Final Hearings Are Launched By Demo Platform Committee

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Democratic party's platform committee today elected Minnesota Governor Wendell Anderson as permanent chairman and began a final series of hearings on issues facing the nation.

Anderson's election came after Gov. Philip Noel of Rhode Island stepped down as temporary chairman because of criticism stemming from a statement he made about ghetto life.

work of this committee," Noel said. He received a standing ovation from committee members when he announced his withdrawal from consideration as permanent chairman.

The panel will hear four days of testimony from some 85 witnesses, including politicians, union officials and civil rights leaders.

Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, a presidential candidate, was scheduled to testify, along with Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and the party's chairman, Robert Strauss.

Jimmy Carter, the frontrunner for the nomination, canceled his appearance to campaign in California, a committee spokeswoman said.

Others on the witness list include former U.N. Ambassador Daniel P. Moynihan, consumer advocate Ralph Nader, United Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock, and representatives of the Urban League and National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

AFL-CIO President George Meany urged the party to adopt economic programs that would give voters a choice between prosperity and Republican policies that he said foster unemployment.

In prepared remarks, the labor leader said, "The economic

Greater Jolt Than In Italy Quake In Soviet Central Asia

MOSCOW (AP) — A severe earthquake struck a wide area of Soviet Central Asia today and caused "serious damage in a number of places," officials reported.

The three largest cities in the region — Tashkent, Bukhara and Samarkand — reported no casualties and virtually no damage, but communications were cut with the town of Gazli and some other small communities that received the brunt of the quake's force.

The earthquake, centered in the sparsely populated Kulzhuktau mountain range some 300 miles west of Tashkent, was much more powerful than the one which devastated parts of northern Italy early this month.

The Tass news agency said "prompt measures are being taken to eliminate the aftermath of the quake and to give relief to the quake victims."

The jolt had a force of 9 on the 12-point Soviet Medvedev scale.

In Washington, the U.S. Geological Survey reported the tremor reached 7.2 on the open-ended Richter scale, which would be "several times bigger than the Italian earthquake in terms of energy." A quake with a reading of 7 on the Richter scale is capable of widespread, heavy damage.

The Italian quake, in which more than 900 are known dead, registered between 6.5 and 6.9 on the Richter.

Seismology officials in Tashkent said Gazli, which has a population of about 8,000, was unreachable by telephone and the Tashkent seismic station said communications with Gazli were cut off when the quake struck.

Residents and visitors to Tashkent told friends in Moscow by phone they felt the tremor but there was no apparent damage in the city, which was devastated by a quake 10 years ago. Buildings in Tashkent were heavily reinforced in the rebuilding after that quake.

A duty officer in the Bukhara mayor's office said the only sign of today's quake there were cracks in some buildings.

The first official report came over Moscow radio some six hours after the tremor was recorded. Tass later issued two brief items on an urgent basis, mentioning victims for the first time. The Soviet press usually plays down natural calamities, so the report of heavy damage and victims hinted at the seriousness of the situation.

The quake was centered about 1,500 miles southeast of Moscow and 530 miles south of the super-secret Baikour space center.

Moscow radio said that on the Medvedev scale, Gazli suffered a force of 8. It said a force of 5 was felt in Tashkent and 6 or more in Samarkand and Bukhara to the west.

The central Asian quake struck at 9 a.m. Tashkent time, the hour when residents would be arriving at school and work, according to the broadcast. Tashkent's population is nearly 1.6 million. Samarkand has a population of 299,000 and Bukhara 139,000.

Gazli, named as the community that suffered the biggest tremor, has a population of 7,800 according to 1970 census figures. Officials said communications with the village were severed.

The Tashkent seismic station, reached by telephone, reported the earthquake "was undoubtedly connected" with one that struck the same general area April 8. The intensity was the same, officials said.

Injuries and damages were minimal from the earlier tremor, it was reported later, because seismologists had forecast it five days before residents.

There was no indication of any warnings about today's quake.

According to the report by the U.S. Geological Survey, today's quake hit at 7 a.m. local time (11 p.m. EDT Sunday).

The Richter scale is a measure of ground motion as recorded on seismographs. Every increase of one number, say from magnitude 5.5 to magnitude 6.5, means the ground motion is 10 times greater. Some experts say the actual amount of energy released may be 30 times greater.

In populated areas, an earthquake of 3.5 on the Richter scale can cause slight damage in the local area, 4 can cause moderate damage, 5 considerable damage, 6 can be severe.

Rountree, White Cite Real Accomplishments Of Assembly Session

By STUART SAVAGE Reflector Staff Writer

The North Carolina General Assembly last week completed a two-week term during which they revised the budget for the 1976-1977 fiscal year and approved a malpractice liability insurance bill designed to help health care professionals.

Sen. Vernon White of Winterville said, "I don't think anyone is very happy with the budget that we passed, because we really didn't have sufficient revenue, without increasing taxes, to meet the needs of the state and to raise the salary of state employees and teachers to the level we would like to have."

But White said he feels "very well satisfied with the malpractice insurance bill that we passed."

The malpractice bill, according to the senator, "protects the providers of medical services to a greater degree than before the legislation... and at the same time does not deny consumers of medical services too much of their individual rights."

He said too, "I hope in the future that the insurance companies will reduce the premiums to medical providers," because of the legislation.

The malpractice bill generally limits claims against medical providers to a four-year period. However, according to White, "in the case of hidden objects left within the body during surgery, patients have the right to sue up to the tenth year. And minors have the right to sue for injuries through the 19th year."

House member Horton Rountree agreed with White on the malpractice bill. He said the medical profession is very pleased with what we did with the malpractice liability insurance. "I hope we did the right thing," he continued, although noting "the General Assembly may take another look at it in 1977."

As far as the pay increases contained in the budget, Rountree said "The reports I've heard from the older teachers has been very good. They were pleased... realized the situation the state is in... and are appreciative." But, he continued, "they look for us to try to help them again" in the 1977-1979 biennial budget, "depending on the availability of funds."

According to Rountree, "the General Assembly had a job to do and went up there and did it. A lot of people were satisfied, but I think the majority were pleased with what the General Assembly did."

He continued, "I hope the general economy will advance to the point the General Assembly won't have to come up with any tax package next time."

Both Rountree and White expressed pleasure that, except for the funds for a new bed tower at Pitt Memorial Hospital, capital improvement funds and the operating budget for the ECU School of Medicine, were

Arrives Aboard Concorde

WASHINGTON (AP) — French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing arrived today for a six-day Bicentennial goodwill visit after a three-hour, 37-minute flight from Paris aboard a Concorde supersonic jet.

The controversial plane landed at 9:48 a.m. EDT under heavily clouded skies. Thousands of Washingtonians turned out to see the arrival.

The flight presaged the start of commercial Concorde service from Paris and London to Washington's Dulles International Airport, scheduled to begin a week from today unless court orders intervene.

Giscard arrived at Andrews Air Force Base, where the comings and goings of American presidents normally draw scarcely a handful of people. Security was heavy. Secret Service men were stationed at several places, and Air Force guards armed with rifles patrolled on both sides of a fence that kept onlookers off the runway.

It was the first trip to the United States by the Concorde in two years. Two days from now a federal appeals court hears arguments aimed at banning the fast but noisy aircraft from landing in scheduled service at Dulles and Kennedy International Airport in New York.

Hertford Man To Oppose Jones

HERTFORD—James Jordan Bonner of Hertford has filed as a candidate for the Democratic nomination as First District Congressman in the August 17 primary.

Bonner, 31, will oppose incumbent Walter Jones of Farmville. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Allan B. Bonner of Hertford and a cousin of the late Herbert C. Bonner of Washington, who held the First Congressional District seat in the U.S. House of Representatives for a number of years prior to his death.

A Kinston native, Bonner has lived most of his life in Hertford in Perquimans County. He is a 1970 graduate of North Carolina State University.

Bonner said, "My concerns are for more jobs, better medical care service, more attention to the fisheries industry, greater development of ports, and more informed and sensitive approaches to the problems of tobacco and peanut farmers."

JAMES J. BONNER

The candidate continued, "I intend to be well informed on the issues of critical importance to the people of the First District. Only by being well informed can I be alert to the opportunities that

A Full-Scale Boom Hinted

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — The nation's economic recovery from the recent recession could surge into a full-scale boom, a group of research economists predicts.

Reporting in the spring issue of the journal "Economic Outlook USA," the economists cited consistently rising real income, very strong auto sales and a firm rebound in consumer confidence as encouraging signs.

University of Chicago economist Victor Zarnowitz said it also was encouraging that business capital investment, inventories, bank loans and interest rates have remained "remarkably sluggish."

In the past, he explained, slow responses to economic upturn by these indicators have tended to signal long periods of expansion.

F. Thomas Juster of University of Michigan's Survey Research Center, which publishes the journal, said the consensus of economists now is that the real growth of the Gross National Product this year would be 7 per cent, with prices rising only 5 per cent. Earlier, increases in both prices and GNP had been forecast at 6 per cent.

Juster also said he expects the unemployment rate to drop below 7 per cent by year's end, but noted this would still leave the jobless rate at about the same level as the worst point of any previous postwar recession.

He said he expects increases in plant and equipment spending to help boost the economy in the second half of 1976 and into 1977.

In addition, Juster said, consumer confidence data "indicate that a full-fledged automobile boom is a very real possibility," with demand reaching an annual rate of $12 million to $13 million by the end of the year.

In 1975, sales for the industry, including imports, fell to $11.1 billion. The record, set in 1973, was $14.6 billion.

"All this adds up to a picture of considerable buoyancy through the rest of 1976 and into 1977," he said. "And it would take very little in the way of additional favorable developments to produce a genuine boom in the second half of the year."

Re-Election Bid By Mrs. Allred

Mrs. Elvira Tyson Allred, Pitt County Register of Deeds, said today that she will seek re-election to the post she has held since 1962.

The county official made the announcement after filing Friday with the Pitt County Board of Elections for inclusion on the August 17 primary election ballot.

Mrs. Allred was appointed Register of Deeds by the Board of County Commissioners February 10, 1962 to fill the unexpired term of the late Mrs. Blair Cox Wheelless and was elected for four-year terms in 1964, 1968 and again in 1972.

Before becoming Register of Deeds, Mrs. Allred had been employed by the Register of Deeds office since March 1952.

Mrs. Allred, a Farmville native, attended Farmville High School and Campbell College. She is a member of the First Baptist Church in Farmville and is serving as historian of the N.C. Association of Register of Deeds. She is also a member of the Greenville Business and Professional Women's Club.

Mrs. Allred's husband, Harold Allred, is a Farmville businessman.

ACCUSED

I am being accused of ordering $136 worth of merchandise from the Anna Elizabeth Wade Company of Richmond, Va., I have never heard of the company and don't know what they make, yet they keep calling me over and over at home and on my job, even threatening to have this money taken from my paycheck. They refuse to tell me what it is they think I've ordered and won't tell me who signed for the package. Help! S.P.

Hotline called Richmond information and asked the Chamber of Commerce here to check the Richmond City Directory, but we couldn't find a listing for the company. Then someone remembered seeing the name on a vanilla flavoring bottle sold by a church group. We found someone who had a bottle and learned from the label that the address of the company is Lynchburg, Va., We called the company and learned that the person who has the account in question has the very same first and last name as yours, but she lives in Farmville. The account has been turned over to the Financial Collection Agency in Richmond, which is why you thought the Wade Company is in Richmond.

Irene Yates of the Wade Company, which is a subsidiary of the Chap Stick Company, called us back within minutes to report that she had been promised by the collection agency that you will be bothered no more. She apologized for your extreme inconvenience.

Gun Sale Plot Charged El Salvador Official

NEW YORK (AP) — Bail was set at $3 million for El Salvador's military chief of staff after his arrest in an alleged plot to sell $2.55 million in Tommy guns to "underworld buyers" — at least one of them a U.S. Treasury agent.

Col. Manuel Alfonso Rodriguez, No. 3 man in the military government of the Central American republic, was arrested at a Westchester County motel late Saturday night.

In Washington, El Salvador's ambassador, Francisco Bertrand Galindo, said Sunday his government had no connection with the alleged conspiracy. But he said he would secure a lawyer for Rodriguez today.

"We think he is innocent," Galindo said. "We are not sure but we think so."

Two other men from El Salvador and three U.S. citizens were also arrested in the alleged plot and held in lieu of bail ranging from $300,000 to $1 million. A seventh man was sought, authorities said.

U.S. Atty. Robert Fiske Jr. said Rodriguez, who ranks behind the president and the defense minister of El Salvador, was among those who went to the Holiday Inn at Mt. Kisco, N.Y., Saturday night to collect a $100,000 down payment for the 10,000 submachine guns to be purchased by unidentified mobsters.

Rodriguez' role in the plot, Fiske said, was to sign a certificate seeking State Department permission to buy the guns from a Bronx exporter, falsely attesting that the guns were for export to El Salvador.

The guns were never to have left the United States, Fiske said, and Rodriguez was to get a $75,000 payoff for his part in the deal.

Fiske said the conspirators had plans to fill "larger multimillion dollar orders if the initial venture proved successful." No guns were ever actually delivered, he said.

Fiske said the $100,000 payment at the Holiday Inn followed a series of meetings beginning

March 1, held at Mt. Kisco and in the Bronx.

Among those attending the various meetings was an agent for the Treasury Department's Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, Fiske said.

The Americans accused in the plot were Frank G. Alvarez, 55, of Dix Hills, N.Y., Latin American marketing director of an exporting firm; Robert Michaelson, 45, of Plainview, N.Y., who runs an importing firm of Great Neck, N.Y.; and Irwin Toboaman, of Manhattan, a food broker.

All three were held in $300,000 bail at their Sunday arraignment.

N.C. Storm Damage Estimates Take Time To Tally

Ramp Eating Champion Has Odor Of A Winner

WAYNESVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Some people have the aura of a winner about them, but for George Parker, it might be the odor of a winner.

Parker, 50, of Franklin ate 56 ramps Sunday to capture the ramp-eating championship at the 44th annual convention of the North Carolina Society of Friends of the Ramp, Inc.

