GOP Governors Ask Reagan Quit

By NOEL YANCEY
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Nine Republican governors today asked former California Gov. Ronald Reagan to withdraw from the race for the GOP presidential nomination.

The request was made in a statement released by Gov. Jim Holshouser, Ford's regional campaign coordinator.

There was no immediate comment from Reagan, who is campaigning in North Carolina, where he faces Ford in Tuesday's presidential primary.

In the statement, the governors said they "now call upon Ronald Reagan to withdraw from the presidential race and with us and all other Republicans work for the election of President Ford."

Reagan, who has suffered five primary losses to Ford, said earlier this week he would remain in the race even if he lost to Ford in North Carolina on Tuesday.

The nine GOP governors who signed the statement included Holshouser and Daniel J. Evans of Washington; Mills Godwin of Virginia; Arch A. Moore Jr. of West Virginia; Otis Bowen of Indiana; William J. Milliken of Michigan; Robert D. Ray of Iowa; Robert F. Bennett of Kansas and Jay Hammond of Alaska.

The statement said that "with increasing clarity Republican voters have indicated that President Gerald R. Ford is their choice. We believe that with President Ford we have a leader who can be elected and who is equal to the challenge of the next four years."

The statement said Reagan—a two-term governor of California—"has served his party and his country with integrity and distinction." It said in the past several months "he has conducted an honorable campaign for the presidency."

"It is now important that all Republicans work together on the issues which confront us between now and November," the governors said. "We have to make a broad appeal to the electorate. We cannot afford the luxury of divisiveness nor can we fail to marshal all of our resources toward the common goal."

Holshouser said four Republican governors did not sign the statement. They included Gov. Meldrim Thompson of New Hampshire, Gov. James Edwards of South Carolina, Gov. James Rhodes of Ohio and Gov. Christopher Bond of Missouri.

Thompson and Edwards have campaigned for Reagan.

Wallace, Carter, Reagan Comb N.C. For Support

By ROBERT B. CULLEN
Associated Press Writer
Republican challenger Ronald Reagan, campaigning for North Carolina's primary election, says one of his main problems is fending off questions from those who want to know how long he expects to remain in the presidential race.

Reagan, loser to President Ford in the first five primary elections, waved off calls for his withdrawal and questions about the viability of his candidacy as he stumped North Carolina Thursday. Reagan said he expects a close race with Ford next Tuesday — and he feels he has a chance to win.

Democrats Jimmy Carter and George Wallace toured the state, too, in search of support for the next of the primary elections.

Four other Democrats are on the ballot — Washington Sen. Henry Jackson, Arizona Rep. Morris Udall, former Oklahoma Sen. Fred Harris and Texas Sen. Lloyd Bentsen. But Bentsen has quit the race and Jackson, Udall and Harris are concentrating their efforts elsewhere.

The Democratic field increased by one Thursday with entry of Sen. Frank Church of Idaho. "It's never too late, nor are the odds ever too great to try," Church declared in Idaho City, Idaho.

He became the second new candidate to enter the Democratic presidential race in a week. California Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. announced his candidacy last Friday.

North Carolina's Democratic primary is seen primarily as another duel between Carter and Wallace. Carter beat the Alabama governor in primaries in Florida and, last week, in Illinois; Wallace got more votes than Carter in the Massachusetts primary won by Jackson.

Jackson's interest in the North Carolina election fell off last week when New York's legislature changed the system for voting there April 6, making it easier for candidates with less money — like Udall — to round up support. The Washington senator quickly shifted his concentration to New York and the race for 274 national convention delegates, a race he predicts he will win.

North Carolina sends 61 delegates to the Democratic convention and 54 to the Republican meeting this summer, and Alex Brock, head of the state's election board, predicted this week that less than 38 per cent of the registered voters would help pick them.

"You've been with me, you've heard the crowd yell," Reagan said in reply to the many queries about his candidacy. "They don't want me to

Mrs. Reagan In Greenville Today

By ROSALIE TROTMAN

Mrs. Nancy Reagan, wife of Republican presidential candidate Ronald Reagan, discussed her husband's stands on the issues of the campaign this morning.

During the news conference here, Mrs. Reagan said, "We feel good about the race in North Carolina. We think it will be tight and close, but we believe we can win here because there is a large undecided vote."

"I have a deep-seated belief," she said, "that we need someone in Washington who has not been there before, who is not part of the Washington scene and never has been."

"I think it is interesting," she went on, "that the exact same questions are asked me whether I'm in Florida, or New Hampshire or wherever. The same things are bothering people."

"The Ford administration is negotiating to give away the Panama Canal Zone. Their policy of Detente has given away much more than we've gotten out of it. People think we have slipped to second place in our military strength."

Mrs. Reagan was introduced by Mrs. Jesse Helms, who told of Reagan's record as Governor of California. Mrs. John East and Mike Chandler, a member of the ECU Students for Reagan, presented her a porcelain cardinal as a memento of North Carolina.

Mrs. Reagan discussed the voting percentages in earlier primaries and answered questions from persons attending the conference.

Mrs. Reagan arrived in the Tar Heel State Thursday and will be here through Monday. She was honored at a coffee hour this morning at the Holiday Inn, where she also held a brief news conference.

She arrived here from Rocky Mount after attending a coffee there at a Franchise Enter-

Cite Another Drop In Rate Of Inflation

WASHINGTON (AP) — A near-record drop in grocery prices held inflation to its smallest monthly increase in more than four years during February as consumer prices rose only one-tenth of a per cent, the government said today.

Falling prices for beef led the decline at grocery counters where prices tumbled 1.5 per cent, the biggest monthly drop in 24 years, the Labor Department said.

Gasoline prices also declined, but the department said the food was the big factor in the slowdown of prices last month.

February's increase in overall consumer prices compared with an increase of four-tenths of a per cent in January and was the smallest since September, 1971, when prices also rose one-tenth of a per cent. All figures are adjusted to account for seasonal influences.

Nonfood prices also continued to increase at a moderate rate last month, while the cost of services such as medical fees and auto insurance went up sharply but at a somewhat slower rate than in January.

The department said the consumer price index in February stood at 167.1 meaning that consumers had to pay $167.10 for goods and services that cost $100 in the 1967 base period.

The index is not seasonally adjusted.

Despite the small February increase in prices, consumer prices still were 6.3 per cent higher than a year ago. However, that is the lowest 12-month increase since July 1973, when prices had risen 5.7 per cent.

Wholesale prices, which foreshadow trends at the retail level, have fallen at an adjusted annual rate of 3.8 per cent since November.

The Labor Department also said that spendable earnings of workers showed no change in February after rising two-tenths of a per cent in January. Over the year, real earnings — what's left after taxes and inflation — were up 4.8 per cent.

The government said a four-tenths of a per cent increase in average hourly earnings was offset by a decline in average weekly hours worked and the one-tenths of a per cent increase in consumer prices.

The Labor Department said the 1.5 per cent drop in grocery prices, which accounts for the major portion of the food index, was the second biggest drop since the Labor Department began tracking these prices in 1952.

Rules-Change

WASHINGTON (AP) — Telephone users will be able to shop around for all their phone equipment under a new Federal Communications Commission ruling.

The decision announced Thursday virtually ends the American Telephone & Telegraph Co.'s control over what phone equipment is installed in the nation's homes and businesses.

Customers now will be able to buy telephones, switchboards and other equipment from private vendors without having to pay AT&T for connecting devices.

AT&T contends that may prove a bane, not a blessing. "The quality and cost of telephone service for millions of Americans will be adversely affected by the decision," predicted AT&T Board Chairman John D. deButts.

AT&T claims competition may actually drive up consumers' phone costs. It warns that consumers may buy inferior equipment that will be more expensive to repair.

Ford Still Expects To Run Against Humphrey

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford thinks that perennial contender Hubert Humphrey will be the Democratic nominee to oppose him for the presidency.

Despite early Democratic primary victories by Jimmy Carter, "I will stick with my forecast of better than a year ago that I think Hubert will be the Democratic nominee," Ford said Thursday.

And Humphrey will be a tough opponent the President told 39 editors and reporters from North Carolina who were invited to the White House for an interview.

No Democrat will go to the national convention with enough delegates to win nomination on the first ballot, and this will work to Humphrey's advantage, Ford said.

North Carolina holds its Republican and Democratic presidential primaries on Tuesday. Ford faces Ronald Reagan on the Republican side. Jimmy Carter and George Wallace are the major candidates among the six Democrats on the ballot.

The President's personal invitation to Tar Heel newsmen was issued last week by telegram. Similar sessions have been held for New Hampshire, Massachusetts and Florida newsmen, all shortly before their primaries.

The President said unequivocally that Jim Holshouser, the first Republican governor of North Carolina in this century, would have a post in the new administration if Ford is elected. He would not specify if Holshouser would be considered for vice president or for a cabinet post.

Holshouser is Ford's Southern campaign coordinator.

The President said he would sign legislation to place 26.5 miles of North Carolina's New River in the federal Wild and Scenic River System if such legislation is necessary to block the proposed Blue Ridge power project.

Rhodesia Parleys Collapse

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Talks on the political future of white ruled Rhodesia collapsed today.

Black nationalist leader Joshua Nkomo said he would hold a news conference soon and Prime Minister Ian Smith said he may make a statement later in the day. Police reinforcements were reported dispatched immediately to Salisbury's African townships as a precaution against possibly violent black reaction.

Rhodesia, dominated by the 274,000 white minority, broke away from Britain in 1965 to avoid granting majority rule to the 5.7 million blacks. It has been under increasing pressure from much of the world since.

In recent months, black guerrillas based in neighboring Mozambique have increased crossborder raids.

Hotline does not feel it can become a pen pal column. However, we could not in good conscience ignore your request. It occurred to us that Volunteer Greenville might be able to help. We talked to Susan Mescher, director of Volunteer Greenville, who said this kind of program had never been considered, but she did not see why it could not be. She checked with her Board and called the next morning to say that Volunteer Greenville will be glad to handle any setting up correspondence between persons in this community and persons in institutions such as prisons, nursing homes and mental institutions who need a friend.

We're sending her your name and address today, and will forward any other requests for correspondents we get to Volunteer Greenville. We're sending you a clipping of this item so you will have the satisfaction of knowing that with your letter to us, you not only probably got a mail friend, but also may have opened the door for letter-writing friendships for many other people.

Bishop Search Turns To Gatlinburg, Tenn. Area

GATLINBURG, Tenn. (AP) — FBI agents using bloodhounds began a search today in a remote area of the Great Smoky Mountains National Park for State Department official Bradford Bishop Jr., indicted for five family murders.

Bishop, 39, is charged with the March 1 bludgeon slayings of his wife, mother and three sons. The FBI described him as "being extremely dangerous and having possible suicidal tendencies."

The search centered on trails leading out from Elkmont Campground where Bishop's 1974 maroon station wagon was found Thursday. Elkmont is seven miles southwest of Gatlinburg.

Authorities believe Bishop used the station wagon to transport the bodies of the five victims from his $90,000 Bethesda, Md., home to a remote gravesite in eastern North Carolina.

"If he's still in this area, there are six or eight trails he could have taken into the mountains from the Elkmont Campground," said Jack Linahan, assistant chief ranger of the Smoky Park.

