

December Jobless Rate Unchanged

By ROBERT A. DOBKIN AP Labor Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — The second consecutive monthly decline in wholesale farm prices eased inflationary pressure in December, but there was no improvement in the nation's stubborn unemployment rate, the government reported today.

about six months since declining from its recession peak of 9.2 per cent last May. In December more people went looking for work and the size of the labor force increased by 300,000, to a total of 93.3 million. Most of the new entrants to the labor force were women.

Employment in service industries continued to climb, rising by 60,000 in December. Gains also were reported in wholesale and retail trade and in state and local government.

Unemployment insurance benefits and welfare helped ease the burden for many Americans without jobs. But by the end of 1975, with more than seven million still unemployed, the benefits were beginning to run out.

In separate reports, the Labor Department said wholesale prices fell a seasonally adjusted four-fifths of one per cent last month while the unemployment rate was unchanged at 8.3 per cent with 7.8 million Americans unable to find jobs.

The government said most of the increase in employment was in nonagricultural industries, mostly among blue collar workers. Job gains were registered in nearly two-thirds of the 172 industries surveyed.

In other economic developments, the stock market continued a New Year's surge Thursday, with the Dow Jones industrial average closing at 907.98, breaking the 900 mark for the first time in more than two years. The stimulus for the rise was fueled in part by a cut in the prime lending rate at Chase Manhattan Bank and several smaller banks from 7 1/4 per cent to 7 per cent.

The Labor Department on Thursday notified 20 states and the District of Columbia that thousands of unemployed are no longer eligible for extended jobless benefits because of the improving employment picture.

For the year, unemployment averaged 8.5 per cent, the highest level since 1941, before World War II snapped the nation out of depression. That year, the joblessness averaged 9.9 per cent out of a labor force of 55.9 million.

This resulted mostly from the return of 20,000 workers, the government said. Fifteen of 21 manufacturing industries showed higher employment but, in the construction industry hard hit by the recession, jobs still were 700,000 below the peak reached in early 1974.

Unemployment reached a 1975 peak of 9.2 per cent last May, with nearly 8.2 million Americans unable to find jobs out of a work force of 92.3 million. The rate began dropping as the recovery got underway.

Under a 1974 law, workers who had exhausted their first 39 weeks of unemployment benefits could receive up to 26 weeks of additional benefits paid by the federal government. However, those extra funds were tied to a formula based on unemployment in each state.

The jobless rate is expected to remain above 7 percent this election year, but a somewhat brighter picture is forecast for inflation.

The December decline in wholesale prices for farm products, processed food and feed more than offset a rise in prices for non-food goods.

The supplemental benefits are cut off when the insured unemployment rate averages less than 5 per cent over 13 straight weeks.

Chou, China's premier since the Communist victory in 1949 and one of the outstanding statesmen of the century, died Thursday at the age of 78. The death announcement was delayed for 16 hours. He had been in the hospital since he had a heart attack in May 1974, but

Week Of Mourning Begins For China

By JOHN RODERICK Associated Press Writer TOKYO (AP) — China began a week of mourning today for Premier Chou En-lai amid expectations that Teng Hsiao-ping, his 71-year-old first deputy, will succeed him as premier. But Chou's more powerful second spot in the Communist party hierarchy may go to 39-year-old Wang Hung-wen, a vice chairman of the party and the boy wonder of Chinese politics.

The Chinese Embassy said the funeral would be held in Peking on Jan. 15. Hsinhua, the official Chinese news agency, announced a 107-member funeral committee headed by Mao Tse-tung, the 82-year-old chairman of the Chinese Communist party and for 40 years Chou's mentor.

Peking said Communist party leaders met Thursday night at the Great Hall of the People and there was speculation the party Central Committee was deciding on Chou's successor. The reports cited unidentified sources saying a new leadership would be set up after the funeral. They said the Central Committee would hold a plenary session shortly and that the National People's Congress was expected to meet this month.

Ass'n To Schedule Events For Mall

By TOM BAINES Reflector Staff Writer Authorization for the Planning and Promotion Committee of the Downtown Greenville Association to serve as a screening and scheduling agency, in conjunction with the city manager's office, for activities on the new downtown mall was given last night by the City Council.

Brody said that by association, merchants on the mall are linked with events held on the new facility and they also plan to arrange at least one event per month themselves.

In other business last night, the Council approved an amendment to Section 9-6 of the City Code stipulating that business establishments holding on-premise beer and wine permits will require Council approval before a privilege license can be issued.

Wholesale prices over the past 12 months have risen 4.2 per cent, the smallest annual rise since 1971 when they were up 4 per cent. In 1974, wholesale prices jumped 20.9 per cent.

The Council action gives the committee authority to coordinate the schedule of events on the two-block mall and then to forward the proposed activities to the city for final approval. David Brody, representing the association made up of merchants of the downtown sector,

He added that things have already been learned about scheduling and he said that advance planning is necessary in order to avoid conflicting situations.

The Council adopted a resolution approving the sale of Disposal Parcel 15-13 in the General Business District to Mrs. Florence T. Blount. Mrs. Blount offered the high bid of $36,660 to the Redevelopment Commission, which opened bids on Dec. 15.

Since wholesale price trends usually are followed by similar trends at the retail level, consumers can expect some relief from rising prices in the coming months.

Despite the persistent unemployment rate, the government job report was not all bad. The labor department said total employment rose in December by 230,000 to 85.5 million after holding steady since last August. Employment had reached a low of 83.8 million in March at the height of the recession.

Chief Inspector Alton Warren said that repeated violations of the ordinance have not been corrected and a letter was delivered to Wynne stating that the Council would be asked to revoke his privilege license. Wynne was not present for the meeting.

As the new round of warfare raged for the third day, guerrilla spokesmen said they would consider a cease-fire only when the government guaranteed safe passage for food convoys to all refugee camps.

Beirut Battle Rages

By FAROUK NASSAR Associated Press Writer BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Christian and Moslem guerrillas subjected Beirut to its worst night of mortar and rocket fire since the start of the civil war nine months ago, police reported today.

Western embassies in Peking reported that flags were at half staff in Tiananmen Square, the symbolic center of China, but that the emotional reaction was low key. They said crowds gathered in the cold outside newspaper offices to get copies of the People's Daily and to read the news on displays.

REFLECTOR HOTLINE

Hotline gets things done for you. Call 752-1336 and tell your problem or your sound-off or mail it to Hotline, The Daily Reflector, Box 1967, Greenville, N.C. 27834.

Because of the large numbers received, Hotline can answer and publish only those items considered most pertinent to our readers. Names must be given, but only initials will be used. Transcribing is done once a day.

PAVING ON PRIORITY The dirt road I live on, State Roads 1534 and 1535, stays bumpy all the time. It keeps the wheels of my car out of line and has even shaken the starter loose more than once. There is enough traffic out here that it could be paved. Sunnyside Eggs, a church and a new miniwarehouse are here, as well as homes. A. C.

C. W. Snell of the Department of Transportation said he would be glad to talk to you about this road. His phone number is 752-6157.

There are 219 dirt roads in Pitt County, he said, and each one is given a priority rating as to when it should be paved. Then the counties of the state are allotted so many miles of paving in any certain period, based on funds available. Priority within the county is based on a rating system which involves the number of homes, schools, industries, business, school bus routes, and average 24-hour traffic volume. Inventories are taken every two years. Snell checked and found that the roads of which you speak are divided into three sections—one is in 7th place, one 17th, and one 23rd.

TRY HUMAN RELATIONS I'm separated from my husband and have been living with relatives for several months. I need a place to live for myself and my three children. I have no car and have been walking to a phone booth calling anybody I could think of trying very hard to get a lead on a house to rent. I have money to pay rent. All I need is a place for us to stay anywhere in the county. Mrs. N. E.

Hotline cannot find places to live for people, just as we cannot locate jobs for readers who request this service. However, we did call the City of Greenville Human Relations Department about your problems and Ella Telfair in this office suggested you come in and fill out an application right away. They will do all in their power to find you a place to live and use whatever referral services they have to help you to better the lives of your children and you.

toled the Council that the DGA would like to serve as the central planning agency not only to insure that events scheduled on the mall are of good taste and a credit to the city but also that conflicts in scheduling are avoided.

Former city manager Harry Hagerty, who is serving in an advisory capacity to Jim Caldwell, the new city manager, during January, said he felt the events should be coordinated through the city manager's office for approval but he also commended the association for taking the initiative in the mall matter.

Mayor Percy Cox added that he could "see the advantage of turning this over to you (DGA) provided the city manager is made aware of what's going on."

Any appeal of decisions by the committee or city manager could be brought before the Council for consideration, it was noted.

Caldwell said that policy guidelines for the mall operation should be drawn up and it was agreed that the guidelines will

Sen. Bryd Joins Candidate Field

By TOM RAUM Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia, one of the Senate's most powerful members, today joined the already crowded field of candidates seeking the 1976 Democratic presidential nomination.

Byrd, 57, announced he would run in the May 11 West Virginia primary election to be held May 11 and did not rule out entering other primary races.

He described himself at a news conference as a darkhorse candidate who might capture the nomination in the event of a deadlock at the Democratic national convention.

"The national convention may or may not choose from those who travel the presidential primary route," Byrd said. "In saying this, I do not close the door on my entry into primaries other than the West Virginia primary," he added.

Machine gun clashes flared in the downtown business and banking area and six other sectors of the city, the government radio said. Ashrafieh, the city's largest Christian residential quarter, came under guerrilla fire for the third night in a row.

But the heaviest action still raged in northern and eastern suburbs where Palestinian guerrillas were trying to break a six-day-old Christian blockade preventing food convoys from reaching two hillside Palestinian refugee camps on the northeastern edge of the city.

The camps, Tal Zataar and Jisr el-Basha, house 27,000 Palestinians and command the northeast approaches to the city, including the highway to the Christian Mt. Lebanon area.

As the new round of warfare raged for the third day, guerrilla spokesmen said they would consider a cease-fire only when the government guaranteed safe passage for food convoys to all refugee camps.

