JAP LAND AND NAVAL FORCES WAGE ASSAULT

Launch Withering Attack on Fort Sixty Miles of Hankow

ANOTHER DRIVE ON SOUTH CHINA

New Campaign Said To be Necessary Because of Franco-British Aid to China

Shanghai, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Japanese land and naval forces launched a withering attack today on Shichaihsan fort, just 60 air miles from Hankow, around which the invaders are slowly closing in, while a new Japanese expeditionary force begins attempts to dominate South China.

Most Japanese army and navy officials here believe the new offensive near Canton, 550 miles south of Hankow, was aimed at severing southern railroads and capturing the southern metropolis itself, thus facilitating the relentless drive toward Hankow, the provisional capital.

The invaders established a spearhead at Sinyang, 100 miles north of Hankow, for two-way campaigns designed to add the Peiping-Hankow railway mileage to their already captured railroads.

At Tokyo, meanwhile, Japanese declared that British and French aid to China through Canton necessitated the new South China offensive.

"The British purpose in holding Far Eastern fleet maneuvers off Hongkong (last summer) was quite evident to Japan," one newspaper said editorially.

"Both British and French should (Continued on page six)

Mrs. John Stokes Claimed by Death

Mrs. John B. Stokes, prominent woman of the Simpson-Cox Mill community, died in Duke hospital, Durham, yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock following two weeks of critical illness. She had been ill for the past ten weeks.

Mrs. Stokes was born in Pitt county September 4, 1891 and spent her entire life here. She was a daughter of the late Guilford and Ida Haddock Page.

Surviving, besides the husband, are two brothers, W. M. and H. M. Page and two sisters, Mrs. A. L. Gray and Mrs. H. L. Forbes, all of Pitt county.

City Hall Plans Changed At Meeting Last Night

CITY MANAGER IS CONSIDERED

Charlotte Municipal Accountant Appears Before Aldermen

The question of adopting the city manager form of government, or at least employing a finance officer, for the city of Greenville again was brought to the fore at the meeting of the Board of Aldermen last night.

Marvin L. Westmoreland, city accountant of Charlotte, appeared before the board last night and discussed the plan where a city manager is employed. He has had 12 years experience with the city of Charlotte government and in his capacity as accountant is vested with numerous responsibilities which would be placed in the hands of a city manager if one is employed.

He explained that a city manager, under state law, is an administrative head of the government, whose duties include seeing to it that all ordinances are executed. He is the finance head of the city government and makes recommendations on various municipal projects.

Mr. Westmoreland came to Greenville to discuss the city manager form of government at the request of the Board of Aldermen, which (Continued on page six)

Pitt County Escapee Back at Prison Camp

L. Woodard Edmundson, 31-year-old convict who escaped from the Pitt county prison camp, was returned to the camp yesterday after having been caught in Rocky Mount by officers of that city the night before.

Edmundson is serving a three to five year sentence for store robbery. He was taken in custody by officers at a house a short distance south of Rocky Mount, on the Wilson highway.

Stadium Adjustments Requested By Board

The Greenville Board of Aldermen last night voted to require the contractor to make certain adjustments before the municipal stadium was accepted.

The board instructed a committee to see to it that some steel is welded and that the wire front is extended.

Riots Halted In Bethlehem Area

Bethlehem, Oct. 13.—(AP)—British reinforcements, freshly arrived from England, established firm control today of the Bethlehem-Hebron area which had been the seat of operations of one of the largest Arab bands in Palestine.

Czech Envoy and Hitler To Talk Over Situation

Foreign Minister to Meet Fuehrer at Berchtesgaden to Discuss Basis of Future Relations Between Two Countrises

Berlin, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Informed persons said today that F. Chvalkovsky, Czechoslovakia's new foreign minister, would go to Berchtesgaden tonight to discuss with Adolf Hitler the basis of future relations between Germany and the dismembered republic.

Although the foreign minister who arrived this morning from Prague, had a two-hour conference with German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop, it was understood larger questions were left for Hitler's own consideration.

The German Fuehrer is expected to receive the Prague minister at the Bavarian mountain retreat which was the scene of his historic conferences with Kurt Scuschnigg, last chancellor of independent Austria, with Prime Minister Chamberlain of Britain a month ago, and a little later with the envoys of Poland and Hungary.

Among the questions on which Czechoslovakia's foreign minister is to hear the Fuehrer's desires are a possible German guarantee of Czechoslovakia's diminished frontiers and the severance of her alliances with Soviet Russia and France.

At Paris meanwhile a Havas (French news agency) dispatch from Prague said a state of seige, a form of martial law, had been proclaimed at Mukacevo and in other districts in Ruthenia following a series of "incidents."

Mukacevo is the principal town of Ruthenia, also known as Sub-Carpathian Russia.

The Prague government has granted the province autonomy, but both Hungary and Poland have urged that a plebiscite be held there with a view to its possible union with one of the two countries.

The French news agency quoted Czech authorities as asserting that on October 9 smugglers brought a group of Hungarian tourists into Ruthenia.

LEGION POSTS AUTO VICTIMS BURIED TODAY

Funeral services were held in Pitt county today for two small children, both victims of automobiles.

Services for Hazel Colville, five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Travis Colville, who live on the Farmville - Greenville highway, were conducted at the home. Burial was in the Colville burying ground in Pactivol cemetery.

The little Colville girl died shortly after having been struck by an automobile driven by Tom Cox of Greenville. An inquest was started yesterday afternoon, but continued until Friday at 5 p. m.

Rites also were held today for Melvin Stepp, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stepp, of Marlboro, who was killed while en route to the Farmville school. The little boy was struck by a car operated by his uncle, Ben Stepp, who was exonerated by a coroner's jury. It was brought out that the boy, traveling in the opposite direction from which his uncle was going, had passed and darted directly in the path of the car.

The little Stepp boy is survived by his parents, a sister and four brothers.

The Colville girl is survived by her parents, one sister and four brothers, her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Sarah Colville, and her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Taylor, whom she was visiting at the time of the fatal accident.

LOSS HEAVY IN REFINERY FIRE

Linden, N. J.—Oct. 13.—(AP)—A raging fire which destroyed millions of gallons of oil, kerosene and gasoline and injured a score of men, was smothered under control today, leaving eight acres of a refining company's "tank farm" a field of charred, twisted girders.

Linden fire chief Frank Miller, who estimated damage at "more than one million dollars" said the fire had finally been localized to one 1,500,000-gallon tank of fuel oil. About 20 other tanks were destroyed by explosions and flames.

Fifty of the 1,500 firemen and volunteers who fought the spectacular blaze through the night remained today to cool the melted tank skeletons so company officials could investigate the cause and estimate the damage. E. McLodewy, advertising manager of the Cities Service Refining company, estimated in New York that the loss was "approximately a half million" dollars.

The weary army of firemen and volunteers added the vast tongue of flames and clouds of greasy black smoke until dawn this morning as the fire raged through the heart of one of the world's greatest refinery centers.

