I are going out to that spot you are looking for. And believe me, we're going to find gold in them thar hills."

Bridget backed away, amazed. "Does it occur to you that I don't want to go anywhere with a Gregory?"

"Ah," jeered Kathleen, "something more we have in common. Suppose I'm no longer a Gregory?"

"But I won't be a party to this plan. I'm surprised that you, with your spirit, could so demean—"

"Demean my eye," interposed Kathleen blithely. "Come on, don the bonnet. Dan's bringing my car around in five minutes. And I'll bet The Golden Girl against your picture of golden hills, that once I've talked to you, you'll be rarin' to go."

"That," stated Bridget, ruefully, "is exactly what I fear, therefore the answer is no, in advance."

Pirates Ready To Meet Belmont Abbey Saturday

First Gridiron Test For College of Current Season

Enthusiasm prevailed among the Pirates this afternoon as they were put through final practice paces as a preliminary to their first gridiron contest of the season, which is to be played with Belmont Abbey here Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Practice, which started some time ago has tended to iron out some of the weak characteristics of Coach Alexander's hopefuls. Yet, there are still weak berths that will be made stronger only through actual playing experience. That's why the Pirates' mentors are anxious for all of the fellows to exhibit their playing ability some time during the season. All of the boys appear to be in good physical condition. Not only is this an asset to a coach, but it will be an invaluable element for the players as well when they confront the Abbeymen tomorrow. The Abbey gridgers are heavier than the Pirates. Yet, the Pirates can take punishment as well as they can dish it out. Their determination, if retained, should help them experience smooth sailing over the visitors.

Pirate Captain

Meet Lester Eidenhour, sports fan! He's captain for Saturday's season-opening game with Belmont Abbey, to be played here at 2 o'clock. Eidenhour has had previous experience with the Pirate gridgers and is slated to be permanent captain for the season. That grin of his is a distinguishing characteristic.

PUNT-COVERER DE LUXE

Frank Ribar—Tackle

This boy looked more like All-America Fred Crawford of 1933 than any tackle Duke has had since then when he played against V. P. I. at Greensboro Saturday night. They way he charged down under punts in that contest brought to the minds of many Duke followers the days when Crawford was covering the Blue Devils' kicks. Ribar, a sub on the team last season, appears set for his best campaign this fall and will be in the thick of things Saturday when the Blue Devils play their first 1938 home game against Davidson in Duke stadium.

Game Monday

Coach Boley Farley of the Greenville High school announced today that the game scheduled between the Phantoms and Plymouth this afternoon had been called off on account of rain and wet weather. Coach Farley said the game would be played here at 3:15 p. m. Monday.

Things You Should Know About Your Fair

Did you know—that the municipal light company donated over 25 poles to the Pitt County Fair for improvements on the new Fair grounds? Did you know—that the bottle painted on the low is 16 feet high and looks like it holds only one drink? Did you know—that there is 3,000 feet of tin 2 feet wide on the exhibit building on the new Fair grounds? Did you know—that there will be a tobacco show this year at the Pitt County Fair—and that there is already 4 miles of shelf space already in the new exhibit hall?

Red Dawson's Question Box

By LOWELL (RED) DAWSON

QUESTION: What are the principal advantages of the short punt formation, the tail-back 5 to 6 yards deep? Answer: The formation, diagrammed, looks like this: 0 00X00 0 0 0 0

Advantages include the fact it helps keep the defense from over-shifting to one side; with defense balanced and backs in close, guards pull out from good spots; powerful inside strength with three backs in close; fine protection for passer; can get four men down on passes; good quick kick threat; lots of deception and fine formation for ball carrying ends on the end-around plays.

Kay Stammers Tells You All About Bigtime Tennis

By The AP Feature Service WHEN Gardner Soule, sports editor of The AP Feature Service, interviewed Kay Stammers, he discovered she had already prepared answers to all of his questions. She told of the highlights of her own career, and of her reactions to all phases of the game of tennis. Miss Stammers speaking:—

Kay Stammers is 23, yet she has been one of England's outstanding girl tennis players for the past few years.

ONE of my hardest matches was against Helen Jacobs here two years ago. Three hard sets in terrific heat. In the third set, I was leading 8-7. As we changed sides, the captain of our Wightman cup team told me I was leading. My reply was "Am I really?" I was so exhausted I hardly knew what I was doing. Then I pulled myself together and won the match.

putting off. At Forest Hills, the noise of the typewriters can be heard distinctly.

I think that women's tennis in England is much more popular with the public than it is here. Four times as many persons turn out for a Wightman cup match in England as come out here.

I've never seen an unsporting English crowd and I've never seen an unsporting American crowd. I think the English clap more, but there is never any whistling or screaming as you have over here when there are bad decisions or rallies.

Prominence and publicity affect different persons in different ways. I always think that as long as you keep your sense of proportion and your sense of humor, and remember that all the fuss is simply and solely because you happen to be able to hit a ball over a net a little better than some other people, it should not affect you at all.

My advice to the young girl now is that it's no use starting to try and be a champion, unless you devote all your time to tennis. When a girl gets to 23 or so, there are so many other interests.

Did I go to college? In England you don't, you know. Not unless you're frightfully clever.

How did I happen to learn to play? My mother and father are sort of keen, don't you know?

Sentences Given Rum Conspirators

Durham, Sept. 30.—North Carolina's biggest criminal conspiracy case came to an abrupt halt in U. S. District court here yesterday when nine Beaufort county men pleaded guilty to operating a gigantic liquor ring and defrauding the Federal government of more than one million dollars in taxes. The plea of guilt came suddenly upon resting of the government's testimony, most of which was air-tight. Sentences were pronounced by Judge Johnson Hayes ranging from five years' probation for one defendant to two years in prison and fines of $5,000 each for two defendants. Nine of those sentenced were Beaufort county men. Three Durham county defendants, who had originally pleaded guilty and testified for the government, were placed on probation.

William H. Mills was sentenced to serve two years in the federal prison at Atlanta and pay a fine of $5,000. His brother, Robert R. Mills, was given a similar sentence, to be served at the Louisburgh, Pa. prison. Each was granted a stay of execution until November 9 to allow him to put his personal affairs in order, and each was placed under $5,000 bond.

Egbert Warren, of Beaufort county, who abandoned the liquor business nearly two years ago when he was arrested on a liquor charge, and "gone straight" since he was placed on probation, received the lightest sentence. He was placed on probation for a period of five years. Other sentences imposed on Beaufort county defendants are: Clifton Mills, two years in federal prison in Petersburg, Va. Guy Lewis, 18 months in federal prison in Atlanta. Guy Mills, 18 months in federal prison in Petersburg, Va. Jasper Mills, 15 months in federal reformatory at Chillicothe, O. Jesse Cayton and Mark Shackelford, one year and one day each in federal reformatory at Chillicothe.

In passing judgment Judge Hayes told the group "it is fortunate for you men that the government chose to prosecute you for conspiracy; there has been enough evidence brought out on that witness stand to incarcerate you for the rest of your lives." Robert R. Mills and William H. Mills, brothers who had not until this week spoken directly to each