"Otherwise the war goes on until we open the roads by force," one spokesman said. One Palestinian spokesman claimed guerrillas captured a four-story apartment house used as a food warehouse for Christian militias and took $2 million worth of food from it to the two blockaded camps.

"This compensates for the loss of the 60 tons of flour, rice, sugar and dry milk that rightists prevented from reaching the two camps in order to rekindle the civil war," the spokesman said.

Other parts of Beirut also were threatened by food shortages. The Chamber of Commerce warned that food supplies are rotting in the harbor because they cannot be unloaded. It reported that $5 million worth of frozen meat and fish was lost in a 48-hour fire that wrecked the government's biggest warehouse.

The government radio advised everyone to remain indoors and said all roads into the city were closed.

"Beirut is isolated from the rest of Lebanon," a broadcast said. The landing ship has between 100 and 150 Russian naval in-

Soviet Missile Cruiser Heading Southward On West African Coast

By FRED S. HOFFMAN AP Military Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — A Soviet guided-missile cruiser is reported steaming southward along the West African coast, raising the possibility that it could eventually join other Russian Navy vessels in the Angola area.

Indian Ocean. Greener did not claim any military significance so far as the outcome of the Angola civil war is concerned, in the presence of the destroyer, landing ship and tanker at sea off the African coast.

The heavily armed Kresta 11 cruiser, which sailed out of the Mediterranean, was last reported off Mauritania.

Pentagon sources said the cruiser is expected to reach Conakry, Guinea, this weekend. Soviet naval vessels have operated out of Conakry for about three years, but defense officials said they do not yet know whether the cruiser will stop there or sail on south toward Angola to reinforce a destroyer and two other Russian ships already in those waters.

In any event, the appearance of the cruiser adds to the Soviet naval presence off Africa at a time when the United States is withdrawing all outside parties to uranium from Angola and leave settlement of the newly independent country's future to the Angolans.

The Pentagon underscored the Ford administration's concern Thursday while discussing the movements of a Soviet guided missile destroyer, a supporting tanker and an amphibious landing ship in the vicinity of Angola.

The Kotlin class destroyer and the tanker were about 100 miles off Gabon late Thursday and moving slowly southward. The tank landing ship, which has been in those waters for about a month, was said to be near Pointe Noir. This port in the Congo Republic has been a major inlet for Cuban and Soviet arms aid to neighboring Angola, according to U.S. intelligence.

The landing ship has between 100 and 150 Russian naval in-

Protestant political leaders reiterated that they will not share power with the Roman Catholic minority under any circumstances.

If Prime Minister Harold Wilson's government does not accept that, Vanguard party leader Ernest Baird declared Thursday night, it must face the "inevitable consequence of a final conflict" in Ulster.

Britain's cabinet secretary for Northern Ireland, Merlyn Rees, is expected to announce the government's rejection of the Protestants' demand next Monday.

The Ulster Defense Association (UDA), the largest of the Protestant guerrilla armies, announced after a meeting of paramilitary groups that support for them is mushrooming because Protestants no longer believe the British government can restore order in the province.

"It is now only a matter of time before the Protestant community gives the paramilitaries the go-ahead to engage in full-scale conflict," the UDA said.

Wilson warned in a television interview that civil war "will result in the destruction of the Northern Ireland we know."

"We've gone past the stage where words mean anything any more," said one prominent Protestant hard-liner. "We want action and we want it fast. We want the British army to wipe out the IRA and we want majority restored for Ulster. We'll settle for nothing less."

Protestant anger has been building up since the Labor government agreed to a cease-fire with the Catholic guerrillas of the Irish Republican Army last February and subsequently ended detention without trial of IRA guerrillas.

Reagan Won't Be Pinned Down On Plan's Specifics

By ROBERT B. CULLEN
Associated Press Writer
WILMINGTON, N. C. (AP) — Ronald Reagan has finished his first 1976 campaign tour in North Carolina without being pinned down to specific positions on federal spending cuts and United States involvement in Angola.

Reagan's backers considered Wednesday's campaigning a great success — "the kind of day that pumps you up," in the words of Tom Ellis, Reagan's state campaign director.

In one 16-hour day, Reagan launched a finance committee, got himself on the state's major television news shows and addressed two overflow audiences of enthusiastic businessmen.

He started with a private breakfast for 250 people who will make up his state finance committee. After breakfast, he posed with each of them for souvenir photographs.

Reagan invited the finance committee members to his morning news conference and one of them bailed him out when reporters began firing questions about his proposal to end federal participation in a wide variety of social service and education programs.

Reagan recognized the supporter, who responded by asking him to elaborate on the way he brought fiscal integrity to California. Reagan happily did so for the next seven minutes.

Reporters were left with Reagan's statement that his budget plan would not increase state or local taxes and would reduce the overall tax burden.

Critics have contended that the plan would merely shift the burden from federal to local governments.

Reagan said local governments could run the programs more efficiently. He said his proposal would eliminate a layer of bureaucracy in Washington. And he maintained that the federal government could balance its budget and simultaneously turn over "federal tax sources" to local governments.

He offered no figures and did not specify what he meant by federal tax sources. Nor did he say what he would do about ending or continuing American involvement in the Angolan civil war.

"I think it's time that our government tell the people what is the strategic importance of Angola, why it is so important to the Soviet Union and whether it represents a threat to our national security," he said.

Reagan said the people could then decide whether they think American involvement should continue.

"Then I think our government should do one of two things: Either in the spirit of detente say to the Russians that if they want detente to continue then all of us get out and we let the Angolans settle their own affairs. Or, if they want to persist, then the American people have to understand why it's important for us to intervene," he said.

Studying Cost Of Curb-Gutter Work

WINTERVILLE—The City of Winterville is researching the cost of a curb and gutter project for Worthington Street which was submitted in a petition by John Patrick at the Town Board meeting Monday night.

The curb and gutter project would be funded by property owners. Each property owner would be billed $2 per foot in front of their property. No work will begin until 50 per cent of the assessments are paid.

No action was taken on a request from Statewide Enterprises for the annexation of 5.87 acres of land located south of Sonoco, due to the illness of Mayor Walter Dail.

Action was also postponed on a petition submitted by E.L. Harrington which proposes the extension of the city water system to the Baywood subdivision located across from Sunny Side Eggs.

Elwood Nobles was appointed as a representative to the Mid East Commission. Alderman Danny Martin was appointed the local government elected representative to the Mid East Commission.

Wind Adds To Chill In North Carolina

by The Associated Press
It was very cold in North Carolina today, and brisk northwesterly winds made it seem even colder.

One consolation was that it was sunny.

Lows reported this morning included 10 degrees at Asheville, 13 at Greensboro and Hickory, 16 at Raleigh-Durham, 15 at Charlotte, 20 at Elizabeth City and 22 at Rocky Mount and Fayetteville. The state's "warmest" report was 31 degrees at Jacksonville.

The highway patrol reported all roads open, but said some in western sections of the state had ice spots. Chains or snow tires were necessary in the Boone area.

A large mass of arctic air moved into the state and temperatures took a dive. At dawn they ranged from the single numbers in the mountains to around freezing near the coast.

The highs today will range from only the 20s in the mountains to the lower 40s on the coast.

Rain which fell ahead of the advancing mass of cold air generally ended by midmorning Thursday. But some sections of the coastal plain and coastal areas received some light precipitation Thursday night. A few snow flurries were even reported near the Rocky Mount-Wilson area around 10 p.m. There may be a few snow flurries in the northwest mountains today.

Precipitation for the 24 hours ended at 1 a.m. today ranged from a trace of Asheville to three-quarters of an inch at Elizabeth City.

Highs Thursday ranged from the 40s over western sections to the low 60s near the coast. These temperatures occurred early in the morning, before the invasion of cold air. By the afternoon, temperatures ranged from 20s in the mountains to the low 50s along the coast.

Temperatures overnight will dip down to zero to 10 above in the mountains, and to only the 20s near the coast. By Saturday, the mercury may climb into the 40s across the state.

Small-craft advisories remain in effect for the coastal waters and sounds.

Natural Motifs Win Furnishings Award

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer
Many natural materials and motifs — rocks, flowers, seagrass, stone, wood, silk, cotton, linen — are featured in 1975's award-winning designs chosen by the Resources Council, the association of furniture manufacturers servicing the industry. And for the first time interior designers and architects were among nominators for the honors. The jury based its selections of award winners on the excellence of adaptation or reproduction, innovative design, the imaginative use of materials, color and craftsmanship.

In contemporary wallpapers, youthful designer Cindi Mufson — she is in her mid 20s — won first award for a wallpaper, Hardrock, produced by slicing pre-Cambrian river rock in half. The design, which dramatizes nature, has a correlated fabric available in either positive or negative versions offering the possibility of handsome contrast.

It is one of a series of designs that explore the inner space of nature's offerings — sand, coral, wood — from the design board of the talented young designer.

Designer Eve Frankl was the award winner in contemporary residential furniture for her "Z" frame table of wood that can be used singly or in multiples.

A needlecraft upholstery screen print, carnations, of linen and cotton by designer Albert Zellers of Greeff simulates needlepoint, crewel embroidery and quilting in its bargello-like construction. It won the award for traditional decorative fabrics.

In contemporary fabrics, a handsome quilted fabric, King Tut, won the award for designer Louis Bromante.

Lawrence Peabody's tubular dining chair of bronze and Haitian seagrass brought a whole new look to the indoor-outdoor casual furniture category. The popular award-winning designer has put his fine touch on everything from glass to children's furniture.

Another perennial award winner, Jack Lenor Larsen, brought his usual exciting design vision to a handsome, jacquard-patterned carpet of Ming Dynasty clouds and waves, its flowing motif lending itself easily to repeats.

In rugs, the V'Soske studios won for an all-wool area rug with an innovative hand tufting of silk.

As for lamps, "triangolo," a lamp of perforated sheeting and hollow metal tubing, designed by Adam Tihany and Joey Mancini, can be made adaptable to floor, table, wall and ceiling and provides new lighting interest built around the design.

In technical innovations, the winning product was "superstone," a synthetic reproduction of granite, marble and fossilized stone, touted as being stronger than the original, for use in furniture, fireplaces and with architectural and decorative application.

