ARABS VICTIMS OF REBELLION IN JERUSALEM

Nine Slain in Latest Clash With British Guardsmen

NEW FUSILLADE OF SHOTS HEARD

Coldstream Unit Attempting to Oust Rebellious Arabs From Moslem Sections

Jerusalem, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Nine Arabs were reported killed and a British soldier and a British policeman wounded early today as the Coldstream guards sought to oust rebellious Arabs from the Moslem sections of Jerusalem's old city.

A steady fusillade of shots in the old city could be heard by newspaper correspondents on the roof of a hotel outside the walls.

While the crack guardsmen attempted to clean up resistance in Jerusalem, other troops cordoned off half the coastal town of Acre and began a rigorous search in an effort to find members of the band which raided the city's post office yesterday.

Several hundred persons were questioned at Acre and a number of persons were retained to repair roads damaged by saboteurs.

Troops patrolled the main roads between several places in the section.

The Coldstream guards marched into the old city shortly after a form of martial law was proclaimed throughout Palestine to aid 20,000 British soldiers in their attempt to crush the uprising of an estimated 10,000 tribesmen.

In preparation for the clean-up drive, platoons of troops had surrounded the walls of the ancient city while others guarded against possible attacks in modern sections of Jerusalem.

Jewish and Arab quarters of the old city were understood to be under complete British control, but from the Arab quarter rebel riflemen kept up intermittent sniping attacks.

Complete Session Of County Court

Six cases were tried in yesterday afternoon's session of County court, four defendants having been acquitted and the two convicted acquitted to Superior court.

The four defendants acquitted and the charge against each were: Thomas G. James, driving careless and reckless; A. J. Joyner, driving careless and reckless; Will Latham, driving careless and reckless; Mrs. Thelma Jones, failing to give signal.

Carl Hardy, white man, was convicted of driving careless and reckless and was ordered to pay a $25 fine, costs to be deducted. The defendant appealed to Superior court.

Thomas Phillips, Negro, was convicted of driving careless and reckless and ordered to pay a $25 fine, costs to be deducted. The defendant's driving license was ordered revoked for two years or until he pays the sum of $100 for property damages suffered by Henry C. Coburn, prosecuting witness. The defendant also appealed to Superior court.

Wayward Tar Heel Youths In Custody

Newark, N. J., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Four youths booked as fugitives from the North Carolina Training School at Rocky Mount, were in police custody here today, awaiting decision of authorities as to their disposition.

Acting Police Captain Frank Donnelly said the four left the reform institution Sunday, stole an automobile and went to Baltimore and, after running out of gas, stole another car there and came on to this city. Since their arrival, Donnelly said, they have been living on restaurant leftovers and soda pops.

The fugitives gave their names as Keith Garner, 17, of Kinston; Claud Rose, 17, of Nashville; Leon Robinson, 17, of Kernersville; and Ernest Willard, 18, of Gibsonville.

They were turned back from the Holland tunnel under the Hudson river into New York because they lacked money to pay the toll, and were driving around Newark, apparently aimlessly, when picked up.

Assign Tharrington To Hospital Position

Raleigh, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Warden Hugh Wilson of Central prison said today James Tharrington, former Smithfield and Raleigh banker now serving 25 to 30 years for the killing of John McMillan, a Selma oil dealer, would go to work at once in the prison hospital. Tharrington has been going through prison routine this week.

Prime Minister Chamberlain Meets With Cabinet Members

London, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain met his cabinet today to chart the British course of peace on the changed European map, try to organize home defense and decide on a pacific course in the strife in Palestine.

A report on the present stage of negotiations for an overdue Anglo-American trade treaty also was before the ministers, who gathered for the first of two sessions expected this week.

The most pressing matters were reports of the September European crisis, showing gaps in British defenses, and Colonial Secretary Malcolm MacDonald considered conclusions as to what should be done to end weeks of bloody Arab-Jewish strife in the Holy Land, a British mandate.

There was widespread belief that both the colonial secretary and the members of the newest royal commission to Palestine were convinced a plan to split Palestine into Arab, Jewish and British sections would never work.

In the immediate offing was the premier's determination to consolidate the September 29 peace of Munich by separate agreements with Adolf Hitler, Chamberlain returned to London this morning from a fishing holiday in Scotland.

New York state has 62 counties, 932 towns or townships, 60 cities, 8,400 school districts, 554 incorporated villages, and 2,564 special districts.

Pitt County Leads U. S. In Negro Scout Troops

Pitt County has the distinction of having more Negro Boy Scout troops—eight—than any other county in the United States.

The eight Pitt county troops are located at Farmville, Bethel, Ayden, Stokes, Winterville, Grimesland and two in Greenville.

Scouting activities among the colored population of the county have received widespread commendation. Some of its Scout leaders are considered the best in the country and have devoted much time to the work. Several Scouts also have won wide recognition and merit badge—lifesaving—of becoming an Eagle Scout, a distinction gained by only two or three colored Scouts in the State. Scout Teel, among others of his race, went to the Jamboree at Washington, D. C., last summer.

A Negro Cub pack also is being organized in this county.

FRANCE LOOKS TO PACT WITH NAZI GERMANY

Preliminary Negotiations Reported Already Started

RUSSIAN TREATY TO BE SCRAPPED?

France Also Considered Likely to Promise Return of Pre-War Colonies

Paris, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Preliminary negotiations looking toward a "full settlement" of differences between France and Germany were reported in informed quarters today to have been started by both governments.

Premier Daladier conferred with Count von Helldorf, German ambassador to France, yesterday on the latter's return from Berlin and the envoy arranged to talk with Foreign Minister Bonnet today.

Both meetings were said by foreign office spokesmen to have been arranged at the ambassador's request.

At the same time, R. Francois-Poncet, French ambassador to Berlin, who has been named ambassador to Italy, flew in a special airplane at Adolf Hitler's invitation to the German Chancellor's Bavarian residence.

