FARMERS TOLD AAA PROGRAMS ARE ESSENTIAL

Wallace Says Control Necessary for Economic Life

ADDRESS HEARD BY MACON GROUP

Communes Programs to Ships in Sheltered Haven, Safe From Economic Storms

Macon, Ga., Nov. 17.—(AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace here today told cotton and tobacco growers that they must keep their AAA programs "if you want to save your economic life."

The secretary compared the AAA program to ships "in a sheltered haven away from the winds of the world's economic storm."

"Those winds are rising to a hurricane gale the force of which most of us in the United States do not yet appreciate," the secretary said.

"And so I say to both groups (cotton and tobacco farmers) stay by your ships and don't let anyone lure you off from it. Don't give up your ships if you want to save your economic life."

Wallace spoke on invitation of the United Georgia-Florida farmers and the Georgia Co-operative council. Georgia with other cotton and tobacco producing states will vote December 10 on the question of continued marketing quotas on cotton and flue tobacco for 1939.

The secretary reminded Georgia tobacco growers that their income from the 1938 crop was the largest on record "even after penalties in connection with the marketing quotas are paid."

"As in the case of flue cured tobacco growers generally," he said "the income of Georgia growers in the last five years has been more than doubled that received during the previous five years."

The present income situation in respect to cotton, he said, "is not quite so good as it was in the four years of 1933 to 1937, but it is still nearly twice as good as it was in 1932."

But, he said, the government payments, together with the cotton loan, the acreage adjustment program and the marketing quotas, provide the cotton growing industry as I said a moment ago with a haven in time of storm."

Officers Locate Still in Falkland Township

J. M. Ward and J. L. Taylor, special Pitt county ABC officers, today destroyed parts of a still found in Falkland township.

The two officers evidently were seen by the operators when they went within a short distance of the plant Monday without finding it, and the kettle and worm had been moved.

Other equipment and supplies for the manufacture of whiskey, however, were found at the scene, and destroyed by dynamite. One hundred gallons of malt found at the plant also was destroyed. The officers reported the still was equipped with a double oil burner.

Mrs. J. F. Davenport Breaks Hip in Fall

Mrs. J. F. Davenport, who fell in her kitchen yesterday afternoon, was reported by hospital attaches this morning to have suffered a broken hip.

Mrs. Davenport was taken to the hospital immediately after she slipped on a wet linoleum floor. The extent of her injuries were not determined until this morning when X-ray examinations were made.

Things Really Got Hot

Tulsa, Okla.—(AP)—Papers in the mayor's waste basket caught fire, Ira Pileher, NYA director, who was in the office, raced for a glass of water but Fred Pylett, the secretary, tossed the basket out the window before the blaze could spread.

Pitt Project

Raleigh, Nov. 17.—(AP)—The WPA today announced allocations of about $22,000 for nine projects to put 902 persons at work.

CALLS MEET

J. H. Waldrop, president of the Pitt County Tuberculosis Association, has called a meeting of the organization for December 1 at which time the annual seal sale will be discussed and other business taken up.

MAKING PLANS FOR SEAL SALE

Pitt Tuberculosis Association Sponsors Campaign

Plans are being made for the annual tuberculosis seal sale in Pitt county, following the appointment of Dr. N. Thomas Ennett, county health officer, as chairman of the sale.

Dr. Ennett was re-appointed to the chairmanship by Dr. R. L. Carlton, managing director of the North Carolina Tuberculosis Association.

J. H. Waldrop, president of the Pitt County Association has called a meeting of the organization for December 1 at 7:30 o'clock at the Woman's club building at which time progress of the current sale will be discussed, among other things.

The meeting has been arranged through Mrs. Hortense Moyer, president of the health department of the woman's club of this city.

In addition to Mr. Waldrop as president, other officers of the association are W. J. Smith, first vice president; J. R. Turnage, second vice president; and Vance Perkins, treasurer. The directors are county-wide and are as follows: J. H. Coward, K. T. Futrell and J. N. Williams.

One of the functions of the association is the sponsorship of the annual seal sale, which will start in a few days. The seal sale in Pitt county is growing in popularity, last year having been the most successful in the history of the work.

Negro Man Held For Shooting Sweetheart

Alex Duncan, Belvoir township Negro, is being held in jail on a charge of shooting Nellie Mae Barnes, Negro woman, as she lay in bed last night.

Sheriff J. Knott Procter said the man shot the Negro woman, with whom he had been keeping company, because she was seen with another man. He said the Negro admitted shooting the woman. He is alleged to have walked up to the steps and shot her, the shot number eight, entering her hip and arm. She is not believed to be seriously wounded.

Money Set Aside For Building At Prison

Raleigh, Nov. 17.—(AP)—The Highway and Public Works commission voted today to set aside enough money, maybe $200,000, from the PWA fund for buildings, to erect an industrial building at Central prison here.

The $1,000,000 PWA fund was first set aside, Chairman Frank Dunlap said, for prison camps, but it was found it would not all be needed for that purpose, so the industrial building will be erected.

Three Negroes Steal Dinners and Chickens

Members of the sheriff's office this morning arrested three Negroes, charged with stealing lunches from the English Chapel Negro school yesterday and also with stealing chickens.

The trio was said by the sheriff to have taken the children's lunches and then to have stolen chickens from Mrs. Lena Stocks and Mrs. Earl Stocks, both of whom live near Greenville off the Ayden highway.

The three Negroes, being held in jail, are Chick Riddick, Anthony Coward and Louis Wilcox.

DALADIER MAY RULE WITHOUT LOWER HOUSE

Premier Reported Be Considering Dissolution of Body

SEEKS TO EFFECT A 3-YEAR PLAN

Socialists and Communists, Meanwhile, Mass to Fight Decrees of Cabinet

Paris, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Premier Daladier was reported by deputies today to be planning to dissolve the Chamber of Deputies and rule France for a time without Parliament if it refuses to ratify his "three-year plan" for reviving French economy.