HOEY TALKS ON ELECTION ROW

Raleigh, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Governor Hoey said today he understood legal counsel in the Deane-Burgin dispute wanted to make other maneuvers before admitting that the contest over the Eighth Congressional district nomination must go to a jury trial.

"I will make a move the very minute that it is certain there can be no judicial settlement made before the November election," said Hoey. "As a result of some conferences, I am informed legal counsel on both sides still have some matters to present the court, which might bring about a final judicial determination quickly."

LEWIS OFFERS TO RESIGN IF---

Zero Hour Of Blackout Between 6-10 Tonight

Homes, Stores, Filling Stations Urged Cooperate

At the sound of five alarms by the fire signal tonight all Greenville citizens are requested to put out or dim their lights in co-operation with "blackout" to be conducted as an experiment in the anti-aircraft maneuvers being conducted in Eastern North Carolina.

All stores, filling stations and homes are urged to cooperate in the "blackout." If lights are not cut off, shades should be pulled down. It was especially urged that neon lights be cut off, as well as other types of advertising lights and lights in store fronts.

The "blackout" will be ordered some time between 6 and 10 o'clock. The exact hour will not be known before the actual zero hour. A telephone call from Fort Bragg to the fire station here will be the signal for the "blackout." Officials at the fire department immediately will call the water and light plant and the street lights will be cut off. Simultaneously the fire alarm will start sounding five signals. The signal for "lights on" also will be five alarms by the fire department.

The object of the "blackout" will be to determine the effectiveness of private citizens to serve as a warning in case of air raid. It will be the purpose to make the town so dark "enemy" planes will be unable to locate the city. The planes will be enroute from Langley Field, Va. home base of "enemy" craft, to our base, home base of the defense planes.

T. J. Swan is county chief in charge of the anti-aircraft maneuvers.

Man Faces Charge In Death Of Wife

Fayetteville, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Mrs. Annie Belle Smith, 30, was found dead of a bullet wound in bed at her home here early today. Her husband, Otto Smith, a watch repairer, was taken in custody pending an investigation.

Coroner W. B. Davis said Smith told him his wife shot herself while the pair was in bed.

Later Chief Barney McBryde of the Fayetteville police department said his investigation convinced him Mrs. Smith had committed suicide.

Coroner Davis, however, ordered an inquest for this afternoon.

Progress Being Made On College Building

Eric G. Flannaugh, Henderson architect, was on the college campus Tuesday on business in connection with the new classroom building. According to college officials, plans and specifications for the new building are practically complete.

The Building Committee hopes to advertise for bids not later than October 20, and to get under way with construction early next month.

Czech-Hungarian Parley Is Halted

Komarom, Hungary, on the Czech Border, Oct. 13.—(AP)—The Hungarian delegation to the Komarom conference declared tonight that negotiations on Hungary's demands for cession of Czechoslovak territory had been broken off.

K. von Kanya, Hungary's foreign minister, read a declaration to the final session of the conference stating that the Budapest government would hand over its claims on Czechoslovakia to a four-power conference for decision.

This came about one hour after expiration of a Hungarian ultimatum calling for Czechoslovak acceptance of Hungary's territorial demands—said to cover some 8,000 square miles—by 6 p. m. (noon, EST).

MANY SUPPORT LARGER FUNDS FOR DEFENSES

Several Senators Say Such Request Would Be Granted

NEW REFERENDA SET FOR COTTON

Nation's Lint Growers To Get Another Opportunity to Express Views on Control

Washington, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Several senators predicted today that the troubled international situation would assure President Roosevelt a clear track in Congress if he requests substantial increases in the national defense budget.

Senator King (D-Utah) who opposed the billion dollar naval expansion program at the last session, said in view of world conditions he now was inclined to support larger appropriations for both the army and the navy.

Mr. Roosevelt said this week a budget increase would be necessary to provide $150,000,000 for new war ship construction on next year.

Senator Borah (R-Idaho) indicated he would continue his opposition to large naval expenditures, but said he had little hope Congress would accept his view. Senator Townsend, (R-Del.) has predicted that most Republicans would support increases in defense appropriations.

Other developments: Chairman Wheeler (D-Mont) of the Senate Interstate Commerce committee advocated centralization of Government control of all forms of transportation, including railroads, truck and water carriers.

The Montana Senator, here to testify for the Rail Brotherhood before the present fact-finding board, said he believed that there was "no justification" for the railroads' attempt to force through a 15 per cent wage pay cut. The Brotherhoods have voted to strike rather than accept the pay cut.

The nation's 2,225,000 cotton growers will get another chance December 10 to express their opinion on the new crop control program.

Robbery Of Store Admitted by Negro

Delmore Wilkerson, 20-year-old Washington county Negro, was arrested last night and was said by officers to have confessed to having entered and robbed Boyd's store in Winterville Tuesday night.

Wilkerson was arrested by Sheriff J. Knott Proctor and City Officer H. E. Wooten in the "Bama" section of Greenville. The officers said Wilkerson at first denied entering the store, but later admitted that he did break in the building and take some shoes, both men and women's, a hat, overalls and jumpers. When arrested he had on the hat and a pair of the shoes.

After admitting the robbery he took officers to a place behind J. Perkins mill and showed them the loot. He also said he stole a bicycle and used this after the robbery, throwing bloodhounds off his trail.

THE MILLER'S DAUGHTER' Charming Play—Delightful Audience

Greenville people are once more indebted to Miss Sallie Lipscomb and the young people assisting her for an evening of rare enjoyment.

Miss Lipscomb used much care in selecting the characters for the play, and that she chose most wisely was attested by the genuine pleasure of very large audience derived from acting received. Had every character been a professional, the acting could scarcely have been improved upon at any point.

The following is a partial list of the play:

Basil Lawrence, Lord Harrington, an aristocrat—W. F. Harding.

Squire Thornton—E. G. Flanagan. Lord Hyde—R. Hyman.

Elsie, Miss Cerami, the Miller's daughter—Miss Sallie Lipscomb. Countess Harrington—Miss Bessie Jarvis.

Beauty Lynne—Miss Elizabeth Laughinghouse.

Ed Flanagan, the villain of the play, did as fine acting as was ever seen here. Had he spent a lifetime on the stage it does not seem that his part could have been more perfect. R. Hyman as "Lord Hyde," was an immense success.

Miss Sallie Lipscomb as the heroine of the play, sustained her part in every scene with the highest excellence.

Miss Bessie Jarvis impersonated the countess in manner that won her many deserved compliments.

Miss Elizabeth Laughinghouse as "Beauty," caught the audience at every turn.

The music for the play was charming. This was furnished by Messrs. A. A. Forbes, Oia Forbes, Gus Forbes, Alf Forbes, Charles Forbes and George Woodward.

Gift Of Books To College.

Mr. A. B. Andrews of Raleigh, member of the E. C. T. C. board of trustees, has recently made a valuable gift to the college for the library, two books by Sidney Lanier bearing dates that make them interesting to the student. "Florida, Its Scenery, Climate and History" is dated 1876, and "The Science of English Verse" bears the date 1880.