For those uninitiated to mountain ways, a ramp is a pungent wild onion that proliferates in Western North Carolina.

Not only did Parker out-eat four other contestants during a 15-minute span, but he came close to the world record of 58 of the odorous plants.

The crowd of ramp-eaters and spectators attracted some politicians, including North Carolina Secretary of State Thad Eure, who has long professed a liking for ramps.

Eure, declared "King of the Ramps Forever," welcomed about 6,000 spectators who covered Waynesville's American Legion field.

"This is always the red-letter day of the year for me," said the 75-year-old Eure, sporting a bow tie that covered half his chest.

"It comes before my birthday, before the Fourth of July and before Christmas," he said.

Eure joked that residents of Tennessee, Kentucky and West Virginia had surreptitiously dug up North Carolina ramps and transplanted them in their own states.

"If I had the power, I'd detach a troop of highway patrolmen to patrol roads leading into and out of Haywood County just to make sure that those folks never cross the state line to get our North Carolina ramps," he said.

Also on hand for some politicking were three gubernatorial candidates — Lt. Gov. Jim Hunt, and state Sen. Thomas Strickland, Democrats; and Rosman minister Wallace McCall, a Republican.

Accountants Offer Help

The Eastern Carolina chapter of the National Association of Accountants would like to inform the minority of disadvantaged businessmen of the association's socio-economic program.

Charles Harrington of Fieldcrest Mills Inc. here said that the program, organized by NAA in 1969, is a free service whereby the minority or disadvantaged businessman can receive advice and assistance in establishing sound management practices.

Harrington said that under the program, NAA advisor explain the appropriate techniques and procedures and show how they can be implemented. The advisors do not do the actual detail work, he added, but it is up to the businessman or one of his employees to carry out the advice.

The community affairs program is part of a nationwide effort by NAA to offer to the people of all communities the services of its members, it was noted. Anyone interested in knowing more about the program should contact Harrington at Fieldcrest.

Annual AAUP Picnic Thursday

The annual picnic of the East Carolina University chapter of the American Assn. of University Professors (AAUP) will be held beginning at 6 p.m. Thursday at Lake Ellsworth. Food, refreshments and recreational activities are scheduled for the family-style outing.

The current local AAUP president is Dr. Fred Ragan of the ECU History department. Faculty picnic tickets are $1.50 for adults, $1 for children.

Former Lt. Wm. Calley Is Married

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — Former Army Lt. William L. Calley Jr. and Penny Vick, daughter of a Columbus jeweler, were married Saturday night in a candlelight ceremony at St. Paul United Methodist Church.

Calley, 32, met his 29-year-old bride several years ago when he was a customer in one of her father's stores. It was their first marriage for both.

Five years ago this spring, Calley was convicted at nearby Ft. Benning of the murder of 22 Vietnamese civilians.

U.S. District Court Judge J. Robert Elliott of Columbus, who reversed Calley's conviction in 1974, and former Macon Mayor Ronnie Thompson were among the several hundred wedding guests.

Calley was sentenced to life imprisonment in March 1971. President Nixon ordered him removed from the Ft. Benning stockade and placed under house arrest, where he remained for three years.

Calley's sentence was reduced to 10 years and a later court appeal won a reversal of his conviction.

However, the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans reversed Elliott's ruling

Authorities say it will be at least today before accurate estimates can be reached on damage from tornadoes, high winds and rain that swept across North Carolina Saturday, killing four persons.

The National Weather Service counted six tornadoes in North Carolina and two in South Carolina Saturday as a spring storm spawned the violent weather.

Three children from one family were killed when a tornado wrecked a mobile home in the southeastern North Carolina town of Pembroke. Authorities identified the victims as Mickey Locklear, 11, Francis Locklear, 5, and Anna Locklear, 15 months.

Their mother and grandmother were injured.

The tornado also destroyed another mobile home and ripped the roofs off several houses.

An undertow current, created by storm conditions, claimed the life of Mrs. Pearl L. Burnie, 31, who drowned Saturday while swimming at Atlantic Beach.

Another area hit by a tornado was the Montgomery County town of Troy.

"You could see the trees leaning over almost touching the ground," said Montgomery County Chief Deputy Sheriff F. D. Brady.

"It was like a wall run up and hit you."

Lowell Hunsucker, a textile worker from Troy, said two youths were injured when a two-room house they were playing in was demolished.

"The little building was just blown away. They were left sitting there in the floor," Hunsucker said.

"It sounded like a train coming. It just looked like a funnel full of debris, roofing shingles and stuff like that. It was carrying the stuff as high in the air as I could see," he said.

Montgomery County Sheriff E.R. Wallace said the tornado ripped off part of a wall at a textile mill, overturned several cars and damaged several houses.

Wallace said several people were injured, but none seriously.

The National Weather Service said tornadoes were also spotted near Statesville, Rowland and Lilesville.

Heavy rains in the storm system caused flooding in the mountains.

Gov. Jim Holshouser ordered 50 National Guardsmen to help in rescue efforts after the Pigeon River left its banks in Haywood County and forced evacuation of several houses. The guardsmen remained in the area until about 7 a.m. Sunday.

Haywood County Manager Harold Long said 150 to 200 persons were allowed to return to their homes along the Pigeon River after it crested early Sunday. A county water treatment plant was shut down when the river left its banks, but Long said emergency water supplies were not needed.

The Highway Patrol said least 13 mountain roads, closed because of flooding, were reopened Sunday. Among those was U.S. 64 from Highlands to Franklin.

GOP Contestants Stir Embers Of Watergate

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Special Correspondent
WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard M. Nixon is becoming a campaign issue, but ironically it is the Republican presidential contestants who are stirring the embers of Watergate and invoking the memory of the resigned president.

President Ford is, in effect, campaigning against the man who appointed him vice president, as he talks of his efforts to restore trust in the White House.

And Ronald Reagan has been speaking highly of Nixon's foreign policy, "whatever else you may think about him." In the early days of the primaries, when he was losing to Ford, Reagan suggested that Ford would have to cope with Democratic efforts to revive Watergate.

Ford strategy now is to try to make a political plus out of the scandals and what he describes as the restoration of trust. His standard campaign speech asks for votes on the basis of the "restoration of trust in your presidency," among other things.

Less than a month ago, Ford said he was purposely avoiding mention of Nixon, believing that Watergate was best forgotten. He still avoids the name, but not the issue. "In August of 1974 there had been a shocking series of scandals in the highest offices in our lands," Ford said, campaigning for the Michigan presidential primary Tuesday. "And the American people had lost a lot of confidence in their government and the net result was that we had to restore that confidence."

"The Ford administration has been open, it has been candid, it has been forthright, and I can look every American in the eye and say that we worked at the restoration of confidence and the strengthening of integrity in the White House," he said.

Reagan, hammering at Ford foreign policy, has been saying that Nixon's was better. "Whatever you may think of the previous president, he had a foreign policy aimed at peace and I think it was working," the former California governor said in Flint, Mich., last Friday.

"He was the strategist at that time. Now someone else is the strategist at the State Department," Reagan said. That someone else, by Reagan's account, is Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, a major target for the challenger's criticism.

Kissinger was appointed secretary of state by Nixon after serving as White House adviser on national security. Kissinger said in an NBC-TV interview broadcast today that he would not prefer to remain in his post after the November election.

Reagan's praise of Nixon's foreign policy led to questions about the political future of the former president. Reagan said history will determine that. "I would not rule out whether he will ever become a viable political force.... He obviously is not now."

Later, Reagan said he hadn't meant there would be a role for Nixon in any administration he headed. "I would not see a place for him in my administration," Reagan said. "... I have ruled him out."

So has Ford. But neither Republican contestant has ruled him out as a topic in their battle for the 1976 nomination.

Meet Held By Retirees

The American Association of Retired Persons met Tuesday afternoon at First Federal for a business meeting.

President Dr. Mildred Southwick gave the devotional and read "Just For The Day" from a book by the late Dr. Ethel Percy Andrews.

A copy of the book "Power of Years Book" has been placed in the library, a gift from the chapter.

Dr. Southwick reported that Memorial Baptist Church has offered the chapter a meeting room and the first meeting will be held there in September.

Jessie Little will serve as secretary for another year. Mrs. Kathleen Woolard reported on a Council on Aging meeting. The chapter voted to give a $100 toward raising funds to be used for transporting the elderly in the county.

Bob Knapp reported on an insurance workshop held recently in Raleigh. Bill Jones spoke on organizing a shuffle board club and interested persons are asked to contact him.

The next meeting of the group will be Monday, June 14, at 6 p.m. for a covered-dish supper at the VFW Post Home.

Mrs. Carrie West, Mrs. Lillie Carter and Mrs. Woolard served refreshments.

Two Dead In Knife Fight

ROCK HILL, S.C. (AP)—Two Rock Hill youths have been killed and four others were wounded in an apparent knife fight near the Emmett Scott Neighborhood Center here early Saturday.

Ronnie Knox and Larry Eugene Mayes, both 18, died of stab wounds in the York General Hospital emergency room about 12:45 a.m. Saturday, according to a hospital spokesman.

Larry Coleman, 18, was admitted to the hospital with stab wounds in the chest and was listed in satisfactory condition.

Treated for stab wounds and released were Aaron Archie, 18, Eddie Lee Mayes, 22, and Floyd Watkins.

No arrests have been made and the incident is under investigation by Rock Hill police.

"The incident appears to have been just a fight, but we aren't sure at this point how many persons were involved," said Rock Hill Police Capt. Bill Couick. "We are still trying to piece things together."

Thoroughfare Study Made In Farmville

FARMVILLE — A thoroughfare study is being conducted by the State Department of Transportation in and around Farmville this week.

Students are visiting local business places and counting residences to determine the extent to which vehicles are used and where.

Field data will begin being collected about June 1. Stations will be set up around the town to interview drivers about the origin and destination of the trips. Counters also will be used on various streets.

Findings and recommendations from the study will be available until 1977 or 1978, Town Administrator W. A. Martin says he understands. The study was initiated at the suggestion of the Farmville Planning Board.

Alumnae Group Held Meeting

The Greenville Alumnae Chapter of the Delta Sigma Theta Sorority held its final meeting of the year with Mrs. Brenda Teel.

President Lillie Powell and Julia C. Davis, delegates, will attend the South Atlantic Regional Conference in Roanoke, Va., June 10 and 11.

Commendations for teachers and students in the one-half year tutorial program which involved 35 students, Grades 1-6, were expressed.

My friend has a brain-injured child. He is highly intelligent and very handsome, but he's a handful. His parents must padlock the refrigerator door and have not had a full night's sleep since he was brain-injured by high fever when he was 11 months old. He's hyperactive, the doctors and psychologists say, but no amount of behavior modification or medication seems to do much good.

When he was in the first grade his parents and teachers realized that, though he can learn almost anything he wishes orally, he could not fathom reading, a primary skill that every "educated" person must have.

His mother got her hands on a copy of What To Do About Your Brain-Injured Child by Glenn Doman. She read it eagerly and was constantly relating to me all the amazing similarities between the children described in this book and her son. "I want to take Greg to The Institutes," she said, but she could get no encouragement from the medical and educational community. "See what you think," she said, so I spent the following few days with the book before me almost every waking minute. It was not easy reading, but it was fascinating. On the pages of Doman's book, I could see my friend's son, just as she did, and I could see other children I knew, too.

My friend's son is hyperactive and has a learning disability, a reading perception problem. A neighbor's child, whom the doctor had had trouble getting to breathe at birth, is considered "slow" in school. Another child I know is deaf, the result of his mother's having had German measles in the first trimester of her pregnancy. A cousin was blind from birth and also had coordination problems. An acquaintance has a horribly injured daughter (cerebral palsy, they call her), loved, but hopelessly crippled in mind and body. And a cousin, hit by a car, during his childhood has had learning and emotional adjustment problems ever since. Could all these be helped or have been helped by the Doman-Delacato treatment had their parents known?

My friend's husband read the book as soon I returned it, and they began to make plans to take their son to the Institutes for the Achievement of Human Potential in Philadelphia run by Dr. Doman and his staff. As soon as the boy was accepted, his mother said, "Carol, you're welcome to go with us." I didn't know how I could swing it, with a job and a family, but the idea was overwhelmingly appealing.

Cultural Events Add Zest To Resort

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures

Believing that "growth should not be physical alone" Glenn Janss founded what is now known as the Sun Valley Center for the Arts and Humanities.

That was five years ago and intellectual stimulation offered by the center has grown from small workshops to serious programs. This summer a team of professors from New York University will add to the center's prestige.

"When I arrived in Sun Valley in 1968 I was struck that I had gotten to a place that had nothing intellectual to offer ... and that I was really in an economically deprived county.

"But last year we began a program which became so exemplary, it was funded by Title III (a government grant.) Every public school child in the county — 60 a day — is transported for workshops in fine arts and performing arts. They also get tickets to all performing arts."

Armed with a philosophy degree (Wellesley, UCLA) and a woman of the year award from the Los Angeles Times for her activities in art and education in Los Angeles, Mrs. Janss had no intention of getting involved in art when she arrived at the resort with her five children, she says. A widow, she had become disenchanted driving her children around Los Angeles every day and she wanted a place that could provide more family companionship. After a trial vacation, riding horseback, playing tennis and the like, she made the permanent move to the resort.

"Two weeks after I arrived, Bill Janss (operator of Sun Valley) whom she married three years ago) asked me to do something in the arts." She turned him down.

"But the first winter of skiing I broke my hip, so I called him and said that I would do the art center, after all."

It began as visual arts and went on to performing arts and literary arts, she says. Ceramics, weaving and painting have been popular from the beginning and they have a well-known, quality photography program that some students take for university credits. Dance has become extremely popular and there are touring dance companies that perform or teach workshops, with a typical student on a 10-week term. There are continuing education programs affiliated with Idaho State University and an affiliation with Stanford University.

This summer the advanced programs with the NYU professors on two subjects, Cultural Change and Disorder and Strategies for Survival, will be held in two one-week sessions. "We are meeting the needs of everybody from high school students to persons continuing their education who may come for one week or two weeks and update their college knowledge. It is a great intermingling of people and a lot of excitement is generated. You can get a great exchange between a university professor and a high school student," she said.

