Carter Home To Georgia For Campaign-Mapping

By DON McLEOD
AP Political Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Democratic presidential nominee Jimmy Carter today returns to Georgia where his giant-killer campaign began and where he'll map plans to capture the White House in the Nov. 2 election.

form drawn to his taste and endorsed his running mate with more harmony than Democrats have seen in a decade, Carter scheduled his first lost-convention strategy session and meetings with Democratic National Committee leaders.

"It can be a year of inspiration and hope. And I guarantee you it will be the year when we give the government of this country back to the people of this country."
Carter opened his speech with the line which mostly brought chuckles when he started using it 19 months ago, "My name is Jimmy Carter, and I'm running for president."

leadership," Mondale said. "We are strong. We are experienced. And we're ready."
Carter is 51, Mondale 48.
The 1976 Democratic National Convention ended with the Rev. Martin Luther King, father of the slain civil rights leader, declaring, "Surely the Lord sent Jimmy Carter to come on out and bring America back where she belongs."
After today's meetings here, the Carter caravan was to head for the family home at Plains, Ga.

If they decide to teach gymnastics this fall, they will notify Greenville residents through an ad in "The Daily Reflector".

Pitt PTA Grant

A grant totaling $71,223 has been awarded to the Pitt County PTA Council by the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, according to Ann E. Posey, Director.
The monies will be used to operate the Reading-Math Tutorial Centers which have operated in the Pitt County School System for the past two years. The centers are located at A. G. Cox School in Winterville; Bethel Elementary, G. R. Whitfield in Grimesland, and Falkland Elementary. The Falkland Center is the newest, being opened for the first time during the 1975-76 school term.
The PTA reading-math tutorial centers work with students in grades 4-8 in the areas of language arts and math. This year the tutoring sessions will be incorporated during the regular school time hours as well as the evening. In the past this free tutoring service has operated in the afternoons and evenings.

"We are currently working on retrieving borrowed library materials. At the present we have only retrieved 10 per cent of $15,000 of materials."
The Pilot Mountain native is a graduate of Guilford College and holds a B.S. degree in mathematics. She has worked as a school teacher and city planner.

Leaf Prices Up 26 Cents

RALEIGH (AP) — Tobacco prices went up 26 cents from opening day Wednesday, to $88.99 per hundred. Gross sales on the North and South Carolina Border Belt market were 5,516,254, bringing the season's total sales to 12,384,870.
Volume was very light Thursday, according to the Federal-State Market News Service. The first week of sales ended with grade averages steady to $2 per hundred higher.
The small volume consisted of better quality tobacco than the offering, the news service said. Also, the percentage of cutters increased. Primings still dominated sales and accounted for approximately 60 per cent of offerings.
The Flue-Cured Stabilization Corporation received 46.9 per cent of sales Wednesday and 44.7 per cent for the season to date. This compares with 36.8 per cent for the first two days last season.
During opening week last year, 11,747,184 pounds were sold for $84.46 per hundred.

Bus Driver, 26 Children 'Vanished'

CHOWCHILLA, Calif. (AP) — Twenty-six children and the driver of their school bus who vanished on their way home from a swimming outing apparently are the victims of a mass kidnaping, the Madera County sheriff said today.
Deputies and police searched the San Joaquin Valley farmland through a windy, rainy night split by lightning and thunder for some clue to the whereabouts of the children, who ranged in age from 5 to 15.
The bus in which the children had been riding was found in a dry canal Thursday night.
"It appears to be an abduction," Sheriff Ed Bates told reporters. "We are waiting to be contacted."
Bates said his investigators found two sets of tracks superimposed on the bus tracks, suggesting that an abduction "would have to be planned, it seems to me." The tracks showed that "somebody left the area after the bus was parked."
The bus, which was to have returned the children from the Chowchilla fairgrounds, was found abandoned in a dry canal during a search from the air. It was hidden in a heavy stand of bamboo in the flat farmland about 35 miles northwest of Fresno.
The sheriff said he couldn't "think of any other possibility" but a kidnaping. "There's no blood, no evidence of foul play at the bus. I'm at a loss for words about this one. I absolutely can't figure it. We can't find anybody who has a motive."
Bates said the FBI has been called in.
The children are students at the Dairyland Unified School, which school district secretary Nita Hansen described as "just a little country school."
She said the bus driver, 55-year-old Frank Edward Ray Jr., was "very reliable" and had been driving for the school for 28 years.
"You couldn't ask for a nicer guy," Mrs. Hansen said. "He was born and raised here."
Sheriff Bates, who set up a command post at the Chowchilla Police Department, speculated that there were five possibilities: a "deranged guy" who had kidnaped the entire group; a "personal revenge, somebody who wants to make the parents suffer;" a kidnaping "for money;" a "terrorist" plot; or "some older kid on the bus took command by force."
Shortly before dawn Bates discarded as a clue reports that a white van seen the last two days near where the bus lets children off might be involved in the disappearance. The vehicle turned out to be a "dental van" which has been assigned to the area, he said.
The sheriff's office said it received calls from anxious parents beginning about 4:15 p.m. Thursday. At that time, the bus was two hours overdue.

Report Uganda Terror

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Foreigners fleeing Uganda report that President Idi Amin has unleashed a reign of terror following the Israeli commando raid that freed more than 100 hijacked hostages.
Kenya's returning to their homeland reported that Amin's soldiers were slaughtering Kenyans living in Uganda, Kenya's official news agency reported.
It said John Owino, one of 200 refugees who arrived in the border town of Bungoma Thursday, reported that troops shot even Kenyans last Sunday at Namango, a village outside Kampala, the Ugandan capital.
Already tense relations between the two East African neighbors were strained further by Amin's charges of Kenyan complicity in the Israeli raid.
The London Daily Express reported that the British government agreed to beef up Kenya's defenses with shipments of guns, ammunition and bombs. The paper, giving no source for its information, said President Jomo Kenyatta assured the British his forces would not attack the Ugandans, whose army is about twice as large as Kenya's.
Patrick Morris, a Canadian who flew from Kampala to Nairobi with 18 Britons, said many whites who wanted to leave were afraid to go to the airport.
"The soldiers are so rough they don't give you any chance to explain," he said. "They beat you and drag you to their torture chambers."
Morris, 38, said he was arrested and interrogated for two hours.
"I heard people screaming with agony," he said. "They were crying out, it was horrible, yelling for help and begging their captors to stop... They gave me a couple of punches before releasing me."

Economic Projections Brightening

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ford administration said today that the economy will perform better than originally expected during 1976, providing Americans with about 379,000 more jobs and diminishing the erosion of inflation on peoples' buying power.
"The President believes his economic policies are the major reasons for this improvement," said White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen.
Revised administration projections on the nation's unemployment, inflation and production capacity must be sent to Congress later this month under the new budget-making procedures.
The President's top economic and budget advisers released their projections at a briefing. They attributed the estimates of the stronger-than-expected economic performance to developments which already have taken place.
Alan Greenspan, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, said a crucial factor in the improved economic picture has been greater confidence by consumers and businessmen. Greenspan said the confidence has been gaining even faster than expected and has been translated into faster economic growth.
Nessen said the President is determined to stick to his economic program and get the budget back into balance by 1979, if possible.
The latest projections, released by the Council of Economic Advisers and the Office of Management and Budget, were the first solid economy projection figures since the administration's initial forecast in January.
The average income of wage earners for the year is expected to be $4,135 instead of the $4,149 originally estimated.

Strickland A Believer In The Second Chance

By SUSAN QUINN
Reflector Staff Writer
"I believe in the second chance theory and the offering of incentive," Tom Strickland, democratic gubernatorial candidate said while visiting in Greenville Thursday.
"I feel that we should reactivate the juvenile training schools and use them for special training centers for juvenile offenders. I think that we should drop back and hold the 15 year old responsible for crimes, but send them to these special training centers with 16 and 17 year olds and allow them the opportunity of having their record expunged," he explained.
"We need to reclassify our prisoners according to age and according to offense. I would support the reactivating of our local prison units. After the prisoners were decentralized, they would be separated according to age and experience in crime and allowed to work."

Strickland explained that if elected, he would not discharge Republican state employees except among the policy making positions.
"On the policy making level we would have a new government but the other workers should be given an opportunity to work," Strickland said.
He also said that he would favor a five per cent salary increase per year for teachers and state employees.
"This would be a fair and responsible increase with no fiscal problems according to the tax base. This system of salary increase has moved the North Carolina's teachers' salaries from 40th in the nation to 18th in the nation."
Strickland said that he would prefer to find a highway patrol commander from the ranks of the patrol officers.
"I would certainly prefer to have someone who had experience within the highway patrol. I would also like to eliminate the politics of the transfers. A policy should be developed so that patrolmen who are promoted could take advantage of their promotions by not having to transfer."
The Wayne County Senator explained that he is definitely against giving the governor veto power.
"The office of the governor is a very powerful office in our state and giving the governor the veto power would only make the office more powerful."
Asked whether he favored the Democratic Convention's nomination of Jimmy Carter for president, Strickland said that he would support the ticket.