"The park officials said nothing was found in a search of the station wagon that would indicate that Bishop was still in the Smokies." Linahan discounted reports that Bishop might have committed suicide and his body been devoured by bears and other animals in the mountains.

"He might have gone out on one of the trails and committed suicide, but I think that theory is very remote," Linahan said.

"He left no suicide note in the car. And besides, the bears have not come out of their winter hibernation yet. Bears are not carnivorous but they will eat carrion."

FBI agents sealed off the Elkmont area before the manhunt was begun.

Planning Needed To Keep Patients Busy

NEW YORK (AP) — Many a young mother has gone quietly mad trying to keep a household of youngsters, her own and probably some of the neighbors', occupied on a rainy Sunday afternoon.

To Peg Wilburn, every day is a rainy Sunday afternoon.

It is her job to keep her 500 charges busy, patients from 8 to 80, in the skilled nursing facility at Brooklyn's Kingsbrook, Jewish Medical Center.

"It's a real challenge," said Mrs. Wilburn, who is chief of recreational therapy at the medical center, "since for most of the patients, the institution is home for the balance of a lifetime."

Among her charges are 25 youngsters, some of whom, if not otherwise occupied, would be charging up and down corridors in their wheelchairs, a threat to life and limb of doctors, nurses, visitors and fellow patients. However, most patients, young and old, if left to their own devices, would simply vegetate.

Fortunately for Mrs. Wilburn, her resources are more extensive than those of most mothers. She has the cooperation of many of the hospital's departments, and is able to plan programs days, weeks and even months in advance.

"For patients able to leave the hospital, children and adults, I plan visits to theaters, parks, museums and sports events," she said. "Transportation to these places is possible because the hospital has a van with special attachments for wheelchair patients, who may be wheeled up on a ramp and the chairs locked in place."

Indoor activities take place in therapy shops, auditorium and gym. The spacious garden mall is used for outdoor programs, one of which was a colorful carnival on which patients worked for weeks with the staff to make and decorate booths. During the carnival, they acted as barkers and countermen for the ring toss games, wheels of chance and weight guessing. One patient was a fortune teller and another put on a puppet show.

"One of the projects of which I am most proud and which engendered a tremendous amount of excitement," said Mrs. Wilburn, "was a wheelchair decorating contest. It caught the imagination of our patients. It is therapeutically valuable when an activity is to be worked on over a period of time, since it maintains and strengthens the patients' interest and involvement."

The patients spent weeks creating unusual decorations. One patient created a jack-in-the-box. Another placed himself in a carton with multi-colored lights which went on and off to represent a computer. A third patient, by putting up side panels and a top, created a locomotive effect. One youngster, dressed in high hat and tails with a giant replica of the White House behind him, depicted Uncle Sam saluting the Bicentennial.

A ramp leading to a platform enabled each participant to be wheeled up for viewing by hundreds of fellow patients, staff and visitors. Awards were given for most unusual, weirdest, most imaginative, prettiest, most original and funniest entries.

"In the years when the Kingsbrook Jewish Medical Center cared for only long term, largely elderly patients, a volunteer program was instituted," Mrs. Wilburn said. Volunteers took patients out of the hospital to movies, beaches and parks. Organized groups, such as the Knights of Pythias, American Legion and Masonic groups, frequently brought and still bring entertainment to the patients.

"Such activities will always be important and always dependent upon the support and enthusiasm of volunteers," she added. "However, the need for professional direction in recreational therapy is largely based upon a recognition that leisure time activities are an essential part of the life of long term patients of all ages and very directly related to the success or lack of success they experience in their medical care."

"Thus," she said, "the patient at Kingsbrook is perceived as a 'total person' with all of the needs, hopes and fears and potential for joy that we have too long associated as belonging only to those who are not confined to a hospital setting."

Reader Has Answer For Early Arrivals

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1976 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: The hostess who was upset by early arrivals is making mountains out of molehills. Some folks are compulsive early arrivers. I know. I'm married to one. If I could sell the time I've spent sitting around in airports because my wife didn't want to "miss the plane," I'd have a fortune.

But the solution to early arrivals for a party is simple: Point them toward the magazine rack or give them today's newspaper. Oh, and assign them the task of greeting other early arrivals. That way you very neatly get the whole problem off your hands.

UNRUFFLED BY EARLY BIRDS

DEAR UN: Thanks for making molehills out of mountains.

DEAR ABBY: When my wife asked me what I wanted for Christmas, I said, "You'd never give it to me, so forget it." She nagged me until I finally told her that I wanted a wife who didn't smoke.

She thought for a minute, then put out her cigarette and asked, "How long do I have to quit for?"

"Forever," I replied. "But if you quit for a year, I'll be satisfied." (She was a three-pack-a-day smoker.)

Well, she hasn't had a cigarette since, and I'm really happy because I know she's better off. But now she's giving everybody who smokes a hard time.

She's put all our ashtrays away, and if we have guests over who start to smoke, she says, "If you MUST smoke, please go outside!"

When we're out and people ask her if she minds if they smoke, she says, "Yes. I'm allergic."

I'm glad she quit smoking, but how can I get her not to make such a big deal out of it?

LONG-SUFFERING HUSBAND

DEAR SUFFERING: Anyone who can quit cold turkey after having been a three-pack-a-day smoker deserves a hand. But she shouldn't give the back of her hand to others who have yet to recognize the hazards of their habit—or are unable (or unwilling) to give it up.

DEAR ABBY: My husband has a chance to win an all-expenses-paid trip with me to Bermuda.

My problem: We would be flying to Florida, which I don't mind, then we'd go to Bermuda by boat through the Bermuda Triangle.

I have heard that planes and ships have been lost and never heard from again after going through the Bermuda Triangle.

If this is true, I am afraid to go because I have two children and I don't want to take a chance.

What is your advice?

SCARED UP NORTH

DEAR SCARED: The captain and crew want to live as much as you do, dear, and if there were any possibility of danger, they wouldn't take that route. If your husband wins the trip, go. Bon voyage!

Dr. Sugg Speaks At DAR Meet

Dr. H. A. I. Sugg, professor of political science at ECU, spoke to members of the Benjamin May Chapter of DAR on the subject of "Arms, Disarmament and Security" at the March meeting.

The meeting was held at the Greenville Woman's Club with Mrs. Jack Spain, Mrs. J.G. Lauteres, Mrs. Percy L. Pair and Mrs. Tilton L. Wilcox, all of Greenville, as hostesses.

Dr. Emily Farnham, regent, presided, and welcomed Mrs. Madge Jenkins McLawhorn of Winterville and Dr. Sugg as visitors.

Dr. Sugg holds a master of arts degree in political science from Jackson College, Hawaii, and the Master of arts and Ph.D. degrees in international relations from the American University, Washington. As commander in the U.S. Navy, Dr. Sugg has had experience in the area of strategic planning with the Navy.

The theme of Dr. Sugg's discussion was of the importance of providing for the utmost security for the U.S. and its society. Security, he stated, is a psychological attitude. Numbers and types of weapons are only one aspect of the question to be considered when dealing with possible foreign aggressors.

The United States cannot know how to compare its capacity for defense with that of other countries. Any comparison must be dependent upon the amount of mutual faith and trust exhibited in political negotiations with other countries. Since there is now way of being certain of honesty in all negotiations, the best solution to the problems of providing for the preservation of our society in these United States would seem to be continued preparation in the area of nuclear weapons.

Mrs. Fredrick Tripp, chairman of the National Defense Committee, gave a report relative to the various social and financial problems confronting the government.

Following were reports from Mrs. Charles Kernan, secretary, and Mrs. Allen C. Darden, treasurer.

Miss Elizabeth Lang, delegate to the DAR State Conference in Winston-Salem, gave a report on the meeting which was held in the historic Hyde House there.

Among state officers elected at the conference were Mrs. Martha Robinson, new state regent, and Mrs. Bradshaw, new state vice-regent. There are now 100 Chapters of DAR in North Carolina. Pinehurst has been designated as the meeting place of the state conference in 1977.

Dr. Farnham reported that Mrs. Gene Brewer has been added as a new member to the Chapter.

Royal Family Says Separation Planned

LONDON (AP) — Princess Margaret, younger sister of Queen Elizabeth II, and her husband Lord Snowdon have agreed to separate but a divorce is not planned, an official announcement said today.

The brief announcement, issued from the couple's Kensington Palace home in London, gave no details of any settlement between the 45-year-old princess and her globe-trotting photographer husband, Antony Armstrong-Jones. They have been married nearly 16 years.

There was no word on who would get custody of their two children, aged 11 and 14.

Immediately after the statement was issued, a spokesman for Queen Elizabeth said: "The queen is naturally very sad at what has happened."

He added that "there has been no pressure from the queen on either Princess Margaret or Lord Snowdon to take any particular course."

The official statement said: "Her Royal Highness, the Princess Margaret, Countess of Snowdon, and the Earl of Snowdon have mutually agreed to live apart. The princess will carry out her public duties and functions unaccompanied by Lord Snowdon. There are no plans for divorce proceedings."

Just 20 years ago Margaret decided against marrying Royal Air Force Group Capt. Peter Townsend because he had been divorced. But a veteran observer of palace affairs said her decision in that case was the result of "thumbscrew techniques" applied by Buckingham Palace and the archbishop of Canterbury.

Margaret is fifth in line to the throne, and her separation will have no effect on her $70,000 yearly allowance, knowledgeable officials said.

In recent years the princess and her husband have frequently gone their separate ways. Speculation about their marriage heightened when the princess began seeing brewery heir Roddy Llewellyn, 27.

Llewellyn was reported to have been on the Caribbean isle of Mustique during her vacation there this year. They have dined together at Bath, and she has visited him at a jet-set commune in southwest England.

The archbishop of Canterbury, spiritual head of the Church of England, which opposes divorce, expressed in a statement the hope "that every understanding will be shown to the members of the royal family at this time of distress." The queen is temporal head of the Church and "defender of the faith."

The archbishop, in Trinidad for a church conference, was further quoted as saying "our thoughts go out in particular to the children of Princess Margaret and Lord Snowdon." The children are Viscount Linley, 14, and 11-year-old Lady Sarah Armstrong-Jones.

Princess Margaret's press secretary, Maj. John Griffin, said: "A separation was the best course to take in all the circumstances bearing in mind in particular the interests of the two children. A separation has been a possibility for some time, and once the final decision had been reached it was obviously best to implement it straight away."

Flim-Flam Gang Active In N.C.

RALEIGH (AP)—State Atty. Gen. Rufus Edmisten says citizen help is needed in breaking up a roving band of flim-flam artists specializing in home repairs for elderly rural residents in North Carolina.

Band members have been reported operating in Durham, Orange, Henderson, Rowan and Vance counties in recent weeks, Edmisten said Thursday.

"What we need now is citizen help in getting license plates numbers and positive identifications of these people," he said.

Members of the band dress well, drive new cars or trucks bearing South Carolina license plates and pose as painters, roofers, driveway pavers and even doctors, Edmisten added.

"Rural people, and particularly the elderly, are prime targets for these people," he explained. Several warrants have been issued for band members but no arrests have been made, Edmisten stated.

He identified them as members of a large "gypsy-like band" who live in trailers and campers based for the winter in Edgefield County, S.C. He predicted the entire band will migrate north with warmer weather and head south again next fall.