A Western Film Conference is being assisted by the National Endowment of the Humanities, she says. Providing an opportunity for people to study history of the West, the week-long program will consist of Western movies and the myths concerning them. It will bring together filmmakers, cameramen, performers and writers who have played roles in the history of Western movies.

The center has also received grants from the Idaho State Commission. She and the director of the center make an annual trip to Washington, Mrs. Janss says, "to find out what they are interested in funding." If you have something unique that will benefit enough people and you can do a quality job, they are interested, she says.

Although she concentrates on the intellectual pursuits at the resort, she is involved in many sports programs. A competitive tennis player and Pacific Coast water ski champion (1949), she is an expert, too, on the ski slopes and ice rink.

Final Meet Held By Delta Chapter Tuesday Bridge Winners Announced

Delta Chapter of the Delta Kappa Gamma Society International held its final meeting of the year at the Farmville Methodist Church Tuesday.

Prior to the dinner there was a ceremony of initiation for the new members, Mrs. Nelson Blount Crisp and Mrs. Daisy Carson Latham. Mrs. Crisp was presented the Delta Kappa Gamma pin of the late Miss Alice Strawn.

Mrs. Edna Earle Baker, president, presided at the dinner and at the meeting which followed. Mrs. Baker spoke briefly of the Eta State Convention which was recently attended by a group from the chapter.

A brass plaque was presented in honor of Mrs. Evelyn Moyer. It is to be placed on a file cabinet that was given in her honor.

An installation ceremony of new officers for the next biennium was held at the close of the meeting. The new officers are as follows: President, Mrs. Sue Howell; First Vice President, Mrs. Betty Levey; Second Vice President, Mrs. Eunice Casey; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Sue Branch; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Christine Gantt; Treasurer, Mrs. Ruth Jones; and Parliamentarian, Mrs. Kemp Baldwin.

Mrs. Baker is to represent Region One as a director for the next biennium.

Mrs. John Richards and Mrs. E.L. Baker were first place winners in the Wednesday morning duplicate game at Planters Bank.

Others who placed were Mrs. Mary Crostwaite, second; Mrs. Jean Cox Jones and Mrs. Ralph Sullivan, third.

Wednesday afternoon winners included: Mrs. J.S. Rhodes Jr. and Mrs. Roger Critcher Jr., first; Mrs. L.D. Harris and Mrs. Clifton Toler, second; Mr. and Mrs. George Martin, third; Jim Bell and Dave Shuping, fourth; tied for fifth were Mrs. William Parvin and Dave Proctor with Mrs. W.R. Harris and Mrs. J.M. Horton.

Saturday afternoon winners at First Federal were:

North-South: Mrs. L.D. Harris and Mrs. Clifton Toler, first; Mrs. William Parvin and Dave Proctor, second; Mrs. W.R. Harris and Mrs. J.M. Horton, third; Dr. and Mrs. Charles Duffy, fourth.

East-West: Dave Shuping and Jim Bell, first; Kitty Meares and Ora Bowling, second; Mr. and Mrs. Wade Dudley, third; Mrs. George Martin and Guy Bellinger, fourth.

Favorite American dessert with a sophisticated touch: wedges of hot apple pie topped with hot custard sauce flavored with nutmeg.

Don't Blame All Children For Faults Of Few

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1976 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I have to comment on your recent reply to a letter complaining about the "no children" request on wedding invitations.

The sad part is that the great majority of today's children are undisciplined, ill-bred, ill-mannered, uncivilized, noisy, rude, destructive, dirty little horrors whom even their parents don't want anything to do with. When they become teenagers, they add dirty clothes and filthy living habits to their repertoire. If their own parents can't stand them, why should others have to put up with them?

That's what two decades of liberal, modern upbringing and education have accomplished!

It is not entirely the fault of the young people; the parents will have to share the blame for allowing them to grow up like animals and permitting the kind of educational system we now have.

HERBERT E. GORDON; S. EASTON, MASS.

DEAR MR. GORDON: The dictionary defines a "jeremiad" as "a lamentation, a lugubrious complaint." You've delivered a beaut. You conspicuously ignore some admirable qualities and praiseworthy contributions of today's young people while stigmatizing all of them for the acknowledged faults of a few. And I object!

DEAR ABBY: After 14 years of marriage, Howard asked for a divorce. I had a feeling that he had been fooling around, but then nobody's perfect.

He said he fell in love with a woman he had met at work. She is 44 and divorced. Howard is 38.

I told Howard I wanted to meet the woman, and if I thought she was good enough for him, I'd sign the papers. Well, I met her and she was a mess, so I told Howard that I wasn't going to sign any papers so he could marry THAT. I didn't forbid him from seeing her; I just let the affair burn itself out. Sure enough, in three months it was dead as a doornail.

Now Howard is thanking me for being so sensible. Maybe other women with the same problem can use my solution.

SMART MAMA

DEAR SMART: What will cure some patients will kill others. All generalizations are worthless, including this one.

DEAR ABBY: May I second your excellent recommendation to NERVOUS WRECK, whose bull-headed husband refused marriage counseling, was walking all over her and was teaching her son to do the same.

We had a similar situation at our house. I finally sought counseling alone because my husband not only refused to go with me but also tried to talk me out of it.

Several sessions with a psychiatrist relieved my depression, and at the doctor's suggestion I signed up for a course in assertiveness at a nearby mental health clinic.

Well, Abby, our marriage is on an entirely different footing now. In counseling I was treated as a rational, sensitive person whose feelings are important, and I came to view myself that way.

Because I changed, my family's reactions toward me did, too. They found that I would firmly reject disrespectful attitudes and actions and that I demanded my rights in any situation.

My husband now seems like a different man, and we are both 100 per cent happier. As for me, I'm...

NO LONGER A WRECK

DEAR NO LONGER: Thank you for supporting my constant recommendation to "get counseling." To some it may sound like a broken record. To others, a cop-out. But the mental health clinics across the nation continue to provide life-saving support for troubled people at a price everyone can afford to pay. If your marriage is in trouble and your mate refuses counseling—go alone!

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

told my friend's child, "Son, you're one of our children." As if it were midday, he took all the time in the world explaining how the boy's injury had affected what area. "He can creep and crawl," he said, "but not well. He can run, but not well. His touch perception is excellent. His eyes do not converge completely, although it's so slight that it's not visible when you look at his eyes. His general health is excellent. His main two problems are his hyperactivity and his lack of ability to read, as you know. He's not extreme by the standards of most of the parents here this week. But what a handicap he will have growing up with a personality that overwhelms everyone he meets and not being able to read!"

My friend's son's program was setup: patterning four times a day, eye stimulation, brachiation (swinging from bar to bar), reading drill, and crawling, crawling, crawling. Three people would be needed for each patterning. The drill would have to be incessant. And there would never be a day off, not even Christmas. It was going to be hard, especially because the boy was eight years old and the gap was so big!

I left Philadelphia International the next morning. I'd seen the place, the staff, the pathetic children and hopeful parents. I'd also spent hours talking with Harold, a former Doman-Delacato child who had just finished college and would soon start his internship there. He had directed me through all the buildings, introduced me to people I could not otherwise have met, told me numerous stories of people he had known over the years there. "I'm a shining example that the Doman Delacato method works," he said, "and I want to spend my life helping other brain-injured kids have the same chance I had."

My friends stayed on for four more days of exhausting yet exhilarating lectures and instruction in neurological organization training methods. "You're your son's hope for a normal life," they were told. "This is a do-it-yourself project."

Tomorrow: Neurological organization—what's it all about?

BPW Club Officers Installed

The new officers of the Greenville Business and Professional Women's Club was installed Thursday evening at a meeting held at the Ramada Inn.

Mrs. Ruth Garner conducted the ceremony, during which each new officer lighted a candle symbolic of the qualities expressed in the Club Collect.

Dream House Is Getting Away

It is mournful news for families who want to acquire their own homes that prices of new homes are rising at the annual rate of 22 percent.

That means that for the young couple who can't quite afford their dream home this year, it will be completely out of reach next year.

The Federal Home Loan Bank Board reported last week that the median sale price of a new home in February was $43,000. It was $38,000 in February, 1975. The board thinks this has increased by another $1,000 in March.

The board says rising prices "throw a big question mark over the ability of builders to reach more of the mass market of first-time home purchasers."

Construction of new housing has increased recently but the Federal Home Loan Bank Board is concerned that the rapidly increasing prices will hurt the housing industry and also put home ownership beyond the reach of many people.

For many years it has been the rule that housing won't be any cheaper than it is today. The outlook for continually rising housing costs seems to make that rule more true today than ever.

No Compromise In This Election Year

The Democratic Legislature and the Republican governor deadlocked again last week on the question of Gov. Holshouser's appointments to the State Utilities Commission.

The Democratic controlled Legislature acted "pretty and arbitrarily," Holshouser maintained, in rejecting his nominees.

This being a political and partisan years, the Democrats seemed in no mood to compromise on the appointments which they feel can be made by a Democratic governor after the first of the year.

THIS AFTERNOON

Analyst Defends VD Data

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH — Despite protests from some quarters, several health experts active in the Coalition on Sexually Transmitted Diseases stand by their startling projection that venereal diseases have become pandemic in North Carolina.

Recent comments by legislative health analyst John H. Young have drawn fire from some health officials around the state, and his conclusion that one out of three Tar Heels in the high school and college age bracket (15-24) would have contracted a venereal disease was especially questioned.

Young stands by those figures, and top state health division statisticians cannot refute them. The most common dissent from official sources is "we would hate to think that is true... but we can't disprove it."

Actual case figures gathered by health statisticians show that Gonorrhoea climbed from 394.5 cases per 100,000 population in 1970 to 676.7 per 100,000 in 1974. Among non-whites, the rate increased almost 100 per cent: from 1,383.8 per 100,000 in 1970, to 2,410.8 per 100,000 in 1974.

Many Hidden

But Young insists those official figures only scratch the surface, reflecting only about 20 per cent of the actual cases.

Top state health officials concur in that, admitting that actual cases probably outnumber reported cases by four or five to one.

Those officials also agree that 75 per cent of the venereal disease cases are concentrated in the 15-24 age group. It is also obvious that among ghetto and rural low-income non-whites the rate of infection is alarmingly higher.

The official line from the top is that the rate is not as high as Young portrays it.

But the truth is that Young's conclusions are based on information provided to him through the backdoor by some of the same top-level health officials who support "official" figures showing a lower level of venereal disease in the state.

Many venereal diseases are never reported, especially when treated by private physicians. This is true despite state regulations requiring that a report be made, but the state admittedly lacks enforcement personnel or mechanisms to see that this done.

Secondly, many cases of Gonorrhoea are never treated, especially among males where the symptoms appear for several days, then fade. The unaware female can be a carrier. Despite insistence by some local County Health Department agents that they are reporting accurately the numbers of cases, state officials say privately that the overwhelming majority go unreported.

The conclusion reached by Young that between 30 and 35 per cent of the high school and college-age group (15-24) will have been infected by a venereal disease at some time during those years; and that in low-income non-white areas the incident rate would reach 50 per cent, is a difficult one to accept for most.

Most Resist

"Many adults just will not accept that. They just will not assume that our 'good kids' are being affected," Young says. "What about our virgins... surely more youngsters than that in-

Added Paper Work

By ROBERT B. CULLEN
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH (AP) — This is the way the bureaucracy grows: unintentionally, unobtrusively, politically and inevitably.

When the North Carolina General Assembly finished work on the budget last week, there were, despite well-publicized "slashes" in state spending, a number of new positions for government employees. This is the story of 157 of them. They will be going to work soon in courthouses across the state.

No one intended, during the past few years in the General Assembly, to create more bureaucrats. But there were well-meaning efforts to update the criminal code, to protect the rights of mental patients, to force men to support their families, and to insure that a man's last will leaves his money where he wants it left.

Those efforts started in study commissions where legislators and consultants carefully considered all the things that could go wrong and devised ways to combat them. Unfortunately, most of those safeguards involved filling out forms.

There were forms to fill out to formally record every step in a criminal's procession from the police station to the penitentiary. Individual forms to be signed by several doctors before a man committed. Multitudinous forms in the filing of estates and the search for errant fathers.

Almost all of those forms pass, at one time or another, through the county courthouses to be checked, filed, stamped, signed, or rerouted. People must do those jobs.

The people working in the county courthouses began to notice that they had to work overtime just to keep up with the growing load. It was especially acute in rapidly growing metropolitan counties.

Government clerical employees, with some exceptions, are not known for their tendency to work unpaid overtime voluntarily. They began to complain, and the court clerks heard their complaints.

They, in turn, passed them on to members of the legislature and to Bert Montague, the head of the administrative office of the courts in Raleigh.

Montague agreed that the need existed, at least in some counties. And when he went to the legislature, he found that the need might be filled. He had to find a way to pay for the positions and he did, suggesting an increase in court costs that would yield the necessary $1.5 million without upsetting the tight budget situation.

Like most agency heads, Montague has learned the politics of appropriations. He made certain that nearly every county in the state would get at least one new clerk, just to give the request wide appeal. The larger counties would get three or four.

Perhaps coincidentally, two of the state's smallest counties—Bladen and Halifax—were cut in for not one, but two new clerks. Perhaps coincidentally, House Speaker James C. Green is from Bladen and majority leader C. Kitchin Josey is from Halifax.

At any rate, Josey shepherded the new positions through the budget process. Usually, he would take the matter up toward the end of a meeting. He was quiet and effective.

As long as every county got a slice of the pie, there were few complaints. Some legislators from counties like Mecklenburg (Continued on page 5)

Not Without A Fight

By ART BUCHWALD

WASHINGTON — I stopped by Stanislaus' house the other day to return his lawn mower and I found him dressed in his World War II U.S. Marine Corps uniform.

"Stanislaus," I said, "What the heck are you doing?"

"I just wanted to see if it fitted or not," he said. "I may be needing it again."

"What for? You're 52 years old."

"Haven't you been watching the news?" he asked. "Reagan says we may have to go to war over the Panama Canal."

"That's just campaign rhetoric," I said. "Reagan isn't serious about going to war over Panama."