The first draft of Hitler's terms, which informed sources said were submitted to the French leaders, was reported to include an air pact in which France would recognize Germany's right of numerical preponderance in war planes.

France also would promise Germany a free hand in Central and Eastern Europe with the renunciation of her mutual assistance treaty with Soviet Russia.

France would promise to return Togo and Cameroons, pre-war German colonies to the Reich.

In return Hitler would guarantee all French frontiers against attacks.

Although it was believed extremely unlikely such terms would be acceptable to France in their entirety, it was reported by deputies that Daladier was prepared to make strenuous efforts toward reaching an agreement with Hitler soon.

SAFETY FUNDS PUT IN BUDGET

Request for $50,000 Made for Highway Division

Raleigh, Oct. 19.—Request of the Highway Safety Division that $50,000 be included in the budget for the next biennium brings into sharp relief the fact that the intensive safety campaign which has been conducted this year has been carried on without one penny of state funds for "promotional" work.

Ronald Hocutt, director of the safety division, said today he believes the $25,000 pre year asked for will be worth many times that much to the state in lives saved and property damage averted by an even more vigorous campaign for safety along the present lines.

He pointed to a reduction in fatalities in North Carolina this year of 23 per cent from the corresponding period of 1937 and declared that an even better showing can doubtless be made if the division is provided with a reasonable sum with which to conduct promotional safety work, with pictures for newspapers and periodicals, radio programs, safety motorcades and other activities which keep safety in the public eye.

During this year there has been more than a little of this kind of work done, but it has been financed entirely by contributions from interested individuals and organizations.

Advocates of a better safety program in North Carolina feel that the state should not "go begging" or "cup passing" in order to promote safety on its highways. Director Hocutt said:

The Safety Director has throughout 1938 kept a safety campaign going on all the three fronts called essential to real results—education, enforcement and engineering.

He feels that enforcement and engineering will be taken care of financially in appropriations for the Highway Patrol and other enforcement agencies and for the State Highway and Public Works Commission. He believes that $50,000 spent on safety education in the next two years would pay more than 100 per cent dividends.

DOUBLE TROUBLE BESETS RUTH ETTING

The day after Ruth Etting's late husband, Mr. Alderman, was shot and wounded by her ex-husband, Martin Snyder, she is shown (left) with her child. She claims her divorce from Alderman will not become final until December 2. Meanwhile, Miss Etting is seen (right) keeping a 24-hour vigil at the bedside of Alderman in a Hollywood hospital. Alma Alderman filed her suit in Los Angeles.

BOARD CHOSEN BY MERCHANTS

Directors to Meet Tomorrow To Select New Officers

The newly elected board of directors of the Greenville Merchants Association will meet Friday morning at 11 o'clock in the offices of the organization for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing year.

The new board, named at a general meeting of the association last night, is composed of O. P. Matthews, Hinton Best, B. D. Johnston, Tom Wilson, C. P. Earhart, Roy Campbell, G. V. Honeycutt, L. A. Stroud, Z. P. VanDyke, W. H. White, C. T. Reid, H. Lyman Ormond, Wesley Harvey and J. M. Taft.

At the meeting last night committees were named to handle various problems discussed by the association.

L. A. Stroud, retiring president, presided over last night's meeting of the association, which now has a membership of 114.

J. M. Taft, treasurer, reported the organization's finances in excellent condition with no outstanding obligations for which the money is not in hand.

The association voted to enforce a resolution providing that certain advertising schemes must be endorsed by a secret committee before any member may subscribe to them.

Members expressed themselves in favor of a one-day trade event to be held in the near future and to be followed by a three-day event. A committee, composed of E. T. Meeks, B. D. Johnston and C. P. Earhart, was appointed to make recommendations.

A feature of the meeting was the presentation of the report by Mrs. Cora S. Powell, executive secretary. The report follows in full:

Present membership, 102; 12 subscribers to Pitt county records, making a total of 114.

October 1, 1937, we had 85 members, during the year we signed up 26 new members. We lost 9 members, four of which withdrew, five went out of business.

In the office we have compiled, issued and distributed a bulletin each Monday, containing newcomers to Greenville, changes of address, judgments, county court records.

Each day the office has one to three newcomers and local residents visit the office for assistance in securing rooms, apartments, and houses in which to live.

We have mimeographed a "Newcomers Booklet" that is mailed or carried to newcomers which gives general information of the city and trade guide of the membership.

A total of 3,407 reports have been furnished by the office during the past year. These 1,615 have been given by telephone and 1,792 were written.

Bible Now Taught In Public Schools

Raleigh, Oct. 19.—(AP)—The Rev. J. O. Mann of Maxton, director of Religious Education for the Presbyterian Synod of North Carolina, told the delegates at the annual meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary today that 40 states now teach Bible in public schools.

Churches pay the teachers, Dr. Mann said, and there is increasing interest in overcoming illiteracy of the Bible, which he said was appalling. He said a test showed that 16,000 pupils out of 18,000 questioned in Virginia could not name the four gospels.

FIRM ORDERED HIRE STRIKERS

NLRB Says Republic Steel Must Re-Employ Workers

Washington, Oct. 19.—(AP)—The National Labor Relations board ordered the Republic Steel corporation today to offer re-instatement to about 5,000 employees who went on strike in May, 1937.

The board ordered the company to stop interfering with the formation of any labor organization, discouraging membership in the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, or the Steel Workers' Organizing committee, and in any way interfering with the right of self-organization of employees.

The board, in a 100,000-word decision, held that unfair labor practices by the corporation caused its employees to join the "little steel" walkout 18 months ago.

If the corporation does not reinstate all the striking employees, it was ordered, it must pay remedial.