Hot, unstable air brought 100-degree temperatures to North Carolina Thursday, thunderstorms with winds of up to 89 miles an hour which toppled small planes and a helicopter. There also was a tornado, hail, flooded streets, electrical outages, and damage to corn and tobacco.

In Charlotte, seven persons were trapped inside a station wagon when a utility pole crashed on the roof. Everett Gallant, his wife, and their three children, aged 1, 5, and 8, heard the wires popping and saw big blue flashes. With them were two nieces, Sharon Blackburn of Charlotte and 13-year-old Lisa Summers of Greensboro.

Gallant, an electrical engineer, told everyone not to touch metal parts of the car. So all held their feet off the floor.

They waited for about 45 minutes, until Duke Power Co. workers turned off the 12,000 volts of electricity that buzzed as it flowed through three wires touching the top of the station wagon.

A thunderstorm with winds gusting to 52 m.p.h. in Charlotte left 9,000 homes temporarily without electricity and blocked 25 streets with fallen trees. Lightning caused 20 fires.

In Wilson, a tornado near the Municipal Airport knocked a light plane 300 yards into woods and demolished it. The storm littered areas with tree branches and caused electrical outages of three and four hours in the city. In the county there was tobacco and corn damage and damage to tobacco barns.

It got up to 100 degrees at Fayetteville and Jacksonville and 99 at the Raleigh-Durham Airport and at Wilmington. Winds gusting to 89 m.p.h. overturned two planes and a helicopter at the Greensboro Regional Airport and destroyed a hangar.

It was warm again today, with highs ranging from the mid 80s in the mountains to the mid 80s on the coast. There were scattered thunderstorms.

A cold front will pass through the state Saturday, so temperatures will be five to eight degrees cooler. Afternoon thundershowers are expected.

The outlook for Sunday through Tuesday is for afternoon thundershowers and seasonable temperatures, with highs generally in the middle 80s.

'President Carter' And The Ordinary Consumer

By SYLVIA PORTER
(Last of the Series)

If Democratic nominee Jimmy Carter were to become U.S. President Carter, what would it mean to you, any American consumer in today's jungle of a marketplace?

A. The strongest defender of consumer interests in the White House in memory—with his endorsements already ranging from an independent federal consumer protection agency "with a lot of power, authority and visibility and total backing from the White House" to an all-inclusive "sunshine law," which would "force open the deliberations of the executive and legislative branches of government to let people know who votes how."

The above may sound like quite a mouthful of liberal mush, but Carter apparently isn't kidding one bit. Says he:

"I intend a year from now to be the top consumer advocate in this country, if I'm elected. I'm tired of seeing people whom I care about get cheated, and this is permitted and even condoned now, and it has got to be changed." Carter has, in fact, set a speaking engagement before a Ralph Nader Public Citizen Forum for after the end of this convention (postponed from June).

Specifically, Carter would:

- * "Completely reorganize the executive branch of this nation's government" to increase government accountability, greater openness and at the same time improved efficiency, reorganization, and simplicity of government bureaucracy. "I'm going to do it primarily because the American people are sick of the bureaucratic confusion in Washington..."

"When I was governor (of Georgia) I had no idea whom to call in Washington to get answers to anything, because the system is so complex." His solution in Georgia was to set up a toll-free line to help Georgia citizens with complaints and requests for information. A call by an illiterate Georgian, for instance, would connect the citizen with his congressional representative handling federal matters (Social Security checks) or the agricultural official in charge of scale weight accuracy in markets, etc.

* Encourage consumer groups to create and operate consumer co-ops; back federal standards for state no-fault insurance programs; help with full funding of neighborhood legal aid for the poor; strengthen small claims courts; go all-out on a consumer education program in our schools to teach both young and old the basics of consumer rights and protection. "Most of the consumers being treated the worst can't read or write well. They're hard to reach for consumer groups."

In this area of consumerism—and extending into child care, food stamps, environmental protection—Carter is clearly tending toward the very liberal. What he could achieve, though, is a giant question mark—should he become President in this economic era.

* More completely control lobbyists and their activities. He would extend federal financing of elections to congressional races and, for example, make certain that the Attorney General job would not be given as a reward to a successful campaign manager (both Robert Kennedy and John Mitchell were active campaign directors).

* Aggressively work for a much stronger anti-trust program. "The farmer suffers and the consumer suffers" from our "very serious monopolistic arrangement in this country on food," he says, citing the upsurge in the price of sugar in 1974 as an instance.

* Encourage consumer groups to create and operate consumer co-ops; back federal standards for state no-fault insurance programs; help with full funding of neighborhood legal aid for the poor; strengthen small claims courts; go all-out on a consumer education program in our schools to teach both young and old the basics of consumer rights and protection. "Most of the consumers being treated the worst can't read or write well. They're hard to reach for consumer groups."

N.C. Delegates Hail Selection

NEW YORK (AP) — North Carolina delegates hail the selection of Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., as the Democratic vice-presidential nominee. They predict the Jimmy Carter-Mondale ticket will be strong in North Carolina.

LAKE JUNALUSKA, N.C. (AP) — North Carolina Methodists will get their first black bishop when L. Scott Allen, 58, of Knoxville, Tenn., assumes leadership of the Western North Carolina United Methodist Conference.

At headquarters of the conference in Charlotte he will succeed Bishop Earl G. Hunt Jr., 57. Hunt has finished 12 years in Charlotte, all a bishop can serve in a conference, and is being transferred to Tennessee to head the Nashville and Memphis conferences.

There was one other change among the 11 bishops in the Southeast announced Thursday at the Southeastern Jurisdictional Conference of the church. Bishop H. Ellis Finger Jr. will move from Nashville to Knoxville.

Bishop Robert N. Blackburn of the North Carolina Conference, which covers the eastern part of the state, will remain at Raleigh. And Bishop Edward L. Tullis of the South Carolina Conference will remain in Columbia.

The changes are effective Sept. 1. All other bishops will return to their current assignments.

Bishops Finger and Hunt, who were elected in 1964, have served their present areas for 12 years. Allen was elected in 1967 and has served in Knoxville since 1968.

Allen was the last bishop to be elected by the former Central Jurisdiction, which was all black, before the merger of black and white units in 1968. He is the denomination's only black bishop in the Southeast.

Meanwhile, United Methodists were urged by their bishops to join together in evangelistic goals and forget their racial attitudes.

"Some day," said Bishop Finger, "we may choose properly to talk about the church, and about people, without forever feeling obligated to say black or white or brown or red. But not yet."

"With some pain and with more hope," Finger said, "we speak without tension about white and black together in this jurisdiction, rejoicing in the heritage of both races and open to mutual enrichment."

The Rev. Leontine Kelly of Richmond, Va. told the 550 delegates that churches cannot afford to practice "selective evangelism."

The black minister warned against churches being afraid to be "enriched by the perspectives of all cultures."

The call came Wednesday in presentations before the Jurisdictional Conference as Southeastern United Methodists launched a four-year evangelism drive.

Bishops said the group should strive to make "every local church a functioning center for evangelistic ministry by 1980."

Fletcher Carter of Gadsden, S.C., chairman of the evangelism council, said that evangelism needs to "become the style of life" for local congregations and individuals.

Grants Are Announced

The awarded grants are usually within 20 per cent of the total request funding amounts.

In the near future the towns and counties will receive official notification of the actual amounts each will receive.

The awarded grants will make available to the towns and counties, monies to be utilized in their continuing efforts to implement land use and other planning techniques during the coming fiscal year.

Set Sunday Pilgrimage To Old Area Churches

MOUNT OLIVE — The Free Will Baptist Historical Society will sponsor a Bicentennial pilgrimage to the oldest surviving churches of the denomination on Sunday, July 18, according to Dr. Michael Pelt, vice-president and program chairman of the Society.

The origin of the Free Will Baptist denomination dates back to the colonial period in North Carolina. Although Paul Palmer, an early Baptist minister, is regarded by many as the founder of the denomination, the oldest Free Will Baptist churches which have survived were organized by another early minister, Joseph Parker.

A native of Chowan County, Parker is credited with the organization of as many as eight churches, four of them located in Pitt, Greene, and Lenoir Counties. On December 25, 1976, he purchased land on Little Contentnea Creek, where he organized Little Creek Church. Within a few years he had established mission points in other locations, resulting in the organization of Gum Swamp Church in Pitt County, Grimley Church in Greene County and Wheat Swamp Church (now Disciples of Christ) in Lenoir County. Parker lived until 1791, providing pastoral leadership at these churches, and was buried near Wheat Swamp Church.

Members of Free Will Baptist Churches will honor one of their pioneer ministers as well as the churches which he established by making a pilgrimage to these churches on July 18. The pilgrimage will begin at Gum Swamp Church in the Belvoir community near Greenville at 3 p.m. and continue on to Little Creek Church at Scuffleton in Greene County, then to Grimley Church on NC 102 and from there to Wheat Swamp Church near US 258 north of Kinston in Lenoir County.