Such a step was reported under consideration as Socialists and Communists massed forces to fight the cabinet's economic and financial decrees and as a general confederation of labor with an enrollment of 5,000,000 workers, called for a general strike if necessary to defeat the decrees.

President LaBran, Daladier and Finance Minister Paul Reynaud scheduled fresh radio appeals to the nation for backing of their program raising taxes, lengthening working hours and speeding industry.

Deputies said Daladier's projected dissolution of the chamber, rumored frequently in the last month, was disclosed in parts by the Premier to the governing committee of his Radical Socialist party.

If his decree laws do not get immediate ratification when the lower house meets December 6 he would dissolve it. Under the constitution he is empowered to wait six months before calling a newly elected chamber.

SIMMS CHOSEN BAPTIST HEAD

Again Selected President North Carolina Convention

Raleigh, Nov. 17.—(AP)—R. N. Simms, Sr. of Raleigh, today was re-elected President of the North Carolina Baptist State convention.

The delegates chose Dr. Hoyt Blackwell, president of Mars Hill college, as their first vice-president, advancing him from the third vice-presidency, and putting Dr. A. J. Barton of Wilmington in as second vice-president. Dr. Barton has been first vice-president this year and succeeds Dr. G. W. Paschal, of Wake Forest.

Dr. B. A. Bowers of Gastonia was elected third vice-president. The convention authorized the committee on pensions to continue its negotiations with the board of relief and annuity of the Southern Baptist Convention regarding pensions for ministers over 65 years of age.

The three-day convention was adjourned after it was voted to dedicate the forthcoming annual publication to the late Dr. William L. Poteat, a former president of the convention and of Wake Forest college, and to the late Dr. J. S. Farmer, editor of the Biblical Recorder when he died.

A committee headed by Dr. J. L. Peacock of Tarboro met this afternoon to consider selection of an editor for the Biblical Recorder, which the convention yesterday voted to buy. It was indicated it might be some months before the editor is chosen.

SHERIFF SELLS PRISONERS CANDY

Decatur, Ill.—(AP)—Sheriff Emory Thornell sees that some of his county jail prisoners get candy—if they can pay for it.

He got the idea from an inmate who said that the only thing the jail needed was candy for prisoners "coming off a drunk."

"A man shut off from his liquor craves something sweet," the prisoner said, "and if you satisfy that craving you will create a better prisoner."

The sheriff tried it and found the theory worked well. So now Deputy Sheriff Lloyd Smith, night turnkey, gets candy for the prisoners wishing to buy it.

Each American farmer produces food and fibre for an average of three and a half persons in town.

DOCTOR TRIED FOR KIDNAPING

Dr. Kent W. Berry, society physician, and his wife are shown in the court room at Olympia, Washington, during his trial on charges that he kidnaped and tortured Irving Baker, former Coast Guard officer, whom the doctor accused of showing attentions to Mrs. Berry.

Jews In Germany Would Enter U.S.

Berlin, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Prominent Jews suggested today that the United States "mortgage" the German immigration quota for the next three years and accept 81,000 Jews immediately.

Frankly trying to arrange refuge from the Nazi laws against them, they pleaded that America, England, France and Germany permit the Jewish population to emigrate without passports and visas "because of the acute need."

The Jews kept away from population centers today, afraid that the funeral at Dusseldorf of Ernst vom Rath might lead to more violence like that of last week.

Jews estimated today that 56,000 of their number had been arrested, an increase from the 40,000 figure they gave yesterday.

The first reaction to President Roosevelt's press conference statement of plans for an air force that could defend both North and South America came in an editorial published in Chancellor Hitler's newspaper.

It said the President pictured an "imaginary menace" to America and that "suspicions were cast on other powers in the interest of United States armaments."

DUKE MEETING HEARS DANIELS

Editor Says South Holds Both Threat And Promise

Durham, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Jonathan Daniels, editor of the News and Observer at Raleigh, described the South today as holding both a "threat and promise" for America due to its problems, which he said are problems of the nation.

Daniels spoke at an afternoon session of a two-day symposium at Duke university on "The Changing Economic Base of the South." Professor Howard Odum of the University of North Carolina, and Gerald Johnson of the Baltimore Sun, also spoke.

Tomorrow Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace will head four speakers. "Does the South Constitute a Peculiar Economic Problem?" was Daniels' topic. Last year he toured the South to get data for a book.

Local Clubs Take Part In Observance Of Book Week

Judges of National Book Week displays in local store windows today awarded first prize ribbon to the exhibit in Blount-Harvey's window, prepared by the Sans Souci club.

Second place was won by the Athenium club with its display in Batchelor's window, while third place was won by the Garden club display in Hill Home's window.

Other exhibits by various clubs were in show windows at the Ideal beauty shop, Nesbit's, Smith's Electric company and Heber Forbes.

A display also was arranged at Sheppard Memorial library in connection with National Book Week, but this was not included in the competition.

FUNERAL HELD FOR MURDERED NAZI DIPLOMAT

Rites of Martyr Held For Assassinated Vom Rath

VON RIBBENTROP PRAISES VICTIM

Foreign Minister Says Reich Understands Challenge and Accepts It

Duesseldorf, Germany, Nov. 17.—(AP)—With a challenge to the world, the Nazis gave a martyr's funeral today to the assassinated diplomat Ernst vom Rath.

Adolf Hitler, many other high officials and the whole nation—by radio—heard Foreign Minister Von Ribbentrop close a funeral oration with an ominous repetition of the words the Reichsfuehrer himself used on a like occasion in 1936.

"We understand the challenge and accept it," Vom Rath was killed by a young Jew in the German embassy in Paris last week. The death touched off a wave of anti-semitic violence in Germany.

Today's impressive ceremonies in the Rheinland hall recalled the funeral at which Hitler spoke of Wilhelm Gustloff, Nazi organizer in Switzerland, who was killed in February 1936, by a young gangster student. That event precipitated intensified anti-semitism. German Jews expected new action and restrictive measure to follow the burial today.

Vom Ribbentrop and others extolled the young embassy secretary as a blood witness to the Nazi cause. They vowed the fight against international Jewry would be unrelenting.

