Will Seek Reelection To Senate Seat

Sen. Jackson Withdraws From Presidential Race

By DAVID LAWSKY SEATTLE (UPI) — Sen. Henry Jackson said Saturday he was withdrawing from active campaigning for the Democratic presidential nomination and intended to seek reelection to his Senate seat.

has a commanding lead. I will support wholeheartedly the Democratic nominee for president this November. Jackson said the reasons for his decision were obvious: "I lost the Pennsylvania primary, a primary I had to win if my candidacy were to remain viable. I do not have the financial resources to continue an active campaign."

have. I hope to continue to serve them in the Senate." Jackson, a congressman and senator for 35 years, found that despite support from organized labor, Democratic party officeholders and interest groups backing strong defense and pro-Israel policies, he could not overcome Carter's broader appeal and latent support for Sen. Hubert Humphrey.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr., whose initial campaign foray into Maryland the past week won praise from state party leaders committed to Jackson. Jackson's loss last week in Pennsylvania, where he finished behind both Carter and Udall in the delegate count, crushed his hopes. Before that, he had won the Massachusetts primary and a plurality of delegates in New York state.

THE SIDEWALK ART SHOW... on Saturday, the first held on the Downtown Mall, was also the first in several years to take place on a rainy day. Art lovers, however, seemed delighted that the combination May Day-Show Day ushered in a soft steady fall of much needed rain and expressed a hope that in 1977 the sun would be out again for the big annual art event. Early Lead

By CLAY F. RICHARDS DALLAS (UPI) — Texas Democrats "gone wild" crossed over party lines by the thousands Saturday to give Ronald Reagan a big early lead in the Democratic contest Jimmy Carter pulled into a strong lead over favorite son Sen. Lloyd Bentsen.

Carter led in 45 contests and Bentsen in 1 with 3 per cent of the vote counted. But the early Reagan lead came from rural areas in the Texas Panhandle, and the eastern and southern parts of the state and did not include the big cities of Dallas, Houston and San Antonio — which were expected to be more pro-Ford.

But because voting is by congressional district, a light turnout in a rural area elects just as many delegates as a heavy turnout in a big city district. The Democratic vote was largely from Dallas and East Texas.

RALEIGH (AP) — The long drought that lasted most of April was finally broken in North Carolina Saturday, at least temporarily. And, because of the rain, the state Forest Service lifted a statewide ban on burning.

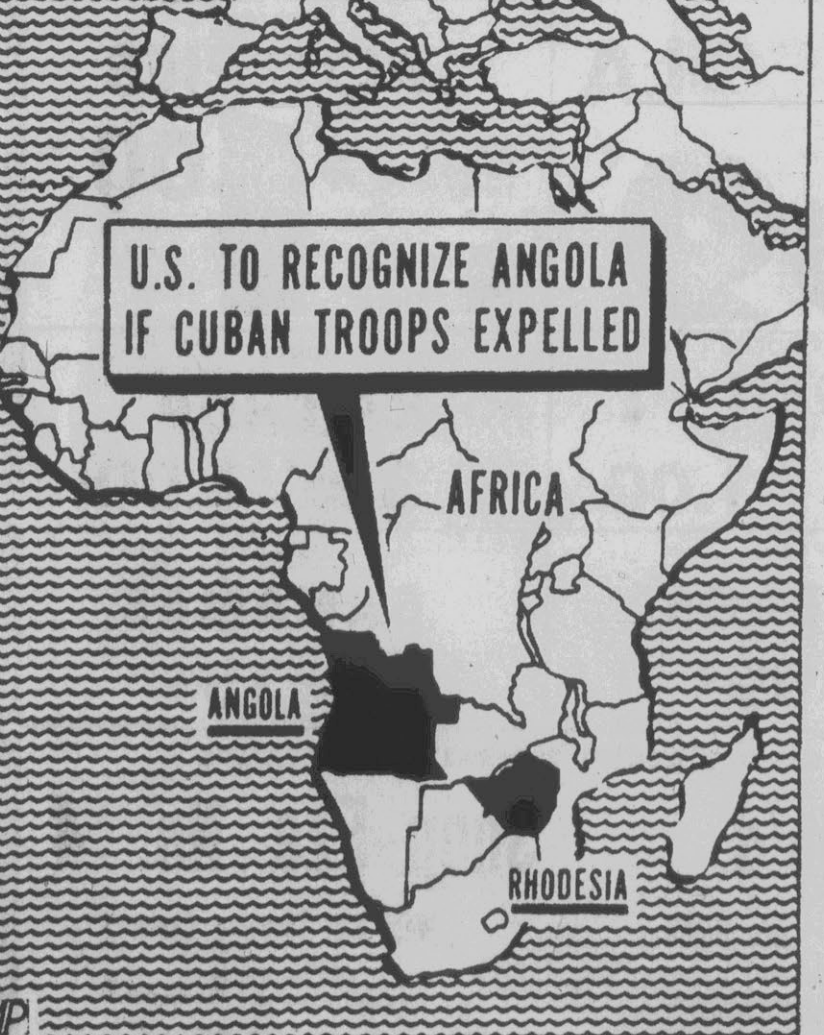

Agricultural officials have said the drought resulted in millions of dollars in crop losses, with the loss total growing by millions of dollars a week. No total estimate of loss has been compiled yet.

May Day Brings Welcome Rain

RALEIGH (AP) — The long drought that lasted most of April was finally broken in North Carolina Saturday, at least temporarily. And, because of the rain, the state Forest Service lifted a statewide ban on burning.

Forest rangers were also happy about the late April showers. Since April 9, all outdoor burning permits were cancelled and the dry conditions became so bad that on Easter weekend state officials banned smoking in North Carolina parks.

On Possible Securities Laws Evasion Sanford Investigated

WINSTON-SALEM (AP) — Possible evasion of the securities laws in the formation of the Andy Griffith Barbecue Co. in 1969 by former Gov. Terry Sanford and several associates have been investigated by federal and state officers, the Winston-Salem Journal says. Sanford, president of Duke University who ran unsuccessfully for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1972 and again briefly this year, said, "there's no violation" of securities law in the situation. The Journal said the following in a dispatch Thursday from its Raleigh bureau:

RALEIGH (AP)—An enthusiastic crowd of more than 7,000 North Carolina school teachers marched through Raleigh Saturday, chanting "Four times four. We want more," to emphasize their call for a 16 per cent pay boost which would be much greater than what the legislature's leadership has agreed to provide. The teachers also sang, "We are underpaid" to the tune of "We shall overcome" as they marched down historic Hillsborough Street past the State Capitol to the vicinity of the Legislative Building where the General Assembly will take up the pay issue in a session beginning Monday.

The teachers also sang, "We are underpaid" to the tune of "We shall overcome" as they marched down historic Hillsborough Street past the State Capitol to the vicinity of the Legislative Building where the General Assembly will take up the pay issue in a session beginning Monday. The march came after the teachers held a spirited rally in Dorton Arena on the State Fairgrounds. As they listened to their leaders speak, the teachers cheered every reference to the 16 per cent boost they are asking and jeered every reference to the increase of 4 per cent plus $300 a year which the legislative leadership has agreed on.

"No," the teachers answered with a roar. "Four times four. We want more." "The legislature should look on this as an omen of warning," Ratchford said. "We have kept our commitment to the children of North Carolina this year," Ratchford added. "We expect the legislators to keep their commitment to us." He emphasized that the 16 per cent request was based on rises in the cost of living and said that such an increase would "only bring us to the level we had in 1974." "The country is going crazy for salaries for everybody but us," said Genie Lucas of Durham, state president of the Division of Classroom Teachers. As they listened and as they marched, many of the teachers bore placards. "You can't teach on an empty stomach," said one. "4 per cent you teach, 16 per cent we teach," said another. "We want a raise now, not your promises later," said another. "We're tired of promises that

For N.C. General Assembly Brief Session Expected

By STUART SAVAGE Reflector Staff Writer Pitt County Representatives Horton Rountree and Sam Bundy said Friday that the special session of the General Assembly, which begins at noon, Monday, should be a short one. According to Rountree, "It looks like the power structure has reached an agreement (on the budget revisions) and I assume the members of the General Assembly will follow..." He added, "if the compromise is acceptable, we shouldn't be there but about two weeks." A joint House Senate committee has recommended four per-cent plus $300 raise for state employees and teachers, and officials of the North Carolina Association of Education and the State Employees Association have both agreed the compromise is acceptable. According to Rountree, "It's a question of how it fits in with the future of the state's financial situation... the tax structure and what it's going to mean in 1977. We have to look to the future." Another compromise reached by the joint budget group, Bundy pointed out, involves expanding the state's kindergarten program. In order to make the program available to all eligible students in the state next fall (the program was to be expanded over the next two years),

ARC Building Being Dedicated Today

Dr. Bruce Whitaker, President of Chowan College, Murfreesboro, and Chairman of the Alcohol and Drug Committee of the N. C. Mental Health Commission, will be the principal speaker at the dedication of the new activities building at the Walter B. Jones Alcoholic Rehabilitation Center (WBJ-ARC), Greenville. Dedication ceremonies will be held today, beginning at 1:00 p.m., according to Donald H. Hayes, WBJ-ARC Director. Following dedication ceremonies, "Open House" will be held in observance of May as Mental Health Month. The public is invited to attend both dedication ceremonies and "Open House."

The new activities building was constructed through a legislative appropriation by the 1973 General Assembly at a cost of $576,145. The brick and steel structure, contains 12,772 square feet and is centrally heated and air conditioned. Kenneth R. Bordeaux, WBJ-ARC Business Manager and Chairman of the Building Committee, said, "Our effort has been made to make every square foot of floor space as functional as possible. There are few hallways in the building, and it is architectural barrier free." Bordeaux points out that outside walkways are used to limit or replace corridors or hallways inside the structure to increase the usable floor space for patient activities. The construction of the new activities building had been planned in the initial construction of the WBJ-ARC in 1969, but had to be eliminated at the time because of insufficient funds. Various types of arts and crafts are taught in the new facility including sewing, wood work, needle crafts, string ships, plater casting, copper tooling, and decoupage. The purpose behind the use of arts and crafts in the rehabilitation of alcoholic persons is to teach clients constructive activities or hobbies to do in their leisure or spare time. Too, clients are taught to use materials found around the home in learning of various worthwhile activity hobbies. The Arts and Crafts Section is taught by professional instructors under contract with Pitt Technical Institute. Part of the instruction is to teach clients hobbies in which the entire family can be involved. The activities building is also available for clients to use for various types of indoor recreational and relaxing activities, such as pool, checkers, television, physical exercising and listening to music. Some staff offices are located in the new facility, including Vocational Rehabilitation offices for VR counselors who are consulting with clients about their work activities.

The auditorium is used for special functions and programs. It will seat around 150 people. An elevated stage is available with a large movie screen for showing slides and movies. "We have been needing this activities building," said Hayes, "and we are proud of it because it will enable us to provide better and enlarged services to our clients." The WBJ-ARC has a capacity of 76 clients and serves the entire Eastern Mental Health Region, which consists of 32 counties, and six counties of the South Central Mental Health Region. Admission to the Alcoholic Rehabilitation Center is through one of the local mental health (Continued on page A-6)

Four Die In Plane Crash

LYNCHBURG, Va. (AP) — A light plane crashed and was hit by a train early Saturday on railroad tracks about a half-mile from the fog-shrouded Lynchburg Municipal Airport. Four of the five persons aboard the aircraft were killed.

The plane apparently overshot the airport in the rainy, predawn darkness, police said.

The 18-car Southern Railway passenger train hit the twin-engine Piper Aztec aircraft about 4:55 a.m., but residents of the area estimated the plane crashed about 3 a.m. They said they heard an aircraft make at least three passes over the airport, apparently looking for the runway.

"The train just hit the plane a glancing blow and pushed it off the rails," he said.

Rescue workers said it appeared the four persons who were killed died when the plane crashed.

It appeared the plane hit the top of an embankment above the track bed and slid down to the tracks.

Officials said the aircraft was based in Lynchburg and apparently had taken off on a local flight about midnight Friday.

Officials at the National Weather Service said rain began to fall shortly after midnight and became moderately heavy about 2:30 a.m.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford said Saturday Ronald Reagan "took himself out" of consideration for the 1976 GOP vice presidential nomination and hinted he would lean toward a southerner for his running mate if Georgian Jimmy Carter heads the Democratic ticket.

Ford has said repeatedly that, if nominated to run for a full term in the White House, he would include Reagan in a group of perhaps a dozen men who might run for the vice presidency on his ticket.

Asked to reaffirm that in an interview Saturday, he said Reagan made a firm statement on that last week in Texas and added: "I should say ... he took himself out of the vice presidency as a candidate ... much like Vice President Nelson Rockefeller did three or four months ago."

ROXBORO, N.C. (UPI) — Former House Speaker James E. Ramsey, manager of Sen. Henry M. Jackson's campaign in North Carolina, Saturday called on all Democrats to united behind Jimmy Carter's presidential bid.

Mostly Peaceful

May Day was celebrated by massive, peaceful parades in Communist countries of Asia and Eastern Europe today, but police reserves were called out in some Western nations to deal with anticipated violence or illegal demonstrations.

In Portugal, a powerful bomb exploded just before dawn outside Communist party headquarters in Lisbon.

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Small numbers of Democrats filtered into widely scattered polling stations Saturday to select 32 national convention delegates in Louisiana's first presidential primary.

The early turnout appeared to confirm predictions that only 10 per cent of 1.7 million registered Democrats would vote. There was no Republican primary.

Democratic front-runner Jimmy Carter and Alabama Gov. George Wallace were the only candidates with full slates of delegates.

COLUMBUS, Ga. (UPI) — Jimmy Carter, visiting five Georgia cities in a bid for a home state victory in Tuesday's Georgia primary, said Saturday it's too late for his opponents to mount a successful "stop-Carter movement."

Carter said he doubts any "stop-Carter movement" can succeed even if it involves the combined efforts of Sen. Henry Jackson, California Gov. Jerry Brown, Rep. Morris Udall, and Sen. Hubert Humphrey.

Until his victory in Pennsylvania last Tuesday, Carter had complained that supporters of those figures were mounting a joint effort to deny him the Democratic presidential nomination.

"But I believe that Pennsylvania put all that hope to rest," Carter said, "and I don't see any way that a coordinated effort against me would be mounted in the future."

He said Jackson's withdrawal from an active campaign Saturday left him only nominal opposition, but he refused to write off Udall or Brown.

Turkish Hijacker Surrenders

PARIS (AP) — A Turkish worker armed with a switchblade knife surrendered a jumbo jet Saturday after hijacking it in an effort to avoid expulsion from France. He released the plane's 253 passengers unharmed, officials said.

Officials said the man took over a Turkish airlines DC10 jet Friday evening after it left here on a flight to Istanbul. The man threatened the crew and ordered the plane to Marseille, where landing permission was denied.

Meat Prices Rising

WASHINGTON (AP) — An increase in the farm price index is being translated into higher meat prices at the nation's grocery stores.

Higher prices for cattle and hogs helped boost the government's farm price index 2 per cent last month, the Agriculture Department said Friday.

The farm prices of meat animals rose 2 per cent from March 15 to April 15. On the average, that put livestock prices about 18 per cent above what they were a year ago.

Air Rates Going Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most passengers taking commercial airline flights in the United States and some going to Europe will be paying higher fares beginning yesterday as a result of a Civil Aeronautics Board order.

The board agreed Friday to let airlines raise all domestic air fares by 2 per cent during the next two weeks. It also approved hikes of up to 10 per cent in first class and promotional fares on flights across the North Atlantic routes to Europe, while rejecting increases proposed for the economy, or coach, fare on those routes.

Catastrophic Weather Changes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Millions in India face starvation, China will suffer a major famine every five years and Russia will lose a major wheat growing area because of catastrophic changes in the earth's climate, an internal CIA report says.

The anticipated changes, which will return the climate on this planet to a condition similar to that of 100 to 400 years ago, will cause economic and political upheavals "almost beyond comprehension," the report says.

At Black Political Caucus

Minority Platform Formed

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UPI) — The nation's black political leaders said Saturday they want someone in the White House who not only will carry out their demands on minimum minority goals but also will guarantee them 25 per cent of top federal jobs.

In the more immediate future, Rep. Yvonne Brathwaite Burke, D-Calif., told a Caucus of Black Democrats convened this weekend in Charlotte, "Our political power must be brought to bear to increase the shockingly small number of black delegates who have been selected so far" to the Democratic national convention.

About 2,000 black political and civic leaders, showing an unprecedented mood of unity, put the final touches Saturday to a minority platform. The blacks meet today with Democratic presidential contenders Jimmy Carter, Morris Udall, Frank Church and Edmund Brown Jr., and will demand the candidates endorse their platform in exchange for black support.

Burke, chairman of the 17-member congressional Black Caucus, and Richard Hatcher, mayor of Gary, Ind., said in speeches Saturday that since blacks provide 25 per cent of the Democratic vote the party cannot elect a president without minority support and backing this year will not come easily.

"We are justified, we have every right to demand our 25 per cent of the Democratic action. We want our 25 per cent of the action on the cabinet and the Supreme Court and everywhere else," said Hatcher.

One delegate, in debate on the platform, said blacks in particular suffered from "regressive" rulings of the Supreme Court and suggested "a campaign to gain the impeachment of the Nixon appointees" to the high court.

Burke said blacks represented 15 per cent of the delegates at the 1972 Democratic convention but "to date in 1976 we make up half that proportion."

"The burden is on the presidential candidates to see that black delegates go to the convention in New York in numbers responsive to the 25 per cent of the Democratic vote blacks have provided," said Burke.

Crawl Slowly!

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In case of atomic attack, the old Russian saying goes, cover yourself with a white sheet and crawl slowly toward the cemetery.

Why slowly? Because, otherwise you'll create a panic!

This snippet of black humor was doing the rounds of Moscow during the 1962 Cuban missile crisis when, suddenly, nuclear war with the United States seemed an ominous possibility.

But after the Cuban crisis dissolved, the U.S. and Soviet governments plunged into arms control negotiations and, for most of a decade, seemed to shut their eyes to civil defense.

Monday Agenda

Pitt County Commissioners, when they hold their monthly meeting Monday at 10 a.m. at the Court House, will consider a civil preparedness ordinance required by federal authorities before funds can be approved for next year.

Commissioners will also consider recommendations of the Pitt County Planning Board for approval of two subdivision final plats, including Brandywine Estates and Cherry Oaks, section 4.

The board will also consider a request by Dr. Allen Taylor to consider exchanging some property at the present hospital in order to straighten property lines and consider appointments to the Pitt-Greenville Board of Adjustments for Extra-Territorial Jurisdiction.

In other business, Commissioners will consider the creation of a county industrial facilities and pollution control financing authority and hear a report on the county parking lot adjacent to the court house.

Brief Session...

Neither Bundy nor Rountree feel there will be any move to take more money from the East Carolina University medical school budget.

Lawmakers have agreed that $3.8 million in medical school funds—earmarked for the construction of an additional bed tower at the new Pitt Memorial Hospital—could be used to help balance the 1976-77 budget.

"There is no way in the world they could spend it this year," Bundy said of those medical school funds. "It (taking the money) was not a movement by those opposed to the school," Bundy explained. "It was sort of a compromise from those who supported the medical school ... with the assurance" that the funds will be placed back in the 1977-1978 budget.

He emphasized, "I see no problem in getting it placed back. "It's just a question of unused money."

Rountree said he would "fight like mad" if there are any further attempts to cut medical school funds.

Both lawmakers see the possibility of the General Assembly taking up the question of malpractice insurance at the special budget session, although such action would require a two-thirds vote of both the House and Senate.

"There doesn't seem to be any question about the Senate," being able to swing the two-thirds approval," Bundy said. "But it's a little iffy in the House." However, he added "I have every idea it will be considered."

According to Rountree, the "question of malpractice insurance is getting sticky. I don't know how that will go.

We've got what you want.

Two Fantasies Are Shot Down

Two fantasies have been put forth by opponents of the ECU Medical School:

One was that the cost of beginning the school would be $100 million or more. This escalated during the course of the debate to $200 million, $300 million and more recently to $500 million.

The other fantasy, which is of more recent origin, is that the funds appropriated by the Legislature for development of the medical school can be dipped into without harming development of the school and its movement towards accreditation. While the two positions might seem incongruent, some critical sources argue both of them on successive days.

We have long maintained that to put forth either of the positions was irresponsible. The $500 million cost figure is never backed up with specifics. And so far as taking away the funds which have been appropriated, it has to be obvious that this would cripple the school's development.

A recent report from the Liaison Committee on Medical Education, the accrediting agency for medical schools, shoots both these fantasies down.

The consultants in their report carefully review the budget for development. It includes $28 million for a permanent medical school building, $4.8 million for teaching additions to Pitt Memorial Hospital, $3.8 million for a 100-bed addition. There is $550,000 for renovation of Ragsdale, $205,000 for land cost, $3.3 million for planning and site costs, $650,000 for interim clinical and library facility and $1.7 million for equipment.

In addition the report cites a current operating budget of $2.6 million and a $3.6 million operating budget for 1976-77.

Thus we can see that development cost will be $43,005,000 for the medical school. Even if we consider the operations budget for the first two years as part of the development cost the total comes to $49,205,000.

About this budget the consultants say, "Financial support provided and proposed by the Legislature seems ample."

So much for fantasy no. 1. However, the consultants were informed that the state was having difficulties meeting its budget this year and about this they say. "The short fall in state revenue could impede the development of the school."

The message is clear. Any major cuts in the appropriated funds could bring about difficulties in launching the school and gaining accreditation. That takes care of fantasy no. 2.

It is clear that the money appropriated for the ECU School of Medicine must be left intact. This is true whether the school actually begins teaching students this year or next year. To avoid interminable delays in development of the school and to avoid wasting what has already been accomplished we must see to it that no further cuts are made in the appropriated funds.

Favor Death Penalty

By GEORGE GALLUP
PRINCETON, N. J. — Support for the death penalty for persons convicted of murder has increased steadily over the last decade with the percentage in favor of capital punishment now at the highest point in nearly a quarter-century.

In the latest survey, 65 per cent say they favor the death penalty for convicted murderers, 28 per cent are opposed and 7 per cent are undecided. A decade ago, in 1966, less than a majority, 42 per cent, supported capital punishment.

The increase in support for the death penalty over the last decade coincides with a sharply rising fear of crime on the part of the American people. The Gallup Poll's most recent study on crime showed nearly half of the public fearful of venturing out after dark in their own neighborhoods. One person in four nationally says he or she has been physically assaulted or had his or her home broken into during a 12-month period tested.

Barometer of 'Hard Line' Mood

The question on the death penalty has, in Gallup Poll experience, been a good barometer of hard-line and soft-line moods in the nation.

The issue has important political implications since the problem of crime and lawlessness has been one of the chief issues in recent elections.

The current survey shows that a hard-line position on the death penalty is most likely to be held by voters who support Gov. George Wallace and Sen. Henry Jackson for the Democratic nomination. At the other end of the scale (eight Democratic hopefuls were tested) are supporters of Rep. Morris Udall who vote 5 to 4 against the death penalty.

Only Non-Whites Oppose Death Penalty
A majority in each major population group, with the single exception of non-whites, favors the death penalty for persons convicted of murder. Sharp shifts among all groups have occurred since 1972 in favor of

Statistics Don't Measure The Service

Pitt Technical Institute marked ten years of service with a progress night Tuesday.

President William Fulford pointed out that the institution had grown from 155 full time students in 1964 to 2,507 full time students now. There were 10 full time instructors ten years ago and eight non-instructional personnel. Now there are 63 full-time instructors, 200 part-time and 73 non-instructional personnel.

Statistics don't measure Pitt Tech's service to the area over the past decade, however. It has been outstanding.

THIS AFTERNOON

Hardball Politics In Store

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH—Hardball politics will reign over the special session of the General Assembly as it convenes Monday for work on the 1976-77 budget.

The boss of the Senate, Lt. Gov. James B. Hunt, Jr., is seeking the Democratic nomination for governor in the upcoming August primary.

The boss of the house, Speaker James C. Green, is seeking the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor.

And the House of Representatives is loaded with the intrigue of two Democrats who seek to be speaker in the 1977 session: State Rep. Billy T. Watkins of Granville County, and State Rep. Carl J. Stewart, Jr., of Gaston County.

Stewart is a former chairman of the powerful Appropriations Committee which does out the state money. Watkins has been made chairman of the powerful Base Budget Committee which has been the group engaged in chopping funds recently. He won that post from his close friend and political ally Speaker

Green.

Hard Fight

Stewart, under Green's control, has no active job at present. Nonetheless, he is campaigning hard and seeking to establish a leadership role for himself in the May session.

Even legislators are confused over the conditions of the state budget, with some calling for severe cutting and figure juggling to meet a demand for a pay raise for teachers and other state employees.

Stewart, meanwhile, is putting the word out that business is booming so greatly in North Carolina that the summer months will in fact produce a surplus in the present fiscal year budget. That, coupled with stringent controls on spending slapped on by the administration, will yield a surplus between $10 and $30 million, Stewart thinks, allowing a raise of more than five per cent.

Even the budget battle is being used in the speaker's race: at one point, legislators from the Chapel Hill area were told the University of North Carolina could keep more of the proceeds from the sale of the utilities system owned by the school if they would switch allegiances in the Stewart-Watkins battle. Watkins, of course, chaired the committee recommending the way the money would be split.

Watkins is taking a more conservative path on money, figuring the house will not go overwhelmingly for the speedup in withheld income tax collections which the senate, under Hunt's command, seems all for.

Two Leaders
Hunt appears to have the senators pretty well under control and will naturally attempt to use his leadership role to win friends and influence voters.

Green faces a ticklish problem—he is embroiled in the speaker's fight, for one, and has two opponents in his bid for lieutenant governor sitting in the chamber: State Rep. Herbert Hyde, D-Buncombe, and State Rep. John Jordan, D-Alamance.

One of Hunt's opponents, State Senator Thomas C. Strickland, D-Wayne, is in the chamber facing him, and several senators are for Charlottean Ed O'Herron. But the senate is largely in Hunt's camp.

So as the daily sage unfolds, the observer needs to keep those political programs in view. The action is complicated by the fact that filing for re-election is May 28 and all seats in senate and house are open, allowing some politicking amongst legislators. But the focus will be on the three big fights: Hunt, Green, and the Stewart-Watkins tilt.

It is entirely possible that some steps will take place in the next two weeks deliberately designed by the various factions to politically embarrass and harm an opponent. The rewards are apparent in the public elections; not so obvious in the bitter struggle to win the speaker's seat in the next term.

Bear in mind that the speaker names committee chairmen and members, determines which committee will handle specific legislation, controls the flow of legislation toward passage (or failure), and in fact, can exercise in some regards more power than the state's limited governor (in addition to setting the stage for future elections) and the race becomes more understandable.

Other Editors Say The Taxes Ignored

(Washington Daily News)

As legislators prepare to meet again in a few days for an off-year session, a lot of thought apparently is being given on ways and means of balancing the present budget by cutting down here and there.

And cutting down and cutting back seem to be the big order of the day. We are preparing to balance the present budget which ends on June 30 of this year, and surely that feat will be accomplished.

But then next January, 1977, a regular biennial session of the N.C. General Assembly meets. And then there is bound to be a separation of the men from the boys. We see it no other way at this time.

Specifically, we talk about money—tax money. When the legislators perform the usual major task of issuing a budget, there hardly is going to be enough tax money available to carry through with the normal and expected state functions for the ensuing two years.

How can teachers and state employees be given salary raises without raising taxes? Too little attention is being given this question. We suspect that this is the one question legislators and legislative candidates do not wish to discuss right now. They just wish it would go away, but it will not go away, and in January of next year, those sitting in the legislative halls of our state must come face to face with reality. They cannot escape it, and they cannot brush it aside. They cannot sweep it under the rug, and they cannot put it on any back burner. It is there and it must be faced.

It is surely going to take a lot more money to operate the business of the state of North Carolina for the next biennium than it has taken for the present two years.

While normal growth takes care of us to a degree, such growth hardly will be adequate to take care of all the additional funding this state will need next time.

It is much easier right now to talk about cutting down and cutting back today than it is to talk about where additional monies are coming from tomorrow. And the easy way out seems to be the answer offered right now. It is not always the wise answer.

When a candidate for public office seeks to serve people, he also ought to tell people all the truth about his position on issues. Next year when the N.C. legislature meets, we predict that one very big issue will be that of raising taxes.

Before the election, we, the people, ought to know how legislative candidates stand.

ALVIN TAYLOR

The pretty girl turned the query away, but then answered, "Oh I really wouldn't want to guess. I've found that people in their 40s are so sensitive about their age." One ego collapsed.

And a pert young teenager commented that a couple approached her to ask directions.

"They were elderly," she gushed. "... in their forties." Ah, youth.

The local baseball team scored a onesided win over New Bern yesterday behind the pitching of Louis Gaylord and Dubose Simpson.

After getting off to a bad start by losing the first five games, the team got out of their slump and added yesterday to their string of nine wins with a win over New Bern, 10-2.

Simpson, starting pitcher for the locals, had too many hits and walks marked against him so he was replaced by Gaylord. At the close of the game, Gaylord had five strikeouts to his credit against four hits given up.

George Clark set the pace for the hitting of both teams by getting three singles out of four trips to the plate.

Ford Offers Compromise

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — In an ingenious horsetrading effort to halt usurpation of presidential authority over foreign policy, the White House is considering this unique bargain with Congress: a compromise settlement on extra military aid for Israel in exchange for cancelling rigid new restrictions over foreign aid. President Ford wants the worst restrictions, including the extraordinary requirement of a new human rights office to police military aid, removed from the foreign aid bill. In return, he is considering partial restoration of the half-billion dollars in extra military aid for Israel which he has said he would veto.

This election-year tradeoff carries two obvious political assets for Mr. Ford: first, an escape route from vetoing a bill which could damage him in the presidential campaign; second, at least a temporary halt to dangerous congressional encroachment on a President's foreign policy authority. The price: excessive aid to Israel, reducing pressure on the Israeli government to keep negotiating.

Congressional encroachment reached a climax in an audacious amendment by Rep. Don Fraser of Minnesota compelling the President to establish a new Coordinator for Human Rights in the State Department. This functionary would give Congress exhaustive reports on the condition of "human rights" in each of the

Hospitals Are Counterattacking

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—The nation's 7,000 hospitals are counterattacking against what they feel is a widespread impression they are inefficient and the primary reason for the nation's rising health care bill.

Part of the attack is aimed at the validity of government statistics commonly used to show that hospital care costs are rising faster than the over-all rate of consumer price inflation.

Contending that charges of hospital extravagance were exaggerated, J. Alexander McMahon, president of the American Hospital Association, challenged recipients, employers, insurers and government officials to look also to themselves for an explanation rising costs.

To some degree, McMahon said in an interview, all are "insulated from the consequences" of their attitude that the very best should always be provided without regard to cost, because that can be passed on to someone else. McMahon seemed especially irritated by the attitude of some insurers and government officials — by the failure of the former to provide incentives aimed at reducing wasteful use of health care benefits, and by promises of the latter.

He said he agreed with legitimate efforts to reduce costs, but that government efforts didn't always fit that category. While promising free health care to the elderly, he said, they seek to put the payment burden on hospitals by limiting payments to "reasonable" costs, an imprecise, subjective determination.

Since this might mean less than the hospital expended, McMahon said, "let them tell us what services they don't want us to provide and what patients they don't want us to take care of."

Such efforts, he said, sought to drive down the cost of the system not by changing either the input of dollars or the benefits, but by bureaucratic controls. "This is like trying to make the funnel bigger but the bottle smaller," he said.

"We cannot do it alone," he continued. "Some of these promoters, through political programs and health insurance programs, promise care at any cost."

But, he continued, "if you expect hospitals and doctors to control costs when you promise to pay for any service, then you've forgotten the history of the United States."

Such an assignment, he indicated, is beyond the ability of any institution to fulfill because it encourages unlimited and often wasteful demand for its services. With emphasis, he said: "You cannot control costs in the face of unlimited demand." Nevertheless, he said, thousands of hospitals are practicing quality and cost control programs today and, while improving care, have produced hard-won increases in productivity.

McMahon said the association disputed the key statistics used by the government to measure inflation in the hospital industry, and argued that the practice of contrasting hospital costs with other consumer items produced a distorted picture.