The pilgrimage will include a final stop at the grave site of Joseph Parker. A brief service will be held at each church, led by the pastor and members of the congregation. At the grave of Joseph Parker, Dr. Michael Pelt will conduct a brief service commemorating Parker's ministry as a founder of the denomination. The choir of the First Free Will Baptist Church of Kinston will sing selections from an old hymnal published by the denomination in 1854.

Vote To Accept Crossing Grant

GRIFTON—The Grifton Town Board voted to accept a 90 percent federal grant for a railroad signal light on McCrae Street at its Tuesday night meeting.

The board will pay 10 per cent of the $29,000 project. The town will also pay half of the maintenance of the railroad crossing each year.

The board gave its final approval of the town's 1976-77 budget totalling $555,797 and set the tax rate at 75 cents per $100 value.

The board received a $3,000 planning grant and hired Paige Mueller to work with the planning program.

Utilities Supt. Gene Coley reported that the final inspection of all lift stations for sewer lines in the recently annexed areas has been completed. He said that pumps will start this week and letters requiring immediate hook-on will be delivered to property owners by Monday.

Building Inspector Ralph Taxton reported that L. L.

Henderson was the low bidder on the bathrooms to be renovated with Community Development funds. Because the bid was much lower than the others, Thaxton will contact Henderson to make sure that the specifics of the bid are understood.

The board voted to hire Edward C. Mooring as the auditor of the 1975-76 town records.

The board adopted a resolution requesting 20 units of Federal Public Housing for Grifton.

In other action the board:

- Adopted a resolution to pave Cottonwood Lane and Lewis Drive.
- Agreed to participate in the state mosquito control program.
- Heard a request from O.H. Smithson to divide a unit of property belonging to him for deeding to his daughter and requested Smithson to comply with the one-mile jurisdiction of Grifton's subdivision regulations.
- Voted to provide sewer service to Mr. and Mrs. Jamie Braxton of the Lenoir County side of Grifton.

Interviewer Learns Lives Of Super Star's Wives

By JOY STILLEY
AP Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "I was interested to know what kind of women are married to the men we have raised to national super-heroes. Is the man who jumps higher and runs faster really super?" explains Jeanne Parr of her two-year project interviewing wives of sports stars.

"And what I found out is they're not married to a super man. They're married to a super athlete and a difficult man," added the author of "The Superwives," a book she wrote about the private lives of 29 women whose husbands are top players in every major sport.

They include Helen (Mrs. Catfish) Hunter, Marquerite (Mrs. O.J.) Simpson, Karolyn (Mrs. Pete) Rose, Winnie (Mrs. Arnold) Palmer, Mary (Mrs. Rod) Laver, Barbara (Mrs. Jack) Nicklaus and Nancy (Mrs. Tom) Seaver.

"I spent two days and sometimes more with them," Miss Parr said in an interview. "I followed them around supermarkets. I had all my antennas functioning to learn about their lifestyle, children, homes, what they had to say about the men."

And, admits the former CBS television news correspondent, since the book's publication she has gotten a lot of reaction from the wives so candidly revealed through the tape-recorded conversations.

"I don't think anyone was unhappy over my comments — just unhappy over their own, shocked that they said what they did," she said. "Even one who came out delightful, warm and zany saw herself in print and was absolutely undone."

The women agreed to be interviewed, Miss Parr believes, because she dealt directly with them rather than through their husbands, and as a group they had not been heard from, though reams of material had been written about their husbands.

Fewer than half of the women had college degrees and she recalls only about three homes where she saw books, but more than half had been cheerleaders.

"These people are deeply entrenched in the physical world — they're out there cheering, they meet (the athlete), go together and get married. Then the guy gets lifted to the stratosphere and she's still just a cheerleader waiting for it all to be over," explained the blonde Miss Parr, curled on the gold quilted bedspread in her hotel room in a white pantsuit and champagne-colored sweater.

"The air that's rarified for him is polluted for her," she went on. "He has the limelight and she has the shadow. When he loses he's down and has to be comforted. When he wins he's out on the town."

"She has to contend with loneliness to a degree no other wife faces. Her husband is absent most of the time. She has to go to the hospital alone to have her babies because the coach won't let her husband off the field; bring up the children alone; run the household alone."

The women worry about financial security, Miss Parr pointed out, since their men are "over the hill" at 35. They worry about injuries. But their No. 1 fear is the groupies who flock around the superjock.

"But I felt a rumbling going on. There's a feeling now among women who have lived only for the guy that something is missing. She has money, a home and a name that is famous, but she doesn't have him." (Since the interviews some of the couples have separated, Miss Parr said.)

They often are not even interested in their husband's sport but prefer a different one, noted Miss Parr, a widow in her late 40s who prefers skiing to competitive sports.

"I have enough competition in my daily life," she said. Now working on another nonfiction book in her pre-Revolutionary

Cold Cuts Dill Bread

Fruit Salad
DILL BREAD
The best recipe we've found for this popular loaf.

2 cups creamed cottage cheese
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 tablespoon dill seed
2 tablespoons minced scallion

1/4 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon baking soda
2 teaspoons salt
2 eggs
1 package active dry yeast
1/2 cup warm water
5 cups unbleached flour

Slightly warm together the cottage cheese and butter. Add dill seed, onion, sugar, baking soda, salt and eggs. Beat until blended. Dissolve yeast in the water; stir into cottage-cheese mixture. Stir in as much flour as possible, then knead in the rest; continue kneading until dough is smooth. Place in greased bowl; turn to grease top. Cover and let stand until doubled in bulk.

Punch down. Shape into 2 loaves and place in greased 8- by 4-inch loaf pans. Cover and let rise until dough reaches tops of pans. Bake in a preheated 375-degree oven for 35 to 40 minutes or until browned and loaves sound hollow when tapped on bottom. Turn out and cool on racks. Makes 2 loaves. Americans are cottage cheese lovers. They eat more than five pounds per person each year.

Don't Wear Ring Until Divorced

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1976 by Chicago Tribune N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am very much in love with a wonderful man and we are planning to be married just as soon as my divorce comes through, which should be within the next few months.

My fiance wants to give me a diamond engagement ring right now. Would it be proper for me to wear an engagement ring while I'm still legally married? I don't really feel married. I've been separated from my husband for over a year.

IN LOVE AND CONFUSED

DEAR IN: Until you're divorced, you're married. Cool it until your divorce is final.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "HEARTSICK IN HURON, S.D.": Tell your husband you found the letter and give him a chance to explain it. Don't prejudice him.

DEAR ABBY: I am 28, unmarried and have just had one breast removed (cancer).

When I meet a man who is not aware of the surgery I've had, do you think I should tell him about it or not? I've discussed it with several people. My mother says, "Don't tell him until you are engaged to marry him."

My physician says, "Tell him as soon as you think he could become seriously interested in you."

My best friend says, "It is best to tell a man early in the friendship because it might make a difference in the way he feels about you, and it's unfair to hold it back."

I would like your opinion and the opinions of men who may have had some experience with this problem. Thank you.

HAVING DOUBTS

DEAR HAVING: I vote with your physician. Readers?

DEAR ABBY: I wear a wig sometimes, but not all the time. I have this friend who, no matter who is present — men, women or strangers — will walk up to me, lift up my hair (or wig) and even tug on it and ask, "Is that a wig you're wearing or is that your own hair?"

Abby, when she does that, I get terribly embarrassed. How can I tell her in a nice way, so I don't offend her, that whether I'm wearing a wig or not is nobody's business but my own?

WIG-WEARER

DEAR WIG-WEARER: Tell her in plain language. And if she embarrasses you in this manner again, give the same consideration to HER as she gives to YOU. (Like practically none.)

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Cooking Summer Cookouts

By RONALD E. COHEN

It is summer, when thoughts turn blithely to the backyard barbecue pit.

Many men who wouldn't dream of going near a stove during the winter months turn into cooking fools in summer.

They believe they have no peer when it comes to rustling up a summer cookout.

Unfortunately, their horizons often are limited. Grab a steak, some hot dogs, some hamburgers, or some chicken breasts, and toss them over the charcoal — or, increasingly, the gas or electric brazier.

Here are three different, delicious things you can do with chopped meat that will have your family crowning you "King of the Roast."

WINEBURGERS

Mix 2 pounds of ground beef with one-half cup each of soft, fine breadcrumbs and chopped salted peanuts and 1 cup of smoky barbecue sauce. Form into eight thick patties and cook as regular hamburgers, about 4-5 minutes each side, or to desired doneness. Brush with more barbecue sauce on both sides, serve on sesame seed hamburger buns.

GIANT TURNOVERS

Here's your shopping list for the best thing to happen to the basic hamburger since charcoal was invented:

Mix 2 pounds of ground chuck with 2 eggs, one and a half teaspoons of seasoned salt, one fourth teaspoon each of seasoned pepper and garlic powder and 1 tablespoon of Worcestershire sauce. Divide into six portions.