T. J. Swain, J. H. Rose Guests At Fort Bragg

T. J. Swain, county chief, and J. H. Rose, district chief, in the anti-aircraft maneuvers, were special guests today at the concluding event at Fort Bragg.

Only high state and army officials and persons who took important parts in the maneuvers were invited to the affair.

N. C. Needs $40,000,000 To Modernize Highways

Raleigh, Oct. 19.—Forty million dollars are needed to modernize North Carolina's primary highway system, according to estimates of the State Highway and Public Works Commission.

The estimate is made by the entire commission and was submitted to the Budget Bureau in a short, almost casual, paragraph of the Commission's estimates of needs for the next biennium.

Your attention is called to the fact that there are 1,700 miles of pavements on our primary system which need to be widened or reconstructed at an estimated cost of $28,450,000. There are also 475 bridges needed to be widened in the interest of safety at an estimated cost of $4,720,000. There are 382 bridges built by the counties prior to 1931 which have inadequate capacity and should be rebuilt at an estimated cost of $6,990,000. Total

SPY RING CASE GOES FORWARD

Witness Tells Scheme To Forge Name of President

New York, Oct. 19.—(AP)—A scheme to forge President Roosevelt's signature to White House stationery in order to procure information about the United States navy was described in federal court today by G. G. Rumrich, 32-year-old army deserter and confessed Nazi spy.

Speaking in a low, dispirited voice though he was tired of his role and the whole fantastic espionage plot, Rumrich told Judge John Knox and a jury he had expected to get a lot of money if the plan were carried through.

It was his third day on the witness stand of the aircraft carriers Enterprise, former Mitchell Field soldier; Johanna Hofmann, hairdresser on the German liner Europa; and Otto Voss, airplane mechanic. Rumrich was indicted with them and 14 others, but pleaded guilty and became one of the government's principal witnesses.

The ex-dishwasher who became a $40-a-week "mail order" spy, chewed gum as he told of a night when Carl Schleuter, an alleged messenger for the spy ring, came to his home in the Bronx with Fraulien Hofmann.

Schleuter asked him what he knew of the aircraft carriers Enterprise and Yorktown.

"He said the German navy was now going to build some aircraft (Continued on page six)

Officials Of FHA Will Explain Act

An important meeting to be addressed by J. L. Sutter, state director of the Federal Housing Authority and W. T. Rowe, state production manager of FHA, will be held at the court house tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock.

The meeting was announced by Mrs. Cora S. Powell, better Housing chairman for this district. Representatives of timber dealers, realtors, architects, contractors, financial institutions, newspapers and utilities are urged to be present.

New amendments to the Federal Housing act will be explained by the officials of the organization.

JAP COLUMNS MEET SUCCESS IN SOUTH CHINA

Appear to have Slashed Chinese Canton Defenses

THREATEN LINE FROM TWO SIDES

One Nipponese Unit Reported To Have Reached Point on Island in East River

Hongkong, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Japanese columns gathered new momentum today and appeared to have slashed their way through Chinese defenses to threaten Canton from both the northeast and the east.

Terrific air bombardment aided troops of the invaders at the outset of the second week of the Japanese South China offensive, which started October 14.

It was stated authoritatively that one column had reached a point on one of the four islands in the East river, crossed by the Canton-Kowloon railway, about 35 miles east of Canton.

Chinese military authorities at Canton issued a vigorous denial that the island point had been captured.

To the north, and there were highly conflicting reports on this "back door" phase of the campaign, another mechanized detachment was said to be steadily nearing a place 30 miles northeast of the Canton objective.

Still another column was said to be within 25 miles of some forts, some 30 miles southeast of Canton, which guard the river approaches to the metropolis.

Japanese announced that the column aimed at Tsungta had occupied a point 30 miles to the southeast after an exceptionally heavy air bombardment and pushed on.

Funeral Tomorrow For Jarvis Mills

Funeral services for Jarvis Mills, 61-year-old Black Jack farmer, who died at his home at 7 o'clock last night, following an illness of ten days, will be conducted at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

The services will be conducted by Rev. M. A. Woodard, Free Will Baptist minister of Winterville. Burial will be in the family cemetery near the home.

Active pallbearers will be LeRoy Dixon, Roy Mills, Albert Mills, Lonnie Mills, Jesse Elks and Harvey Elks.

A successful farmer and businessman, Mr. Mills was active in the affairs of his church and community.

He is survived by six sons, Tom, Hyman, Glenn, Chester, Horace and Louis Henry Mills; three daughters, Mrs. E. M. Venters of Calico cross roads, Mrs. F. C. Hadcock of near Greenville, and Mrs. F. J. Hardie of Ayden, route two; nine grandchildren; three brothers, Harvey, J. J., and Possie Mills; and two sisters, Mrs. Lizzie Dixon of near Black Jack, and Mrs. George Adams of Martin county.

Biennial Requests Made by Hospitals

Raleigh, Oct. 19.—(AP)—North Carolina's State hospitals for the insane asked the advisory budget commission today to recommend large increases in their appropriations for the 1939-41 biennium.

The hospital here asked $600,000 for 1939-40 and $635,000 for 1940-41, as compared with $591,043 received last fiscal year, and $367,023 this year.

The Goldsboro hospital for Negroes asked $285,810 and $291,207 for the next two years, compared with $273,942 and $256,025 received this biennium.

Caswell Training school at Kinston asked a boost from $169,158 this year to $257,313 next year and $224,713 for 1940-41.

Present Portrait of Mrs. Carr. On Tuesday, October 19, at Shepard Memorial Library, the End of the Century Club was hostess to the club women of Greenville, the occasion being the presentation of an oil portrait of Mrs. R. L. Carr, a former resident of Greenville and member of the End of the Century Club, who now resides in Monroe, La.

Mrs. Carr is due the credit of obtaining our magnificent library—as she is a kinswoman (by marriage) of Mr. Sheppard, and it was through her that he became interested in erecting a memorial to his father who was a native of Pitt county.