Strength For Today

BETTER-GIFTS
God sometimes confers his greatest blessings upon us by denying us something we ask for and giving us something better instead. For example, Christopher Columbus prayed ardently that he might find a western route to China. That was denied. Instead, Columbus found a new world. This was vastly better.

We always have to leave the issue of affairs in the hands of God. This is what Columbus did, and this is what we have to do as we live our lives day by day. We pray, and then we set our sails and start out in the direction we think we ought to go.

What we find when we get there will have to be left in God's hands. It is enough for us that we go in the direction which our compass indicates is our course. If we do that, we shall get to the place God wants us to reach. And while that might not be the place toward which we started, it will in all odds be a better place.

Observations From Editorial Columns

Easter Monday Is Different

Newcomers are always amused at North Carolina's annual Easter Monday holiday. But does there have to be a legal reason for it? Maybe we are the only state that always celebrates it, but perhaps that shows our good sense.

It really is a celebration of spring. It gives youth their first chance at sand and sea and sunburn and the sportsmen, fishermen, gardeners and all the rest of us tired workers are delighted to enjoy April.

Good Friday has been the traditional date for sowing corn, string beans, watermelons, parsley, potatoes and cantalope, but Easter Monday is a more relaxed time and is still in the full moon phase if you are governed by the moon mystique.

Kindergartners and young school children need another day to rehearse what Easter eggs they haven't eaten and to get over the stomach aches from those deadly sweet candy concoctions that have beaten out the hard-boiled real eggs in popularity.

And another plus is that Easter Monday holiday this year gives us one more long week-end before Daylight Saving sets in and outdoor activity takes on the down-to-earth business of recreation in earnest.

Goal Worthwhile

Cutting down on government red tape is like the weather. A lot of talk, but who ever does anything about it? President Ford's latest assault at least has something new—the specific goal of a 10 per cent reduction by July 1 in the number of forms used by government agencies to collect information from the public.

This gives the bureaucrats something they can get their teeth into. An agency with an inventory of 100 different forms now has the specific target of trimming the stock to 90. The President now can look for measurable progress in his anti-paperwork campaign. This is not the first time such a battle has been joined, but Mr. Ford's goal and deadline bring a fresh strategy into play. We wish him luck, but can't bypass an inescapable feeling of pessimism.

Wonder why?

—Lynchburg (Va.) Daily Advance

Dollar Coin Coming?

The once-mighty dollar is getting to be a right cute little feller. Its Incredible Shrinking Money act has trimmed its power by 40 per cent just since 1966, and it wasn't its old self then by any means.

In a few weeks it will have a $2 bill for competition—and since it's worth about a 1964 dollar, the new bad money will probably drive out the old. But the end is not yet. The Treasury Department is studying a midget $1 coin.

That might have a salutary effect; its size (a little bigger than a quarter) could shock us into realizing what inflation is doing to us, and lead to some pressure for action against the process. It would look sorry indeed alongside the gaudy and dignified dollar cartwheel nobody but Nevadans use.

The next generation won't ever be able to understand shy George Washington's feat of throwing a dollar across the Rappahannock was such a feat.

Bicentennial Thought

Evans-Novak....

80-plus countries receiving U.S. military aid.

If the coordinator's report indicated a violation of "human rights" — as would surely be the case in such pro-Western authoritarian governments as South Korea and Chile — Congress could cancel the aid program by concurrent resolution. That device, requiring no presidential signature, constitutes a legislative veto that might well be declared unconstitutional in a court test. But a court test could take a long time.

Another new restriction on presidential authority in the pending bill is designed to end U.S. aid to any Arab country that requires American companies to discriminate in any way against Israel. This, too, the President would like to remove in return for additional dollars to Israel.

This hamstringing of Presidential authority is the latest sign that Congress has by no means recovered from its emotional reaction to Vietnam and CIA excesses which led to legislative curbs on the President. Rather, Congress is still moving hard down that same road.

The deal now being considered in the White House is calculated to slow the congressional onslaught, and no bait could be more seductive to an election-year Congress than the bait of more military arms to Israel.

The controversy over the size of Israeli aid stems from a major blunder by Secretary of State Henry Kissinger last February. He was unaware that President Ford had privately ruled out any extra aid money for Israel during the so-called "transition quarter" — the three-month period between the June 30, 1976, end of the present fiscal year, and the Oct. 1 start of the new fiscal year. So Kissinger routinely approved a request by several Senators to allocate Israel $550 million for the three months.

In fact, budget director James Lynn had convinced Mr. Ford that the U. S.

budget could not stand any higher allocation of military aid for Israel — or, for that matter, economic aid for the Arabs — during the transition quarter.

But Kissinger's approval set forces in motion which could not be reversed in Senate committees. The President did manage to persuade the House Appropriations Committee not to approve the extra money. But even to do that took a letter to Speaker Carl Albert, signed by the President April 6, threatening to veto any foreign aid bill containing extra funding for the disputed three months.

Since then, the Israel lobby in Congress has been trying to arrange some compromise. Sen. Jacob K. Javits of New York, just back from a trip to the Mideast, tried hard to persuade Mr. Ford to agree to something, perhaps $300 million. However, stories leaked to the Israeli press — that the President actually had bought a compromise — were wrong. No compromise had been reached.

A veto of the aid bill could not conceivably be overridden. However, such a veto would be followed by passage of a bill without the extra aid for Israel but including the restrictions on presidential authority — a bill whose veto could be overridden. This course of events would leave intact for future years the insidious legislative encroachment on the President's freedom to conduct foreign policy without undue restraints.

Accordingly, a partial satisfying of Israeli aid demands, though far from the best formula for Mideast peace, could produce an overall foreign policy benefit. Elimination of the harshest of the new congressional restraints would begin to reverse the dangerous congressional usurpation of policymaking that has marked the post-Vietnam area.

A Conservative View

Intelligence Report Available To The Kremlin

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

The Senate Intelligence Committee disgorged its 651-page report on Monday. By Tuesday night, we may be certain, the report was being gleefully dissected in the Kremlin. In the annals of stupid congressional stunts, this massive piece of folly will rank exceedingly high.

Yes, the report does contain some thoughtful observations. Yes, it gives lip service to the idea that our nation needs a foreign intelligence service. Yes, the report calls attention to the dangers of Soviet espionage. The principal authors stoutly insist that their publication will not weaken, but rather will strengthen the Central Intelligence Agency.

When these perfunctory pieties have been acknowledged, little of value remains. The committee has raised a banner with a strange device "Let It All Hang Out." The majority members seem genuinely to be wedded to the naive notion that an agency whose function is to deal in secrets must have no secrets—it must shed itself of "secret practices that have eroded the processes of open democratic government."

What is the first accomplishment of the committee's long investigation and report? It is to belittle the CIA, to stigmatize the honorable men who have served it, and to make the agency's successful performance vastly more difficult. The committee's disclosures "blow the cover" on sensitive operations; many of the committee's recommendations would treat the agency as if it were merely another government bureau—a crop reporting service, or a bureau of labor statistics.

Consider, if you please, one legislative recommendation that provides an accurate indication of the tone and approach of the sunshine addicts in the Senate. Their idea is to prohibit virtually all covert actions; only in "extraordinary circumstances involving grave threats to the U.S. national security" would they tolerate a secret operation. And then, mind you, the committee's proposed statute would require prior disclosure to a congressional oversight committee before any funding could be provided. That is marvelous, is it not? The director of the CIA would be required to travel to Capitol Hill, hat in hand, and spell out his most sensitive recommendations before a gaggle of loose-jawed Senators or Congressmen. Why not, one wonders, require the director to hire a sky-writing airplane and spell his plans out in mile-high letters over Washington? Over the past two years, the Congress has forfeited whatever confidence one might have had in its discretion. How long will it be before the "unexpurgated edition" of the committee report is leaked to Jack Anderson and the Village Voice?

True, that particular "prior notice" recommendation has been dropped—temporarily, at least—from oversight legislation now before the Senate Rules Committee. Even so, the thinking behind the recommendation persists. The authors of the report are so hipped on the principle of open intelligence, openly arrived at, that they would the CIA's budget, publicly monitor its activities, approve or disapprove its intelligence-gathering programs, and substitute an oversight committee's judgment for the judgment of a President and his top security advisors.

In one of its lip-service moments, the report acknowledges that espionage directed against the United States is "extensive and relentless." By the FBI's estimate, more than one thousand Soviet agents are on permanent assignment as spies against us. It is common knowledge, known to every schoolboy, that the Communist enemy engages constantly in subversion, propaganda, and deception. The Soviets do not flinch from clandestine operations intended to manipulate events to their advantage.

It is childish, or so it seems to me, to strike the virtuous pose that we must never, never emulate the Communist techniques. It is not wise, it is stupid, to suggest that the United States should go abroad in a dangerous world, accoutered like Little Lord Fauntleroy, to play paticake with gangs who fight with switchblade knives.

It will be a long time before the damage done by this report can be undone—before friendly nations will again cooperate with our intelligence service, before truly competent and dedicated servants can be attracted anew to the CIA. Senator Barry Goldwater refused to sign the report. "This is a report," he said, "that probably should never have been written. He had the last and truest word.

COFFEE ISN'T KEEPING US AWAKE---IT'S---

By GAIL MICHAELS

Except For Uncle Ed, Family Shunned Snakes

When it comes to snakes, my family has never been noted for its bravery. I refuse to get out of my car any time the snake trailers are parked at Pitt Plaza. And my mother is worse than me. She's so frightened of snakes that she burned the "S" book of our Encyclopedia Britannica.

It's not that any of us have had particularly bad experiences with snakes. In fact, it's just the opposite — one snake was even involved in an incident of faith healing in our family. That was when my great uncle and aunt were out driving in their new Chevy and my uncle ran over a snake lying in the middle of the road. Somehow one of the tires hit the snake wrong, and it flung the snake into the car right beside my great aunt. Now Aunt Lily weighed about 250 pounds, and she had been a semi-invalid for over 20 years, but when that snake hit the seat beside her, she lit out of that car like she'd just been prayed over by Oral Roberts. Uncle Jim caught up with her two miles later, the front and back right doors of the Chevy still swinging around her middle like wings.

Despite Aunt Lily's miraculous cure, all of my family continued to fear snakes, that is, everyone except by Uncle Ed. Uncle Ed used to sneer every time anyone even mentioned the word "snake." And he used to play really dirty tricks, like putting a rubber snake under my mother's doughnuts at breakfast one morning. So none of us were particularly surprised when my aunt arrived at a family gathering without my uncle and announced that he'd been killing snakes.

"Finally Daddy said, 'Well, that's it. That snake is as dead as one of your cousin Elizabeth's homemade pickles.'"

"Ed walked over to the snake and examined it from a safe distance, then swaggered over to the car and said, 'Yep, we really laid that snake out.'"

"Now, considering the part Ed had played in the killing, I thought he was bragging a little bit too much," my aunt continued. "So, as soon as he got near the car, I reached out and gave him a little pinch on the ankle."

"My goodness, he's all right now, isn't he?" my grandmother asked solicitously over the roars of laughter from Ed's callous siblings. "Sure he is," my aunt said. "Then why doesn't he come in?"

My aunt choked a little, then answered, "Well, you see, I scared him so badly when I pinched his ankle that our dauntless snake-hunter wet his pants."

"Where is he? He wasn't bitten, was he?" my grandmother shrieked. "Not exactly," my aunt giggled. "But he did have an accident."

"What happened?" Grandmother moaned. "Well, we were on our way here with my parents when we saw a rattler lying beside the road. Ed wanted Daddy to run over it, but I wouldn't let him because I remembered what happened to his aunt Lily. "So Ed said to Daddy, 'Stop the car. Let's kill that snake.' "Daddy stopped the car, and he and Ed got out and started looking for sticks. There were a lot of big limbs lying around, but for some reason Ed couldn't seem to find one he liked until after Daddy had already found one and started toward the snake. "Don't worry, I'm right behind you, Ed called bravely from the other side of the car.

Jimmy Flowers, 'King Of The Bear Hunters'

COFIELD, N.C.—"When you and the dogs go after a bear," says Jimmy Flowers, "you just give your heart to God. All that matters is that bear and you don't care where you end up."

"And after you've chased him down and killed him, the hounds fall silent, the sun is going down, and you're all alone. It's the loneliest feeling in the world."

Flowers has earned the reputation of "the king of bear hunters." He has hunted bear and bobcat all over the US and estimates he has killed, or helped kill, 600 bears.

"Hunting has been my life," he says. "Ever since I was a boy I wanted to hunt bear and have the finest pack of dogs in the world."

Flowers owns 70 bear dogs, a special breed he has spent 30 years developing. He has trained them "to love a bear to death."

"I try to back my dogs up when they go to fighting a bear," he says. He recalls pulling bears off his dogs in fierce bear-dog fights. "If a dog thinks he can kill a bear, it would be the same thing as you trying to attack a locomotive going down the track. A dog's got to hit and run. And if he puts enough ivory to a bear's hind parts, the bear's gonna look a tree."

Flowers remembers when there were thousands of bears in North Carolina. There are less than 400 now.

"But it weren't the bear hunter that destroyed the bear," he insists. "He'd kill some, but he loved the bear and he wanted him to live. It was the dragline and bulldozer that destroyed the bear; they tore up his wilderness."

"You cut up a place just like a checkerboard, build roads all through it, and you destroy the home of the wildlife that lives in it. This word you call 'progress,' it helps a lot of things, but it hurts a lot of things, too."

Flowers likes to recall the days when "there was bear everywhere. He'd tear up acres of corn. My phone rang all summer long—farmers wanting me to kill bears for them. We hunted him in July and August, when he was strongest. He could outrun any man and fight anything. They put the season in on him now when he's sleepy, ready to hibernate."

Concerned that the black bear is nearing extinction in North Carolina, Flowers no longer kills bears in the state. "Having a bear season with that few bear left," he declares, "is the foolish thing I ever heard of."

Flowers has heard the government is planning a super highway through the Gates County swamps. "They're a-taking the wilderness away from the bear," he protests. "They ought to leave a little place for the bear to live."

More and more wildlife vanishes each year in his county, he says. Flowers blames the dying wildlife on the chemicals farmers use. "If a bird or rabbit eats these poisons, he'll die. You've got to get away from these chemicals to find any quail now."

Black bears range from 200 to 500 pounds but bears larger than these have been killed. Flowers once killed a 548-pounder, a record for the New England states. He has had many of his bears mounted or the skins made into rugs.

"A bear's coat is a beautiful thing to me," he says. "I reckon the three prettiest things in the world are a bear's coat in sunlight—when the sun hits him he shines just about like black gold—a beautiful woman and a little hound pup. But there's other beautiful things, too. When a man has stopped seeing beauty in the world, he might as well curl up like a hound dog and die."

"The bear is just about gone," Flowers says sadly. "And nothing will ever take his place."

Hopefully it will have rained by the time this appears, and if it has it will have ended a long dry spell. The farmers of course, are suffering most. Forests are also dry and subject to fires and people's lawns are drying up.

One slow-to-act fellow was also concerned about the dry weather. "Hope it rains soon," he commented. "My windshield sure does need the bugs washed off."

In a March 1972 survey, for example, women were evenly divided in their views on the death penalty. Now they hold views closely comparable to those of men.

Supreme Court To Hand Down Decision In June

The U. S. Supreme Court in June will hand down its decision on whether under certain circumstances the death penalty is constitutional.

In 1972, the court ruled in a 5-4 decision that the death penalty as then applied constituted cruel and unusual punishment (and hence was in violation of the Eighth Amendment) because of the random and capricious fashion in which it was meted out.

Since the 35 states and the federal government have redrawn their statutes in an effort to meet the court's 1972 objections. No one has been executed in the U. S. since 1967. Some 527 men and women are on death row in prisons in 30 states.

By JOHN NEEDHAM

NEW DELHI, India (UPI)—India's campaign to cut its birth rate of nearly one child every second has taken a new, drastic turn — compulsory sterilization.

Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's home state, Uttar Pradesh, has formally introduced a compulsory sterilization law with jail terms for obstinate husbands. The proposed bill calls for up to two years imprisonment for husbands refusing sterilization after the birth of a third child. The government would sterilize the defiant husband in jail.

Uttar Pradesh was the first Indian state to introduce a forced sterilization law since the federal government gave states the go ahead when announcing its own program April 16.

The federal program raised the minimum marriage age and increased incentive payments to persons who voluntarily have themselves sterilized.

The government said it could not pass nationwide sterilization legislation because of the lack of medical facilities, but said it would not object to the states passing such laws.

Other of India's 22 states, including West Bengal, whose capital is Calcutta, plan to introduce compulsory sterilization laws for parents of childbearing age who already have three or more children.

The state legislature in Bombay, Maharashtra, voted to introduce a law forcing couples with three children to have one parent sterilized if the man is under 55 and the woman under 45.

The bill provides for up to six months in prison and a $57 fine for violators.

Other states, while not mentioning fines or prison terms, have programs of "incentives and disincentives" better known to those affected as "rewards or punishments."

In Bihar state, prisoners agreeing to be sterilized receive a 15-day reduction in their jail terms.

In Haryana state, government employees who have more than two children will be denied subsidized government housing and loans if they have not been sterilized.

A new government worker must promise to limit his family to two children. If he already has more, he must be sterilized before getting the job. If he has two and produces a third, he will be fired.

India has about 22 million births and 9 million deaths per year, thus adding about 13 million people each year to a population that now stands at 604 million.

There are clear indications India will become a nation of one billion by the year 2000.

The increase effectively negates India's advances in agriculture even in times of record harvests.

In general, reaction to the various suggestions for forced sterilization has been subdued.

Roman Catholics, who account for a little less than 2 per cent of India's population, have objected on moral grounds. Moslems, too, have complained.

Moslem and Catholic leaders say they approve of efforts to cut the birth rate, but reject forced vasectomies.

"All the economic progress that we have achieved over the years seems to be going down the population drain," said Moti Chand, a 52-year-old government clerk.

"Compulsory sterilization is the only answer to our economic program and the sooner it is done, the better for the coming generations," Chand said. The Indian government, concerned about the population surge, has had family planning programs for 22 years. Few citizens listened.

By official estimates, India has 102 million fertile couples. About 12 per cent of them have one sterilized partner and another 4 per cent use conventional contraceptive techniques.

The problems are myriad. About 70 per cent of all Indians are illiterate and 80 per cent live in villages where it is difficult for the government to reach them with information or contraceptives.

Some analysts are skeptical about the possibility of enforcing compulsory sterilization laws throughout the land.

United Parcel Service Hit By Strike

By United Press International
About 13,000 Teamsters went on strike against United Parcel Service Saturday, virtually halting deliveries in 13 midwestern states and creating another hurdle for federal mediators trying to end a growing outbreak of labor strife.

In San Francisco, the national AFL-CIO leadership threw its support behind city workers who began the second month of a strike that has crippled city services.

About 70,000 United Rubber Workers paced picket lines on the 11th day of a nationwide walkout, a strike idling 8,000 beer bottlers and truck drivers entered its third month, a work stoppage by NBC technicians and newswriters went into its second month, and a walkout by 2,000 workers at a nuclear reservation in Richland, Wash., was in its second day.

The UPS drivers walked off the job when their three-year contract expired at midnight Friday.

Dan Buckley, a company spokesman at UPS' national office in Greenwich, Conn., said talks between union and company negotiators ended Friday in Arlington Heights, Ill., and were not scheduled to resume until Tuesday.

States affected by the dispute include Colorado, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, Ohio, South Dakota, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

Negotiations for Teamsters Locals 705 and 710, representing 2,500 UPS drivers and warehousemen in Illinois and Indiana, continued at an undisclosed location.

National AFL-CIO president George Meany, concerned about pay cuts that San Francisco city craft unions face, sent a top emissary to the west coast.

Retarded Association Receives $250 Check

A check for $250 to the Pitt County Association for Retarded Citizens, Inc. was presented earlier this week by Margaret Parker, a Pocahontas of Withla Council No. 42. The check was presented to Mrs. Pennie Dunn, treasurer.

The Withla Council contribution is to help provide funds for a bus to be purchased for the use of the Adult Day Activity Program (ADAP). Carl Rothrock, director of the program, says the bus will be used to transport members of ADAP to various activities in the community.

In addition to the check, the council donated silverware and dishes to be shared by ADAP and trainable students at Aycock Junior High.

The Retarded Citizens, Inc. was adopted by Redmen and Pocahontas in 1964 and has since been supported by the two councils on state and local levels.

Since that date, Withla Council has contributed $970 to state projects and $2,608 to Retarded Citizens programs in the Greenville City Schools for promotional development projects.

Arrested On Drug Charge

NASHVILLE, N. C. (AP)— Two Hollywood, Fla., men were still being held in the Nash County Jail today in lieu of $20,000 bond after a cache of 440 pounds of marijuana was found in their car, authorities said.

Michael John Sattler, 29, and Edward Leonard Kuhn, 30, were arrested around dawn Friday after their car was stopped on I-95, 12 miles north of Rocky Mount, said Sheriff Frank Brown.

They were charged with felonious possession of marijuana with intent to sell and distribute.

Brown said his deputies and agents of the State Bureau of Investigation found several bales of the illegal drug in the trunk of the car, each weighing between 55 and 70 pounds.

Found in the backseat, he said, were found a suitcase containing another bale and two plastic garbage bags full of marijuana.

Sheriff's Department Detective M.M. Reams, who said he was one of four men participating in the arrest, today declined to say how the officers knew to stop the car.

Reams said the SBI had placed a street value of $60,000-$68,000 on the marijuana.

He quoted Sattler as saying he was studying dentistry. Kuhn is unemployed, the deputy said.

Of Taxes And Coon Hunters

ABINGDON, Va. (UPI) — Raccoon hunters may be "good ole boys," but Baptist preacher Tom Williams thinks they're just a bunch of shiftless drunks who like to hear their dogs bark—and are a good reason not to pay taxes.

The Rev. Williams is leading a crusade against higher taxes in southwestern Virginia's Washington County and one item that outraged him was an appropriation of $2,000 by the county board of supervisors to replenish the raccoon population.

"The money wasn't spent, not because of William's antitax crusade but because the supervisors couldn't find any raccoons in the rural county."

"There weren't any to be had," said acting county administrator E.B. Stanley. "But if there were, the supervisors had agreed to buy some for the good ole boys who enjoy coon hunting. It's big in these parts."

Williams called that "an example of the supervisors voting to waste money." Williams, pastor of Emanuel Baptist Church, berated county officials at a meeting where the appropriation was discussed.

"These 'coon hunters just get together and run around in the woods and listen to their dogs bark," Williams said. "They then take a swig from their bottle and get drunk."

"You don't know what the hell you're talking about," retorted angry Supervisor Warren McCray.

But Williams believes there's too much fat in the county budget.

"Taxes have tripled during the past four years and it's time it stopped," said Williams, who led an earlier crusade against public school textbooks he thought were objectionable.

"I think the mood of the people of the county is that if the board persists with the taxes before them, I think they will withhold their taxes—not 100 per cent of them, but enough to have a serious impact," Williams said.

others were concealed by private agreements between the small investors and the principal stockholders.

A source familiar with the securities laws said such an arrangement would be illegal since many more than 35 persons were solicited to invest.

"The law doesn't allow you to do indirectly what you can't do directly," the source said. He said the complexity of the arrangement indicated the organizers knew what they were doing.

As a result of this arrangement, Sanford and his partners were able to avoid large legal fees and other expenses which would have been required to register the stock, the securities source said.

Cost of registering a $2.3 million stock issue with the SEC would run from $50,000 to $70,000, he said.

Those who made investments in the company and did not receive stock directly included several prominent state politicians and businessmen. They included Agriculture Commissioner Jim Graham, and President William C. Friday of the University of North Carolina and his wife.

Execs See Limits To Daytime TV Show Changes

EDITOR'S NOTE — Although daytime TV is going through a period of considerable change, there are limits to this change, television executives say. One of the limits is the devotion of thousands to their favorite soap operas.

By LEE MARGULIES
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — The presence of some long-running soap operas and the absence of the kind of hoopla that surrounds night-time program changes can give the impression that little ever changes in daytime television.

But take a look. In the last 16 months:
—The 30-minute hold on nearly every program has been broken. Three serials now provide a full hour of heartthrobs every day and "The Price Is Right" also runs 60 minutes.

—"The Edge of Night" has moved from CBS to ABC — without a break in story.

—"All in the Family," No. 1 series at night, concurrently has become the No. 1 daytime show.

—NBC has introduced a game show with singing and dancing, and a TV equivalent of the "Dear Abby" newspaper column, with celebrities participating.

The changes are partly due to the feverish competition that has always existed in daytime television. But some network executives say they also reflect a demand by the audience for something other than conventional soap operas and game shows.

"Daytime is crying out for new forms," says Michael Eisner, head of program development at ABC. "We've got to be careful that we don't bore the audience to death."

Eisner and others at NBC and CBS say they sense a feeling of unrest in the audience — no doubt caused in part by the proliferation of syndicated game shows in the early evening hours.

So the networks are making efforts to provide something different. Madeline Bloom David, chief of daytime programming at NBC, believes lengthening some serials to an hour was one such step. It didn't create a new form but it does allow, she says, "for more exploration, more incisive characterizations, more dimension."

More changes may be on the way, although no one is suggesting that the over-all daytime look will be altered drastically.

Eisner says ABC is going to try a daily half-hour variety show this summer featuring Don Ho and a regular contingent of entertainers chatting and performing at Ho's nightclub in Hawaii.

Ms. David, as she prefers to be called, says NBC is very interested in developing a comedy-flavored soap opera. CBS is flirting with the idea, too, says the head of that network's daytime department, Bud Grant. NBC also is looking into presenting a period soap opera. Grant, for one, is skeptical of much of this professed experimenting. He confesses that some of skepticism may stem from the fact that CBS is currently No. 1 in the daytime ratings, but he says most of it is based on his eight years in daytime programming, with NBC as well as CBS.

"Game shows, serials and an occasional rerun of a prime time series are the forms that historically have worked in daytime," he says. "Not because the networks have any personal stake in those forms, but because they hold up — they are produceable."

Grant says there is another factor that people continually underestimate: the devotion of soap opera fans. They are much more loyal than prime time series fans because the plot is constantly evolving and there are never any reruns.

"It's pretty hard to get someone who's been watching the same show for 20 years to give that up and watch something new," Ms. David says in agreement.

She knows from personal experience. She can't persuade her own mother to give up CBS's "As the World Turns." She's been watching it for 20 years.

"In deference to me she'll look at 'Days of Our Lives' occasionally," Ms. David reports, "but she won't commit to it. I asked her why and she said, 'Because I don't know those people.'"

Wallace Counts On Ala. Votes

By REX THOMAS
Associated Press Writer
MONTGOMERY, Ala.
(AP)—Gov. George C. Wallace is counting on the voters in his home state Tuesday to keep his dying presidential campaign alive despite increasingly heavy odds against its ultimate survival.

Wallace expects to win most of the 35 delegates Alabama Democrats will send to their national convention. And on the Republican side of the ballot, Ronald Reagan is favored to run ahead of President Ford in their head-and-head scramble for Alabama's 37 GOP delegates.

Democrats will elect 27 delegates in Tuesday's primary and, where necessary, in a runoff May 25. Eight more will be hand-picked later by the State Democratic Executive Committee.

By law, a runoff is required in any race where no one gets a majority, and the Democrats could be forced into a sudden death primary in all but one of the 27 delegate districts because three or more candidates are running for each place.

Wallace, without a pledged candidate in two predominantly black districts, faces a determined challenge from Jimmy Carter. Candidates committed to the former Georgia governor are running for all 27 seats in the convention delegation.

In the Republican primary, at least 34 delegates are sure to be elected Tuesday because only two candidates—one pledged to Ford, the other to Reagan—are seeking those convention seats. There are three candidates in each of the other three races, and that could force a runoff.

The voters also will choose party nominees for the U. S. House, president of the state Public Service Commission, two justices on the state Supreme Court, and scores of lesser offices.

The 56-year-old, partially paralyzed Alabama governor's personal as well as his political future is an issue in the statewide election. Also on the ballot is a constitutional amendment which would clear up any legal question about his eligibility for a lifetime pension at full pay after his term ends next January.

While Wallace's popularity and that of other White House candidates, particularly Carter, is a major factor, the Alabama primary is not an out-and-out test of strength like those in most other states.

Each race, Democrat and Republican, is a separate contest in which the political charisma of the candidates for delegate as well as how they stand in the presidential race could influence the outcome.

Mathematically, Wallace, or Carter, could get the most votes without winning a majority of the delegates.

Besides the 25 candidates pledged to the Alabama governor and 27 for Carter, six are committed to former Oklahoma Sen. Fred Harris, three to Rep. Morris Udall of Arizona, one to Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota and one to Sen. Frank Church of Idaho.

Industry Cleans Up Polluted Streams

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI)—Rumor had it back in the early '70s that Rice Creek in Palatka, one of more than 60 streams that feed the St. Johns River, was so polluted that it was easier to walk upon its waters than swim in it.

That was before the Hudson Pulp and Paper Co., which discharges its industrial wastes into Rice Creek, cranked up its $4.5 million pollution abatement project.

Now the average nose no longer can locate the creek by smell alone and no one, recently anyway, has walked upon Rice's waters.

The Hudson project is one of many launched by northeast Florida industries in an effort to clean up the 285-mile, northward-flowing St. Johns and its tributaries.

"Two years ago we were just starting our (pollution abatement) system," said Jacksonville pollution engineer Don Bayly. "None of the construction work was under way."

That meant, Bayly recalled, that industries and municipal governments along the length of the St. Johns were pumping 18 million gallons of raw sewage a day into the river and the streams that feed it.

The figure is down to less than 16 million gallons today, and Bayly predicts that within two years the river pollution problem should be licked.

By far Florida's largest river, the St. Johns rises in the center of the state and flows northwards through Lakes Washington, Winder, Harney, Jessup, Monroe, Dexter and George in its first 200 miles.

Above Palatka it is joined by the Oklawaha. Below Palatka it is a broad estuary, whose brown, brackish waters are dotted with floating clumps of purple-flowered water hyacinth.

Jacksonville, ranked as the nation's 26th port and handling cargo of nearly $1.5 billion, is located about 15 miles from its mouth.

Air Pollution Film Thursday

"Air Pollution Facts" is the title of a film to be shown Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the Mendenhall Student Center Auditorium on the ECU campus.

There will be a question and answer period at the end of the film. Dr. Trenton Davis and Dr. Y.J. Lao, both of the ECU Environmental Health Department, will be available to answer questions. The public is urged to attend, Dr. Davis said.

Job Service Agency Has New 'Image'

Jim Hannon, manager of the Greenville office of Job Service (previously known as the Employment Security Commission Office), recently talked about the new image of the agency.

JOB SERVICE — The logo of the state agency serving employees and employers in the local area.

For some time, the employment agency has been involved in creating a job service improvement program that parallels the agency's new title and goals.

The culmination of these efforts was a series of three "Job Improvement Program, 1976 Regional Seminars" held in three areas of the state in early April — in Greenville, Greensboro and Hickory.

"We have a new name, a new symbol, a new motto," Hannon commented, "all acquired within the past week."

"However," he added, "I want to stress that our reason for being has not changed. Our work is to place people in jobs, to refer the best qualified person to an employer as soon as possible. Everything we do is merely a means to one end result, getting people employed in the best possible jobs."

The agency's new building is located at 3101 Bismarck Street. Among existing and expanded services offered by Job Service is a testing service for more than 150 jobs. These tests are administered at no cost to the person seeking a job or to the employer seeking someone to hire.

Another service to be added in the near future is an out-of-state reach of the Job Bank, which now covers the local area and the state.

"There is still a lingering image of the Job Service Agency being primarily an unemployment office," Hannon said. "I want to say to that there is no unemployment office in Pitt County," Hannon added.

"There is a Job Service Office and out staff will assist persons with unemployment insurance claims and problems. But Job Service is a total effort to provide assistance in every phase of employment."

A Rescue Squad Benefit Show

Quartet Of Country Stars In Concert

THE STATLER BROTHERS... is one of four acts coming to D. H. Conley High School six miles south of Greenville on Friday, May 14. A benefit show for the Greenville Rescue Squad, the bill also features Freddie Hart, Barbara Mandrell and Ronnie Milsap. Tickets are available at $5, $6 and $7 from members of the Rescue Squad and from a number of eastern North Carolina outlets.