On a sheet of wax paper, using a bowl or dish as a guide, draw a 7-inch circle. Place one meat portion in the center of the circle, then pat it down until it fills the circle. Spread the meat lightly with brown mustard. Using a total of 1 cup of diced cheddar cheese, and one-half cup each of diced pimiento and sour pickles, sprinkle one-sixth of each on half the patty, leaving about one inch at the edge.

Lift the waxed paper and fold the uncooked half of the meat onto the filled half. Press the edges together as tightly as possible to form a giant turnover.

Repeat with the remainder of the meat and fillings. Brush one side of each turnover with bottled smoky barbecue sauce. Cook over hot coals, turning once and brushing again with the sauce. Cook to desired doneness.

One of these will handle a normal appetite. The superhungry can consume two. Serve giant turnovers on a plate or split hero buns. The regular picnic items — beer, potato salad, coleslaw — go well.

One word of caution: don't overstuff, or the meat will not be able to contain the goodies inside.

FAKE SUEDE

NEW YORK (UPI) — Almost every New York designer is intrigued with the versatility of the synthetic suede fabric that can go into the laundry.

Halston made Ultrasuede his trademark. Other designers, such as Oscar de la Renta and Bill Tice for Malcolm Starr, show it in many versions. Tice cuts skirts on the bias and gives them a stitched cummerbund waistband, makes slashed-front skirts, jumpsuits and blazers all of the fabric.

Ultimate Test Awaits Carter

The American Dream came true for Georgia's Jimmy Carter in the city of New York Thursday night.

Carter, whose name was hardly a household word six months ago, became the Democratic party's nominee for president of the United States.

In sharp contrast to what had been expected several months back Carter obtained the nomination with virtually no problems.

Even before the nomination he was hard at work seeking to unify the diverse elements of the Democratic Party and this chore.

The nomination came so easily for Jimmy Carter Thursday that it seemed the entire procedure was effortless. Nothing could be further from the truth, however. Carter spent 17 months in laying the groundwork for the nomination which was eventually to be his. Included was the grueling routine of running in the various state primaries where Carter won the hearts of the grass roots Democrats and sent his opponents out of the race. Thus as the day of the Democratic convention approached Carter had enough committed delegates to assure his nomination.

There are still those who complain that they really don't know where Carter stands on the various issues. And the analysts say the primary thing he had going for him was that he is not part of the Washington scene.

Carter has to have something, however, to charm so many people so quickly. Obviously he has political appeal, and he has to be knowledgeable about the problems which face the nation so as not to make embarrassing slips as he answers the barrage of questions every day.

We can presume from the way he had carried out his incredible campaign that he must have a tremendous ability to organize. And he obviously has supreme confidence in his own abilities to even dream that he could accomplish what he just has.

The big campaign is still ahead, however, as Carter faces the Republican nominee who will be chosen next month. It will be a one-on-one debate then and we can expect questions about issues to get more specific, and clear answers expected.

Jimmy Carter won the Democratic nomination the hard way however, and we would expect him to be prepared for the presidential campaign just ahead.

Funds To Private Schools?

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH — Why should public funds be used to help private colleges?

Because otherwise even more public funds would be required to handle the students who go to the private schools; and the diversity of choice provided by private colleges would be lost, say the private college people.

North Carolina private college trustees and administrators are happy with the recent U.S. Supreme Court ruling which keeps open the doors for taxpayer support of church-related colleges, and even expands that potential.

This is one of several states already engaged in such support, with state funds equalling slightly over $400 per student per year enrolled in private colleges or universities.

More Aid
Given the court decision, and the increasing enrollment at public universities while private schools have vacancies, it is likely that the private colleges will push for even more state aid.

"We do not view additional support . . . in any adversarial or threatening way to the public institutions," says Cameron West, president of the N. C. Association of Independent Colleges and Universities.

In fact, for a relatively modest investment the people of North Carolina can utilize resources that otherwise, in a time of scarcity, will be underutilized," West believes.

There are currently 6,000 spaces available on the campuses of private colleges—campuses which are largely well equipped and feature fine buildings. The private colleges are accredited to the same standards and records of graduates compare favorably with the public sector. Scholastic Aptitude Test scores for entering freshmen last fall showed six independent colleges in the top 10 in the state; and 10 in the top 15, West says.

Looking ahead, West predicts a student enrollment climb to 1980, followed by a sharp drop. "It makes little sense to build additional facilities today when the students won't be there to fill spaces in the 1980's, when spaces needed today are currently going underutilized in the private sector."

Save Money
It would save the state money to use the private schools, West believes. The public subsidy per public college student is now $2,100, and providing space for more than 16,000 students in increased enrollments will cost up to $40 million, West thinks. North Carolina ranks sixth in the nation in public dollars spent per student in public colleges.

In the fall of 1975, North Carolina had nearly 115,000 college undergraduates, of which 24,639 were in the private sector.

West feels the matter of choice is a key reason the state should continue to support independent college students—to assure the availability of a variety of institutional types.

"There may in actuality be many reasons why an individual student chooses a particular college or university and other reasons such as location, or specific program of study, or even success of a football or basketball team many influence large numbers of students to enroll.

"But the one to which most studies give prominence is tuition differential — the gap between tuition in the public and private colleges which exists for all students, not just those from the lowest income levels," West said. The average difference between public and private institutions for 1975-76 was $1,226 at two-year and $1,374 at four-year schools.

State aid is essential, then, in helping students exercise their choice and meet the costs, West feels, and the aid reinforces the theme that the State of North Carolina is responsible for seeing that its young people receive the finest education at the institution best suited to their individual needs and capabilities.

"Oh, let Jimmy be. He said if he could harvest enough delegates in the next year and a half he could win first prize at the fair."

"That's the stupidest thing I ever heard of. Who's going to give first prize to a Georgia peanut farmer from Plains, Ga.?"

"Jimmy says if he gets the planting in early he'll have more delegates than anybody else, and they'll have to give it to him."

"Maw, that ain't delegate soil. The only thing it's good for is peanuts and earthworms. Delegates grow in New York and Michigan and Ohio and California. Even if Jimmy-Earl manages to grow 'em, they ain't going to be fit to eat."

"Hon, I only gave one acre to Jimmy-Earl to grow delegates on. He calls it 'God's little acre.' If he can raise 'em there, let him be."

Every day Jimmy went out and watered his acre. In six months the first little delegate popped out of the ground.

Jimmy brought it to the house, a smile on his face.

"Well, I got me my first delegate."

Jimmy's sister sneered, "Jimmy-Earl, one delegate doesn't give anyone a blue ribbon. You're going to need a ton of them."

Jimmy came into the house with a bunch of delegates in his arms and said, "I got some more delegates, Maw."

"We ain't got no more room in the house for 'em, Jimmy-Earl. You're going to have to put them in the barn."

"There's peanuts in the barn," Jimmy's brother protested.

Jimmy just smiled. In May of 1976, the Carter farm had more delegates in the bag than anyone could dream of.

The big brokers from New York and Chicago and Detroit and Miami and everywhere else in the country all had to come to Plains, Ga., and deal with Jimmy.

They were in awe because no one ever believed anything but peanuts could grow in Georgia.

One of the brokers said, "My God, Mr. Carter, you have enough delegates here to be the President of United States."

Jimmy-Earl's New Crop

WASHINGTON — Everyone knows Jimmy Carter did it. But no one knows how he did it. This is the truth, so help me God.

On Oct. 28, 1974, Jimmy Carter went out to his field in Plains, Ga., and got on his knees. His sister came out and said, "Jimmy-Earl, what on God's green earth are you doing?"

"I'm planting delegates," Jimmy replied, without looking up.

"Peanuts, Jimmy-Earl. You're supposed to be planting peanuts. Delegates will never grow in the South."

Jimmy just smiled. "Jimmy's sister went into the house and said, 'Maw,' you want know what Jimmy-Earl's doing out there? He's pulled up all the peanuts and he's planting delegates in their place. If he keeps it up we could lose the whole farm."

"Oh, let Jimmy be. He said if he could harvest enough delegates in the next year and a half he could win first prize at the fair."

Hostile Toward Trudeau

By JOHN VINOCUR
Associated Press Writer

OTTAWA, Canada (AP) — Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau's venture into Olympic politics apparently has hurt his already dwindling popularity among Canadians while worsening further his country's less-than-happy relations with the United States.

At a time when opinion polls put Trudeau at his lowest level of public esteem since taking office in 1968, aides admitted Thursday that letters, telegrams and calls about his attempt to keep Taiwan's athletes from competing as representatives of China are running against him. The same trend is reflected in newspaper editorials and in man-in-the-street contacts.

The U.S. Embassy was clearly irritated by the Canadian government's reaction to President Ford's comments supporting the Nationalist Chinese. Foreign Secretary Allan MacEachen accused Ford of "political interference," but the Americans were understood to be more annoyed by MacEachen's suggestion that Ford was motivated by domestic political concerns.