Mrs. Carr worked untiringly on the plans for the library, and served as one of the commission for the building. Mr. James S. Ficklen, being chairman of the commission, and as co-worker, realized her valuable assistance in securing and planning the building, and felt the urge to show his appreciation of the time and thought which she had spent on it. He decided to present the library with a portrait of Mrs. Carr, as a token of his appreciation of her assistance.

Due to the fact that she had been a member of the End of the Century Club, that organization was asked to sponsor the presentation.

Mrs. James S. Ficklen, the club president, appointed a committee composed of Mesdames L. C. Arthur, R. M. Garrett and Charles White, to set a date and make necessary plans. Mrs. Arthur opened the meeting with a few words of welcome to the other clubs of Greenville and introduced Mrs. J. L. Fleming, who gave in an interesting speech, a short resume of the growth of the library which was the result of a vision born in the End of the Century Club, and its culmination in the wonderful gift of our benefactor.

In presenting this portrait, Mrs. Fleming stressed the appreciation of the citizens of Greenville to Mr. Ficklen for his generosity.

Mrs. Judson Blom, representing the library commission, accepted the portrait in her usual gracious manner.

After leaving the library, the members of the End of the Century Club met at the home of Mrs. J. L. Fleming for their regular meeting. The president, Mrs. James S. Ficklen, called the meeting to order and Mrs. Edward Batchelor, the secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting.

After disposing of the routine business the program committee presented Miss Kate Lewis of the college faculty, who gave a most interesting talk on the new trend in Arts and Crafts. Miss Lewis displayed a number of murals by modern painters. She also told of the work in various lines, which was being accomplished by the mountain people of North Carolina.

Miss Maude Melvin, a student from the college, gave several vocal selections, which were very much enjoyed. Miss Wilber Royer, another college student, played her accompaniments.

Mrs. Fleming served delicious refreshments. Miss Betsy Greene and Mrs. Larry Moore were guests.

Assembly Hears of Great Tenor. "Great artists have been on this campus from time to time, but none to surpass the artist who is to sing for us Friday night, Giovanni Martinelli," said Dean C. Tabor, head of the E. C. T. C. Music Education department in addressing the college assembly yesterday.

Mr. Tabor went on to sketch in a little of the background of Martinelli, and to speak of his standing in his art.

He reported having asked Mr. A. Dittmer, new instructor in the Music Department, who is just from New York, his impression of Martinelli. Mr. Dittmer answered that he had heard him in his great role of "Otello" and had been greatly impressed by his power and purity of tone. Before the program, he said, he had inquired who would take the exceedingly difficult part of Otello himself, and had been answered with a question—"Who could take it except Martinelli?"

The speaker gave Martinelli's summary of what it takes to make an opera star: a strong voice, a strong heart, a strong body, a strong head, and endless willingness to work.

In closing, the speaker urged all his listeners not to fail to hear this world-famous tenor who will be at the college Friday night.

Inter Se Club. The Inter Se Club held its meeting on October 18 at the home of Mrs. W. H. Taft on Dickinson avenue. The president, Mrs. Taft, opened the meeting with a short business meeting, then turned the program over to Mrs. Vante Perkins, who gave us the historical background of Williamsburg.

Williamsburg, one of our great historical towns, is the oldest incorporated city in the United States. It remained the center of economic, social, and economical life of Virginia from 1699 to 1799. In the early days of Williamsburg, formerly known as Middle Plantation, consists of four plantations centered in the town site, built in adjoining corners. These four houses were Bassett Hall, Taywell Hall, Parrets and Wheatland.

Bassett Hall is a fine old house, still a private residence and in excellent condition. Washington was often entertained at this house. Tom Moore, the Irish poet, wrote his poem "The Firefly" while visiting here. Lee was wounded and nursed back to health in Bassett Hall. He later married his nurse.

Taywell Hall was the home of John Randolph. His son, Edmund Randolph, helped frame the Constitution of the United States. He was first Governor of Virginia and later became attorney general of the United States.

In 1706 Williamsburg had a free school. In 1716 the first theater in America was built here by Wilcox Livingston. The oldest college in America is Harvard, however. William and Mary was first to have chairs of law, political economy, modern languages and history. At the time Harvard had a president and two professors, William and Mary had six professors, a president and a master.

The Blair House on Duke of Gloucester street, still stands on the same street. John Marshall lived here when a student at William and Mary.

The Fall house on East Frances street, is said to be the oldest in the town, for it was spoken of as more than a hundred years old at the time of the Revolution.

The substantial build of these houses, beauty and charm need surprise no one. Virginians lived well from the earlier days. They very soon possessed pewter plates, dishes and platters which were followed by silver, china and glass. Turkish rugs covered their floors at an early period.

Williamsburg was a religious and educational center from 1699 to 1799. The college William and Mary, gave the following to the United States: three presidents of the United States; Jefferson, Monroe and Tyler; Washington was a student but not a graduate; four signers of the Declaration of Independence; 25 Supreme court bench; fifteen represented the state in Congress; two attorney generals; seven cabinet officers.

In 1925 Dr. W. A. R. Goodwin gave an address concerning the restoration of Williamsburg. John D. Rockefeller was present and became interested, visited Williamsburg, and in 1927 pledged his support to Dr. Goodwin to restore Williamsburg. Only 25 per cent

At the conclusion of the program a delicious salad course was served. Guests for the afternoon were Mrs. M. B. Massey and Mrs. C. R. Stacy. —Reported.

The Sans Souci Club. The Sans Souci Club held a delightful meeting on Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. J. T. Cheatham on Fourth street, as hostess. The members present were delighted to welcome Mrs. A. J. Moore and Mrs. Perrecks as guests for the afternoon. In the absence of the president, Mrs. W. E. Hooker, Mrs. Hall the vice-president, presided over a short business session, after which the books were exchanged. The chairman of the program committee then presented Mrs. George Woodward, who gave a most interesting and informative paper, having as her subject "The Industries of North Carolina." Such information made those present realize the varied interests of the Old North State and gave to some of us a new conception of her high position among other states of the Union.