A bill of country entertainers will be making two appearances at D. H. Conley High School on Friday, May 14 in a benefit show with proceeds going to the Greenville Rescue Squad.

The PLS Production, Country Spotlight No. 19, will feature a quartet of acts—the Statler Brothers, Freddie Hart and the Heartbeats, Ronnie Milsap and his band; and Barbara Mandrell and her band.

Shows will be at 6:30 and again at 10 p.m. with reserve seats prices at $5, $6 and $7.

—The Statler Brothers have an experimental approach to their music. Following seven years of research, the group has prepared two separate albums—"Holy Bible—Old Testament;" and "Holy Bible—New Testament."

"These are really country albums with a gospel theme," Harold Reid, a member of the Statler Brothers said. "To call these gospel would be like calling 'Jesus Christ Superstar' a gospel album instead of an album of rock music based on some of Jesus' activities."

—Freddie Hart, "Mr. Easy Loving," has been called the "biggest new act to come along since Merle Haggard." A native of Alabama, he is one of 15 children of a poor sharecropping family. At 14, Freddie joined the Marines during World War II and served in the Pacific campaign. He began performing in NCO Clubs, Officer's Clubs and Enlisted Men's Clubs. After the war, he hit the music trail, traveling, living it out in some pretty rough situations, but keeping hope.

Finally, after long years of dogged efforts, his single, "Easy Loving," hit No. 1 on country charts singles. Since then, he has followed up with a number of best selling songs.

The female act of the quartet, Barbara Mandrell, the youngest member of Nashville's Grand Ole Opry, was a show veteran at the age of 14. The diminutive (5 foot 2 inch, 95 pound.) performer had her first big hit in "I've Been Loving You Too Long." Later records, among them "Midnight Oil," "Treat Him Right," "Show Me," "Playing Around With Love," etc. have all gone above number 20 on the Billboard charts.

Her latest hit is "This Time I Almost Made It," which will be featured in an upcoming album release.

—Tar Heel native Ronnie Milsap began his singing career performing in a combination of rock, blues, and country bands for a number of years with only marginal success. The 30 year old blind singer's first success came in 1973 with "All Together Now—Let's Fall Apart." This has been followed by a string of other hit releases—"That Girl Who Waits on Tables," "Pure Love," "Legend In My Time," etc.

Tickets are now available from any member of the Greenville Rescue Squad and at Bob's TV, Ayden and Greenville; at the Record Bar, Mickey's Barber Shop and Pollard's Grocery, Greenville; and at stores in Kinston, Washington, New Bern, Wilson, Williamston, Farmville and Snow Hill.

Wanted: Local Dancers

Wanted. Local dancers. Non-professional or professional people from the ages of 15 to 87 who are proficient in seven different dances of America, past and present.

Stuart Aronson, director of the annual "Sunday In The Park" events in Greenville, is issuing an appeal for volunteer dancers who know one of the dances and will have time to perform in a program "America In Song and Dance" tentatively planned for Sunday, July 4. "I'm looking for people who will enjoy being a part of a colorful, enjoyable dance recreation of America's past and present," Aronson said. "The dances we plan to concentrate on, which basically cover the scope of our nation's history, are the Minuet, Virginia Reel, waltz, the two-step, Charleston, Jitterbug, the Twist and last of all, the Hustle."

Aronson said "we will have a choreographer to work with volunteers to help them brush up and work the dances into a combined program of song, dance and narrative. I think it's an exciting prospect, one I hope we'll be able to carry out to give local people an opportunity to be part of an outstanding entertainment event."

Persons interested in volunteering are asked to call Aronson at his home, 752-2895 or at the Recreation Center, 752-4137, Extension 220.

"If we have sufficient volunteers, we'll go ahead with plans for this event," Aronson said. "If not, then we'll substitute another event in place of this."

Drama At Bath Planned

Plans are now fairly firm for a summer presentation of "Queen Anne's Bell," a historic drama documenting the history of Bath, written by the late Edmund Harding.

At a meeting on Tuesday April 27, conducted by the program's chairmen, John Tankard and Bob Lewis, both of Bath, it was announced that tentative plans for staging Harding's drama as a 1976 summer event are proceeding.

Two local landowners, Wilton Smith, Jr. and Warren Smith have made available land on which the outdoor drama can be staged. It was also announced that Texas Gulf has offered a long-time one-dollar a year lease on a 15-acre site once the pageant becomes an established institution.

The pageant was written for and especially performed in 1955 to celebrate the 250th anniversary of the founding of Bath. At that time, it was given only the one performance, one that included in its cast State notables such as the late novelist Inglis

Fletcher and the late Governor Luther Hodges.

Speaking about the context of the historic play for the forthcoming proposed production, Mrs. Dorothy Tankard, Historic Bath director, noted "there'll be very little change from the original with one exception. The original calls for a cast of about 500. This is being revised to a cast of about 60."

Plans are at this time for a two-week production in the last week of July and the first week of August, with three productions each week. The drama will be directed by Barbara Chamness, Arts Council Director for Beaufort County; with assistance from two art major graduates, Debbie Benton and Lee McLellan. Both are graduates of Atlantic Christian college.

any donations from the public. All donations will be receipted and are tax-deductible." These can be sent to: The Historic Drama Committee, Inc. to one of three persons: John A. Tankard, P.O. Box 124, Bath; Bob Lewis, Co-chairman, Bath; or Pearson Chrismon, Finance Chairman, Rt. 1, Bath. Zip code is 27808.

Firm information on dates, cast members and the locale of the site for presenting the drama will be announced at a future date.

Book News

From Sheppard Memorial Library
By JUNE PARKER

Sheppard Memorial Library has received several new biographical books that should be of interest. The first is MY HEART BELONGS, an autobiography by Mary Martin. Here, she presents the magical world of the theatre from her early days with her first hit "Daddy" in the musical, Leave It To Me to her later shows such as South Pacific, Peter Pan, The Sound Of Music, Annie Get Your Gun, and Hello Dolly. She carries the reader into the homes of her family and friends as she describes her childhood in Weatherford, Texas. Singing, dancing, and reciting became her three "R's" as she scraped through school. As she describes her theatre life, she gives glimpses into the lives of theatre greats. She also talks about the time she spent in Hollywood where she met her husband, Richard Halliday. These different parts of her life are accented by the numerous pictures which show her family, scenes from movies and plays, and other theatre and movie people such as Ethel Merman, Robert Preston, Charles Boyer, Gene Kelly, Noel Coward, Alfred Lunt, and Lynn Fontanne.

The next book is THE FLOWER AND THE NETTLE: DIARIES AND LETTERS 1936-1939 by Anne Morrow Lindbergh. It is a continuation of her previous books made up of her letters and diaries. The qualities of her previous books are still evident. This book covers the years following her son's kidnapping. She tells how they finally found peace in two homes—one in England and one in France on a rocky island. From here, they went out into the world. They were invited to Buckingham Palace and saw such people as Lady Astor and Gertrude Stein. They met writers and artists in the atmosphere of pre-war Paris. However, the nettles still came. Charles Lindbergh was asked by the United States to visit Germany and report on the development of its air power. From these visits came the rumors of pro-Nazi leanings. Anne Lindbergh uses her diaries, previously unprinted documents and other sources to set the record straight. Her unflinching devotion and belief in Charles Lindbergh comes across throughout the book. This book has appeal both as a personal narrative and a personal view of pre-war Europe.

The third book is THE ROCKEFELLERS: AN AMERICAN DYNASTY by Peter Collier and David Horowitz. It is the story of the four generations of the Rockefellers as well as one hundred years of American history as the Rockefellers' rise to power and wealth parallels this country's rise to world power and national wealth. The book starts with telling how John D. Rockefeller made his fortune in the oil fields of Pennsylvania. It describes his conflicting ideas. He was a conservative, tight-lipped pillar of the Baptist church. His riches approached one million dollars. Yet, he could never live down the cry of tainted money as he forced refineries out of business with his agreements with the railroads. He had to leave his son, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., to soothe the public as he built the great charities and foundations that carry the Rockefeller name. The book then follows the lives of his five sons, Laurence, Wintrop, John D. III, David, and Nelson. It comes to a close with the Rockefeller cousins of whom many have repudiated the name and the wealth. The dynasty seems to be coming to an end. The authors were given access to the Rockefeller Family Archives and to private family material by several of the Rockefeller cousins. It is the first time those neither supported or authorized by the family have had access to such material.

Conditioning Of Animals Has Its Beneficial Side To Zoo

By MARIAN FOX
Associated Press Writer
MEMPHIS (AP) — Even the calm Chinese must have been disconcerted to see a flute-playing man leading 300 deer and 10 loaded school buses down a Peking street.

But for Joe Wallach, the sight of those deer in that Chinese film solved a problem zoo directors had faced for 15 years. "When we saw those deer, light bulbs blinked in our heads," said Wallach, director of the Overton Park Zoo in Memphis.

"Those deer were so conditioned they could take them outside the compound for the fight time and lead them in pairs through cities with school buses on each side of the line."

The school buses were filled with children beating drums, waving red flags and chanting Mao sayings.

"The deer would do just as they had been conditioned to do. Nothing distracted them," said Wallach. What the Chinese did was apply a method of controlling behavior called positive reinforcement to managing zoo animals.

They gave each deer a number and each number a different sound. When the deer made the right moves, the keepers would produce that deer's sound and give it a reward. The Chinese perfected the system to such an extent that they could take the animals to the hills to graze and call a number by sound and that individual animal would come out of the group.

Wallach saw the film in September at the meeting of the American Association of Zoos, Parks and Aquariums in Calgary, Alberta, Canada.

He immediately grasped the value of the conditioning systems for his zoo. For one thing, it meant that the zoo could increase the variety of animals in open-air displays. "If we have ostrich, zebra, antelope and giraffe out in a yard, we would condition each group so that when we rang their note, only the zebra would come in," he said.

The keeper would have time to settle the animals down for the evening — feed them, water them and check each one — before calling in the next group.

Probably the most attractive reason for conditioning is that it's cheap. "One man using this system can do what it might have taken as many as 25 people in the normal system," Wallach said.

Conditioning the animals also means keepers are able to help those that get injured or are pregnant. It also permits keepers to care for the grass and flowers around the display area.

"If you bring the animals inside each night, you have time to water the grass and care for the lawn," Wallach said.

Wallach envisions using tape decks of each animal group's particular sound with speakers on the trees so that when the keeper plays the ostrich tape, the ostrich will move inside.

He expects to take about a year to condition the animals. "Our training has already made better behaved animals," he said.

Bucs Sprint To Southern Track Crown

DAVIDSON—The "bridesmaid" finally made it to the altar Saturday afternoon. After ten frustrating years of chasing William & Mary in the Southern Conference track championships, the East Carolina Pirates blasted the Indian myth of invincibility. The Bucs piled up 187 points while the Indians fell back into the spot they long kept the Bucs in—second—with 134. The title was the first ever for the Pirates, who will leave the Southern after one more year. Furman's Paladins finished third with 100, followed by Richmond with 87, Appalachian State, 41; Virginia Military, 32; The Citadel, 27; and Davidson, 12.

The Pirates won seven events, setting new Southern Conference records in four of them. William & Mary and Richmond each took four firsts, and each had one new mark to add to the books. Appalachian State and Furman each won two events, and The Citadel took another. Marvin Rankins set a new record in the 120-yard high hurdles, finishing in 13.9 seconds, a tenth of a second faster than Chuck Dobson of the Indians ran it in 1972. Carter Suggs broke his old mark with a tenth-of-a-second faster time of 9.4 seconds in the 100-yard dash. The old mark was set last year. The other individual mark went to Calvin Alston in the 220-yard dash, as he ran a 21.1 timing. That broke Suggs' mark of 21.4, set last year. The two sprinters joined with Maurice Huntley and Al Washington to win the 440-yard relay in a time of 40.6 seconds, breaking Richmond's 1972 mark of 41.4. The other records were Chris Goch's hammer toss of 155 feet, 8 inches for Richmond. That snapped Ivy Peacock's mark of 152-2, set in 1973 by the former Pirate. William & Mary's John Shilling took the high jump in 6-10, breaking former W&M jumper Bruce Dallas' 1970 record of 6-8½. Other Pirate victors in the meet included George Jackson, who won the long jump with a leap of 23 feet, 11½ inches; Charlie Moss, who took the 440 in 48.5 seconds; and the mile relay unit of Moss, Valdez Chavis, James Freeman and Ben Duckenfield, winning in 3:15.9. In addition to winning the long jump, the Bucs took fourth through sixth places. They were sixth in the javelin; second and fifth in the hammer throw; second in the high hurdles; second, fourth, fifth and sixth in the 440; second, fourth and sixth in the 100; second, third and fourth in the triple jump; second and third in the high jump; third, fifth and sixth in the 220; second and sixth in the discus. Pirate Coach Bill Carson was elected Coach of the Year by his fellow coaches. Bold Forbes Captures Derby Running

BOLD FORBES WINS KENTUCKY DERBY—Bold Forbes, with jockey Angel Cordero Jr. up, crosses the finish line to win the 102nd running of the Kentucky Derby Saturday at Churchill Downs. Honest

Pleasure, favored to win the pre-Derby betting and the odds-on favorite, with Braulio Baeza up, finished second. Bold Forbes ran the mile and one-quarter event in 2:01.3. (AP Wirephoto)

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Bold Forbes, the spunky little horse from Puerto Rico, smashed Honest Pleasure's balloon Saturday afternoon by defeating what some had called a super horse in a wire to wire victory in the Kentucky Derby. Flying the red and black colors of Esteban Tizol, Bold Forbes opened a wide lead in the backstretch and hung on as Honest Pleasure made a galant stretch drive. Elocutionist, Eugene Cashman's Arkansas derby winner, finished third and Amano, owned by James Irvin, finished fourth. It was Bold Forbes on the inside and Honest Pleasure on the outside, only a length apart, as they charged down the stretch through the green haze of a smoke bomb thrown on the track just after the race started. Bold Forbes' victory made it three Derbies in a row for grandsons of the late, great sire Bold Ruler. At the wire, Bold Forbes had a one-length lead over Honest Pleasure with Elocutionist another 3/4 lengths back and a gap of another 1 1/4 back to Amano. It was, truly, "the greatest day of my life," for Tizol, who felt that way even before his horse won America's greatest horse race. Tizol, 72, however, not only could not be at the Derby because of a recent stroke but was ordered not to watch it on television or listen to it on radio. It was the greatest of victories for a colt whose owners once thought might never race at all. Enrique Ubarri, one of Tizol's neighbors, who gets his horses ready for the races, said Bold Forbes was "one of the most backward" yearlings sent to his farm two years ago. "He showed no signs of speed and did not seem to like racing," Ubarri said. He simply had his owners—and everyone else—fooled. In his first start, he was a 35-1 shot and neither the owner, the trainer nor the jockey bet any money on him. He won by 17 lengths. And he scored by much lesser odds in seven of his eight races as a 2-year-old. His time in the Derby was 2:01:3.5 for the 1 1/4 miles, and he returned $8, $2.40 and $2.60. The Derby record of 1:59:2-5 was set by Secretariat in 1973. The 102nd Derby, worth $165,200 to the winner, was raced over a fast track, but under threatening skies. The showers and thundershowers that were forecast didn't make it to Louisville by post time. Honest Pleasure, sent off as the first odds-on favorite in the Derby since Native Dancer in 1953, paid $2.40 and $2.20 when he finished second—just like Native Dancer. Elocutionist paid $2.60. Behind Amano at the wire, in order, were On The Sly, Cojak, Inca Roca, Play The Red and Bidson. Bold Forbes was bred in Kentucky, but immediately taken to Puerto Rico after Tizol purchased him as a yearling for $15,200 at a Fasig-Tipton sale in Lexington. He was scheduled at first to do all his racing in Puerto Rico, but after he won five in a row, Tizol sent him to the United States and put trainer Laz Barrera in charge of him when Tizol's regular trainer, Bernardo Mongil, suffered a mild stroke and preferred to stay at home. Bold Forbes suffered only a mild setback in his racing campaign when it was discovered last winter in California that he loafed when he held the lead. An inventive set of blinkers with holes in the sides of the eyecups solved the problem. And he now has won four straight. Assistant trainer John Nazareth said the strategy "was to lay off the pace, but not quite that much. He (Bold Forbes) opened up about three lengths and two would have been enough. Jockey Angel Cordero Jr. said, "I give credit to both horses. I want to thank Mr. Tizol for giving me this opportunity to put Puerto Rico one more time a little higher." The crowd of more than 100,000 watched as Cordero, in the way he knows best—by winning—thanked Tizol, the man who gave him his start in racing 15 years ago at El Comandante in San Juan. Jockey Braulio Baeza said Honest Pleasure "hesitated a little bit" when he saw the last dregs of the smoke. National guardsmen raked the smoke bomb to the outer edge of the track almost instantly after it was thrown, but the green haze hung on until after the race was over. Baeza said Honest Pleasure "tried hard but didn't have it. I felt that Bold Forbes was slowing down in the stretch, but the little horse kept on running. It surprised me that he was so game at the end." Bold Forbes opened a five-length lead after the first half-mile and was on top by three after six furlongs. At the head of the stretch, he led by one-half length and widened it in the final strides to a full length. His start to finish victory is the first since Riva Ridge did it in 1972. Honest Pleasure raced second throughout the 1 1/4 miles with Elocutionist and Amano sharing the third and fourth positions the entire distance.

Armstrong Builds One Stroke Houston Lead

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer
HOUSTON (AP) — Wally Armstrong, given second life by the rain that washed out Thursday's play, romped to a solid 69 and established a one-stroke lead Saturday Houston through the $200,000 Houston Open Golf Tournament. Armstrong, 29, a non-winner in his third full season of tour activity, broke out of a four-way tie to gain the top spot with a 36-hole total of 136, eight under par for two trips over the 6,977-yard Woodlands Country Club course, still wet from the rains that threw a kink in the tournament schedule. "I'd hurt my left wrist, a sprain, in New Orleans," Armstrong said. "A few days ago I was seriously considering withdrawing. "I'm real glad we had the rain-out. It gave me an extra day to rest." Tournament officials and television executives were less than completely over-joyed, however. Network television coverage ended Saturday with Armstrong on the 18th green. PGA Tour officials had to schedule a double round of 36 holes for Sunday, which also disrupted the TV schedule.

And, too, they had to establish the cut at 50 men—as opposed to the usual 70—in order to insure a Sunday finish. This annoyed a number of tour players and sent some of the game's big guns down the road, the victims of the low cut. Among them were Arnold Palmer, who failed to qualify for the fifth time this season with a second round 75 and a 146 total. Double winners Johnny Miller and Ben Crenshaw also missed. Crenshaw had 77-151 and Miller 74-147. Just one stroke off Armstrong's leading pace going into the double-round wind-up is Hubert Green, easily the outstanding player in the game this season, the year's leading money-winner and the author of a rare sweep of three consecutive titles earlier in the year. The lanky Green lashed his way through the tricky winds for a 68 and a 137 total. Hulking rookie George Burns, Barry Jaekel and Forrest Fezler, one of three who shared the first round lead with Armstrong, were at 138. Jaekel, son of movie actor Richard Jaekel, shot a 69, Burns 70 and Fezler 71. Lee Trevino, still seeking his first victory ever in his native

Texas, shot a 70 and headed a large group at 140. The steady little Armstrong, one of a tour group that conducts weekly Bible study classes in a motel room, hit every fairway, was in every green in regulation and didn't even come close to making a bogey until after the national TV cameras had cut away. Then he had to struggle to get it home. He three-putted for bogey on the 18th, missed the green in deep rough on his next shot, then came out to about three feet and made the putt that left him alone in the lead.

NEW BERN—Doug Paschal, headed for the gridiron at the University of North Carolina, donned a different pair of shoes Saturday and won two events and helped the Rampants place in two others leading them to the championship of the first Colonial Capital Classic Track Meet, Saturday. Paschal won the discus and the shot put and ran a leg on each of the 880 and 440 relay teams. The 880 team finished second behind Northern Nash and the 440 team was third. Paschal was also named the meet's most outstanding performer. Host team New Bern took second eight points back of the Rampants at 62. A total of 17 teams participated in the meet. Fifteen members of the Rose track team made the trip. Rose will host the Division I track meet here next Thursday at the E.B. Aycock track with the field events and trials beginning at 1:00 p.m. and the final scheduled for 3:30. Other first place winners for Rose included James Daniels in the Pole Vault and Harry Pair in the High Jump. Jule White took a second in the High Jump and Mike McLawhorn a second in the triple jump. Fred Cieter, 57, representing the North Carolina Track, Club won two events for the masters team taking the Shot put and the

Bostock Sparks Minnesota To 9-5 Victory Over Milwaukee

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — Minnesota's Lyman Bostock singled twice, drove in two runs and scored two as the Twins beat the Milwaukee Brewers 9-5 in a nationally televised game Saturday. Bostock's fourth-inning sacrifice fly sent the Twins into a 6-2 advantage and reliever Bill Campbell survived five shaky innings for the victory to boost his record to 3-1. The Brewers scored twice in the sixth and moved to within 6-5 in the seventh when Charlie Moore's triple scored Sixto Lezcano. The Twins, however, added three insurance runs in the eighth on successive RBI doubles by Dan Ford and Danny Thompson and a run-producing grounder by Bostock. The Twins scored twice in the first as Bostock started the uprising with a single, moved to third on a double by Larry Hise and scored on a double play grounder. Hise then scored on a wild pitch by Brewer starting pitcher Pete Broberg. Minnesota added two more runs on a bases-loaded single by Steve Braun in the third to make the score 4-1, and finish Broberg, 1-1. The Brewers cut the deficit to 4-2 in the fourth on Pedro Garcia's second RBI single of the game. The Twins went ahead 6-2 in the fourth on a pop single by Dave McKay and Bostock's long fly to center. Bostock, who a year ago at this time was out of the lineup with a broken ankle, boosted his average to .311 and was one of four Twins with a pair of hits. Hise, Braun and Ford also had two hits. Milwaukee also had four players with a pair of hits—Don Money, Robin Yount, Moore and Garcia. Minnesota starter Joe Decker, who has been battling control problems the past two seasons, was removed in the fifth after he opened the inning by walking Yount and George Scott. Decker, 1-2, walked five in four innings and now has given up 20 walks in 23 innings.

Campbell, who went into the game with a 1.80 earned run average and a pair of saves, retired the last five Brewer hitters after being hit solidly in the sixth and seventh innings. Milwaukee Minnesota

Ryan Sparks California Win

By MIKE HARRIS

CLEVELAND (AP) — Nolan Ryan allowed three hits in five innings and the California Angels broke a six-game losing streak with a 6-1 victory over the Cleveland Indians Saturday. Ryan, who struck out six batters, was removed after the fifth when he developed a blister on the middle finger of his right hand. A team spokesman said the departure was a precautionary measure. The Angels, who had failed to score more than two runs in any games during their losing streak, jumped to a 3-0 lead in the top of the first inning. With one out, Jerry Remy singled off loser Pat Dobson, 1-3. Bobby Bonds beat out a bunt and Bill Melton walked to load the bases. Remy came home on a wild pitch and Bruce Bochte singled in Bonds and Melton. California made it 5-0 with a pair of runs in the fourth.

Bochte walked to open the inning and went to third on a single by Dave Chalk. Ed Herrmann was walked intentionally to load the bases. Orlando Rameriz scored Bochte with a grounder and Rusty Torres followed with a run-scoring single. The loss snapped the Indians' three-game winning streak. CALIFORNIA CLEVELAND

Duane Thomas Back With Dallas Cowboys

DALLAS (AP) — Duane Thomas, an off-again, on-again football veteran, is back as a rookie where he started—the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League. "Once he gets on the field he can prove himself. Then people will forget what was in the past." Thomas was a No. 1 Cowboy draft choice out of West Texas State in 1971 but immediately had communication problems with the coaching staff, players and news media. That, however, did not deter his performance on the field. He was named NFC Rookie of the Year and rushed for 803 yards. The Cowboys quickly traded him to San Diego after he missed practice one day in 1972, and the problems between him and management mounted. From there he went to Washington, where he played infrequently behind Larry Brown. He played out his option with the Redskins and didn't return next season. "I don't have anything against him," Staubach said.

He also played briefly with Hawaii of the World Football League. There had been reports that Thomas was about to join the Houston Oilers. Former Cowboy tight end Petis Norman helped mediate Thomas' contract. Cowboy General Manager Tex Schramm said, "It's all in Duane's hands as to what role he can play with the Cowboys. There are no guarantees, no bonuses. Coach Landry felt he could make a contribution. That's the basis on which Duane was hired." Thomas said he is a completely changed man. "Everything must change," he said. "I have changed. My attitude now is very good, and I plan to work hard. That's what my contract calls for."

Hylton Feels He Can Do Well

By JERRY GARRETT
AP Motorsports Writer
TALLADEGA, Ala. (AP) — Familiar faces like Buddy Baker, David Pearson, Bobby and Donnie Allison and Richard Petty should be up front when the "freight train" leaves the starting line Sunday for the Winston 500 stock car race.

But they can count on some serious competition from one James Harvey Hylton.

The unimposing Hylton, winner of two NASCAR Grand National stock car races in his 12 seasons on the circuit, counts as his greatest racing achievement a victory here at Alabama International Motor Speedway in 1971.

"I've got a bunch of miles on this track. Got as much experience here as anyone. Got a super good pit crew this time," Hylton explained. "We may not have the brute horsepower of some of the big teams, so it's gonna be up to my driving ability to hang on."

To support his claim, Chevrolet driver Hylton has nailed down an impressive seventh starting position. Everything, he notes, is going according to plan so far.

"We try to come here at least once a year and run first class," said the 41-year-old Inman, S.C., driver. "I've got a $6,000 investment in a new engine and I came here to win."

The last time Hylton, who operates on as tight a budget as anyone, announced he was here to win was, coincidentally, the Talladega 500 in 1971.

"That was one of those times I decided to go all out here. Another one of those times I finished third. The time I won though I came here with old tires—new ones that were good—but most of the big teams spent their money on a new prototype tire that had been developed. When they started having tire problems, I was home free."

But tires, which cost $97 each, have been causing some financial problems for Hylton and other NASCAR independents.

"New rubber," Hylton believes, "is what it takes to run with the quick ones. If you put on 'stuffs' you'll lose at least a half-second a lap. The way it stands now, I've won $1,000 worth of tires for qualifying as high as I did. I've ordered $1,300 worth mounted, so I'm pretty close to breaking even there. If I finish in the top 10, I figure I can make some money."

During the race, Hylton's strategy is to keep in the "freight train" of cars running in the lead draft. "You lose that draft and you lose a half a lap," Hylton said. "You've gotta stay in that lead pack.

"That's fun. There's nothing like it—unless something goes wrong. This is a bad track to have anything go wrong in front of you. You're going so fast, it seems like it takes hours when you have to stop for something."

Hylton knows what he's talking about, having been crumpled up in a couple of hair-raising wrecks here.

Lately, though Hylton has in the news for his role as a spokesman for NASCAR's independent, or unsponsored, drivers. He figured to have a pretty good sponsor himself this season, but instead of the extra support his one backer promised after last season, he wound up getting even less than in 1975.

"I know just how bad the financial squeeze is on the independents," Hylton said. "But my hat's off to Bill France Jr. of NASCAR. We were able to sit down with him and explain our problems, and I believe him when he says he'll be able to work out some relief for us. "I'm proud to have been a part of it. Everybody showed kept their cool and approached this thing in a businesslike manner, and I think this has brought us all together closer."

Hylton estimates it takes at least $40,000 to get started in Grand National racing, with another $6,000 or so for each engine, then $97 for each tire. And he's convinced a little help somewhere in there will make for better racing for everyone.

"The independents can run with anyone when they have adequate equipment," Hylton said. "Just watch me Sunday."

Rookie Sparks Tigers To 10-1 Romp By Sox

CHICAGO (AP) — Rookie Jason Thompson slugged a two-run double and his first major league home run and Vern Ruhle pitched a five-hitter to lead the Detroit Tigers to a 10-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox Saturday.

Thompson, a 21-year-old first baseman who came up from the minor leagues a week ago, doubled off loser Bart Johnson after Willie Horton and Rusty Staub had walked with two out in the first inning.

The Tigers piled up a 7-0 lead before Thompson hit his homer in the seventh. He also singled in the eighth. Staub, Alex Johnson and Ron LeFlore each chipped in with two hits and LeFlore also stole four bases.

Ruhle, gaining his first decision of the season, didn't allow more than one baserunner in any inning until the seventh when Jim Spencer walked with two out and Bucky Dent singled before Jack Brohamer grounded out to end the inning. A one-out homer by Jorge Orta in the ninth spilled Ruhle's shutout.

In the eighth, Horton hit his sixth homer of the year.

San Francisco Rallies To Nip Chicago, 3-1

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Chris Speier's triple and Bobby Murcer's single in the eighth broke a 1-1 tie and triggered San Francisco to a 3-1 victory over Chicago Saturday in a game marred by a pair of bench-clearing brawls that resulted in the ejections of the Cubs' Jose Cardenal and Bill Madlock.

Rick Monday's double, Cardenal's grounder and Madlock's single gave Chicago a 1-0 lead in the first off starter Jim Barr, the center of controversy in the third-inning battles.

Cardenal was evicted for throwing his batting helmet at Barr following an inside pitch while Madlock got the boot for going to the mound after being hit by a pitch. The Cubs protested the game because Barr was allowed to continue.

The Giants tied the game off Ray Burris in the fourth. Mur-cer led off with a double, went to third on Gary Matthews' grounder and scored on Willie Montanez' single.

Gary Lavelle, 1-0, was the winner for the Giants, who snapped a five-game losing streak. Buddy Schultz, 1-1, was the loser. San Francisco added another run in the eighth when Murcer stole second and scored on Ken Reitz' single.

Ejected After Brawl Starts

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Two Chicago Cubs were ejected from the game with the San Francisco Giants Saturday after two separate incidents triggered by Jim Barr's inside pitches cleared both benches in the third inning.

Barr was warned by plate umpire Ed Runge for brushing back Cubs batter Jose Cardenal — the warning bringing an automatic $50 fine.

While the Giants were disputing the call, Barr and Cardenal exchanged words and the Cubs' outfielder threw his batting helmet at the Giants hurler, who had to be restrained by teammates.

Cardenal was then thrown out of the game.

Bill Madlock then was struck by a Barr pitch and he started toward the mound. Giants' catcher Marc Hill stepped between the two combatants, but Madlock reached around the catcher and hit Barr in the face with a right hook.

In the ensuing melee, Hill was decked by Madlock and an enraged Giant outfielder Gary Matthews plowed through several Cubs, landing punches. The hardest blow decked George Mitterwald.

When order was restored for the second time, Madlock was allowed to take first base briefly and Barr remained on the mound.

But after much discussion, the umpires ejected Madlock, who protested loudly while

Childress Leads Late Qualifiers

TALLADEGA, Ala. (AP) — Richard Childress led the final group of qualifiers Saturday for Sunday's $216,325 Winston 500 NASCAR Grand National stock car race, turning a top lap of 178.900 miles per hour around the 2.66-mile Alabama International Motor Speedway tri-oval.

Meanwhile, drag racer Paula Murphy hiked her own women's closed course speed record to 172.336 m.p.h., and Johnny Halford cruised to an easy victory after Lennie Pond dropped out in a 200-mile Automobile Racing Club of America stock car race.

The Grand National qualifying for positions 16 through 30 had been rained out Friday and combined with the scheduled time trials for the final 10 spots in the 40-car field. Pond topped the final 10 with a speed of 177.745 m.p.h.

Miss Murphy, who set the old women's record in 1971 of 171.499 m.p.h., said this was her first time in a stock car on an oval track since her earlier record run.

"I think the car is capable of more speed. I was hoping for 175," said Miss Murphy of her Richard Petty Dodge car. "But my legs were shaking so bad I couldn't hold the throttle down hard enough."

Her speed would have been fast enough for 36th starting position in Sunday's 500-miler, but Miss Murphy, who says she is not a women's libber, said, "I don't approve of women in Grand National or Indianapolis cars. It takes too much physical ability and it's too competitive."

Specifically Miss Murphy said she did not support the efforts of women like Janet Guthrie and Arlene Hiss, who are trying to break the sex barrier in the Indianapolis 500.

Miss Murphy said she did not plan any more oval track competition, but would come back if another woman broke her record.