HEAD ENGINEER TO COME HERE

Gen. Schley, U. S. A., To Inspect Tar River Project

Major General Julian L. Schley, Chief of Engineers, United States Army, will visit the Eastern section of the state and inspect the North Carolina Engineer District the first of December, according to an announcement made today by Major George Gillette, District Engineer at Wilmington.

The Chief of the United States Engineering Department is expected to board the Engineer yacht Falcon at Old Point Comfort, Va., about December 1 and proceed through the Inland Waterway to Florida. Stops will be made in North Carolina at Manteo, Hatteras, Ocracoke, Belhaven and Washington to inspect the various river and harbor projects and other activities in the North Carolina district. Arrangements are being made by the Wilmington office to take the General on an inspection of the navigation project between Washington and Greenville and the flood control work now being carried on between Tarboro and Dupree Landing.

While here General Schley will confer with Congressman Lindsay C. Warren on matters pertaining to navigation in the First Congressional District.

General Schley was former Governor General of the Panama Canal Zone. He was appointed to that office in 1932 by the President and held it, with the exception of a brief intermission when he was Commandant of the Engineer school until he was appointed Chief of Engineers, United States Army.

General Schley was born in Savannah, Ga., and graduated from United States Military Academy at West Point in 1903. He is a Southerner of the Old South, loves it and plans to return to his old ancestral home in Savannah when he completes his present tour as Chief of Engineers, United States Army. He has a distinguished military record, both before and during the World War, as well as an enviable record on civilian and civic engineer activities. During the course of his career he has been Instructor of civil and military engineering at West Point, Assistant Chief Engineer of the Army of Cuban Pacification, Assistant Engineer and Executive of the Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia. During the World War he was in command of the 307th Engineers in France, Division Engineer of the 82nd Division and Corps Engineer for the 5th Army Corps. He was awarded the Distinguished Service Medal for have been using and enjoying the library we especially invite you to come in during the present week.

"If you have not as yet availed yourselves of the services of the library, we urge you to do so and would like for you to begin now.

"We believe we have books, pamphlets and magazines that will help you in your daily work, recreation and leisure. We shall be pleased to have you visit the library and take out a free membership card.

"As an added service to the people of Pitt County the library has just secured for a period of two months through the PWA a book-movable or book truck. This truck is equipped with 1,500 books and will visit every section of Pitt County to make these books readily available to those citizens who do not find it convenient to get into the library so often. The book truck will be in charge of an experienced worker who will be glad to give suggestions and advice to any prospective reader. While the truck is being furnished by the PWA it is being operated under the sponsorship of the Sheppard Memorial Library and we are bearing the cost of operation. We are very pleased indeed to be able to offer this added and unusual service to the people of the county.

DISTRICT MEET SET FOR CITY

Medical Society To Hold Next Session in Greenville

Greenville was chosen as the next meeting place of the Second District of the North Carolina Medical Society at the organization's semi-annual session in Kinston last night.

Dr. N. Thomas Ennett, Pitt county health officer, was named president of the group, and Dr. F. E. Brooks, also of Greenville, was elected secretary of the society.

Last night's meeting was held at the Kinston country club, with the Lenoir county society as host. Several papers of scientific interest were read at the meeting.

The meeting also was addressed by Dr. J. Buren Sidbury of Wilmington, president of the State Medical Society, and by Dr. T. W. M. Long of Roanoke Rapids, secretary of the state organization.

Pitt county doctors who attended the meeting, besides Drs. Ennett and Brooks, were W. I. Wooten, S. M. Crisp, K. B. Pace, J. N. Nobles, D. M. Armstead, F. B. Harr and T. M. Watson, of Greenville.

J. M. Newborn of Farmville and M. T. Frizzelle, R. C. Smith and G. G. Dixon of Ayden.

Ten northeastern Carolina counties are included in the second district.

Payments Made on Old Age Insurance

Old-age insurance claims certified for payment in October totaled 17,515. George N. Adams, Manager of the Rocky Mount Field Office of the Social Security Board announced today. Payments averaged $61.81, the highest monthly average reached since the old-age insurance system became effective January 1, 1937.

Claims filed from the start of the program in January 1937 to the end of this October total 234,083, and represent payments of $9,622,360.86. Of this amount, $1,082,621.42 is in payment of claims certified in October.

The old-age insurance claims now being paid go to wage earners who have reached the age of 65 and to the heirs of those who have died. Each is a lump-sum payment to 3 1/2 per cent of the total taxable wages paid to the wage earner. Monthly payments to retired workers are scheduled under the Social Security Act to start in 1942.

In the State of North Carolina there were filed during the month of October a total of 274 claims, for an average of $39.67.

Negro Returned Here In January Shooting

George Lee, Negro, accused of shooting Tom Little, another local Negro on January 1 of this year, was returned here today from Franklin county, where he has just completed serving a term.

Lee is alleged to have shot Little with a shotgun and then to have fled this section, and no trace of him was found until he got into trouble at Louisiana and was sentenced to the roads. Local officers went for the Negro today.

CAUTION NOTE INJECTED INTO 1939 OUTLOOK

Prominent Federal Economist Sees a Slight Setback

EXPECTS DECLINE TO BE TEMPORARY

Treasury, Meantime, States Public Debt at New Peak of $38,527,824,089

Washington, Nov. 17.—(AP)—A prominent federal economist injected a note of caution today into the frequent optimistic business forecasts for next year.

The economist, who asked that his name not be used, said he and a number of other statisticians in and out of the government expected a slight and temporary industrial downturn in the first quarter of 1939, followed by a resumption of recovery in the second quarter.

His opinion contrasted with the statement of Secretary of Commerce Roper yesterday that "the fundamentals of business are in a more encouraging condition than they have been for a long time."

"Another view came recently from Colonel Leonard Ayres, Cleveland banker, who said it was not yet certain "whether this business recovery will prove to be relatively long duration and vigorous development, or be instead comparatively brief and restricted."