"I don't think the U.S. would be particularly happy if some expatriate Americans decided that they were going to participate in games under the name of the United States of America," Trudeau commented Thursday. "If the Palestine Liberation Organization athletes wanted to come and say they represent Israel and Palestine, obviously we would object and so would the Americans."

The political consequences for Trudeau are difficult to calculate, since his Liberal government does not have to seek re-election until 1978. But a Gallup Poll in May found 49 per cent of the Canadians questioned were dissatisfied with the job he was doing and only 33 per cent approved. It virtually reversed the figures two years ago when the Liberals were re-elected.

Trudeau has had to buck several scandals involving some of his cabinet ministers, his own flip-flop on a campaign promise not to put on wage-price controls and dissatisfaction in the English-speaking provinces (Continued on page 5)

Carter Speech Highlights

NEW YORK (AP) — The following are highlights of the speech delivered by Jimmy Carter in accepting the Democratic nomination for president Thursday night:

"...Nineteen seventy-six will not be a year of politics as usual. It is a year of concern, and of quiet and sober reassessment of our nation's character and purpose — a year when voters have already confounded the political experts. It can be a year of inspiration and hope.

And I guarantee you, it will be the year when we give the government of this country back to the people of this country.

There is a new mood in America.

We have been shaken by a tragic war abroad and by scandals and broken promises at home.

Our people are seeking new voices, new ideas and new leaders.

Although government has its limits and cannot solve all our problems, we Americans reject the view that we must be reconciled to failures and mediocrity, or to an inferior quality of life. . . ."

"This year we have had 30 state primaries, more than ever before, making it possible to take our campaign directly to the people of America — to homes and shopping centers, factory shifts and colleges, to barber shops and beauty parlors, to farmers' markets and union halls.

This has been a long and personal campaign — a humbling experience, reminding us that ultimate political influence rests not with powerbrokers, but with the people. This has been a time for learning and exchange of ideas, a time of tough debate on the important issues facing our country. This kind of debate is part of our tradition and as Democrats we are heirs to a great tradition.

I have never met a Democratic president, but I have always been a Democrat.

I remember years ago as a farm boy sitting outdoors with my family in the middle of the night, gathered close around a radio connected to our automobile battery, and listening to the Democratic conventions in far-off cities.

I was then a long way from the selection process. I feel much closer to it tonight."

"Our party has not been perfect. We have made mistakes and we have paid for them. But ours is a tradition of leadership and compassion and progress.

Our leaders have fought for every piece of progressive legislation from RFD and REA to Social Security and civil rights. In times of need, the Democrats were there.

But in recent years, our nation has seen a failure of leadership. We have been hurt and disillusioned. We have seen a wall go up that separates us from our own government."

"We have lost some precious things that historically have bound our people and our government together.

We feel that moral decay has weakened our country, that it is crippled by a lack of goals and values, and that our public officials have lost faith in us.

We have been a nation adrift too long. We have been without leadership too long. We have had divided, deadlocked government too long. We have been governed by veto too long. We have suffered enough at the hands of a tired, worn out administration without new ideas, without youth or vitality, without vision, and without the confidence of the American people.

There is a fear that our best years are behind us, but I say to you that our nation's best is still ahead.

Our country has lived through a time of torment. It is now a time for healing."

"It is time for the people to run the government" and not the other way around. It is time to honor and strengthen our families, our neighborhoods, and our diverse cultures and customs."

We need a Democratic president and a Congress to work in harmony for a (Continued on page 5)

PHYSICIAN TO THE SPIRIT

William Booth, the great Christian who organized the Salvation Army, looked on the dreary horror of Whitechapel, a slum on London, and fell in love with the great crowds of people there who seemed to be outside the pale of all Christian churches. These people were debased by a vile environment and the vilest of habits. When Booth came among them to help them, they met his kindness with derision, insult, and violence.

Nevertheless Booth was confident that he could win them and thousands of other people like them by love. He said of himself and his colleagues, "We are moral scavengers, netting the very sewers. We want all we can get, but most of all we want the lowest of the low."

Booth had the capacity to see moral potentiality beneath the grime of evil. He believed in his fellow men, but above all he believed in the divine power of Jesus Christ to save men from their worst selves. He was a physician to the spirits of men.

To the Editor:

- 1) A police officer, as well as any other position in our community, has morals and character that are seen by the public off duty as well as on duty.
  - 2) Risking your life for the town and its citizens is a job you are hired to do and paid by the city of Greenville.
  - 3) Unfortunately, the job of a police officer, as well as that of a doctor, nurse (medical professions), fireman, industrial worker, restaurant owner and housewife all have to work Sunday, holidays, and birthdays.
  - 4) Police officers get paid time and a half for their court time where as a private citizen only gets paid eight dollars a day for jury duty.
  - 5) A police officer is paid in money for his overtime not to mention all his other benefits—retirement, hospital insurance, vacation, sick leave, uniforms, etc.
  - 6) As in any other profession, if you do your job to the best of your ability and have good relationships among your fellow workers, you need not worry about being fired.
- To sum it all up in a few words, if you are not satisfied with your duties, salary, working hours, and fellow employees, you can always quit and seek other employment that will better satisfy you.

Carter Prescribes 'Exercising'

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — In the Democratic tradition, Jimmy Carter believes that the best remedy for an economy that has been through a long siege of illness is to get out of bed and begin exercising.

In that sense he is like a good many modern doctors who assure the patient that, while the operation might indeed have been harrowing, it is best that he or she take a walk down the corridor the following day.

The Republicans, of course, have a very different view. They feel the sick patient must be nursed along slowly lest the incision reopen and produce all sorts of side effects. Easy does it, they say. Speed kills.

And so over the years you have a succession of Democratic candidates who insist that in the name of humanity the country needs to get moving again, while the Republicans, claiming logic and discipline, urge stability and restraint.

Carter seeks to combine the best of both positions, but in the most basic of equations, jobs versus inflation, he has come out unmistakably as an advocate of more jobs, while clearly recognizing the flirtation with inflation.

While the Ford administration obviously cares about jobs too, it has left little doubt about inflation being the No. 1 economic concern, and action against it the No. 1 economic priority.

In the Republican view, to urge the economy on, to create more jobs quickly instead of gradually, is to invite more inflation and, as a consequence, another bust. A bust in which those jobs would be lost again.

Ford repeatedly has expressed that position, and even when the country was on the brink of its worst recession since the 1930s he wae, to his later embarrassment, considering a tax increase in order to slow the economy.

Carter's view of job-inflation is markedly different. In a very frank interview with Fortune magazine earlier this year he stated flatly his opinion that the jobless rate could be pushed below 5 per cent without more inflation.

Few Republicans are inclined to go that far, and thereby inevitably lay themselves open to accusations of apathy toward the problem of the jobless. While such a charge is spurious, it is true that Republicans in general believe that a higher jobless rate might have to be tolerated.

Carter believes that "if we get down below 4 per cent unemployment, you would have very high inflationary pressures as you tried to reach lower and lower levels of unemployment."

And, he told Fortune editors, the inflation rate would probably rise above 10 per cent within a few years after a jobless level of 3 per cent was reached.

The jobs versus inflation issue, therefore, is seen as one of degree rather than philosophy.

The Ford administration believes that right now we are producing the most jobs we can without generating an even higher rate of inflation. Go slowly but steadily, it (Continued on page 5)

Carter Speech...

change, with mutual respect for a change, in the open for a change. Next year we will have that new leadership. It is time for America to move and to speak, not with boasting and belligerence, but with a quiet strength—to depend in world affairs not merely on the size of an arsenal but on the nobility of ideas—and to govern at home not by confusion and crisis, but with grace and imagination and common sense. Too many have had to suffer at the hands of a political and economic elite who have shaped decisions and never had to account for mistakes nor to suffer from injustice. When unemployment prevails, they never stand in line looking for a job.

When deprivation results from a confused welfare system, they never do without food or clothing or a place to sleep. When the public schools are inferior or torn by strife, their children go to exclusive private schools. And when the bureaucracy is bloated and confused, the powerful always manage to discover and to occupy niches of special influence and privilege. An unfair tax structure is designed to serve their needs. And tight secrecy always seems to prevent reform.

"It is time for us to take a new look at our own government, to strip the secrecy, to expose the pressure of lobbyists, to eliminate waste, to release our civil servants from bureaucratic chaos, to provide tough management, and always to remember that in any city or town, the mayor, the governor and the president all represent exactly the same constituents."

"The test of any government is not how popular it is with the powerful, but how honestly and fairly it deals with the many who must depend on it. It is time for a complete overhaul of our tax system. It is a disgrace to the human race. All my life I have heard promises of tax reform, but it never quite happens. With your help, we are finally going to make it happen!"

"It is time for the law to be enforced. We cannot educate children, create harmony among our people, or preserve basic human freedom unless we have an orderly society. Crime and lack of justice are especially cruel to those who are least able to protect themselves. Swift arrest and trial, and fair and uniform punishment should be expected by those who would break our laws. It is time for our government leaders to respect the law no less than the humblest citizen, so that we can end the double standard of justice in America. I see no reason why big shot crooks should go free while the poor ones go to jail. A proper function of government is to make it easy for us to do good and difficult for us to do wrong."