Unearned Runs Let Wilson Nip Rose

By WOODY PEELE

Reflector Sports Editor

WILSON—Two unearned runs in the bottom of the seventh inning allowed the Wilson Titans to rally and nip Rose High School, 6-5, Friday afternoon.

The Rampants, who saw their hopes for a second straight Division I title just about go down the drain with the loss, were within one play of putting out the side in the frame, and ending the game with a 5-4 lead.

But an error got the Titan rally going, and two walks and a double brought it to fruition.

The defeat knocked the Rampants down to a 10-6 overall record and a 5-4 conference mark. Wilson improved its record to 6-10 overall and 4-4 in the league. The Rampants have six league games left to play, and must get a lot of help if they are to catch Division I leader Northern Nash, loser of only one game.

Still at stake, too, is a second place finish, good for a second conference berth in the state playoffs.

The Rampants got the hitting in the game, and for the most part, good pitching, too. Rose banged out 12 hits, including one home run. Wilson got only four hits off three Rampant hurlers, but two of them were doubles and figured in the Titan scoring.

Henry Baker started for Rose, but was lifted in the third after giving up three walks and a hit that led to a three-run rally. Jim Wilkerson sat down nine batters in a row after he took over, but then the first hit he allowed got him into trouble, allowing a run.

It still looked like Rose would get out of the game with a victory when Wilkerson struck out the first two in the seventh, then got a routine grounder on the next play. But an error got the Titans new life, and they capitalized on it.

Rose grabbed the lead in the first inning with two runs. Jay Chenier reached on an infield hit and Mike Belton singled to center. Eddy Connolly walked to load them up, and an infield hit by Jimmy Averette scored Chenier. Belton then scored on a passed ball.

The Rampants came back with another run in the third as Mike Brewington opened the inning with a long homer to left, making it 3-0.

Wilson, which hadn't gotten a man on base in the first two frames, came up with three runs in the bottom of the third, with just one hit. Keith Williams reached on a fielder's choice and Bert Ferrell walked. Donald Ellis also drew a walk, loading the bases. Jeffrey Harris got the lone hit off Baker, scoring Williams. Rose brought in Wilkerson at that point, and he unleashed a wild pitch, scoring Ferrell. Mitch Barnes then hit a sacrifice fly to left, scoring Ellis to tie it up.

Rose added runs in the fourth and sixth to take a 5-3 edge. In the fourth, David Dixon singled with one away and stole second. Chenier grounded to second, but the throw was not in time to get him, and the alert Dixon dashed all the way to home on the play, putting Rose back up.

In the sixth, Greg Lee singled and moved up on an error on the play. He took third on an out, and scored on Chenier's single.

Wilson's comeback started in the sixth. With one down, Barnes doubled to center. Russell Smith walked and a hit by Jeffrey

Davis cut the lead to 5-4 as Barnes scored.

Then came the fateful seventh. With two down, Ellis reached when his grounder was misplayed on the throw to first. Harris was intentionally walked, and Wright Hooks came on to pitch to Barnes, but walked him on four straight pitched, loading the bases. Donnie Prince then craked a double to deep center, scoring both Ellis and Harris to give Wilson the victory.

The Rampants return to action on Thursday, hosting Northeastern at Guy Smith Stadium in Greenville at 4 p.m.

Roanoke Romps Past Edgecombe

ROBERSONVILLE—Roanoke High School, with a 10-run sixth inning romped to a 20-4 victory over West Edgecombe Friday.

The victory boosted the Redskins to a 6-3 Eastern Plains Conference record. They are 6-11 overall.

West Edgecombe scored first, getting two runs in the first. Hugh Wilkins singled and Allen Gay hit a two-run homer. The other two runs came over in the fifth, but by then, it was out of reach.

Roanoke got its first run in the third. Reid Bullock singled as did Charlie Smith. Ricky Jenkins walked, loading them up. Willie Spruill reached on an error, scoring Bullock.

In the fourth, the Redskins pushed over six big runs and took a 7-2 lead. Donnie Weaver singled and Ken Gurganus walked. Bullock reached on an error and all three scored on Jenkins' double. Eddie James singled, and an error on the play let Jenkins score. Greg Roberson walked, and both moved up on a passed ball, scoring on Lee Smith's single.

In the fifth, the 'Skins added three more. Bullock walked and Smith reached on a fielder's choice. Jenkins walked to fill them, and James singled in a run. Smith reached on an error, scoring two more runs.

Charlie Smith highlighted the 10-run sixth with a grand slam home run.

The Redskins play host to North Johnston on Friday.

Southern Rally Downs Aycock

SPRING HOPE—Errors and three base hits cost E.B. Aycock a win Friday as Southern Nash rallied in the bottom of the seventh to steal a 9-8 victory over the Jaguars.

Southern Nash had tied the game earlier, 5-5, but the Jags picked up two runs in the sixth and one in the seventh for an 8-5 lead. Southern Nash erased it in its final chance.

Aycock opened the game with three runs in the first. Bob Morehead and Ronnie Chapman both singled with Morehead scoring on Chapman's hit. Chapman moved up on an error and scored on a single by Mike Williams. Williams came around on errors.

Morehead opened the second with a single and scored on a hit by Joey Matthes after stealing second. Matthes made it 5-0 in the fourth with a home run.

But Southern Nash rallied in the fourth for three and tied it in the fifth as Finch and Jones walked advanced on errors and Finch scored on a wild pitch. A sacrifice brought Jones across.

Charles Daise led off the sixth with an Aycock walk and Will Sanderson singled. Both scored on Reggie Selby's triple.

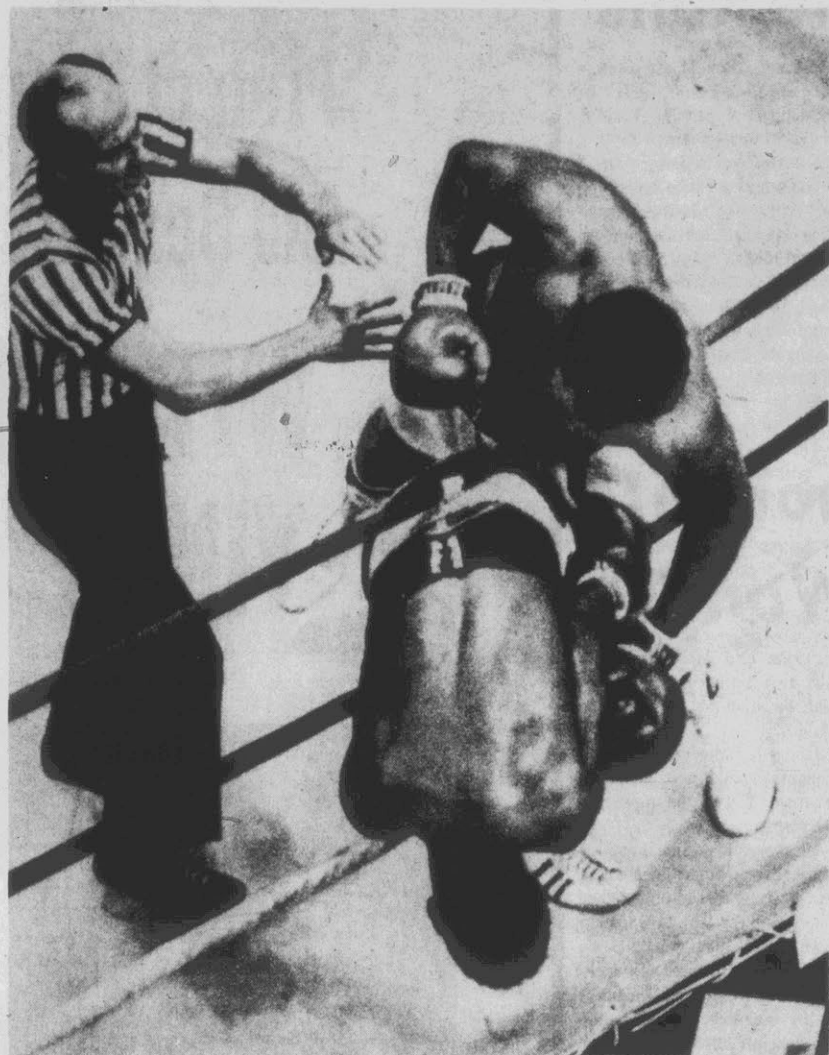

Chapman doubled in Morehead in the seventh for the 8-5 Jaguar lead.

Brown and Jones started the Southern rally drawing walks. Farmer singled scoring Jones after Brown had scored on an error. Farmer scored on a hit by Owens and after moving up, Owens scored the winner on Dunn's single.

Morehead, Matthes and Chapman had two hits each for Aycock. Williams was the losing pitcher.

Aycock is now 4-4 and will face Goldsboro here, Tuesday.

Undistinguished Ali Survives Jimmy Young

By GORDON BEARD
AP Sports Writer

LANOVER, Md. (AP) — Jimmy Young, virtually ignored by Muhammad Ali during the final week of training for their heavyweight title bout, finally caught the champ's attention.

Ducking under many punches and hitting just as hard as Ali, Young fought the longest and best bout of an undistinguished career Friday night before losing a unanimous decision which added little or nothing to Ali's stature.

It did, however, add $1.6 million to Ali's always-enlarging bank account. Young made just $75,000, but still enjoyed his best payday ever.

"I underestimated Jimmy Young," Ali admitted. "I didn't know he was so awkward and hard to hit. I took him too lightly. I almost lost the fight."

Angelo Dundee, Ali's veteran trainer, went much further in analyzing the champion's lackluster effort in the first heavyweight championship bout in the Washington, D.C., area since 1941.

"It was probably the worst fight of his career," Dundee said. "He's had better nights, and I hope he never has any worse ones. But I'm glad he got this out of the way, so he can be better in Munich."

The reference was to Ali's next title defense in Germany on May 25 against European champion Richard Dunn.

The Dunn bout and an expected fall match against Ken Norton, one of two boxers to best Ali in 53 career bouts, was very much on the champion's mind as he trained for Young.

Overweight as well as overconfident, Ali learned that Young is a much better fighter than when they opposed each other in three 1973 exhibitions.

Judge Larry Barrett gave Ali the edge by only 70-68, judge Terry Moore gave the champion the edge 71-64, and referee Tom Kelly called it 72-65. The Associated Press saw it for Young 69-66.

After the bout before 12,472 fans in Capital Centre, Young told a noisy news conference attended by many fans and other outsiders gathered in the arena delivery runway that he thought he had won.

"I really thought y'all had a new heavyweight champion," said the 27-year-old from Philadelphia. "I really thought I had won."

Young said he thought he deserved a rematch, a suggestion seconded by both Ali and promoter Don King. But with Ali's projected schedule for the rest of the year, a rematch seems unlikely.

Ali, in fact, contended his biggest mistake was "contracting myself to fight too much this year."

In addition to the bout against Young and the likely one with Norton, Ali also will take on Japanese wrestler Antonio Inoki in Tokyo on June 26. Norton outclassed Ron Stand- er and won a technical knock-out at 1:19 of the fifth round of their preliminary bout.

Cut in about five places, Stand-er's face was a bloody pulp by the time referee Harry Chechini stopped the mismatch.

Jamesville Takes Win

AURORA—Jamesville High School held out on a share of the Beaufort-Hyde-Martin Conference lead with a 6-5 victory over Aurora Friday.

The Bullets, trailing 5-0, rallied for two runs in the sixth inning and then came up with four more in the top of the seventh to pull out the victory.

No other details were available.

Jenkins Gets Rude Welcome

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

Mike Torrez came home to Baltimore Friday night and found the Orioles to be congenial hosts. In fact, Torrez almost continued straight on to the Baseball Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, N.Y.

Ferguson Jenkins, however, was welcomed rudely on his return to Texas.

Torrez, 20-9 in his only year in Baltimore, pitched 5 2-3 no-hit innings and finished with a two-hitter as the Oakland A's crushed the Orioles 11-1.

Meanwhile, the Rangers tattooed Jenkins for nine hits and five runs in 61-3 innings, then held on for a 6-5 triumph over the Boston Red Sox and the hurler who won 42 games in a Texas uniform the last two seasons.

Elsewhere in the American League, the New York Yankees beat the Kansas City Royals 5-3, the Cleveland Indians downed the California Angels 5-2 and the Chicago White Sox tripped the Detroit Tigers 8-4. Milwaukee and Minnesota were not scheduled.

Torrez' no-hit bid was spoiled when Al Bumbry slashed a hopping single off shortstop Bert Campanetis' glove with two out in the sixth inning.

"When I saw it hit off Campy's glove I just closed my eyes and thought, 'There it goes.' Still, this was by far my best game this year and it gave me a lot of satisfaction to be able to pitch that way," Torrez said.

The A's scored their first four runs off Jim Palmer and wrapped it up with seven in the ninth, two on a homer by Sal Bando.

Rangers 6, Red Sox 5
The big blows off Jenkins were Tom Grieve's solo homer and John Ellis' three-run double. The Rangers built a 6-0 lead behind Jim Umberger and then withstood a four-run Boston rally in the ninth.

Yankees 5, Royals 3
Fred Stanley and Mickey Rivers belted consecutive triples and Thurman Munson slugged a two-run homer as the Yankees rallied for three runs in the fifth inning. That was enough to give Catfish Hunter his second victory in five decisions on a six-hitter.

Indians 5, Angels 2
George Hendrick blasted a three-run homer off reliever Dick Drago in the bottom of the ninth after Buddy Bell doubled and Rico Carty, attempting to sacrifice, beat out a bunt. Jim Kern picked up the victory with 32-3 innings of scoreless relief. Bobby Bonds homered for the Angels.

White Sox 8, Tigers 4
Jorge Orta's home run triggered a three-run fourth inning and Terry Forster notched his first pitching triumph with help from Dave Hamilton.

Rampettes Nip Titans

Peggy Leggett slammed a home run in the bottom of the eighth to give the Rose High girls' softball team a 1-0 victory over Wilson Friday.

Neither team had been able to put up much offense despite their good hitting. Rose collected 15 hits, Wilson 13.

Wilson had two threats, the first coming in the fourth as the Lady Titans put a runner on second, and in the sixth. Rose loaded the bases in the bottom of the seventh on Susan Dickerson's walk, Karen Jefferey's single and Marty East's single but the rally ended.

East was the winning pitcher for the Rampettes. Gray and East led the Rose hitting with three each, and Jeffereys had a pair. Johnson had four hits; Davis three; Eason, Barnes and Hollar two each for Wilson.

Bench Credits Golf Lesson In Aiding Him After Two Home Runs

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

A basic golf lesson helped Johnny Bench turn Riverfront Stadium into his personal driving range.

"It's just like golf — if I don't stay still with the head, I don't hit," Bench said Friday night after teeing off on Montreal pitching for two home runs.

The cannon shots, Bench's third and fourth homers of the year, led the Cincinnati Reds to a 7-2 victory over the Expos and boosted the catcher's April production to 16 RBI — second best in his career for baseball's opening month.

"Because of my shoulder operation (over the winter), I've developed a bad habit of pulling off the ball," said Bench, "so my golf game has helped me. I feel like things have been going good all week."

The fairway-long drives off Montreal's Dan Warthen reaffirmed Expo Manager Karl Kuehl's faith in Bench Power.

In the other National League games, the New York Mets beat the Houston Astros 3-1; the Los Angeles Dodgers turned back the St. Louis Cardinals 4-1; the Pittsburgh Pirates trimmed the San Diego Padres 4-3 and the Chicago Cubs beat the San Francisco Giants 5-2. The game between Philadelphia and Atlanta was rained out.

Bench's three RBI provided the winning runs for the Expos. Nolan, 2-1, who beat the Expos for the fifth straight time. The Cincinnati right-hander helped his cause by driving in a run with a single while blanking the Expos for seven innings. He gave up three hits in the first three innings, then retired 13 men in a row before Tim Lincecum singled in the eighth and Ellis Valentine crashed a two-run home run.

Nolan, who gave way to Rawley Eastwick in the ninth, has not lost to the Expos since September 2, 1972. Warthen, 0-2, was the loser.

Mets 3, Astros 1

Jon Matlack scattered seven hits and Del Unser drove in two runs to lead New York to its seventh straight victory. Matlack, 3-0, struck out four Houston batters and walked two. Joe Niekro, 1-4, took the loss.

Dodgers 4, Cards 1

Rick Rhoden fired a six-hitter and Los Angeles collected 12 hits in beating St. Louis for its seventh straight victory. Former Cardinal Ted Sizemore had three of the Dodgers' hits and drove in a run.

Pirates 4, Padres 3

Jim Rooker and Ramon Hernandez held San Diego to five hits before Bob Moose snuffed out a ninth-inning rally as Pittsburgh nipped the Padres.

Cubs 5, Giants 2

Bill Madlock belted a pair of doubles and a single and Manny Trillo and Jose Cardenal each knocked in two runs to pace Chicago past San Francisco. Rick Reuschel, 1-1, scattered seven hits and survived some early trouble in pitching Chicago's first complete game of the year.

Young Thought He Had Won It

By TOM SEPPY
AP Sports Writer

LANDOVER, Md. (AP) — Challenger Jimmy Young said he really thought he had taken the heavyweight championship away from Muhammad Ali. Many of the spectators thought so, also.

Young, a 27-year-old Philadelphia, figured to be just another bout for Ali, who proudly proclaimed during the two weeks before the fight he would beat him easily in keeping his schedule of a match per month.

Young, however, surprised the heavyweight Ali. The champion had to go the full 15 rounds of his title fight Friday night before narrowly retaining his crown with a unanimous but controversial decision.

"I really thought y'all had a new heavyweight champion," said Young, who didn't appear outwardly downheartened by the loss. "I really thought I won the fight."

"I had told everyone the last five rounds would decide it," he said. "After the tenth round, I thought I would pull it out."

"I was never hurt, although I was dazed early in about the sixth round when he hit me with a solid shot. But I was hurt more in the gym than I was tonight. I'm not marked up," said Young.

Ali, who came into the fight at the heaviest weight in his career, 230, admitted afterwards that "I underestimated Jimmy Young. I didn't know that Jimmy Young was as awkward and as hard to hit as he was. He's fast. I took him too lightly."

"I was too heavy, eating ice cream and stuff," he said. "I almost sloughed it up and lost the fight."

Ali said "the way Young was fighting tonight he would have beaten Ken Norton, George Foreman and Joe Frazier. He hits awfully hard. My people said he couldn't hit, but he could."

Ali said, however, that he thought he had won the fight because "I was the most aggressive."

Ali also said Young hurt his cause several times because he kept ducking through the ropes. "They counted that as a knock-down so that hurt him."

The challenger said the ducking through the ropes was part of his strategy "to keep the pressure off me. I had a few tricks, I even used the rope-a-dope."

Young said he believed he should have a return fight. Ali agreed, as did Don King, who promoted the bout here.

"The man is good and y'all know it," said Ali as he sat next to Young. "I predict he is the next champion of the world as soon as I retire."

Cowens Leads Celts To Win

By The Associated Press

Dave Cowens was a big lift for the Boston Celtics and a big letdown for the Buffalo Braves.

"Dave Cowens is just Dave Cowens—what else can you say? He was just great!" exclaimed Boston Coach Tom Heinsohn after his brawny center helped the Celtics beat the Braves 99-88 in the National Basketball Association playoffs Friday night.

Cowens scored 30 points and picked off 16 rebounds as Boston took a 3-2 lead in the best-of-seven-game Eastern Conference semifinals.

"He's just great at his job," Buffalo Coach Jack Ramsay said of Cowens. "Their two guys—Paul Silas and Cowens—get more offensive rebounds than any two guys in the league. We have to run better and execute better in our next game in Buffalo if we expect to return to Boston for a seventh game."

The Celtics have a shot to wrap up the series in Buffalo Sunday afternoon. If a seventh game is necessary, it will be played in Boston next Wednesday night. The winner will face the Cleveland Cavaliers for the East championship.

In other NBA action Friday night, the Golden State Warriors stopped the Detroit Pistons 118-116 in overtime and won their Western semifinal series, 4-2. The Warriors will host the Phoenix Suns Sunday in the opener of the Western finals.

Veteran John Havlicek, sidelined for three games with a foot injury, returned to help the Celtics with eight points and what Silas described as "stabilization."

"John stabilized things for us," said Silas, who scored 15 points and grabbed 22 rebounds. "Any time he gets the ball you feel he's doing the right thing. He adds the intangibles to our game and it carries over to everybody on the club just seeing him out there. We're just happy to have him."

Bob McAdoo led Buffalo scorers with 23 points.

Jamaal Wilkes scored four of Golden State's eight overtime points and the Warriors' defense held off stubborn Detroit in the last two minutes.

Paladins Win Title

GREENVILLE, S.C. (AP)—

Bob Grove scored a run and singled in the game winning tally Friday as Furman beat The Citadel 2-1 to capture the Southern Conference baseball championship.

The game was called after five innings because of rain.

Furman, 11-2 in the conference and 21-14 overall, advanced to the NCAA Atlantic regional playoffs May 21-23.

The Citadel, 7-4 and 18-9, finished second in the league standings.

Grove led off the fourth inning with a single and scored later on a single by Mark Hanna.

The Citadel tied the game in the top of the fifth when Al Diket singled home Dick Jones, who had led off the inning with a double.

In the bottom of the fifth, Russell Lee singled for the Paladins, advanced to second base on a passed ball, went to third on a ground out and scored on Grove's single.

Hang Glide Competition To Be At Nags Head

A HANG GLIDING PILOT... soars free in the air, flying with only the help of available breezes. A four-day National Tactile Flight Championship is being held at Jockey's Ridge at Nags Head from May 13-16. The event is free and the public is invited to attend.

Nags Head—One of the nation's most exciting bicentennial events is set for May 13 - 16 on the Outer Banks, within view of that historic patch of sand where Wilbur and Orville Wright changed the course of human history.

For the fourth consecutive year, 50 hang glider pilots in the nation will again gather at 137-foot-high Jockey's Ridge, the highest natural sand dune in the nation, for the National Tactile Flight Championships.

The four-day event is an invitational competition to glider pilots in the United States. Cash awards will be offered the winners as well as the coveted Francis M. Rogallo award. Competition finals are on Saturday and Sunday.

The Outer Banks Chamber of Commerce sponsors the free event, which last year drew over 12,000 spectators over the course of the weekend, despite intermittent thundershowers. The sand dunes of Jockey's Ridge have been listed by Reader's Digest among the 50 scenic wonders of America. The dunes lure about 2,000 vacationers a day during the summer season, trekking to the top of the 14-story-high sand dune to enjoy the multi-mile view in every direction.

These sand dunes are now a state park, thanks to the People to Preserve Jockey's Ridge, an organization which spearheaded the state's purchase of the landmark, which was threatened by possible commercial development. The state is now establishing policies so that hang-gliding can be continued in the park for years to come.

On Saturday and Sunday of the Gliding Spectacular, the Outer Banks Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a fish fry.

National attention centered around the meet last year when the spectators saw a new Outer Banks soaring record set. Gregg Mitchell, flying a Seagull IV high performance rogallo wing hang glider, gently pushed off the sand dune, launched himself into the Atlantic sea breeze and touched ground 13 minutes 20 seconds later.

Waterway Events For Washington

Carrying out its theme for the month of May—"Waterways, Our Link With The Past and The Future," the town of Washington today is having a "Salute to Commercial Fishing."

Several modern commercial fishing trawlers will be berthed at Stewart Parkway. Demonstrations will be given in methods of rigging seines, nets and trawls for fishing, shrimping and oystering.

The event, a repeat from Saturday, is open to the public from 10 a.m. this morning until 4 p.m. this afternoon.

The next events in May will take place Saturday, May 8. The first will be a Gala Water Show from 4 to 5 p.m., with The Al-Pam Ski Club and other affiliated clubs to perform varied water sports events in the water off Stewart Parkway. All these events are open to the public and are without charge.

At 5:30 on May 8, the Beaufort County Shrine Club will have a Fish Fry beginning at 5:30 p.m. with dinners available to the public for $2.00.

Orville Wright had held the Outer Banks soaring mark with his flight of 9 minutes 45 seconds set in 1911.

In 1975's Spectacular, 75 pilots competed from 25 states. The competition was won by Anthony Verhurst of Everett, Mass., who came away with both standard division and overall honors in the four day competition. The events included duration, target landing and slalom flying.

One of the principal organizers of the Gliding Spectacular is Francis M. Rogallo, a retired NASA engineer and resident of the Outer Banks who is credited with the development of the delta-wing or "rogallo" concept, which revolutionized the sport of hang gliding.

The flexible wing concept was developed by Rogallo while experimenting with the possibilities of using the design as a method of bringing spacecraft to a precise point after re-entry into the Earth's atmosphere. The hang glider is a spin-off from the research Rogallo conducted for NASA.

Rogallo is an idealist who refuses to seek financial gain from hang gliding by affiliating commercially with any of the firms now manufacturing and distributing his invention.

This year, the Gliding Spectacular will be a platform for the nation's hang glider manufacturers to test advanced ideas in design of the kites and to demonstrate new products. The Wright Brothers also selected the Outer Banks of North Carolina for their famous flight experiments. It was here that they developed their gliders and learned to fly in the years 1900-1903, climaxed by their first historic powered flights on December 17, 1903. It was in October 1911 when Orville returned to the sand dunes with a glider to flight test some new ideas. On October 24, he set the new world's soaring record of 9 minutes 45 seconds - a flight which remained a world's record until exceeded in Germany ten years later.

The event this year will consist of target and duration flying competition. Pilots will warm-up on Thursday with actual competition beginning on Friday and continuing until Sunday.

Mini-Refuges For Wildlife

Homeowners can celebrate the Bicentennial year by participating in an officially-recognized Bicentennial activity—the creation of a mini-refuge for wildlife in their own backyards.

The National Wildlife Federation's three-year old Backyard Habitat Program has been designated an official Bicentennial project by the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration (ARBA).

The habitat program is aimed at encouraging homeowners to transform their gardens and yards into dependable sources of food, water, and shelter for wildlife. Since the program began in 1973, the Federation has certified more than 400 backyards across America as suitable wildlife habitat.

The Federation, the nation's largest conservation education organization, is offering a free set of materials and information to those interested in the Backyard Habitat Program.

Each packet tells how individuals can apply to have their yards certified by NWF and gives specific suggestions for the types of plants to be used in various parts of the country to help attract wildlife.

The Backyard Habitat information can be obtained by writing to: National Wildlife Federation, Dept. BY '76, 1412 16th St. N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

Hog Skins Used In Burn Treatment

By BILL HUMPHRIES
N. C. State University

RALEIGH—Hog skins, a relatively new by-product of the meat packing industry, are proving especially beneficial in the treatment of victims of severe burns.

Production of the skins in volume is now possible because of the recent development of a mechanical pig skinner.

The Burn Treatment Skin Bank at Phoenix, Ariz., receives carefully selected hog skins flown in daily and uses them to prepare dressings for burn patients throughout the United States.

Medical authorities say the dressings are particularly suitable for such use because the cell structure of hog skin is similar to that of human skin.

The special dressings reduce the burn victim's pain and guard against infection and loss of body fluid until they can be replaced by grafted human skin. Lives are saved and hospital stays shortened.

Animal scientist Dr. E. R. Barrick of the Agricultural Experiment Station at North Carolina State University said this is one of numerous examples of how by-products from meat packing benefit people.

It is often said that packers have learned to use "everything but the squeal" from hogs and other meat animals. The list of useful by-products, including everything except the meat carcass, runs well above 100 items used in medicine, sports, industry and the home.

"Consumer meat prices would be considerably higher if it were not for the returns that packers receive for the many by-products of the industry," Barrick said.

From earliest times people have used animal hides for wearing apparel and other purposes. Except for wool, leather has been by far the most valuable by-product over the years and it still is.

"A 1,000 pound steer yields only about 432 pounds of retail beef as steaks, roasts and ground beef, according to the National Live Stock and Meat Board, Chicago.

The remainder of the animal provides variety meats, such as liver, tongue, kidneys and sweetbreads; pharmaceuticals, including insulin, estrogen, thyroid extract and others; edible by-products, such as oleo stock and oil, gelatin, canned meat and natural sausage casings; and a long list of inedible by-products.

Sheep skins still are used for diplomas, but pig skins for making footballs have been replaced by cow hides, which also form the covering for baseballs. "Catgut," from the intestines of meat animals, produces strings for tennis rackets and musical instruments, as well as surgical sutures.

Novelty items, umbrella handles, buttons, napkin rings, crochet needles, teething rings, dice and chess pieces are made from horns, hooves and bones of meat animals.

N.C. Coastal Erosion Takes A Steady Toll

By KAREN JURGENSEN
N. C. State University

Some people, particularly those not familiar with the ways of the coast, sometimes get less than they bargain for when they buy land along North Carolina's estuaries. Though local rates of estuarine erosion vary markedly, the state's sounds are gobbling up land at an average of two to three feet a year. Erosion can range up to 20 feet a year.

In fact, says Dr. Michael P. O'Connor of East Carolina University, land along the estuaries that isn't eroding is the exception. "It comes as a shock to people to learn this," he says, but people with dwindling yards "are not alone."

More dramatic than backyard erosion are the islands near the mainland that have gradually been swallowed by the sound in its snail's pace creep upward. Batts Island, which once lay in the Albemarle Sound, vanished shortly after the turn of the century. In the Pamlico River, Indian Island is being engulfed by about three feet per year. At that rate, the island will be gone in another 150 years.

While nature will take its course, Dr. O'Connor and his associates in a UNC Sea Grant program-supported project at East Carolina have found that some measures are effective in at least slowing backyard erosion. Conventional methods of protection work to a degree, the researchers found. Among those, bulkheading is particularly effective.

Then, too, knowing what to look for and how to take advantage of it, or to avoid it, can help. For instance, protection of resistant clay bluffs, cypress fringes, swamp forest and peat marshlands would be beneficial since all function as natural barriers to shoreline erosion.

It's also profitable to let natural and man-made barriers to erosion work hand-in-hand, the researchers point out. For example, a wooden bulkhead can be used to protect land temporarily while resistant cypress seedlings are establishing themselves.

To acquaint people with the problems of estuarine erosion—and some solutions—O'Connor, Dr. Vincent Bellis and Dr. Stanley R. Riggs have put together a book entitled "Estuarine shoreline erosion in the Albemarle-Pamlico region of North Carolina."

The book outlines the different kinds of soils and shorelines explaining which are most resistant to erosion. It also gives pointers on the telltale signs of erosion and what to do about it.

To get a free copy of the book, write Sea Grant, Box 5001, Raleigh, N.C., 27607.

GRACIOUS EXTERIOR DISTINGUISHES FOUR BEDROOM PLAN

By Jerry Bishop

Traditional in exterior approach and up-to-date in floor plan, the Hancock fuses the best of the old and new. Featuring four large bedrooms and two and one half baths, this dignified Colonial design creates a warm, spacious environment for family living.

Textured with rich brick siding, the facade recalls the charm of its Colonial heritage. Tall shutters, small-paned windows, and a side entry garage contribute to the effect.

Inside, the floor plan separates formal and informal living areas, isolates sleeping areas on the upper level, and creates a traffic pattern geared to the family of the Seventies.

Comfortably large, the living room and connecting dining room become the entertaining center. Sliding glass doors extend the area to the patio for summer parties and barbecues.

 Answers Timely Gardening Questions

Q. Is it too late to prune my young apple tree? (G. P., Weldon)

A. You can make small cuts on an apple tree anytime your knife is sharp and you have the energy. (Mel Kolbe, extension horticulturist)

Q. How can I save tulip bulbs which I could not get planted this year? (R. W., Kannapolis)

A. There is little chance that you will have success in "carrying over" tulip bulbs that were not planted this year. If you want to try, keep them over-summer in a cool place, such as the vegetable crisper of the refrigerator. Plant in the late fall. But, don't expect much by the way of tulips next spring. (Henry J. Smith, extension landscape horticulturist)

Q. Is it true that termites will get in pine bark mulch? (Mrs. F. B., Raleigh)

A. Yes, but this answer should be qualified. Termites will not eat the bark to any great extent because it has little nourishment for them. They would be attracted to wood chips mixed with the bark until the mulch has been in place long enough for the chips to decay. (H. B. Moore, extension entomologist)

Q. Last year I planted strawberries about 18 inches apart and this year the bed is full of runners. Should I thin them? (D.L., Raleigh)

A. Strawberries produce best if the plants are spaced about six to eight inches apart. This would be about four to six plants per square foot of bed. Thinning to this spacing should be done immediately after harvest and again in September. (Joe Brooks, extension horticulturist)

Works Toward An Egg A Day

COLUMBIA, Mo. (UPI) — A University of Missouri poultry scientist is developing a strain of chickens that will lay an egg a day, producing one-third more eggs per year than the average hen.