This is only one of many gifts presented to the college-by Mr. Andrews. Just a few weeks ago he gave the library a volume of Ashe's "History of North Carolina." And he has recently given also a copy of the band orchestration of "The Old North State," the only such orchestration of this song ever to be published.

One of his gifts last year was a steel engraving of the famous educator, George Peabody.

DON'T MARRY THE MAN

By Jeanne Bowman

The Characters

Kathleen Gregory: peppery red-haired member of the Gregory clan, goes West incognito to secure a right-of-way for The Golden Girl mine.

Donald MacDonald: owner of the rival Stubborn Boy mine, hates the Gregorys.

Bridget: Kathleen's companion.

Yesterday: Kathleen asks Old Balmly how the feud between the Gregorys and MacDonalds started.

Chapter 13

The Stubborn Boy

OLD BALMY did not speak immediately. He stood up and began to clear away the tea things. He carried the white cloth to a barren spot beyond the terrace and before the crumbs reached the ground, there was the mad chatter of birds.

When he turned back to his guests he was smiling. "It is comforting to know the wild birds recognize their friends without proof," he said.

Long, black lashes veiled Bridget's quick look of astonished understanding. She cast a sidelong glance at Kathleen, but impatient now, Kathleen was urging the old man to relate the story of the feud. "I'm sorry, Miss Riley, only a MacGregor has the right to hear that. Wouldn't you like to see my garden?"

Kathleen now understood how Kit-Smyth must feel toward Balmly; baffled, unable to press a charge against him because of the honest simplicity of the man.

Sunset was gliding the indescribable view from the terrace when they returned. For a little while they sat absorbing the peace of that hour, watching the play of light on the painted cliffs, while Old Balmly explained the natural chemistry which produced the jade green, the pearl white, copper and crimson.

"I'll want all of that for my book," Bridget cried enthusiastically.

And Kathleen told laughingly of her barren desk.

"Ah, lass, but you've ploughed the ground and planted the seed of desire. Soon you'll see your work growing before you."

"I don't know what it will be," mourned Kathleen. "I never before realized how useless I was."

Balmly stuffed tobacco into an old pipe, lighted it and puffed dreamily. "I envy you," he said musically. "Now I had the time and the talent. I'd build a New Gregory on paper. I'd design that would give the miners wives comfort and pride; I'd build—on paper, of course—a community hall where the young fellows could go of an evening for pool and cards. There'd be a gymnasium, an auditorium, a nursery and a dance floor. But then," he broke off whimsically, "what I would do and what you would do would be different, eh?"

Kathleen decided they must leave immediately. Circ and the forty-niners hadn't been fed. When she thanked Old Balmly for the delightful hour, her eyes were bright with speculation and the moment the girls were out of hearing she gripped Bridget's arm.

"Darling, look, the twiddle has gone out of my thumbs. From now on I work. That Balmly old honey told me exactly what to do. Wouldn't he be amazed?"

Bridget looked at her and shook her head. Verily the Gregorys were obtuse when it came to discerning anything beyond their immediate vision.

Morning found Kathleen at the doors of the unopened general store and the moment they had been unlocked she was purchasing blocks of drawing paper, rulers, pens, pencils and colored inks. Immediately after the delayed breakfast she retreated to her room to build the first of the New Gregory cot; a house three times the size of the MacDonald's.

'Our Tartan'

BRIDGET, called in to commend, wisely said nothing for the moment. She had been tempted to ask what a miner's wife would want with a drawing room, and to assure Kathleen that one modern bath would be a miracle enough for a family.

"You have something there," she admitted. "Remember the miners' children marry young and the old folks won't want too large a house to keep up. Why don't you talk to a few of them and find out what they would like to have."

"I'll do that tomorrow," Kathleen agreed.

But on the morrow, Donald MacDonald appeared with an invitation to visit his mine and to dine with him in the evening.

Kathleen dressed appropriately for the trip, and for the weather which was threatening: brown breeches, high-laced boots, a tam o'shanter, sweater and plaid mackinaw.

She hadn't realized how appropriately she had dressed until she heard a cheer from MacDonald.

"You're wearing our tartan," he cried. "The plaid of your mackinaw," he explained.

Kathleen thrust her hands deep into her pockets to keep from ripping the offending garment from her shoulders and throwing it at the man.

It was the last personal remark she heard from him that day. He became, she thought sardonically, "the promising young business man."

The MacDonald's Stubborn Boy was not as impressive as the Gregory's Golden Girl, she was pleased to note. The buildings seemed sturdy enough and there was the same subdued activity on the surface, but there was a lack of shining fresh paint, and pristine neatness in the offices. These she noted were filled with Scots, young and old.

"It is a MacDonald policy to give the local MacDonald boys the opportunity of filling these favored posts," Young MacDonald explained. "When one shows an inclination for business, we send him off to school. The Gregorys," he added, "hire strangers and bring them in from the outside. They believe in keeping miners below the surface."

Kathleen closed her lips firmly. There was little difference that she could see in the mine proper. True the Stubborn Boy's shaft went straight down, it seemed, rather than at the slanting angle of the Golden Girl. And the drifts went off to the left instead of to the right.

"Peculiar thing," MacDonald observed, "but we're working on nearly the same level as the Gregorys, here. Their ledge is just beyond this, however, they'll never mine that portion."

"How could they be working this same part of the earth as you without the ledge being one and the same?" questioned Bridget.

"I'll show you when we're above again."

Priority Of Claim

WHEN they reached the surface, he took them to the engineers' office and pointed to a map which hung on the wall. The colors, running parallel to each other, reminded Kathleen of a many-hued hatband, only this band seemed to have been cut in two, then overlapped at an angle.

"I'll try to explain this in a layman's language," MacDonald told the girls. "Pretend this country was once a huge layer cake, the ledges of ore, the filling. Perhaps the baker, disgusted, cut off that section and laid it alongside the other. Thus there were two separate sections of filling, and each section of cake was at a different level. The MacDonalds are the lower section. This enables us to shoot our shaft down at only a slight angle. The Gregorys are the top section and the thin edge of their cake overlaps ours in such a way that they cannot continue digging out the filling without first gaining right-of-way around our shaft. According to law, we are entitled to two hundred and fifty feet on all sides. Further than that we can base our refusal to the right-of-way on the grounds that it would weaken our structure."

"Then the law does grant right-of-ways," interposed Bridget.

"Of when the contestant can prove priority of claim. If he can prove he established his claim before the other fellow, the law gives him the right to all lodes discovered on his line, ledge or vein."

Bridget nodded wisely and asked the question Kathleen longed to ask.

"Then your claim was established first?"

MacDonald's laugh was short. "There is nothing to prove which was established first. It would be a matter of moments. My grandfather and Old Angus filed the same day. The clerk did not foresee the need of establishing the hour."

Kathleen was running her finger along the thin veins. "Isn't this your vein down here? Doesn't it run into the Gregory property?"

"It won't for a long time and when it does," promised MacDonald grimly, "we'll take care of that. Shall we go now? Mrs. Arthur has offered us tea. I'd like you to see one of my model cots."