A general round of current events closed the meeting, after which the hostess served a delicious salad course and a pleasant social hour was enjoyed by members and guests. —Reported.

Chio Book Club. "Art in the Home" was the subject of a talk given by Mrs. Needham Ward at a meeting of the Chio Book Club Tuesday afternoon.

"In furnishing our home," Mrs. Ward said, "our aim is utility in conjunction with beauty. The making of a useful thing beautiful is the purpose of every artist. In furnishing a home one should determine, first of all, the chief form of expression to use, the four principal types of expression being formality, informality, modernism, and naturalness; and the home should be consistent throughout."

The highlights of furniture history were given, with illustrations of the Renaissance styles, Jacobean, William and Mary, Queen Anne, Louis XV, Louis XIV, Provincial, Middle Georgian, Late Georgian, Colonial, Victorian and Modern.

The hostess, Mrs. James Johnston, served delicious refreshments. —Reported.

Ever-Shiny Silverware. Silverware will stay shiny and untarnished if it is used daily washed thoroughly and stored carefully. Use hot soapy water for washing, hot clear water for rinsing. Wipe the silver carefully with a lintless soft cloth. Don't pile silverware; that is likely to scratch it. To remove tarnish from silver, use from grit.

DON'T MARRY THE MAN

By Jeanne Bowman

The Characters
 Kathleen Gregory: red-haired member of the Gregory clan goes West incognito to get a right-of-way for The Golden Girl mine from MacDonald.
 Donald MacDonald: young owner of The Stubbard Boy mine hates the Gregorys as much as they hate him.
 Bridget: Kathleen's companion.

Yesterday: Kathleen's father orders her home. The Gregorys are going to meet proof of their prior claim from Balmy, then close down the MacDonald mine.

Chapter 18 'Not-So-Devoted Daughter'

THE table cleared, dishes washed, they sat before the big stove. Kathleen leading gently to the purpose of her visit.

"The day we visited The Stubbard Boy, Young Donald told us he'd never give right-of-way to the Golden Girl. He seemed to want it closed down."

Balmy puffed on his clay pipe. "Thinks he does," he agreed.

"He said the Gregorys couldn't force the issue because they could not prove priority of filing on the original claim. Balmy," she leaned forward, "suppose someone had proof that the Gregorys had filed first. If their vein traversed near the MacDonald mine, they could force the MacDonalds to close down, couldn't they?"

"Aye," conceded Balmy, "providing they found the proof."

"But suppose they knew it existed and could force the person holding it to release it, what then?"

Balmy took his pipe from his mouth. "What are you trying to tell me, lass?"

"I... well nothing, but—"

"Would you like to see Donald's mine closed down?"

"I wouldn't give a continental damn what happened to that stuffed shirt," she flared. "But the miners. They'd be out. And," she concluded lamely, "Mrs. Arthur loves her jar closet so."

Balmy's white head went back and his strong laugh rang out, then quieting he chuckled. "We'll have to see Jane keeps her jar closet."

"How?" demanded Kathleen. She waited now, eagerly Balmy was holding his pipe, ready to speak.

"Pray," answered the old man. Kathleen sank back into her chair. Jane Arthur was right. Balmy was "faer teched in the head." He'd pray for the return of Old Angus when he knew he had been dead for fifteen years.

"Ye see, lass," Balmy had relapsed into broad dialect, "the man who has this proof will nae get it up to be used as a weapon of hate."

"Not even to save the Gregory miners the loss of their jobs?"

Balmy sat silent a few moments, then he spoke. "Sometimes it seems better they should be forced from their stubborn loyalty to a diving clan, now that their loyalty has turned bitter. I fear lass, that loyalty is more hated for the MacDonalds than love for the Gregorys."

"And aren't the MacDonalds as bitter towards the Gregorys?" she demanded.

"Nae hope health and contentment breed tolerance just as equal or breeds envy. Whew," he broke off. "Hasten to that wind snow fall before long."

Hurrying back to the Gregory house, Kathleen looked at the sky. Wind swept the dark blue arch sparkled with the stars that seemed so close in the thin mountain air. The mountains beyond the big house hunched black shoulders against the cutting breath of the north. Kathleen thought of the roofs of the Gregory cots and shivered.

A Crazy Idea

THE patients were quiet that night, no restless tossing, no apologetic pleas for water.

Bravely they tried to smother rasping coughs that their "Miss Cleo" might snatch a few moments rest.

But Kathleen couldn't rest. The mine nurse settled by a lamp with a book in her hand watched her. Once she checked her restless passing to feel her pulse and place an inquiring hand on her forehead.

"You'd better slow down, child, or we'll have you for a patient and we need you as a nurse."

"I'll try as soon as I have another look at Laura."

The child seemed sleeping when Kathleen, candle shaded by her hand, intoned in the covers were tumbled and one arm, a bony little arm, was thrown over her head. Kathleen tucked the arm under the covers.

Kathleen thought of that arm as she started down the upper hall. There was a light under Bridget's door. She knocked and entered. The Irish girl was sewing. "I'm making over that red flannel dress. Laura will look adorable in red."

Kathleen perched on the arm of the chair. "Dad says I have to return immediately," she announced.

Bridget looked startled.

The entire story told, Kathleen concluded. "But I'm not going, I'm not going to leave here until Laura's bones are decently covered with flesh."

"I can't go," Kathleen explained. "It's unfinished. I came here to accomplish something and I've done nothing but twiddle my thumbs. I've a feeling my people are going to need me. I'm not good for much of anything but fighting, but I can put up a good scrap."