Edmisten said one band member, posing as a repairman, tricked a 96 year-old Louisburg couple into paying $750 for a $95 roof patching job.

He cited another case in which a Durham couple paid two band members close to $1,000 for painting their house. The paint job looked fine until a rain came and most of the "paint" washed off.

Edmisten said painters in the group have used the name Airless Spray Co. or Airless Spray Equipment Co.

The preliminary plan, earlier approved by the Greenville Recreation Commission, will now be presented to the Greenville City Council for consideration by that body.

Library Board members also laid the groundwork for a Symposium for Business people tentatively slated during April. Among spokesmen scheduled to be on hand for the event are representatives from Moody's Investment Service and Prentice-Hall. Complete details on the planned symposium will be published at a later date.

Amending N.C. Constitution

Two of the ballots which North Carolina voters will receive on Tuesday call for amendments to the state Constitution.

Amendment one would allow the sale of revenue bonds by the state of North Carolina to finance health care facility projects.

The passage of the amendment doesn't mean that the state would have an increased tax burden.

North Carolina would not have an obligation to repay such bonds and indeed the use of tax money is prohibited.

Basically, bonds issued by this method would be repaid from hospital revenues. If there were a default—and the financing method could be used by both public and private health care facilities—the N. C. Medical Care Commission would act as trustee, managing the facility until a method of repaying the loan was assured.

The main benefit to the health facility would be the lower interest rate which the revenue bonds would carry.

Amendment One involves no increase in taxes or use of state tax money. Granted there is always the possibility of some risk to state credit ratings if defaults occur; nevertheless we have long been blessed with conservative fiscal policies in North Carolina state government, and because of this we think the danger of hurting the state's credit rating is extremely remote.

We believe the availability of this method of financing is essential to good health care in North Carolina. We urge approval of Amendment One.

Disadvantaged In Attracting Industry

Amendment Two to the state Constitution calls for the permission of sale of industrial revenue bonds.

The amendment would "authorize counties to create authorities to issue revenue bonds to finance, but not to refinance, the cost of capital projects consisting of industrial, manufacturing and pollution control facilities for industry and pollution control facilities for public utilities."

Such revenue bonds are to be "secured by and payable only from revenues or property derived from private parties and in no event to be secured by any public moneys whatsoever."

Thus again, no tax increases and no public funds would be involved in the repayment of the industrial revenue bonds.

There will be stringent criteria for the issuance of such bonds before approval is given by the county commissioners of the county involved, the N. C. Local Government Commission and the Secretary of Natural and Economic Resources.

Presently we are at a definite disadvantage in attracting new industry because 49 state allow the use of industrial revenue bonds. That leaves only North Carolina where potential industries cannot make use of such financing.

If we don't change this situation, we can expect to see blue chip industries bypassing our state and locating elsewhere. And with this will go thousands of potential new jobs, plus lost tax revenues for both the counties and the state.

We recommend a favorable vote on Amendment Two next Tuesday.

THIS AFTERNOON

Hospitals Seek Bond Funds

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH—A question on the March 23 ballot as the North Carolina Presidential Preference Primary is conducted is a proposed amendment to the State Constitution which would allow the sale of revenue bonds to finance hospital modernization and improvement projects.

Use of that method for financing hospital construction could mean millions of dollars saved in communities across North Carolina, since the chief attraction is that the hospital bonds would be tax-free to the buyer.

This means the buyer would not pay federal or state income taxes on the interest received, thus the bonds could be marketed generally at a lower interest rate than those on which taxes must be paid.

Savings Possible

The result could mean as much as $43.8 million in savings for various communities in which projects are expected in the next four years, say officials of the N.C. Hospital Association.

Here is the way they figure that: By 1980, an additional 1,977 hospital beds will be needed in local communities; another 3,199 beds are obsolete and will require modernization.

Estimated cost of the work is $132 million, and financing the project under normal methods would require repayment of $320.5 million. Financed with the tax free, lower interest revenue bonds the total repayment is estimated at $276.7 million.

The proposed method of financing construction or modernization would be available to all public hospitals, community non-profit hospitals including those affiliated with churches, and some state hospitals.

The privately owned nonprofit hospitals, in some instances, could be maintained as such through use of the bond financing, whereas there have been in the past, and chances are there would be in the future, such facilities which go out of business and push local governments into providing additional services or taking over the hospital.

Similar to the Industrial Revenue Bond proposal on the ballot, the hospital bonds would not cost local or state governments anything, or commit government in any way. Repayment of the bonds would come through revenue of the hospital using them, just as repayment of the industrial bonds would come from payment by the industry.

Safeguards

Still, the state has built into the law safeguards against misuse or mismanagement of the financing method: the North Carolina Medical Care Commission and the Local Government Commission will review, approve, and market the bonds.

The medical Care Commission will hold the title of any institution using the bonds until the debt is repaid. Officials promise that only projects determined necessary and meeting federal health planning regulations will be allowed.

The proposed projects must be proved financially feasible, and where hospital revenues are not sufficient for repayment, the bond would not be approved.

The only possible involvement of a governmental agency in the system is in event of default: the state Medical Care Commission would become trustee and manage the hospital until alternate management plans were produced and plans drawn for repaying the bond debt by the new management.

Hospital Association officials say there are two pressing reasons for seeking this finance system: federal funds for new hospital projects are currently in limbo, with no indication of when federal or state funds will become available; and voter resistance to general obligation bond sales which require investment of tax dollars is limiting that method of financing.

In addition to the two revenue bond proposals on the ballot, there will be the question of issuing $43.2 million in standard capital improvement bonds for construction on the campuses of the university system.

Blamed For Everything

WASHINGTON—A great deal has been written about Henry Kissinger's temper. Every day you pick up the paper and discover the secretary of state is angry about something.

Last week I was reading the front page at breakfast and my wife asked me if there was any news of interest.

"Henry Kissinger is angry at the people on his staff for allowing a magazine writer access to transcripts of his talks with Arab and Israeli leaders."

"That's strange. I heard on television he was angry that Ronald Reagan was attacking him for his detente policies with the Soviet Union."

"Maybe he's angry at both Nixon because Nixon said in a sworn statement that Henry was responsible for selecting the names of the people who had to be tapped. Kissinger said in his sworn statement that Nixon had given him the names."

My daughter said, "Last night on the news it said that Henry was angry because the Soviets had supported the Cubans in Angola. He said if they continued to do this he'd get really angry and they would have to answer for it."

My wife interjected, "I heard at the hairdresser that Henry was angry because his car was parked at the wrong place when he left the White House the other day."

My son said, "I have this friend at school and he said Henry was angry because he doesn't have the same access to the President he had when he was national security advisor."

My daughter said, "My best friend works for The Washington Post and she said Henry was angry at an editorial they carried saying he had a short temper."

I said, "I don't think we should be too disturbed about Kissinger's anger. After all, he's only secretary of state. Now if he was secretary of defense we'd have something to worry about."

"Joseph Kraft said Henry is angry at the secretary of defense because he has more influence with the President," my wife said.

"Evans and Novak said the reason he is angry is he can't get Rumsfeld fired like he did Schlesinger," I said.

My son said, "Rolling Stone had an article that Henry is really angry at Congress because every time they ask him to go up on the Hill to testify they make him take an oath that he won't lie to them. Henry thinks Congress should trust him more."

My wife said, "I was in a dress shop in Georgetown and the salesgirl said that Nancy Kissinger had just been in and that Nancy told her Henry was angry because he found someone going through his garbage the other morning. He yelled at his Secret Servicemen for a half-hour."

My daughter said, "Newsweek magazine said Henry is so angry he may resign before the election." My son said, "Time magazine said he's so angry he's determined to stay to show that they can't get to him."

"William Safire said Henry is responsible for most of the leaks that he gets angry at when they appear in the newspaper," my wife said.

"It says here," I said, reading from my paper, "the angrier Henry is the more he smiles for the photographers. When he isn't smiling that means he isn't angry."

My wife seemed sympathetic to Kissinger. "I think any man in Henry's position has a right to be angry. Nothing seems to go right for him and he gets blamed for everything."

"Ah," I said. "The reason he gets blamed for everything is that he takes credit for everything, and then when it turns out wrong he gets angry."

My daughter said, "I think I know why Henry gets angry so much."

"Why?" I asked.

"No one ever has the guts to say to him, 'Have a nice day.'"

Nuclear Threats Revealed

By WARREN E. LEARY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's nuclear facilities have faced bomb threats, several arson attempts and cases of people breaking through security, but none of these incidents has resulted in a major problem that would endanger the public, according to federal authorities.

Authorities also disclosed Thursday that since 1970 there were 28 incidents in which persons threatened to use nuclear material against cities. In each case, FBI investigations uncovered no unauthorized possession of nuclear material, officials said, and the threats were labeled the work of crackpots and the mentally ill. The FBI refused to discuss the incidents.

Authorities said there have been at least 175 threats or actual acts of violence against nuclear facilities since 1969.

A spokesman for the Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) said most involved telephone

Other Editors Say Ford's New Set-Up

(Alexandria (La.) Daily Town Talk)

The new intelligence set-up announced by President Ford seems designed to do two things which are patently essential:

1. Preserve a meaningful intelligence apparatus without which the security of the nation would be jeopardized.
2. Provide safeguards against abuses which would diminish the personal freedom and privacy of American citizens and against violence to the persons of foreign officials in time of peace.

But the plan outlined by Mr. Ford is not perfect. For example, he could not answer to the complete satisfaction at least of the inquirer what can be done to keep people within the new intelligence community from abusing "secret" and "confidential" classifications to hide their misjudgments. It is now generally conceded that such misjudgments were the root of the problems which have beset the Central Intelligence Agency and kindred entities.

But no intelligence set-up can be perfect. The American people will have to trust the president, as the one who has final responsibility and accountability, as well as the "oversight" panel which Mr. Ford has appointed.

Real reforms, however, require that Congress place trust in the chief executive and his appointees. Further, as Mr. Ford said, Congress must clean its own house so that there will be no more leaks of data which are justifiably classified as secret.

A final judgment as to the full worth of Mr. Ford's plan will have to await details of the legislation he is proposing and of the disposition Congress makes of his proposals.

Meanwhile, the intelligence reorganization outlined by Mr. Ford has got to be considered a major step in the right direction.

The GALLUP POLL

Carter And Humphrey Tied

By GEORGE GALLUP

PRINCETON, N. J. — Democratic contender Jimmy Carter has registered dramatic gains and is now in a virtual tie with Sen. Hubert Humphrey as the top choice of Democratic voters for the 1976 nomination.

The same survey, which represents the first national assessment of the impact of all the primaries to date, including the one held in Florida on March 9, also shows Carter to be the first of the democratic hopefuls to defeat President Ford in test election contests.

Carter leads Ford 47 to 42 per cent among registered voters nationwide, while Humphrey trails the President by the margin of 43 to 48 per cent. Jackson trails Ford by a still wider margin, 39 to 49 per cent.

All persons in the survey who classify themselves as Democrats and independents were first asked this question:

"Here is a list of people who have been mentioned as possible presidential candidates for the Democratic party in 1976. Which one would you like to see nominated as the Democratic candidate in 1976? And who would be your second choice?"