Riding back to Neutrality, Kathleen found herself in the tonneau, Bridget comfortably seated next to MacDonald who was discussing mining with her as though she were the only one present with enough intelligence to understand him.

Kathleen sat and hated the back of his head. She wished his ears would stick out so she could hate it the more. He was detestable. And she wasn't going to like Mrs. Arthur whoever she was. She would show off her house like a woman putting her pet through its tricks.

She did nothing of the kind. A tall, dark-browed woman with the quiet dignity of the Scottish people she met the girls as social equals and Young MacDonald as a son who called too seldom.

Kathleen was forced to admit the house was comfortable, even tastefully furnished.

The King's Daughters Meet.

The Patient Circle of the King's Daughters held their regular meeting Tuesday night, October 11, with the state president, Mrs. Hortense Moye. Mrs. W. R. Jones, president of the circle, opened the meeting with a hymn, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus," followed by the prayer of the order.

For the spiritual reading the 45th Psalm was used, this being the King's Daughters Psalm. The beauty of this Psalm is universally recognized and never fails to hold the attention of all who read it.

Mrs. Randolph read a lovely selection from The Silver Cross pertaining to this Psalm, which said if we are the King's Daughters and Sons, there are some blessed privileges that go with this close relationship. We are sure it was not without thought and reason that the order we love to honor was called the King's Daughters and Sons. Such a name cannot be taken lightly. Neither can such a motto as "In His Name," be without its obligations and privilege of Christian service to others.

The Patient Circle's report to the state convention at Southern Pines, October 5 and 6, was read, which showed a very successful year's work and was very gratifying to those who made such a report possible.

The delegates there gave reports from the convention. These reports show that the state work is going rapidly forward. The circle, of course, was delighted to hear this as we have the honor of our state president being enrolled on our membership list, which is a great inspiration to us.

The circle sent six delegates and all reported the best convention yet. There were so many delegates and all were so enthused and voted the circle at Southern Pines a wonderful hostess. Charlotte invited the 1939 convention, so we really have something to look forward to.

After these reports were given the circle decided to postpone the election of officers until November 8th. The meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction. The hostess, assisted by Mrs. C. S. Brewer, served tempting refreshments.—Reurited.

IT'S YOUR FAIR—HELP MAKE IT GOOD

The third annual Pitt County Fair operated by the Farmville and Pitt County Posts of the American Legion will get under way here Monday, and all indications are that this year's fair will be one of the best held in this county in years. During the time the two Legion posts have had the fair in charge wonderful progress has been made and with the cooperation of the people of our county the Pitt County Fair can be made second to none in the state.

When the Legion took over the operation of the fair in this county it was with the idea to make it a real agricultural fair that would prove educational and beneficial to the people of this county. The profits of the fair are being put back into it to make it still bigger and better, and those who have visited the new fair grounds and seen the provisions being made in the way of new buildings to house next week's fair have expressed surprise and gratification.

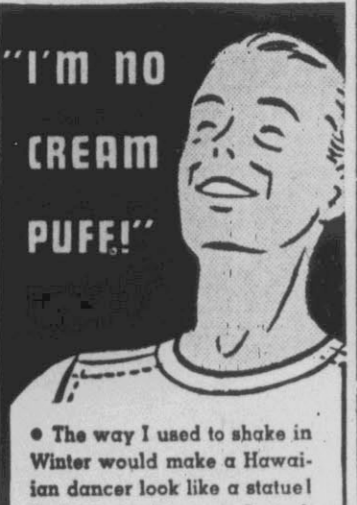

It must be remembered, however, two things above all others are necessary for a good county fair, exhibits and attendance, and this is where the people of this county can really make the fair worthwhile. There are enough fine products in this county to fill the exhibit halls of many fairs, and it is to be hoped that our people, especially our farmers, will not miss this opportunity to exhibit some of their wares. It is likewise hoped that every Pitt county citizen, who possibly can do so, will attend the fair once or several times during next week, for we are sure that it will prove educational as well as

The Pitt County Fair being operated by the two American Legion Posts offers a great opportunity to the people of Pitt County to help make this a better county. The success or failure of the venture depends upon the cooperation of the county's progressive citizens.

Reflector Bureau.
Raleigh, Oct. 13.—Clarence Stone, Rockingham county House member is going to have plenty of opportunity to attack the North Carolina League of Municipalities as the "North Carolina Liberty League," it seems from preliminary legislative activities of the muni organization. Latest issue of the "Municipal News," organ of the League, carries

• The way I used to shake in winter would make a Hawaiian dancer look like a statue! And it was because I stuck to summer underwear all year round. But not any more! When the thermometer starts down in the fall, I switch to HANES middleweight winter sets!

• I'm no cream puff. I'm not soft anywhere—not even in the head. And good, hard sense says that even if you do work indoors, you shouldn't take chances when you go outside. I don't mean you have to be bundled-up so much that you feel padded when you come out of the cold. But I claim HANES Winter Sets are the kind of light protective stuff a lot of us men need!

brought on legislators: "We cannot emphasize too much the importance of the local officials contacting their senators and representatives in the legislature regarding the state-wide municipal legislative program. Such contacts should be made repeatedly from now until the session convenes in Raleigh next January."

The five "points" in the Muni League program, incidentally, are: (1) A bigger share for municipalities in highway funds; (2) A constitutional amendment giving "home rule" to towns and cities; (3) Removal of restrictions on the power of municipalities to levy privilege taxes; (4) Opposition to any home-stead exemption for taxing purposes; and (5) A new tax collection law.

Telephone number of the office at the State Fair grounds is one-nine-three-eight. This information is not given because of the pretty blonde who answers, but just wondering if the number will change next year to 1938.

State Senator S. Gilmer Sparger, head of the North Carolina Petroleum Industries Committee, is back from New York with the information that the Yanks weren't quite such easy winners as the papers said.

The impression continues to grow that the current State Fair is the very best ever presented in North Carolina. Not a single dissenting vote has been cast, so far as your correspondent has heard.

Among the most interesting exhibits, this column gladly recommends that of the National Youth Administration of North Carolina, which are shown in a log structure actually erected by the young people themselves.

All articles in the exhibit—and there's everything from a teacup to heavy furniture, was designed and made under supervision of the National Youth Administration on local work projects.

Ronald Hocutt, director of the Highway Safety Division wants the answers to these questions: What makes an ordinarily gentle person become a rip-roaring, selfish bully behind the wheel of an automobile? Why does a pedestrian wander blissfully through heavy traffic oblivious to danger or drivers' nerves? What makes bicycle riders feel immune to all traffic laws? And those are just a few of the puzzles Ronald is trying to solve.

Here's something of an industrial record: The Pinehurst Silk Mills of Hemp, has been operating for over seven and a half years without loss of a single day, the State Department of Labor reports.

Things You Should Know About Your --Fair--

By R. GRAY

DID YOU KNOW: That the Pitt County Fair is only 4 days off?

DID YOU KNOW: That the whole New Fair Grounds and buildings were lit up last night for the first night for the meeting of the Farmville and Greenville American Legion Posts joint meeting with over an attendance of 60 to view and discuss the Pitt County Fair of 1938. We also had the pleasure of entertaining 4 of the vocational teachers of Pitt County.