"The foremost responsibility of any president is to guarantee the security of our nation—a guarantee of freedom from the threat of successful attack or blackmail and the ability with our allies to maintain peace. But peace is not the mere absence of war. Peace is action to stamp out international terrorism. Peace is the unceasing effort to preserve human rights. Peace is a combined demonstration of strength and good will. We will pray for peace and we will work for peace, until we have removed from all nations the threat of nuclear destruction."

"Our nation should always derive its character directly from our people and let this be the strength and the image to be presented to the world. To our friends and allies I say that what unites us through our common dedication to democracy is more important than that which occasionally divides us on economics or politics. To the nations that seek to lift themselves from poverty I say that America shares your aspiration and extends its hand to you. To those nation-states that wish to compete with us I say that we neither fear competition or see it as an obstacle to wider cooperation."

"My vision of this nation and its future has deepened and matured during the 19 months that I have campaigned for president. I have never had more faith in America than I do today. We have an America that, in Bob Dylan's phrase, is busy being born, not busy dying."

Statewide Land Policy Plan Near Completion

RALEIGH (AP)—The North Carolina Land Policy Council is nearing completion of a statewide land use plan—a task assigned by the 1974 General Assembly.

But although it has resolved most of the major issues it faces in developing the plan, the council fell short of completing it at a meeting Thursday. The council is scheduled to present its plan to the 1977 General Assembly. According to staff director Steve Thompson, it will gather for its final meeting late next month.

It has developed a plan that would require all 100 counties to classify land into five categories as part of an effort to discourage growth where deemed undesirable. Growth would be controlled largely by local government decisions based on the classifications. The plan would be administered by a statewide commission.

In addition, coordination of state and federal participation in the development of such facilities as highways, airports, power stations and ports would be required by the plan. At its Thursday meeting, the council said the Coastal Resources Commission, which has planning responsibilities in eastern North Carolina, will continue to function even after the statewide plan is put into effect. The relationship between the two agencies will be worked out later, the council decided.

It also postponed decisions on how commissioned members should be selected and on how binding local land use decisions should be on state regulatory agencies.

There will be a special program Saturday night at 7:30 at the Holly Hill FWB Church. The program will feature the Uhall Community Gospel Choir of New Haven, Conn. The public is invited to attend.

Policeman Shot In Airliner Disorders

CHICAGO (A)—A policeman was shot after a "mighty disturbance" aboard a San Juan to Chicago jumbo jet caused the plane to return to Puerto Rico on Thursday, Eastern Airline spokesmen said today.

Chicago radio station WBBM quoted a passenger as saying the disturbance started after a mental patient on the plane followed a young boy into a restroom and sexually molested him. The patient was subdued and the plane returned to San Juan, the radio station said.

At Eastern's headquarters in Miami, spokesman Bill Wooten confirmed that a police sergeant was shot while trying to remove a passenger from a plane at San Juan about 6:15 p.m. Thursday. Both the policeman and the passenger remained hospitalized today, Wooten said.

"There was an incident involving a child. That's why the plane went back to San Juan," Wooten said. "But just what happened, I don't know."

In Chicago, another Eastern spokesman said he was unable to confirm the report that a child was sexually molested. But he said there was a "mighty disturbance" on Flight 948 which left San Juan at 4 p.m. Thursday and was due in Chicago at 7:05 p.m.

with the government's program to foster bilingualism. One political analyst said the prime minister's Taiwan action could be more dangerous to him than he could have imagined because it is giving the country its first real dose of adverse publicity. "No More Mr. Nice Guy Canada," said a headline in a Montreal newspaper. A Canadian Press survey of foreign reaction reported, "No issue in recent history has aroused such hostility against the Canadian government."

Andrew Brewin, spokesman for the New Democratic Party, the country's third largest, said he thought the issue might be forgotten by the time the Olympics end. But the former Conservative prime minister, John Diefenbaker, said in an interview: "If Trudeau went to the people today, he couldn't get in. There is a deep sense of resentment across the country... There's a general condemnation of him."

states, and unemployment will fall in the same manner. Carter says we're nowhere near our limits. Again, there is nothing unique in these approaches, and many political analysts tend to see the Democrats as the party that takes the risks, and the Republicans as the ones who come in to restore stability. It doesn't take much research to spot the exceptions to this—in recent years, for example, we had little inflation under President John F. Kennedy, a lot under President Richard M. Nixon—but there might be truth in it this year. Carter believes there is a lot more potential energy in the patient and that we should encourage if not force it to exercise that potential, whereas President Ford fears that to do so would only drive the patient's inflation fever higher.

To Find Peace

Lightning flashes across the sky. Thunder unleashes its ominous rumblings. The first spatter of rain falls briskly on a nearby row of rocks. The wind begins an eerie song high above in the swaying tops of tall pines. Sullen banks of clouds blanket the pale moon. The creatures of the woods scurry to their dens to wait out the approaching storm. Every living thing in the forest seems to be holding its breath... in anticipation... or in fear. And this is the way of the world. There will always be anxiety... always fear—even in the heart of man. And where does man go for refuge? To what or to whom does he look for comfort and safety? For centuries the Church has offered him protection against the adversities of life. It even offers him miracles. Certainly it promises solace and peace when grief and fear beset him. Come to the House of the Lord... while the storm is raging... and forever thereafter.

Stock And Market Reports

By CHET CURRIER
AP Business Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Concern that upward pressure on interest rates might be resuming pushed stock market prices lower today.

Trading was moderate. The 11:30 a.m. Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was down 4.42 at 993.04. Losers held a 7-2 lead over gainers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Analysts noted fears that the sharp rise in the money supply reported late Thursday by the Federal Reserve would dissuade the Fed from continuing its recent relaxation of credit policy.

Rates on such short term investments as Treasury bills and certificates of deposit swung upward in the money markets today in response to the Fed figures.

The Dow gave up more than 7 points in the first half hour, but after that it stabilized and began recovering gradually.

Sony was the most active NYSE issue, unchanged at 9 1/2. Honeywell, also active, dropped 1/4 to 49 1/2. In announcing higher second quarter earnings Thursday, the company said year-to-year comparisons wouldn't be as bright in the second half because they would be made against strong showings in the final half of 1975.

The NYSE's 11 a.m. composite index of all its listed common stocks was off .36 at 55.87.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was down .38 at 106.22.

Bali Quake Toll Rising

DENPASAR, Indonesia (AP) — The casualty toll in Indonesia's second major earthquake in three weeks has risen to more than 300 dead and 2,500 persons injured on the vacation island of Bali, police said today.

The quake, well away from usual tourist areas, hit central Bali Wednesday with a force of 5.6 on the Richter Scale. The town of Seririt was leveled. Thousands of homes were destroyed, along with many Hindu temples, schools and other buildings.

Another quake June 26 which measured 7.2 on the Richter Scale caused massive landslides in the remote mountainous center of Irian Jaya, the former West New Guinea. Casualty estimates have fluctuated wildly because low clouds hampered aircraft operations in the area and otherwise access to it is extremely slow and difficult.

First reports said as many as 9,000 members of primitive tribes were killed, but missionary sources and relief officials later reported 450 dead and 5,000 missing.

Overturned 'Several Times'

OPERATOR INJURED . . . Patrolman Carter Smith was injured early today. W. E. Brinson looks over the car in which the driver identified as Byron Byron Carter Smith, 20, of 301 Windsor Rd. was taken to Pitt Memorial Hospital for treatment of injuries he received in a 2:15 a.m. collision on Oxford Road in the Brook Valley subdivision today.

Investigating Highway Patrolman W. E. Brinson, who charged Smith with driving under the influence and careless and reckless driving, said the man's 1970 model small foreign car was demolished when the vehicle went out of control and overturned several times. The trooper noted that Smith, trapped under the vehicle when it came to rest after traveling some 157 feet, was freed when two men lifted the car off of him.

N.C. Senators Retract Earlier Lt. Gov. Step

RALEIGH (AP) — Only three months after it stripped the lieutenant governor of his powers, the North Carolina Senate has voted to recommend that the 1977 session of the Senate restore his ability to appoint committees and their chairmen.

Rauch contended an imbalance of power in favor of the executive branch of government could result if the governor and the lieutenant governor were of the same party.

Sen. D. Livingstone Stallings, D-Craven, urged reinstatement of the appointive power. He said other ways of appointing committees and chairmen also would have drawbacks.

At a special session Thursday, the Senate also voted to recommend that consideration be given to alternate ways of appointing committees. The two measures passed 35-8. The Senate could not officially act on the recommendation because the General Assembly is in adjournment until the 1977 session.

Arguing Thursday against reinstating the rules were Sens. Kenneth Royall Jr., D-Durham, and Marshall A. Rauch, D-Gaston. Royall contended it makes a fulltime lieutenant governor too powerful. He said because the lieutenant governor's responsibilities are limited primarily to his legislative duties, "naturally he's going to get very active in the passage of legislation."