Carter and Humphrey emerge in a virtual tie among Democrats surveyed, with Humphrey winning 27 per cent and Carter 26 per cent. Next are Jackson and Gov. George Wallace, each the choice of 15 per cent of Democrats nationwide. Rep. Morris Udall of Arizona follows, with 5 per cent.

The following table shows the standings, with Humphrey included:

DEMOCRATIC STANDINGS

(Vote of Democratic Voters)

Sen. Hubert Humphrey	27%
Jimmy Carter	26
Sen. Henry Jackson	15
Gov. George Wallace	15
Rep. Morris Udall	5
Sargent Shriver	3
Fred Harris	3
Gov. Milton Shapp	1
Undecided	5

(Withdrew from race subsequent to start of interviewing)

The current standings represent a dramatic gain in support for Carter, who won only 5 per cent of the vote of

Strength For Today

MASTERING THE RULES

We begin to learn every skill by learning certain rules, but when we have mastered the skill, we forget the rules. In fact we forget them in the very act of observing them. We keep them most perfectly when we are unconscious of their presence.

St. Paul declared that when the law of the spirit of life began to operate in his soul, he was made free of the law of sin and of death. The strictures of the old law were swallowed up in the freedom of the new. Thus when a person acquires true religious faith, he no longer has to think about the rules for living a Christian life. He will do it naturally because that is what he wants to do. He has found freedom from the law of Christ, but in it.

The living of a religious life is an art, but it is an art which all sincere people can learn. And when they learn it, they forget the strictures of the rules because of the joy and satisfaction they have in observing them.

Savings Encourage IRA-Users

By JOHN CUNIFF

AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Wage-earners who hold Individual Retirement Accounts earn substantial financial benefits in being permitted to set aside up to $1,500 a year on which taxes can be deferred.

IRAs became available last year as a means of permitting workers not covered by qualified private or government retirement plans — excluding Social Security and Railroad Retirement — to build their own retirement accounts.

So far, only a very small percentage of those eligible have signed up, despite the fact that some workers might be able to accumulate in an IRA more than double the sum that could be saved in a regular, taxed account.

—For example, a single person earning $12,000 a year — the 25 per cent federal tax bracket — could accumulate $43,483 in 20 years by saving $1,500 a year at 7.5 per cent interest. But in an IRA, it would build to $73,29.

The difference is accounted for solely by the fact that interest earned in a regular savings account is taxed each year, whereas taxes on IRA accounts are delayed until retirement age, when brackets are lower, and then only as money is withdrawn.

If the same procedure of saving $1,500 a year — the maximum amount permitted under IRA regulations — were followed for 25 years, the sum would be $116,605, compared with $64,682 in a regular account.

And if the IRA were continued for 30 years, the balance would grow to $180,015, almost double the $92,974 that would accumulate in the taxed account.

The potential for even greater returns, but with an accompanying increase in the risk involved, might be available to those who choose an IRA plan in which the money is invested in securities.

—What size retirement payments can be provided under such a plan?

The amount will vary, depending upon contributions, the interest on the account and the duration of the IRA. In any case, the amount can be substantial, as indicated by these figures — again, based on $1,500 a year at 7.5 per cent.

After 20 years with an IRA, the retirement balance would be $73,249, an amount sufficient to provide 10 years of payments at $870.35 a month, or 15 years of payments at $689.97 a month.

After 23½ years with an IRA, the balance would be about $100,000. This would permit payments for 10 years of $1,888 a month, or 15 years of $928 a month.

After 34 years, a $250,000 IRA would be built — again, assuming the daily compounding of 7.5 per cent interest which, however, is not guaranteed — permitting monthly payments for 10 years of $2,970, or 15 years of $2,320.

All the money that remains in the account is sheltered from taxes. The only taxes paid each year are on the amounts withdrawn, although eventually all the money in a deposit-type plan must be withdrawn, based on actuarial tables of life expectancy.

—Will an IRA complicate my income tax?

It isn't likely to. The only additional requirement is that two forms, numbered 5498 and 5329, must be included with the return. One of these is supplied by the financial institution administering the IRA.

Peach Loss Heavy Damage Neglect In Private Care Aired For Candor In 4 Collisions

CANDOR, N.C. (AP)—Frost damage resulting from Wednesday night's low temperatures may run as high as 80 per cent for some peach growers in North Carolina's Sandhills region.

"We probably lost 80 per cent in this area from what I've seen," said Clarence Black, director of the Sandhills Research Station. "It got down to 26 (degrees) for 10 hours."

Estimates of crop loss varied, however. Some growers said parts of their crops were hard hit. Others were hopeful that the loss would be less serious.

The peaches which were in full bloom as a result of unseasonably warm weather in February, were in a vulnerable stage when the petals are falling. After the petals fall, the shuck surrounding the baby peach splits and exposes the peach.

Black said peaches are susceptible to cold during the entire growing season. "The peach is there from the word go," he said. "The temperatures just froze them. They just came out too early. That's a gamble you take."

Peach growing areas in Montgomery, Moore and Richmond counties were especially hard hit, Black said. He said Anson county with its higher elevation did not appear to have as much damage.

Melvin H. Kolbe, N.C. Extension Service tree fruit specialist at North Carolina State University, said Thursday he could not estimate the damage to the peach crop. "We can lose an awful lot of them and still have some peaches," Kolbe said. "We can lose, say, 75 per cent of the bloom or the little peaches and, in some orchards, have a good crop."

More than $9,500 property damage resulted yesterday from a series of four collisions investigated by Greenville Police.

Officers reported heaviest damage resulted from a 1:37 p.m. mishap at the intersection of Memorial Drive and Moore Street involving cars driven by Dorothy Woodard Holland of Route 8, Kinston—and being towed by the Howard car.

Police said the Sparkman car crossed the center line of the highway and collided head-on with the Howard vehicle, causing an estimated $2,000 damage to the Howard car, $2,500 damage to the Sparkman auto and $1,000 damage to the Holland vehicle.

Sparkman was charged with operating left of center.

Judy Jenkins Middleton of 511 East 10th St., was charged with failing to stop for a stop sign following investigation of a 10:20 a.m. mishap at the intersection of Fourth and Library Streets.

Investigators reported the Middleton car collided with a truck driven by Oscar Henry Roberts III of Riverside Trailer Pk., causing an estimated $550 damage to the Roberts vehicle and $1,800 damage to the Middleton car. An estimated $60 damage resulted to street signs at the intersection.

Officers reported cars driven by Philip Branch Goodson of 1808 Rosewood Dr., and Judy Irene Clark of Route 5, Greenville collided about 9:05 p.m. on Charles Street, 45 feet West of the U.S. 264 intersection, causing an estimated $200 damage to the Goodson car and $700 damage to the Clark auto.

Decorations To Go On Display

LONDON (AP) — The orders, decorations and medals of Edward Duke of Windsor, who abdicated the British throne in 1936 and died in 1972, will be displayed in London's National Army Museum next week, the Defense Ministry has announced.

The decorations will include the duke's uniforms and the military cross he won for bravery in World War I.

Edward reigned for seven months without being crowned, before giving up the throne to marry American divorcee Wallis Warfield Simpson.

Miss Clark was charged with failing to see her intended movement could be made in safety following investigation of the mishap.

Albert Sylvia Jones of 401 Deck St. was charged with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety following investigation of a 5:24 p.m. collision at the intersection of Dickinson Avenue and Center Street.

Police said the Jones car collided with an auto driven by Graie Thomas Fox of Greensboro resulting in an estimated $400 damage to the Jones car and $300 damage to the Fox vehicle.

Leary Col...

(Continued from page 4) bomb threats that proved false, but he acknowledged there also were several arson attempts and in two cases a pipe bomb and dynamite were found.

Nuclear regulatory officials, not wanting to give ideas to potential terrorists or saboteurs, have been reluctant to discuss threats or acts of violence. However, they released general information about security problems to Congress Watch, an organization associated with consumer advocate Ralph Nader.

Jim Cubie, who requested the information under the federal Freedom of Information Act, said he wanted to find out how great a security problem nuclear facilities faced.

"We wanted to find out if people with twisted minds are thinking nuclear," said the nuclear power critic, "and it appears that they are."

The NRC information listed 99 incidents of threats or violence at licensed nuclear facilities, which include research reactors and power plants. The Energy Research and Development Administration, which also released figures to Cubie, said there were 76 such incidents since 1969 involving government-owned or -operated facilities, which are not licensed by the NRC but responsible to ERDA.

Among the incidents the NRC listed, but did not elaborate on, was a pipe bomb found on May 4, 1969, near an Illinois Institute of Technology reactor and an undisclosed amount of dynamite found in September 1970 outside a Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co. plant.

Several breaks or incidents of people breaching security fences were reported, but the NRC said nothing was taken.

By EDMUND PINTO Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — A new government report says some mentally ill patients in private nursing homes are living with hunger, cockroaches, leaking roofs, exposed electrical wires and doors made of cardboard and burlap.

The report, released today by the Senate subcommittee on long-term care and programs, particularly scrutinized New York and Illinois. Senate investigators said private homes were found wanting in both states.

Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, chairman of the panel, said the conditions were fostered by government policy that provides a financial incentive to move patients from public institutions into private-care facilities.

Premiere Of Music Show

A special premiere of a television documentary music show of North Carolina will be shown at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, over UNC-TV Channel 25, Greenville is the local channel over which the special will be shown.

Entitled "The Humanities Through Music: The Baroque Period," the program is based on a series of 13 institutes of the North Carolina Institutes for Small Vocal Ensembles held at Chapel Hill for the past eight years. The series of institutes has involved about 10,000 Tar Heel college and high school student musicians who have attended the series.

The document features Dr. Lara Hoggard, William Rand Kenan Professor of Music, and demonstrates rehearsal and performance techniques employed by Dr. Hoggard with the 80 voice Carolina Choir and a typical audience-participation group of 750 high school choral musicians.

Students appearing in the program represent all areas of the state.

ON DEAN'S LIST Bauder Fashion College, Atlanta, Ga., announced that Sharon Goodson has been placed on the Dean's List for the winter quarter.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Goodson Jr. of Greenville.

"I have seen hungry people with their faces up against vending machines begging for a quarter," Moss said. "I saw three patients cooking eggs on a hotplate in their room while breakfast was being served in the dining room. I learned that they had bought the eggs with money they had received from begging."

Moss claimed mental patients "are a good investment" in

Youths Taken In 'Missing' Car

Chief Glenn Cannon said two 14-year-olds were taken into custody last night on charges of making unauthorized use of a motor vehicle shortly after Sylvester Powell of Route 1, Winterville reported his car had been taken from a parking lot at Pitt Memorial Hospital.

Cannon said the theft was reported at 7:15 p.m. At 7:30, police officers located the vehicle about a half mile west of the hospital on rural road 1202 and took the two youths into custody.

Gallup Poll...

(Continued from page 4) Democrats in a late January, pre-New Hampshire survey, received 16 per cent in a post-New Hampshire survey, as compared to 26 per cent in the current survey.

Sen. Jackson's support has also increased sharply since the late January survey, when he was the choice of only 6 per cent of Democrats.

Carter Leads Field When Humphrey Out

When Sen. Humphrey — who is not officially a candidate — is removed from the list, Carter becomes the chief beneficiary of Humphrey supporters (as determined on the basis of the second choice). Carter then dominates the field, winning the vote of 36 per cent of Democrats to 21 per cent for Wallace and 19 per cent for Jackson.