The anonymous federal economist estimated that industrial production, as measured by the Federal Reserve Board index, is now back to 100 per cent of the 1923-25 average, up 24 points from the 1938 low of 76 in May. 12 points higher than a year ago, and higher than at any time since the 103 mark of October 1937.

Other developments: Treasury figures disclosed the public debt had reached a new record high of $38,527,824,089 in the first four and a half months of the fiscal year which began July 1.

Secretary Hull proudly predicted that "lasting satisfaction" will follow the signing of a vast commercial accord between the United States, Great Britain and Canada.

Shortly before high officials of the participants went to the White House to put their names to reciprocal agreements embracing a total American trade of $1,500,000,000 a year, Hull declared.

"I think that we may be pardoned for rejoicing that success has crowned our efforts and that these two splendid trade agreements are to be signed in the next few hours," Richard Eager of Detroit told house investigators that communists dominated the Westside local of the United Automobile Workers union in Detroit, as well as the union unit in the plant where he works.

A wily Irishman with a brogue, Eager was a witness before the committee investigating un-American activities.

Kiwanians to Name New Slate of Officers

The Annual Election of officers and directors will be held at the regular meeting of the Kiwanis club on Friday evening 6:30 o'clock. President, vice-president, and four new directors are to be elected. Retiring directors are Nat Harrison, Dick Bundy, "Twist" Matthews and Hicks Corey.

The meeting this week will also be featured by a Thanksgiving message from Kiwanian W. A. Ryan, a report from the delegates to the Spartanburg District convention, and a few words from Lt. Governor Elect William J. Bundy. The program will be in charge of the Business Standards Committee Ed Batchelor, chairman, Herman Duncan, and Arthur Elwanger.

Mrs. Tripp in Hospital.
Mrs. Connor Tripp is quite ill in Pitt General Hospital.

Miss James Honored.
Mrs. J. S. Ficklen was charming hostess at a beautiful luncheon on Wednesday, complimenting Miss Lucy James, whose marriage to Mr. Francis Fries Willingham will take place on November 26th.

Upon arrival, guests were greeted by the hostess and Miss James and invited into the spacious living room and library, which were lovely with decorations of yellow and lavender chrysanthemums, with yellow the predominating color.

Place cards suggestive of the approaching wedding, marked the tables. A delicious three-course luncheon was served.

Mission Study Class To Meet.
The Woman's Missionary Society of Memorial Baptist Church, will hold their mission study class in the Baraca room on Friday, November 18th, from 10:30 a. m. to 3:00 p. m. Lunch will be served at the parsonage. Miss Louise Carter, educational director of the church, will teach the book "For This Cause." All members are urged to attend.

Mrs. White Hostess.
Mrs. Samuel Tilden White was hostess to the Sans Souci Club and a large number of guests at her home on Tuesday afternoon. Lovely fall chrysanthemums in yellow and pink graced the music room and library.

business session of the club was held, after which the hostess and club members greeted the guests. Mrs. W. L. Hall graciously welcomed the visitors and presented Mrs. Judson Blount who introduced the guest speaker, Miss Gertrude Carraway, who through the newspapers has acquainted the state with the interesting history of New Bern and other spots of North Carolina of historical significance.

The speaker gave the history of drama in North Carolina, and prefaced this with the development of drama from the days of Pericles to Shakespeare, tracing its inception in America, till the birth of the Carolina Playmakers, whose twentieth anniversary will soon be celebrated in Chispa Hill. The club was keenly interested in her discussion of drama in North Carolina; that the first record of drama in the colonies was made at Wilmington; the mother of Edgar Allan Poe once acted in a Wilmington play house; that the oldest theatre in America still in use was the Masonic Theatre in New Bern; that North Carolina had the first state supported drama in the Carolina Playmakers; that Frederick Koch meant more to the American stage than Belasco.

At the conclusion of the talk, Mr. Ed Parkerson and Mrs. Herbert Waldrop rendered a beautiful musical program. Mr. Parkerson sang as solos, "Still as the Night," by Bohn, and "Drink To Me Only With Thine Eyes." As a duet, Mrs. Waldrop and Mr. Parkerson sang Schubert's "Serenade."

Guests were invited into the dining room where Mrs. Key Brown and Mrs. T. H. Boykin from a beautifully appointed table, centered with a silver bowl of pink snapdragons and white roses, flanked by silver candelabra with pink candles, served a delicious salad course, with salad accompaniments and coffee. Assisting Mrs. White in serving were Mrs. M. L. Wright, Mrs. W. L. Best,

Mrs. C. S. Forbes, Mrs. G. B. W. Hadley and Mrs. J. H. Blount. Out-of-town guests included Miss Gertrude Carraway, Mrs. Richard Duffey and Mrs. E. L. Hillman of New Bern; Mrs. Kemp Battle, Mrs. Willard Jones and Mrs. N. J. Fleming of Rocky Mount; Mrs. Paul Borland and Mrs. Will Spicer of Goldsboro; Mrs. John Gold of Wilson; Mrs. Isabel Hoey; Mrs. J. B. Spillman and Mrs. F. J. Forbes of Raleigh; Mrs. W. B. Murphy of Snow Hill; Mrs. Walter La Roque, Mrs. Tom Galbreath and Mrs. Dan Quinerly of Kinston; Mrs. Garland Brown of Chicago; Mrs. William McDowell of Scotland Neck; Mrs. John Stator and Mrs. Henry Stator of Bethel; Miss Nancy Coughenour of Salisbury.—Reported.

Present Play At College.
A "mountaineer womanless wedding," presented last night at the college by the local chapter of the Phi Sigma Pi fraternity, furnished the audience a great many laughs as the smallest "groom" to be found on the campus (Ray Pruette) was ushered in the point of a pistol to be joined to the tiny and blushing six-foot bride, Emmett Sawyer.

The wedding opened with a trio by the flower girls: Leo Burks, John David Bridgers, and Harvey Deal. Miss Discord, represented by Billy Daniel "sung" the bridal solo, "I Love You Truly." After this the bride, gowned in black slipper satin, with a white veil and a train of eight yards of cheese cloth, slowly approached the altar, while the groom was brought by the best man, Dr. Beecher Flanagan, and the brothers and friends of the bride, armed with pistols.