DID YOU KNOW: That all the Community Exhibit space has been registered for and we wish to beg pardon for any item that might have been overlooked in our new premium list this year, but we assure you that the on coming years will bring more ableness in substantiating a list in accordance with the best of any County Fair.

DID YOU KNOW: That last year, the weather being so nice, the grounds were filled on Sunday before the Fair to capacity, and we hope that this year will bring such same results to interest you in your own Fair for Pitt County.

They will take part in a referendum on establishing marketing quotas on next year's cotton crop. Last March they voted nine to one to invoke quotas on the 1938 yield. Coming at a time when the administration's efforts to restore agricultural prosperity are under attack in several quarters, the election will be watched by both supporters and foes of the New Deal.

The results said Agriculture Department officials, may have an important bearing on Congressional efforts to substitute outright price fixing for the present legislation. The communication commission by a vote of four to two removed H. Gary as its general counsel. Chairman Frank McNinch, who had been shaking up the commission to reduce what he described as internal friction voted with the majority.

PIRATES TO GO TO CULLOWHEE

Play First Game Out of Town This Coming Saturday

Coach J. D. Alexander's ECTC Pirates will play their first out-of-town gridiron contest with West Carolina Teachers College at Cullowhee, Saturday, October 22. Present indications are that the locals are destined to return to the city with a victory.

Here's one of the major reasons for the optimism: The Pirates will have two weeks in which to practice. This will give them an opportunity to overcome some of the difficulties displayed in two defeats they have experienced this season.

Besides their regular handicaps, the locals are going to be familiarized with some of the strong and weaker points of teams they are to confront during future engagements, especially the stronger teams.

Saturday, Coach Alexander will watch the Appalachian State Teachers College footballers lock horns with High Point College. High Point plays the Pirates October 29 at High Point. The High Point team is powerful and Coach "Joe" hopes to defeat just where their dynamite really lies. Appalachian, one of the strongest teams the Pirates will play this season, will help the locals provide the entertainment for Homecoming Day here November 19.

While Coach Alexander trims his fingernails at the High Point-Appalachian game, Assistant Coach Gordon Gilbert or some other gridiron representative from the college, will be studying the pros and cons of William and Mary (Norfolk division), battling V. M. I. at Norfolk. William and Mary will play the Pirates at Norfolk November 11.

Coach Alexander seems highly elated over the improved showing made by his proteges in last Saturday's contest. The two defeats experienced by the Pirates apparently are the cause of severe practice periods the locals have been handed during the present week. In the words of Coach Alexander, "The boys are continuing to show marked improvement."

Rock Vinters, 270-pound Ayden youngster, is practicing again. Rock has been out of practice paces recently because of a shoulder injury. It was rumored that Vinters, who is gaining weight daily, injured his shoulder while trying to learn a new dance step. Vinters emphatically denied this rumor and declared, "I really received an injury while practicing football, not dancing." Vinters is the biggest threat Coach Alexander has.

Melvin Wagner of Vermont, massive six-footer, weighing 190 pounds, who has been handicapped because of an ailment, is able to be back in the game again. Wagner is an effective tackle. Members of opposing teams are finding that he's hard to pass, especially if they have a football tucked under their arm.

Bill Dudash, who comes to the Pirates from Massena, New York, is proving that he can "take punishment." In fact, he played in Saturday's game without wearing a helmet and was smearing his opponents at every opportune time. Bill isn't hard-headed. He considers the games mild.

The best recent showings have been made by Floyd Hinton of Rocky Mount, Adrian Brown of Moyock, and Charles Futrell of Greenville. Hinton, tipping the scales at 175 pounds, and being five feet taller than a twelve-inch ruler, is making a good showing at end. Brown, less than six feet in height and weighing 150 pounds, is shining in the guard division. One of the most promising guards is Charles Futrell. Charley played as a regular on the high school team last year and is extending his impetus.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

By Robbin Coons

Hollywood — sure bet, there were plenty of red faces in town after the preview of "There Goes My Heart."

For one reason or another, Hal Roach had trouble getting a feminine lead for his comedy. He wanted Carol Lombard, tried for Constance Bennett, Barbara Stanwyck, several other girls.

No soap so today, fans, we give you that beautiful, ingratiating stellar comedienne, Virginia Bruce!

The girls who didn't take it must have read the first few pages of the script, tossed it aside. The first sequences of the picture are unimpressive. They ask you to care (again!) about the doings of another "richest girl" who wants to get away from her rich-rich grandpa and have some fun. This is known as the Barbara Hutton formula, tried and true, and the picture, like its predecessors, puts a playful reported (Frederic March) on her trail. It follows through, in matters of plot, with little variation. But it impresses, for all that, as one of the sprightliest, brightest, and most hilarious comedies of the year.

When the heiress (Miss Bruce) runs away from grandpa's yacht and gets a job in one of his chain department stores—incognito, of course—the film brightens, perhaps because that's where Patsy Kelly comes in.

Anyway, under Norman Z. McLeod's lively direction, "There Goes My Heart" is garnished with as clever and laugh provoking incident and situation as you'd hope to find in ten comedies. Samples: Patsy, employed as a vibrator demonstrator in the store carries on sales-haragane while being shaken, gets out of the machine and can't lose the jitters; Patsy and Virginia, cooking by electricity and lacking a quarter to keep the juice coming in plus in on the Great White Way (alternating current!) March is forceful and amusing as the reporter, and Eugene Pallette and Alan Mowbray have great moments. Gratifying as Miss Bruce's candor is, it's Patsy Kelly that will rock the theaters. Also present, in the familiar-face bracket: Nancy Carroll, as the "heavy," and Arthur Lake. Present effectively, but without screen credit: Harry Langdon, one-time silent star comic, as the wistful parson.

"Youth Takes a Fling" is a mostly pleasant if improbable trifle about a Kansas farm boy who years for the sea and a New York store model who years for the boy. Joel McCrea is so in love with the sea that he can't see Andrea Leeds, a bit of casting which stretches belief right there. But Dorothea Kent and Frank Jenks, teamed for comedy, maneuver things around to help Andrea get her man, and the lightness of touch distinguishing the Joe Pasternak productions (all the Deanna Durbin's) is usually apparent.

The Riz Brothers, hard-working jitterbugs of comedy, are best taken in small doses. If you don't agree there's a jam session awaiting you in "Straight, Place and Show."

The Rizzes take on a race horse, maneuver through a ho-humish romance between Phyllis Brooks and Richard Arlen, and practically tear themselves to pieces in the frenzied pursuit of laughs. The result, generally, is so sparsely amusing that the occasional pause while Ethel Merman scrapes a torch song over her slightly brassy vocal cords is a delight.

Greenville Highs Ready To Engage Rich Square

By "SMUT" BURKS

The G. H. S. football squad held only light practice yesterday and today in preparation for Friday's game with Rich Square. The game will be played at the Third street park and the opening kick-off will be at 3:15 sharp.