A shower "in the round" with clear plastic walls and sliding doors with a molded back and base was another winner.

Businessman Needs Crash Course In ABC's

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Is it possible to teach a 51-year-old man to speak correct English? Joe (not his real name) went only as far as the fifth grade, and his grammar is terrible.

I have corrected him in private, but he makes the same mistakes repeatedly in public, which I find very embarrassing.

Most of my friends are well educated (so am I), and when Joe and I are in their company, I keep hoping he won't talk much because he is sure to say, "He don't" or "We was."

He is a fine-looking man of good character who has made a remarkable success in business, but this one fault is too big to overlook.

I guess what I really want to know is: Can a 51-year-old man who is smart in money matters learn proper grammar at his age? Or is it too late?

JOE'S LADY FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: A smart person can learn anything he wants to learn if he's sufficiently motivated. The questions here are, "Does JOE think he needs to learn? And if not, how important is this fault to YOU?"

DEAR ABBY: That letter from ALL WORE OUT IN L.A. gave my husband and me a chuckle. It was from that poor old wife who wanted to know where she could buy some salt peter to slip into her husband's food.

Salt peter must be one of those delayed-action chemicals because they gave it to my husband in World War II, and it just started to take effect last year! Sign me.....

PLENTY OF SLEEP IN ALTADENA

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I recently moved into a new home. We love the place, but we're having trouble with our landlord.

He keeps dropping in on us unexpectedly. I have told him several times that he is welcome anytime, but to please telephone us first.

Tonight at 10 p.m., this landlord came over to introduce us to his son! I was in my undershorts watching TV on our bed, and my wife wasn't dressed, either. That nifty man used his passkey and walked right into our bedroom!

Abby, we like our privacy, but how do you tell a man who is 45 years older than you are to please be a little more respectful of your privacy without seeming disrespectful to him?

STATEN ISLANDER

DEAR ISLANDER: Get a "Do Not Disturb" sign and hang it outside your door. If he drops by unexpectedly again, "respectfully" point it out to him.

Almond Dessert Comes From Sweden

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
A friend passed along a recipe for a Scandinavian party dessert that all our tasters agreed should have wide circulation. One of the dessert's most attractive features: it calls for only two tablespoons of sugar.

Besides its fabulous combination of flavors and textures, it looks inviting. And it's fun, too, because of its name. We suspect it's called Mullvad (the Swedish word for the small burrowing mole) because when the dessert comes to the table with its creamy coating, guests have no idea until they "burrow" into it that its center is a combination of prunes and almonds. Several of our tasters didn't recognize the prunes. Believe me, that fruit never had it so good!

We've come on a recipe for Mullvad only once before. That formula, fussier than this one and probably not so authentic, appeared in a cookbook published in the U.S.A. about a dozen years ago.

MULLVAD
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1/4 cup water
3/4 cup toasted slivered blanched almonds, see below
1 1/2 cups packaged pitted prunes, chopped medium fine
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
2 large eggs
2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup heavy cream
1 tablespoon white or golden rum (80 proof)

Sprinkle the gelatin over the water and set aside to soften. Reserve 1 tablespoon of the almonds for the garnish. Mix together the remaining almonds, prunes and orange rind. On a serving plate shape mixture into an oval, leaving room for the creamy coating that will go over it, and press tightly together; we used a small platter with a 7 by 4 inch center and a 1-inch rim and the dessert filled the center. Beat eggs with sugar, vanilla and salt until fluffy. Stirring constantly, over very low heat or hot water dissolve the softened gelatin; quickly stir into egg mixture. Beat cream until stiff; fold into gelatin mixture with rum. Refrigerate until mixture mounds — a spoonful dropped back will hold its shape. Coat the prune-almond mixture with the gelatin mixture — if it is at the right stage you will be able to do this easily; if it is too soft for coating, chill briefly until it is thick enough. Chill Mullvad until set.

At serving time insert the reserved almonds into the top of the Mullvad so they stand up or scatter them over the top. Cut into slices or wedges. Makes 6 to 8 servings. (This dessert can be made in the morning and served at dinner that night. But it holds up remarkably well even when made the day before serving; in this case you might want to cover it with a tent of foil.)

Slivered Blanched Almonds: These may be bought in see-through bags at supermarkets; they can be toasted, spread over a very shallow pan, in a preheated 400-degree oven for several minutes — just until they are a light brown color.

In 1970, 3.4 million rural families in this country had annual incomes of less than $3,000.

Let's Start With Flag Poles

Maybe you haven't noticed, but there is a new flag pole in front of the federal building at Evans and Third Street.

The new pole is not just an ordinary one. It is electronically operated. Thirty feet high, it is actuated by a photo electric cell and at nightfall the flag disappears into the shaft. In the morning it is automatically run up again.

The new pole astounded us. There was an old one there which was left over from the days when the building served as a United States Post Office. The U. S. flag was raised and lowered by hand on the old pole, but otherwise the pole seemed perfectly servicable.

We wondered about the cost of the installation. V. M. Lutrick, General Services Administration building manager in Raleigh, said the pole cost $1,590. But, he said, the pole will pay for itself because it cost $500 to $600 annually in overtime to get the flag raised by hand on holidays. This was figured at four hours per day for each of 20 holidays. Well, when you are talking about a $70 billion deficit in the federal budget, we suppose you should walk right on by a $1,590 flag pole without a second thought. But you have to wonder how many other such installations are being made throughout the federal system. If we value our flag and love our country, surely some federal employees could be found who would be willing to raise the flag early in the morning at no additional cost to the government. And, if holidays are a problem, wouldn't some Boy Scout troop or the American Legion or the Veterans of Foreign Wars agree to raise the flag as a civic duty on those holidays?

Some day some one in government will realize that money can be saved on small things. Then perhaps the same principle will be applied to buildings in Washington which overrun their cost by millions, and in hundreds of other ways throughout this vast behemoth we call our federal government.

It Should Have Always Been That Way

A special court has ruled that the government should have control of the Nixon presidential documents.

The three-judge court ruled against the Nixon argument that a new federal law which provides public access to the materials, including the White House tapes, is constitutional.

Its difficult for us to see why it hasn't always been this way, and yet past presidents have carted off presidential papers as their own property.

Past presidents should have access to their papers, but since they were collected while the presidents were in the public employ, the materials should certainly belong to the public.

Maps Assist In Land Study

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH — When county-wide surveys — and the resulting books of maps — were first undertaken, the chief value was to the farmer. The material helped him figure out which acres would be best for crops, which should be pasture, and which might best remain in trees.

The surveys are still useful for that.

But now, the surveys have literally "gone to town" and the information is used by planners, local government officials, developers, builders, recreation people, potential landowners, and people planning a new home as the basic homework before land use decisions are made.

One enthusiastic planner in a large city, looking over a countywide survey, recently said, "You can read the land like a book."

Detail Work
He was right. A county survey book, put together by the Soil Conservation Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, is a series of aerial photographs overprinted with soil and topographical information from which even the novice can learn about steep grades, flat fields, rocky outcroppings, water tables and soil types in minute detail—so minute that you can pinpoint landmarks such as old smokehouses or springs.

The modern soil surveys with that valuable data for land use decisions will reach an all-time peak in North Carolina this year, according to State Conservationist Jesse L. Hicks.

Surveys are either complete, or underway, in 43 of the state's 100 counties. Bound survey books are available in 13 counties: Transylvania, Watauga, Alleghany, Iredell, Yadkin, Alamance, Scotland, Wake, Wayne, Duplin, Pitt, Pasquotank, and Catawba. Survey work and mapping is complete in eight other counties; and is underway in 22 more, including land on the giant Ft. Bragg military base in Cumberland.

Hubert J. Byrd, SCS State Soil Scientist, said interest in having the county surveys done is so keen that many county commission boards have put up additional money to accelerate the project.

The surveys are carried out by professional soil scientists who walk every acre of the county making scientific maps. Such study has proven so valuable that Guilford, Wake, Mecklenburg, and Rowan counties have hired their own soil scientists to do soils interpretation work, Byrd said.

Not Simple
The survey is far different from soil testing programs in which the state Department of Agriculture determines whether lime, fertilizer, or other soil treatment is needed for crops or other specific purposes. For this, soil samples are sent to a laboratory.

Soil surveys actually map the various kinds of surface and subsurface soil, water conditions, and grades.

Resulting information can be used to determine if septic tanks would work in a given area; whether ground shrink-swell potential would endanger a building foundation; whether a sanitary landfill would work in a particular location; whether acreage is suitable for housing or a shopping center.

In addition to the county surveys now underway in North Carolina, a fascinating and different survey is underway along the coast, Byrd said.

The "Outer Banks Survey" will map the entire coastline along the Atlantic from South Carolina to Virginia, with a complete inventory of the fragile land area with soil descriptions and relations of the soils, including marshes, to the vegetation on them.

Scientists expect to complete the survey during 1976.

USDA Findings

Costs Of Crop Production

By DON KENDALL

AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department at the insistence of Congress, has published a study on the 1974 cost of producing major farm crops. The report is certain to stimulate arguments whenever farmers gather and begin talking about how much money they have been making or losing.

Although USDA economists emphasize that the figures represent averages and vary widely according to area and from farm to farm, the report is considered a major step in evaluating today's production costs for those crops.

Thus, the USDA material will be part of any future moves in Congress to increase government price supports for those commodities, which include wheat, corn and cotton. Other feed grains and soybeans also were part of the study and a separate report on dairy production costs will be issued later.

The analysis was ordered by Congress when it passed the 1973 farm act. Further, the law specified that after the initial study for 1974 crops USDA must update the production cost estimates annually. More than 5,000 farmers were interviewed in key production areas early last year.

The department's Economic Research Service issued a 15-page summary of the study on Thursday. About three weeks ago the Senate Agriculture Committee published a capsule review of the report, including the dollar ranges of costs for producing the various crops.

In USDA's report, more details are provided which show how costs can vary greatly when different accounting procedures are used to reflect land expenses, rental arrangements and other factors.