"Oh yeah? Well, he won Texas, Georgia and the Indiana primaries because we may give it away. If Reagan wins the nomination and the election, and Panama makes one false move, it's going to mean the Halls of Montezuma all over again."

"Stanislaus, I can't believe that this country would go to war over the Panama Canal."

"That's because you haven't listened to Reagan," he said.

"The United States dug that canal with its bare hands. Our boys died from yellow fever and malaria and dysentery. We're not going to let some two-bit dictator take it away from us without a fight."

"Would you please put down that rifle and bayonet?" I begged him. "Nobody believes in the Panama Canal more than I do, and I certainly wouldn't want it to fall into the wrong hands. But the canal is in Panama and we should be able to work out some sort of treaty with them that would assure us the use and defense of it, in return for giving the Panamanians sovereignty over their own country."

Stanislaus dug red in the face. "The Panama Canal is sovereign American territory as much as Louisiana or Alaska. We paid for it with American dollars and they promised we could keep it forever. Teddy Roosevelt must be twirling in his grave knowing the State Department is negotiating new terms with a clique of barefooted natives who can't even speak English."

"What are you doing with those hand grenades?" I asked him.

"Just checking them out to see if they're any good. Listen, boy, if we have to go into the canal it's not going to be a cinch like Vietnam. We're going to have to fight them in the jungles, in the swamps and up to our butts in mud. We may have to take on all of Central America and South America before we're finished. But, by God, we're going to make them think twice before they take another canal away from us."

"I didn't realize Ronald Reagan would get you so worked up," I said. "Look, Stanislaus, there must be another solution besides war. Would you agree to have us fill in the Panama Canal with dirt so they couldn't use it for themselves?"

"I hadn't thought of that," he admitted. "But what about yellow fever? Don't forget the Americans rid Panama of yellow fever."

"Okay, we'll give them back yellow fever," I said. "Then we could build another canal somewhere else and no one would have to get killed."

"I don't think Reagan would go for it," he said, putting on his helmet. "Panama is his San Juan Hill. It would easily make him the next President of the United States."

Stanislaus put his pack on his back. "How do I look?" he asked me.

"Beautiful," I said. "If I were a Panamanian soldier I'd be shaking in my boots."

"Don't make fun of me," Stanislaus said. "If you want to go to Canada rather than fight Panama that's your business. But there are still enough patriotic Americans left who are waiting for Reagan to give us the word."

"What word?" I asked.

Stanislaus shouted, "CHARGE!!!"

THE INSIDE REPORT

Suggests Jimmy A Hawk

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — An attempt by a disaffected speechwriter to poison Jimmy Carter among liberals unintentionally bolsters the instinctive guess by many hard-line Democrats that Carter is a far lesser evil than Sen. Hubert Humphrey.

Left-wing speechwriter Bob Shrum's remarkable 6,000-word memorandum recounting nine days as a Carter aide has been widely publicized for its indictment of Carter as an unprincipled Nixon reincarnation. What has received little attention, however, is Shrum's portrayal of his erstwhile employer supporting U.S. air cover for Korea, resisting big defense cuts, reconsidering the B-1 bomber and keeping dovish advisers at arm's length.

That spells political indigestion for McGovernites across the country who swallowed Carter whole, including his delphic vagueness on defense. But it buttresses the instinctive reaction by many backers of the defeated Sen. Henry M. Jackson after the Pennsylvania primary. Although Humphrey then seemed certain to run, Jackson hard-liners refused to back him on grounds that unknown quantity Carter is better than Humphrey's certifiable softness on defense.

Nobody can safely predict the evasive Carter's course as President. But Shrum's gossipy tidbits, plus Humphrey's 84.6 per cent favorable rating last year by the dovish SANE organization (compared with Jackson's 16.7 per cent), help explain why 1976 ABC (Anybody But Carter) lacks the fervor of 1972 ABM (Anybody But McGovern).

Ardent McGovernite Shrum seems stunned by Carter's national security positions — such as "indefinite air cover for the South Koreans" (Carter

To the editor:

Approximately one year ago the Greenville-Pitt County Board of Realtors undertook a community project which had been in the talking stage (by many citizens) for over 10 years; namely, the feasibility of establishing a YMCA in the Greenville area.

After organizing a concerned citizens committee for input and legwork, the Realtors' Make America Better Committee sponsored a survey-interview of about 150 Greenville key people. During this time a representative of the National YMCA was available for consultation and advisement. The survey results indicated over 50 percent of the people believed a YMCA was needed and could be financed.

However, there was no one who was able to find the great amount of time it would take to run the necessary financial campaign. It was also evident that most people felt this was not an auspicious time to engage in "another" fund raising drive.

The Board of Realtors is committed to this important project and plans to reconsider it next year.

At this time the Make America Better Committee would like to thank those who did give so much of themselves in working on the advisory and survey committees. It will not have been done in vain.

Strength For Today

THOUGHT AND ACTION

The historian, Carl Van Doren, once wrote, "I have never in my life thought things out, nor have I known anyone who ever did. I have always had to live them out, thinking as I went along."

Many people think that they can completely plan their lives and make everything conform to a schedule. Everybody, of course, should have a plan for his life, but he or she should be aware that this plan will have to be modified in many respects and may even have to be put aside entirely.

When the great crisis of life are upon us, we cannot go into seclusion and think them out. Life is not an abstraction; rather, it is a pilgrimage. There is something disconcertingly concrete about the whole of it. It consists not in nicely laid plans or in carefully spun theories, but in perplexities, frustration, and a few overwhelming joys followed by a series of blighting mistakes and griefs. We can consider ourselves fortunate if the joys outweigh the griefs.

Is Stock Certificate Needed?

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Should the stock certificate be entirely eliminated and replaced by a bookkeeping entry?

That argument has been waged heatedly in the securities business, which cannot forget the deluge of paper that overwhelmed it in the late 1960s and actually led to the downfall of many brokerage houses.

Why keep moving the certificate itself about? Why not leave it in one place and simply give the owner a piece of paper attesting to his or her ownership. Paper would be reduced and fewer certificates would be lost.

The questions made sense, and now we are half-way there. Customers have been urged to leave certificates with their brokers. And movement of certificates between brokers has been reduced by a central depository.

The individual, however, retains the right to keep the certificate himself, and many stock owners prefer to do so. Now there is talk of taking away that choice by eliminating the certificate altogether.

But the certificateless society, even before it gets started, is running into problems and opposition.

One such problem is that the actual certificate must be replaced by a substitute piece of paper — you just can't eliminate paper, it seems — and that substitute wouldn't be negotiable, as is a certificate.

Another problem recently was cited by Thomas Stanley, vice president of Morgan Guaranty Trust Co, who warned that to seek total elimination could be construed as another assault on individual investors.

In his view, the elimination would be an attempt by the industry to solve one of its own problems by "invading the homes" of 25 to 30 million shareholders who might prize the certificate itself, not a substitute piece of paper.

These people, he said, have ownership certificates for their homes, cars and insurance, and certainly are capable of safely storing their stock certificates too.

As he sees it, people are entitled to possession of their stocks, if they so choose, and they'll rebel against efforts of the industry to take them away, "and I don't want to be a part of trying to force it on them."

As it is, the industry is thought by many critics to have done enough to discourage the small or individual investors who, according to some sources, including the N.Y. Stock Exchange, has been leaving the market place.

Some evidence of this was included in a current "Report to Institutions" by the exchange, which noted that $377 billion in corporate stock was in the hands of institutions in mid-1975. That's 45 per cent of the total.

Of even greater importance seems to be the trend. Institutional ownership rose only 1 per cent from 1965 to 1970, but in the latest five-year period through part of 1975, it soared 31 per cent.

At the same time, the exchange claimed, individual ownership dropped 18.1 per cent.

Beirut Suffers Bitter Battle

By NICK LUDINGTON
Associated Press Writer
BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Moslems and Christians fought one of the most savage rocket and artillery duels of the 13-month-long civil war late Sunday and early today.

Police reported 221 persons killed and 383 wounded overnight, pushing the war's death toll to more than 19,000.

Hospitals issued urgent appeals for blood and said the wounded were being placed on bare floors.

Scores of high-rise apartment buildings were ablaze in downtown Beirut and the suburbs.

On Sunday, about 50 movejogers in a Moslem area were killed or wounded as they walked out of a theater and into a mortar battle. A spokesman at Barbir hospital said 34 bodies were brought there but some of the victims might have been killed elsewhere.

The over-all death toll included journalist Edouard Saab, editor of the French-language newspaper L'Orient le Jour, who was fatally wounded by a sniper bullet as drove his car in Beirut.

A police spokesman said the Moslem and Christian militias fired more than 1,000 rounds of Soviet-made rockets and 155mm artillery shells in the duel.

Police said fighting continued for a sixth day for control of ski resort villages on the edge of the Christian enclave on Mount Lebanon, 20 miles north-east of Beirut.

Palestinian leader Yasir Arafat was meeting in Damascus with Syrian President Hafez Assad.

In Beirut, Christian President Suleiman Franjeh announced that he had made no commitment to resign quickly and turn over the government to Elias Sarkis, elected by parliament 10 days ago with Syrian backing.

Moslem leftists had made Franjeh's resignation a key condition for ending the civil war.

Libyan Prime Minister Abdul Jalloud arrived from Damascus where he met with Assad and Arafat. Jalloud conferred here with Moslems leaders in another mediation effort.

Food shortages are acute among an estimate 100,000 Lebanese living in temporary quarters, U.N. officials said.

Vaccine for half a million persons is being rushed to Lebanon this week to head off potential epidemics of cholera, polio, diphtheria and typhoid, according to James McDougall, Middle East director of the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF).

He announced that UNICEF plans to distribute insecticides and chlorination kits.

"The accumulation of garbage and rubble, the pollution of the air, the contamination of water sources, the breakdown in sewage disposal and increasing swarms of flies and insects are all potential sources of epidemics," McDougall told the weekly Monday Morning.

Saab, 47, died at Barbir Hospital after he was shot in the head as he drove his car across the no-man's land between Moslem and Christian sectors.

Moslem Premier Rashid Karami broadcast a plea for peace and an end to clashes between Moslem militiamen and Syrian-based Palestinians trying to police the ineffective cease-fire. He called the battles "bloody fighting among brothers."

Karami defended the Syrian intervention to halt the war, saying Syria's only interest was Lebanon's welfare.

Several thousand Saiga Palestinian guerrillas controlled by Syria were sent into Lebanon by Syrian President Hafez Assad, who is trying to mediate an end to the war between Moslems and Christians that has claimed more than 18,000 lives.

The Moslems, with a 60 per cent majority of Lebanon's population, are demanding a greater share of the political and economic power that rests with the Christian minority. The Christians, in turn, want assurances that the government will exert greater control over the Palestinian refugees and their guerrilla armies living in Lebanon.

CROSSING THE BRIDGE— Greenville's Girl Scouts held Brownie Fly-Up ceremonies Friday at 6:30 p.m. in Green Springs Park. Approximately 61 Brownies and Greenville's Junior Girl Scouts participated in the candlelight service. Each Brownie received a green sash with wings from her Junior Scout escort. This ceremony represents the advancement of the Brownies to Junior Girl Scouts. Candles were burning representing the Girl Scout promise and the Girl Scout laws. (Reflector Photo by Tommy Forrest)

Workshops For Band Directors

Two workshops for directors of marching bands will be offered by East Carolina University this summer. One workshop has been scheduled for Burlington's Williams High School, June 21-22, and the other, for ECU's A.J. Fletcher Music Center, June 23-24.

Further information and registration materials are available from the ECU Division of Continuing Education, East Carolina University, Greenville, N.C. 27834.

Dr. Sloan Will Address Meet

Dr. Jerry Sloan of the East Carolina University Developmental Evaluation Clinic will speak before a meeting of the N. C. Autistic Children's Foundation Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

The meeting will be held at First Federal Savings and Loan on Greenville Boulevard here.

Had 2 Collisions

Saturday was a bad night for James Aswell Heath Jr. of Route 1, Walstonburg.

Police reported a car driven by Heath collided with a vehicle driven by Jeffrey Lawrence Campbell of 206 Westhaven Dr. at the intersection of Dickinson Avenue and 14th Street, about 9:43 p.m. causing an estimated $400 damage to the Campbell car and $500 damage to the Heath vehicle.

Heath, according to investigators, allegedly drove his car from the scene of that collision and at 9:55 p.m., collided with a car driven by Melinda Hague Behr of 951 Shady Lane on Cotanche Street, 70 feet South of the Reade Street intersection. Damage from that collision was estimated at $400 to the Heath vehicle and $600 to the Behr car.

Police charged Heath with leaving the scene of an accident, careless and reckless driving and possession of marijuana, following investigation of the two collisions.

Nab Youths Society Inducted In Break-In ECU Journalists

Melvin Earl Wilkes, 17, of 1509A Fleming S. t. and Gregory Scott Davis, 16, of 606C West 14th St. were arrested early Sunday morning by Greenville Police in connection with a break-in at Carr Motor Company at 415 South Memorial Dr. according to Chief Glenn Cannon.

Cannon said the two gained entrance to the building by breaking open a window and apparently took the keys to two cars.

One of the vehicles was found abandoned on Battle Street.

Police, Cannon said, arrested Wilkes and Davis about 1:40 a.m. after a chase that ended when the car Wilkes was driving collided with a mail box in front of the Pitt County Mental Health Center on the Stantonsburg Road.

Wilkes was charged with speeding, no operators license, failing to stop for a blue light and siren and breaking, entering and larceny, while Davis was charged with breaking, entering and larceny.

East Carolina University campus journalists were inducted into the Society for Collegiate Journalists, a national honor society for staff members of campus publications Sunday.

The new SCJ members were formally inducted in an evening ceremony held in the Mendenhall Student Center. They include:

Franklin Barrow of Greenville, Kenneth Campbell of Whiteville, Patricia Coyle of Rocky Mount, Richard Michael Drogos of Chapel Hill, James Elliot of Vanceboro, Charles Jackson Harrill of Reidsville, Janet Lynn Hoepfel of Winston-Salem, Barbara Mathews of Charlotte, Robert Craig Maxon of Montville, N.J.