The following table shows the standings when Humphrey's name is not included:

DEMOCRATIC STANDINGS (With Humphrey Out)
Carter	36%
Wallace	21
Jackson	19
Udall	6
Shriver	4
Harris	3
Shapp	2
Undecided	9

Carter Has Strong Supra-Party Appeal Evidence that Carter has strong appeal outside the ranks of his own party is seen from the nomination choices of persons who classify themselves as independents. Carter wins the support of 28 per cent of independents, compared to 22 per cent for Wallace and 15 per cent each for Humphrey and Jackson.

Carter's supra-party appeal is also evident in the test election results, which are based on the choices of all voters — Republicans as well as independents and Democrats.

Carter also generates great support among younger voters in the electorate, possibly because of a youthful, non-political image. Carter wins over Ford among the 18-29 age group by the margin of more than 2-to-1, while Humphrey and Jackson split their vote with Ford among this segment of voters.

Following is the wording for the test elections:

"Suppose the presidential election were being held today. If President Gerald Ford were the Republican candidate and Jimmy Carter were the Democratic candidate, which would you like to see win? As of today, do you lean more to Ford, the Republican, or to Carter, the Democrat?" (The same questions were asked for Humphrey and Jackson.)

Here are the results, based on the choices of registered voters:

Carter vs. Ford
Carter	47%
Ford	42
Undecided	11
Humphrey vs. Ford
Humphrey	43
Ford	48
Undecided	9
Jackson vs. Ford

The findings reported today are based on interviews with 1,213 adults, 18 and older, interviewed during the period March 10-13.

New York as well as in Illinois. He offered case histories of several private operations, including one in Illinois where the operator housed 180 mental patients who were transferred from public care facilities. The operator received $400,000 a year and managed to keep $185,000 as profit. Moss said the operator spent only 54 cents per patient per day for food.

"He (the operator) defended this profit, telling us it was below industry expectations," Moss said.

Moss laid part of the blame on Congress and the Social Security Act, including the Supplemental Security Income program.

In 1935, when it approved Social Security, Moss said, Congress barred Social Security funds for residents of public institutions. But if boarded in a private home they could receive the money.

"In short, Congress created the scandal-ridden, for-profit nursing home industry," he said.

In this same way, Moss continued, Congress barred receipt of SSI funds by individuals in public institutions and cut SSI funds by a third for individuals under the care of and living with relatives.

The result, Moss said, was an incentive to leave public institutions for private-care facilities. The same law provided financial incentive for states to move patients into private homes, transferring the cost of carrying for a patient to the federal level.

The report says the number of patients in state mental hospitals has dropped 44 per cent from 427,799 to 237,692 between 1969 and 1974.

"The saddest thing is that more often than not patients have been placed in slum housing and forgotten," Moss said. "In some cases, so many discharged patients have been placed in particular areas of our major cities that they have become instant psychiatric ghettos."

Patients in many of these private institutions are confronted with poor care and abuse, deliberate physical abuse and unsanitary conditions, he said.

Budget Session

The Greenville City Board of Education will hold a Budget Workshop session in the board room at the Central Office on Monday, March 22. The meeting will convene at 7:30 p.m.

The Current Expense budget will be discussed, with specific input to be obtained concerning General Control, Operation of Plant, Maintenance of Plant and Fixed Charges.

Opportunity for public input will be available prior to the line item discussion by the board.

Kitchen Fire Was Contained

Greenville firemen reported heavy damage resulted to a kitchen at 2315 College View Apts. yesterday when a fire erupted in the dwelling.

Fire officers said the blaze was reported at 3:40 p.m. They noted that heavy fire damage resulted to the kitchen and smoke damage to the rest of the dwelling after boxes on a stove caught fire.

It seems so. The percentage of earned income and the maximum amount which can be set aside might increase. Congress might also legislate broader participation.

One reason for the latter is the growing realization that many group retirement plans offer negligible benefits and that wage-earners would be better off using their own money.

However, it seems unlikely that all Americans will become eligible to have IRA.

Billy Graham Book Big-Seller

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Sometimes religious books far outsell the widely touted, so-called "best sellers," but never show up on the lists because of practices in the trade. But a current religious number has hit such a peak that it has broken into nearly all the front-runner listings.
It's "Angels: God's Secret Agents," by evangelist Billy Graham, with 1,200,000 copies distributed since it came out last fall.
"It's the fastest selling book we've ever had, and to the best of our knowledge, that anybody's ever had," says Alex Liepa, an editor of Doubleday company.
Nevertheless, it's one of the few religious books to push into the major "best-selling" lists, even though such books often beat those listed in national sales and popularity among American readers, and though sales of religious books lately have climbed faster than other categories.

Jennifer Bryon, of Nashville, Tenn., a Baptist Book Stores communications specialist who has made an extensive study of the situation says:
"The fact that books designed for a specific market may not get on a best-seller list even though they sell as many copies as those that do gives the public a wrong picture of what books are really selling."
One reason mentioned for the disparity is that compilers of the lists generally don't check with religious books stores, of which there are more than 3,500 in the country. Other factors also apparently figure in the problem, including a tendency not to consider religious books in the general nonfiction category.
"To say the best-seller lists are inaccurate is to put it mildly," says Liepa, citing various religious books that don't make the lists while selling far more than secular numbers which do.
Peter Kladder of Zondervan Corp., a big religious publishing house in Grand Rapids, Mich., which recently opened new, multimillion-dollar manufacturing and warehousing facilities there, says:
"I'm convinced that if there was a really good system of determining sales, a third of the books on the best-seller lists would be 'religious.'"
For example, more than 30 religious books in the last five

Study Jerry Paul's Plea

RALEIGH (AP)—The state Supreme Court is considering the plea of Jerry Paul, John Little's lawyer, that he not be required to serve the remaining nine days of a contempt of court sentence.

Paul asked the court Thursday to temporarily set aside an order by the North Carolina Court of Appeals which recently ordered Paul to begin serving the time remaining on the contempt of court citation issued by Judge Hamilton Hobbard who presided over the Little trial last summer. Paul also asked the court to review the merits of his contempt citation.

The contempt citation came at the end of the trial in which Miss Little was acquitted of murder in the slaying of Clarence Alligood a Beaufort County jailer she said had sexually attacked her.
Paul was sentenced to 14 days but was released after five days by order of the Appeals Court which agreed to review the matter.

Will Report On Amazon Studies

Dr. Edward P. Leahy, associate professor of geography, will address a session at the annual meeting of the Association of American Geographers in New York City April 12.
His report, "The Settlement Pattern of the Leticia Corridor," concerns research done in the Amazon region of South America during the summer of 1975.
Leahy's fieldwork was supported by the ECU Research Council.

FOOTSTEPS

Dad was a railroader, a dedicated one. The rails were his love as well as his life. To him the "Twentieth Century" wasn't a span of history — it was "his train" roaring through the night.
Dad often took me to the train yards. He taught me that a railroader never steps on the rails. A "trackwalker" always walks the ties! This was no superstition — just respect for the "road."
There are other lessons to be learned . . . that involve reverence, respect and the footsteps of life . . . lessons that help us express in our simplest actions the things we believe in.
Learning those vital lessons every Sunday at church is even more fruitful than a trip to the train yards with Dad.

Await Callaway's Leaving Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP) — As questions were being raised about Howard Callaway's use of Pentagon aircraft, White House sources said the former Army secretary's departure from President Ford's campaign organization is almost certain.

The question of replacing Callaway permanently, reportedly with White House adviser Rogers Morton, "is under study, but nothing has been worked out yet," a Ford spokesman said Thursday.

"Obviously I would not refuse it," Morton said Thursday night.

Said a White House source, "It's all a question of timing."

The Pentagon said Callaway and Deputy Defense Secretary William Clements flew an Air Force plane last year to Callaway's resort in Crested Butte, Colo., after an official meeting in Colorado Springs.

Besides the 20-minute flight — in a plane which costs about $484 an hour to operate — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said Callaway took 19 trips in VIP jet passenger planes during the first 10 months of 1975.

He released records showing three of the trips were to Pine Mountain, Ga., the nearest airport to Callaway's home in Callaway Gardens.

Meanwhile, the Civil Aeronautics Board has launched a formal inquiry into the waiver of charter airplane regulations to benefit the ski resort owned by Callaway and his brother-in-law.

Callaway, who was suspended voluntarily last weekend from his post as campaign director, was called to the White House Wednesday by White House staff chief Richard Cheney, and brought his personal attorney.

Press Secretary Ron Nessen declined comment on whether Callaway's meeting with Cheney indicated Callaway was resisting efforts to oust him. Asked whether the presence of Callaway's attorney, former Asst. Atty. Gen. Jerris Leonard, signified an adversary relationship with the White House, Nessen said, "Not that I'm aware of."

Two former chairmen of the Civil Aeronautics Board, William Gilliland and Howard Timm, said they were among the CAB officials contacted by Callaway in his effort to have the board waive charter requirements.

A Senate subcommittee and the Justice Department already are investigating whether Callaway improperly exerted pressure on the U.S. Forest Service to recommend expansion of the Crested Butte ski resort, which is located on leased federal land.

Meanwhile, Scripps Howard said today that the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development is "preparing" to instruct Callaway's Crested Butte Development Corp. to notify potential property buyers that it lost almost $1.4 million in its last fiscal year.

A message to the Farmers of North Carolina from George Wallace

Need for a U.S. Food And Agriculture Policy

That the United States needs a carefully conceived and consistent food and agriculture policy or strategy has become painfully obvious in recent times.

U.S. leaders have fumbled and bumbled from one food crisis to the next, talking out of both sides of their mouths, and demoralizing both U.S. agricultural producers and world buyers of American food products.

There is one inescapable fact: The United States cannot afford to lurch from one food crisis to the next hoping "something good will happen to get us out of this mess."

The need for a national food and agriculture strategy is more acute than ever. There may be no more urgent need today than for a coordinated course of action to be devised.

We believe a national food strategy should include these considerations:

- Abundant production of U.S. agricultural products is essential to U.S. national interests and to world order. Only the United States has the ability to produce large amounts of surplus food and fiber as well as provide adequate food to U.S. consumers.
- An all-out U.S. food production policy carries with it seeds of potential disaster for farmers and ranchers unless they are provided some protection from the potentially ruinous vagaries of a volatile domestic and world market. Abruptly changing prices can be equally bankrupting. Thus, U.S. farm policy should be to encourage maximum food production and at same time achieve a measure of income stability for producers. And it's essential that this be accomplished within the framework of assuring a fair return to producer investment in order to protect as well as encourage our system of independent farm operating units. To achieve these goals, it probably will be necessary to forge a new combination of devices both governmental (commodity loans, price insurance, priority for energy, cost indexes) and private (new credit, fiscal management, and farm business organizations). At the same time, U.S. agricultural research should be doubled to provide the technology by which U.S. agriculture can perhaps double its present efficiency.
- U.S. consumers should be protected from serious food scarcities. If a cheap food policy is to be encouraged, the burden should be shared equally by all.
- Specific guidelines for minimum U.S. foodstocks should be set to assure a measure of stability and continuity of food exports. Thus when U.S. supplies drop to these minimums, export controls would be triggered. In this way both producers and buyers would be able to anticipate export controls. And, being forewarned, they could plan accordingly.
- The United States has more food, more agricultural production technology and ability, than any other nation in the world. We must, therefore, provide the spearhead effort to find solutions to hunger and malnutrition in the world. These efforts, however, must first be forged within the framework of a national food and fiber strategy, not left to unrelated efforts as at present.