Bridget who had looked up quickly at my people smiled. "You're telling me," she murmured. "I wonder who he'll send out to do the dirty work," she added. Kathleen knew she was referring to Angus Gregory.

"Some of his legal lights," sighed Kathleen. "I hope they'll enjoy their stay in The Gregorys."

Bridget looked around her room. It was cozy, colorful. Beside her typewriter lay the growing stack of manuscript.

"I suppose I'll have to retire to the tall timber," she sighed. "The whole legal staff knows me much too well. But anyone would be better than your father. Can't you imagine how he'd feel to find me here after he's searched both New York and Chicago to hire me back?"

Kathleen nodded. She could; she could even visualize the reception he'd give Bridget. She must find some way to check this legal invasion of Balmy's peace.

Returning to her night duties she carried a pad and pencil and during the waning hours wrote many letters, discarded them and sent the first.

It's a crazy idea and I won't be a party to it. Give me time and I'll get your old right-of-way without anything having to be closed down. I don't know why you put any faith in hear-say. Campbell isn't called Balmy without reason. He's not responsible.

And remember this, if you let any of those trained legal seals of yours recognize me as Kathleen Gregory, I'll find a way to stop anything you start. I intend to finish this job I've started without any interference. So warn them. No matter who comes out they are not to show any recognition whatsoever.

Aside from that I love you and I'm wondering why. Your disposition is worse than mine. Your own not-so-devoted daughter.

Kathleen

Thanksgiving

KATHLEEN did not go to the veranda to watch the sunrise the next morning. Instead, she went to bed to sleep soundly for many hours and then to dream of Donald MacDonald and a painted canyon, and of legal seals coming up from the stream to run Donald and herself to the caving tops of Gregory cots.

The days went sliding along and the snow held as though awaiting its cue to fall. Kathleen and Bridget felt as though they were awaiting some cue. Their patients returned home, the nurses returned to the mine, and life fell into routine.

The miniature castles Kathleen had designed for the Gregory miners were discarded and in their place she sketched and planned practical cottages, with jar closets and enough ground around each to grow vegetables for the jars.

There was also a community hall and in addition to the dance hall which could be turned into an auditorium, and the billiard room the MacDonald hall boasted there was a sewing room, nursery and kitchen.

Thanksgiving arrived and with it, Mrs. Donald MacDonald, Sr. She had written the girls asking them to join her family for Thanksgiving and they had accepted with pleasure.

Mrs. MacDonald called immediately upon her arrival in Neutrality, and Kathleen, greeting the gracious, silver-haired woman wondered how anyone as charming could have reared such an insolent son.

"Do you know," she confided to the girls, "I've lived in the other half of this house of and on, for thirty years but this is the first time I've ever been inside of this half. Donald's father was bitterly antagonistic towards the Gregorys. I thought the feud rather silly, but then I suppose one has to be born to a feud to feel its justification. I merely married into it."

Kathleen decided Donald took after his father.

It snowed Thanksgiving Eve and Kathleen awakened the next morning supremely happy. For a little while she lay in the warm nest of her bed watching flakes sift in through the open window.

The Gregorys would be happy this day. Balmy had agreed to Kathleen's plan of slipping five dollars to the head of each family for their Thanksgiving dinner. The Gregory store had buzzed with business the previous night.

Kathleen spent long and anxious moments scanning her scanty wardrobe, then chose a brown panne velvet frock, its only ornament a lacy ecru jabot. She brushed her hair until it shone like polished metal.

Taking a final whirl before the mirror, at four-thirty that afternoon, she felt she hadn't looked as well since she left New York.

And there she saw Bridget, a tall slender exquisite Bridget in black velvet, sophisticated, alluring. Kathleen felt like a school girl.

All Pitt County Scouts are looking forward to the overnight camp at the District Cabin just off the Farmville highway, three miles from Greenville. A number of Scoutmasters have already assured that their troop will be present.

In the Advancement contest that was announced last week a number of Scouts are already going up the ladder. Are you going to win one of those trips to Camp Charles?

Every troop has a good start on the American Flag contest. Troops 30 and 33 reported three or four new boys each Friday night and Johnnie Mosley, Scoutmaster, says just watch his registration blank when it turned in on November 1 for Troop 36.

Greenville and Pitt County Scouts are maintaining a First Aid tent at the Fair this week.

Scouts who need Life-Saving to be Eagles and Swimming to be Life Scouters, and Swimming to be First Class are to report to 521 Evans street, Greenville, by 4:00 P. M. Friday, October 21.

The Cubs have reorganized and are functioning very nicely. The Den Chiefs are Eustace Conway, E. Fifth street; Pat Corey, Library street; Percy Wells, 8th street; James Worsley, Eastern street; Sidnee Dunn, Greene street, and Carl Allgood, Dickinson avenue. If you are a Cub, or would like to be a Cub get in touch with the Den Chief in your neighborhood. The next Cub Pack meeting will be the second Tuesday in November.

Troop 36 will soon be ready to show the moving pictures of that memorable event, the State Jubilee. Be sure to see them.

Washington Daybook
 By Preston Grover

Washington — So many loopholes appear in the Johnson act that fiscal sharpshooters here predict that foreigners, if pressed for credit, could borrow immense sums here in spite of the act's restrictions in loans to debt-defeating nations.

In war time, of course, a different situation would prevail, as the Neutrality Act, when invoked, would prohibit loans of any kind to foreign nations or their nationals.

But the Johnson act was a peacetime loan embargo measure. It was passed by Congress in 1934 in the wake of a flood of defaults in payments on war debts and other debts.
 It prohibits foreign governments from borrowing money in this country as long as they are in default in their payments. Since every important European nation is in that predicament, it generally has been assumed that they could not borrow a red cent in the U. S.

War Crisis Brought Scrutiny
 The Czech war scare, coupled with talk of loans to help revive Czechoslovakia and perhaps other nations, has prompted a closer look.