The scientist, Harold Beillier, said university researchers have been selecting for the new strain by using inbreeding and artificial day lengths of 23 hours. Those hens able to produce eggs every 23 hours for extended periods are being selected and bred to develop the super chicken.

Most hens average 270 eggs per year.

ON THE HOUSE

By ANDY LANG
 AP Newsfeatures

Since an extension ladder is a necessity when doing any work on the upper part of the outside of your house, it is well to learn how to use it properly. But any information on usage should be prefaced with the warning that some persons simply don't belong on high ladders and should stay away from them no matter how tempted they are to prove they can conquer their fears or disabilities or ages.

fitted together so that one part can be moved separately to attain the desired height. It takes a little practice to get the knack of raising and lowering the top section, but this testing period can not be undertaken until the ladder has been raised into position, a maneuver which requires a little practice of its own.

Begin by placing the ladder on the ground at right angles to the house, with the bottom end against the foundation. Grasp the ladder's top rung and raise it to about shoulder height. Now walk towards the house, changing the position of your hands on the rungs as you move forward. As you do this, the ladder will be moving higher into the air. Be certain always that you have a tight grip on the next rung of the ladder as you remove the other hand from the previous rung.

When the ladder has reached a vertical position, rest the top against the house. Now, gently and carefully, move the foot of the ladder away from the house, little by little. How far? About one-fourth the height of the ladder. Thus, with a 20-foot ladder, the feet should be about 5 feet from the house. This distance ratio assures the ladder will remain stable while someone is on it.

Here's the Answer

By ANDY LANG
 AP Newsfeatures

Q. — Articles about using caulking compound always talk about buying it in cartridges, but when I watched a workman doing his job on a new house recently, he used it from a large can. Isn't it cheaper that way than buying a cartridge and then inserting it one of those caulking guns?

Q. — We have old-fashioned window screens, with the galvanized mesh held in place by pieces of moulding. One of them needs new screening material. I did a similar job some years ago, but remember that I had a tough time trying to get the mesh tight enough. Is there some trick to this?

Q. — I saw one of those shadow boxes around the frame of a window in a house I visited a couple of years ago and promised myself that some day I would make one. The people I visited have since moved, so I can't ask them how they made it. Should some special kind of wood be used and how are the curves cut out?

A. — There are several ways to do this. Here's one I have used over the years. Set two saw horses apart about the length of the screen. Place a couple of 2 by 4s (or similar wood strips) on the saw horses lengthwise and along the outer edges. Lay the screen on this setup. Now place two short pieces of 2 by 4s underneath the top and bottom of the screen. Use two C clamps to tighten the sides of the screen to the long 2 by 4s. This tightening will cause the screen to be bowed slightly downward. Now attach the mesh to the bottom and top rails of the screen. When the C clamps are loosened, the mesh will tighten up the way you want it. Complete the fastening of the mesh to the wood. The moulding, by the way, is not used to hold the mesh in place, but merely to cover up the fasteners, which can be either small special tacks or staples.

RATED NUMBER 1

By one of the nation's leading consumer reports. The Fiat 131 was rated higher than the Audi Fox, Mazda Cosmo, Ford Granada and all others in the "compact field."

If you are considering the purchase of a new foreign car be smart. Look at and test drive 2 or 3 before buying. If you don't look and compare car and price you might make a BIG mistake. In reality, foreign cars are higher in price than ought to be, however there is the better car for the better price if you will seek and find it. All we ask is to let us show you what we have to offer.

There is much ability at making and selling products, being of service to the public in general, also. Nahouse-Fritts Vows Solemnized

LEXINGTON—The Holly Grove Lutheran Church here was the scene of the Saturday afternoon wedding of Miss Nancy Elizabeth Fritts and the Rev. Richard Graham Nahouse. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Charlie Hoyle at 3:00 p.m. A program of wedding music was presented by Dr. Richard Lucht, organist, Mrs. James Searl, flutist, and Mrs. Tom Payne, vocalist. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Terry Fritts of Lexington, the bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore her sister's wedding gown of candlelight satin fashioned with a fitted waist and chapel train attached at the waistline. The neckline was high and made of silk organza with lace appliques. The silk organza sleeves were cuffed. Her chapel length mantilla was lace bordered and the bride carried a bouquet of ivory mums, baby's breath and ivy. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. O.R. Nahouse of Covington, Va., and Mr. R.A. Nahouse of Matawan, N.J. The bride is a graduate of East Carolina University with a B.S. degree in nursing and is presently a staff nurse at Pitt

Memorial Hospital, Greenville. The bridegroom graduated from the University of Richmond and received his Master's degree from Southeastern Seminary. He did post graduate work at Lutheran Southern Seminary and West Virginia University. He is presently pastor of Our Redeemer Lutheran Church, Greenville. Mrs. David C. Neill of Exton, Pa., was matron of honor and Miss Patricia Renee Fritts of Lexington was maid of honor. They were attired in gowns fashioned with blue sweetheart necklines with an empire bodice. Blue flowered chiffon was used as an overlay. They each carried a long-stemmed ivory chrysanthemum. Miss Tammy Lane Fritts of Lexington was flower girl and was dressed identical to the honor attendants. L.R. Nahouse II of Sarasota, Fla., was best man and ushers were W.R. Nahouse of Covington, Va., Robert C. Lang and W. Park Arbogast, both of Greenville, and Carey G. Fritts of Lexington. The ring bearer was Christopher D. Neill of Exton, Pa. After a southern wedding trip, the couple will reside in Greenville. A reception was given in honor of the bridal couple in the church fellowship immediately following the ceremony. The bride's colors of blue and white were carried out in flower arrangements throughout the fellowship hall. The reception was given by the bride's parents, and the bride's relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Mabry, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Watman and Mr. and Mrs. Carey G. Fritts. An after-rehearsal party was held Friday evening at Berrier's Restaurant for members of the wedding party, families and close friends.

The dress had a shirred bodice with scoop neck and butterfly sleeves. She carried a nosegay of summer wild flowers. Miss Jennifer Wix of Cullowhee and Miss Flora Trust

Talk To Lawyer About Your Will

© 1976 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am in my middle 70s. Since my wife's death 10 years ago, I have been seeing a very lovely married woman who is now in her middle 30s. She is married to a man who barely makes a living for her and their children. I am making out my will and want to provide generously for this woman who has given me so much happiness. How can I do so without casting a shadow on her reputation or embarrassing her?

NAMELESS, PLEASE

DEAR NAMELESS: Talk to your lawyer, and then discuss it with the woman. Remembering someone in a will isn't necessarily an admission of a romantic involvement.

DEAR ABBY: Can you stand one more letter about the myna bird who was taught to use dirty words? Eeny meeny myna moe Grab a myna by the toe If he hollers dirty words Just pretend it's "for the birds."

H.J.R. IN PENNA.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 63-year-old widow. My husband died two years ago after a beautiful marriage that lasted for 30 years.

I went completely to pieces and foolishly took up with a man shortly afterwards. I was lost and lonely, and he provided the tenderness and consolation I desperately needed at the time. It was mostly a sexual attraction, and it lasted only a few months.

After we broke up, I met a very fine, 72-year-old gentleman who was everything a woman could want in a husband. He proposed marriage and I accepted. Then I told him about my brief affair, thinking he would understand. Well, he didn't! Instead, he said he couldn't marry me knowing that I was "second-hand" merchandise.

I told him that in all the years of my marriage, I never looked at another man, but he said it didn't matter—my affair after my husband's death was something he could never forgive.

Abby, don't you think he is wrong to hold that against me? I didn't even know him when this happened. I love him and want to marry him, but I cannot understand his attitude. Please advise.

HEAVY-HEARTED

DEAR HEAVY: I think he's wrong. But you could be lucky to have found out how unforgiving and unfair he is. I'm sure you realize how foolish you were to discuss your past with him. Don't make that mistake again.

DEAR ABBY: When I first heard about topless swimsuits for girls, I thought it was just a lot of talk, but yesterday I actually saw one for sale in a store!

If women would consider wearing a topless swimsuit in public, we have reached a new low in our civilization—even lower than the decadence that preceded the fall of the Roman Empire.

Topless swimsuits! Have we lost all sense of decency? Who cares if we are bombed back to the Stone Age? What's left to save?

MOTHER OF GIRLS

DEAR MOTHER: The bottoms.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212, for Abby's booklet "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (26¢) envelope.

Marriage Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Freager R. Sanders, Jr. of Greenville announce the marriage of their daughter, Patti Denise, to Robert E. Harvey, Jr. son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Harvey, Sr. of Willingboro, N.J. The wedding was solemnized April 18 at the Holy Cross Catholic Church, Durham.

A "Fiber and Fabric" workshop for persons interested in handcrafted textiles will be offered by the ECU School of Art Friday and Saturday, May 14-15. The workshop, sponsored by the art school's Department of Design, will feature slides and lecture presentations by fabric designer Jose Fumero.

Topics will include yarn construction and application of yarn in woven fabrics, samples of weaves, color inspiration in weaving, and Fumero's own experiences as a textile designer and weaver.

Each participant will have the opportunity to work with Fumero's braiding machine, to create his or her own yarn and fibers.

Fumero is a fine arts graduate of the Cooper Union Art School in New York and has taught privately and through institutions in New York and North Carolina.

His fabric designs have been exhibited in several eastern states, and he has lectured widely on the use of his braiding machine, which can combine up to 16 different fibers to produce a single strand of yarn.

Registration fee for the ECU textile workshop is $7 per participant. Participants should bring scrap yarns, beads, wools, and other materials to incorporate into their workshop fabric making.

Further information about the workshop is available from "Craftsmen East," School of Art, East Carolina University, Greenville, N. C. 27834.

Couple Weds In Saturday Rites

GRIMESLAND—Miss Mary Jo Summerlin and Donald Eugene Rivenbark were united in marriage at three o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Grimesland Pentecostal Holiness Church. The Rev. Paul Jackson officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Summerlin of Grimesland. The parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Rivenbark of Greenville.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Peggy Hardy, pianist and Miss Carol Ann Tucker, who sang "More", and "And I Love You So." The "Wedding Prayer" was sung by Miss Tucker as the couple knelt at the prie-dieu.

The church was decorated with a fifteen branch brass candelabra in the center with two tree candelabras on either side. Arrangements of white mums, blue carnations and gladioli were entwined around the candelabra.

Given in marriage by her brother, Jackie Summerlin, the bride wore a white formal length gown of bridal mist and iridescent trim chantly lace. It was fashioned with a high wedding band collar and lace bodice. Lace details were repeated on the cuffs of the long Victorian sleeves. A deep border of scalloped lace formed the hemline and flowed into a built-in chapel length train.

Her veil was a Juliet cap of sculptured lace flowers and was attached to a three tiered veil of silk illusion. She carried a nosegay of white baby carnations, pom poms and blue baby's breath.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Riley Mills. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Warren Cade, sister of the bride, Mrs. Jackie Summerlin, sister-in-law of the bride, and Miss Irene Williams, all of Greenville.

The attendants were attired in formal length gowns of white and blue accented by large ruffles forming a V-neckline front and back, and repeated on the hemline. The empire waist was accented with ribbon streamers. They wore ripple brim hats with ribbon streamers attached with a miniature white carnation. Each carried a long-stemmed white mum with blue baby's breath and matching streamers.

Waldo Rivenbark, father of the bridegroom served as best man. Groomsmen were Burney Rivenbark, brother of the bridegroom, Riley Mills, James Suggs, and Robin Stokes.

The mother of the bride wore a blue and white A-line dress with matching accessories. She wore a corsage of white carnations.

The mother of the bridegroom wore a pink dress with matching accessories. She also wore a corsage of white carnations.

The grandmothers were remembered with corsages.

By Erma Bombeck

I don't give graduation speeches, but if I did I'd want to address the graduates who don't show up. It would sound something like this.

"Good evening to the no-class of 1976, honored no parents, no friends, no members of the board, and others not present.

"This is an important no-occasion for you. It marks the beginning of a time when you are mature enough to make your own decisions about what you will do and what you will not do.

"I have noted that each year the class of no-graduates gets larger and larger, illustrating the need for young people to make a firm stand against tradition. I'm sure that all of you have thoroughly examined its ramifications and have come to the same conclusions:

"1. 'Pomp and Circumstance' can put your teeth to sleep.

"2. It's a long way to walk for a blank diploma that you have to turn in Tuesday for one with your name on it.

"3. Mortarboards make you look like parking meters.

"4. Commencement speakers are Xeroxed and have bionic tongues that say the same thing for three hours.

"Who cares?"

"I wish to address my no-remarks to the final question, 'Who cares?'

"I am reminded of a story of a graduate 32 years ago. The grandmother who had partially raised the graduate bought a dress, hat and shoes 'on time' for which she paid 50 cents a week long after the graduation had been forgotten.

"The uncle of the graduate who had not worked in his 24 years actually got a job to buy a piece of luggage for the honoree. The sister of the graduate who had not had contact with the family for awhile returned on the day with tears and the gift of a briefcase to be used for college.

"The parents of the graduate borrowed a box camera; outfitted themselves in new clothes and planned a family reception.

"The entire group presented itself at the auditorium two hours before the ceremony and had to be unseated as they were sitting in the section on the side of the stage reserved for the band.

"It was the first time in the history of the family anyone had graduated from high school. I

Research Report Published In Spring Issue

Wishful reminiscing about married life before the first child's birth and going out alone with the wife are examined as "coping" mechanisms employed by many first-time fathers in a research report by BCU sociologists Richard Gilman and David Knox. The report, "Coping with Fatherhood: The First Year," appears in the spring issue of the journal Child Psychiatry and Human Development, and discusses the results of a recent survey of new fathers undertaken by Drs. Gilman and Knox.

"A declining birth rate and the emergence of the National Organization for nonparents indicate an increasing concern for the negative effect children have on one's personal and marital happiness," said the researchers.

"Previous studies on the impact of children on marital happiness have yielded contradictory findings. Using a coping model for first-time fathers, this article suggests one possible explanation for these inconsistencies: Differences in findings on parenthood crisis can be explained by different ways parents cope with such potential crisis."

Gilman and Knox decided to concentrate on new fathers as parents, thus reflecting "an increased cultural emphasis on the role-sharing" of child-rearing responsibilities by modern husbands.

On The Local Scene

by Rosalie Trotman

A student at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro has provided the drawings for a new children's coloring book which emphasizes historical landmarks in the state.

Martha Frisone, a Raleigh sophomore, did the illustrations for the publication which is entitled "A Coloring Book of North Carolina."

The coloring book evolved from an earlier trip to San Francisco, where Martha bought a gift for John and Margaret Ann Marston, two Raleigh children with whom she babysits.

The present turned out to be a coloring book about San Francisco. When Mrs. Shelby Marston, the children's mother, saw the book she discussed with Martha the possibility of creating a similar one for North Carolina.

Thus, the publication was born and Martha, who is majoring in art, was hired as the illustrator. The book was designed and published by Mrs. Marston.

Martha's work consisted of 21 drawings, two covers and a title page. The book depicts such scenes as Tryon Palace, the Outer Banks, Mount Mitchell and the state zoo. It also calls attention to two of North Carolina's chief products, furniture and tobacco.

The young artist's favorite part is the cover, which is printed in brilliant hues of blue, green and orange. She noted that it was a joint project of her family and the Marstons with everyone contributing ideas. The final colors were selected because of their appeal to children.

Martha explained that the book is designed basically to be easy enough for the very young to color and still be sufficiently stimulating for older children.

The book is now being distributed statewide and has already been included in the annotated bibliography for school teachers by the Division of Educational Media in the State Department of Public Instruction.

A Bicentennial prayer luncheon for the women of North Carolina is being planned for June 1 at the Royal Villa, Raleigh.

Speakers for the event include Millie Dienert and Vonette Bright. Singing will be Myrtle Hall.

"This is a movement on concerned Christian women who care about our country and world," Mrs. Margaret Thomas of Durham, chairman of the luncheon, explained.

Mrs. Dienert and Mrs. Bright are among the founders of the Great Commission Prayer movement and spoke at a similar luncheon last month in Washington, D.C.

Mrs. Cox Is Chapter Speaker

The Alpha Iota Chapter of Alpha Delta Kappa met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Janie Cox here with Mrs. Becky Speight and Joyce Worthington as co-hostesses.

Upon arrival members and guests held a social hour and viewed the crafts of Mrs. Cox.

Mrs. Cox gave a talk on the history of rug hooking and demonstrated the work she has been doing for many years.

President Norma Gray presided at the business meeting. Reports were heard from the state convention delegates and plans made for attendance at the regional meeting in Richmond.

Altruistic chairmen requested that more attention be given to this work for another year. The sorority will sponsor a trip to Bath for member Jo Brookshire's class.

Members were reminded that the May meeting was the last meeting of the year and new officers were to be installed.

Helmer-Owens Vows Exchanged

WILSON—A double ring ceremony Saturday at 4 p.m. at the First Baptist Church here united Miss Elizabeth Lynn Owens of Wilson and Harry Radbourne Helmer Jr. of Greenville in marriage.

The wedding ceremony was performed by the Rev. William R. Bussey, pastor, and the Rev. M. Dewey Tyson, pastor of the First United Methodist Church, Henderson, uncle of the bride.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Kirby Clifton Owens of Wilson, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Radbourne Helmer Jr. of Elm City.

Nuptial music was provided by Clyce Patterson, organist, and Mrs. Marvin Eugene Tyson of Grimesland, soloist.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a formal length gown of white satin organzan over peau de soie. The empire bodice featured a colonial neckline of Italian lace and a sheer English net yoke, enhanced with schiffi embroidery. Venice lace flowerette motifs encircled the front bodice and continued on the full bishop sleeves. Swirls of lace were applied on the skirt front and to the attached chapel length train with an Italian lace border.

The bride's headpiece was a two-tiered circular veil of bridal illusion, edged in pearls and attached to a Juliet cap trimmed with lace and pearls.

Miss Deborah Ann Tyson of Henderson served her cousin as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Mona Gray Whitley and Miss Margaret Ann Crawley, both of Wilson, and four sisters of the bridegroom, Miss Cathy Irene Helmer of Wilson, and Miss Susan Jane Helmer, Miss Pamela Lynn Helmer and Miss Marjorie Stuart Helmer, all of Elm City. Their formal dresses were sleeveless with U-necklines, fashioned along princess lines in daffodil yellow satin crepe. Each had a circular cape of daffodil chiffon with a stand-up collar tied at the neck. Their matching picture hats of horse hair braid were trimmed with moss green ribbons. Each carried a colonial nosegay of yellow carnations and gypsophelia with matching streamers.

The bridegroom's father served as best man. Ushers were Stephen Thomas Owens, brother of the bride, and Mark Selby Farmer, both of Wilson, Adrian Carl Bell of New Bern, Edward Earl Summerlin of Elm City, Jerry Thurman Hodge of Raleigh, and Michael Leonard Bass and Gary Parker Overton, both of Greenville.

After a wedding trip to unannounced points, the couple will reside in Winterville.

The bridegroom is manager of the Trophy House, Greenville, and is a graduate of East Carolina University. The bride is attending ECU.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the fellowship hall of the church by the parents of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Albert D. Bradley invited the guests into the reception. Magnolia leaves and floral arrangements white arrangement in a silver bowl flanked on either side by three branch candelabra was served by Mrs. William Ralph Burrage of Liberty, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. John Thorne of Greensboro, aunt of the bridegroom. Bridal punch was served from a silver bowl by Mrs. Roy L. Marley of Siler City and Mrs. Dewey Tyson Henderson, aunts of the bride.

Assisting in serving were Mrs. Edward J. Steinhof of Fall River, Mass., and Mrs. Paul Connie Taylor. Mrs. Mames A. High presided at the bride's register. Good-byes were said by Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Bergman, Charleston, W. Va., aunt and uncle of the bride. Music was provided during the reception by Clyde Patterson at the piano. On Saturday morning, the bridal party and out-of-town guests were entertained at a wedding breakfast at the Heart of Wilson Rib Room by aunts of the bride, Mrs. M. Dewey Tyson of Henderson, Mrs. Howard E. Bergman of Charleston, W. Va., Mrs. Roy L. Marley of Siler City and Mrs. W. Ralph Burrage of Liberty.

The bride's table was centered with an arrangement of yellow roses. Garlands of English ivy interspersed with spring flowers centered the remaining tables. Among the honored were the bride and bridegroom, their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kirby Clifton Owens and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Radbourne Helmer and Mrs. Irene Helmer of Goldsboro, grandmother of the bridegroom.

The bride's table was centered with a silver candelabra which held yellow and white summer flowers and yellow candles. English ivy was used down the center of the table. Other tables were centered with smaller arrangements corresponding to the bride's table. A three-course dinner was served to the bridal party and out-of-town guests after which champagne toasts were made. Organ music was provided throughout the dinner by Miss Janet Bottoms of Elm City.

Petty Family Faces Challenges

the wheel. As the famous car number 43 with King Richard at the wheel speeds around the track in the Alabama 500 which will be broadcast on Saturday, May 8 at 4:30 p.m., Lee Petty will be the expert analyst for CBS-TV.

The 'first family' of stock car racing faces a new challenge when "CBS Sports Spectacular" goes trackside at Alabama International Motor Speedway in Talladega for the Alabama 500, to be broadcast Saturday, May 8, 4:30 to 6 p.m.

Lee Petty, winner of 54 Grand National races and three times national champion prior to his retirement in 1962, joins Ken Squier, CBS Sports motor sports editor, as expert analyst for the broadcast.

And, shooting for a second victory in the 500 will be Lee's son, Richard, the king of stock car racing, winner of 178 Grand National races — some 90 more than his closest competitor — and an unprecedented six times national champion.

Father and son have been cast in just about every other possible relationship on the track in one of sport's more compelling stories.

Richard was in the pit crew as a grade-school boy when his father started racing in pre-NASCAR days ("the Wild West stage of stock car racing"), graduated to become a mechanic with brother Maurice, who now builds the Petty entries, and raced against his father before Lee's retirement as a driver.

In his autobiography, "Grand National," written with Bill Neely, Richard recalls his father's fascination with cars from the day he traded his bike for a Model T when he was 16, back in 1928. The father later ran a small trucking business, but Richard remembers "daddy's front-yard speed shop," with automobiles in various stages of dismemberment, through the years Richard grew up in Level Cross, near Randleman, just south of Greensboro, N.C.

In 1948, "daddy won the first race (on a track) he was ever in, but after three races discovered he had won $900 but spent $4,000 buying and improving the cars."

After a brief retirement, Lee Petty began competing in the earliest events sanctioned by the National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing when that body was organized in 1949. Even then, the son remembers, "we raced out of the trunk of the family car," which held all the accessories necessary. The mother, and later Richard's wife, served as chief cook and cheerleader as the family built an empire.

Together, the Pettys participated in the growth of the sport from the small dirt tracks which are still the backbone of the business to the super speedways at Charlotte, Daytona and Talladega.

"One day, shortly after my twenty-first birthday," Richard writes, "I walked over to where daddy was working on a race car and said, 'I think I'd like to try driving a car in a race.' He didn't even look up from what he was doing, but he said two things. 'Okay, there's an Oldsmobile convertible over there...'" and "Hand me that five-eighths socket."

Father and son forgot family ties when they competed against each other, most notably when the father, finishing second, successfully protested a race Richard had won in Atlanta. Before a nearly fatal accident in a horrifying crash prompted the father's retirement at age 47, he set records destined to be broken by the son, was three times named "Most Popular Driver" and won a third NASCAR championship in 1959, the year Richard was named "Rookie of the Year."

Going into this season, Richard had won more than $2,000,000 in 17-plus years of racing. His best year was last year, when he took home some $340,000, winning 13 of 30 NASCAR events. Only David Pearson shares the father-and-son accomplishment of winning three Grand National victories in 1967.

Statistics can be numbing. But a look at Richard's record, put together on 50 tracks in 17 states, reveals his command of the sport. He has won 42 races at 250 miles; five at 300; eight at 400; 27 at 500; and one at 600.

A new chapter in NASCAR history is written, then, every time the Petty family takes to the track. But it will be a very special one May 8 on "CBS Sports Spectacular" when Lee helps call his son Richard's race.

LOSING 'COMPANY'

Sammy Davis is losing his 'Company' this fall, when his night club show will have a completely new and original title—"The Sammy Davis Jr. Show."

Meredith Stars As Horse Trader

Don Meredith stars in the title role as a horse trader who rescues his young nephew from a grim life in an orphanage and takes him along on his travels around the West in 1880 in "Banjo Hackett," a World Premiere movie to be colorcast on "NBC Monday Night at the Movies" May 3, 8 to 10 p.m., on Channel 6-7.

Ike Eisenmann co-stars in the program development project as Jubal Winter, Banjo's 9-year-old orphaned nephew. Chuck Connors, Daniel O'Herlihy, Jennifer Warren, Anne Francis and Slim Pickens also star in key roles.

Banjo frees Jubal from the evil clutches of Mister Creed, the stone-hearted orphanage director. The two then set out to find Banjo's present to the boy, a prize-mare which has disappeared along with a shifty local character. The deadly Sam Ivory is also after the horse for his own reasons.

Meanwhile, Banjo renews his friendship with Mollie Brannan, a young widow who runs a dairy farm and is as wary of marriage as the horse trader.

Meredith, famous for many years as one of the most knowledgeable and articulate football players in the professional ranks, has provided expert sports commentary for both ABC and NBC, and has guest-starred in television series.

A two-time All-American at Southern Methodist University, he joined the Dallas Cowboys in 1960. By 1966, the young quarterback had led his team to the NFL Championship Game, only to lose to the awesome Green Bay Packers in the final seconds.

BANJO — Don Meredith, right, stars as an itinerant horse trader who frees his nephew (Ike Eisenmann) from the grim life of an orphanage and then takes him on a new life of adventure in "Banjo Hackett" a light-hearted World Premiere western drama to be colorcast on "NBC Monday Night at the Movies" May 3 (8-10 p.m.) on Channel 6-7.

'Fun Factory' Airs

IT'S FUN TIME—Host Bobby Van is surrounded by the cast of regulars (clockwise from lower left) Doug Steckler, Betty Thomas, Debbie Harmon and Dick Blasucci— for NBC-TV's new comedy-variety game show, "The Fun Factory" to be colorcast Mondays through Fridays (12 noon-12:30 p.m.)

"This thing is wild! If it's successful, you'll see a lot of copies of it on the air soon." This is the way Bobby Van describes the new NBC Daytime TV show, "The Fun Factory," which premieres Monday, May 3, 12 noon to 12:30 p.m.

"The Fun Factory" is different from the normal game show. Not only does it include questions and payoffs for the right answers, but singing and dancing by Van — who will be hosting — and comedy sketches by his helpers, Betty Thomas, Deborah, Harmon, Doug Steckler and Dick Blasucci.

"The basic idea for the games," Van said, "is that we do comedy sketches and bits. It's an observation game. After a sketch, or after I say something, I go into the audience and ask what happened, or what was said, and they answer for money or merchandise. Anyone can win from $100 up to an automobile.

"The audience has to observe what we are doing, and I'll also throw in some trivia questions. I'll read a headline about what happened and they have to tell me whether it's true or false. All the material for the trivia will come out of the newspapers and some that are true are hysterical."

The show is taped in NBC-Burbank Studios with about 160 people in the audience, Van explained, and the set is the audience. "We are working in the round, or half-circle most of the time, and the audience loves it."

Plans are for Van to sing on each show. "I have done a song so far in each show, and I dance around a bit, but not a full number. Actually, I do an opening song and one in the middle. What we have is a variety and game show, and it's the closest thing to being live as a show of this kind can be on TV.

"When you do something like a TV special, you can go back and tape over, but we can't do that because we have games involved, and the FCC doesn't allow that. The fact is we had better get it right the first time because that's it, and so it's really a live show."

Van did "Showoffs" for six months on ABC before taking on "The Fun Factory." Before that, he did "No, No Nanette" on Broadway, for which he received a Tony nomination.

Van, now 40, has been married to Elaine Joyce who appears in the series, "City of Angels." They live in Beverly Hills and are expecting their first child this summer.

HUMPERDINCK TO GUEST ON "MISS U.S.A."

Engelbert Humperdinck will perform live on national TV for the first time in several years when he guest stars on the "Miss U.S.A. Beauty Pageant" over CBS, May 15.

Humperdinck will star in special segments of the show. His last live TV performance was on the "Ed Sullivan Show" in 1968.

'California Split' Premieres

HOT DICE— The dice are hot, but the real heat comes from Gambling Fever when George Segal (c) and Elliott Gould (with nose patch) star in "California Split" a modern comedy-drama of high-rollers making its television premiere on ABC-TV's "The ABC Sunday Night Movie" Sunday, May 2 (9-11 p.m.) on Channel 3W-5-12.

Elliott Gould and George Segal star as two high-rollers, gambling away their lives with a fever penicillin can't cure, in "California Split," a comic drama of poker chips and buffalo dreams making its television premiere on "The ABC Sunday Night Movie," May 2, 9 to 11 p.m., on Channel 3-5-12.

Robert Altman, who brought "MASH" to the screen and last year stunned the film community with "Nashville," which introduced Gwen Welles, later featured as the talentless singer in "Nashville."

Gould and Segal play Charlie Waters and Bill Denny, two very different men. Waters is a carefree, footloose rambler with no apparent source of income and no fixed address. Denny is a successful magazine editor who finds life very real and very earnest. But they share a mania: both are compulsive gamblers.

Waters and Denny are not international jet-set gamblers; their world is bounded by the garish small, time-poker parlors of Los Angeles, the local race tracks where a $2 bet is an investment in dreams, and their version of The Big Time — the green, green tables of Reno where pots of gold await the fortunate few.

The movie follows these two as they brawl, bet, love and bet again, losing part of their lives and most of their bankroll one day, winning a brighter future the next, living always for the next roll of the dice, the next turn of the cards.

The women in their lives are played by Ann Prentiss and Gwen Welles, two young ladies who relay on the kindness of strangers, gambling their charms on the dream of eternal youth.

ENTERTAINMENT CENTER

Whether or not you are famous for your parties and gracious hospitality, you should have an entertainment center. It's worth your consideration. A cheerful, flexible, much-lived-in area will fit into many family needs. This is a very clever way to arrange for the many built-ins that provide the much needed storage space. Whatever your particular family and entertainment requirements, think about a special spot for get-togethers.

That special spot for get-togethers should be comfortable as well as practical. Be sure that it has complimentary wall to wall carpeting.

Wilder Admits Skepticism

Gene Wilder, who stars in the title role in the musical fantasy "Willy Wonka and the Chocolate Factory" almost didn't take the part. "I was skeptical," he admits. "The Dahl Script was charming and beautiful but I didn't see myself doing a children's story."

Wilder was taking about the Script by British author Roald Dahl, based on his children's book, "Charlie and the Chocolate Factory." In the film, to be colorcast Sunday, May 2, 7 to 9 p.m., on NBC Channel 6-7, Wilder portrays Willy Wonka, the world's most famous confectioner who offers to five children holding lucky candy bars a grand prize, with surprising results.

After talking with the filmmakers, however, Wilder was favorably impressed and decided to take the role. "I could see that the film was going to be made on the highest satirical level for children and adults," Wilder recalls, "and gradually it started to come into focus."

"It became clear to me that Wonka had to be a series of brilliant ideas which would light up like a match. I would have to have imaginative and physical ideas for every scene. It meant day after day of practice on the trampoline. I also worked constantly with a magician learning all sorts of sleight-of-hand tricks."

Acrobatics and magic were not the only first for Wilder in his demanding role. He was also called upon to sing and dance. Leslie Briscusse and Anthony Newley, the same team that collaborated on the Broadway hits "Stop the World—I Want to Get Off" and "The Roar of the Greasepaint—the Smell of the Crowd," wrote six songs for the film.

Also requiring imagination was the creation of the fantastic chocolate factory, representing a major feat achieved by set designers and special effects craftsmen. Among the colorful, imaginative effects are a chocolate river and falls; a great chewing gun which is a three course meal; lickable wallpaper in different flavors; a fizzy lifter; and an Inventing Room; a Goose Room for golden-egg-producing giant geese; a Wonkavator that goes up, down and any which way; a burp-powered Wonkamobile; and a Wonkavision capable of shrinking and transporting any object intact.