Expanded Markets For Farm Goods

If we are going to continue to have an abundance of food and full stomachs in this nation, we must do everything we can to encourage agricultural production. And that includes world trade.

One of the best ways to do this is through new and expanded markets. We cannot pat the farmer on the back with one hand, telling him to produce at capacity and then limit outlets with the other hand.

It is only through increased productivity that American consumers can continue to be fed at a reasonable price. For without abundant production and export sales, we can't have reasonable domestic supplies and reasonable prices for the American Consumer.

If our country's farmers produced only enough for our domestic needs, American consumers would suffer the consequences particularly in years of poor yields.

Food is our biggest asset in the arena of world trade. Last year, farm exports totalled nearly 22 billion dollars. That helps offset our imports of oil and other products. Without agricultural exports, we would face a trade deficit. Our ability to trade agricultural products builds the dollars and this nation's economy.

American agricultural production has never really been tested. We don't really know what our capacity is. And we can't expect our farmers to strive for more production and greater yields unless there is a market and a profit.

Agriculture Advances

In the 200 years since our nation was founded, agriculture has made tremendous advances and inroads but with expanded markets and continued technological development, the future holds even greater opportunities.

Since time began, there have been wars and rumors of wars. Perhaps it is American agriculture which holds the key to world peace.

A hungry animal will fight for food. By the same token, a crying child quiets when fed. As the population explosion continues in many foreign countries, food and agricultural trade will play an increasingly important role in foreign relations. In the last 10 years, America has furnished 80 per cent of the food aid to all the world.

Besides exporting our agricultural commodities, we can also offer technological assistance to help underdeveloped nations feed themselves.

The American farmer's interest must be protected, for in doing so the American public's interest is protected.

Tax Relief

Neither the farmer, nor low or middle income Americans can afford more taxes. We must keep taxes and government control at a minimum. This is essential for the farmer and it is essential for the American people.

Farmers need tax relief in several areas but one specific area is in the field of inheritance taxes. The first $200,000 of an inheritance should be tax free. A farm family should not have to give up a farm or incur a large debt in order to keep a family farm together. When the current $60,000 exemption was passed, it was equal to about $250,000 in inflated money of today.

Profits For Farmers

The American public can't and no longer does expect this nation's farmers to subsidize it. For decades, farmers have operated at subsistence levels. But the American farmer has to make a living and realize a profit just as does any businessman.

Bread went up 11 cents a loaf over the past three years but wheat prices from the farm added only 1½ cents per loaf. Non-farm costs added more than 9 cents.

Although our agricultural capacity has never been tapped and even though we are exporting billions of dollars worth of agricultural products annually, our agricultural imports increase each year.

Other Wallace Positions Of Farm Needs

The Meat Imports Law should be changed, for example, so that beef and veal imports increase only if our domestic beef and veal production decreases.

Imports, restricted and unrestricted, continue to be used to carry out a cheap food policy and has plagued American farmers for almost 25 years.

Imports of all competitive agricultural products should be limited to the quantities necessary to assure ample supplies for domestic consumers.

We should improve loan programs to farmers. The federal farm loan program should be expanded to include a special low interest loan service to help young farmers establish the collateral base that the credit community requires to finance farm real estate purchases.

Soil and water conservation practices should have higher priority than they do now. Farmers need government incentives to restore and to maintain desirable environmental practices. Special emphasis is needed to restore tree shelterbelts and windbreaks throughout rural America.

Insurance Coverage

Federal Crop Insurance protection should be expanded to permit all farmers to participate and coverage should be offered to include all commodities and livestock.

Cotton, corn, soybeans, wheat and the many other commodities produced in this country are invaluable resources. They are renewable resources which reproduce themselves, making them even more unique and valuable.

Some countries have an abundance of diamonds, or gold, or petroleum, but America surpasses all the countries of the world in agricultural production.

Prisoner Union Ruling Welcomed By Lawyers

RALEIGH (AP)—Attorneys for the North Carolina Civil Liberties Union have hailed a federal court ruling that members of a prisoner labor union have the right to meet, circulate news letters and solicit membership.

A three-judge federal panel handed down the decision Thursday. The court pointed out that the N.C. Prisoners Labor Union Inc. had not sought permission to operate as a "true labor union" and did not invoke the federal-management laws.

The court warned that prisoners are not to try to force their demands on prison officials.

Norman Smith of Greensboro, who represented the Civil Liberties Union in the case, said, "We are extremely pleased. We got everything we had hoped for. It is an excellent decision, the leading and most important decision on this subject that has been reached anywhere in this country."

Deborah G. Mailman of Raleigh, who assisted Smith in the case, said, "I guess the thing I feel best about is the general recognition that prisoners retain some of their rights even though they are in prison, even though there are all sorts of limitations on it." The three-judge court was composed of Circuit Judge J. Braxton Craven, senior District Court Judge Algernon Butler, and District Court Judge Franklin Dupree.

The court said, "If the day should ever come that inmates threaten concerted action to force compliance with their demands and to disrupt prison discipline, the secretary (of correction) and the commissioner (of prisons) are fully empowered to not only stop further solicitation of membership but to put down the union and its adherents to whatever extent may be necessary to restore and protect security and order."

Correction Secretary David Jones and Prisons Director Ralph Edwards were not immediately available for comment.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Jacob L. Safran, who handled the case for the state, said he had not yet had an opportunity to review it with the corrections department and had no comment. He added no decision had been made on whether the state would appeal.

The court said, "The union and its inmate members shall be accorded the privilege of holding meetings under such limitations and control as are neutrally applied to all inmate organizations, and to the extent and only to the extent, that other meetings of prisoners are permitted."

MISSIONARY DAY

The Mothers of Philippi Church of Christ will have a Missionary Day Service Sunday at 6 p.m. Missionary Shirley Braxton of Ayden will be the guest speaker. The public is invited.

Chavis Said 'Disruptor'

TILLERY, N.C. (AP)—The Rev. Ben Chavis has been confined to his quarters at the Caledonia Prison Unit and may be transferred to another prison, a Correction Department official said Thursday.

Fletcher Sanders, administrator of the Odom and Caledonia prison units in northeastern North Carolina, said Chavis had been a disrupting influence through organization of meetings and other activities. He said these had prompted threats against the controversial black activist.

Sanders said he had decided that removal of Chavez from the general prison population was best for the institution and for Chavis.

Chavis was leader of the so-called Wilmington 10. He and nine other persons were convicted of conspiracy to burn property and assault firemen during racial disturbances in Wilmington in 1971. They began serving long prison terms Feb. 1.

Sources said that Chavis and Marvin Patrick, another member of the Wilmington 10, organized a meeting of about 200 of the prison's 600 inmates to discuss grievances. These included extension of visiting hours, access to law books and abolition of a strip search policy before inmates are allowed to see visitors.

Discuss Black United Front

The establishment of the Black United Front, voter registration, and community organization were the topics discussed at the Sunday workshop of the Newtown Labor Club. The political workshop was held at the home of its president, Dennis Norris.

The Black United Front is a coalition of several community organizations in Greenville for the purpose of organizing the upcoming local, state, and national elections.

Charlotte Topples State To Gain Berth Against Kentucky In Finals

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — They played "Beat The Clock" at Madison Square Garden—and Kentucky and North Carolina-Charlotte did just that.

Those college basketball teams advanced to the finals of the 39th National Invitation Tournament with two incredible finishes in Thursday night's semifinals.

Kentucky twice lost big leads and had all but lost the first game before Larry Johnson's dramatic field goal at the buzzer provided a tingling 79-78 victory over Providence.

North Carolina-Charlotte needed a basket by Melvin Watkins with 30 seconds remaining to stop North Carolina State 80-79 in an intense battle of intrastate rivals.

That set the stage for Sunday's championship game between two teams that did not figure to reach the finals.

"This is a mountaintop experience," said North Carolina-Charlotte Coach Lee Rose, whose 49ers clearly are the Cinderella team of this week-long

Erwin Ousts Williamston

UNION PINES—Clyde Erwin High School of Bumcombe County took advantage of Williamston's early tournament jitters to take a 60-50 win over the Tigerettes last night.

The loss knocked the Tigerettes out of the State Girls Basketball Tournament for the second straight year in the first round. It marked the fourth straight trip for the Williamston team to the tournament, but the third time they have failed to make the final four.

"We just got off to a real poor start," Coach Susan Cox said. "We couldn't seem to hit in the first period, but we did outlast them by two the rest of the game. That first period put us too far back to recover, however."

During that frame, the Tigerettes fell back, 18-6. They cut that back to 30-21 by the end of the half. In the third period, Erwin pulled away again to a 46-33 lead, but Williamston outthit them, 17-14, in the final frame.

"We just wanted it so bad," Miss Cox said. "I think it just made us too tight."

Cornie Rogers, a 5-6 guard reeked the most damage on Williamston, scoring 28 points. "We tried everything on her, and we just couldn't stop her. She can score from anywhere."

Added to that were 12 points by Raelene Spencer and 10 by Brenda Rice. Sissy Taylor led Williamston with 19, while Bet Brandon had 15 and Nancy Williams had 13.

Williamston closed the season with a 25-1 record.

Bucs Hosting Invitational

Bunting Field will be the site of the East Carolina Invitational track and field meet here Saturday. This will also serve as the dedication day for the Bunting Field, the last unnamed athletic facility at ECU.

Dedication proceedings will take place at 1:50 p.m., with East Carolina Chancellor Dr. Leo Jenkins doing the honors. Dr. Jenkins will give a short speech and present a plaque to Michael and Victoria Bunting, for whom the facility is named.

The meet will get under way at 12:30 with the javelin throw listed as the first event. The long jump will follow at 1:00, as will the trials for the 120 yard high hurdles. The trials for the 100 yard dash will follow at 1:15, with the dedication ceremonies following at 1:50.

Bulldogs Top Pirate Netters

East Carolina's tennis team went down to their third consecutive defeat yesterday, but in respectable fashion, as they lost 6-3 to small college power Atlantic Christian on the East Carolina tennis courts.

"I thought we did a fine job," said coach Neal Peterson after the match. "We really did a good job. They could have beaten us 9-0 but we really did great."

Randy Bailey, Jim Ratliff and Mitch Pergerson all picked up singles victories for the Pirates as the score stood 3-3 going into the doubles. But the Bulldogs won all the doubles matches to win the match.

The East Carolina team now stands 1-4 for the season and will face UNC-Wilmington Saturday morning at 11:00 on the East Carolina courts.

The Summary:
Tom Morris (AC) defeated Tom Durfee, 6-2, 6-3.
Randy Bailey (ECU) defeated Asia Niaz, 6-2, 7-5.
Pat Taylor (AC) defeated Bob Neff, 6-3, 6-1.
Jay Aldridge (AC) defeated Doug Gesinger, 6-2, 7-6.
Jim Ratliff (ECU) defeated Kevin Umsteader, 6-2, 6-1.
Mitch Pergerson (ECU) defeated Sam Modlin, 6-2, 7-4.
Morris Niaz (AC) defeated Durfee-Bailey, 5-7, 6-2, 6-2.
Taylor-Aldridge (AC) defeated Gesinger-Neff, 6-3, 6-3.
Sauls-Umsteader (AC) defeated Callaway-Smith, 6-4, 6-3.