The Rev. Marrying Sam (Vance Chadwick) officiated. After the ceremony, the "happy couple" left for unannounced parts of the campus.

Inter Se Club Meets.
Quaint old St. Augustine, at one time scene of much bloodshed and many hardships, has been under the rule of Spain, English and the United States, according to a scholarly paper given Tuesday at the Inter Se Club by Mrs. Robert Coleman. The title of her paper was "The Historical Background of St. Augustine as Related to Our American Heritage." The speaker declared that Spain was filled with dreamers in the fifteenth and early sixteenth centuries, among whom were Columbus and Ponce de Leon. Leon was a member of Columbus' crew on his second voyage to the New World, and was soon made governor of Puerto Rico. In 1513 he set out to discover the Fountain of Youth believed by the Indians to be located in the vicinity of the site that now is St. Augustine.

Mrs. Coleman went on to say that the French settled at what was called Fort Caroline on the St. John's river somewhat north of St. Augustine, but this colony was soon destroyed by Menedez, a Spaniard noted for his cruelty and cunning. Earlier he had founded the first permanent Spanish colony where Ponce de Leon is supposed to have landed. On the pretext of sailing to Africa to buy slaves, a Frenchman came over to avenge the massacre of the French colonists. He made friends with the Indians and together they killed many Spaniards and completely demolished Fort Caroline. Also Sir Francis Drake came to St. Augustine for revenge because of a loss of English ships due to Spanish piracy. He robbed the town and burned St. Augustine.

In 1665 the Buccaneers attacked; in 1762 an attack was made by Moore of South Carolina; in 1740 Oglethorpe, governor of Georgia, attacked. Cuba sent aid to the Spaniards and Oglethorpe was forced to return to Georgia defeated.

In 1763 England was given Florida after it had belonged to Spain for two hundred years. Throughout the American Revolution Florida was loyal to England and remained so, refusing to secede to the United States. In spite of her loyalty she received word in 1783 that she had been given back to Spain. United States bought Florida then, and the government attempted to force the Indians westward. Mrs. Coleman related a story of the two Indian chiefs, Osceola and Coacoochee, and the treatment which they received at the hands of the Americans is a blot on United States history. The Indians finally were forced away from the land which they loved so well.

The speaker ended her talk with a description of famous spots in the city today. They included the oldest house and the oldest school in St. Augustine, and also Fort Marion which is the oldest fort in this country and one that has never been taken by an enemy. She passed pictures of interest for club members to enjoy.

Following the talk and a short business session the hostess, Mrs. L. M. Buchanan, assisted by Miss Lela Higgs, served delightful refreshments. Guests for the afternoon were Mrs. W. H. Northrop of Wilmington, Mrs. Gilbert and Miss Jane Lyerly.—Reported.

Cho Book Club Meets.
Mrs. Aubrey Shackell was hostess to the Cho Book club at the home of her mother, Mrs. Hortense Moye on Tuesday afternoon. A number of guests from Tarboro were present, also Mrs. Willard Kyzer and Mrs. Rogers of Durham, mother of Mrs. Needham Ward.

The president called the attention of the members to the window displays in observance of Book Week.

Mrs. Shackell had charge of the program. She presented Mrs. James and Miss Fullilove who sang two selections, accompanied by Miss Ona Shindler.

Mrs. Jesse Moye read a most interesting paper on the history and restoration of Williamsburg. After the exchange of books, the guests were invited into the dining room to a beautifully appointed table where Mrs. Jesse Moye and Mrs. Joe Moye served a delicious salad and sweet course.—Reported.

DEMOCRACY AND LIBERTY
To The Editor:
I was taught in school that Democracy was a form of government of the people, by the people, and for the people, but I have a different name for it. Where is the voice of the people when we are forced by pressure to vote as some landholder, or other source, tells us to vote. When a big business man, merchant or farmer, warns his tenants if they don't support the New Deal they will have to move the day after they vote, the frightened tenant knows nothing else to do. But to the tenants, are you going to vote against what you know is right? Hold your chin up. Vote to suit yourself. The poor man's privileges are plenty scarce now; certainly we want a little say-so of our own. Don't be bluffed. Don't think for one minute, that the big guy who tells you how to vote is going to cultivate the soil. Always remember there will be land for you to tend, Health's Biennial Report, particularly necessary supplies to do it with, lily with a passage from it which The little farmer is the backbone of the universe.

Sometimes when we vote it is like building a house. Once we give the builder a contract, he builds it any style he likes. By the time he finishes his touches, we don't even know he has gone by the pattern we gave him.
Let's take a stand for Liberty. Where is Liberty? She must be dead. Why? Because Mr. Congress has been slowly choking her for the last few years. How? With that New Deal around her neck. Couldn't we get some great physician to revive her before it is forever too late? Yes, and that great physician is the great mass of people who should vote as they please. Only until the foes of liberty are conquered will we be able to do on the farm as we please again.

SHORT SHOTS

By HENRY AVERILL
Reflector Bureau.
Raleigh, Nov. 17.—Compilation of the results of all ABC liquor referenda into one list shows how well-founded is the belief that if the entire state were to vote on the prohibition question there isn't any doubt it would go dry by a heavy margin.

The liquor votes are listed in the State ABC board's first annual report, recently released. According to this list, 35 counties voted, with 25 going for control and 10 rejecting it. In these counties the total vote for ABC stores was 91,233, the total against was 59,304. While this majority of 31,929 for control may look imposing, it should be remembered that these are the "wettest" counties in North Carolina, and if the state as a whole were to vote, there wouldn't be a Chinaman's chance of the state as a whole favoring control.

The ABC board's list did not include Catawba nor Orange, which voted overwhelmingly dry since June 30; nor the figures on Alleghany, which was carried by prohibitionists by a comfortable margin.

The following facts probably belong in the "So What" category, but they may furnish food for thought.