Allowing for all the variations, the report showed that in 1974 the average costs of producing the crops included: Cotton 41.1 cents per pound to 48.5 cents; corn $2.06 to $2.77 per bushel; sorghum $1.98 to $2.51 per bushel; barley $1.99 to $2.50 per bushel; all wheat $2.64 to $3.51 per bushel and soybeans $3.97 per bushel.

According to other USDA surveys, the average farm price of those commodities during 1974 had cotton 42.8 cents; corn $2.95; sorghum $2.80; barley $2.72; all wheat $4.04 and soybeans $6.69.

"Adverse weather in 1974 resulted in unusually low yields, causing per unit costs reported by the survey to be higher than costs based on 'normal' yields," the department said in releasing the report. "These per unit costs (for each bushel or pound) include the direct costs of production of surveyed farmers and overhead, management and land allocations."

If only the "direct" costs of 1974 production is considered — not counting any allowances for a farmer's management or land — the report showed that those averaged: cotton 33.5 cents; corn $1.31; sorghum $1.34; barley $1.24; all wheat $1.58 and soybeans $2.16.

Direct costs are out-of-pocket expenses such as what farmers spend for labor, power and machinery, seed, fertilizer, chemicals, custom services, irrigation, other materials and operating capital.

In its review of USDA's figures last month the Senate Agriculture Committee said the study "is not likely to settle the debate over how farm production costs should be calculated" nor quiet disputes over how high government price supports should be set.

"But it provides landmark data on which rational policy (Continued on page 5)

The Pet Rock Problem

WASHINGTON — "We knew it would happen, but we never dreamed it would be this bad," said Tolstoy Pugh, the director of the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Rocks.

"What happened?" "Kids are starting to abandon the Pet Rocks they were given for Christmas, and we have to take care of them. We don't have the facilities or the money to do it."

Tolstoy explained that the Pet Rock was the biggest item sold this year and millions of them, all packaged in little cardboard boxes with feeding and training instructions, were sold in every department store in America for $4.95.

"When we first heard about it we went to the people who were selling the rocks and said, 'Do you know what you're doing? After the thrill of owning a rock is over, millions of kids are going to abandon them and someone is going to have to look after them.' But the rock people just laughed at us and said, 'No kid who owns a rock is going to let it go. He's going to learn to love his rock and treat it with the affection and care it deserves.'"

Tolstoy said, "Well, they were wrong. As soon as school started we got reports of abandoned rocks in the streets and in the woods. Our people started to round them up, but it's not easy to catch a rock, particularly when it's frightened, hungry and cold. We brought them to the rock shelter, but space is at a premium and pretty soon we were up to our eyeballs in Pet Rocks. I've never seen anything like it."

"Can't you get people to come to your shelter and adopt the rocks?" I asked him.

"We've had a publicity campaign, but when the people come, all they want are the little rocks. No one wants a full-grown one as they think they're no fun to play with. But actually the larger rocks are better for homes as they've been house-trained."

"What do you do with the rocks that no one wants?" Tolstoy said, "What can we do? We keep them for two weeks and then if no one wants them we put them to sleep."

"Oh no," I said. "Well it's either that or turning them over to a lab for geology experiments. The ASPCR has a policy not to cooperate with geologists by providing them with Pet Rocks for their research. But our facilities for putting rocks to sleep have reached their straining point and we may be forced to give them to the universities whether we want to or not."

"How can people be so cruel as to abandon a Pet Rock?" I said. "I blame it on their parents," Tolstoy said. "When it comes to Christmas all they think about is what will please their kids on Christmas morning. It never occurs to them how much work is involved in taking care of a rock. We've had calls from neighbors who actually found a Pet Rock on their lawn on Christmas afternoon, obviously thrown away after the kid got tired of playing with it."

"It's hard to believe," I said.

Other Editors Say Will Stickers Stick?

(The Wilson Times)

North Carolina this year instituted a system of validation stickers for automobile license plates, designed to save millions of dollars over a period of years by sparing the state the cost of manufacturing metal plates every 12 months.

The concept of validating plates instead of having to bear the annual expense of labor and material for full-size metal license tags is a sound one and major credit for its adoption can be attributed to the perseverance of Wilson County's State Sen. J. Russell Kirby.

Sen. Kirby first introduced a bill embodying the license plate validation plan in 1965 — a decade ago. The measure was defeated, but he persisted and, finally, when he offered the bill for the fifth time, it was approved by the General Assembly.

Not only is the state saving money through reduced use of materials and labor, but mailing costs are much lower, metal is being conserved, and the stickers are certainly more convenient for the motorists, many of whom have skinned knuckles more than once while changing full-size plates.

Although the validation system has unquestionable merit, the state's choice of paper stickers to be affixed in the upper right corner of license plates appears to have drawbacks. The stickers went on sale at $15 each on Jan. 1 and already there have been complaints from some automobile owners that the inch-by-inch-and-a-half rectangles issued to them were torn and could not be fastened to their license plates.

Edward L. Powell, commissioner of motor vehicles, immediately urged citizens who received defective stickers to return them for replacement at no cost, but we foresee additional problems.

First, how many citizens will take time to thoroughly clean the area on their license plates designated for placement of the sticker? If the surface is greasy, or dirty, the sticker is not likely to remain in place.

Secondly, will a paper sticker withstand the extremes of weather to which it will be subjected for a year? There are other questions. How easy is it to counterfeit the stickers or for vandals to deface or remove them?

Even if the paper stickers prove impractical the validation system should not be abandoned. Perhaps the Motor Vehicles Department can, in the future, use small metal validation tags as a number of other states have done.

This minor change might kill a number of "bugs" in a plan designed to save the state a significant sum.

Profit Reports Don't Add Up

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) —

Sometimes when the patient is very ill he may develop a deceiving glow, a fever that to the untrained eye might be mistaken for ruddy good health.

Touche Ross & Co., the big accounting firm, suggests that corporate financial statements might be emitting that glow.

"How can U.S. corporations be reporting record sales and profits at a time when they are wracked with record problems of liquidity, debt and capital shortage?" it asks, and quickly supplies its answer:

"Because the profits they are reporting have little relationship with reality." The dollar figures used are inflated, said Russell Palmer, managing partner, in launching a campaign this week to experiment with more meaningful accounting. Today's dollar cannot be compared with yesterday's, he said.

To illustrate: Nonfinancial corporations reported 1974 after-tax profits of $65 billion, compared with $38 billion in 1965, an apparent increase of 74 per cent.

Now adjust for inflation; that is, use the same dollar to measure both years and thus obtain comparable results. Pick the 1958 dollar as a measure and you learn those earnings didn't rise — they fell, from an adjusted $37 billion in 1965 to around $21 billion in 1974.

One answer to such numerical misrepresentation may be to report a company's financial condition in current or real values rather than current prices, that is, with inflation wrung out. Palmer says we should seek to develop techniques.

"Reporting assets and liabilities at current values reflects true economic profits — not illusory profits, the kind any number of companies have reported recently, even while heading into bankruptcy," he said.

Touche Ross isn't the first to make such suggestions, but it seems willing to throw more weight than the others into what it calls "Economic Reality in Financial Reporting," subtitled "A Program For Experimentation."

The proposal, aimed initially at directors and

Stocks Signal What?

By CHET CURRIER
AP Business Writer
NEW YORK (AP) —

The stock tickers of Wall Street are tapping out a message of strong economic optimism in the early days of 1976.

In the week of trading since New Year's Day, the stock market has staged one of its most powerful rallies of recent years.

The Dow Jones average of 30 major industrial stocks, the best-known indicator of market trends, has climbed 55.57 points to 907.98 in the first five trading days of the new year. By calculations of the Hirsch Organization, an investment advisory service, it was the best opening week of any year for the market since 1938.

The Dow, which had been wandering sluggishly all through the second half of last year, suddenly jumped to its highest level since November 1973.

The clamor of activity gave the New York Stock Exchange its 10th and third busiest days ever on consecutive days this week.

Stock market gyrations, particularly over such a short time span, can often be misleading and their significance is always subject to a wide variety of interpretations.

Analysts have been quick to point out that at least part of this latest surge can be traced simply to the calendar.

Jan. 1, first of all, means the end of the last-minute selling that investors traditionally do in December for income tax purposes.

In addition, analysts say, a big chunk of money becomes available for investment in January and February, through such things as year-end bonuses to individuals and payments into pension plans.

Adding fuel to the rally Thursday was a reduction in the prime lending rate from 7 1/4 per cent to 7 per cent by Chase Manhattan and several smaller banks.

But the market also commands attention as a predictor of economic trends, however erratic its behavior may be.

The federal government has acknowledged that fact by making stock prices a part of its index of leading economic indicators, which is set up to try to detect the future course of the economy.

Like most other crystal balls, the market offers no guarantee, and it can quickly change its mind.

In early January 1973, for instance, it climbed to an all-time high of 1,051.70 in the Dow, only to embark after that on its worst protracted decline since the 1930s.

Last year, however, the market's "forecasts" were strikingly accurate, if one accepts the standard theory that it usually looks about six months ahead.

In fact, notes Heinz H. Biel of Wall Street's Hopkin, Watson Inc., "it did much better than the experts."

Over the first three months of 1975, the market shot upward, correctly anticipating the big jump in the Gross National Product which came in the third quarter.

In mid-summer, it turned cautious and erratic, foretelling what economists later described as a slowing of the economy's recovery this winter.

FREEDOM FROM SERVITUDE

The Biblical scholar, Deissmann, tells of a custom in vogue in New Testament times whereby a slave was given freedom by his master. In a solemn rite carried out in a temple, the owner sold the slave to a god and received from the temple treasurer the purchase money which the slave had previously deposited there out of his savings. Therefore, even though the slave had in effect bought his freedom in this world, he was in theory the slave of the god.

The New Testament constantly employs the same figure in describing our relationships to God and Christ. It declares that we are the bond servants of God. We have been sold to God, as it were, by our devotion to Jesus Christ. But while we are God's servants, we are, as against the whole world, free men. Our complete submission to God makes us free of the servitude of sin. The law of the spirit of life in Christ Jesus makes us free from the law of sin and of death.