In an effort to reinforce the end position, which was weakened by the loss of John Collins because of a broken finger, Coach Farley has shifted Billy Moore, 150-pound back to end and will probably be stationed at that position for the remainder of the season. The vacancy in the backfield will be filled by George Sakas, who has just recently joined the squad. Sakas will be used at the wingback position and is a very hard man to stop once he gets in an open field. Another recent addition to the squad is the return of Kenneth Woolard, center, to the team. Woolard played last year on the Phantom squad and probably will see much action as he has had more experience than many of the linemen.

The probable line-up for tomorrow's game will be as follows:

Ends—Gibson and James, or Babcock; tackles—Hardy and Spencer Carroll; guards—Vincent and Tucker; center—Williams; quarterback—McGowan; halfbacks—Lautares and Tyndall, or Sakas; fullback—J. B. Kittrell.

Earl Kittrell, outstanding tackle, due to an injury received in the game with Tarboro, will probably not start although he may play in the game. The services of Marvin Stocks, fullback and main ground-sweeper of the Phantom squad, will also be missed. Stocks hurt his knee in practice and will probably be out of tomorrow's game entirely. To offset this injury to Stocks, Farley has shifted J. B. Kittrell, erstwhile blocking back, to the fullback post and Kittrell will start tomorrow as fullback.

McGowan, first string quarterback who suffered a broken nose in the Phantom's opening contest with Plymouth, will probably return to action and be one of tomorrow's starters.

Last year the Phantoms whipped the Rich Square eleven by the score of 26-6, at Rich Square. However, Rich Square put up stiffer resistance than the score indicated and is expected to put up a stubborn and repulsive battle for the Greenies tomorrow.

Although the State Fair will take away many of the game's regular attendants, a large crowd is expected to turn out.

Maxwell Will Speak At Truck Owners Association

Raleigh, Oct. 13—Commissioner of Revenue A. J. Maxwell is getting the breaks these days so far as being able to get around and let folks look him over as a possible 1940 gubernatorial candidate.

He is speaking early and often these days, and in practically every part of the state. His next appearance will be at Charlotte Saturday on the banquet program of the North Carolina Truck Owners Association convention.

Naturally he is not being advertised as a candidate for political office, nor will he show the best taste to make any sort of oratorical pass at presenting his case for such honors—but nevertheless he will be on display.

Subjects of his talk is not listed in the convention program, recently released here by Miss Frances Johnson, association secretary and treasurer, but it's fairly safe to assume that the revenue department head will have something to say on at least two related subjects—Highway safety and diversion of highway revenues.

For several months he has been losing no opportunity to plug for better highways to the end that they may be safer, and as a result of his conviction that the roads need all the money that can be collected to spend on them, he has come out as an opponent of the practice of diverting highway revenues to other purposes.

At Charlotte he will enjoy the distinction of being about the only North Carolinian doing any speaking—the rest of the two-day program being turned over largely to visiting luminaries like J. N. Beall, counselor for American Trucking Associations, Inc., Ted V. Rodgers, president of the same organization; and Commissioner John L. Rogers of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

POMP of a change in London's lord mayor was almost lost in the noise of war threats. This is Sir Frank Bowater, the new lord mayor of London, England, seen carrying a bouquet to the Church of St. Lawrence Jewery for a ceremony.

of agreement between state and railroad.

No hint of the progress of negotiations has been given by Governor Clyde R. Hoey, but there is extrinsic evidence tending to convince observers that there is better than an even chance that the Southern will eventually agree to some form of operating agreement.

Late last Saturday the Governor received from the Southern a full, complete and confidential report of the Old Mallet with a fine tooth comb and report its exact condition.

The five-man investigating committee sent by the road to go over what was in the report, it was transmitted to him in confidence by Southern officials, who, equally, do not want controversy growing out of any controversy growing out of their investigators' finding of fact.

But it is generally agreed that if the report had been such as to make the Southern back clean off the proposition, there would be no point in a conference regarding the situation; and the facts are that such a conference has been set for next week.

Governor Hoey and state officials were anxious to hold the session this week but it developed that Southern President Norris could not attend, although Vice President Hyde could. Next week both these high rail officials will come to Raleigh to go into the proposition of taking over the Mallet under some kind of agreement.

Without guarantee of correctness, it is predicted that some working agreement will be reached—though it may not be officially announced for some time yet.

Objections Voiced To Street Project

A resolution passed some time ago to petition the State Highway and Public Works Commission to widen Greene street from Tar river bridge to Dickinson avenue ran into opposition last night.

A petition signed by a number of property owners who would be effected by such a program was presented to the Board of Aldermen last night asking that the street not be widened any where unless it could be made uniform and widened all the way. The petition was presented by Arthur B. Corey Frank Patrick earlier in the evening had spoken against the widening project.

It was stated that the street now is about 28 and one half feet wide from the river to Fifth street and about 24 feet from Fifth street to Dickinson avenue. It was brought out at the meeting that brick buildings are up at the intersection of Fifth and Greene streets which would prevent much widening unless they were set back.

CITY HALL PLANS CHANGED AT MEETING LAST NIGHT

(Continued from Page One) deation, etc., to the persons gathered for that purpose. Upon starting the meeting, Mayor Blount called on anyone who wished to be heard on the subject.

Mrs. J. L. Little said she was in favor of having the main entrance on Fifth street and added that if the architects now employed were not able to do this she would suggest that new ones be sought.

Mrs. J. H. B. Moore declared that the opinion of those present seemed to be to have the main entrance on Fifth street for two reasons; so the long side of the building would be on Washington street and the narrow side on Fifth street so as to correspond with the fire station and offer, what she declared she believed, would be a more beautiful landscaping; and so that the entrance to the court room, where defendants would enter the court room, would not be on Fifth street, described by her as the most beautiful in Greenville.

Among others expressing their views on the location of the building were W. W. Lee, J. Hicks Corey, Vernon Parrish and Sully Jones.

CITY MANAGER IS CONSIDERED

Several members of the board last night unofficially expressed themselves in favor of employing a city manager.

LEGION POSTS IN JOINT MEET

Mr. Paylor delivered the feature address of the evening, concluding his talk by urging the Legionnaires to show the same determination in making their fair a success and in working toward other objectives of the fair, as Columbus did.

J. H. Rose also urged co-operation in the fair, after which he explained the "blackout" scheduled for tonight and asked the Legionnaires to lend their co-operation and also ask others to aid in making the experiment a success. Mr. Rose called attention to National Education week to be held later in the fall. He recalled that Education Week originated with the Legion and declared he was certain Legionnaires would be glad to join in its observance and work in behalf of public education.

J. Hicks Corey urged all Legionnaires who already had not renewed their dues to get them into his office before the end of the week in order that the post might make a good showing on renewed membership when the installation of officers is held in Asheville this week-end.

The delegation did not indicate immediately what nations would be included in the four-power conference, but it was believed they would be the same as those at the history-making Munich conference which agreed to the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia—Germany, Italy, Britain and France.

Before expiration of the ultimatum a high Hungarian source asserted that Hungary probably would order army mobilization tonight if her demands were not accepted.