The closest ABC election was in Dare county, which went for control by only six votes (651 to 645). The most overwhelming wet county was Wilson, which voted for ABC stores nearly 10 to 1 (4,147 to 428). The slimmest dry margin in the ten counties which didn't go for stores was 22 in Person (1,091 for to 1,113 against); and the most preponderantly dry county was Columbus where the prohs were in the majority by more than 2 to 1 (2,922 to 1,325).

Bill Richardson swears he didn't write it—says he had nothing at all to do with the State Board of Health's Biennial Report, particularly necessary supplies to do it with, lily with a passage from it which The little farmer is the backbone

A Three Days' Cough Is Your Danger Signal
No matter how many medicines you have tried for your common cough, chest cold, or bronchial irritation, you may get relief now with Creomulsion. Serious trouble may be brewing and you cannot afford to take a chance with any remedy less potent than Creomulsion, which goes right to the seat of the trouble and aids nature to soothe and heal the inflamed mucous membranes and to loosen and expel germ-laden phlegm.
Even if other remedies have failed, don't be discouraged, try Creomulsion. Your druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not thoroughly satisfied with the benefits obtained. Creomulsion is one word, ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief you want. (Adv.)

State Treasurer Charles M. Johnson is today explaining to the National Association of State Auditors, Comptrollers and State Treasurers, in convention assembled at Biloxi, Miss., just how North Carolina's Local Government Commission has handled the refinancing of local units indebtedness so that we now have only four counties and thirty-five small towns which have not been able to remove their default by refinancing operations.
It was not necessary in all our refunding operations, Mr. Johnson is telling them, to reduce the principal of the debts and all refunding bonds have been issued par for par for the outstanding obligations refunded.

The Supreme Court has a very slim calendar for next week—which will probably make it a jollier Thanksgiving for the Justices and for the staff of the court division.
Twelve regularly and one specially set cases are on the program for oral argument, beginning Tuesday morning. Two of the cases are criminal (neither capital), the rest civil. The Eighth and Thirteenth Districts are to be called, with cases from the Eighth only to be heard Tuesday.

THE ARMY POST MURDERS

By Virginia Hanson

The Characters

Katherine Cornish, myself, visiting Elizabeth on a mid-western Army post. Elizabeth, Colonel Wright's daughter. Adam Drew, acting commanding officer.

Yesterday: Adam questions Mary Shaw.

Chapter 12 A Different Slant

"YOU knew her," Adam said simply. "For some time I have thought she was unhappy, tormented. Do you know why?" She made a little artificial gesture with her long, brittle hands. "Anne was not the confiding sort. One knows, of course, certain things from experience. It is not always easy to choose between two men. One falters from inflicting a severe hurt. Here you questioned young Spencer?"

I missed Adam's answer. The blood was singing in my ears. My pencil rolled free in my lap and I had to fumble for it in the semi-darkness. By the time I found it Adam had launched a counter-attack.

"Your husband and Nelson were classmates, I believe. Did you know him at the Point?" There was a perceptible pause, but the answer, when it came seemed candid—almost too candid.

"Yes, I had been engaged to Phil for some months when I met Barney. I said just now that I could understand Anne's problem. Believe me, I too, was very unhappy until I found the right solution. I tell you this, of course, in the strictest confidence. Not for the world would I have let Anne know of it. I was very happy that he had found the right girl at last—in fact, I may say I fostered the romance. Poor Barney. One might almost believe it an adverse fate!"

Adam made clucking noises and searched her face with his brilliant eyes. He had another question for her. Confidently, what did she think of Barney's brief flury with Elizabeth?"

She got out of that one rather neatly without casting a shadow on Elizabeth, who, after all, was the daughter of the commanding officer. I could not help reflecting that Mary Shaw would have made an able wife for a diplomat.

According to her the thing was vastly overrated. Anne had sent Barney away until she could test her own feelings and make up her mind. Barney had sought companionship and sympathy from Elizabeth until Anne dismissed Charlie and called him back. This she admitted to be surmise; Anne had confided in no one.

It was a singularly apt surmise, I reflected. If true—and I admitted the theory was plausible—Charlie was the only logical suspect.

Suddenly my mind was illuminated by a flash of memory. Was it really only that afternoon that I had leafed through the Hotspur and found Barney's and Shaw's biographies? Clearly I recalled the last terse, descriptive phrase under Shaw's picture:

"Chief claim to distinction: the man who tried to spoil Swede's beauty."

I must tell Adam about that at once. I gathered my scribbled sheets and waited, tense, for Mary Shaw to effect her lingering departure. Certain formalities must be observed, mutual sympathy and helpfulness expressed. I rose impatiently and stood just behind the curtains, while Adam ceremoniously ushered her out.

Short, Bull-Dog Figure

BUT I had no opportunity to impart my scrap of information, for the subject of it followed Adam unobtrusively into the room, wearing his most petulant, defensive scowl.

It sat down again and studied him—a short, bulldog figure who might be effective in a scrap. Why had he mixed with Barney? Over Mary? But what connection could that have with murdering Anne?

Once more I watched, with envy, Adam's peculiar talent for putting people at ease. Shaw did not refuse a cigarette. Adam leaned comfortably back, legs crossed, and talked through the smoke that made a blue veil between them. He asked no questions; he told Shaw what he had been doing, with an air of thinking aloud, and presently the younger man relaxed his defensive attitude and put in a word.

"Say, what did you do to Wheeler? He came out looking like he had seen a ghost, and they hadn't got out of the club before that battle-axe mother of his was pumping him hot and heavy."

"Did she get anything out of him?" Adam asked idly.

"Not that I could hear," Shaw admitted frankly. "His jaw was shut like a steel trap. What was it all about?"

"He just talked out of turn," Shaw snickered. "I figured it might be that. He'd be sure to bring it up."

Adam put both feet on the floor. "What do you mean?" "The same thing you mean. I don't know how you missed hearing about it before. He's shot off his mouth enough since it happened."

"You mean—about Anne?" "Yeah. Now don't get sore at me too. I know all about it, and it's true enough as far as it goes. Only it was a put-up job, and Wheeler doesn't know that."