A World Hunger Symposium, sponsored by East Carolina University and the ECU chapter of Phi Kappa Phi honor society, has been scheduled at ECU Jan. 14-15.

Consisting of four main sessions, the symposium will include presentations by ten speakers on various aspects of the world food crisis.

Among the featured addresses will be lectures by Dr. William E. Reed, staff representative for the Agency for International Development and past member of economic missions to several nations; Dr. Fred D. Sobering, N.C. State University extension service administrator; and Dr. Joseph J. Spengler, noted population specialist and current James B. Duke Professor of Economics at Duke University.

The conference's opening session will be chaired by Dr. John M. Howell, ECU Provost.

Other speakers include the following members of the ECU faculty: Dr. Lilla Holsey, School of Home Economics; Dr. Ernest Marshall, Department of Philosophy; Dr. Frank Close and Dr. Oscar Moore, School of Business; and Dr. William Byrd and Dr. Carl Adler, Department of Physics.

Symposium sessions for Wednesday, Jan. 14 are set for the ECU Nursing Auditorium. Wednesday's morning session, opening at 10 a.m., will consist of presentations by Dr. Reed ("Famine: Threat and Actuality") and Dr. Holsey ("Home Economics: Its Part in Fighting World Hunger"). A 15-minute film, "A Beginning or an End," which deals with famine in Bangladesh, will conclude the Wednesday morning session.

The afternoon session, to begin at 2 p.m., will feature addresses by Dr. Sobering on "Factors in World Food Supply," and Dr. Close, "A Malthusian Synthesis." Dr. Byrd will chair the session.

Thursday's morning session, to be chaired by Dr. Ione Ryan, president of the ECU chapter of Phi Kappa Phi, is scheduled for 10 a.m. in the Biology Auditorium. The program will include a joint presentation by Drs. Adler and Byrd on "A Simple Energy Model for Food Production," and Dr. Marshall's "A Philosophical Approach to World Hunger."

Morgan Asks Inquiry In Sale Of Land At One-Sixth Of Cost

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—Though local officials say there was nothing improper, Sen. Robert Morgan, D-N.C., has requested an investigation into the Greensboro News Co.'s purchase of downtown land for about one-sixth what it cost the Greensboro Redevelopment Commission.

Thursday, Morgan asked the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) and the General Accounting ofference to find out whether any federal laws or HUD regulations were violated in the transaction.

More than a year ago, the Greensboro News Co. bought the 4.3 acres for $391,928. A new printing plant is being constructed on the site.

The Redevelopment Commission, which receives federal funds, spent more than $2.3 million in purchasing the land, tearing down old buildings, relocating some businesses and paying lawyers.

Morgan objected that the company paid too little for the property and said "it does not seem like good business to sell it for only $391,000."

Commission Chairman Emory Green said Thursday evening that he welcomed an investigation. He said the agency was only interested in getting the land in the hands of a financially sound business and on the tax books.

A HUD spokesman in Greensboro said Thursday the Redevelopment Commission had not violated any law or HUD regulation.

The issue was raised initially by Guilford County Commissioner Robert Shaw. Greensboro Daily News reporters Steve Berry and Stan Swofford investigated Shaw's complaints and their report was published recently on the newspaper's front page.

T-Shirts Awarded To Student Readers

Awarding of special T-shirts for reading achievements was made today to two eighth grade students at Aycock Junior High, according to Mrs. Paula Sherlock, Title I Resource teacher in the reading program.

The two, Jim Ensor and Mark Grossnickle, received the T-shirts emblazoned with the logo of Aycock Junior High at an impromptu ceremony held at noon today at Aycock. The T-shirts are in recognition of each having read more than 100 books, the criteria for receiving one of the shirts.

"Their reading of this number of books has been verified by their Language-Arts teacher," Mrs. Sherlock said. "Each of the books read must be at least 100 pages in length, so that means each of the boys have read at least 10,000 pages since the program was first announced."

Covering the school year 1975-76, the T-shirt award program is to promote the idea of reading for enjoyment, with students encouraged to use the media center, public libraries, exchange of paperback books with fellow students and friends, and other sources of reading.

The program received a kickoff earlier in the year when an announcement was made that envelopes with gift certificates were hidden at different places within the school. "There was a lot of excitement in the search," Mrs. Sherlock said, "and the interest has been sustained. "We're surprised and happy that these two boys have already met the requirement, and expect there'll be more soon."

DIAL DIRECTION DAILY 752-1333

Not everyone has caught the spirit of this Bicentennial Year. There's a cynic in town who is already complaining about our emphasis on "liberty — and that junk."

He's the same cynic, incidentally, who has been heard to berate "religion — and that garbage."

But the shouting of cynics cannot change the fact that these two hundred years of American history stand on the foundations of freedom and faith.

This is the heritage we carry forward into our third century. Always remember that there are those who wish they were free to worship with us in our churches every Sunday!

You cannot use two different measuring sticks, one of perhaps 10 inches, the other of 12, and claim to have comparable measurements. Regardless of whatever size measuring stick you use, it must be the same for both years.

Curiously, the U.S. government doesn't seem to care a lot about this, at least in releasing some of the statistics that have popular appeal, such as for Gross National Product or retail sales.

Did you know that the greater the inflation the bigger is the official GNP measurement? Yes, it's true, inflation is included in that figure just as if it were a good or service produced, which is what GNP is supposed to be.

When you hear about retail sales being higher than those of a year ago, are you prepared to discount the figures by the inflation rate? Economists do so automatically, but the public often gets misled.

Before inflation can be licked, Touche Ross suggests, labor, corporate management, government and academia must be able to discuss the problem from a base of sound information.

That base is lacking today, and errors of interpretation and planning throughout the economy are affecting everyone's pocketbook and sometimes employment as well.

ECU students will take part in the service and serve as ushers. Senior minister, Rev. F. Roderick Randolph, will preach on "Discipleship During 1976." The Chancel Choir will sing "O Morning Star How Far and Bright" by Bach.

discussion can go forward and on which decisions can be made," the committee said. "It also provides a base to which cost information in the future can be compared."

Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., chairman of the committee, said his panel did not "endorse or reject" the methods used by USDA in compiling the report but that it was being published so that the information could be disseminated as widely as possible.

The department said free single copies of the summary released Tuesday are available from ERS Publication Service, Room 0054 S, USDA, Washington, D.C., 20250.

City Council...

Revocation of the privilege license stops Wynne's company from doing any construction business in the city.

Councilman William Hadden indicated that he was reluctant to deny a man his means of making a living without some means of recovery.

It was pointed out that Wynne has had repeated opportunities to correct situations and to comply with the ordinance but has failed to do so.

The Council, according to Dr. Frank Fuller, has a responsibility not only to Wynne but to the citizens of Greenville who might employ the services of the company.

A resolution was authorized stating the city's obligation for the development and construction of thoroughfares through planned residential subdivisions.

An ordinance adopted by the board last night spells out rights-of-way and construction requirements for street development, as well as a construction agreement whereby "When a street that is on the Thoroughfare Plan is to be constructed in a residential subdivision by a developer and the . . . Plan requires additional width beyond that required by the Subdivision Regulations, the city will participate in the additional cost for that additional width in the center section of the street . . ."

City Engineer Charlie Holliday said that some questions had been raised by developers concerning the city's part in the street participation. The ordinance will also give the Planning and Zoning Commission some guidelines to follow in considering development requests.

A public hearing was scheduled for Feb. 5 on the proposed annexation of the new Pitt County Memorial Hospital site and adjacent properties located in the vicinity of N.C. 43 and the Statonsburg Road.

The Planning and Zoning Commission met in a special session this week to consider the annexation matter, unanimously endorsed the proposal and recommended approval by the Council.

Caldwell presented members of the Council copies of the annexation impact report prepared by the city planner's office.

The Council voted unanimously to accept a letter of apology from three East Carolina University students concerning the pre-Christmas theft of the Community Christmas Tree from Elm Street Park. A check for $150 was also enclosed with the letter, it was pointed out.

The Rev. James Bailey was appointed to the Human Relations Council to fill the position held by the late Clarence Stasavich. Council member and Mayor Pro-tem, Mrs. Mildred McGrath, was reappointed as the City Council's representative on the Mid-East Commission.

Other Council action included: scheduling of a public hearing for Feb. 5 to consider adoption of

The program was directed by Dr. Lawrence A. Allen of the University of Kentucky, who has directed similar workshop programs for librarians in Charlotte and Greensboro.

Says Rates To Go Higher

RALEIGH (AP)—Carolina Power and Light Co. customers who think their bills are too high now are in for more bad news; they will be paying between 30 and 92 per cent more in the next nine years, an economist predicted.

Testifying before the state Utilities Commission, Bruce M. Louise, a consultant for the state attorney general's office, said the utility will have to increase rates to build new generating plants to meet growing demand. His testimony came Thursday in a hearing on CP&L's request for a 22 per cent rate increase.

The total increase by 1984 will be determined by how many additional generating plants the utility will need, he said. CP&L has projected an annual increase in demand for electricity of 7.7 per cent, but the increase in 1973 to 1975 was only 3.6 per cent a year, he said, adding, demand increases at the present rate will force rates up 30 per cent more by 1984 and if CP&L's projections are correct, the increase will be in the 92 per cent range by then.

Bucs Start Road Trip Against Furman

Pirates Swim Past Maine

East Carolina's swimmers defeated the University of Maine 64 to 49 last night to capture their second dual meet of the season in as many tries.

Steve Ruedlinger paced the Pirates by taking first in the 50-meter freestyle and the 200-meter butterfly.

Coach Ray Scharf said, "It was a good team effort. Our distance events really pulled us through."

"The Pirates were first and second in both the 1000 meter and the 500 meter freestyle events.

East Carolina will host the Tar Heels of the University of North Carolina on Saturday in the Minges Pool at 1 p.m. This is the top meet of the year for ECU, and one that coach Scharf says will be "one heck of a contest." Last year, North Carolina edged the Pirates 59-54 in Chapel Hill.