William Patrick of Mount Airy, Samuel Rogers of Durham, Jeff Rollins of Newton, Larry Wheeler of Nashville, James Williams of Jacksonville, and Teresa Whisnant, William Benton and Samuel Collier of Goldsboro.

Ira L. Baker of the ECU journalism faculty is advisor to the ECU campus SCJ chapter.

The Society for Collegiate Journalists is a newly-formed organization, created with the merging of two national journalism honor societies: Alpha Phi Gamma and Pi Delta Epsilon. ECU had an active Alpha Phi Gamma chapter.

The merger now gives the SCJ 170 active chapters at U.S. campuses.

may be exaggerating when he has Carter rejecting even Brzezinski for Nitze's accelerated defense spending. In truth, both Brzezinski and Nitze want Carter to preserve his options in preparation for virtually inevitable higher military spending — advice accepted by Carter according to Shrum's disclosures.

Equally revealing is Shrum's report that Carter is reconsidering the B-1 bomber because it may be needed to deliver the cruise missile. Though that argument is dubious, it makes Carter the only Democratic candidate other than Scoop Jackson interested in the invaluable cruise missile. In contrast, Humphrey wants to ban this new weapons system, where the U.S. leads Moscow.

Is all this just trimming for political effect? Or do these peeks behind the peanut curtain show a basic mind-set by the former naval officer? If the latter, there is anguish ahead for all those doves who thought they were getting George McGovern with a Southern accent.

Probing Theft Of Tape Player

Police are investigating the theft of a tape player from a car owned by Nathaniel Barnes of 1114 West Sixth St. sometime Sunday morning.

No legislators asked whether it might be cheaper and easier, in the long run, to cut the paperwork instead of adding more paper shufflers.

That would have required tough, hard legislative work. And with the budget finally balanced and the end of the session in sight, there was no stomach for it.

So they went home, where many of them will probably campaign for reelection with speeches that criticize that growing, faceless government bureaucracy.

Drill Instructor Draws Sentence

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C. (AP)—Marine Corps Sgt. William E. Smith has been sentenced after his conviction by a general court martial at Parris Island for violating recruit training procedures, maltreatment and assault.

Smith, 22, was sentenced last Thursday to a bad conduct discharge, confinement at hard labor for three months, forfeiture of one-half of all pay and allowances for three months and reduction in grade to private.

Smith is the fifth drill instructor at Parris Island to be sentenced recently by courts martial in connection with assault and mistreatment of recruits.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences hopes less will mean more at its 28th annual Emmy Awards tonight.

Academy officials, embarrassed by a steady decline in the show's TV audience over the past five years, have streamlined the program and are guessing that by presenting fewer awards than in years past they will attract more viewers.

The emphasis instead will be on entertainment at the Emmy presentations, which will be nationally televised from the Shubert Theater beginning at 9 p.m. EDT on ABC-TV.

Mary Tyler Moore and John Denver are the hosts and entertainment will be provided by George Burns, Lola Falana, John Sebastian, Marvin Hamlisch and 24 dancers.

Actually, the academy is handing out more awards than ever this year but tonight's telecast covers only those for the top nighttime and sports programs and individual writing, directing and acting honors.

Awards for daytime and craft categories were presented in separate ceremonies last week. No date has been set for news and documentary awards — indeed, they may not be handed out at all because of a continuing controversy over the categorizing and judging procedures.

Much interest will be focused tonight on "Rich Man, Poor Man," the ABC mini-series which garnered a record 23 nominations. Nine of its actors are up for Emmys and the show itself is nominated for best limited series, competing against "Upstairs, Downstairs," "The Law," "The Adams Chronicles" and "Jennie: Lady Randolph Churchill." In the competition for best actress in a comedy series, Mary Tyler Moore finds herself competing against two actresses who used to be supporting players in her cast, Valerie Harper of "Rhoda" and Cloris Leachman of "Phyllis." Also nominated are Beatrice Arthur of "Maude" and Academy Award winner Lee Grant of the short-lived "Fay."

Among the prominent non-nominees this year are three former Emmy winners — Carroll O'Connor and Jean Stapleton of "All in the Family" and Robert Blake of "Baretta." A foul-up in the mail prevented them — and a number of other well-known actors — from being entered on the Academy's preliminary nominating ballot.

Academy officials said they encounter this problem with a few people every year but admitted they suffered a public relations disaster because so many big names were involved this time. They plan to explain the mishap during the show tonight.

Also on tap is a tribute to the late Rod Serling, featuring clips from some of the many television dramas he wrote.

The threat of more showers for the Tar Heel state will linger through Tuesday. Some rather heavy showers moved onto the state last night after what turned out to be a rather pleasant day for most of the state.

After partly cloudy skies and mild temperatures today, readings into 60s and 50s will hold for the nighttime hours. A weak cold front advancing toward

North Carolina will push its way into the state today and tonight. This front will give us our threat of showers for late today and tonight.

Slightly cooler temperatures will return Tuesday. Temperatures will average in the low 70s with lows cooling into the 40s and 50s.

The rest of the week promises sunny skies and pleasant temperatures with highs in the 70s and lows in the 50s except 40s in the mountains.

The Parris Island commander, Maj. Gen. A. J. Poillon, had ordered trials for Smith, S. Sgt. Bryan Bellene, 21, and Sgt. Michael D. Giles, 27. The charges against the men included assault, maltreatment and failure to report to military authorities offenses punishable under the Uniform Code of Military Justice, a Marine Corps spokesman said.

Bellene is yet to be tried. Giles was sentenced to a bad conduct discharge, confinement at hard labor for one year, reduction in grade to private and forfeiture of all pay and allowances. He was convicted May 7 of four counts each of assaulting recruits and violating recruit training procedures.

Twelve recruits testified at a hearing in mid-April that Bellene, Smith and Giles physically abused some recruits.

Three Accidents In Greenville Sunday

An estimated $3,350 property damage resulted from a series of three collisions investigated by Greenville Police here yesterday.

Officers reported heaviest damage resulted from an 8:50 a.m. collision on 14th Street, 100 feet East of the Broad Street intersection involving cars driven by Ricky Harrell of Route 1, Ayden and David Earl Tyson of 600 West 14th St.

Police, who charged Harrell with making an improper turn, estimated damage at $800 to the Harrell vehicle and $1,000 to the Tyson car.

An estimated $500 damage resulted to each of two cars involved in an 8:15 a.m. mishap at the intersection of Tenth and Elm Streets.

Drivers of the cars involved were identified as Phillis Ann Gilbert of Norman, Oklahoma, and Hazel Garris Whitehurst of 204 South Elm St. Officers charged Miss Gilbert with failing to stop for a stop light.

Doris Jean Cox of Route 2, Ayden was charged with failing to see her intended movement could be made in safety following investigation of an 11:25 a.m. mishap on Memorial Drive, 150 feet North of the Trade Street intersection.

According to Officers, the Cox car collided with an auto driven by Lucille Williams Cox of Route 2, Greenville, resulting in an estimated $150 damage to the Lucille Cox car and $400 damage to the Doris Jean Cox vehicle.

Journalism Group Publishes Tabloid

Journalism students at East Carolina University have published an eight-page tabloid newspaper, printed through courtesy and facilities of the Rocky Mount Evening Telegram and its publisher, Carl Worsley.

Students in advanced reporting, editing, editorial writing and feature writing courses contributed the editorial content. Front-page stories include such topics as "Environmental Cancer Caused by Pollutants," by Barbara Mathews of Charlotte; "Drugs, Diet Help Hyperactive Kids," by Jim Kyle of Fayetteville; and "Shore-Line Erosion May Affect Property Owners," by Steven Messick of Burlington.

Others contributing include Ray Tyler of Winston-Salem, Terry Little of Stantonsburg, Diane Taylor of Goldsboro, William Rambeau and Rudy Howell of Smithfield, John Dayberry of Raleigh, Kenneth Bradner of Greensboro, Kenneth Carpunky of Kinston, Renee Moore of New Bern, Rick Short of Colonial Heights, Va. and Elizabeth Best of Roanoke Rapids.

Serving as copy editors were Barbara Mathews of Charlotte and Betty Hatch of Goldsboro. Jimmy Williams of Jacksonville was make-up editor.

Courses involved were taught by ECU journalism faculty members Ira L. Baker and Lawrence O'Keef.

Bicyclist Hurt In Accident

Lance David Kellas of 1112 Dickinson Ave. was injured when the bicycle he was riding collided with a car driven by Richard Alan Manning of Route 3, Greenville about 11:52 p.m. Saturday at the intersection of Cotanche and Reade Streets.

Investigators, who charged Kellas with having improper equipment, said an estimated $25 damage resulted to the bicycle, while no damage resulted to the Manning car.

Zero Pilot Recalls His Attack On LBJ's Bomber

By BARRY SHLACHTER
Associated Press Writer
TOKYO (AP) — Saburo Sakai says he clearly remembers the cloudy morning 34 years ago when, flying a Japanese Zero fighter, he nearly shot down an American bomber carrying a Texas congressman — Lyndon Baines Johnson.

which dived sharply into a cloud and disappeared over the South Pacific.

"I riddled the B26 Marauder with my guns," Sakai recalled. "And if it wasn't for that cloud, world history would be quite different today."

Sakai's war diary entry for June 9, 1942, corresponds with details of the aerial combat for which Johnson, then a Navy commander on special leave from Congress, received a Silver Star for "gallantry in action."

Johnson also has the distinction of having escaped from Japan's greatest living ace, who had 64 kills. In building his aerial combat record, Sakai was wounded four times and blinded in one eye.

Because the "Heckling Hare" got away, Sakai said, he considered his performance poor that day and did not include the incident in his book, "Samurai of the Sky." The book is the basis for a major Japanese film of the same name to be released in October.

He also wrote the book before two American authors tracked him down in the 1960s to confirm his role in the incident, and inform him how Johnson, sent to the Pacific on a fact-finding mission by President Franklin D. Roosevelt, had volunteered to join the "Heckling Hare's" crew on a risky attack on Sakai's air base at Lae, New Guinea.

Sakai now is a successful Tokyo management consultant who draws freely on his wartime experiences to lecture on leadership, teamwork and the topic, "Life is a Competition." On a coffee table in his home, he used hand-drawn maps and plastic model airplanes to reenact the unsuccessful American attack on Lae in which Johnson took part.

The air battle began when three Zeros were sent to pursue two B17 bombers flying without fighter escort. The remaining 22 Zeros at Lae, with Sakai in one, took off as a group of U.S. B25 bombers appeared.

"Suddenly, I saw a dozen B26 Marauders approaching at my altitude, 7,000 meters 23,000 feet, and realized the B17s and B25s had been sent earlier as decoys to drive our Zeros away from the Marauders," Sakai said.

Sakai said he roared at one of the Marauders with guns blazing.

"I was skimming the top of a cloud bank and caught the American bomber by surprise, quickly downing it," he said.

Next he went after the "Heckling Hare." Although Sakai says he raked it well with cannon and machine-gun fire, the plane — with Johnson aboard — vanished into the cloud and lost him.

"What I don't understand to this day is why there was no fighter escort for all those bombers," he said.

American pilots that day claimed they shot down seven

Zeros. Japanese flyers claimed they had downed four U.S. bombers. But Sakai said there were no Japanese losses in that particular engagement and U.S. records show only one American plane hadn't returned.

The 1964 book on the incident, "The Mission," by Martin Caidin and Edward Hymoff, credits Sakai with downing the one B26.

Sakai is proud of his war record. "I have no feelings of guilt," he said in an interview.

"It was my duty to defend my country no matter what the reason."

Over the years, he has come to know many of the American pilots he engaged in aerial combat. In Sakai's new Tokyo home hangs a portrait of him as a young pilot painted by a U.S. flyer, the late Gene Valencia of San Diego, Calif.

Near the painting on a shelf stands a trophy, a small token of playful revenge on his former enemies. Invited to the American fighter aces' 1971 reunion, he won the group's golf tournament with a 10 under par — "and with only one eye," he laughs.

After the war, Sakai began a printing company but has devoted most of his time in recent years to writing and lecturing.

Farm Scene

Agricultural Extension Agent

As we complete the transplanting of the tobacco crop, it is not too early to begin planning the plant bed program for 1977. A well-planned program, based on sound, proved practices, will greatly reduce the risk involved in producing a good supply of healthy tobacco plants.

Plant production is a very important part of growing a tobacco crop. Let's begin now to carry out these proven practices in producing our plants for the 1977 crop. 200 Years Ago: Many live oaks that witnessed the early coastal colonization of Eastern North Carolina still survive. They say of the live oak that it grows for 300 years, lives for 300 years, and dies for 300 years. Early writers described some live oaks as having a clear trunk up to 18 feet but most are short bodied with massive limbs. Many cattle or other large animals were hung from these limbs for dressing. Also, at nearly every coastal county courthouse the massive live oak limbs provided a convenient place to tie a hangman's noose.

The settlement and development of the new lands were made easier by the liberal use of the splendid forests of oak. This wood, more than any other, fenced the farms of the pioneers, built their houses, blockhouses, barns, dams, mills and bridges, supplied charcoal for forages, and fuel for fires. Early explorers praised the white oak. The entered the American wilderness looking for farmland and learned that the oak guided to the best.

Once the plant bed site is selected, the soil should be managed properly throughout the summer months for best results. Whether an old or new plant bed site is used, good physical condition and high organic matter in the soil seems to be very helpful in getting a good stand on promoting good growth. A summer cover crop of soybeans or cowpeas will not only help maintain good physical conditions of the soil but will help keep weeds from growing and producing seed on the plant bed site. The cover crop should be disced in early in the fall so it will be decayed before time to treat the soil for weed and nematode control.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — When the dance of the spring winds begins in the skies of America's heartland, a deadly game of tornado roulette often follows.

The weather service is actually more of a tornado doughnut that seems to revolve around the state of Missouri. For some unexplained reason, Missouri does not have as many tornadoes as some of the states that surround it.

Tornadoes are a weatherman's nightmare. They strike with the same quickness as the lightning they generate; their unpredictability is matched in nature only by an earthquake or flash flood; they leave a corkscrew trail of death, terror and awesome destruction.