There will be five teams in the Invitationals with none lacking talent. Howard University, from Washington, D.C., has an unlimited amount of talent in the sprints and in its relay teams. Seton Hall, out of New Jersey, always has one of the premier mile relay teams in the nation, along with a fine array of sprinters.

Pembroke State, one of the top track teams in the state, will also bless the field with a strong middle distance runner in Jeff Moody. Hagerstown Junior College, from Maryland, has a long jumper that has leaped 26 feet, and also is talented in the sprints.

East Carolina rounds out the field with its strength mainly in the field events, sprints and relay teams.

An added feature for the Invitationals is a high school 100 yard dash and 120 yard high hurdles, featuring five high school all-Americans out of the 13 coming.

Admission for the event will be one dollar, with this admission being for the track meet and the doubleheader baseball game with Davidson. Parking lots will be open behind Scales Field House and beside Harrington Field to accommodate the crowd expected to attend.

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
RALEIGH — Maybe if East Carolina can work things real quickly, the Pirates might be able to get into the Atlantic Coast Conference in the next couple of days.

The way the season has started out, the Pirates are closer to the ACC title right now than they are to the Southern. Following a 6-1, 3-1 sweep of N. C. State's Wolfpack, the Pirates are 4-0 against ACC competition with a minimum of three games left. Two games with State in Greenville are yet to be rescheduled.

In the Southern Conference, the Bucs are 0-2, and are in a pinch as far as league play is concerned.

Yesterday, the Pirates got tough pitching from Larry Daughtridge and Terry Durham, who gained the two wins. Daughtridge, in the opener, scattered five hits, walked three and struck out one. The run against him was earned.

Durham allowed just three hits, while walking two and fanning five. The run against him was not earned.

The Pirates got their share of unearned runs, having just one earned one in each game. They took advantage of 10 Wolfpack errors in the two games to get the victory.

Geoff Beaton, who scored three of the runs in the first game, and just missed another, did manage to break the career basestealing record. He recorded his 24th steal in the eighth inning of the second game, snapping Ed Thorne's old mark of 23.

East Carolina jumped into the lead in the first inning as the Wolfpack played fumble with the ball. Beaton led off by reaching when his grounder to short was dropped. Steve Bryant then walked and Charlie Stevens lifted a fly ball to right that was also dropped, loading the bases.

Joe Roenker hit to short,

Tarboro Wins, 8-3

BETHEL — Tarboro rolled up an 8-3 victory over the North Pitt Panthers yesterday in the opener for the Big Orange.

The Vikings got all they needed in the first inning, scoring five runs.

Lewis led off with a single and hits by Welder and Thorne scored Lewis. Squires reached on an error that allowed the other two to score. Whitaker singled and Clark was safe on an error, scoring both Squires and Whitaker for the 5-0 lead.

Tarboro later added single runs in the second, fourth and seventh.

Coaches To Meet

HOLLYWOOD—The Pitt County Coaches Association will meet Sunday at 3 p.m. at D. H. Conley High School.

Chief business at the session will be a conference with John McKnight, chairman of the Pitt County Planning team to discuss the "reasonable participation" concept for junior high and junior varsity teams.

where another error allowed him to reach and scored both Beaton and Bryant. Sonny Wooten followed with the only hit of the frame, scoring Stevens for a 3-0 lead.

The Pirates added another in the second. Beaton led off, again reaching on an error. He moved up on an out and took third on a wild pitch. He scooped when Wooten reached on the fifth State miscue.

Beaton snapped the string with a double to left to open the fourth. He took third on an out and scored on Stevens' single to center.

Beaton missed out on a chance for a fourth run in the sixth. He beat out an infield bunt then had to hold up as it looked like Bryant's long fly to center might be caught. By the time it fell it, Beaton was forced to try to go all the way home, and a good relay just got him as he slid around the tag but missed the plate and was retagged.

The final Pirate run came in the seventh on a lead-off homer by Roenker.

Steve had gotten a man as far as second in the second and fifth, and one to third in the fourth, when a double play erased the threat. But in the sixth, they scored. Dick Chappell singled and Curt Ramsey got a hit. A wild pitch then allowed Chappell to score.

East Carolina took the lead in the second inning of the second game. Wooten reached on an infield hit and moved on to second on an error on the play. A wild pitch put him on third, and Glenn Card's sacrifice fly scored him.

A threat in the fifth died when Pete Paradossi was caught at the plate trying to score from third after Beaton's fly ball was caught.

State tied it up in the fifth. Ramsey reached on an error that let him move on to second. A passed ball put him on third, and Tom Crocker's hit to left scored him.

The Pirates then came up with two in the eighth to win it. Beaton reached on an error, the 10th of the day for the Wolfpack. He stole his 24th base to get to scoring position and moved to third on Bryant's single to left. Stevens then got a hit into right, scoring Beaton and putting Bryant on third. He scored from there on Roenker's sacrifice fly.

The Bucs return home tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. to play a key doubleheader against Southern Conference foe Davidson.

VMI Meets Rutgers In Eastern Finals

By HOWARD SMITH
AP Sports Writer

Indiana and Marquette have scrambled into college basketball's heavyweight championship 10 days too early.

The Hoosiers, unbeaten and ranked No. 1, outfought Alabama 74-69 and the Warriors, once-beaten and ranked No. 2, struggled past Western Michigan 62-57 in the Mideast regional of the NCAA Tournament Thursday night at Baton Rouge, La. That puts college basketball's two top-rated clubs in the regional finals Saturday. The survivor goes into the final four and the loser goes nowhere, a victim of the draw.

Neither coach was overly impressed with his team's showing.

"Tough, wasn't it?" asked Indiana's Bobby Knight after his club ran its season record to 29-0 with the help of Scott May's clutch basket with 2:01 remaining. "If he doesn't hit the basket and put us ahead, we're in a very difficult position."

"Marquette never looks good," grumbled Warriors' Coach Al McGuire after baskets by Butch Lee, Jerome Whitehead and Bo Ellis finally turned back stubborn Western Michigan.

While Indiana and Marquette struggled to victory, the lineups for Saturday's other three regional finals were completed.

—UCLA, 25-4, goes against Arizona 24-8, in the West at Los Angeles. The Bruins beat Pepperdine 70-61 and Arizona stunned No. 3 Nevada-Las Vegas 114-109 in overtime.

—Rutgers, 30-0, faces VMI, 22-9, in the East at Greensboro, N.C. Rutgers trimmed Connecticut 93-79 and VMI outlasted DePaul 71-66 in overtime.

—Missouri, 26-4, meets Michigan, 23-6, at Louisville, Ky. Missouri defeated Texas Tech 86-75 and Michigan overcame Notre Dame 80-76.

Only eight teams remain of the 32 that set out after the NCAA crown last week. After Saturday's games the final four will head for Philadelphia where the semifinals will be held a week from Saturday and the championship game Monday night, March 29.

But some observers think the title will be decided this Saturday in Baton Rouge when the mighty Indiana and almost-as-mighty Marquette collide. Both will be hoping for better showings than they made Thursday night.

Indiana fought off a strong Alabama team with the help of May's clutch bucket and two free throws apiece by Tom Abernethy and Bob Wilkerson down the stretch. The tenacious Hoosier defense held the Crimson Tide scoreless over the final 3:57 of the game and limited highly-regarded Alabama center Leon Douglas to 12 points.

May finished with 25 points and center Kent Benson added 15 despite sitting out much of the second half with four fouls.

Western Michigan led Marquette 51-50 with 7:15 left before Lee, Whitehead and Ellis hit consecutive baskets to put the Warriors ahead for good. Marquette froze the ball over the final two minutes to assure their 23rd straight triumph and 27th in 28 decisions this season.

Lee led the balanced attack with 16 points. Tom Cutter netted 21 for the Broncos.

In the West, No. 5 UCLA, the defending champion and winner of 10 of the last 12 NCAA crowns, beat 20th-ranked Pepperdine behind Marques Johnson's 18 points and Richard Washington's 16. UCLA led by just one at 50-49 midway through the second half but ran off a 20-8 spree to insure victory.

Marcos Leite and Dennis Johnson had 16 points each for Pepperdine, 22-6.

Junior guard Herman Harris engineered 15th-ranked Arizona's triumph over Nevada-Las Vegas. Harris scored 16 of the Wildcats' final 27 points in regulation, including the tying foul shot with 14 seconds left, and then added four free throws in the overtime. Harris had 31 points for the game.

"Arizona deserves all the credit in the world," said dejected Las Vegas Coach Jerry Tarkanian. "They played a great game. Our kids worked hard for so long, it's a shame to see it all end now."

In the East, No. 4 Rutgers ran off nine straight points early in the second half, pressured Connecticut into several turnovers and won going away. Freshman Abdel Anderson came off the bench to score 19 points and pull down 11 rebounds, and Mike Dabney and Ed Jordan added 18 points each for the Scarlet Knights.

VMI, the dark horse among the eight remaining teams, blew an 11-point lead in regulation time before subduing DePaul in overtime. Will Bynum scored 22 points and Ron Carter had 21 for the Keydets while Ron Norwood had 23 for the Blue Demons.

There were 57 personal fouls called in the game and DePaul lost five players on fouls.

Sam Smith had 26 points for the Rebels who wound up 29-2.

In the Midwest, Willie Smith pumped in 30 points, mostly on long-range jump shots, to carry 14th-ranked Missouri past 16th-ranked Texas Tech. "Smith was everything we heard he was," said Tech Coach Gerald Myers. "He was hitting those 25-footers and they weren't set shots. They were jumpers."

Missouri pulled away early in the second half and Tech's comeback hopes evaporated when center Rick Bullock, who had 23 points, fouled out with nine minutes left.

No. 9 Michigan overcame No. 7 Notre Dame on the strength of two free throws by Steve Grote and two more by Rickey Green in the final seconds. The Irish, behind Adrian Dantley's 31 points, led most of the way before a slew of turnovers down the stretch proved fatal.

"We had a lot of poise out there," said Michigan Coach Johnny Orr. "These kids never quit. We played more aggressively in the second half and that was the key for us."

Green scored 20 points for the Wolverines.

Baseball Teams Open Spring Training Camp

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

For the time being, Marvin Miller stopped pitching and John Gaherin stopped catching. Instead, most of the 24 major league baseball teams opened their camps and equipment trunks Thursday and rolled out the bats, balls, gloves and other necessary paraphernalia as spring training officially began.

But while the players unlimbered winter-idled muscles in an attempt to make up for some of the 2½ weeks of training they missed in the lingering labor hassle, there were a number of recalcitrants, led by veteran pitcher Luis Tiant of the Boston Red Sox.

Some 25 members of the American League champions participated in a brisk 2½-hour workout and Manager Darrell Johnson was so delighted with the proceedings it was almost as though the camps had never been locked.

"Rick Wise, Jim Burton and Reggie Cleveland each pitched 15 minutes of batting practice," Johnson enthused. "Ordinarily they wouldn't be able to do that until in camp 12 or 13 days, so actually they're about two weeks ahead."

Never before had 2½ weeks of nothing doing been wiped out so quickly.