Guard Billy Dineen

Coach Dave Patton is going to be taking a hard look at some people this weekend. He didn't like what he saw Wednesday night, and he's hoping that Saturday afternoon in South Carolina will be better.

Wednesday, the Pirates were pounded by Old Dominion, the 13th ranked college division team in the country, 95-70. Saturday, the Bucs take on Furman on the Paladins' home court in a 3 p.m. regionally televised game.

"I was embarrassed," Patton said after watching his Pirates lose their sixth game in 11 starts.

"I didn't feel that we put out enough effort to even make the game close. Old Dominion played well, I'll admit, but we stood around and watched them. And this is the second time in a little over a week they've done it." Patton was referring to the loss to Rollins in last week's Tangerine Bowl Tournament.

"There's not much you can say when the six games you've lost are by as many or more than our worst defeat last year, 17 points. We've just got some guys who are not doing the job the way they are supposed to do it."

Patton said the Pirates took bad shots, and that was the reason for their sub-40 per cent shooting. "We didn't play as a team."

No one on the team drew praises from the coach. He did admit to some good things from some people in spots, however.

"Larry Hunt did a good job on the defensive backboards, but didn't do enough on offense. Lou Crosby played a good steady game, but nothing spectacular. And we had some hustle from Billy Dineen."

The coach added that he felt that by starting Crosby, he puts the freshman guard into a more comfortable position with less pressure on him, as compared to coming off the bench.

Patton said he wasn't surprised by Virginia Military's win over Furman, also Wednesday night, but the 82-67 margin was a shock.

"Furman has a good team. They were hampered by having Craig Lynch out (back spasms), but you can bet that he'll be there Saturday."

Patton scouts Furman as a team much like Old Dominion. "Of course they don't have the big man like Wilson Washington, but they have two outstanding forwards in Lynch and junior college transfer Ray Miller. They're not as deep as Joe (Williams) would like, but they have five very fine players."

Going into this week's games, Furman was averaging 77.1 points a game, as compared to 73.6 for the Bucs. They were allowing 84.5, however, just better than the Bucs 85.0.

Furman leads the league in field goal shooting, hitting 51.9, but is next to last at the line, 60.7. They are also next to last in rebounding, recovering 47.1 per cent of the loose balls.

Miller is the conference's leading scorer with a 20.8 average. Lynch is hitting 17.4 per game, while Jim Strickland has a 13.0 mark. Strickland also heads the league in shooting, hitting 70 per cent of his shots.

Ronnie Smith, one of the guards, has a 57.4 percentage.

Strickland is the leading rebounder at 7.5 per game, while Miller is pulling down 5.8 per outing.

"We are going to have to start doing the things we are supposed to do," Patton said. "We have to play better defense, block out on the boards, hustle and run the offense. We haven't had any floor leadership, and I really don't know why. We're playing like a bunch of individuals, and individuals don't like to be led. This might be it."

Patton said last year, he didn't have to worry about the team doing the job. "But this year, I go into every game with a lot of 'ifs' and I don't like it. We're going to try and find five people who want to give what it takes."

The coach said he expects to start two or three freshmen and a sophomore against Furman. "We'll go with Crosby and Ty Edwards, and possibly Dineen. We'll also start Wade Henkel, and I just don't know who else right now."

"We've got to find something inside them we haven't had yet. We've got four tough road games ahead of us, all in the conference. If we are going to go out and play, I'm not going to worry about it."

The Bucs, currently 2-1 in the league, play Richmond, Appalachian and William & Mary, all on the road, next week following the Furman game.

Mobley, Moyer Pace Scoring

D. H. Conley's Rick Mobley and Farmville Central's Julia Moyer head the list of scorers in the Pitt-Martin-Greene area after just over one month of play—and both have healthy leads.

Mobley leads the boys' scoring with a husky 27.7 point per game average well ahead of Donnie Perkins of North Pitt, who has a 19.3 mark. In turn, he has a healthy lead over Jamesville's Eric Davis, 15.8, and Roanoke's Paul Jones, 15.4.

Miss Moyer has an every 20.0 average, while Ayden-Grifton's Audrey McCarter is second with a 14.7 mark. She is trailed by Patricia Taylor of Bear Grass at 13.7 and Sissy Taylor of Williamston, 12.6.

Ayden-Grifton and North Pitt head the boys' teams with perfect 6-0 marks. Oddly enough of the 10 schools in the area, they are the only ones with a winning record. Conley is even at 3-3.

Conley is the top offensive team with a 65.5 average, while North Pitt leads in defense with a 48.0 mark. North Pitt also holds down the best winning margin at 13.2 points a game.

Among the girls, Williamston is the lone unbeaten at 8-0. The Tigerettes also lead in Offense, 53-0, defense, 27.6, and margin of victory, 25.4.

Ayden-Grifton and Farmville Central, both 4-2, and Roanoke, 4-3, are the only others with winning records.

Miller Fails To Grab Lead

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Johnny Miller's fantastic string of successes in the Arizona desert — he had led every round of every tournament in this state since Jan. 12, 1974 — came to a watery and woeful end.

"It was an easy seven," Miller said with a half-hearted reach for humor in a completely humorless situation.

"Not only did I hit it in the water, I had to three-putt on top of it," said Miller, bitterly disappointed, completely subdued, almost in tears and speaking just above a whisper.

All his troubles were centered on the 460-yard, par-four 18th hole of the Tucson National Golf Club course.

In the gathering gloom of late afternoon, Miller went to that final tee needing a birdie to tie the journeyman Gibby Gilbert at six-under par 66 for the first-round lead Thursday in the $200,000 Tucson Open.

But Miller pushed his drive to the right in the glimmering water of a man-made lake that has provided so many heart-aches in this old event. He finished the hole with a triple bogey, a round of 70 and was four strokes back in the first competitive round of the 1976 pro golf tour.

"It was a terrible shot," Miller said.

"I never thought I would do what I did, but I did it. It just came from out of the blue. I can't believe it."

He tried a little smile. It didn't quite come off.

"But I'm not in bad position. I'll be all right. Really, I played pretty good. I just hit that one bad shot."

But that one shot turned the whole tournament around.

From his customary position among the leaders Miller, record-setting winner of this event the last couple of seasons, suddenly was well back in the pack.

Tom Weiskopf, who became the center of a raging controversy when he missed the cut for the last two rounds of this tournament a year ago, rode a birdie-eagle-par-birdie string to a 67, one stroke back of the leading Gilbert, a consistent money-winner and a one-time winner in seven years of tour activity.

The group at 68, two off the pace and two ahead of Miller, was composed of Dave Hill, Phil Rogers, Curtis Sifford, Larry Nelson, Frank Conner and Jim Simons.

British Open champion Tom Watson was at 70 despite losing four strokes to par over the last four holes.

Lee Trevino matched par 72 despite three three-putts.

Arnold Palmer, now 46 and without an American victory for three years, struggled to a fat 77 and appeared likely to miss the cut for the last two days' activity.

Split Pair Of Contests

CHICOD — Chicod and Belvoir split a pair of junior high school basketball games last night.

Belvoir won the girls' game, 26-12. Wooten led the Belvoir scoring with 10 points.

Chicod came back to win the boys' game, 45-40. Curtis Spencer led Chicod with 22 points, while Carl Arnold added 18. William Lee paced Belvoir with 12, while Gary Atkinson hit 11.

Greg Luzinski of the Philadelphia Phillies led the National League in runs batted in during 1975 with 121. He led Johnny Bench of Cincinnati by 11 and teammate Tony Perez by 12.

Williamston In Wrestling Win

AHOSKIE — Williamston High School's wrestling team gained a 43-25 victory over hosting Ahoskie last night.

The victory evened up the Williamston record at 3-3 overall and left them with a 2-2 Northeastern Conference record.

Williamston won eight weight classes, including two pins and two forfeits. Ahoskie took four weights, winning two on pins also. One weight class was double forfeited.

Williamston's Sam Short extended his record on the year to 6-0.

The Tigers return to action next Wednesday, traveling to Edenton.

Blount Is Top Defensive Star

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Cornerback Mel Blount, Pittsburgh's premier stealer in the Steelers' airtight defense, was named the National Football League's Defensive Player of the Year today by The Associated Press.

The six-year veteran from Southern University blossomed into stardom with his league-leading 11 interceptions during the regular season. That included a streak in which he had at least one in six straight games, only the ninth player ever to do that in the NFL. And in three games he picked off a pair of passes.

That performance, and his all-around play on a team whose "Steel Curtain" defensive line gets most of the plaudits, earned Blount 30 of the 78 votes cast by nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Defensive tackles took the next four places in the balloting — Curley Culp of the Houston Oilers and John Dutton of the Baltimore Colts with 10 votes apiece, Wally Chambers of the Chicago Bears with eight and Joe Greene of the Steelers with seven. Others receiving nominations included safety Cliff Harris of Dallas, defensive tackles Merlin Olsen of Los Angeles and Otis Sistrunk of Oakland, and three more Steelers — defensive end L.C. Greenwood and linebackers Jack Ham and Jack Lambert.

"Mel always had the potential for the type of season he had this year, but in the past he wasn't holding onto the ball the way he has this year," said Pittsburgh Coach Chuck Noll.

Oregon Ducks Give Bruins Fit Draft, Scouting Style Key To Dallas Success

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Meet college basketball's version of the Keystone Kops — the Oregon Ducks.

"You have to see it to believe it," says UCLA Coach Gene Bartow, who saw it and almost didn't believe it.

The Ducks, who drive everyone crazy with their insane, kamikazi style of play, had the nation's third-ranked team running around in circles for a while Thursday night.

But the Bruins endured 62-61, despite watching the zany Ducks dive for loose balls and leap over press tables in their usual flamboyant manner.

"We made some errors," said Ron Lee, Oregon's high scorer with 17 points. "But we proved tonight that we can beat anybody when we want to go out and play."

A crowd almost as wild as the team cheered on Oregon as the unranked Ducks gave the Bruins fits until the last second. In fact, Oregon had the ball with 17 seconds to go but squandered several opportunities to score the winning basket.

"It was a good win," said Bartow after the Great Escape. "You're supposed to get one like this once in a while on the road."