However, the announcement that her demands would be referred to a four-power group was believed to indicate that immediate military action was not contemplated.

Shortly before 7 p. m., a Czech delegate disclosed that his country had made a new proposal, but details were not disclosed.

Miss Davis Devotes Part Time to ECTC

Miss Beatrice Davis, Wanchese, who has just come to Pitt County in connection with the federal program of adult education, will also be a part-time instructor at the College.

She will teach one class in English and one in French, her major fields of study.

Miss Davis, a native North Carolinian, is a graduate of W. C. U. N. C. and has her M. A. degree from Columbia University. She has been teaching near Hickory.

division of the United Daughters of the Confederacy here this afternoon. Asheville was chosen as the 1939 convention city.

Mrs. Fisher will succeed Mrs. John Anderson of Raleigh.

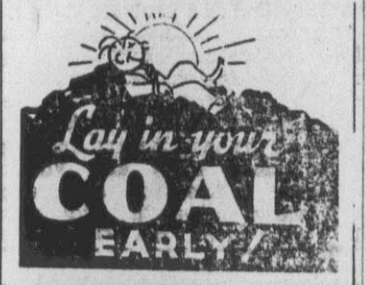

Other officers include Mrs. Paul Borden of Goldsboro, first vice president, Mrs. J. T. Hollister of New Bern an honorary president.

Tipsy Auto Drivers To Become Villains In Court Movies

Pueblo, Colo. (AP)—The box office will be lacking, but otherwise Pueblo courts soon will be in the movie field.

District Attorney Ralph Neary plans to take movies of the scene when a drunken person is arrested for drunken driving. Court rooms are being equipped to show the "flickers."

"A defendant usually has sobered up and is in a presentable condition by the time he appears in court," said Neary. "The officers' word that the man was intoxicated frequently is the only testimony that can be offered."

EXPANSION IN NEW BUILDING

Charlotte Tops Coies Of State for First Eight Months

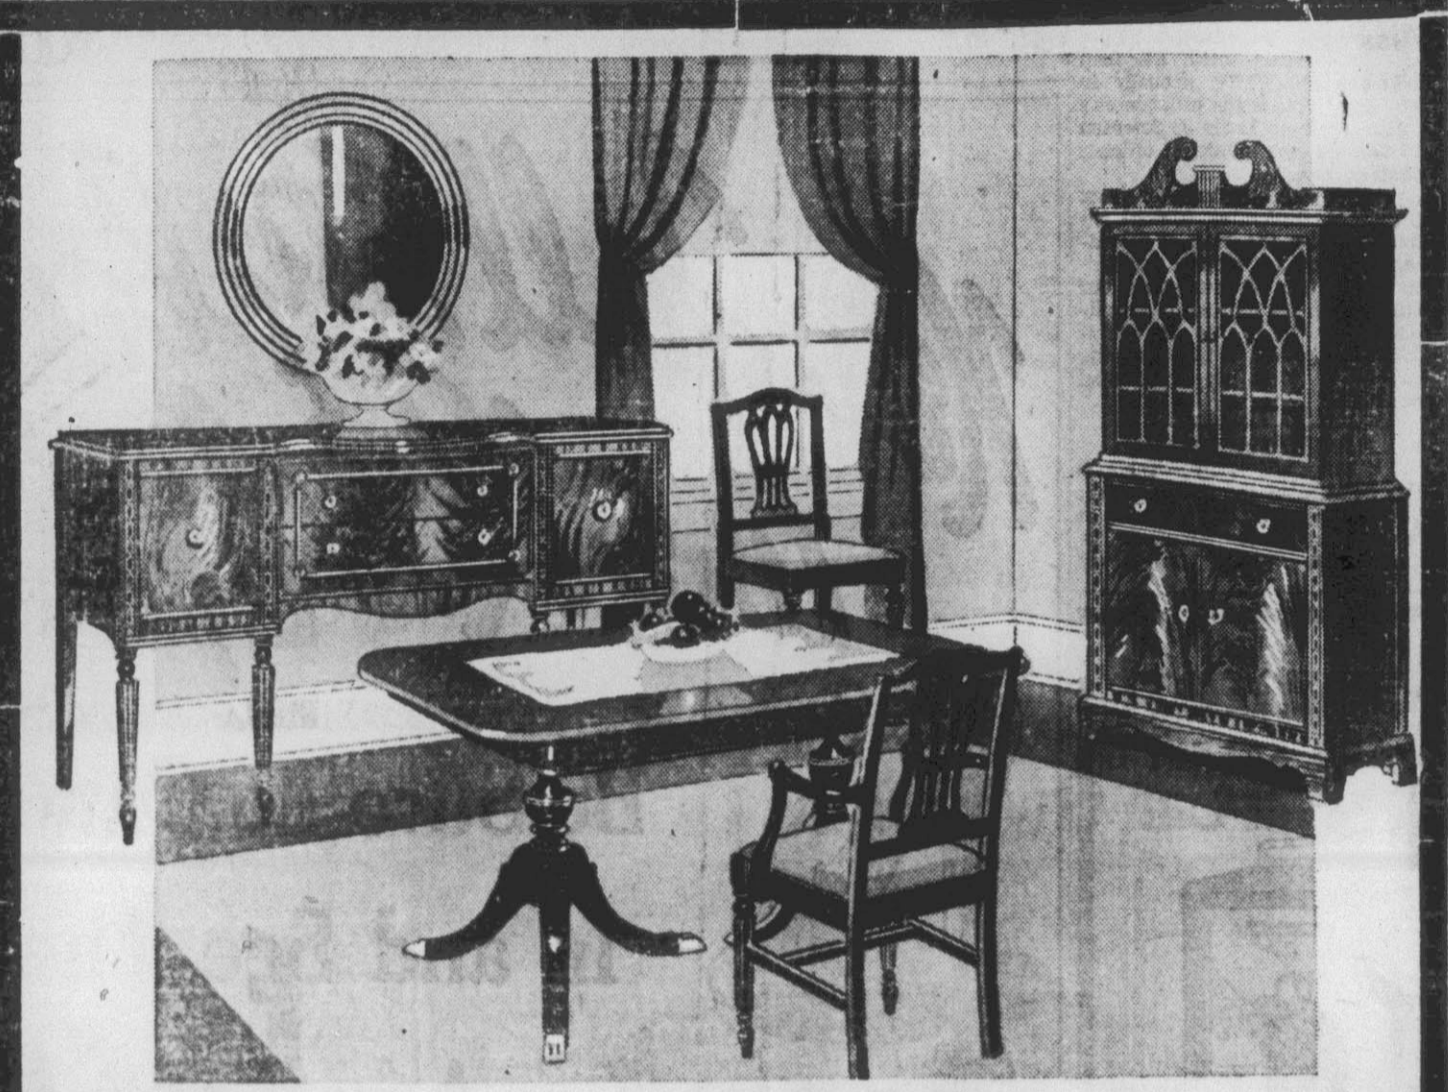

Reflector Bureau.
Raleigh, Oct. 13—Charlotte topped all North Carolina cities in the value of building permits, of all types, issued for the first eight months of 1938, according to figures of the North Carolina Department of Labor.
The Mecklenburg capital was the only city in which total estimated cost of all construction work exceeded two million dollars, its exact figure being $2,237,367. Three other cities, of the total of 21 on which the Labor Department gave totals, passed the million dollar mark—Raleigh with $1,876,275; Durham with $1,758,002; and Winston-Salem with $1,728,914.