Two alternatives were designated Thursday for consideration by the Senate in January. One would allow appointments to be made by a committee made up of the lieutenant governor, the president pro-tem and the assistant Senate majority leader.

Shotgun Fired At SBI Agent

HENDERSON, N.C. (AP) — An agent with the SBI's arson squad was wounded slightly by shotgun pellets as he rode through Henderson with the town's fire chief Thursday night, according to police.

Police said the blast appeared to have been fired "from in the bushes" along the path the car was traveling. A curfew from 9 p.m. until 6 a.m. was imposed Wednesday night and has been generally well observed, according to police, although fire alarms were numerous. Only one arrest for violation of the curfew has been reported.

The town has been the scene of firebombings and suspected arson since Sunday. The day before, a Vance County Superior Court jury acquitted a white Halifax County woman of murder in the slaying of a young black man.

A spokesman said the agent, Thomas Rasmussen, was taken by Fire Chief "Ranger" Wilkerson to Maria Parham Hospital with minor shotgun pellet wounds.

His injuries were described as not serious. Wilkerson and Rasmussen were shot at while riding through a black section of Henderson, a town of about 18,000 under nightly curfew, as they returned about 11 p.m. from one of several fires, authorities said.

A spokesman for the Henderson Police Department said Rasmussen was struck by two pellets from a shotgun blast. One struck him in the elbow and one struck him in the head, officers said.

Mrs. Dupree pleaded self defense, saying she was attacked by Dickens after she went to the aid of her 14-year-old son.

By PEGGY SIMPSON
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Many women left this year's Democratic convention convinced they are coming of age politically and with a new appreciation of the art of compromise.

"Women delegates this year were much more politically mature about when to negotiate and when to be part of the system," said Carleen Waller of Nashville, Tenn., an alternate delegate.

"They have learned political accommodation, in the finest sense, and how to get what they want politically. You can't read this in a book. Women haven't lost their ideals but they've learned how to tie them into practical politics."

For the first time, women put together a cadre of their foremost feminists, including Rep. Bella Abzug of New York and Pennsylvania Secretary of State Delores Tucker, to negotiate directly with a presidential nominee about their concerns.

They accepted a compromise with Jimmy Carter over their demand for 50-50 representation at future conventions after winning a pledge that the party would lead the fight for equality and that Carter personally would campaign for the Equal Rights Amendment in 16 states which haven't ratified it.

The delegate selection compromise puts the party on record as "promoting" rather than "requiring" an equal male-female delegate split at future conventions.

Women also were successful in making sure that an abortion rights plank which they considered acceptable was included in the platform. The plank opposes a constitutional amendment banning abortion.

Women comprised 34 per cent of the delegates this year, compared with 40 per cent in 1972 and 13 per cent in 1968. They led 10 delegations. And they were more evident among convention speakers than ever before, with Rep. Barbara Jordan of Texas delivering a thunderously applauded keynote speech and Rep. Yvonne Braithwaite Burke of California giving a nominating address for Sen. Walter Mondale.

Even so, some women said there has been little substantive progress. "It's going to be a lot harder than we thought," said Texan Frances "Sissy" Farenthold, who in 1972 became the first woman nominated for the vice presidency.

She said women got "visibility" at the 1972 convention but haven't been able to trade that for concrete gains.

Anne Zill, director of the Women's Campaign Fund, said, "Women are nowhere near the mainstream of politics and won't be for hundreds of years. Women are given cultural training that is devastating and women in politics will have an uphill battle for years."

But feminist Gloria Steinem said women are making strides. In 1972, she said, "they didn't have to be listened to because they didn't have their own constituency. It's different this time."

Storm Cools A Hot Day

Thursday's high temperatures were cooled by a thunderstorm in the afternoon hours. Thursday's high temperature was recorded at 86 degrees and the low temperature was recorded at 67 degrees according to the Greenville Utilities Department. The Utilities Department recorded .02 rainfall Thursday. The Friday 8 a.m. temperature was recorded at 76 degrees and the river level measured 4.7 feet, according to the National Weather Service River Chart.

Strong winds were reported in the county areas causing slight crop damage in the Farmville and Fountain areas, according to the Federal Crop Insurance Agency. The Federal Crop Insurance Agency received four or five calls from farmers in the Farmville and Fountain areas, but only minor and spotted wind and hail damage has been reported.

US Will Not Pull Out Of Olympic Competition

By GEOFFREY MILLER
AP Sports Writer

MONTREAL (AP) — The clouds cleared from Montreal today and two facts stood out bright and clear. The Olympic Games will go on and the United States will compete in them.

The Americans abandoned their idea of possibly pulling out in sympathy with the Taiwanese. One of the first to hail the decision was C.M. Yang, coach of the Taiwan team.

"I would have felt terrible if the United States had pulled out, because it would be such a disappointment to all their athletes, and all because of us," Yang said.

games, deserved consideration," Krumm said. "We had that in mind in deciding not to withdraw."

Killanin has insisted all along that the 10,000 athletes expected to compete at Montreal are the first consideration. He said that was why the IOC stopped short of cancelling the games, or withdrawing its recognition, in the face of what he has bitterly denounced as political interference by Ottawa.

The IOC hoped the Taiwan affair would be solved Friday. First it had to vote to change its rules and allow the Taiwanese to march in the opening parade as "Taiwan" and not as the Republic of China. A two-thirds majority among the 69 IOC members present is needed.

Then the Taiwanese had to be persuaded to accept the idea. There was a precedent at the Rome Olympics in 1960, when the Taiwanese marched as "Formosa" but unfurled a banner saying "under protest."

Grifton Pro Recieves Award

GRIFTON — Ron Anderson, head professional at the Grifton Golf and Country Club since April, has received an award from the Professional Golfers Association.

Anderson recently completed a business course held at Fox Fire Country Club near Pinehurst, a requirement of local pros by the PGA. At the time, he received a plaque as the highest ranking pro in that particular session in academic excellence.

Now Anderson has been informed by the PGA that his grades in the course led the nation, outranking pros from all over the country.

Grifton has recently completed its club championships, with hard-fought finals. In the 36-hole men event, Al Drake Jr. downed Tommy Riley in a one-up victory on the first extra hole—the 37th.

The women's event, slated for 18 holes, took two extra holes before Marie Israel won a one-up victory over Betsy Drake.

Freddie Powers recently picked up an ace on the 164-yard fourth hole.

Two eagles have been recorded on the second hole, a par five, 460 yarder. Tim Shadle made one, while David Bradshaw got the other.

Rain Halts Tourney Play

EDENTON—Rain halted play in the district Babe Ruth Baseball tournament last night during the Greenville-Edenton clash. The teams will return here tonight to finish the game beginning at 8:30.

Greenville leads the best of three series, 1-0, having won Wednesday night, 11-2.

Kingman Blasts His 31st; Baker Gets His Second

By BOB GREENE
AP Sports Writer

Dave Kingman is in the groove; Dusty Baker hopes he has found one.

"My home runs come in bunches," said Kingman, who smacked his 31st of the season — tops in the majors — Thursday night in leading the New York Mets to a 3-1 victory over the Houston Astros.

Baker finally connected on only his second four-bagger of the year in helping the Los Angeles Dodgers defeat the Chicago Cubs 5-2.

"It's the longest time I can remember going without a home run," Baker said. "I had a streak last year of eight weeks and I couldn't believe that."

Baker, who also hit a run-scoring single, last hit a home run in the opening game of the season.

In other National League games Thursday, Philadelphia defeated San Francisco 5-3, Pittsburgh crushed Atlanta 13-1, Montreal nipped Cincinnati 4-3 and St. Louis edged San Diego 2-1.

Kingman's fourth homer in his last four games came after John Milner walked and wiped out Houston's 1-0 lead.

Dodgers 5, Cubs 2
The Dodgers struck early when loser Rick Reuschel opened the bottom of the first by hitting the first two batters. Los Angeles went on to score four runs as winning pitcher Doug Rau scattered five hits. "Everybody played relaxed," said Rau. "Really, it's the first time we've had any days off."

Phillies 5, Giants 3
Tim McCarver, who sees only spot action, drove in three runs to give the Phillies their victory over San Francisco. McCarver's single in the sixth broke a 3-3 tie, giving left-hander Steve Carlton, 10-3, his five straight decision.

Pirates 13, Braves 1
With Bill Robinson providing the most muscle — a two-run homer — Pittsburgh exploded for 12 runs in the first five innings to crush Atlanta. Sloppy Atlanta fielding aided the Pittsburgh onslaught as Darrell Chaney bobbled a two-out, bases-loaded grounder in the second and four runs followed. The Pirates also sent two runs across the plate in the third, one in the fourth, five in the fifth and one in the eighth.