However, Tiant remained at his Massachusetts home and said he wouldn't head south until the Red Sox extends his contract. The club's ace hurler, who won 18 games during the regular season, one in the playoffs and two more in the World Series, has one season remaining on a two-year, $100,000-a-year pact.

"I wanted a three-year contract last year, but they told me the Red Sox never give contracts longer than two years. Now they have given them and I want one."

Wise and Bill Lee have signed for three years, Carl Yastrzemski is believed working on a three-year contract and Fred Lynn, Carlton Fisk and Rick Burleson reportedly have been offered long-term pacts.

A former Bostonian, outfielder Juan Beniquez, was missing from the Texas Rangers' camp. Beniquez was believed to be somewhere in his native Puerto Rico.

It didn't take long for the California Angels to settle their third-base situation. Manager Dick Williams said Dave Chalk would continue to play the position with newly acquired Bill Melton "working out a bit at third, a bit at first and a lot in the batting cage."

Not all pitchers were as eager as the Red Sox.

"I'm not going to be ready to throw in any kind of game for 10 to 12 days," said Oakland relief ace Rollie Fingers. "It's going to take four or five weeks for me to get in shape to throw three innings."

The first exhibition games apparently will be played next Tuesday when the Pittsburgh Pirates meet the Chicago White Sox and the New York Yankees face the Texas Rangers.

While the players were working out, the owners' player relations committee was scheduled to meet today in New York to reassess its position.

Pam Pack, Elm City Post Wins

By The Associated Press

Center Rob Noyes dropped in a free throw with five seconds remaining in overtime to give McDowell a 65-64 victory over Cary Thursday night in a quarterfinals game of the state 4-A high school basketball playoffs.

Cary plays a semifinals game tonight against Fayetteville Sanford, which came from 14 points behind in the second half to defeat Greensboro Page in the other quarterfinals game at Greensboro.

Noyes scored 22 points, but the high man for the game with 37 was Jim Ramsey of Cary.

John McPhaul had 17 for Fayetteville Sanford and Anthony Currie topped Page with 16.

Tonight's other 4-A semifinals will match South Mecklenburg and Richmond County, winners of their quarterfinals test Wednesday night.

The consolation and championship games will be Saturday night.

The same format is being followed in the 3-A, 2-A and 1-A playoffs. Here is a look at them:

3-A at Durham: Tonight's semifinals will be Graham vs. East Bladen, winners Wednesday night, and Washington vs. Bandys, both unbeaten, winners of their quarterfinals game Thursday night.

Albert Spencer's goal in overtime lifted Washington to a 45-43 victory over Hendersonville. Leading scorers were Kevin Young with 22 for Hendersonville and Kenny Rogers with 20 for Washington.

Bandys got 34 points from James McLeave and 29 from Curtis Odom to defeat Pender County 87-71. Lenwood Pigfort had 27 for the losers.

2-A at Winston-Salem: The semifinals tonight are Clayton vs. Knapp High of Currituck, Wednesday winners, and defending champion Elm City vs. Union High of Clinton, Thursday night's quarterfinals winners.

John Virgil scored 46 points to lead Elm City to a 107-63 rout of Avery County. Elm City led by only 41-34 at the half, but made 66 points in the second half.

Union rolled past Monroe 86-64.

1-A at Garner: Tonight's semifinals match unbeaten Wentworth vs. Greenwood, the Wednesday winners, and Rosewood vs. Clarkton.

Rosewood, down five points at the end of three quarters, defeated Polk Central 69-61 in Thursday night's quarterfinals. And Clarkton defeated Benhaven 57-54.

Tim Lucas scored 32 points for Rosewood, 10 of them in the final-quarter drive.

Tourneys End Year

SEMI-HUMBLE MILLER
WASHINGTON (AP) — Pro golfer Johnny Miller says he tries to remain semi-humble.

"If I started going around saying how good I was, everything would go wrong," says Miller.

Miller says he's not comparing himself to Jack Nicklaus. He points out that Nicklaus is 36-years old. Miller is 28, and says he compares himself with golfers of that age and to the records older players had when they were 28.

WINTERVILLE — The Winterville adult basketball league closed out play this week with the top-seeded teams taking tournament championships in both the men's and women's divisions.

The Big Orange topped Griffin's, 56-40 to gain the men's title. Clip Brock led all scorers with 20 for the Big Orange. Bobby Edwards added 16 and David Allen, 12. Gerlon Griffin led the losers with 16.

Pepsi-Cola downed the Burger King, 23-17, to win the women's title. Debbie Purvis led Pepsi with nine points, while Joan Stanley led Burger King with nine.

1-A at Garner: Tonight's semifinals match unbeaten Wentworth vs. Greenwood, the Wednesday winners, and Rosewood vs. Clarkton.

Rosewood, down five points at the end of three quarters, defeated Polk Central 69-61 in Thursday night's quarterfinals. And Clarkton defeated Benhaven 57-54.

Couple Rescued On Fourth Day

FERNANDINA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — "I told God while I was out there, 'If You get me out of this one, I will get myself out of the next one,'" Phoebe Tucker said after being rescued on her fourth day adrift in a 14-foot boat.

Mrs. Tucker, 62, and her husband, Albert B. Tucker, 66, were plucked to safety by a Coast Guard helicopter Wednesday night about 27 miles offshore in the Atlantic Ocean.

They had been drifting most of four days after putting out Saturday from Glynn County, Ga., on a one-day fishing trip.

"That boat was like a little old pasteboard box in the middle of that big ocean," Mrs. Tucker said. "With the wind slapping us around the way it did, it was a miracle we stayed afloat."

She said they waved handkerchiefs at two boats that passed nearby and sighted several other vessels, but none stopped to help.

The trouble started when their outboard motor conked out. Tucker repaired it, but by then they had drifted so far they ran out of fuel trying to find their way back.

They had only brought a picnic lunch along, and Mrs. Tucker said they were without food and water through most of the ordeal.

"We managed to drink a little rain water when a storm came up Tuesday afternoon," she said. "But that was all."

The Tuckers, who live in Brevard, N.C., but have been staying at Baxley, Ga., weren't missed until Tuesday. A Coast Guard helicopter spotted them just before dark Wednesday when Mrs. Tucker flashed a mirror at the aircraft.

Tucker was hospitalized overnight at Brunswick, Ga., for observation but was released Thursday and rejoined his wife, who was in good condition despite the ordeal.

"I didn't want to go on that fishing trip in the first place," Mrs. Tucker said. "I am not going again. I am only going to be fishing from the bank from now on."

ton, and the finesse would lose the contract there and then.

Trumps were drawn in two rounds ending in dummy, and declarer tested the diamond situation by leading a low diamond toward his ten. East could not gain by playing his king (declarer would later cash the ten of diamonds and then take a club discard on the queen of diamonds), so he played low and the ten won. West discarded a spade. The contract was now safe against any distribution of the adverse cards.

Declarer entered dummy with a high spade and led the queen of clubs. If East held the king, the finesse would win and declarer's only loser would be his remaining diamond. But when the queen of clubs lost to West's king, he had no diamond to lead to his partner. Declarer was safe no matter what West did. After cashing the ace of clubs, he would be able to get back to dummy with a spade ruff to take a diamond discard on dummy's remaining high club. Declarer's only loser was the king of clubs.

Psychologist Will Lecture

Widely-known social psychologist Theodore Newcomb will visit the East Carolina University campus next week, and is scheduled to give two public lectures.

Dr. Newcomb will speak on "Processes of Change: Youth in Correctional Institutions" Tuesday, March 23, at 7:30 p.m. in the Biology Auditorium. This lecture is sponsored by the ECU chapter of Sigma Xi honor society in science.

On Wednesday, March 24, at 11 a.m., he will speak on "Are Students or their Colleges Changing?" in the Nursing Auditorium. The Wednesday appearance is co-sponsored by the ECU chapter of Psi Chi honor society in psychology and the ECU Dept. of Psychology.

Local Student HEW Honoree

SPARTANBURG, S. C. — Miss Donna G. White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don F. White of Greenville, has been nominated by the Converse College Sociology Department as a representative in the initial competition for a 12 week summer internship with the U. S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

The applications are reviewed by the regional director, Al Baldwin in Atlanta, and final decision will be made by the Secretary of HEW.

Donna, a graduate of Vardell Hall Preparatory School, is a junior at Converse.

ADVISORY BUDGET COMMISSION NOTICE OF RULE-MAKING HEARING
Pursuant to the authority vested in it by G.S. 142-34.3, 142-35, 142-36, 108-42, and Chapter 909, 1971 Session Laws, the Advisory Budget Commission gives notice of a rule-making hearing to adopt rules of organization and procedures to be followed by the Commission in its role as a rule-making body. These rules will become effective May 9, 1976.

The rules under consideration include contested case procedures, rule-making procedures and declaratory ruling procedures for the Division of Purchase and Contract and the Clean Water Bond Act. These proposed rules would also govern rules and regulations of the Social Services Commission governing eligibility for public assistance from State appropriations.

A public hearing will be held in the Governor's Press Conference Room, Administration Building, 116 W. Jones Street in Raleigh, North Carolina on Friday, April 9, 1976, commencing at 10 o'clock A.M. Copies of the proposed rules may be secured from the State Budget Officer, Division of State Budget and Management, North Carolina Department of Administration, 116 W. Jones Street, Raleigh, North Carolina 27603.

Dan Powers Says:
Let's Talk About

One Of The Many Services We Offer...

PROTECTS BOTH Buyer And Seller

It is obvious that our Buyers Protection Plan is a potent sales advantage for the seller. Not only is the purchaser assured of protection, but the seller, as well, is free from all future obligation when the home is sold. And, because BPP puts aside the worry about future repair or replacement costs, the home will often sell faster and at a much higher price; the small cost of BPP will often return itself many times over.

12 MONTHS OR 12,000 MILES USED CAR WARRANTY

Most good used cars, if they're guaranteed at all, are only covered for a month or two. At Tarheel Toyota, we're just as willing to back our good used cars as our good new cars. So we guarantee the motor, transmission and rear end for 12 months or 12,000 miles. This warranty applies to all cars selling for more than $1000.00 or more on a 50-50 basis with all work being done in our shop. It doesn't apply to any sports cars, high performance engines or 4 speed transmissions (except economy cars). If you're in the market for a BETTER USED CAR, COME OUT AND LOOK AT OURS. We'll show you some as good as new. Guaranteed. (Owners name furnished upon request.)

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was mixed today, recovering from some early declines with encouragement from some favorable inflation news.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, off more than 4 points the early going, was up .63 at 980.48 by 11:30 a.m.

But losers maintained a slight edge on gainers in the over-all tally of New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Trading slowed further, with only 4.45 million shares changing hands in the first hour against 5.31 million in the comparable period Thursday.

Brokers attributed the early selling to uneasiness over the interest rate outlook.

But by mid-morning the market began to respond to the government's report that its consumer price index rose only 0.1 per cent during February. It was the smallest rise in the cost-of-living measure in four and a half years.

Westinghouse Electric was the most active Big Board issue, down 3/4 at 16.

Arthur G. McKee picked up 2 to 28% following the company's announcement Thursday of a 2-for-1 stock split and a dividend increase.

The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks eased .04 to 53.66.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was down .10 at 103.22.