Four other ranked teams were in action Thursday night as No. 5 Nevada-Las Vegas nipped Seattle 90-89; No. 17 Minnesota stopped Illinois 77-68; Oregon State defeated 18th-ranked Southern Cal 80-70 and 19th-rated Michigan coasted past Wisconsin 106-81.

Ralph Drollinger and Andre McCarter sparked UCLA in the second half as the Bruins held off the wild Ducks. All the excitement boiled down to the last three minutes.

UCLA had a 57-47 lead with six minutes on the clock but later Oregon's Stu Drummond, Mark Barwig and Greg Ballard closed the gap to 59-53 with 2:45 left. A free throw by Drollinger made it 60-53.

Lee then scored a field goal with 2:30 left to make it 60-55 UCLA and Drollinger responded with another free throw. After UCLA failed to put the ball in play in five seconds, Oregon's Mike Drummond hit two shots from the top of the key, closing the Ducks within 61-59.

With 35 seconds to play, McCarter sank a free throw, then Lee hit a layin with 25 seconds left, bringing Oregon within 62-61. Freshman Dan Mack intercepted UCLA's inbound pass and called time out with 17 seconds left.

Lee dribbled to the baseline and passed to Ballard, who missed an eight-foot bank shot. Drollinger rebounded and was fouled with four seconds left. He missed the shot, and Drummond heaved a desperation shot from half-court at the buzzer, but it bounced off the backboard.

Robert Smith made a key steal and sank four free throws in the final minute as Nevada-Las Vegas beat Seattle.

Ray Williams and Flip Saunders ignited a second-half rally that carried Minnesota past Illinois. Williams finished with 26 points and 12 rebounds to help the Gophers snap a two-game losing streak.

Rocky Smith, a junior college transfer, collected 29 points as Oregon State stunned Southern Cal. It was only the second loss in 13 games for the Trojans while the Beavers improved their record to 8-4.

Phil Hubbard and Joel Thompson each scored 18 points and John Robinson had 17 to pace Michigan over Wisconsin.

Richmond Eases Past East Tennessee, 71-67

By The Associated Press

Though they were the pre-season favorites to win the Southern Conference title, Richmond's Spiders have fought an uphill battle to stay in the race in the wake of a defection by one key player and the loss of another who ran into trouble with the law.

What was there, however, was sufficient in Johnson City, Tenn., Thursday night as the Spiders won their second game in a row — a 71-67 victory over nonleague foe East Tennessee State.

The Spiders were the only conference team to see action Thursday night, and all conference teams are off tonight.

The Spiders were highly touted as a conference power at the outset of the season, but since then they have lost the services of two first-stringers.

But guards Kevin Eastman and John Campbell each converted a pair of crucial free throws in the final 44 seconds, enabling the Spiders to upend homesteading East Tennessee State and improve their record to 4-5.

Richmond is still very much in the conference race with a record of 2-1, and a conference clash set for Saturday night against Appalachian State University.

The Spiders were ahead by only two, 67-65, when Eastman stepped to the line with 44 seconds left and made both ends of a one-and-one opportunity. Then Campbell sealed the victory with two more free throws four seconds from the final buzzer.

Mike Morton, who was pressed into the starting lineup last week when leading scorer and rebounder John Brown left school, was the game's leading scorer with 21 points.

Kendall "Tiny" Pinder led East Tennessee State with 20 points. Ron Richardson, one of East Tennessee's leading scorers, was held to two points. Bob Brown scored 13.

Meantime, Virginia Military's Keydets, who had the day off, were savoring their Wednesday night 82-67 victory over three-time former conference champion Furman.

"That's got to give our kids a lot of confidence," said Coach Bill Blair of Wednesday night's victory. "That put us in great shape in the conference...the rest have to catch us now." VMI's conference record is 3-0, while William and Mary is 2-0, East Carolina, 3-1 and Richmond 2-1.

"We've got a tough January schedule," said Blair who admitted it may be tough to hold the conference lead. "...and, we have only three at home during the month.

"If I were bringing them in here," he said, in a reference to the Keydets' home, The Pit, "I'd feel real good. But we only have three conference games left at home. There's no security."

State May Host Trials

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—Though a final decision won't be announced until Feb. 1, Olympics officials reportedly have narrowed the choice for the United States' final basketball trials to North Carolina State University in Raleigh.

Initially, three sites were under consideration but two of them have been ruled out, the News and Observer of Raleigh reported in today's editions. Seven days of trials will be in late May or early June.

Also to be officially decided when the Olympics basketball committee meets in Chicago Feb. 1 is housing the 12-member team at the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill—about 30 miles from Raleigh—until the games in Montreal during July and August. UNC basketball Coach Dean Smith is head coach of the U.S. Olympic team.

In a telephone interview Thursday, Stan Watts, chairman of the Olympics basketball committee and athletic director at Brigham Young University in Provo, said, "I have written Coach Smith and Floyd Lay, the chairman of our site selection committee, and if they agree, we probably will draw up a contract with N.C. State."

The committee wanted an East Coast location with four basketball courts under one roof "and I can't think of any place other than Carmichael Gymnasium at State that does," Smith said.

Officials at N.C. State they hadn't been told that the school is the likely site for the trials.

Also considered were the University of Utah at Salt Lake City and the Memphis, Tenn., area, Watts said. "Memphis doesn't have the facilities and Utah will be in school at that time, so they can't handle the athletes in their dormitories," he said.

Between 44 and 64 players will be invited to try out for the team, Smith said.

Smith Hits 51 In Warrior Win

By JOHN NELSON
AP Sports Writer

"We might have stopped him with a seven-man line and four linebackers," said Phoenix Coach John MacLeod. Unfortunately, the game was called basketball — Golden State style.

And Phil Smith played it to the hilt. Smith scored 51 points Thursday night in Golden State's 129-113 National Basketball Association romp over the Suns. It was the most points scored this year by an NBA player and, by far, Smith's best night as a pro.

The 6-foot-4 guard out of the University of San Francisco had never scored more than 27 points in a pro game — 34 was his college high. He scored 20 points in the third quarter, when he made all eight of his field goal attempts and scored 16 consecutive Golden State points. At one point, he made 13 straight field goal attempts.

"Someone told me he was making a lot of points," said Golden State Coach Al Attles, "so I wanted to make sure he would get at least 50. They started to get the ball to him and he just made them."

Smith made 20 of 27 field goal attempts, shooting mostly from the outside. The best previous scoring total in the league this season was 50 points by Buffalo's Bob McAdoo.

"It was just one of those things that happens," said Smith. "It got kind of bad at the end (when they started to look for him), and I told the other guys to stop it. Before, I was just getting the ball in the flow of the game."

In other NBA games Thursday night, Houston downed Atlanta 115-106, Cleveland trimmed Philadelphia 115-105, and New Orleans beat Kansas City 107-97.

Rockets 115, Hawks 105
Houston went on a 17-0 tear at the start of the second half to beat the Hawks. Calvin Murphy and John Johnson combined for 13 points in the Rockets' burst. The score was tied 58-58 at halftime before Houston rallied for a 75-60 lead.

Murphy finished with 34 points and Johnson closed with 21. John Drew led Atlanta with 27 points.

Cavs 115, 76ers 105
Jim Chones scored 19 points and grabbed 13 rebounds to lead the Cavaliers to their first victory this year over the 76ers. Bobby Smith and Campy Russell alternated in guarding Philadelphia's George McGinnis, who scored 26 points but was rendered relatively harmless while the Cavs were building their lead.

Jazz 107, Kings 97
Pete Maravich scored 37 points to help New Orleans come back from an 11-point third-quarter deficit and defeat the Kings 107-97. Kansas City rookie Glenn Hansen scored a career-high 26 points in the loss and pulled down 10 rebounds.

The Kings led 74-63 in the third period but New Orleans outscored Kansas City 17-7 in the final four minutes of the quarter.

DALLAS (AP) — For the third time in six years the Dallas Cowboys have made the National Football League championship game thanks to the collegiate draft and a superb scouting system.

There are 12 rookies and nine free agents on the team Dallas takes to Super Bowl X. Only running back Preston Pearson, ironically obtained from Pittsburgh, and World Football League linebacker Warren Capone weren't picked by the Cowboy computers and scouts.

"Some people like blondes and some like brunettes, but I feel like the draft is the way to go," says Dallas vice president Gil Brandt, who oversees the Cowboy scouting. "Washington has been the only team I can remember that has been able to trade for a championship team."

"You might improve a team considerably for one or two years through trades but it will catch up with you when no new guys come in," Brandt said, adding:

"You can't be a 100 per cent draft team. Sometimes you get too many linebackers and have to trade. Then on some rare occasion you find a Preston Pearson."

Pittsburgh cut Pearson when the Steelers became overstocked with running backs and Dallas snapped him up without even having to pay the $100 waiver price.

The free agents on the team include Drew Pearson, who caught Roger Staubach's last second "Hail Mary" pass to defeat Minnesota; running back Doug Dennison; defensive back Benny Barnes; linebackers Dave Edwards and Capone; free safety Cliff Harris; place-kicker Toni Fritsch; and receivers Percy and Ron Howard.

Brandt, a former baby photographer, had a hobby of rating football players in 1960 when Dallas became an NFL expansion team. His knowledge impressed Tex Schramm, now club president, and owner Clint Murchison. And since its inception, Dallas has been an innovative team that built itself through the draft.

Dallas works with a scouting group called "Quadra" which feeds information into a computer system named Optimum Systems Inc., a subsidiary of the Cowboys and owned by Murchison.

There are five fulltime scouts in the Cowboy organization. The computer-scout system has had its failures like Bill Thomas, drafted No. 1 in 1972. Thomas was a flop but Robert Newhouse, taken in the second round the same year, gained over 900 yards this season.

"We go back and evaluate our mistakes to see why a Bill Thomas failed and why a Burton Lawless exceeded expectations," says Brandt.

Lawless, a rookie from Florida drafted in the second round in 1975, moved into the starting lineup at guard and has played well in the two National Conference playoff games.

"Sometimes a computer tends to take the personality out of it and you have to watch for this," says Brandt.