Part of the problem in Arkansas and Mississippi, where 11 persons died in March in a rash of storms, may be terrain.

In the flat lands of Oklahoma and Kansas, persons in the path of a twister can many times see the long rope-like funnel snaking its way across the ground and get out of the way.

"Here, you usually hear them before you see them," said Little rock assistant meteorologist Tice Wagoner. "Also, we may have a little more moisture feeding into our storms, so here they are often masked by rain."

Science has yet to come up with instruments capable of forecasting which of the many thunderstorms that rake the area annually will actually produce a tornado. The two best methods so far are radar and human observers.

New radar systems are in the works that forecasters hope will someday peer into the clouds and spot the actual rotation of a tornado in the making. But the day when it will be working nationally, said Makosky, is probably 10 years off.

In the meantime, weathermen will continue to rely on radar systems that, although superior to those of 20 years ago, provide only about 15 per cent of all the warnings issued.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market, still in the grip of interest rate worries, posted another decline today.

Trading was light. The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was down 4.41 at 988.19 on top of Friday's 8.50-point slide.

Losers outpaced gainers by about a 5-3 margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Brokers said investors were still watching warily for any signs of a further tightening of credit by the Federal Reserve.

Another negative influence was a Senate Budget Committee report which suggested New York City needed to make deeper spending reductions to succeed in its efforts to extricate itself from its financial problems.

Transamerica Corp. was the most active Big Board issue, down 1/4 at 105. A 100,000-share block traded at 10 1/2.

Baker Industries, subject of some negative comments in Barron's financial weekly, fell 1 1/2 to 9 1/4.

Houston Oil & Minerals jumped 2 1/2 to 56 1/2 at the American Stock Exchange. The oil and gas company reported a "significant extension" to an offshore Texas field.

The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks slipped .15 to 53.86 in the first hour.

The Amex market value index lost .25 to 104.56.

Rain Means Kilowatts

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Tennessee Valley Authority hydroelectric generators were working again after three days of intermittent rainfall over much of the TVA area.

The weekend rainfall represents a lot of kilowatts of electricity for the agency's power system," Bob Shelton, TVA's river management branch chief, said Sunday.

Shelton said many TVA reservoirs, which have fallen to low levels because of dry spring weather, were rising rapidly.

Fontana Lake in western North Carolina rose 14 feet Saturday. Douglas, Hiwassee and other lakes also were expected to rise several feet, Shelton said.

The rain began falling Friday, about the time TVA announced a $1.46 rate increase per 1,000-kilowatt-hours of electricity, effective in June.

The agency attributed most of the increase to purchases made from other utilities because of the lack of hydroelectric production due to the dry weather.

Jenkins Chosen For Award

WASHINGTON, N.C.—Dr. Leo Jenkins, Chancellor of East Carolina University, has been selected as one of about 50 world leaders to receive the Toastmasters International Communication and Leadership award this year.

The award will be presented at the Toastmasters' Spring Conference here next Saturday. Toastmasters District 37 Governor Hubert Barney cited Dr. Jenkins for "his outstanding leadership in education and community service."

The net changes in the budget included an increase of $109 million in the operating budget; a decrease of $7.0 million in the capital budget and a $2.1 million decrease in special bills.

The major increases resulted from expanded appropriations for salaries, to extend essential services, and to meet enrollment needs in education at all levels.

The four-per-cent-plus-$300 salary increase for teachers and state employees amounted to $98.12 million, while full implementation of the kindergarten program added $11.46 million in new money to the budget.

The community colleges received $5.3 million for about 4,500 additional full-time equivalent students, while the University of North Carolina system gained $4.3 million for an additional enrollment of about 2,500 students.

Rountree noted that included in the budget were funds to add three additional deputy clerks to the Pitt County Clerk of Court's office to handle an increased work load.

The net increase of $98.99 million in the 1976-1977 budget according to a legislative briefing outline, was made possible in part by additional revenues of $67.3 million as a result of changing the remitting schedule for some 1,844 employers who withhold more than $3,000 per month in income tax from employees pay; other additional tax revenue totaling $7.7 million; and $4.2 additional non-tax revenue, as well as $10 million from the sale of utilities at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill; $5.7 million in additional 1975-1976 reversions; and $4.06 million in reversions from previous capital improvement appropriations.

Why grasses may be your first and foremost weed problem.

Roger Walker

Let's consider two basic types of weeds. Grasses and broadleaves. While they are both serious threats to yield, in many cases grasses pose the greater problem. In general, grasses have smaller seeds than broadleaves. That means they germinate in greater numbers from the top inch or half inch of the soil profile. This is the first area of the soil to warm up and receive adequate moisture in the early spring, so many grasses germinate at that time, which is the same time your crop emerges.

Also, this is the time that your crop seedlings are germinating, which means that the grasses are competing with your young crop for vital moisture and nutrients. You can wait until later in the season to cultivate, but by then grasses have made their effect on your yield.

But you can effectively control many of the tough grasses you have in either corn or soybeans. You can apply Lasso® preemergent herbicide by Monsanto. Among the many grasses it controls are foxtails, crabgrass, fall panicum, barnyard-grass, goosegrass, and brachiaria.

You can combine Lasso in several labeled tank-mixes which provide broad-spectrum control of many grasses and broadleaf weeds.

Lasso. The herbicide to start with. And stay with. By Monsanto.

Another Arab Youth Shot In Rioting

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—The military command said Israeli soldiers shot and killed another Arab youth today as army patrols clamped tight security on the occupied West Bank, where an Arab girl was slain Sunday.

He was the ninth Arab to be killed since anti-Israeli disturbances erupted in the occupied West Bank of the Jordan River nearly three months ago.

The command said two soldiers were inside a truck near Jerusalem airport when Palestinian refugees began "smashing its windows and threatening passengers." It reported the soldiers fired "in self-defense," fatally wounding Abdullah Mustafa Hawas, 20.

Officials said the Palestinians, from a camp near the airport, had barricaded the road from Jerusalem to Ramallah with burning tires.

Abductors Free Industrialist

MILAN, Italy (AP)—Industrialist Virgilio Vitali, 51, kidnapped almost three months ago, has been freed.

Police said he was in poor physical condition. It was not known whether a ransom was paid.

Vitali, director general of the Arvall cosmetics firm, was abducted Feb. 23 in front of his Milan home. When he was released, a parking lot night watchman called a taxi for him, which took him to the home of friends.

Receive Jr. ROTC Trophies

D. H. Conley and Farmville Central High Schools both took trophies in the Pitt County Invitational Junior ROTC Drill Meet held Wednesday at the Army Reserve Center in Greenville.

Trophies going to Farmville Central were for Fancy Drill Team without arms and Regulation Platoon Drill without arms.

D. H. Conley took trophies for Fancy Drill Team with arms and for Regulation Platoon Drill with arms.

As overall high score winner in the events, D. H. Conley received the Sparky McCaskill Trophy.

Three Items

Three items are listed on the agenda for the Greenville Recreation and Parks Commission to be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday, May 19.

The meeting will take place in the office of Director Boyd Lee at the Elm Street Gymnasium.

Items on the agenda are: Discussion of the exercise program; appointment of a nominating committee to select 1976-77 officers; and presentation by a representative of Higgs Community for a community center.

Suns Eliminate Warriors

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

The Phoenix Suns are just one step away from donning the glass slipper.

The Suns, a collection of rookies and trade acquisitions who were given little chance in their semifinal playoff series against the powerful Golden State Warriors, wrote another chapter in their Cinderella story Sunday by knocking out the defending National Basketball Association champions 94-86.

The stunning victory, achieved on the Warriors' home court in Oakland, gave the surprising Suns a 4-3 victory in the best-of-seven series and a berth in the NBA finals.

Boston, meanwhile, put a crimp in Cleveland's hope of duplicating Phoenix' success story by beating the Cavaliers 99-94 to take a 3-2 lead in the other NBA semifinal series. The Cavaliers, making their first playoff appearance ever, must win Tuesday night to stay alive.

"Maybe the Phoenix Suns are this year's Warriors," said a dejected Al Attles, coach of the dethroned Warriors, whose team could score just 40 points in the second half against Phoenix' aggressive defense.

"We had a hot streak and the ball just wouldn't go for them," said Phoenix coach John McLeod. "We couldn't let them run. They beat us when they do that. We had to stop their quickness and their depth and we did it with team defense."

Paul Westphal and Gar Heard led Phoenix with 21 points apiece and Alvan Adams, the fine young center who won Rookie of the Year honors, added 18 points and grabbed a career-high 20 rebounds.

Prep Winners

The Graniteers and Jeanette Cox Realty took wins yesterday in Prep League baseball games. Graniteers downed Pitt Plaza, 15-5, and Cox Realty stalled Auto Specialty, 11-4.

In the opening game, after scoring four runs in the first inning, the Graniteers added two more in the second to insure the win. Brown singled and moved to third on a two-base catcher's error and stole home. One out later, James walked, stole second, and scored on Barnes's single. Pitt Plaza scored four of their five in the bottom of the second, with five walks in succession and two singles.

Cox Realty opened the second game with three runs in the first inning. Stackhouse doubled in two runs, and later scored himself on a passed ball and wild pitch. Two more runs crossed in the second when Hopkins singled and moved to third on a wild pitch and a passed ball, and Neal reached after a catcher's error on a third strike and a stolen base. Both scored on Erwin's single.

Auto Specialty scored one in the third when Douglas walked, stole second, and was wild pitched home. They added their next three runs in the fourth inning.

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Sue Roberts was grinning with relief Sunday after narrowly winning the Ladies Professional Golf Association tournament with a five-under par 211. "I'm glad I didn't have to go into a playoff. I've never been in a playoff," she said.

She had good cause for worry as four tough competitors finished on her heels with four-under 212 each. In the second place bunch were all-time LPGA high money winner Kathy Whitworth, last year's tournament champion JoAnne Carner, 24-year-old Hollis Stacy and Carole Jo Skala.

The victory gave Miss Roberts $6,400 of the $45,000 purse while second place was worth $3,275 to each of the players.

On the 18th tee, Miss Roberts didn't realize she was a stroke ahead and her caddy, Joe "Pepper" Louis, was mum. "I thought I was tied. I thought I needed a birdie to win. It wasn't until I got on the green in three that Pepper told me 'Just two-putt it and you win it,'" she said.

The former telephone operator shot a two-under par 70 Sunday to capture the win on the 6,139-yard North Ridge Country Club course. It was her first win this year and the fourth in her career.

Phillies Find Formula: Winning On The Road

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

The Philadelphia Phillies have found their home away from home. It's called Houston.

Last year, the Phils finished second in the National League East by only 6½ games. One reason was that they found life rough on the road, winning 35 games and losing 46.

This year, though, the Phils are real happy to be someone else's guests. They've played 12 games away from home thus far and won 11 of them, including the last 10 in a row — and they lead the division.

On Sunday, they completed a three-game sweep in Houston, bombing the Astros 12-2. They got six runs in the second inning and made it easy for Steve Carlton, who came through with his second straight six-hit complete-game performance.

In the rest of the NL, Burt Hooton's four-hitter carried Los Angeles past Pittsburgh 4-0, Montreal beat Atlanta 5-4, Pete Falcone's five-hitter against his former San Francisco teammates helped St. Louis to a 9-3 victory, Chicago shaded San Diego 6-5 and, in a doubleheader, New York defeated Cincinnati 7-5 before the Reds bounced back and took the nightcap 8-1.

"We've had a great road record so far this season," said the Phils' Greg Luzinski, whose two-run single chased Houston starter Tom Griffin in the big second inning.

Philadelphia sent 10 men to the plate in the burst, getting run-scoring singles from Dave Cash and Larry Bowa and sacrifice flies from Bobby Tolan and Jay Johnstone before Luzinski's hit capped it.

Carlton struck out four and walked two en route to his third complete game and the Phils' third straight complete-game victory.

Dodgers 6, Pirates 0
Steve Garvey and Joe Ferguson each doubled in a three-run sixth inning that carried Hooton and the Dodgers past Pittsburgh and Jerry Reuss.

Expos 5, Braves 4
Third baseman Jerry Royster helped throw away a possible Atlanta victory by giving the Expos one run outright in the ninth inning and giving Pete Mackanin the chance to double home Montreal's winner.

Larry Parrish led off the ninth with a walk and Tim Foli beat out an infield single to third. And when Royster's throw sailed over first base, Parrish scored, Foli went to second, then Mackanin doubled him home.

Cardinals 9, Giants 3
Falcone gave up a couple of first-inning runs before settling down to beat San Francisco. Reggie Smith's three-run homer, ending an 0-for-29 slump, and two RBI each by Lou Brock and Ron Fairly provided more than enough support.

Cubs 6, Padres 5
Rick Monday wasn't in Chicago's starting lineup because he had the flu. So he saved his energy for one swing of the bat, a three-run pinch homer in the sixth inning that catapulted the Cubs past San Diego.

Mets 7-1, Reds 5-8
Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson got his 600th career victory, thanks to Dave Concepcion's four runs batted in and Cesar Geronimo's three in the nightcap that gave the Reds a split with the Mets.

Two-run homers by Ed Kronepohl and Joe Torre helped unbeaton Jon Matlack chalk up his fourth victory with a seven-hitter in the opener. Matlack also drove in two runs with a double and an infield single.

Roberts Takes Classic

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Sue Roberts was grinning with relief Sunday after narrowly winning the Ladies Professional Golf Association tournament with a five-under par 211. "I'm glad I didn't have to go into a playoff. I've never been in a playoff," she said.

She had good cause for worry as four tough competitors finished on her heels with four-under 212 each. In the second place bunch were all-time LPGA high money winner Kathy Whitworth, last year's tournament champion JoAnne Carner, 24-year-old Hollis Stacy and Carole Jo Skala.

The victory gave Miss Roberts $6,400 of the $45,000 purse while second place was worth $3,275 to each of the players.

On the 18th tee, Miss Roberts didn't realize she was a stroke ahead and her caddy, Joe "Pepper" Louis, was mum. "I thought I was tied. I thought I needed a birdie to win. It wasn't until I got on the green in three that Pepper told me 'Just two-putt it and you win it,'" she said.