For the entire state an expansion of building construction work over 1937 was shown, with an increase of $1,026,835, or 8.4 per cent to a total of $13,322,849 through August.
Indications are that an even more marked increase has been in progress since then and that final figures for the year will show construction of residences during the first eight months of this year, Raleigh ed all cities in value, while Winston-Salem topped the list in number of families provided for.
In value of all types of construction authorized, cities followed Charlotte, Raleigh, Durham and Winston-Salem in the following order:
High Point, $896,218.16; Greensboro, $867,190; Rocky Mount, $710,946; Asheville, $589,082; Wilson, $451,477; Salisbury, $414,550; Fayetteville, $343,977; Kinston, $285,625;

Concord, $260,025; Wilmington, $207,403; Shelby, $193,468; Goldsboro, $190,840; New Bern, $115,150; Statesville, $80,800; Gastonia, $64,200; Elizabeth City, $61,840; and Thomasville, $21,700.
In residential construction, ranked by number of families provided for the standing of cities was:
Winston-Salem, 490; Raleigh, 411; Charlotte, 369; Durham, 299; High Point, 221; Greensboro, 183; Rocky Mount, 104; Kinston, 97; Fayetteville, 89; Shelby, 67; Wilson, 56; Concord, 52; Salisbury, 49; Asheville, 41; Wilmington, 33; Gastonia, 27; Elizabeth City, 21; Goldsboro, 20; Statesville, 18; Thomasville, 9; and New Bern, 9.
Total families provided for throughout the state reached 2,665 in the twenty-one cities in which the Labor Department keeps records. This showed a sharp increase of the first eight months of 1937 when the total of families provided for amounted to 2,041.
Total value of all residential construction in the first eight months of the year was $7,669,892 against $6,949,529 for the same period in 1937.
In value of residential construction, the cities stood:
Raleigh, $1,876,275 (this was more than four times the value of residential construction in the state capital during the first eight months of 1937); Charlotte, $1,728,914; Winston-Salem, $1,184,959; Durham, $667,572; High Point, $522,290; Greensboro, $519,788; Rocky Mount, $299,575; Fayetteville, $210,880; Wilson, $203,050; Kinston, $174,500; Asheville, $167,910; Shelby, $135,955; Salisbury, $112,715; Goldsboro, $103,550; Concord, $95,850; New Bern, $71,700; Wilmington, $50,050; Gastonia, $40,600; Elizabeth City, $31,100; Statesville, $28,100; and Thomasville, $14,500.

risking the dangers of toppling over into a neighbor's lap.
Among other new and intriguing marvels were red cellophane spats, for women on rainy days; shoes with removable roller skate wheels attached to the heels; a thim-gumabob which shells hot, boiled eggs for you; a safety bathrail, which prevents unsteady bathers from slipping on bars of soap with painful and frequently disastrous results; a flea trap (which snares the little things alive) a new-fangled refrigerator, an automatic safety signal and a thousand other new and bizarre objects.
Mr. A. G. Burns, of California, president of the inventor's congress this year, explained that a number of the new inventions on display were the work of various gentlemen now in Sing Sing prison, and that they, unfortunately, would be unable to attend the con-gress.

Man About Manhattan

By George Tucker

New York—In an atmosphere distinctly reminiscent of Joe Cook and the illogical contrivances he used to figure out for the opening of doors, feeding the canary, and other semi-impossible feats, the inventor's show got off to a good start in New York this season.
It was held at a midtown hotel and some 600 inventors were on hand from every part of the country to display their gadgets. One of the items that struck by eye right off was a weird looking contraption fastened to a young lady's leg.
At first glance I thought it must be a new sort of splint for the setting of broken bones, but in a few moments the young lady unstrapped herself and walked away with no sign of pain, and so I made a few discreet inquiries and discovered that the gadget was for cows, not people, and that its purpose was to keep posse from kicking over the milk pail at milking time.
The inventor's show continued its clinical aspect with a young man in a sort of horse-collar which I instantly decided must be a new type of brace for a broken neck. But the wearer of it was smoking a cigar and having such an excellent time that I began to suspect that this, like the "splints" was designed for other purposes. It was, this, it appears, is a new gadget for the comfort of those who like to sleep sitting up in chairs.
It holds the chin high and braces against the shoulders, thus eliminating the dangers of a snappy neck if the drowsy one nods too suddenly. Indeed with this arrangement one may drowse and sleep indefinitely but he can not nod. His neck is in a vice-like grip and his chin rests on padded upholstery. Very sane little apparatus. But it would probably look funny to walk into an office and see a group of executives sitting around a table with leather collars around their necks. Without sticking my own neck out I would like to recommend these little dood-dads to theater managers whose plays aren't calculated to keep everybody awake. Then the cash customers could take a snooze with out fear or injury and without

POLITICS FOR 4-YEAR TERM

Sheriffs' Association Secretary Visits 100 Counties

Raleigh, Oct. 13—John R. Morris, secretary of the North Carolina Sheriffs' Association has visited every county in the State in the interests of the Constitutional amendment extending the terms of sheriffs and coroners—both Constitutional offices—from two to four years.

The former sheriff of New Hanover county landed in Wake Tuesday, but wasn't scheduled to stay long.

"In fact, I don't stay anywhere very long," he told this bureau's representative. "I'll be on my way out pretty soon."

"And how many counties have you visited so far?" he was asked. "All one hundred and I'm starting round again," he smiled.

Prospects for approval of the amendment by the voters at the General Election in November appear bright, he said cheerfully, though he pointed out that there still remains the danger that voters will not be sufficiently informed of the merits of the matter.

"The amendment would have passed in 1932," he said, "except for the fact that there was no organized campaign of education conducted for it."

He pointed to the fact that Governor Clyde R. Hoey, practically every high State official, a big majority of the Superior court judges and lower court judges have endorsed the change.

"There's no reason why sheriffs should have to spend practically all

PARKING SPACE DEARTH AN ANNOYING HEADACHE

Chicago, —(AP)—Lack of proper parking facilities costs American motorists $100,000,000 annually in lost time. That is the estimate city traffic engineer Leslie J. Sorenson of Chicago gave municipal officials meeting here.

"Traffic engineers have for years concerned themselves almost exclusively with the task of providing highways for moving vehicles," he said. "Now we must turn our attention to the problem of accommodating vehicles that are standing. The problem is fast becoming one of the most annoying municipal headaches."

Just Sunning Himself Topeka, Kans. —(AP)—There is this notation in the police blotter: "Drunk reported on sidewalk at Second and Kansas Avenue." In the column headed "Disposal of Case" is this remark: "It wasn't a drunk, just an Indian resting on the sidewalk. Sleeping under the sunny sky is just an old Indian custom."