'Keegans' Is A "Powerhouse"

A star professional football player finds his life on the line when he is accused of murdering his sister's brutal attacker, in the 90-minute world premiere movie drama "The Keegans," to be broadcast Monday, May 3, 9:30 to 11 p.m., on CBS Channel 9-11.

Featured in important roles in the drama are Adam Roarke and Spencer Milligan, with Judd Hirsch and veteran film star Joan Leslie in supporting roles.

The vicious beating of a beautiful model provokes her brother to retaliate against her attacker. New York Jet star Pat Keegan, is indicted for murder when his sister's assailant, Vinnie Cavell, is found dead following their meeting.

Denying the charges, Pat's only hope for acquittal is a lone witness he claims was in Cavell's apartment, a girl who has mysteriously disappeared.

Larry Keegan, another family member, is a thorough and fiercely competitive investigative magazine reporter. He sets out to prove his brother's innocence. Applying his best journalistic instincts, described by his detractors as often ruthless, Larry searches for the missing witness and learns of two more murders, and that all three killings have a common tie with a dangerous crime syndicate.

Adam Roarke has a variety of film credits, including roles in "The Losers," "Ensign Pulver" and "Fluffy," and television roles in "Suspense" and "The Virginian." Spencer Milligan, who has a role in the Woody Allen film "Sleeper," also has had guest appearances on "Gunsmoke" and "Land of the Lost" TV series and in "Cutter," a made-for-TV film.

Miss Leslie, a veteran actress, starred in the film "High Sierra" and portrayed Gary Cooper's wife in the classic "Sergeant York." Her own favorite role is a part in the ever-popular James Cagney film "Yankee Doodle Dandy." She also appeared in "Rhapsody in Blue," "Hollywood Canteen" and "The Hard Way."

Judd Hirsch is known to television audiences for his role in the mini-series "The Law." He has been a guest on "Medical Story," appeared in the TV film "Valentino," and had a guest role in the TV special "Fear on Trial."

KEEGANS — Tom Clancy portrays the father of the bride, played by Heather Menzies, in a closely knit Irish family, in "The Keegans" world premiere drama to be broadcast Monday, May 3 (9:30-11 p.m.) on Channel 3N-9-11.

'Phyllis', 'Rhoda' Change

Those out-of-school tales about changes in two of CBS-TV's top series — "Phyllis" and "Rhoda" — are being confirmed by the folks at MTM, where they are both produced.

In "Phyllis," the photo studio is going and Liz Torres goes with it. "We're moving Phyllis to another job," says MTM head, Grant Tinker, "which would mean having to bend the role Liz plays sideways. Rather than have Liz and not use her fully, we'd rather see her go on to important things elsewhere."

Where does this leave Richard Schaal, who plays Leo the photographer? Just about where Liz and the photo studio are at the present moment — out.

And what about the new job for our hapless heroine, Phyllis? It hasn't been decided yet, and it may be no easy task either. After all, just exactly what CAN the gal do? Tinker may end up with several more gray hairs before the series goes into production this summer.

Next year's plans call for Rhoda and Joe to separate. If you recall, he's the one who called marriage "an unnatural relationship" before they tied the knot, so — what else can you expect?

Possibilities for the series' story lines are endless, of course, with the separation an established fact.

Rita Hayworth Makes Appearance Altering TV Special Program

Rita Hayworth, in her first appearance on television in ten years, will be a special guest, assessing her views of the ideal man, in "Cosmetic Surgery: Nip's Tuck With Nature," which conducts a comprehensive examination of the capability and success of modern medical science in altering the appearances of faces and figures, on the "Monday Night Special" May 3, 11:30 to 1 a.m., on Channel 3-5-12.

Comediennes Phyllis Diller and Joan Rivers, fond of joking about their own looks, singer Jaye P. Morgan, and Jolie Gabor, whose daughters are among the world's most glamorous women, are also guests.

David Frost stars as host. Scene of actual operations, one enlarging the breasts, and another reducing them, will be seen on the program, followed by a discussion of such operations by a breast surgeon, a psychologist, two women who have had plastic surgery performed on their breasts, and a third woman who is opposed to the mentality of "breast worship."

The discussion will seek to answer a wide range of questions concerning the physical and psychological effects of breast operations for cosmetic reasons.

Hair transplants, an increasingly popular form of cosmetic surgery among men, and undertaken by a number of important figures including Sen. William Proxmire, whose hair transplant was widely publicized, will be examined in another part of the program. This segment will survey many of the processes of giving men a 'new' head of hair.

Phyllis Diller, who has had a face-lift, will give her views of this method of improving on nature and its meaning for her, and will show film of the pre-face-lift Phyllis had.

After presenting scenes from a face-lift operation, Frost, a physician, a psychiatrist and a man and a woman who have had face-lifts will answer questions from the studio audience.

The "nose job" — often a subject of comedy for Joan Rivers — will be similarly discussed following a view of a nose operation.

Program guests include George Masters, a noted theatrical makeup expert; Dr. Robert Auerbach and Dr. Sam Ayers II, hair transplant specialists; Dr. William Keavey, a specialist in cosmetic surgery of the body; Dr. Morey Parks, nose surgeon, and Dr. Frank Kamer, whose specialty is cosmetic surgery of the face.

Generation Rebroadcast

David Janssen stars as a father who finds himself up against the generation gap when he discovers his daughter and son-in-law are planning to buck the establishment and have their baby in their own way, in "Generation," to be rebroadcast on "The CBS Late Movie," Thursday, May 6, 11:30 p.m., on Channel 9-11. Also starring are Kim Darby and Carl Reiner.

Walter and Doris are married, but establishing a happily-ever-after is a struggle. Doris finds herself facing her father's frantic objections to the couple's intention to deliver the child they are expecting by themselves. Jim Bolton, Doris' dad, tries to enlist aid and advice from anyone he feels will convince the young pair that their anti-establishment attitudes in this case are extreme and even dangerous. As the arrival date grows nearer, Jim reaches out to the couple, explaining that he is tolerant of their point of view.

Doctor Will Exit This Summer

Millions of feet of film have curled through the color cameras since June 2, 1969 when Robert Young donned his white coat to speak his first lines as star of "Marcus Welby, M.D." (seen Tuesdays, 10 to 11 p.m., on ABC-TV). The series comes to an end this summer.

Unlike many series which go through trial and error traumas and growing pains, 'Welby,' during its years on the air, underwent relatively few changes. Dozens of awards and citations have been earned by the series and its stars, and citations of merit have come from numerous medical societies.

Subjects explored have ranged from abortions to venereal disease. Others were autism, teen-age alcoholism, minimal brain dysfunction, epilepsy, mastectomies, drug addiction, multiple sclerosis and the sudden infant death syndrome.

All scripts continually received the fine-tooth comb treatment. They were sent to the Physicians Advisory Council and to the American Academy of Family Physicians. Each organization had the scripts read by a group of their doctors who made suggestions or criticisms. In addition, Thomas Stern, M.D. was on call as technical advisor and Connie Izay, R.N., was the resident nurse on the set at all times to check every medical detail. The first year (prior to Ms. Izay) Dr. Kiley was seen holding an X-ray upside down. The error brought in a storm of protesting letters. No such slip was ever repeated.

Only one major casualty occurred during the years of filming the series. Brolin, astride his motorcycle, skidded on a sandy road during filming and suffered a broken leg.

Elena Verdugo took her TV role as nurse to a pair of doctors to heart. So much so that she married one, Dr. Charles Rosewall.

Life for Robert Young became complicated as he was bombarded with invitations to address medical conventions, which he did a number of times. He also addressed a graduating class of the University of Michigan's medical school.

Among the well known guest stars who have appeared on 'Welby' are David Cassidy, Richard Thomas, Arthur Hill, Ricardo Montalban, Rachel Roberts, Cloris Leachman, David McCallum, Brenda Vaccaro, Janet Blair, Dorothy Lamour, Dolores del Rio, Vera Miles, Michelle Lee, Sally Field and James Coco.

Captain Klinger Is Not Zany

He just may look like a guy who wishes he could be a gal, but he's not. Also, his choice of clothing apparel may lead you to believe that he'd much rather wear ladies' togs than gents', but, again, he really doesn't want to wear those get-ups.

Unless you've been stuck on a desert island for the past few years or far removed from a television set, you know who this character is.

He's Cpl. Klinger, that zany member of the cast of "MASH" (seen Tuesdays, 9 to 9:30 p.m., CBS Channel 3N-9-11), who continually strives for a Section-8 discharge. He's a reluctant soldier who wants out of the Army, and dons high heels, dresses, pearls, hair curlers, and anything else that he feels just might get him that discharge.

Jamie Farr, who portrays Klinger, was in and around Hollywood for years, but it took this bizarre wardrobe to catapult him into stardom.

Dyke Show." Then came "MASH" and instant fame.

Away from the set, Jamie enjoys a quiet life with his wife, Joy, and their two children, Jonas, 6 and Yvonne, 3. Seldom ever idol, he has had moderate success in the writing field, having sold several TV scripts. He has also created a number of TV game shows.

'Brenda Starr' Airs

Jill St. John brings America's favorite comic strip newspaperwoman to life in a story of mystery and adventure in "Brenda Starr," the opening attraction in a special double feature presentation on "The ABC Saturday Night Movie," May 8, 8 to 9:30 p.m.

From 9:30 to 11 p.m., "Kiss Me, Kill Me" starring Stella Stevens, will air.

When Brenda Starr gets a hot tip that billionaire recluse Lance O'Toole (Victor Buono) has arrived in Los Angeles from Brazil and has been carried away on a stretcher, she thinks she has an exclusive story, but her competitor, television newscaster Roger Randall (Jed Allan), mysteriously gets the story on the air first, and with greater detail.

Brenda and Randall learn that O'Toole and four other men — including her publisher — have been threatened with death by a band of voodoo worshipers unless each pays $5 — million. Brenda then leaves for the jungles of Brazil, determined to get the full story before Randall does.

In those dark and deadly jungles, Brenda must cope with weird happenings and odd personalities, finally becoming the target of a terrifying voodoo ritual.

"Kiss Me, Kill Me" is the story of a relentless search for the killer of a young teacher who was a pillar of the community.

Stella Stevens plays Stella Stafford, an investigator attached to the District Attorney's office; Dabney Coleman plays Captain Hogan and Michael Anderson, Jr. is Stella's usual partner, Dan Hodges.

BLACK ORCHID— The mysterious black orchid that has lured America's favorite female journalist through comic strip adventures since 1940 leads Jill St. John into the Brazilian jungles in "Brenda Starr," a world premiere movie opening a special double feature presentation on ABC-TV's "The ABC Saturday Night Movie" Saturday, May 8 (8-9:30 p.m.). schoolteacher is murdered, Stella and Dan start investigating, beginning with an advertising executive who was seen near the scene of the crime and a young muscleman with a police record who has a strange power over the executive. However, Stella's and Dan's superiors think they already have the murderer in custody and want the pair to stay out of it.

Claude Akins is a special guest star and special appearances are made by Pat O'Brien and Robert Vaughn.

They don't ride far. Revolvers in hands and reins in his teeth, Rooster returns, plunging headlong into the outlaw band. La Boeuf gives his life to rescue Mattie from Chaney - only to see her knocked into a nest of rattlesnakes.

With little time to deliver to a doctor after the rattlesnake strikes, Rooster shows more grit than anyone would have expected, pushing himself, his horse, and his luck beyond human limits to get the stricken girl across the prairie.

Meredith Is Obsessed

A winner himself most of his life, Don Meredith is unhappy with what he considers an overemphasis on winning in this country.

"Sports are fun," says the former All-American (Southern Methodist University; and professional (Dallas Cowboys) football star.

"It feels great to get out there and run around and exercise your body. And it feels good to win, too, but you don't have to win for it to be fun.

"But we've become obsessed with winning," he says. "Studies have shown that the economy of a city can rise or fall depending on whether its pro football team wins the title."

Meredith was given his views while relaxing on the set of "Banjo Hackett," a light-hearted western movie to be colorcast Monday, May 3, on "NBC Monday Night at the Movies." He portrays a horse trader drifting around the West of the 1880s with his orphaned nephew.

"My 8-year-old son Mike has just started playing ball in Little League," says Don. "I went to his first game the other day and I have to admit, my stomach was churning a little when he went to the plate the first time. And I knew he wanted badly to do well for me.

"Well, he hit a home run. And the second time up he hit another one.

"Now I'm concerned that Mike will place too much importance on winning. I keep telling him we all have to lose occasionally. So relax and enjoy the game, whatever it is."

Wayne Plays Oscar Role

John Wayne, in the characterization that earned him an Academy Award, stars in "True Grit," the film presentation of Charles Portis' best-selling novel, the "ABC Monday Night Movie" May 3, 8:30 to 11 p.m., on Channel 3W-5-12.

Glen Campbell and Kim Darby are also starred in this Western drama of a girl determined to avenge her father's death.

The year is 1880, the state is Arkansas, and Mattie Ross (Miss Darby) is a tough little girl who takes no nonsense from anyone. When her father is brutally murdered by his hired hand, Tom Chaney (Jeff Corey), Mattie puts her affairs in order and sets out for instant revenge.

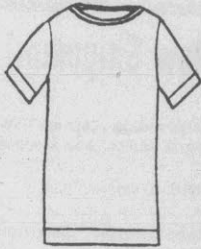

Since she isn't too particular about the company she keeps while accomplishing her goal, Mattie hires the sloppiest, drinkingest, meanest one-eyed rascal around - the never-beloved Rooster Cogburn (Wayne). Texas Ranger La Boeuf (Campbell), looking for a large reward being offered for the fugitive, joins them, over Cogburn's objections.

As the three ride deeper into Indian territory, with the drunken Rooster and the arrogant "La Bee" trading monumental insults, Mattie draws first blood herself. She sights and shoots Chaney. But he manages to take her captive and forces her companions to ride away without her.

He Likes Music With A Purpose

TONY ORLANDO — and Dawn (Joyce Vincent Wilson, right, and Telma Hopkins) stars of the popular music-variety series, "Tony Orlando and Dawn," telecast Wednesdays (8-9 p.m.) on Channel 3N-9-11 will be seen on Tuesday night next fall.

Caring for his baby sister started Tony Orlando's interest in music, an interest that has made him one of today's most popular recording and television stars.

His singing talent and audience-pleasing personality helped him land first a summer mini-series and how his prime-time variety series, "Tony Orlando and Dawn," seen Wednesdays from 8 to 9 p.m., on CBS Channel 9-11.

Orlando tells of discovering the power of music when he was baby-sitting with his sister Rhonda, who was born a victim of cerebral palsy and mental retardation when Orlando was 10 years old.

"I noticed that music was the only thing she responded to," Orlando recalls. "I'd keep the phonograph going, and found I could cheer her up with some songs and put her to sleep with others. I could even make her stop crying. Eventually, I got a guitar and started picking out tunes, and I'd sing to her."

His singing put him in contact with music publishers and, when he was 13, he started singing for demo records. In 1961, he made his first solo hit, Carole King's "Halfway to Paradise," which was followed by another success, "Bless You."

Then he moved into the music-publishing business, and was a vice president of a major record firm when he was asked in 1970 to record "Candida." He did the vocal, the background being recorded separately by the two girls who were later to become his partners, Dawn - Telma Hopkins and Joyce Vincent

Wilson. It was the first of such hits by the trio as "Knock Three Times" and "Tie a Yellow Ribbon 'Round the Ole Oak Tree," "Stepping Out" and "Gonna Boogie Tonight."

Of that turnaround in his career, Orlando says:

"I thought I was perfectly content in the business side of music, but suddenly I realized how much I enjoy performing. You have to know who you are and what you are and what you are when you're onstage."

His success has given him a heartfelt goal. On behalf of his sister Rhonda, who died last December, he hopes someday to organize a telethon to aid the causes of cerebral palsy and mental retardation.

"It's been a dream of mine for years — a charity telethon to help people like Rhonda and, more than that, to help their families, to make it possible to get therapy," says Orlando.

Homeowner Houses Outrage

How does a person react if a man comes to the door and says that a film company would like to use his house in a motion picture? He would probably be delighted, with visions of being the envy of his neighbors flashing through his head.

If the man then added the information that the said movie outfit would tear up his lawn and flower bed, throw red paint on the front of his house, dump a load of manure in his next door neighbor's swimming pool — how then would a quiet-living home owner react? His first thought would probably be to call the local police.

That exact request was made of a home owner in the exclusive and posh Rolling Hills Estate just south of Los Angeles, for the "Wednesday Movie of the Week," called "Outrage," which will be rebroadcast May 5, 11:30 to 1 a.m., on ABC Ch. 3-5-12. Oddly enough, the request was granted, not only by the party in question but by all the families on the street.

"It was the most amazing bit of cooperation I've ever seen between movie people and private citizens," says Robert Culp, who stars in the film. "Once they heard what the story was about they gave us carte blanche."

The story Culp refers to is based on a reported incident last year in another nearby Southern California community where a group of teenage boys from well-to-do homes so terrorized one family that the man's life was actually in danger, and yet the police were unable to stop the depredations. Only when the man took the law into his own hands did the attacks stop. And no one dared file charges against him.

Darren McGavin stars as a high-ranking New York police officer caught up in the intrigue and politics of the NYPD in "Law and Order," a World Premiere film to be colorcast May 6, 8 to 11 p.m., on "NBC Thursday Night at the Movies," airing on Channel 6-7.

The drama is based on the best-selling novel by Dorothy Uhnak about three generations of Irish-American cops in New York. McGavin portrays Brian O'Malley as a young officer of 25 and as a high-ranking veteran of 50.

As Brian's career flourishes, his relationship with his wife, Mary Ellen, declines and he finds solace with Karen Day, a TV reporter.

Said Welles: "I had been playing the Marchbanks role in 'Candida' opposite Katharine Cornell for about a year. In it she has a wonderful 15-minute speech.

"After I had left the play, Marlon Brando took my part. One day I was in Chicago doing my magic show.

ANOTHER HONOR FOR WAYNE

John Wayne has accepted the role of national chairman for the American Cancer Society's 1976 campaign.

Talented Cast On Daily Series

"Versatile" and "talented" are the two words that could best be employed to describe cast members of "One Life To Live," popular daytime series.

Michael Storm, who portrays Dr. Larry Wolek, actually began his 'show biz' career as a singer on the Andy Williams Show.

"There was no sudden decision to become an actor, no great moment of truth when it had to be acting or nothing," says Michael. Of course, that's the advantage of being multi-talented. With a B.A. degree in fine arts painting, Michael could very well have become an artist, a writer, or could have pushed ahead with his early singing career. All these pursuits continue to interest Michael and he sees no reason why he couldn't combine all of them. And so he does—along with being a husband and father.

Another multi-talented member of the "One Life To Live" cast is Lee Patterson (Joe Riley). During his school days, Lee was a star hockey player and boxer. He turned down offers from professional hockey teams for a career as an art designer.

While studying design at the Ontario College of Art in Toronto, Lee held a variety of jobs: he was a miner, a caddie, a waiter, a sculptor, painter, cartoonist and lumber mill worker.

He eventually landed a job as a set designer with the BBC and "that's when I first became interested in acting," he said. He made his debut at the Theatre Royal in Windsor, in "Death of a Salesman." He has also appeared in several Broadway plays.

Before joining the cast in the role of Steven Burke, Bernard Grant—"Bernie," as he likes to be called—appeared on "The Guiding Light" for 13 years, his first major run in television after years in radio.

Although his voice has been heard on hundreds of radio shows and numerous commercials, he found that it was "hard to break into radio as a leading man when I started, so I mostly did character parts, sometimes playing two different people in the same show. I learned to do all ages and dialects, and now I 'dub' a foreign movie almost every week."

"One Life To Live," now in its 8th year on ABC-TV, continues to tell the contemporary story of the interesting lives of the wealthy Lord family, the Woleks and the Rileys, who are first generation Americans, and a black couple, the Halls. These people, who in another time would not have met, are joined in their tragedies, joys and fears, and are representative of the changing world in which we all live.

Hayes Joins Son

What better way finally to retire from performing than to make it a family affair—and on one of your favorite television programs, to boot?

Helen Hayes appears with her son, James MacArthur, in "Hawaii Five-O" on Thursday, May 6, 9 to 10 p.m., on CBS Ch. 9-11., and claims it is the last public appearance she will make.

"I don't like to work anymore," she says. "I've worked all my life and I retired from the stage some time ago. Now I'm going to retire from films, too. In fact, I can't think of a better way to do it than to have appeared with my son in my last public appearance."

Miss Hayes has a home in Nyack, New York, where, she, her late husband Charles MacArthur and James lived, and a home in Mexico. Her son, a regular on "Hawaii Five O", lives in Hawaii now.

"I adored doing the script. It was darling if you can call murder darling. I love Hawaii and I'm a grandmother with two grandchildren: Charlie who's 15 and Mary who just turned 10. We were all together in Hawaii when I did the show and had a marvelous time."

Thinking back over their respective careers, Miss Hayes remembered both a difficult and easy time at the start of her son's acting ambition.

"Charlie and I didn't really encourage Jim, but then we didn't discourage him either. He was surrounded by theatrical activity in the house all the time and his first opportunity came when John Frankenheimer wanted him for a role in 'The Young Stranger' when it was first done on television. He did it and went on to do the film version.

"Then he started doing film work in the summer, and Walt Disney used him in things, and he found that doing that and then running home and going to Harvard was getting to be too much. So we had one of those late-hour talks and he decided to quit school. His father had just died and my big concern was not that he think twice about hanging a diploma on the wall, but I didn't want him to walk away from his first big battle. He took a leave of absence, but I knew in my heart that he wouldn't go back."

Miss Hayes says the only thing that kept them from doing a lot of work together over the years is that each had separate commitments.

"Walt Disney was a good family friend and asked that I appear with Jim, as his mother, in 'Light in the Forest,' but I had theater to do then and it was impossible. We certainly have been an active family."

"But now I get to play his aunt, and the experience was just a perfect way to cap my career."

CAROL BURNETT SUES PUBLICATION

Carol Burnett filed a $10 million libel suit against the National Inquirer recently for reporting that she had an argument in a Washington, D.C. restaurant with Secretary of State Henry Kissinger. Ms. Burnett alleged in her Los Angeles Superior Court suit that the Inquirer article, in the March 2, 1976, issue, had been run with "evil motive."

Pike's Peeks

By Charlie Pike, TV Showtime Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Despite tempting offers, Henry Winkler, Fonzie to "Happy Days" viewers, says no, he still doesn't want to star in his own series. The same suggestion was made to him before production began last year.

The name of Priscilla Presley's new show is "Young Again," and her co-host will be Dr. Ronald Bennett, who is the author of a best-selling novel by the same name.

Richard Thomas has been fitted with a walking cast on his broken foot, suffered while filming the TV movie, "9-30-55." Richard will be wearing the cast in the early segments of the new season's "The Waltons."

"Young and Restless" star Brenda Dickson will wed dentist boyfriend Bob Rifkin at the Bel-Air Hotel in Los Angeles in July. It's her first marriage, and daytime's Jill Foster simply can't wait. "It's absolutely marvelous!" NBC's decision to have a new invisible man in its Fall schedule, only this time under the title of "The Gemini Man," has a lot of heads shaking in disbelief. However, ABC found success when they cancelled "Toma" and created a new approach with "Baretta."

Eddie Fisher claimed the usual "irreconcilable differences" in filing for divorce recently from 4th wife Terry after but five months of marriage. But he confided to pals the real reason was because she wanted to be by his side every minute, day and night, and he couldn't take that any longer.

Freddy Fender expects a full police escort when he returns to his hometown of San Benito, Texas, for his upcoming "Freddie Fender Day," mainly because "I was jailed there 20 times." Another small-town-boy-makes-good story.

U.S. networks may go into a state of shock, if it's true that the Soviets have already put a price tag on $100 million for TV rights to the 1980 Olympics to be held in Moscow.

Refines His Skills

Adam Arkin is working hard at the craft of acting. But when asked if he is determined to achieve the star status of his father, Alan Arkin, the young man has a thoughtful answer.

Adam, who has just finished playing a demanding role in the "Portrait of a Murder" episode of ABC-TV's "Harry O," airing Thursday, May 8, 10 to 11 p.m., on Channel 3-12, says: "There's nothing I can do to make myself a star. Only the audience can do that. If an actor inspires empathy — you could almost call it love — in the people, so that they want to see him again and again, and if he has the luck to get good roles in good vehicles, then he might become a star. But you can't make people love you. Whether it's a beautiful girl or an audience, they either do or they don't."

"But," he goes on, "there's one thing I can do. That is, to work hard and, I hope intelligently, to make myself a better actor."

In "Portrait," Adam portrays Eric Kershaw, a mentally retarded teenager suspected of slaying several young women.

Adam says it was not easy getting into the role. "I knew I had to become acquainted with persons suffering retardation." With the help of the "Harry O" producers, Adam was given permission to visit the California State Hospital in nearby Camarillo, California.

HARRIET NELSON RETURNS TO TV

Harriet Nelson, widow of Ozzie, will make her first TV appearances in two years in a ABC movie-for-TV, "Smash up on Interstate Five."

She had left acting for a while, due to the illness of her husband, with whom she starred in a comedy series. They had teamed in "Ozzie's Girls" and, prior to that, the long-running "The Adventures of Ozzie and Harriet."

Ozzie Nelson died last June.

HERE WE GO AGAIN

Actor George Hamilton filed an uncontested divorce action against his wife, Alana, and he says there are no hard feelings between the two of them.

Bridges Stars In Movie

Jeff Bridges and Valerie Perrine star in "Hard Driver," a sleeper film favorite released in theatres as "The Last American Hero," making its television premiere on "The ABC Friday Night Movie," May 7, 9 to 10 p.m., on Channel 3-5-12.

Based loosely on two articles by Tom Wolfe about a stock car racer, "Hard Driver" presents Bridges as Junior Jackson, a young man who roars through the North Carolina mountains delivering the moonshine his father brews. Junior's skill at eluding both the local law and the U.S. Treasury agents finally becomes so annoying that his popular father (Art Lund) is arrested and their still destroyed.

With legal fees to be paid and no whiskey to deliver, Junior turns his steering wheel first toward a demolition derby — which he wins — and then to stock car races, where he also comes in a winner.

The sheer joy of winning something — legally — and the acclaim of the crowd, including, most especially, the affections of a beautiful girl who just loves winners (Valerie Perrine), are sweet indeed. Unfortunately, success — and affection — can be fleeting, and Junior's freedom seems to be fleeing with them, but he is hooked on the pursuit. Junior can't quit — he's a star.

DAN'S SON IN SERIES

Dirk Blocker, son of the late Dan Blocker, will have a lead role in the two-hour pilot for the new series, "Baa Baa Blacksheep," premiering on NBC next fall.

One Act Play Presented

"Camera Three" presents a one-act, two-character play, "Figures in the Sand," written by Nathan Teitel and featuring Carol Teitel and Michael Higgins, Sunday, May 2, 11 to 11:30 a.m., on CBS-TV.

The play originally was written as a workshop project at the Theater at St. Clements in New York City, and became that theater's first production of the 1974 season. "Figures in the Sand" deals with a retired married couple, the meagerness of their lives, and the sense of growing madness as they attempt to deal with the pressure of living without challenges.

Actress Relieves Syndrome

CHEEK TO CHEEK FOR HER MAJESTY THE QUEEN: (Left) Maureen Stapleton and Charles Durning find harmony and each other on the dance floor in "Queen of the Stardust Ballroom" the presentation being repeated on CBS-TV, Friday, May 7 (9-11 p.m.).

When Tony Award-winning actress Maureen Stapleton first read the script for the dramatic special "Queen of the Stardust Ballroom," she made a mental note that some singing and dancing would be required. But she hardly expected the preparation that transformed her, Cinderella fashion, from a self-confessed "klutz" into a ballroom dancer.

"When I read it," she confesses, "I thought the script called for humming a little and dancing a little dance. But when I got out to Hollywood, they were serious. A choreographer—Marge Champion, no less! A ballroom! Songwriters!"

Miss Stapleton and her co-star Charles Durning were nominated for Emmy Awards for their performances in the much-acclaimed, award-winning dramatic special, "Queen of the Stardust Ballroom," which will be rebroadcast Friday, May 7, 9 to 11 p.m., on CBS Channel 3N-9-11.

Marge Champion, Marilyn and Alan Bergman (the lyricists) and Billy Goldenberg (music) were infinitely patient with me," Miss Stapleton recalls. "The music is terrific; the songs beautiful. And Charles Durning, it turned out, used to teach dancing, so he was really great.

"I was the only klutz around. It was obvious I was not going to become a middle-aged tap dancer."

Whatever is obvious to the modest Miss Stapleton, the folks at the "Stardust Ballroom" thought she was wonderful. The regular patrons of Myron's Ballroom in Los Angeles appear in the film, and they awarded Maureen and Charles third place in a Peabody contest.

"That's not as great as it sounds," Miss Stapleton points out. "They're serious dancers, and some of them are absolutely great. In the earlier part of the play, Charlie and I were supposed to win a Peabody contest. We rehearsed and rehearsed it, but the couple in front of us, non-actors, were so great that when we passed by, the judges said: 'Would you believe, third prize?' So they had to change the script."

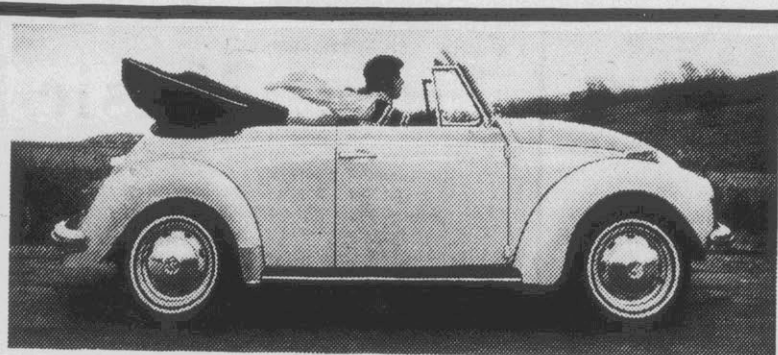

If the patrons of Myron's have become Stapleton fans, she has become no less an admirer of the world of ballroom dancing.

"It's another world," she enthuses. "It's just terrific. There was one lady we met there who's about 60, and lives about 90 minutes out of town. She drives in four nights of the week when the ballroom is open, dances every dance, and she's gorgeous. Then she gets in her car and drives back home." "There are only a few of these ballrooms left," Miss Stapleton notes sadly, "and that's a shame. I love the way people dance there."

IVES' MUSIC—Michael Tilson Thomas conducts and narrates the New York Philharmonic Young People's Concerts on Saturday, May 8 (1-2 p.m.) on CBS-TV.

Charles Ives' Music Featured

Charles Ives was born 102 years ago, on Oct. 20, 1874, in Danbury, Conn. It was during his centennial year that he became increasingly recognized by musicians and audiences alike as one of the most original, creative and, in more ways than one, thoroughly American composers this country has ever produced. And the recognition continues to soar.

Young audiences will be afforded the opportunity to experience the life, color and sheer gusto of Charles Ives' music when The New York Philharmonic Young People's Concert is presented on "The CBS Festival of Lively Arts for Young People" series, Saturday, May 8, 1 to 2 p.m.

The Ives work, Variations on "America," will be utilized to illustrate the concert's theme, "Variations on a Variation," one of music's most basic forms. Ives spent decades writing music that was unrecognized, both for its inherent quality and for its startling modernity. For years, hardly anyone played it, or even knew about it. Toward the end of his life in 1954, a few people began to appreciate Ives' achievement. In 1947, when he was 73 years old, he was awarded the Pulitzer Prize for his Third Symphony, written in 1911.

As Ives' artistry continues to be heralded, the commotion would have appealed to the composer's sardonic sense of humor. Ives always contended that there were certain advantages in not having his music played.

Thank you! Your letters were just great! You'll be hearing from me soon.

TO T. SWEET, STAUNTON, VA.: "High Chapparra" aired for 3 years in the '60's. Of the five stars in the series, Leif Erickson, Cameron Mitchell and Henry Darrow are still actively pursuing their theatrical careers—in movies and guest-starring in TV series. Mitchell's series, "Swiss Family Robinson," was recently cancelled.