Adam eyed him coldly. "Go on." "Well, you see, it was several weeks, maybe a couple months ago—about the time Charlie Spencer started dragging her. We had some house guests and Charlie and Anne dropped in. You know the Wheelers live in the other half of our quarters and Anne saw him sitting by the window reading when they arrived. Ma Wheeler had gone to Chicago on a shopping spree. Don't know how she could bear to let her little boy out of her sight, but she's got him pretty well trained. You know he's not allowed to mingle with us bad boys and girls."

"Well, Anne said there was poor Wheeler all alone over there listening to the party, and why didn't Mary call up and ask him to come over?"

"Well, Mary did ask him once and he declined with horror. So she said never again. And she said why didn't Anne go over and cheer him up if she thought he needed it. So Anne said he'd probably call out the guard."

"Pretty soon it began to look like a swell idea to rib Anne up to breaking in on Wheeler. The girl got to work on her, and I think somebody dared her. We went out in the yard and we could see him still sitting there all alone, reading. Though how he could get any sense out of a book with all the noise we'd been making, I don't know."

"Thinking Fast"

"ANYWAY, Anne promised to give him the thrill of his life. The front door was open and she just walked in. He was facing the other way and before he knew she was there she had plumped down on his lap, wrapped her arm around him and kissed him like he was Clark Gable."

"We could see it all as plain as day from the lawn. The blinds were way up and the lights full on. Well, you've seen a woman get mixed up with a mouse at close quarters. That was Wheeler. He let out a queer sort of bleat jumped up and tore her loose from him like she was so much porcupine, backed into a corner and held both hands straight out in front of him to make her keep her distance. He needed to, too. She turned on all the old siren stuff, stretched appealing arms toward him, looked at him soulfully. Been any body but Wheeler he'd have smelled a rat."

"What happened?" "That's about all I know. One of the girls was laughing too loud, so I took her back in our house. The rest of them said Wheeler came to and yanked down the blinds, so they came in too. But it wasn't long until the two of them, Wheeler and Anne, went past, going toward Anne's quarters. She was hanging on to his arm and running, he was traveling so fast. I guess he took her home. Wheeler's been talking his head off ever since. Not the circumstances, you know. Just hints of what he could spill."

"And none of you ever told him the truth?" "Shaw looked uncomfortable. "How could you tell a man a thing like that? I guess everybody else on the post learned what really happened, so his talk didn't hurt Anne any."

"What do you make of this?" Adam asked him.

From the table in front of him he picked up the envelope into which I had seen him put the little lead slug which he had dug from the pillar on the dance floor.

Shaw poked at it with a thick, stubby finger.

"Thirty-two, isn't it? That's the one...?" His voice trailed off.

"No. The bullet that shot her lodged in the wound. This one hit a pillar on the far side of the floor."

Shaw whistled. "Are they from the same gun?" "I don't know. The federal men will have to pass on that. But this was a fresh shot..."

"Something was dawdling on Shaw's face."

"Say! Maybe I know something!" His thick, stubby hand darted across the table and fastened on Adam's arm. "Could that shot have been fired several hours ago—this afternoon?"

"Probably. What are you getting at?" "You could see Shaw thinking fast."

"Well, I'm not sure. It sounds crazy. But they were dressed alike—those big red hearts. It would mean that somebody made an awful blunder—that the shot that killed Anne Carewe was meant for Barney Nelson!"

Pirates Meet Mountaineers In Homecoming Day Game

PHANTOMS SET FOR NEW BERN

Meet Bears at 3rd St. Park Here 3:15 Tomorrow

By "SMUT" BURKS

With a week of long scrimmages and drill on new plays behind them the Green Phantoms of G. H. S. are all set for tomorrow's game with the Bears of New Bern High school. The game will be played at Third Street stadium and the opening kickoff is set for 3:15 sharp. This will be the last home game for the Phantoms this season and a large crowd of townspeople is expected to turn out to see the G-men in action for the last time this year.

A pep meeting and rally will be held by the high school students tonight in an effort to build up more interest in the game and to have the student body better represented than it has been at previous home games.

The High school student council is sponsoring tomorrow's contest and it is striving to have a record crowd attend the Phantom's final home game.

The Greenies lineup will probably be the same as it was in the game with Goldsboro last week, which was as follows: Ends—Gibson and James or Babcock; tackles—Hardy and Rogers or Earl Kittrell; guards—Tucker and Vincent or Scott; center—Woodard or Williams; quarterback—McGowan; halfbacks—Tyndall and J. B. Kittrell or Moore; fullback—Sakas or Stokes.

New Bern is considered to have a well-rounded team this year and will probably put up a stubborn battle against the Phantoms. However, if the G-men play as they did against Goldsboro they should defeat the Bears for their fourth win of the season.

Many players on the squad will be playing their last game on the local gridiron for G. H. S. Among those graduating this year are linemen Tucker, Vincent Woodard, Earl Kittrell, Hardy, Babcock and Gibson, and backs Lautes, Tyndall, Moore and Webb.

With the Greenies fighting for their fourth win of the season and the Bears out to upset the G-men, the final home game should be a thriller. So come one, come all and cheer the Greenies on to victory.

Library News

1938 Book Week Nov. 13-19

Students Serving as Hostesses. Students of East Carolina Teachers College who are members of the student branch of the Association for Childhood Education, are serving as hostesses during the busy hours of Book Week at Sheppard Memorial Library. They help to receive the exhibits as they come in, and place them. Then too, they encourage the children to see with their eyes, not their fingers, and so preserve the delicate arrangement of some exhibits. Yesterday's hostesses were Misses Sulow Johnson, Madelyn Eure, Lula Hall, Evelyn Wilson and Bobbie Davis.

Reading Club Meets

The Reading Club meeting was called to order promptly at 3:30 yesterday afternoon. A short musical program had been arranged. Miss Jesse Moye sang "Missing," "Growing Up," and "Pointiness," from Fourteen Songs by A. A. Milner. Carol Alligood with violin and J. M. Williams at the piano, gave a very excellent number. The children thoroughly enjoyed the songs and the instrumental numbers.