The former telephone operator shot a two-under par 70 Sunday to capture the win on the 6,139-yard North Ridge Country Club course. It was her first win this year and the fourth in her career.

Tigers Bore Full House, 4-0

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer

The Detroit Tigers gave away free jackets. They should have handed out blindfolds.

"This was probably the least exciting game we played all year," said Detroit Manager Ralph Houk. "Too bad we couldn't give them a real good ball game."

A sellout crowd of 51,650 jammed Tiger Stadium Sunday, looking for free jackets and a look at the new-look Tigers.

The Tigers, victims of a 19-game losing streak enroute to the worst record in baseball last year, were a different animal thus far this season, clawing their way to second place in the American League East.

But the Tigers the fans saw Sunday bore a close resemblance to the caged pussycats of last year. Jackie Brown of the Cleveland Indians, a refugee from the bullpen, fired a four-hitter in taming the Tigers 4-0. Alan Ashby knocked in three runs for the Indians.

And to make matters worse, some of the fans didn't receive their jackets. Although 30,000 jackets were distributed, there were some fans who got cards enabling them to get their jackets at a later date.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Milwaukee Brewers stopped the Boston Red Sox 11-5; the Baltimore Orioles blanked the New York Yankees 7-0; the Chicago White Sox shaded the Kansas City Royals

4-3; the Oakland A's nipped the Texas Rangers 3-2, and the California Angels beat the Minnesota Twins 5-1.

Brewers 11, Red Sox 5
Alex Grammas switched Don Money from the leadoff spot to the No. 2 position and the Milwaukee third baseman responded with four hits, including a two-run homer and a two-run double, as the Brewers ended a seven-game losing spell.

The loss snapped the Red Sox' four-game winning streak, which had followed their 10-game losing spin.

White Sox 4, Royals 3
Veteran Clay Carroll smothered Kansas City on five hits in 6 1-3 innings of relief but the Royals said he was smothering the ball with spit.

"No, it's just the way I hold my fastball," said Carroll. "But I don't mind letting the hitters think I throw one."

Orioles 7, Yankees 0
Baltimore pitcher Ken Holtzman, formerly of Oakland, tossed a five-hitter at the Yankees. Mark Belanger stroked two singles and two doubles, driving in a pair of runs.

A's 3, Rangers 2
Texas starter Steve Barr threw wild pitches to first and home to produce the winning run and committed a balk to send home an earlier run.

In the seventh, pinch-runner Larry Lintz raced from first to third when Barr's pickoff throw went astray. Lintz then came home on Barr's wild pitch, breaking a 2-2 tie.

Angels 5, Twins 1
Don Kirkwood pitched a seven-hitter for his first victory of the year and Bobby Bonds drove in two California runs.

Bonds was held hitless but knocked in one run with a sacrifice fly. The other scored when he was hit by a pitch with the bases loaded. Bonds has 15 RBIs in his last 11 games and 20 for the season.

Montreal Sweeps Flyers For First Stanley Cup Since '73

By FRANK BROWN
AP Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Through the crush of newsmen, tired but happy hockey players and the usual number of hangers-on, a youth pushed his way up to Montreal Canadiens Coach Scotty Bowman and handed him an envelope.

The emissary was Rejean Shero, whose father's hockey team, the Philadelphia Flyers, just had relinquished the Stanley Cup.

Bowman, squeezed for space, opened the envelope and read the words: "Congratulations on such a fantastic season," it said. "You're truly champions — not only of the league, but of the world."

The letter was signed, "Fred."

Amidst sweaty uniforms, equipment discarded for the final time this National Hockey League season and standing on a floor doused by champagne, the Canadiens' coach looked at the boy and said, "Thanks."

Indeed, Montreal is the champion, its 5-3 triumph over the Flyers Sunday night removing the final obstacle to their ascension. It was their 12th victory in 13 postseason games and fourth in a row over the Flyers, the team they set out to unseat so many months ago.

It was left to goalie Ken Dryden to place the series sweep in perspective. Sitting shirtless in his cubicle, sipping a soft drink while the others quaffed champagne, Dryden paused and spoke.

"Probably, in retrospect, in two or three weeks from now, people will say the Canadiens won the Cup easily. They won't realize that every game was a close game; every game was basically a one-goal game."

Those thoughts were echoed in the somber silence of the Flyers' dressing quarters. "All four games were probably the best played games in the Stanley Cup finals in a long time. But, unfortunately, when people look at the record books in the future, they'll just see that we got wiped out in four straight," said rookie Philadelphia center Mel Bridgman.

Thus lost in emotion was the record 80th goal of the campaign by Flyers right wing Reggie Leach, who capped a playoff which earned him the Conn Smythe Trophy as the Stanley Cup's Most Valuable Player by scoring for the 19th time in 16 games to give his team a lead it couldn't hold.

Lost in the emotion was the fact that NHL President Clarence Campbell had delivered the chalice to an eagerly awaiting team captain for the 30th and last time.

Buried in history just a few hours old was the gummy performance of Philadelphia netminder Wayne Stephenson, who approached the incredible in facing Montreal's awesomely potent attack.

It ended the way it had started, with Leach scoring in the first minute of play as he had done when the series began the previous Sunday night. Their backs to the wall, the two-time champion Flyers produced their best effort of the set and twice went ahead.

"But it still wasn't enough," observed Philadelphia center Bobby Clarke, who played with ligament damage in his right knee but never complained. "We worked so hard, but we're second best and that hurts. When you have won and then gained the finals only to lose, you have to consider the season a failure."

Parsons Wins First Event

By LARRY SIDONS
Associated Press Writer

DOVER, Del. (AP)—The pressure was biting at Benny Parsons. So was the flu bug.

But on Sunday, the Ellerbe, N.C., driver beat both to win the Mason Dixon 500 Grand National stock car race for his first victory of the National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing season.

"It feels good to win one. I was feeling the pressure," said Parsons, weak after driving the grueling 500 miles in muggy, 80 degree heat.

"I was beginning to wonder, 'Are we ever going to win a race?' It was beginning to look like it was going to be a season of seconds."

With his Chevrolet "running so strong it was unbelievable," Parsons survived a minor fender-bender midway through the race to beat David Pearson, in a Mercury, by 25.6 seconds.

Third was Dave Marcis, the pole winner in a Dodge, while Donnie Allison, driving his brother Bobby's Mercury, was fourth. Donnie Allison took over late in the race after Bobby became weary from the heat and humidity at Dover Downs International Speedway.

The weather was hardly ideal for Parsons, either.

The 12-year veteran, a former NASCAR Grand National season champ, has been battling the flu for the last month and had to be helped up the steep grandstand steps to the press box after the race.

"I was feeling pretty good until I went to Nashville for the race last week," he said. "I'm so tired I didn't hear the noise out there."

Despite his illness, however, Parsons said he never thought about skipping Sunday's race. "We run good here, even though we've never won here before," he explained.

Parsons' Chevy was involved in a minor accident midway through the race when Ricky Rudd's Chevrolet bounced off the wall in turn four, clipped Bobby Allison's car and hit Parsons' right front fender.

The mishap didn't seem to hurt Parsons' racer, though. In fact, it might have helped.

"We had some handling problems at the start but the accident seemed to knock something straight," Parsons said. "I don't know what it was but it sure worked."

Cale Yarborough appeared ready to run away with the race for a while. His Chevrolet was running faster than any other car on the track and led by half a lap midway through the 500 miles on the highbanked oval.

But the caution period after Rudd's accident allowed the field to catch up with the Timmonsville, S.C., charger, and Pearson passed Yarborough when the green came out.

Another caution flag then proved to be Yarborough's undoing. Following a routine pit stop, he passed the pace car and was penalized a lap. While sitting out the penalty at the end of pit row, Yarborough's car started to smoke. After that, it seemed to lack its earlier power and had to be retired with oil pressure problems with 145 laps to go.

Thus lost in emotion was the record 80th goal of the campaign by Flyers right wing Reggie Leach, who capped a playoff which earned him the Conn Smythe Trophy as the Stanley Cup's Most Valuable Player by scoring for the 19th time in 16 games to give his team a lead it couldn't hold.

"Super Mex" Wins At Colonial By One

By MIKE COCHRAN

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — The madcap Mexican is back, a winner again, hugging cops and caddies and scorekeepers and drawing suspicious glances from a puzzled swan.

"You don't know how happy I am," bubbled Lee Trevino. "I'm still in shock. I thought I'd lost the tournament. I really did."

looking only a swan watching warily from Crampton's Lake, so named for Bruce Crampton's assorted misfortunes therein.

Then, finally, grinning from ear to ear, he exclaimed: "I want to to thank everybody. To hell with it."

West Must Stop Virgil

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Pete Jones, head coach of the North Carolina West All-Star

high school basketball team, is wondering how to stop North Carolina's only All-American High School Basketball player.

Jones will have to come up with an answer before July 27th, when 6-foot-4 John Virgil of Elm City dons an East uniform for the 28th annual East-West All-Stars basketball game here.

"I guess we all just have to guard him," said Jones, who is coach at North Davidson. Several months ago, Jones watched Virgil basket 46 points in the state 2-A tournament. Virgil has since signed a grant-in-aid to attend the University of North Carolina next fall.

The Daily Reflector, Greenville, N.C.—Monday, May 17, 1976—11

Jones can rely on his 11-man lineup, spiced with players from state championship teams, to try to thwart Virgil in the East-West game.

For the West, there is 6-foot-7 Mike Hester of Graham, who scored 499 points as his team moved through the season to take the 3-A title.

Among others on the West team are 6-foot-3 Curtis Odom, who averaged 27 points per game at Bandys; Gene Harris who averaged 25.9 per game at Charlotte Olympic; South Iredell's Jack Campbell with a 27.4 average; and Perry Smith of Shelby who totaled 596 points for the Lions.

Rounding out the squad are Steve Cloer, possessor of the school scoring record at North Davidson; David Morris of Winston-Salem; Reynolds and Danny Anderson of Gastonia Husb.

Trevino is all smiles as he hugs his huge trophy after winning the Colonial National Invitation and first place money of $40,000. This was the first Texas tournament that the native Texan has ever won. (AP Wirephoto)

Pepsi-Cola explodes a shopping myth.

Pepsi-Cola in this 8-pack of 16-oz. returnable bottles costs just about the same, ounce for ounce, as most of the brands that claim to be bargains.

It's true. Ounce for ounce you spend just about the same for Pepsi-Cola in this 8-pack of 16-oz. returnable bottles as you do for those brands you thought were bargains. And when you add in Pepsi-Cola quality, we think you'll agree that Pepsi is a real bargain. Next time you shop, compare.

Pepsi. A real bargain.

Some Resisting Curbs On Pesticides

By ERIC KRAMER
Associated Press Writer
LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) - Four years after Congress passed the Federal Environmental Pesticide Act, some states still are holding out against mandatory training for farmers using pesticides.

In Nebraska, one of the hold-out states, the Environmental Protection Agency has threatened to prohibit application of highly toxic chemicals after October 1977 unless a compulsory program for certification of "private applicators" is established.

Although experts predict severe economic loss to farmers if the "restricted use" chemicals are embargoed, the legislature has rejected mandatory training for noncommercial pesticide users.

"I think farmers are quite expert in the field of pesticides," said Colorado state Sen. Kenneth I. Kinnie. He is chairman of a committee which killed a bill that would have required farmers to undergo training.

"They couldn't provide evidence of damage in this state caused by pesticides," said Kinnie, adding that he hoped the Colorado Legislature would again reject legislation next year. "I assume that's what will happen."

Bill Buffaloe of the North Carolina Department of Agriculture said that state's Pesticide board, a group appointed by the governor, rejected mandatory certification of private applicators. Instead, the board recommended a voluntary training program. He said.

Although the EPA has not issued its list of restricted use chemicals, three of the principle root worm chemicals - Furadan, Dyfuntate and Thimet - are on tentative EPA lists.

Bob Roselle, an entomologist for the University of Nebraska, estimates root worms could destroy 70 million bushels of Nebraska's 500 million bushel corn crop if the chemicals are not available. The lost corn could feed a million yearling cattle to slaughter weight.

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, MAY 18, 1976

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You can now think in terms of what you most want of a personal nature; it would be wise to use some spare time for this. Get in touch with friends and work together to gain mutual wishes that lead to happiness.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Talk over ambitions with good friends and influential persons and they show you how to gain them. Accept social invitations.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Get in touch early with persons who can assist you with vocational, public and cultural affairs. Handle credit matters.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You have excellent ideas so you can expand where your finest interests are concerned. Make the right contacts toward such ends.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Handle obligations and they are soon behind you. Try to please your attachment and have greater rapport. Discuss finances.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Listening to what associates with unique ideas have to suggest brings fine results if you cooperate with them. Do civic work.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Persevere in handling work and you get it done quickly, gaining benefits therefrom. Take health treatments.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Get together with good friends for recreation. Don't neglect to get some important work done first. Show mate more loyalty.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Do something to make those who dwell with you much happier. Stop criticizing them. Entertain at home in evening.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Get information needed to operate more successfully in future. Take time for amusement that will relieve tensions, make you happier.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You can have greater success now if you use a more up-to-date system; modernize your appearance, also. Improve budget.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Get into whatever is of an intimate, personal vein early and accomplish a good deal along such lines. Enjoy recreation.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Get into plans to make the future more successful. Concentrate on what you do best. Show your mate true love.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be liked by others because of an innate liking for others, a desire to be helpful to everyone, and a knack for solving problems. Encourage this cooperative spirit early. Slant education for personnel, government, or charitable and philosophical work, etc., for best results throughout the lifetime, which can be long and most successful thusly.

Q.1—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠A8 ♠KQ6 ♠AQ976 ♠62
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
Pass Pass 1 ♠ Dble.
1NT Pass Pass ?
What action do you take?
A.—Double again. Even though partner could not act freely over West's response, you do have a full 17 points in high cards and good support for the unbid suits. We would not condemn a bid of two diamonds, but the second double—still for takeout since partner has not yet bid—is more flexible and could lead to a superior contract.