The Johnson act, while prohibiting loans to debt-defeating governments does not prohibit loans to private concerns in those countries. Further, the attorney general has ruled that municipalities in the debtor countries can borrow here if their municipal bonds are not in default. For instance, the city of London, if not in default on its securities, can borrow here.

As a matter of fact, twelve billion dollars or more of American money now is invested abroad, exclusive of war debts. Americans invested more than $5,000,000,000 abroad during 1936 and 1937 although the net flow of capital was in this direction because of the rush of foreign investment in America.

May Run Into Billions
 With such openings through our credit barriers, the amount of buying which Europe could finance in this country is considerable. One important source said it might run to several times as much as the amount of the foreign money now invested in this country. These foreign investments here amount to about nine billion dollars.

Actual dollar credits in American banks and other "quick" credits owned by foreigners can be used at once if foreigners wish to buy American supplies. "Long term" credits, forming two-thirds of the total, would be converted into goods
 more slowly.

So far, this involves merely the spending of money already here, either earned here from abroad, or sent here for investment. But look what will happen.

A big order for goods is to be placed by an English firm for steel, clothes, tires, or airplanes. The American firm is told only part will be paid in cash, the rest in one, two or three year notes. The American manufacturer wants the job.
 Unless he is able to arrange the credit the English purchaser demands, he loses the contract. So, he asks his bank if it will buy the notes or lend him money on them
 so his capital will not be tied up.
 If the foreign company offering the buying is a substantial firm, such as the big British armament firm of Vickers, the bank may readily buy the notes and expect to rediscount them (get cash for them) at the Federal Reserve banks.

And thus a big line of borrowing could be launched.

Profits Change Views
 The extent to which such practices now are followed is unknown here. Probably it isn't large. If it grew to real proportions, likely enough the courts would be asked to rule whether such business was in violation of the spirit of the Johnson act. But if the business was proving profitable at the time, it is doubtful how long a court decision would stand in the way.
 Tremendous pressure would be put upon congress to wipe out the barrier entirely.

In fact, the pressure already being felt, not only to revise the Johnson act but to repeal it entirely so that the argument goes,
 "Let's see what can help along an

SHORT SHOTS

By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, Oct. 15.—Governor Clyde R. Hoey was autographing his picture for two ladies in the gubernatorial waiting room.
 "Aren't you going to sign them 'with love' or something like that?" queried a reporter who was watching the proceedings.
 "Oh, no," grinned the Governor, as he penned "Cordially" on one of the pictures.
 "I'm going to play safe because I remember the old saying, 'Do right and fear no man; don't write and fear no woman,'" he added.

State Extension Service exhibit at the State Fair last week pointed out that corn sold as grain brings about 60 cents a bushel but if fed livestock and sold as meat sells for about $1.25 a bushel.
 It neglected to add, however, what the grain will bring per bushel if converted into a well-known and potent beverage.

Dudley Bagley, Rural Electrification Authority director, was in conference with the Budget Bureau exactly 1 minute and 58 seconds when he presented his requests for funds for the next biennium.
 That is believed to be a record for brevity.

Incidentally he told the budget boys he isn't asking any increase in appropriations for his division. He actually and even cheerfully agreed that "if necessary" he could get along on less.

Thank goodness, there's one man who will admit he could stand a cut," said Mecklenburg's James A. Bell as Mr. Bagley left the room.

This needs a bit of explaining. More people visited the Great Smokies National Park this year from Ohio than any other State except Tennessee, which still leads all other states while North Carolina ranks third in number of visitors.
 Yet the park is largely in North Carolina and is as rich in scenic beauty as any comparable section of the world.

Governor Hoey has received a letter from Fritz Kuhn, national chairman of the German-American Bund marked "Personal."

Inside, however, was a many-page mimeographed circular addressed to "The Congress of the United States and all others whom it may concern."

Whole gist of the literature is that Mr. Kuhn isn't the big, bad Nazi he's been pictured before Dies Un-American Activity Committee; but on the contrary a great patriot and lover of this Sweet Land of Liberty.

North Carolina has received a "Certificate of Merit" because of "achievement in the regular annual observance of the National Negro Health Week, sponsored by the National Negro Health Movement." It has been announced by Dr. Carl V. Reynolds, State Health Officer.

Lieutenant T. A. Early, in charge of the Adult Drivers Education program here reports he has received requests recently from Tennessee, California and Louisiana officials asking how the joint WPA-Division of Highway Safety project is operated.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR PAROLE

Notice is hereby given that E. E. Eubanks, who was convicted on September 6, 1938, in the Pitt County Recorder's Court, on a charge of possessing whiskey for the purpose of sale, and sentenced to serve a term under the supervision of the State Highway Commission, is making application to the Pardon Commission of North Carolina for parole. Rudolph Sikora, known as the "perfect husband," is shown listening intently in court at Chicago as a jury was drawn to try him for the killing of his wife's sweetheart, Edward Solomon. Solomon was shot last August 22.

WITH WINGS AT HIS FINGERS and bells on his toes, four-month-old Edward "Jinx" Magoffin, Jr., who seems pretty serious about his future, seems destined to follow the air trails of his flying mother, Annette Gippson. RUSSIA PREPARES FOR WAR BY BUILDING NO-MAN'S LAND

Russia is trying something new in the way of defenses against Germany, diplomats report. It's a No-Man's-Land, ranging from a few to a hundred miles wide, along the border. In that strip trees are to be cut down—so that an invader would have no cover—and other preparations made against attack. The map gives an idea of what is to be done.