In a very pleasing way and using well chosen illustrations, Mrs. Closs Hearne spoke to the group for a few minutes on the value and use of reading. Reading certificates were presented to those whose names appeared in yesterday's Reflector. The library staff noted the care and attention given by each one to the selection of suitable books for club reading. Two children were found to be especially careful in this respect. Copies of Dickens' "Christmas Carol" were presented to Sara Jean Ellis and Edward Davenport for their good taste in book selection. The reading club adjourned to meet again soon after the close of school in the spring of 1939.

Book Week Displays

Displays of Book Week hand work are coming in steadily from city and rural schools. The exhibit will not be completed until later in the week but visitors are invited to come in

Brief Sketches ECTC Grid Players of 1938

Carson

Eugene Carson, former Bethel high school basketball star and one of the eight Pitt county boys on the East Carolina Teachers College football squad, is developing into one of the best of the newcomers on the squad. Carson has not previously played football, but is rapidly mastering the rudimentary fundamentals of the game. He weighs 180 pounds and is six foot two inches tall. He plays tackle.

Kelly Martin, Conway, N. C., three letter man on the E. C. T. C. Pirate athletic squads, is definitely out of the lineup for the Appalachian game because of fractured bones in his right hand. Martin is one of the most dependable men on the Pirate squad and is a hard worker. He plays tackle and has won letters in baseball, basketball and football. During the past summer he played baseball with the Roanoke Rapids Civic winners of the North Carolina Amateur Baseball championship and made the trip with this fine team to Wichita, Kansas, where they were eliminated in the last round of the quarter-finals for the National Amateur championship. Martin is one of the most popular men on the squad and his loss will seriously handicap the Pirates.

Three Greenville youths are listed as probable starters for the Pirates. They are Hubert Roberts, and Jack Moye, Jr., guard, and Adrian Brown, guard. Although their entrance into college football is practically a new venture, these boys have made an enviable showing thus far this year. They will likely duplicate their playing ability Saturday.

No captain for their entire season has been selected. During present-season contests, captain honors have been rotated among various players. Lester Ridenhour, who is progressive scholastically as well as athletically, will serve as captain for the Pirates in the Homecoming mixing.

Coaches Alexander and Gordon Gilbert are putting their proteges through stiff practice paces as a preliminary to Saturday's "grind." Coach Brewer is bringing 33 men to Greenville and will likely use most of them during the contest. Local reserve are not as efficient as the visiting reserves. However, they're being whipped into shape in case they have to go into action.

DEANE HASN'T ACCEPTED JOB

Uncertain That Richmond County Man Will Take Post

Raleigh, Nov. 16—C. B. Deane, whose name has been in the papers so often in connection with the Eighth District Congressional nomination row, hasn't yet accepted a Government post tendered him by Senator Josiah W. Bailey—and it's no part of a certainty that he will.

The pleasant, somewhat reticent Richmond county lawyer told your correspondent that publication in Monday morning's papers was the "first I've heard" of the reported decision of the Senior Tar Heel Senator to name him a member of the staff of the Bailey-headed committee to investigate labor conditions in the maritime industry.

Mr. Deane said he plans to visit Washington next week, when he will confer with Senator Bailey and with the present Congressman from the Eighth, Walter Lambeth before announcing any definite decision in the matter.

Beyond this, he was quite non-committal, but from what he didn't say your correspondent drew the conclusion that the Richmonder hasn't the slightest intention of getting completely out of touch with the Eighth. There were, in fact, several indications that he definitely plans to run for Congress in the Shoestring when 1940 rolls around.

He joked about an appointment which would set him to probing the activities of C. I. O. unionists, referring to nebulous rumors that he had the support of the John Lewis henchmen in this year's primaries—rumors which he denied at the time with considerable vigor.

"They said I had the support of C. I. O. and now it's proposed that I go out and help investigate them. Maybe I'd be afraid to go way out on the Pacific Coast among them—they might be tough, might have guns and things."

But when the correspondent queried "Do you think they'd be any tougher than they are in Divisions?" Mr. Deane had nothing to say.

FEWER PLACED DURING MONTH

Employment offices Find Jobs for 608 Less in October

Raleigh, Nov. 16—October job placements declined by 608 from the number made in September, while 1,473 new applications were received in Employment offices, according to R. Mayne Albright, Director of the State Employment Service, in his report of October activities.

A total of 32,993 applications, of which 19,775 were new and 13,218 were renewals, represented the largest inflow of job seekers of any month in the present fiscal year. Farmers seeking seasonal work were responsible for 9,662 applications or 23.2 per cent of the total number of October applicants. Manufacturing was the source of 6,640 applicants, of whom 4,261 were textile workers.

Of the 45 offices, 24 reported an increase in registrations during October. Although the largest individual increases came from offices in the east, due to the release in that section of tobacco and lumber plant workers, the increase was more widespread in the Piedmont and western sections of the State and is probably accounted for by renewed construction activity in those areas.

Lumberton with 2,298, Wilmington with 2,072, and Raleigh with 1,617 furnished the largest number of applicants.

Such tobacco centers as Durham, Henderson and Kinston were among the 21 towns reporting a decline in applications; Rocky Mount, Goldsboro, Greenville and Wilson showed increases in registrations.

Asheville, not usually regarded as a textile community, furnished the third largest number of applicants from textile plants and was exceeded only by Concord with 604 and Gastonia with 416. Both Asheville and Gastonia showed a net decline in October applications.

More placements were made in construction work than in any other industry, the number being 3,360. Personal service absorbed 2,017 workers; hotels and amusements accounted for 1,205 placements.

Raleigh, with 834 placements, led all other offices in the number of jobs filled during October and was followed by Greensboro with 780 and Winston-Salem with 747.

The ratio of jobs filled to applications received was 30 per cent; white men 23.2 per cent; white women 12 per cent; Negro men 40 per cent; and Negro women 56.6 per cent.