TO K. HEGE, LEXINGTON, N.C.: The latest news concerning marital status of Lee Majors and Farrah Fawcett Majors is that they're still treading rough waters. No, he's not dating Lindsay Wagner ("The Bionic Woman"). She's 'that-a-way' about actor Michael Brandon.

TO MICHELLE D., DANVILLE, VA.: The decision not to put "Family" in 'prime time' was made on the basis of the pilot, which was definitely NOT family viewer material. However, all of the other segments have been candidates for prime time. Let's hope it will be a network 'regular' sometime soon.

TO B. WALKER, ROCK HILL, S.C.: Burt Ward (Robin on "Batman") is now in the business world manufacturing ball point pens. Adam West ("Batman") is seen frequently in movies for TV. Write to him c/o Lew Sherrell Agy., 7060 Hollywood Blvd., Los Angeles, Calif., 90028.

TO J. HUFFER, MT. SOLON, VA.: The scream heard in the record "Love Rollercoaster" is just that—a scream. Nothing more. The rumor that it could have been the result of a murder was started by a Calif. dee-jay, who commented that the scream "sounded like someone was being killed." Come to think about it, who DOESN'T scream on a rollercoaster!

TO H. ATTOBELLI, GREENVILLE, N.C.: The producers of "Maude" wanted a town near New York City for the series' setting. Usually, towns selected as a 'base' for a series are towns someone connected with the show are familiar with.

Spared Drama

Many of the Professional Bowling Association's most memorable moments have been captured on national television during the past 15 years that ABC Sports has presented "The Professional Bowlers Tour."

Perhaps the one that stands out most is the picture of Don Johnson lying face down after he missed a perfect 300 game by one pin while winning the 1970 Firestone Tournament of Champions.

Three bowlers have rolled a perfect game on ABC Sports telecasts of "The Professional Bowlers Tour," and thereby received bonuses of $10,000 each. Jim Stefanich did it in the 1974 Midas Open; Johnny Gunther was perfect in 1969 at the San Jose Open and Jack Biondolillo rolled 12 consecutive strikes in the 1967 Firestone Tournament of Champions.

Shumate Joins The Braves

Someone referred to it as the "finest hour" in Buffalo's six-year history in the National Basketball Association. After losing game number two of their preliminary - round series against the Philadelphia 76ers in Buffalo, the Braves' chances appeared slim as they had to return to the Spectrum in Philadelphia for the third and final game. This meant the Braves would have to defeat the 76ers twice in Philadelphia to advance to the Eastern Division semifinal playoffs. The 76ers lost only nine games all season at the Spectrum and three were to Buffalo.

With just one second left in regulation play, and Bob McAdoo at the free throw line, the Braves' hopes of extending their season rested with Mac, who just missed winning a second straight MVP award several weeks ago.

In the two previous playoff games against the 76ers, McAdoo had managed to make just 68 per cent of his free throw attempts. He hit 10 of 11 in the final, and it's doubtful if he's rarely had more pressure on him than in that final second before a screaming Spectrum crowd. But, he dropped in both shots and the Braves had new life.

McAdoo hit two more pressure free throws in the overtime and Ken Charles did likewise as the Braves won the series. The Buffalo Braves will now meet the Boston Celtics in the Eastern Division semifinal playoffs. (Assured of a seven game series by the 'experts,' CBS is planning to televise game six on Sunday, May 2, as part of a NBA doubleheader.)

Another hero of the final game with Philadelphia, John Shumate, the rookie who plays as if he has been involved in playoff competition most of his young life, was praised for exhibiting "tremendous courage." John, whose dad, the Rev. Eugene Shumate, is a Pentecostal minister, attributed his ability to play in that game to his faith in God.

When John Shumate stepped on the team bus that was to take the Braves to the Philadelphia Spectrum, he was applauded by his teammates. Just a few hours earlier he had been released from the hospital after undergoing tests to determine if there was any bleeding in his brain as a result of the mild concussion suffered in the fourth quarter of game number four. There was none and John was cleared by doctors to play.

The Braves won their last two games played against Boston this year, both after Shumate joined the team. (Shumate joined the Braves in February of this year from the Phoenix Suns in a trade that sent Gar Heard west.)

The Braves, who made believers out of a lot of basketball fans across the country, will once again be at a distinct disadvantage in the series with the Celtics, according to some of the experts. Not only will the first two games be played in the Boston Garden where Buffalo has managed to win just twice in regular season play since entering the NBA in 1970, but the Celtics also have the odd game advantage in the best - of - seven series.

Considering the extra pressure that accompanies the playoffs, the advantage may not be as great as it might appear. In fact, Ken Charles, in referring to the final game in Philly and the approaching series with Boston, observed, "It didn't hurt us and it shouldn't in Boston because we seem to play with more intensity on the road."

Whatever the case, the Buffalo-Boston rematch promises to JOHN SHUMATE — former Notre Dame All-American, was acquired on February 6 from the Phoenix Suns by the Buffalo Braves. Joining Bob McAdoo and Jim McMillian to give the Braves one of the best combined forward line shooting percentages in the league, Shumate will be looking to have an exceptional playoff as the Braves make their bid for the NBA Crown on Sunday, May 2 starting at 12:30 on CBS-TV.

Cubs Host Reds

(The Chicago Cubs host the Cincinnati Reds on Saturday, May 8, at 2:15, and NBC will televise the action.)

"I wish one of these days I have a chance to meet Mr. (Phil) Wrigley. I want to thank him for having me on his club."

"I would like to stay in this organization. But if it comes time for me to be traded, that's the way it will have to be. But I will never have anything bad to say about this club," declares Jose Domet Cardenal.

Cardenal has been an outfielder for the Chicago Cubs since Dec. 3, 1971 and is perhaps the highest salaried of the Cub players and is believed to be in the $100,000 - $110,000 range. He is now among baseball's elder statesmen.

beat the Braves in six games two years ago, the first season the Braves made the playoffs.

On the other hand, there are just five Braves remaining from the club that gave the Celtics such a severe test. The contingent includes McAdoo, Charles, Randy Smith, Capt. Jim McMillan and Ernie DiGregorio.

Revenge no doubt will be on the Braves' minds as they enter the series. And, if it doesn't go seven games, a lot of people, even some of the experts, will be surprised.

Golf Classic Presented

Caddy, champion, golfer, rancher and television commentator. The shortest biography on record, but at the same time an accurate capsule summary of Byron Nelson, one of golf's all-time greats.

On Saturday, May 8, ABC will televise the Byron Nelson Golf Classic named for the all-time golfing great.

The tournament will be held at the Preston Trail Golf Club in Dallas, Texas, and Nelson will be serving as ABC Sports' expert commentator for the telecast.

Joining him on the golfcasting team will be Chris Schenkel, Bill Flemming and Dave Marr.

This year, the prize money in the Byron Nelson Classic has been raised to $200,000, with a winner's purse of $40,000.

The Preston Trail layout is rated as one of the most difficult tests on the PGA circuit, and this year it will play to a 7,082 yard, par 71 for the Classic.

Expected to be in the field are many of the greatest names in golf, among them defending champion Tom Watson. Among the other outstanding golfers expected to compete are 1976 Masters Champion Ray Floyd, this year's leading money winner Hubert Green, as well as stars like Jack Nicklaus, Lee Trevino and Tom Weiskopf.

Watson utilized two superb rounds of golf to pull out the '75 Nelson win. Tom scored a 63 in the second round and a strong 65 on the final day to overtake third-round leaders Bob Eastwood, Rod Funseth and Bruce Crampton. The youngster won over $153,000 in 1975, finishing seventh in the rankings.

Stick Sizzles

The line on Bill Madlock, Jr., reads - Infielder. Bats right. Throws right. Acquired with Vic Harris from Texas Rangers for Ferguson Jenkins, Oct. 27, 1973. Of course, that doesn't even begin to tell the story of the 24-year-old who led the league in hitting last season with a sizzling .354 average - only the second time since 1960 that an infielder had won the National League batting crown. The Chicago Cubs, Madlock's team, face the world champion Cincinnati Reds on the "NBC Game of the Week" on Saturday, May 8, at 2:15 p.m. "From what I've seen, he's got to be the best hitter in baseball," Rick Monday of the Cubs declared. "He has one of the best short strokes I've ever seen," Hall of Famer Ralph Kiner declared. The Cubs' 9-7 victory over the Giants last June 3 highlighted a typical Madlock day at the plate. His homer tied the score in the ninth, and his double in the tenth clinched it. Bill was the league's first 6-for-6 hitter July 26. His 182 hits last season included 29 doubles, 7 triples and 7 homeruns as early and late season injuries limited his competition to 130 games. He has three straight .300 plus batting averages, starting with .351 for the Rangers in 1973, and a .313 percentage for the Cubs in 1974. Madlock's single keyed the National League victory in the 1975 All-Star game played in Milwaukee. Bill clearly sacrifices home runs for solid hits, but his small number of round-trippers doesn't seem to bother him. "It would be very tempting for me to go for the long ball in this park," says Bill about small Wrigley Field, "but what I do best is get the bat on the ball, and I'm going to stick with it." As for the Chicago Cubs, there is little that they would like to change in the hitting patterns of Mr. Madlock.

Ask Them Yourself

Want to ask a famous person a question? Send the question on a postcard, to "Ask," Family Weekly, 641 Lexington Ave., New York, N.Y. 10022. We'll pay $5 for published questions. Sorry, we can't answer others.

FOR DANIEL SCHORR

I'm sure you didn't leak the House Intelligence Committee report on the C.I.A. to "The Village Voice" just for the publicity—but how does it feel to be at the center of a controversy in which some are calling you a martyr?—J. B. Held, Washington, D.C.

Diana H. Walker

● The joys of martyrdom are vastly overrated. The publicity has turned my world upside down. I'm working harder than ever and enjoying it less. I feel tired all the time from the strain of being a cause célèbre, and I'm lonely for my family even though they are right in the house—I haven't time for them. Worst of all, I guess, is that I have lost my free speech and can't even say anything without checking it out with my lawyer.

FOR JOHN WAYNE

Is it fair to show films with deceased stars? Isn't it painful for their relatives and friends?—M. E. Wallace, Los Angeles, Calif.

● No. I see no reason why it should be a "painful" experience. It might even recall pleasant experiences in their lives, and it enables all of us who survive to remember them as they were.

FOR NATALIE COLE, singer

Have you ever encountered any racial prejudice?—R.G., Tupelo, Miss.

● Once. My girlfriend invited me to spend the day at her uncle's Florida home. When I arrived, he whispered to my friend that blacks weren't allowed in his house and that I had to go. I went—keeping my cool outside but boiling inside. Do you know what annoyed me? Not the prejudice bit but the fact that he didn't have enough nerve to tell me what he thought to my face. What a coward!

FOR JIMMIE WALKER, star of "Good Times"

Did your parents' divorce upset you?—R.T., Hutchinson, Kans.

● Not one bit. It was nothing to get excited about. Divorce has very little effect on children, as long as they can still eat, play and have somewhere to sleep. I was either in the street playing or else in my room sleeping. People always expect something outrageous when they hear of a childhood shadowed by divorce. The only change in my home life was that my father wasn't there. Also, my mother remarried, and I had a stepfather.

FOR POLLY BERGEN

How have men changed since you first started going out with them?—B.S., Anderson, Ind.

● Not very much. Guys still take me to dimly lit restaurants, where they play smoochy dance music, and send me flowers. I think the biggest difference between then and now is that the waiting time has shortened. Years ago, a gal met a guy and two weeks later he worked up courage for that first kiss. Now that (and perhaps more) happens in one evening.

FOR SEN. LOWELL P. WEICKER (R-Conn.)

Your performance during the Watergate investigations won you many admirers. Would you ever consider running for President?—Lynn Picune, Mahwah, N.J.

● No, for four reasons: 1) As I stated three years ago, no one should benefit from Watergate. People must believe we acted out of conviction, not ambition. 2) Representing a small state like Connecticut personalizes what is a difficult job and makes it fun. 3) I'm a bad partisan. 4) Having 90 percent of my life belonging to the public is enough.

FOR ARTHUR HERZOG, author of "Earthsound"

Is it really possible that a serious earthquake could strike the U.S.?—Barbara House, Framingham, Mass.

● Definitely—and not just in the West. Early in the 19th century an enormous earthquake struck the whole Midwest. Eyewitness accounts actually claim that the Mississippi River ran backwards for a short time during and after the convulsion.

FOR HILDEGARDE

I'm your age and would like to know how you always manage to look so well-dressed.—D.R., Sacramento, Calif.

● The first thing to remember is that you're not 20 years old any more. When miniskirts came out, I avoided them (knees are like a birth certificate). I always make sure my upper arms are covered (this hides anything that's sagging, and softens the face). I stay away from narrow pants and feel best in something with long, flowing lines.

FOR MEAN JOE GREENE, pro football player

I can't understand why you won't give autographs to fans. Don't you think you have an obligation to do so?—Bill Connolly, Bridgeport, Conn.

● No. I don't. If I don't want to be left in as a tackle when we play a game, then somebody else will play my position. And it's the same way with these people who don't want to take their $7.15 and buy a seat. Somebody else will be there. Just as it's their prerogative to ask for an autograph, it's my prerogative to refuse.

FOR THE "ASK THEM YOURSELF" EDITOR

Was drinking responsible for Richard Burton's latest break-up with Liz?—S.J., Scottsbluff, Neb.

● No. Burton, who admits to leaning heavily on the bottle for five years, claims he now has only a glass of rare Burgundy wine now and again. He looks back on those five years as a horrible experience, one he never wants to repeat. Dick blames a personality clash for the split: "She's loving and lovable. Gives back exactly what she receives. The truth of the matter is that we find it impossible to live together—and can't live apart, either." The separation came just before Burton's Broadway opening in "Equus." He gave a flawless performance in spite of his marital problems. Said his friend, Producer Alex Cohen: "Liz and Dick are such pros that nothing in their private lives has any effect whatever on their work."

Clues, in Her Writing, To the Real "Squeaky" Fromme

Huntington Hartford Analyzes the Handwriting Of the Girl Who Wrote Us From Prison

FAMILY WEEKLY Editors showed Lynette Fromme's letter to the famous financier and art patron Huntington Hartford, who also happens to be a handwriting expert and the author of "You Are What You Write." (Macmillan, $4.95). Here is Mr. Hartford's analysis:

By Huntington Hartford
Especially for FAMILY WEEKLY

In analyzing "Squeaky" Fromme's handwriting, my attention was immediately directed to the fact that I was dealing with a most unusual script—and personality. I thought of that cliché about genius and madness being closely allied. The madness here is clear—for what sane person would attempt to assassinate a President with the horrendous and certain prospect of a lifetime in prison? But, to a graphologist, the intelligence and creativity of this script are also apparent. Squeaky Fromme must indeed possess some kind of evil genius to have been able to assume (as I heard she did) the mantle of her lover Charlie Manson on behalf of his gang; and, indeed, the attempt itself on the President's life was hardly the work of a petty crook.

Yes, we see intelligence here in the indentation of paragraphs and margins. We see a sort of alertness and character in the ebb and flow of the writing's rhythm, giving a beauty to the page, reminiscent of the controlled flourishes of some ancient manuscript. Though not abundant, we do see occasional "figure-8 g's"—where the small "g" is made like a figure 8 or some portion of it. This is often a sign of intellectual depth.

We see an even, forward-leaning slant, very common among outstanding people. We see many long T-bars (though almost all with a certain flourish of questionable meaning), a sign of strength rarely ignored by the graphologist.

Where, then, is the madness in Squeaky Fromme's writing?

Before I answer this question, let me point out that graphologists have done little work on the relationship of handwriting and mental disease, and there is extremely little literature on the subject to draw from. But the madness in Miss Fromme's writing is fully as apparent as at the beginning of words, but the beginning strokes themselves are often highly abnormal.

At the beginning of "said" in the first the sanity. For example, the script is abounding not only in unnecessary beginning strokes (or marks of immaturity) few lines of the letter, for instance, is something which looks like a small "i" without a dot. Again, most of the primary beginning strokes (before the letters "a," "c," "d" and "g") are attached not to the left edge of the word—or the beginning edge—but to the right edge, hanging like a bit of string below the line. And frequently the beginning strokes which do start at the front of words are flying belligerently in the air instead of rising meekly from the basic line, as they usually do.

Next, the rhythm. Rhythm in writing may sometimes tend toward angularity, arcades, arches or garlands, visualized in terms of the small letter "m." An extreme mechanical roundness in the form of arcades is generally looked upon negatively by graphologists. They see the personality of the writer hiding beneath the arch in a manner that suggests hypocrisy. The clockwise nature of the pen in the movement suggests slow, cautious writing which, if accompanied by other factors, is often equated with mental disease or crime.

I also see many signs of violence and stubbornness. I assume from the general nature of the script that Miss Fromme is fairly well-educated. Why, then, the "misplaced" capitals at the beginning of certain words, such as Life and Earth and Everyone and Public Opinion? Graphology has paid little attention to this characteristic, but I made a thorough study of it a number of years ago at Sing Sing prison, and I became convinced that the sudden and impetuous upward strokes of these capitals had an antisocial origin. Admittedly, it is hard to know to what extent illiteracy plays a part, but illiteracy was certainly no excuse for the much capitalized writing of Errol Flynn, whose favorite hobby was stealing the pens of innocent fans!

The Article to Which Miss Fromme Responded

Last December 7, FAMILY WEEKLY ran an article titled "How America Should Spend Its 200th Birthday: The Bicentennial Through a Child's Eyes." The article consisted of letters from children, compiled by Jane Montgomery, a first-grade teacher in Elizabethton, Tenn.

We received many complimentary letters about the article, but none more laudatory—or more surprising—than a rambling handwritten letter from a woman who signed herself "Lynette Fromme."

Lynette, also known as "Squeaky," is serving a life sentence for the attempted assassination of President Ford. Is it a contradiction in terms that she was "reached" by those innocent, funny letters from children?

How America Should Spend Its 200th Birthday:

The Bicentennial Through a Child's Eyes

Recently, a first-grade teacher at the East Side School in Elizabethton, Tenn., called the students up to her desk and asked them, "How should America celebrate its 200th birthday?" As they answered the question, Jane Montgomery took down what they said on a typewriter. Here are some of their replies.

Compiled by Jane Montgomery, First Grade Teacher at the East Side School, Elizabethton, Tenn.

A Special Section for the Holiday Season

By Shane

We ought to clean up this mess. America should be cleaner for its birthday. And we ought to stop fighting too. The army has been fighting for 200 years. We should celebrate the White House by blowing bells and wreaths on it.

What Squeaky Wrote . . .

Dear Jane Montgomery—

I read a series of comments by your kids (on the bicentennial) and it was the most meaningful literature I've read in a long while.

That is what is lacking in all the drivel that is printed & said these days—meaning—and it's the lack of it that is killing Life.

A very close friend of mine wrote me once:

"The word 'God' holds all the other words up. Without any real truth, trust, faith, wisdom & love—all the words MEAN NOTHING. Words w/o truth are baby's goo—and even baby's goo goo or a bird's song or a dog's bark are more truth than the Earth's money minds."

I can assume you're a "nice" person who doesn't like to look at the bad side—but I can guarantee you that the condition of the country will get worse because people are refusing to face the bad—as it is shameful what we are pouring into our Earth's vital bloodstreams—the waters. The real horror or sadness or outrage (which ever stage you might be in after apathy) is that Everyone Knows it—the kids most of all and no amount of $ in the world is excuse for depriving them of a clean world. Juvenile crime is up because of it. A self-destructive world forces them to either inflict the problems on themselves—or back on the parents & governments.

Much must be understood. It is not that I come to this country & world with a barrage of the problems everyone knows without solution. I have been yelling solution but am not faced. My solution has been lied of, slandered and sensationalized, sold for money, & murdered w/o understanding because folks don't want to hear of the bad side in order to clean it up. My friend is my solution—that he be heard—as he has deep thought understanding of all of the thoughts that motivate people—yet he sees through the eyes of a child. When he was 9 years old he was put in reform school for having no parents. He has been locked up for 29 years, & he knows the bad. I never called my friend Christ. But I ask this—where did Jesus Christ pass before leaving us last? Barrabas was with Public Opinion in the money.

Lynette Fromme

Finally, I am sure that Squeaky Fromme's writing is one of the most stubborn on record. Many of the words have long downward initial or ending strokes which remind me of stakes driven into the ground: these include: Montgomery, meaningful, read, drivel, printed, said, Life, God, and, will, shameful, all, world, slandered, and, murdered, child, parents, bad. This list, gives dire warning of the bubbling and sultry depths of that very active volcano called Lynette Fromme.

Who can explain the phenomenon of such violence, the complex motives that caused this slender girl, this would-be latter-day Charlotte Corday, to make such an attempt on the life of the mildest and gentlest President who ever flew through the air on skis or bumped his head on an offending doorway? I can't. Can you?

By Patricia Baum

Before Melissa Gilbert won the part of Laura Ingalls on "Little House on the Prairie," she was a typical little girl. She collected dollhouse furniture, played ball with neighborhood children on her front lawn and enjoyed walks and picnics with her friends and pet beagle. Today, after working on the show for two years, 11-year-old Melissa is the best-known child actress on TV. In fact, she and Tatum O'Neal of the movies are perhaps the only real child "stars" around today.

Yet despite her stature, Melissa is still basically the same, unaffected girl. Really! When I visited her recently, I saw no resemblance to the foot-stomping, tantrum-throwing Child Star. Instead, she seemed surprisingly natural. After rattling off a favorite joke, putting her dog through his repertoire of tricks and showing off her baby sister Sarah, she said, "You see? My life at home is just like everyone else's."

Melissa's life at home includes 8-year-old Jonathan, who appears occasionally on "Little House" as Willie Oleson. "We fight as much as other brothers and sisters do," explains Melissa. "Jonathan knows just what bothers me, and so he does exactly that. At dinner he gobbles his food down in one bite and makes weird noises. He runs into my room and throws a pillow at me. And he sneaks in and takes my things. Once I found my favorite doll in his room with the head pulled off. So I've been paying him back by taking his toys!"

Then she added, "But I think in about four years I'll be old enough to appreciate him more. Once he fell and cut his head open on the coffee table. I was so relieved when I learned he wasn't going to die and only needed three stitches. Then there was the time he got hit in the eye by a swing I was on. I felt so guilty. I went into his room with an ice pack and popsicle for him. But instead of putting the ice on his eye, I accidentally stuck the popsicle in it, and then I felt even worse than before!"

How to Raise a TV Star

A Chat With TV's Melissa Gilbert and Her Mom

"It's harder for me to make and keep friends because other children get jealous and resent me. A few of my old friends have turned against me."

Unlike child stars of the past, Melissa does not live in an adult world. She manages, for the most part, to enjoy an active social life with friends from the neighborhood and from the private school she attends during work-breaks. "But it's harder for me to make and keep friends," she said, "because other children get jealous and resent me. A few of my old friends have turned against me. They go around saying, 'Melissa is a conceited brat and a weirdo.' Or they'll call up and say, 'I think "Little House on the Prairie" is a bunch of baloney!' Then I'll tell them, 'One more call and I'll have your number traced and you'll be eaten by the police!'"

But Melissa feels that losing some friends and some privacy are small prices to pay for her work, which she loves intensely. "I am Laura," she said. "We're both outgoing and somewhat mischievous. We both like the outdoors and all kinds of animals. And I love 'living' in the 1870's, when there was no pollution and everyone rode around on horses and in covered wagons."

She also likes the cast and crew. "Michael Landon is the most wonderful man! I just love him. He's always saying funny things and playing games with us. And when he's directing, he explains very clearly what's happening. Sometimes if it's a sad scene he can make me cry just listening to his description!"

"I only went to one acting class —and I was a total flop."

Melissa's career began at the tender age of 2, when her mother at the urging of a friend, let Melissa appear in a baby-clothing commercial. When she was 7, her mother took her to an agent. She promptly got 10 commercials in a row, then began appearing in dramatic parts on programs such as "Gunsmoke" and "Emergency." "I only went to one acting class," she said, "and I was a total flop. I was asked to pretend I was in my room looking for my pet elephant. I checked the drawers and closets and under the bed. Later I realized what I did was really dumb because a pet elephant would be standing out where I could see it!"

Melissa's great natural talent may be inherited from her comedian father, Paul Gilbert, or from her mother, Barbara Abeles (former actress Barbara Crane). "I first became aware of Melissa's gift for acting," said Barbara, "when she appeared on 'Emergency.' She did a scene in which her father was picked up for being drunk. Her expression was extremely touching."

Despite Melissa's interest and ability, Barbara took a cautious attitude toward her career. "I carefully limited the number of assignments I let her take. I didn't want her schooling to suffer. In fact, I was reluctant to let her work in a series at all! But this one was so special! So far, she has managed to do well both in her lessons on the set—she gets three hours a day by law—and at the school she attends when not working."

Barbara considers it best to remain in the background and not involve herself too closely in Melissa's work. "In the beginning," she says, "I gave her some advice about acting—about how to let go of her emotions and really feel she is Laura instead of just pretending. But I don't make a habit of analyzing and discussing her work. I don't even hang around the set. And when Melissa went on location for three weeks, I stayed for one week and then sent a governess to be with her the other two weeks. I'm not the typical doting stage mother at all because I have the rest of the family to look after and because I don't want to give Melissa the idea that she's the center of everything."

Around home, too, Barbara has treated Melissa in an ordinary way. "Although we have help, Melissa has certain chores she must do, such as clearing the table," she says. "I see that she makes her bed and keeps her room clean. And if she doesn't do what she's supposed to, I'll deny her privileges."

What does she think her daughter is like today? "Melissa has perhaps one little shortcoming," says Barbara. "At times she is somewhat careless with her belongings. She'll break a toy or lose an article of clothing. But I certainly wouldn't consider her spoiled in any way. And she has many good and unusual qualities for a child. She is very responsible—she learns her lines and performs well because so many people depend on her. And she's extremely level-headed. She considers her work a great experience while it lasts and knows she will always have wonderful memories of it. But her happiness doesn't depend on it. So if all this ended tomorrow, Melissa would just get excited about something else."

Sports Mini-Profile

JIM "CATFISH" HUNTER:
How He Learned "Control"
On the Farm

Jim "Catfish" Hunter became the highest-paid baseball player in history when he signed with the New York Yankees last year for an estimated $3.75 million, but he continues to live the quiet, homespun life of a North Carolina farmer. In the off-season, he runs his soybean and peanut farm in his home town of Hertford and spends his spare hours hunting and fishing. Even during the baseball season in New York, he skips the expensive night spots and goes right to his home in Norwood, N.J. He followed the same pattern when he was with the Oakland A's. "I only went into the city of San Francisco once in the seven years I was out there," he says. "I just don't like cities." ... Hunter got off to a slow start last season, but he soon regained his form and wound up with 23 victories and a 2.58 earned-run average. It was the fifth year in a row that he had won 20 or more games. ... Hunter is not as fast as a lot of other pitchers; the key to his success is his remarkable control. "I learned control around the farm," he recalls. "We had a little hole in the barn door, and we'd all throw at it and see who could hit the hole. I had four brothers, and the one who couldn't hit the hole had to do all the chores, so I really worked hard to develop perfect aim." Hunter also feels that his hunting skill has helped sharpen his mound talent. "When you turn the ball loose, your arm's out in front of you just like a rifle. You have to line up your eye, the ball and the plate the way you line up your eye, the rifle sight and the target." ... Hunter's career record in post-season play is 7-1, with a perfect 4-0 World Series mark. He has been selected for seven All-Star teams and won the Cy Young award in 1974. ... He's done little with his new-found wealth. "I'm not a man who's about to change his life style," he says.

The Diet Watch

Help You Lose Weight?

If a hostess offered you a dish of unshelled almonds, would you be less inclined to accept a few than if she offered you a dish of shelled ones? In tests made by Dr. Devendra Singh, an associate professor of psychology at the University of Texas in Austin, it appears that obese people are so unwilling to work to get food, that when 19 obese people were offered unshelled nuts, 18 refused them. But when they were offered shelled almonds, virtually all the obese people ate them. Further research by Dr. Singh reveals that when an obese person knows that shelled or unwrapped food can be obtained, his emotional reaction is to spurn the food that's wrapped or still in the shell. "It is rather impressive," comments Dr. Singh, "that merely by wrapping cashews we can induce a dramatic reduction in eating by obese subjects." When giving a party where you generally serve candy and nuts, why not reduce temptation by filling bowls with unshelled nuts? And if you want to wrap cashews in silver foil, you can always tell your guests you've discovered they stay fresher that way.

People and You

Can You Really
Let the Kids Decide?

You may be confusing your children by acting like one of their pals instead of their parent. Child psychiatrist Milton Engel of Georgetown University says many children are in emotional trouble because their mothers and fathers have been so busy acting like friends, the children have been left without the adult guidance they need. These pal-parents react to controversial topics with, "Oh, we have faith in their ability. We let them decide that for themselves." Under the guise of being the child's friend, the parent escapes the hassle of making decisions and enforcing standards. And the parents mistakenly believe it also gains them the child's love. It doesn't work like that, says Dr. Engel. Instead youngsters who are allowed to "decide for themselves" often develop a variety of problems from being forced to make decisions that are beyond their young ability. Unable to judge the consequences properly, they are then thrown into experiences that they are too immature to cope with. This can lead to "a distorted view of the world and their parents."

Jobmanship

Men and Women Differ

There's a difference between the way men and women go after the pay they think they deserve.

A man may take a while collecting his courage, but eventually he'll ask the boss. Most women, however, use an approach that has been dubbed If-I'm-Efficient-I'll-Be-Noticed-and-Rewarded. Probably because of social conditioning, women fail to ask for pay increases or promotions they sincerely believe they've earned. Instead they toil conscientiously and wait for their supervisor to offer a raise or promotion. If the boss is a man, he's probably totally unaware of the women's viewpoint. There are always exceptions, but the usual boss's outlook is, "If subordinates don't ask for a raise, they must be satisfied." This situation can explode in both the manager's and women's faces. The boss may one day discover a valued woman subordinate is suddenly giving notice and is off to a better job. This comes as a perfidious shock to him. After all, she never intimated she wasn't perfectly content. And of course the woman leaves feeling "unappreciated"—when that may not have been the case at all.

MoneyWise

When "Saving" Wastes Money

Is it ever a mistake to be thrifty? Yes, say financial experts—when you go to extremes to show how careful you can be about spending money. "See how economical-I-am" is often a trap that turns saving into wasting. For example, when a carpenter estimated it would cost $400 to build bookshelves and storage cabinets across a couple's living-room wall, the couple decided they could do it themselves for half the price. After many weekends of work—plus $220 worth of lumber and hardware—the job was finished. But soon the couple noticed that cabinet doors didn't close right, and the bookshelves were sagging and warping. They had to get the carpenter to fix things. Their total cost was $430—more than the original estimate. Here are some other instances of when over-economizing can be poor judgment: "doing-it-yourself" to save on home repairs when you aren't really handy; buying "bargains" that aren't; compromising on quality when it only means having to replace the item sooner; and pouring money into repairs on old appliances when it would be more sensible financially to buy new ones.

More cigarette VS. your cigarette.

1. Is your cigarette as long and as lean as our cigarette for more pleasure, more style?
 2. Does your cigarette draw as easy as our cigarette for more tobacco enjoyment?
 3. Does your cigarette smoke slower than a 100 mm cigarette for more smoking time?
 4. Does your cigarette come in a burnished brown wrap so it looks as good as it smokes?
 5. Does your cigarette sit neat in your hand like it was made for it and fit your face like it found a home?
 6. Does your cigarette give you all this yet cost no more than a 100 mm cigarette (which means more for your money)?
- 4 If the answer to all these questions is yes, your cigarette is probably More. Because there's only one cigarette that's so much more. More.

Novelist James Farrell

By James T. Farrell: Finding My Irish Past Along Shannon's Shores

In a recent trip to Ireland, novelist James T. Farrell, best known for his "Studs Lonigan" trilogy, took a boat trip with friends, Sean and Pat, down the Shannon River. It was his third trip to Ireland—but the first in 20 years. Here are some eloquent excerpts from letters he wrote home to his wife.

Dearest,

We drove through the town of Mullingar. My grandmother had spoken often of the Mullingar Fair. Sometimes she would seem sad, at other times excited as she described the wonders of Mullingar.

Mullingar turned out to be a small town, with a steady flow of automobile traffic along its main street. It was part of another, newer world, much different from the Mullingar of my grandmother's girlhood.