War Means Lease On Life For These 22 Chinese Desperadoes

Shanghai, Sept. 8 — (AP) — In Shanghai's Ward Road jail, the world's largest prison, twenty-two Chinese are living who would long since have been dead and buried but for the undeclared Sino-Japanese war.
 The twenty-two Chinese have all been sentenced to death for crimes committed within the International Concession but execution has been delayed through the fact that Japanese invaders have occupied all Chinese territory adjacent to the Settlement. Under the arrangement existing between the Settlement and Chinese Government authorities the executions must be carried out in Chinese territory.
 Shanghai Municipal Police officials are now attempting to solve the jail and execution problem with a request to the Chinese authorities in Shungking to modify the arrangement so that the men may be executed within the jail grounds.
 If and when the Chinese government grants the request the police must also secure approval from the Consular Body, composed of the consuls of the various powers, who play a dominant role in the international administration of this international settlement in China.

Prior to the outbreak of hostilities all Chinese found guilty of major crimes in the Settlement and ordered executed were—on the day set for their death—turned over to Chinese authorities. They were immediately taken to the "model prison" in Chinese territory where the execution occurred.

Japanese now occupy the "model prison" and all territory surrounding Shanghai, so that it is impossible to secure a court order to carry out the death sentence.

The twenty-two prisoners, some of whom have been awaiting death for nearly a year, were all convicted of armed robbery, murder, kidnapping or other crimes involving the death penalty under the Chinese law.

NO SET-UP FOR DUKE'S DEVILS

With One Exception, Remaining Foes Plenty Tough

Durham, Oct. 19.—While the Blue Devils have come through their first four games with a perfect record, those close to the situation have no fancy illusions about the remaining contests on the 1938 schedule.

Last Saturday, Duke's remaining foes, with one exception, scored impressive victories. Wake Forest, the team Duke meets at Winston-Salem Saturday, was beaten by those sophomores as a tough outfit and will be hard for any team to beat.

North Carolina's Tar Heels, who will be played at Chapel Hill October 29, upset N. Y. U.'s previously unbeaten Violets, 7-0, and looked like a great team doing so, according to reports from the Duke scouts.

Syracuse, the team that will be met at Syracuse on November 12, were impressive as they turned back Cornell's unbeaten horde, 17-19. The Orangemen remain undefeated.

N. C. State, which has looked good all season, whipped Wake Forest, 19-7. Duke and the Wolves, who always offer great games, meet in Duke Stadium November 19—Duke's next home contest.

And last on the Blue Devil schedule will be those mighty Panthers of Pittsburgh who rolled along over previously-undefeated Wisconsin, 26-6. The Duke-Pitt contest is billed for Duke Stadium on November 26 and there are few doubters but that the Panthers have the finest team in America.

While Wake Forest, bowed to N.

C. State Saturday night, the Deacons were very much in the game all the way and the statistics for the contest were just about even. The Deacons undoubtedly will give the Blue Devils all the can handle. The game at Winston-Salem will be the dedicatory contest for the new Bowman Gray Memorial stadium and the Twin City is making all the plans for a great day.

The Life of the Party now Looks it!

ABLEST OF THE EIGHTS is this mighty Buick Dynaflex Valve-in-Head Straight-Eight, with a cyclone in each cylinder to squeeze full power from every drop of fuel.

WHEN you've got something mighty good and know it, it's not easy to pass it up even for something better!

There's a whale of a temptation to play it safe, to coast along a while, when you're riding such a vote of confidence as we've had this year.

We had ample evidence from the start that our past season's good Buick was the life of the 1938 party.

Right through the darkest months it paced the industry in sales, setting a bright example that shone like a sudden sun smiling through the rain.

But itching in our heads and on our drawing boards were ideas.

NO OTHER CAR IN THE WORLD HAS ALL THESE FEATURES

- * DYNAFLEX VALVE-IN-HEAD STRAIGHT-EIGHT ENGINE
- * BUICOIL TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING
- * GREATER VISIBILITY
- * HANDSHIFTS TRANSMISSION
- * ROOMIER UNSTEEL BODIES BY FISHER
- * TORQUE-TUBE DRIVE
- * TIPTOE HYDRAULIC BRAKES

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Rail shares steamed ahead for moderate gains today after most other groups found the stock market upgrade too difficult.
Heavy profit taking checked a rise in motors, coppers, steels and other industrials and left prices well mixed as the fourth hour approached.
Transactions approximated 780,000 shares.
In bonds speculation fell down to an even jog.

carriers and it would be very useful for us superiors to obtain plans for these carriers' construction," Rumrich testified.
"He suggested that I write to Hamburg and that I be furnished with some stationery that would show it was official White House stationery."
"He said something about forwarding a letter to the construction chief of the United States Navy department, the letter bearing the forged signature of the President of the United States, but he did not elaborate on this plan."
"I told him I would try to get the stationery. He said there would be a lot of money in it if I could get the plans of the aircraft carriers, but he did not say how much."

At Hyde Park, N. Y., advices said President Roosevelt and Governor Lehman were in agreement on the administrator, issued definitions of professionals, executives, outside salesmen and persons engaged in a retail capacity, all of whom will be exempt from the fair labor standards act, which becomes effective on next Monday.

At the same time he announced that a person could ask for a revision of the definition and possibly would be granted a hearing.
"If the administrator believes that reasonable cause for amendment of the regulations is set forth," another hearing with due notice to the interested parties, or will make other provisions for affording them opportunity to present their views.
"In determining such future regulations, separate treatment for different industries and for different classes of employees, may be given consideration."
A marriage license was issued for Fred Morrison, Washington law partner of former Governor Max Gardner of North Carolina, and Miss Emma Neal McQueen, private secretary to Gardner.
Friends said the wedding probably would be Saturday.

At Hyde Park, N. Y., advices said President Roosevelt and Governor Lehman were in agreement on the form of the Democratic campaign in New York state, but whether support of the New Deal will figure in the campaign is a question that remains unanswered.

In Australia a vote must be taken every eight years on a proposal to abolish liquor licenses. If 60 percent favor it, all licenses except those of breweries must be canceled. This makes liquor sales illegal.