Q.2—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠A872 ♠AK952 ♠73 ♠J4
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ ?
What action do you take?
A.—Pass. You have no margin of safety. If the opponents' bidding is to be believed, you can expect to find little or nothing in partner's hand. A double, forcing your partner to bid at the two-level, or an overall of two hearts, is too risky. With your wealth of quick tricks, it's unlikely the opponents have a game.

Q.3—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠976 ♠AQJ832 ♠A ♠K92
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ 1 ♠ 2 ♠ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Strange as it seems, our preference is for a rebid of two hearts. To be sure, this is somewhat of an underbid, but the alternative of three hearts crowns the auction unnecessarily. Since partner responded freely at the two-level, we expect him to bid again, and by keeping the bidding low now, we leave more room for exploration.

Q.4—As South vulnerable, you hold:
♠J76 ♠AQ10542 ♠A ♠AK7
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ Pass
3 ♠ Pass 4 ♠ Pass
What action do you take?
A.—Bid three hearts. Partner's auction does not show a weak hand with a potential misfit. By responding at the two-level, then cue-bidding the ace of spades and later removing three no trump to four hearts, partner has made forward-going bids all along, so 12 tricks should be a virtual lay-down.

Q.5—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠A98 ♠AKQJ10 ♠J6 ♠KJ8
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ Pass
3 ♠ Pass 4 ♠ Pass
What do you bid now?
A.—Bid three hearts. Partner's auction does not show a weak hand with a potential misfit. By responding at the two-level, then cue-bidding the ace of spades and later removing three no trump to four hearts, partner has made forward-going bids all along, so 12 tricks should be a virtual lay-down.

Open Arms To Gas-Guzzlers

By LEE MITGANG
AP Business Writer
NEW YORK (AP) - Welcome back, gas guzzlers. All is forgiven.

That was the message Americans appeared to be sending in the latest new car sales statistics for the early-May period.

They gave the firmest evidence to date that the American motorist's first love is the full-sized Detroit automobile, and that the seeming trend toward small-sized, fuel conserving models was only a passing fancy, or perhaps a temporary tip of the hat to the energy shortage.

Domestic auto makers said their dealers sold 211,505 cars from May 1 through May 10, up 46.8 per cent from the comparable period in 1975.

The most telling figure, however, was the poor showing by American Motors, which for years has staked out the small car market. A year ago, AMC's fortunes were looking up as economy-minded motorists enabled the company to hold as much as 8 per cent of the car market.

In the latest period, AMC's market share had declined to 3.6 per cent.

The small car company's sales in the latest period showed a mini-increase of only 0.4 per cent.

Lose Fear Of Sudden Death

KANSAS CITY (AP) - A psychiatrist who interviewed more than 300 persons confronted with sudden death says few of them remember exactly, experiencing fear or pain, a process he calls "depersonalization."

"We believe this depersonalized feeling arises from an emergency mental mechanism that spares a person the disorganized fright of impending death. They report being able to think clearly and rapidly with no sense of fear," said Dr. Russell Noyes Jr., associate professor of psychiatry at the University of Iowa.

"Many talk about a depersonalization, a slowing of time, a detachment and a feeling of being outside their bodies in an aura of unreality as though in a dream, and sometimes a review of their lives," he said.

Noyes discussed his research while in Kansas City to address about 300 nurses, doctors and clergymen at a seminar on "What Is It Like To Die?"

Noyes' research involved people who were in accidents or almost drowned and thought they were going to die.

"It's often only a matter of seconds, only a moment to experience what it is like to die?" he said.

Noyes is interested exclusively in this period of depersonalization.

"People report that their mental images are very vivid.

List Rights Of Patients

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — Agudath Israel of America, an Orthodox Jewish organization that sponsors diversified programs for Jews, has published a "Bill of Rights" for Jewish hospital patients.

Patterned after an American Hospital Association "Patient's Bill of Rights," the Agudath publication lists what a Jewish patient can expect from a hospital admission.

While the Agudath form is not legally binding, the organization said, however, "We are confident that a polite but forceful request for all or all of these rights will be honored."

The "Bill of Rights" includes such things as being served kosher food, deferred advance payment until the close of the Sabbath or a festival, observance of Jewish rituals where not "medically counter-indicated," refusal of outpatient appointments scheduled for the Sabbath or festivals, and the right to consult with spiritual advisers before deciding whether to undergo medical procedures that might pose religious questions.

Lawyers Claim Unethical Role

RALEIGH (AP) — Attorneys for former Republican gubernatorial candidate James C. Gardner have accused Atty. Gen. Rufus Edmisten of unethical conduct in prosecuting Gardner.

Gardner, a Rocky Mount businessman, has been charged with violating the state's security registration laws in connection with a motel chain he started. His trial is set for June 7.

In a pre-trial statement seeking dismissal of the charges, Gardner's attorneys said Edmisten's office issued a "false news release" within hours of his indictment on March 29. They said the release was "malicious and wicked."

The motion asked the court to consider citing Edmisten for contempt because he tried to create unfavorable pre-trial publicity, Edmisten's office replied that, "we will be in court on June 7."

SAFE YEAR

WASHINGTON, D.C. (UPI) — The National Transportation Safety Board says 1975 was the safest in recent years for U.S. commercial airlines. It said there were fewer total accidents (42) and fewer fatal accidents (3) than in any year in the 27 years that the board has kept records.

Survival Food Old But Edible

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — Survival biscuits distributed to civil defense shelters 15 years ago were supposed to have a shelf life of 10 years. But they're still edible, although stale, and could last many years.

Civil preparedness officials in Forsyth County still have 250 tons of the biscuits, which are packed in large cans.

Col. F. Gordon Ratliff, civil preparedness director in Winston-Salem, said a Florida firm recently offered to pay $5 per ton for the biscuits with the intent of making cow feed out of them.

The offer prompted Ratliff to check to see if the supplies were still good.

"Microbiologically, the product was normal," wrote state chemist William Y. Cobb of the state agriculture department, who analyze the biscuits at Ratliff's request.

"They're a little stale," said Ratliff, who sampled them. "If you're hungry enough and have enough water, they're edible. They do have the nutritional value to keep you alive."

Ratliff said the supplies were given to local governments in a federal program in the early 1960s when international tensions generated concern about adequate Civil Defense shelters.

"The government's big impetus came as a result of the Cuban missile crisis, I think, and maybe an earlier flare up in Berlin," he said. The government does not have a current shelter stocking program.

The only significant use of the supplies involved a donation of 25,000 pounds to Bangladesh a few years ago, Ratliff said, and some may be given this year to earthquake victims.

David L. Britt, state civil preparedness coordinator, said many local governments have held on to such supplies, at the encouragement of his department.

Ratliff said he has no intentions of emptying the warehouses and shelter points to make the deal with the cattle feed manufacturer.

"This represents a resource in the county that in the worst of situations could spell the difference between life and death," he said.

Angela Sees 'Oppression'

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Black activist Angela Davis, saying she wanted to help focus national attention on North Carolina, Sunday called for a massive drive to offset an "increasing wave of oppression" in the state and nation.

Ms. Davis spoke in Charlotte at a rally for support of the so-called Charlotte Three and Wilmington 10.

The Charlotte Three are three men sentenced to a total of 55 years in prison for convictions in the firebombing of a stable in 1968, killing 15 horses.

The Wilmington 10, led by black activist the Rev. Ben Chavis, received jail sentences from convictions stemming from racial violence in Wilmington in 1971.

Organizers of the rally which Ms. Davis attended say the two groups of defendants were framed to stop activists "struggling against oppression in the state."

Ms. Davis said, "Now, more than anything else, we have to realize we can't simply feel outraged or saddened by the fates of the Charlotte Three and Wilmington 10."

"That sadness and outrage against injustice must be translated into action now more than ever, because the forces of oppression are growing," she said.

Lamb Pool At Graham June 1

M. E. Regans, Assistant Agricultural Extension Agent today reminded Pitt County sheep producers the first pool for the season is scheduled for June 1 at the County Home Farm in Graham, N.C.

Due to lamb numbers, the Rocky Mount and Graham pools have had to be combined, said Regan.

Producers are advised to notify the agent at Graham the number of lambs they expect to send by Friday before the pool on Tuesday.

Why it makes more sense to lease a Mercedes-Benz than any other make of luxury car sold in America.

Even after 5 years, a Mercedes-Benz holds its value better than any other make of luxury car. That saves you money when you lease. Because a car that retains its value better, is a better value at the end of the lease.

The result: Lower expenses for us, lower leasing costs for you.

Come in and talk to our leasing specialist. See why it makes more sense to lease a Mercedes-Benz than any other make of luxury car.

ADVENTURE DELAYED—English adventurer Tim Severin and his wife Dorothy wear olskins Sunday as they stand by the leather boat in which Severin hopes to cross the Atlantic. Bad weather delayed his start Sunday. The 36-foot long boat made from skins of 42 oxen is based on the design, in which some claim that St. Brendan the navigator crossed the Atlantic some 900 years before Christopher Columbus. It will have a five-man crew. (AP Wirephoto)

Cyclamate Banned, Saccharin Is Also Studied As Risk To Health

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

The government's refusal to lift its ban on the artificial sweetener cyclamate leaves the calorie-conscious consumer with few alternatives.

The only other artificial sweetener on the market, saccharin, also is under study as a potential health hazard and natural sugars such as those in corn syrup have just as many calories as the powdered, table variety.

The Food and Drug Administration banned cyclamates in 1969 after questions were raised about the possibility of a link between the synthetic sweetener and cancer. Studies since then have failed to prove or disprove the danger theory, but the FDA said last week that it did not want to take any chances and would not rescind its ban.

Cyclamates are about 30 times sweeter than sugar. Saccharin, in use for almost 100 years, is 300 times sweeter than sugar, but some people claim it leaves an unpleasant aftertaste. A 1971 report linked saccharin to possible cancer in rats and a year later the FDA imposed limits on its use, designed to make sure no one consumed more than one gram a day. A committee organized by the National Research Council of the National Academy of

Found Many Lack Knowledge About Religion

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — The Rev. Kenneth Baker, concerned that many students entering Catholic colleges and universities have little knowledge of their religion, conducts an experimental class in "Remedial Catholicism" at Gonzaga University here.

Baker, a former president of Seattle University and current editor of the Homiletic & Pastoral Review, said initial reaction to the class was so great that it had to be shifted to larger facilities.

"The first assignment directed the students to write a letter telling me about their religious history," Baker said. "Those letters make most interesting reading. It's too bad our bishops cannot see them. Of the 41 students, only one claims any basic knowledge of the faith, though most are graduates of Catholic schools."

Sciences reported earlier this year that a lengthy study failed to provide conclusive evidence of danger.

The FDA is awaiting further research and no final decision on saccharin is expected before next year. Meanwhile, the restrictions remain.

According to the U.S. Agriculture Department, Americans consumed about 5 million pounds of saccharin last year, down 10 per cent from 1974. That translates into 750,000 tons of sweetness.

On a per capita basis, U.S. saccharin consumption worked out to a sugar sweetness equivalent of seven pounds. In the same year, per capita sugar consumption was just about 90 pounds, down from 97 pounds in 1974.

High prices and calorie-counting encouraged Americans to search for alternatives to granulated sugar. Corn sweetener prices generally have declined recently and consumption is up — about 27 pounds per capita in 1975, compared to 18 pounds in 1974.

Nutrition experts at the Food and Drug Administration say table sugar has about 15 calories per level teaspoon, about 3½ grams. It is a mixture of two simple sugars, glucose and fructose.

Other sweeteners — honey, fruit sugars and corn syrup — have about the same number of calories. Natural or refined, they are all sugars.

The different sugars do have different characteristics, making some more suitable for manufacturing uses than others and affecting the way they are digested. For example, there are differences in the moisture content, in the amount needed to produce a certain level of sweetness and in the way the body breaks down the sugar.

Another sweetener you may see listed on the labels of some products is sorbitol. Technically, sorbitol is not a sugar; it's a sugar alcohol. It has the same number of calories as sugar, provides what the nutritionists call a "cool" taste and is absorbed more slowly by the body than regular sugar.

Hire Firm To Run Hospital

OXFORD, N.C. (AP)—The trustees of Granville's county hospital have hired a Charlotte consulting firm to administer the 71-bed institution.

The board announced Saturday the signing of the contract with Carolinas Hospital and Health Services, Inc. It said it wanted more "management depth" and the group purchasing the firm could offer.

Current administrator Ralph Boswood will remain as assistant administrator, according to M.E. Parham, chairman of the trustees. He said the cost of the contract, after the first four months, will be about 2 per cent of the hospital's gross proceeds, less some deductions.

Seven Die In N.C. Wrecks

By The Associated Press

The North Carolina Highway Patrol said seven persons were killed in weekend traffic accidents in the state. The deaths bring the year's toll to 475 compared to 486 in the same period last year.

The patrol said Gary Dean Gerringer, 18, of Elon College was killed when his motorcycle ran off a rural paved road, struck a speed limit sign then overturned down an embankment Sunday afternoon in Alamance County about two miles north of Burlington.

Walter Eugene Brown, 24, of Fletcher, died in an accident early Sunday on U.S. 25 south of Fletcher in Henderson County. The patrol said Brown's car crossed the center line and struck another car, injuring two other persons.

Four youths were killed late Friday night when two cars collided on N.C. 67 in Yankin County near Boonville. The patrol identified the victims as Richard George Woodruff Jr. and Timothy Dean Cartwright, both 17 of Boomville, and Donald Kevin Shaw, 17, and Ronald Vaughn Smith, 18, both of Sparta.

The patrol said the car occupied by Shaw and Smith was attempting to pass a truck when it collided headon with the car operated by the other victims.

Zelda N. Gains, 40, of Salisbury, was killed Friday night when she stepped into the path of an oncoming vehicle in that city.

Has Longer Life Than Model-T

LOCK HAVEN, Pa. (UPI) — Four out of five U.S. pilots in World War II got their initial training in a Piper Cub. Still in production today, the Cub has had a far longer life than Ford's Model T. It is the longest continuous production run of any aircraft in history. Over 25,000 Cubs, and the current version, the Super Cub, have been built by Piper Aircraft Corporation.