Driving through it, my thoughts had been of the change which is measured by time. But once beyond the town, once the greenness and the stillness had reappeared, my thoughts were full of a past unknown to me, a past of the little town of Mullingar, of Westmeath and of the River Shannon more than a hundred years ago. I felt an almost emotional pain for a lost past that I could never know. I was traveling to board the launch, to spend a few days on the River Shannon in the present; but I was also looking for that vanished, all-but-forgotten past. I, like millions of other Americans abroad, prowl the past so that we can understand today. I was hoping to know my own feelings and emotions, and to experience new feelings and emotions and to imagine the feelings of others, now long since dead, who had shadowed my own life . . . and of still others who are yet to be born in my fiction.

It was late afternoon when we picked up our boat in Newton Falls. Soon I was on a launch moving over the dark, wrinkling surface of the River Shannon flowing. As a boy I used to play a record on our Victrola about the River Shannon flowing. It, along with "My Wild Irish Rose" and "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling," was one of my favorite songs.

The River Shannon is one of the most beautiful rivers in the world. It has long been an inspiration for creativity and reflection, for meditation, for sentiment—and for sentimentality. And even though I had been in Ireland twice before, I had only seen the river from the air while landing or taking off from Shannon Airport.

Dearest,

From time to time the sky turns dark and threatening, but we've come to accept the weather as part of the atmosphere and as part of the charm and poetry of Ireland. Pat made the comment that if it weren't for the weather, Ireland would sink into the sea from the weight of the people on it.

Dearest,

I came down with a cold. I had no sooner set foot on the jetty at Carrick-on-Shannon when I met a stranger who happened to be a doctor. I explained my problem. I was just starting on a trip; I wanted to be comfortable; I would not like to burden my friends. Could he recommend something to suppress a developing cold? He led me to where his car was parked and opened the trunk. It was a veritable drugstore. Americans take far too many pills, he said, and he didn't approve of this. But, considering the circumstances, he would give me something.

Reaching for a bottle of pills, he asked me if I could stop after one or two brandies. I said yes.

"Good, take a drink or two with these."

The next morning we awoke to a gray day. The sun appeared only fitfully, but it did not rain. We got off in the launch, still going downstream. Along the banks, the fields were green and beautiful. The sheer beauty along the Shannon is continuous. There are few houses to be seen. Fields and woods. Sun and sky and water. Herds of cattle grazed. Many seemed to be carved of stone, except for their flicking tails. From time to time, a gnarled tree with a branch twisted and turned and shaped like a wooden gargoyle would separate itself from other trees lining the banks. The world was infinitely quiet. The world beyond what was immediate and visible seemed to blur away, a blur of dimly remembered frictions and pressures. Other than the sounds of our motor, there were only the noises of nature. The past became now; and now became then. The thousands of days, of yesterdays, that had crowded over and disappeared above these waters were the same as these days. It seemed that there never had been, never could be, anything but quiet on these waters. And yet, the River Shannon has known the violence which marks the whole long history of man. There had been war by the Shannon. The Vikings sailed up the Shannon spreading fire and death. So had the English. And once there had been commercial traffic on the Shannon. Now, save for relatively few barges, there are only pleasure craft.

Clonmacnoise, one of the oldest ruins in Ireland, is on the Shannon beyond the city of Athlone. What interested me most in Athlone was the "Steeple of Athlone" of which my grandmother spoke. This is the Gothic tower of St. Mary's Cathedral, a Roman Catholic Church completed in 1860. I went to see the tower at midnight. It pointed towards a moonlit sky, through which thousands of bright shiny stars had been carelessly flung like jewels tossed upon an enormous rug. The tower seemed to belong to the sky. I looked at it. It had been one of the wonders of my grandmother's girlhood. It was a visible and tangible memorial of that lost past which I had been looking for.

And I had found it.

James Farrell, will have his 50th book, "The Dunne Family," published by Doubleday later this year.

"Lord, teach us to pray"

The need for prayer—especially in time of danger or anxiety—is instinctive in almost everyone. Yet many people regard it chiefly as a means of obtaining God's favors. And when everything they pray for is not granted, they often wonder if God is really listening.

Christ's teachings on prayer, however, reveal that God does indeed hear and answer each of our prayers . . . but not necessarily by granting every favor we want or think we need.

To help you understand why this is so, we have prepared a special pamphlet explaining the true meaning and purpose of prayer. You will learn from it how Christ gave us the Lord's Prayer not merely as words to be recited, but as the model for perfect prayer. And you will learn, too, the truth of Our Lord's promise: "Ask, and it shall be given you."

Fitness is my business

I RECOMMEND BULLWORKER®
BECAUSE IT'S FAST,
IT'S EASY AND IT REALLY WORKS!

Bob Breton says "I earn my living by keeping top executives in peak physical shape. My clients insist on maximum results with minimum time and effort. I recommend Bullworker because it's fast, it's easy and it really works."

Most men know they're not getting enough exercise to keep their bodies in shape.

Ten years as a fitness coach has taught me one important fact: most men will not stick with a training program long enough for it to do them any good, unless the training is fast, easy and shows results right away.

Bullworker gets a top score on all three counts:

—it's fast: each exercise takes only 7 seconds and the complete workout can be done in about five minutes

—it's easy: any man between 15 and 65 in good general health can perform the full program without getting tired —you see your results right from the very first day on the built-in Powermeter gauge. After two to three weeks of regular training, most men can expect to measure an extra inch or two of muscle on their shoulders, chest and biceps—and an inch or two less flab around the middle.

And that's just the start: there are specialized exercises for building-up or trimming-down any part of your body you want to. What's more since Bullworker training is progressive, you perform better each time. Yet the training always seems easy since with every workout your strength increases by about 1%—that's an increase of up to 50% in just three months, and I've seen many men go on to double and even triple their strength. For my money, Bullworker is the most advanced home trainer on the market. I use it and recommend it to any man who wants to get back in top shape fast.

Jackie's Horoscope shows... super fame and fortune were her destiny!

by Barbara Walters

An astrological research team was recently assembled in Los Angeles to study Jackie's life. They found that at the very minute of her birth, her horoscope predicted, that super-fame and super-fortune were her destiny!

Let's take a look at some of the actual facts revealed by Jackie's horoscope. Jackie's Sun is in Leo, indicating a ruling role in life — and in her adult life she became as close to a queen as an American could get — the First Lady of the land!

In her horoscope, Pluto 18° Cancer, predicts that the men in her life will be connected with the liquid elements. This prediction certainly came true. The late John F. Kennedy was an avid amateur sailor and in the Second World War he first gained national attention for his daring exploits as a P.T. boat captain. And Jackie's second husband, the late and fabulously wealthy Aristotle Onassis, built his legendary fortune by establishing a vast shipping empire.

The planetary aspect Sun Sextile Jupiter in her horoscope shows that public service and publishing are major career interests. She won the Emmy Award for public service and has recently accepted an editorial position with a leading national publishing firm.

Jackie's rising sign is ascendant 28° Scorpio revealing that she loves travel and adventure. And her jet-setting life has been one of the world's most publicized adventures.

Venus 22° Gemini and Jupiter 10° Gemini in her horoscope indicate wealth in the house of partners — and both of Jackie's husbands have been wealthy.

One of the most telling predictions of all was the tragic day of John F. Kennedy's assassination. Transit Mars and Transit Venus were opposite Venus in Jackie's chart indicating grave danger to her husband. Transit Pluto was conjunct to her Mars, a heavy aspect of a dangerous situation in public groups.

HOW ASTROLOGY AFFECTS YOU

Jackie Onassis, of course, is not unique in the uncanny accuracy of her horoscope. Everyone born has a completely personal horoscope that is totally different from that of any other person in the entire world. To illustrate how astrology affects everyone, I'd like to share with you some of the research findings of the Institute for Applied Astrology.

"Hair" the most successful musical of all times had a full time astrologer. He advised them on every single step. He told them when and where to open. He got top credit right along with the writers and the director!

In 1908, an astrologer, John Hazelrig, said that every 20 years, when the Transits of Saturn and Jupiter are conjunct (come together) the President who took office that year would die in office. Lincoln, Garfield, McKinley, Harding, Franklin Roosevelt and Kennedy did exactly that!

Carol Richter is astrologer to Hollywood. Hundreds of the famous have used his Transit astrology. People like Marlene Dietrich, Gloria Swanson, Ronald Colman, Tyrone Power and Danny Kaye. Carol Richter became an astrologer because Evangeline Adams, who was astrologer to Kings, Queens and financiers, told him astrology was his vocation according to the stars.

Hitler was conquering Europe

JACKIE'S ASTRO-PORTRAIT

Jackie is probably the world's best known woman. But, like the rest of us, she was born into this world at a time and in a place over which she had no control. However, as shown in her horoscope cast by our astrological research group, fate had great plans for her future. To really get to know Jackie and her fabulous life you've got to read about what her horoscope says.

as long as he followed his Horoscope as prepared by Karl E. Kraft. But when Kraft's charts told Hitler it was not the time to turn East to Russia, Hitler fired him. That was the beginning of the end for Hitler. (See Wm. Shirers "The Rise and Fall of the Third Reich".)

Countless brilliant scientists, writers and geniuses through the ages have believed in Astrology. Great men like St. Thomas Aquinas, Sir Roger Bacon (father of modern science), Shakespeare, Sir Isaac Newton, Carl Jung, Einstein, and J. P. Morgan have all openly agreed that astrology works!

MODERN SCIENCE PROVES ASTROLOGY WORKS

Recently in France a famous scientist named Michel Gauquelin decided to prove that Astrology was a fake. So he attacked it scientifically! In France the time of birth is on every birth certificate, so he was able to hire Astrologers to cast the horoscopes of 576 famous teachers of medicine. He was astonished to discover that most of them had Mars and Saturn heavily influencing their character! These are the signs that show a natural talent for healing. He refused to believe his own evidence, so he checked the horoscopes of famous lawyers, soldiers, politicians and artists. He found that in every single instance the people that were successful, were "doing what comes naturally" as shown on their astrological charts. Unfortunately the opposite also holds true. The people who fail at their work and in their lives are the ones who do the wrong things. They are square pegs in round holes: they are plumbers who should be doctors, mechanics who should be engineers, etc.

Limited Research Program Invitation

WHY WE GIVE YOU THE WORLD'S ONLY TOTAL HOROSCOPE FOR JUST OUR COPYING COST

by Lois Rodden, A.F.A.—P.A.I. Chief Astrologer

There are a lot of computer horoscopes on the market — and most of them are okay as far as they go. But that's just it — they really don't go far enough! Only the Institute for Applied Astrology can prepare your TOTAL HOROSCOPE for you because only we have "transits" stored in our giant computer.

Where the sun, moon and planets happen to be at the time of your birth is what makes up your Natal (birth-date) Horoscope. But that's only the beginning of a TOTAL HOROSCOPE, yet that's all you get from other computer horoscope companies. You see, the sun, moon and planets keep right on moving. They are in Transit. And day after day they keep forming new angles with your birth chart. These Transits show every single important period of your life! And no horoscope that does not include these transits is a TOTAL HOROSCOPE.

Now, for a limited time only, if you will help us with our research program, you can get your own personal TOTAL HOROSCOPE for just a duplicating charge. Since your TOTAL HOROSCOPE must be constructed anyway for our research you may have an exact duplicate copy for only $3.00 to cover our printing cost, plus just 55¢ for postage and handling. The preparation, the casting, and the professional analysis are provided without charge! To join our research program and get your TOTAL HOROSCOPE, here's all you do. Write down your time and place of birth, as exact as possible, on a piece of paper and send it to me. I'll cast and analyze your TOTAL HOROSCOPE as part of our current astrological research program.

Your TOTAL HOROSCOPE will run from 14 to 18 pages — up to 10,000 words (three to four times larger than ordinary Natal (birth-date) Horoscopes) — and here are just a few of the important things it will do for you:

- 1 Your TOTAL HOROSCOPE will make you know yourself. That means you can make use of your strong points and fight off your weak ones.
- 2 Your TOTAL HOROSCOPE will analyze your character in depth giving you psychological facts that some people pay analysts a fortune for.
- 3 Your TOTAL HOROSCOPE will give you new insights into the talents and abilities you never before gave yourself credit for having.
- 4 Your TOTAL HOROSCOPE will show you how and when to use these talents to open up a better life and future.
- 5 Your TOTAL HOROSCOPE will show you how to get along with more people... thereby enriching your social, business and sexual life.
- 6 Your TOTAL HOROSCOPE will show you the people you are compatible with. It will make you understand how to use those people to get ahead. This covers every aspect of living — family, friends, business associates, partnerships, romances, etc.
- 7 Your TOTAL HOROSCOPE will show you how to form meaningful and exciting personal and sexual relations with the right partners —

HERE'S HOW ASTROLOGY WORKS

Most people have heard about the rich, famous and successful people who use astrology practically full time, but they still think that astrology is the "fortune cookie" horoscope they read in their daily paper, or the Natal horoscope that they can buy for a few dollars. But this is not true, for astrology is an exact and demanding science.

To prepare a true, in-depth, total personal horoscope for you, an astrologer must first make a chart showing the sun, the moon, and all eight planets as they were at the time and place of your birth. This is where all other computer horoscope companies stop. But that is only half the job.

Next, the astrologer must relate "Transits" to your basic chart. Transits are the changes in the positions of the sun, moon, and planets as they move away from the positions they were in at your birth. And only the Institute for Applied Astrology does this!

When this Total chart is finished it is completely personal, completely different, and completely about you! And the written evaluation is what astrologers call your Total Horoscope. Natal astrology alone is like reading a good book about big game hunting and then going to darkest Africa on your own. "Total" astrology is like having a top professional hunter to help guide you through the jungle. The special knowledge contained in this horoscope can change your life in many wonderful ways. We all know, for example, that while none of us are good at everything, each of us are good at something. Your horoscope will tell you what you're good at. And armed with that knowledge you can forge ahead and be at ease and happy while you do it.

Your horoscope delves deeply into your personality, revealing your hidden talents. It will tell you about the areas where you have ability but may have been uncertain and afraid to try — things like writing or acting, art, sex, leadership, public relations, advertising, athletics, etc.

Think of it this way: you only have one life to live, so why not get everything from it that you can! Why waste your time charging down blind alleys that can easily be avoided? You have a real duty to yourself and to your loved ones to make the most of each precious moment. And your Total horoscope can give you the edge you need to see your opportunities and take advantage of them.

For a limited time only, while the internationally known Institute for Applied Astrology is carrying on its extensive research program, you can get your Total Horoscope for only a duplicating cost. The casting and analyzing are done FREE! The article below tells you how to get your Horoscope. For the sake of your own personal happiness — don't pass up this unique opportunity. It's the kind of new chance for success that comes along only once in each person's life.

8 Your TOTAL HOROSCOPE will not only give you practical vocational and career advice but will show you the best times to use that information for maximum effect.

9 Your TOTAL HOROSCOPE will be loaded with beneficial advice on money matters. It will tell you when to take chances and when to be careful. This is exceptionally important if you have a tendency to take risks.

10 Your TOTAL HOROSCOPE covers all matters relating to your body and your health. It tells you the things to do and the things to avoid in order to enjoy the maximum in good health, normal weight and high energy.

11 Your TOTAL HOROSCOPE gives you positive information. When it tells you of possible bad periods it also tells you how to avoid or overcome them.

The Institute needs your horoscope to help complete our huge research program looking into the practical applications of astrology (Applied Astrology). This research program has been going on for some time and has been presented in COSMOPOLITAN MAGAZINE, FAMILY WEEKLY MAGAZINE, THE LOS ANGELES TIMES HOME MAGAZINE, THE NATIONAL ENQUIRER, and other papers and periodicals. Right now, for a limited time only, if you help us by providing your birth data, you can benefit by becoming eligible to get horoscopes for yourself and even your family and friends.

Anger: How to Spot It, Suppress It or Use It

True or False? A man will stand still for a lot more provocation from a woman than he will from another man. (See number 5.)

TRUE OR FALSE?

- The person who goes through life with a chip on his shoulder is actually mad at himself.
- Anger is as contagious as the common cold.
- When someone provokes you to the point where you're dangerously near exploding, you should laugh at him instead of "blowing your top."
- The "assertive personality"—one who is quick to stand up for his rights, who takes the lead in discussions and has no difficulty in saying no to unreasonable requests—is the quickest to show anger.
- A man will stand still for a lot more provocation from a woman than he will from another man.
- If a fellow worker is mad at the boss, he's likely to take it out on you—if you look like the boss.

ANSWERS

- True. Psychological studies show that a person's attitude toward himself tends to be projected to others. As one leading authority aptly observes, the extent to which a person likes or hates the world around him depends on the degree to which he likes or hates himself.
- True. Studies show that being around angry people for any length of time is likely to make you angry, too. Hostility and aggression are just as contagious as any virus. You'll be much more likely to keep your temper if you stay away from people who are constantly on the verge of losing theirs.
- True. As sociologist Joyce O. Hertzler notes in "Laughter: A Socio-Scientific Analysis": in such situations "the laughter of the individual, like profanity, at least momentarily relieves him in a serious situation which threatens his well-being. It keeps him from blowing a fuse." It's also pointed out that aggressive laughter serves to get the resentments and antipathies, which the other person has generated, out of one's system.

4. True—for women, but not for men, according to studies, conducted by investigators from two universities, on the relationship between assertiveness and aggression. It was found that assertiveness tended to go hand in hand with aggressiveness only for the females in the study.

5. True—as shown by a Kent State University study, which showed that "male subjects responded aggressively to provocation by male opponents and unaggressively to female opponents." Subjects were selected from a pool of 500 students and were divided into two groups: those who subscribed to the "male chauvinistic" view concerning women and those who embraced more liberal attitudes. Though tests showed the former to be generally more aggressive, both groups deferred to the ladies. One explanation offered for the male subjects' deferential treatment of female antagonists is "that males have been trained very early in their socialization to inhibit specifically their aggressiveness when provoked by a female."

6. True. A clinical study of the motives underlying human behavior has shown that anger transference is not uncommon. It's noted, for example, that "if the boss is the cause of anger, an employee may become aggressive toward certain of his fellow workers, particularly those who look like the boss." Or he may transfer his anger to someone outside the organization who is far removed from his hostility.

Doctors Prove You Can Help Shrink Swelling Of Hemorrhoidal Tissues Due To Inflammation. Relieve Pain And Itch Too.

Gives prompt temporary relief from hemorrhoidal pain and itch in many cases.

Doctors have found a most effective medication that actually helps shrink painful swelling of hemorrhoidal tissues caused by infection. In many cases, the first applications give prompt relief for hours from such pain and burning itching.

Tests by doctors on hundreds upon hundreds of patients showed this to be true in many cases. The medication the doctors used was Preparation H® — the same Preparation H you can get without a prescription. Ointment or suppositories.

I don't judge my cigarette

There's only one reason to smoke: taste.
Not length. Not looks. Winston Super King gives me the real Winston taste I like and the extra length I want. So I get as much taste per millimeter as any cigarette can give. For me, Winston is for real.

Clothes That Convert - For Travel, Sleep, Play

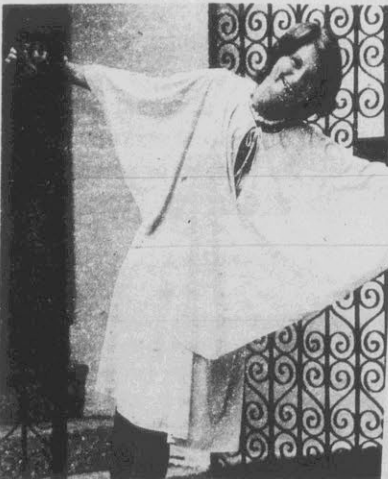

Pieces to Mix and Match

A sarong swimsuit, screen-printed with a Gauguin-like flourish, can easily lend its halter top or matching cover-up to double over pants or shorts. From Rose Marie Reid.

From Tennis Court to Pool

Step Out in Sleepwear

Ralph Montenero adds a flair for Blanche with a light, airy poncho top (which comes with a bikini bottom) over a cool "dress." Designed separately to sleep in, they team up perfectly for dining out.

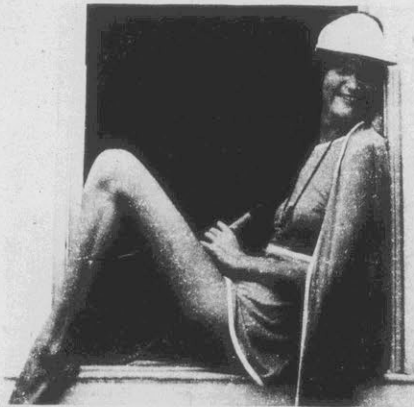

Nightgown into Evening Dress

John Kloss interprets this soft, flowing gown for Cira in Caprolan nylon. It's luxurious for a tropical night, and you can convert the matching robe into an evening coat to ward off ocean breezes.

American ingenuity in fashion designing is at its height. How else to describe clothes that are destined to make vacations at home or away truly carefree?

We shopped the intimate and swimwear market to present you with two imaginative ways to build a dawn-to-dusk travel wardrobe. How? By taking stay-at-home clothes and adapting them for outerwear (you simply add your favorite accessories), and by including quick-change top or bottom coordinates to multiply your outfits. Then you can stop worrying about what to wear on vacation.

Doctor's Amazing Reducing Plan Helps

DISSOLVE THE FAT RIGHT OUT OF YOUR BODY!

Yes, here it is—a Doctor's safe, effective substitute for high-powered Reducing Drugs!

Yes, lose as much as 10, 20, 30 even 50 pounds or more
 ■ without gruelling exercise ■ without starvation diets
 ■ without a single moment of ravenous hunger thanks to the most powerful reducing aid ever released for public use without a prescription!

How? By attacking the basic cause of overweight — overeating — and, actually helping your body convert the food you eat into ENERGY instead of into fat!

From the office of the doctor who has taken even the most stubborn overweight cases and shown them a thrilling way to slash away pounds and inches in what seems like NO TIME AT ALL . . . comes proof of a medically proven approach that gives you the great ecstasy of slimmness without the agony of gnawing hunger — yes, spectacular weight-loss results even if at this very moment you are 10 . . . 20 . . . 30 . . . 50 pounds overweight . . . or more!

NOW! TURN FOOD INTO ENERGY INSTEAD OF INTO FAT!

The secret behind this doctor's "no-hunger" eating program to a slimmer, trimmer figure . . . is a wondrous way to convert all the food you eat into ENERGY instead of into FAT! Yes, step up your body's rate of fat burn-off just like you'd step up a furnace. Actually help eliminate unsightly FLAB all over your body — by using it as a source of energy that your body burns up and flushes away. That's right . . . excess pounds and inches literally consumed by your own body chemistry . . . once you trigger the FAT REDUCING PROCESS with this proven formula for success. So effective is this doctor's medically proven program, that during the very first 3 days alone you'll see weight disappear from sight at the incredible rate of up to SIX POUNDS OF FAT AND FLUID GONE BY THE VERY FIRST 72 HOURS! In fact — and the doctor says note this carefully — depending upon how overweight you are, the more you weigh, the more you should initially lose.

Before starting this program, consult with your physician to be sure you are in normal health and your only problem is obesity. Individuals with high blood pressure, heart disease, diabetes, or thyroid disease should use only as directed by a physician. As a matter of fact, we urge you to show this entire program to your own family physician and see if he doesn't agree that this is a medically sound approach to the problem of obesity.

PROVEN ON SCORES OF PATIENTS — STARTLING WEIGHT LOSSES EVEN ON PEOPLE WHO HAD RUNAWAY APPETITES!

For years one of the most effective aids doctors used to attack the basic cause of fat build-up, overeating, was amphetamines. Only trouble: the side effects from amphetamines were so shattering it was often easier to live with the fat than to be plagued with insomnia, nervous jitters and worst of all, in some cases, even addiction. But now, suppose a doctor who has successfully treated obese patients for years told you that there now exists an EFFECTIVE SUBSTITUTE FOR HIGH-POWERED DRUGS. A fantastic program that includes THE MOST POWERFUL REDUCING AID EVER APPROVED BY THE GOV'T. FOR SALE TO THE PUBLIC WITHOUT A PRESCRIPTION. Yet so effective, that when you launch yourself on this doctor's proven capsule-program 4 things happen in your body:

- Those gnawing hunger pangs disappear, it takes less food to satisfy you therefore you have less caloric intake.
- The foods you do eat, instead of being stored up as fat are now converted into a source of energy that your body burns away.
- The layers of fat that up to now seemed impossible to budge, are suddenly consumed, broken down and used by your own body chemistry . . . to provide the energy needs of your body.
- And even though you may carve away as much as a staggering 20, 30, 50 pounds OR MORE . . . you do it without the risk of speed drugs like amphetamines, dexedrine, benzedrine. Why, do you realize what this means to you?

NOW SHRINK THE FAT CELLS IN YOUR BODY THIS DOCTOR'S PROVEN WAY

It means that now when you combine this powerful pill with this doctor's sensible, satisfying eating program, you not only lose weight starting right now, but you do not have to ever again suffer those gnawing pangs of hunger . . . ever again saddle yourself with an exhausting rigid system of exercise . . . ever again torture and starve yourself to death on some ridiculous fad diet . . . only to have your willpower snap and the pounds come rebounding back. Matter of fact, and though this may startle you . . . you are ordered by this doctor to eat 3 meals a day with such luscious foods as steak, chops, etc. You are never once asked to pit your hunger against a cast-iron willpower. For, just as he shows his own patients how to eat their way to slimmness . . . this doctor lays down his own law to you: "Never starve yourself . . . there's no need to. You can eat mouthwatering steaks, roasts, chops, etc. as I tell you . . . and take one of these tiny golden capsules one to two hours before each meal." It's as simple as that. Naturally, we don't want to kid you. You can't gorge yourself on unlimited quantities of food and still lose weight. Instead, here's the doctor's way to replace all those zany, half-baked fad-diets of the past with a high-powered pill and a doctor's sure, sensible satisfying eating program that SHRINKS AWAY FAT LIKE NEVER BEFORE!

WHO EVER DREAMED OF SUCH A THRILLING WAY TO LOSE WEIGHT?

Picture this thrilling scene: Just 3 days have passed since you have started on this doctor's sensational program and you've taken your first few capsules. You have not missed a single meal . . . not done any torturous exhausting exercise . . . just the doctor's simple nitely tone-up program that's actually pleasant to do! You've just taken your first giant step on your march to slimmness. So you step on the scale, and here's what happens.

You can't believe your eyes . . . for the first time in your life SUCCESS! Yes, you've started to win the war against fat. For what could be greater proof than the reading on your scale . . . AS MUCH AS 6 POUNDS OF FLUID AND FAT GONE IN JUST 72 HOURS. That's right! You, without even feeling it . . . without even noticing it . . . have actually discovered how to shed excess pounds and inches, like never before. And in the days and weeks to follow . . . just as gently, your body will continue to LOSE AND DRAIN AWAY, SHRINK AWAY, DISSOLVE AWAY 10 — 20 — 30 even 50 POUNDS of excess fat . . . until at long last you will have achieved your life-long goal . . . a new, slender body, a slim streamlined figure!

ORDER BIO-DRENE TODAY . . . THE ONLY THING YOU HAVE TO LOSE IS WEIGHT!

Yes, IT MUST WORK FOR YOU AS IT HAS FOR SCORES OF PATIENTS. IT MUST PRODUCE FOR YOU THE SAME ELECTRIFYING RESULTS AT IT HAS FOR SO MANY OTHER LIFE-LONG VICTIMS OF OBESITY . . . OR IT COSTS YOU NOTHING!

What in the World!

Dr. James Stallings, whose surgery rescues people from "freakhood," from obesity and from post-mastectomy depression.

Rescuing people from "freakhood": "Living sculpture" is what Dr. James Stallings calls his reconstructive surgical technique; we call it great humanitarianism. At the Institute for Special Surgery in Des Moines, Dr. Stallings and his assistants donate their surgical skills to rebuild and reconstruct patients who might normally be labeled "freaks" or "social misfits." "Not only is corrective surgery vital for the physically deformed so that they can start leading 'normal' lives, but I have found that terribly overweight people have profited from plastic surgery. If we remove a few of their excess bulges, they usually are motivated to lose the extra inches and weight themselves," said Dr. Stallings. Since he performs reconstructive surgery free of charge, does he advocate socialized medicine in this country? "I've spent a great deal of time in Britain, and as far as my kind of surgery is concerned, socialized medicine would be an unwelcome change. The British have to wait an average of nine years for cosmetic surgery. Americans, who aren't used to waiting for anything, would give up. It also stifles doctors' incentives to develop new techniques, since it takes years before they are put into practice." One of the most incredible of Dr. Stallings' new techniques is a natural breast implant that he uses to rebuild a breast following a mastectomy. Given the enormous psychological problems involved in mastectomy cases, why isn't this procedure used as a matter of course? Says Dr. Stallings: "Most doctors don't know how to perform this type of reconstructive surgery. Their first concern is for the patient's health. It is only later that the woman may elect to have this surgery performed, provided she knows it is available and affordable." (While the doctor's services are free, the patient must still pay for those hospital costs that medical insurance doesn't cover.)

Can a new mother afford to work? "In the first 18 months of life, the basic issue that confronts the newborn infant is establishing trust. If this sense of trust is not provided, the child may grow up less trusting, less open and unable to relate well to others," says Phyllis Magrab, pediatric psychologist and Georgetown University professor. "Where possible, the mother should stay home with the child because she is learning to adjust to her new child and to develop a pattern of response and relationship. But I want to stress that if you're not happy and fulfilled staying at home, your presence will be harmful. Mothers who return to work immediately because of financial necessity or career advancement should not feel guilty. One hour well-spent with an infant is far more important than a whole day ill-spent."

CELESTE HOLM
On pragmatism and pleasure

The veteran actress, Celeste Holm, talking about how she survives aging and modern times: "To most of us, maturity is synonymous with old age—a gloomy prospect to be sure. But to me, it means depth and the opportunity for relaxation. I have striven for that depth for a long time, and that has afforded me the confidence to try to sustain an individual point of view, which I guess is why I've been in this business for so many years and have weathered the storm of aging better than many of my peers. Do what is possible 'is my motto.'" Any advice for struggling young actresses? "Realize from the beginning that it isn't the parts you play, but the whole show that matters. That advice goes for young women who aren't actresses as well. Learn from people you admire, watch how they do it. Remember that you are not entitled to anything other than equal rights, and you won't think every little problem that comes along is a tragedy. Tragedy, after all, is the destruction of something marvelous." On Thursday, May 20 at 1:30 p.m. (EDT), you can see Celeste Holm in an ABC-TV special drama-documentary, "The American Woman: Portraits of Courage."

ARMOUR'S ARMOURY
By Richard Armour

SOCK IT TO ME

I wear out socks at heels and toes,
And this my wife for certain knows.
She darns them (she's not cussing though)
Or says it's time to let them go
And buy some new ones at the store,
Convincing me I need some more,
Although they've seen a better day,
I hate to throw my socks away
With only toe or heel worn out,
No other holey part about.
I'd gladlier give up control
Of socks whose hole was in the sole.

STEVE CANYON

WELL, MYKE, THERE GOES OUR GOLDEN GIRL!

RIGHT, CHIEF... BUT I THINK I'D BETTER TELL YOU SOMETHING...

IS A DISRUPTIVE INFLUENCE ON A DAILY NEWSPAPER STAFF

POTEET CANYON HAS RESIGNED FROM THE HIGH CITY HERALD — TO TAKE A JOB WITH A NATIONAL MAGAZINE

THE OTHER WOMEN ARE JEALOUS OF HER LOOKS AND ENVY HER ABILITY... THE MEN ARE JEALOUS OF HER ABILITY—AND DISTRACTED BY HER BEAUTY!

THE DAY POTEET ANNOUNCED HER RESIGNATION, I HAD JUST ABOUT MADE UP MY MIND TO ASK YOU TO FIRE HER!

TO KICK HER OUT OF THE NEST—SO SHE WOULD REALLY WRITE—IN A PLACE WHERE BEING PRETTY IS ALMOST COMMONPLACE...

WHICH WOULD GET HER OUT OF THIS HOMESTEAD JOB—SO SHE DID NOT END UP BEING A SPINSTER SOCIETY EDITOR, REPORTING OTHER PEOPLE'S FUN

AND ALSO PUSH HER OUT OF HERE—AND OUT OF THIS TOWN... BEFORE I ASKED HER TO QUIT WORK AND MARRY ME...