Six players on the 43-man roster are former first-round draft picks — linebacker Lee Roy Jordan, tight end Billy Joe DuPree, defensive end Ed "Too Tall" Jones, running back Charles Young, linebacker-linebacker Randy White and linebacker Thomas Henderson.

Carbide, G-W Stay Unbeaten

Grady-White and Union Carbide remained unbeaten in Adult Basketball League play last night, chalking up their second and third wins, respectively.

Grady-White took an 84-51 victory over Carolina Telephone in a Class A game. The Boatmen pulled out a 36-27 halftime lead, then doubled up on CT&T by outthrottling them, 48-24, in the second half.

Vincent Barnhill led G-W with 21 points, while Bobby Jones had 18, Charles Dixon had 14 and William Atkinson had 10. Dallas Station led CT&T with 20.

Union Carbide downed Greenville Utilities, 80-72 in the first of three Class AA games. GUCo jumped into a 38-32 lead at the end of the first half, but couldn't hold onto it. Union Carbide came back to push through 36, while GUCo got 30, tying it at 68-68 at the end of regulation time. The Battery men then outthrottled GUCo, 12-4, in the overtime for the win.

Tommy Roach led Union Carbide with 33 points, while Garland Warren had 18, Jimmy Sutton had 14 and Phil Page had 13. GUCo was led by Thomas Mullens and Richard Green, each with 15, while Robert Green, James Clemons and Alexander Wallace each hit 12.

The second game saw the Henrahan Hawks take a 71-44 win over Man's Room. The Hawks built up a 40-23 halftime lead and coasted in with a 31-21 edge in the second half.

Billy Edwards led the Hawks with 23 points, while Carr Tucker had 11 and Phil Duffy added 10. Ray McLawhorn led Man's Room with 14, and Pat Finnegan added 10.

The final game saw the Davis Wildcats down Wachovia, 67-55. The 'Cats held a 39-26 lead at the half, and held off a Wachovia rally, 29-28, in the second half.

Larry Worthington led the Wildcats with 21, while Steve Johnson and Larry Bradley each had 12 and Darnell Speight hit 10. Leon Johnson led Wachovia with 17, while Carl Ferbee had 14 and Don Hardison had 12.

Bethel In Two Wins

BETHEL — Bethel Middle School gained a pair of victories over Stokes-Pactolus yesterday in basketball.

Bethel downed Stokes, 42-15, in the girls' game. Brenda Moore led Bethel with 10 points, while Breven had nine to lead Stokes.

In the boys' game, Bethel took a 38-30 win. Neal Carr led Bethel with 14, while Reginald Knight had eight to lead Stokes.

Terps, Deacons Top ACC Action

By The Associated Press

Maryland's Atlantic Coast Conference basketball opener against Wake Forest Saturday is the Game of the Week in the league.

A capacity crowd of more than 15,000 is expected in the Greensboro, N.C., Coliseum. The game will be televised in Washington over WMAL and in Baltimore over WBFF.

At the same time, the North Carolina at Virginia game will be the regionally televised attraction over the ACC network. Wake Forest jumped into seventh place in the national rankings after winning its first 10 games, including triumphs over North Carolina and North Carolina State in the Big Four Tournament last weekend. Then, on Wednesday, the Deacons lost their first one, at Virginia, 63-58. The same night the undefeated Terps, No. 2, won their 11th game, 82-72 at George Washington.

Going into the Wednesday night games, Maryland was making 59.3 per cent of its field goal attempts, better than the 54.7 per cent that won it the NCAA record last year. The Terrapins were averaging 97.1 points a game.

Six Maryland players were averaging in double figures. They were John Lucas 19.1, Steve Sheppard 18.6, freshman Larry Gibson 13, Brad Davis 11.3, Maurice Howard 10.7 and Lawrence Boston 10.5.

Sheppard was among the nation's leaders in field goal accuracy, making 71 per cent of his shots from the floor. Wake Forest's star guard Skip Brown, who injured a knee in the Big Four Tournament, played in the Virginia game and made 20 points, his average. Going into the game the Deacons had three other players averaging in double figures. They were Rod Griffin 18, Jerry Schellenberg 15.2 and Daryl Peterson 12.3.

Schellenberg was voted the most valuable player in the Big Four Tournament. In their 10 winning games the Deacons averaged 91.6 points, and joined the Terps among the top 10 college teams in scoring. Wake Forest was hitting 49.5 per cent of its shots from the field.

There will be two other games for ACC teams Saturday night, against outsiders. Clemson will be at the Citadel of the Southern Conference, and N.C. State will be home to independent Rollins.

ACC teams were idle Thursday night. Duke will be at game and series, Mildred Cunningham, 220, 534.

John Wayne's Energy Machine

HARTFORD (AP)—Shifting his sights from shoot-em-ups to break-em-downs, actor John Wayne is trying to interest Connecticut in a process for turning garbage into oil and methane gas.

Wayne says the "pyrohydrogenation" process backed by his Duke Engineering Co. of Irvine, Calif. could turn the state's annual load of three million tons of garbage into 7.1 million barrels of oil and 12 billion cubic feet of gas.

The United States uses about 16 million barrels of oil a day. If Wayne's process worked as outlined, it would provide about 19,450 barrels of oil a day, a significant amount of oil but hardly a dent in what's needed in the nation or even Connecticut.

Nonetheless, 19,000 barrels a day is better than most individual oil wells produce in this country. The key to success of a project such as Wayne's would be the cost-per-barrel. If the process can come close to the price-per-barrel of conventionally produced oil, then it could be economically viable. Otherwise he might be producing oil that costs more to produce than it is worth in the marketplace.

Many energy experts say such synthetic energy systems are too expensive to be practical at this time. Wayne and his engineering company disagree.

Wayne's process involves the breaking down of garbage into basic chemical components and "cracking" (a heating process used in conventional refineries) to produce oil.

Charles Stroh, chairman of the Connecticut Resources Recovery Authority, says he received a brief proposal from Wayne's firm. He says he wants to know more about what financial guarantees the firm has before spending a lot of time on the proposal.

Stroh says the company is interested in putting up the money needed for construction and implementation of a facility in Connecticut where the process would be carried out.

Another alternative is for the recovery authority, a quasi-government agency supervising the state's resource recovery program, to sell bonds for the project that would be guaranteed by Wayne and his associates, he says.

Wayne says his system will give Connecticut "a reliable source of energy, solve a severe environmental problem and provide a profit to boot."

The process, which is also being experimented with by major American petroleum producers, involves treating solid waste in a special reaction chamber in the absence of oxygen and using hydrogen as a catalyst.

"They all seem to work on small scale models," says Stroh, "but no one knows for sure whether they'll work on a large scale."

But Wayne is insistent about the worth of his version of the process developed by his friend, Bill Chambers of Oklahoma.

"We put trash in at the front end and out the back end come the oil, the methane, the propane and char residue, which can be used as a fuel or made into high quality briquettes," the actor said in a recent interview. "Our system uses no water, operates its own energy. There's no pre-treatment, no auxiliary plants and the closed system is free of all pollution. There's nothing to get the Friends of the Earth or the Sierra Club upset about."

Opening lead: King of ♠.

Contrary to popular belief, your opponents are really nice people, eager to give you a helping hand. All they need is a little encouragement, as South demonstrated on this hand.

Despite the fact that he held only 8 HCP, this department endorses North's jump to game, especially at this vulnerability. There was an excellent possibility that his good five-card suit would yield five tricks and put his side in a strong position to collect the nine tricks needed for game. On this particular hand, the result would have been the same had he simply invited with two no trump, for South was at the top of his bid and would have gone on to game himself.

West led the king of diamonds, and when dummy came down declarer saw that he would be on an easy street if the club finesse succeeded. However, if East held the king of clubs, there was a danger that the opponents could take a club and four diamond tricks to defeat the contract.

One way to thwart the diamond onslaught was to duck the first trick. That would work well if West continued diamonds, or shifted to a black suit. It would not be the greatest move, however, if West elected to switch to hearts, where declarer had only a single stopper.

Declarer found an elegant way to achieve his objective. He dropped the jack of diamonds under the king!

Put yourself in West's position. Wouldn't it look to you as if declarer had started with A-J bare of diamonds and your partner had three cards in the suit? West believed that, and continued the suit. Declarer did not make a mistake by ducking the second diamond, for if East had a third diamond that would mean that West had started with only four cards in the suit, and even if the club finesse failed, the defenders could take only three diamond tricks and the king of clubs.

On the actual distribution, East won the king of clubs when declarer took the finesse, but he was out of diamonds. Declarer could win any return and cash his nine tricks for an excellent result.

North Pitt School News

By GENEVA HOLDER

North Pitt reopened its doors Monday, January 5 to its students and faculty after a two week holiday.

The Junior ROTC returned to classes with a new instructor, First Sergeant John Relford. A native of Knoxville, Tenn., Relford joined the Army in 1954. Among his assignments have been radar and radio repairman, radio, teletype, and Morse code operator, and area communications chief. Relford was later transferred to Europe where he programmed and repaired computers for missile flights. His last assignment was as the commander of a field artillery unit at Ft. Bragg.

JROTC cadets toured Ft. Bragg Thursday. They visited the military museum and watched paratroopers perform. The JROTC cadets have been asked by Ott Alford, Superintendent of Pitt County Schools, to act as ushers and parking lot attendants at the District Two Boards of Education Meeting to be held at North Pitt Wednesday, January 14.

The Panther basketball teams will travel to D. H. Conley tonight and will host Greene Central Tuesday, January 13.

The Panther wrestlers travelled to D. H. Conley Wednesday night for their first match after the holidays. They will host J. T. Hoggard tonight and Southern Nash Wednesday January 14.

North Pitt's chorus, under the instruction of Steve Miller, are progressing after being assembled only a few months.

This week North Pitt Notes features sophomore Rodney Pritchard. Rodney, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Pritchard, of Bethel, is a captain and member of the JROTC Battalion Staff.

He is also a member of the color guard. In addition to playing second base on North Pitt's baseball team, Rodney enjoys hunting and swimming.