Expos 4, Reds 3
Larry Parrish's two-out single in the eighth off Cincinnati relief ace Rawly Eastwick snapped Montreal's seven-game losing streak and handed the Reds their third loss in a row. Steve Rogers, 3-8, who needed relief help in the ninth, scattered six hits to notch his first victory since May 9.

Cards 2, Padres 1
A one-out double by Joe Ferguson in the ninth broke up a 1-1 deadlock and sparked St. Louis Cardinals to victory over San Diego.

Ferguson's double scored Don Kessinger from second base, handing the Padres their fifth straight loss.

St. Louis' Al Hrabosky relieved in the bottom of the ninth to abort a Padres rally and record his eighth save of the season.

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — Carlton "Sluggo" White and David Graham would figure to be breathing easy today after shooting eight-under-par 63s in Thursday's first round of the $300,000 Westchester Golf Classic.

field has the appearance of a U.S. Open, although obviously they are not playing an Open course.

Three strokes off the pace in the second round were 44-year-old Gay Brewer, who shot a 34-32—66, that included nine birdies and four bogeys, and Fuzzy Zoeller, low qualifier in the 1974 PGA school, who finished a 34-32—66 with five birdies.

old Gay Brewer, who shot a 34-32—66, that included nine birdies and four bogeys, and Fuzzy Zoeller, low qualifier in the 1974 PGA school, who finished a 34-32—66 with five birdies.

No such luck for the 27-year-old White, a comparative unknown on the Professional Golfers Association tour, and Graham, a five-year veteran who hasn't won since 1972.

Instead of a three-or four-stroke margin, White and Graham went off in the second round with just a one stroke lead over Tom Watson and Mike Wynn, and only two strokes ahead of Mike Hill and Bruce Listzke.

The pros just ate up Westchester Country Club's 6,603 yard course. Of the 168 starters, 23 played in par and 55 landed the 36-35-71 regulation figures. The scorers almost ran out of red numbers to indicate birdies. There were two at 66, one 67, seven 68s and sixteen 69s, in an incredible round of shooting.

The Westchester tournament is a PGA designated event, which means all the tour's stars have to play. So all but the ailing Lee Trevino are in the chase for the $60,000 first prize in the 72 hole test. The

Shrine Bowl Names South Coaches-Again

CHARLOTTE (AP)—Shrine Bowl football game officials believe in the old adage that advises, "If at first you don't succeed, try, try again."

For the second year in a row, the same set of four South Carolina coaches has been picked for the 40th annual game with a similar squad of 35 North Carolina high school seniors Dec. 11 in Charlotte.

Each was selected last year, but late-running state playoff games prevented all from taking the assignments. Three of the four also were chosen two years ago and had to withdraw because of playoff conflicts.

Once more, Jim Fraser of T. L. Hanna in Anderson has been named head coach. Assisting him will be Reed Charpia of Irmo, Cecil Woolbright of Chapin and Doug Shaw of Myrtle Beach. Shaw is the only one of the four who was not named in 1974, as well.

For the third year in a row, the game has been set for the second Saturday in December in an effort to avoid playoff conflicts. The first 37 games in the series were played the first Saturday in December.

Fraser attended the University of South Carolina for two years, then served a Marine hitch, after which he graduated from Newberry College, where he was football captain.

He coached at Bennettsville and Aiken before moving to Anderson. More than 70 of his players have received college scholarships.

South Carolina won last year's game 39-27 to take an 18-17 lead in the series, with four ties.

All proceeds from the contest go to the Shriners' Hospital for Crippled Children in Greenville, S.C. Each of the last two games netted more than $1 million for the hospital.

A sellout crowd of 28,000 is on hand annually.

The previously announced North Carolina coaching staff is headed by Robert Paroli of Cummings High School in Burlington.

Agreeable Palmer Blanks Angels Picking Up 12th American Win

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

Jim Palmer would like to set the record straight.

"I never called Darrell Johnson an idiot," said Palmer, one of a number of top American League pitchers who were not selected by the Boston manager to participate in Tuesday night's All-Star Game.

"Someone else said it — I just agreed with him."

As if to underscore the error of Johnson's ways, the 30-year-old Baltimore ace blanked the California Angels 4-0 Thursday night on three singles, becoming the first 12-game winner in the American League.

After a slow start, Palmer — the Cy Young Award winner two of the last three years — has won six of seven decisions since June 15. His record is up to 12-8, his earned run average down to 2.89.

In other American League night games, Detroit edged Oakland 3-2 in 11 innings, Minnesota beat Cleveland 5-2 and Chicago defeated Milwaukee 5-3 in 10 innings.

In two twilight doubleheaders, the New York Yankees swept Texas 7-6 and 6-4, the second game in 10 innings, and Kansas City split with Boston, winning the opener 12-5 but dropping the nightcap 2-1.

Palmer was overpowering against California, giving up just three singles — and two of those runners were erased on double plays. Reggie Jackson drove in three runs, two of them on his 10th home run of the season, and Al Bumbry scored three runs for Baltimore, which has won its last five outings.

Afterwards, Palmer said it's no surprise the National League has won 13 of the last 14 All-Star Games.

"I'm sick and tired of losing to the National League, but it's understandable," he said. "They take their best players and we don't — and it doesn't just apply to pitchers."

Yankees 7-6, Rangers 6-4

Carlos May's three-run homer and Mickey Rivers' three hits and two runs batted in powered the Yankees to victory in the opener despite a shaky seventh inning during which relief ace Sparky Lyle faced three batters and walked them all, forcing in two runs. But with the bases loaded and New York's lead down to one run, Dick Tidrow came on and got Roy Howell on an inning-ending grounder.

Tidrow also picked up a save in the second game, coming on in the 10th inning to get the final out after Sandy Alomar's two-run homer — his first home run of the season — put the Yankees on top.

Tigers 3, A's 2
A's center fielder Bill North dropped his second fly ball of the game with the bases loaded and two out in the 11th inning, allowing pinch-runner Mickey Stanley to score with the winning run.

The Tigers loaded the bases in the 11th on a hit batsman and two walks. Oakland relief ace Rollie Fingers got Alex Johnson to bounce into a forecourt and then struck out Aurelio Rodriguez. Pinch-hitter Dan Meyer lofted a fly ball to center and North — who dropped one in the third inning to let in one run — misplayed it as Stanley came home.

Twins 5, Indians 2

Twins infielder Roy Smalley, who went into Thursday night's game with a .212 batting average and just 14 runs batted in, collected three hits and knocked in three runs. He cracked a two-run triple in the second inning and squeezed home another run with a bunt in the fifth as Minnesota dealt Cleveland its ninth loss in the last 10 games.

White Sox 5, Brewers 3
Ray Sadecki relieved Milwaukee starter Jim Slaton with two out in the 10th inning and Pat Kelly greeted him with a two-run homer to the upper deck in right-center, giving Chicago the victory in a game in which all the runs came in on homers. Earlier, Chet Lemon had a solo shot and Jack Brohamer a two-run blast for Chicago while George Scott hit a three-run homer for Milwaukee.

Royals 12-1, Red Sox 5-2

Bob Stinson drove in four runs and Jaime Quirk knocked in three in the opener as Kansas City pounded four Boston pitchers for 16 hits.

The Red Sox came back to take the second game, scoring both their runs in the sixth inning and then hanging on behind the pitching of rookie Rick Jones and Jim Willoughby.

Pirates Pillage Atlanta Pitchers To Take 13-1 Win

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates, with a lot of ground to make up if they hope to catch the Philadelphia Phillies in the National League East, got the second half of the season off to a good start.

The Pirates jumped on four Atlanta pitchers for 14 hits Thursday night on the way to a 13-1 victory. Philadelphia maintained a 10-game lead over second-place Pittsburgh by beating San Francisco.

"We had kind of a pep talk about the second half," Pirate relief pitcher Dave Giusti said afterwards. "This is something I think we'll need, some kind of verbal boost."

That pep talk apparently worked, as the Pirates scored 12 of their runs in the first five innings. Atlanta fielders contributed three errors to the cause, as five of the Pirate runs were unearned.

Giusti, coming off 36 days on the disabled list after suffering a pinched sciatic nerve in his leg, got a chance to get in some throwing time in the ninth inning.

With a 12-run cushion, it wasn't exactly a pressure situation.

"I thought I was throwing good tonight, and the throwing apparently didn't bother the pinched nerve that put me out of the game," he said.

"I think I'll be ready any time (pitching coach) Don Osborne calls on me. That was a long rest for my arm."

To make room for the veteran right-hander on the roster, reserve shortstop Mario Mendoza was shipped to the Pirate's Charleston farm club. That leaves 11 pitchers available to Manager Danny Murtaugh, including rookie Rick Langford who was called up after Giusti's injury.

But the club is scheduled to play 13 games in the next 10 days, and, as Giusti noted, "With all these doubleheaders coming up, we need all the pitchers we can get."

Asked how it felt to be on the mound again he answered, "Strange but good."

It probably felt just plain strange for Atlanta starter Phil Niekro, who gave up eight hits before leaving in the fifth. Niekro, 9-5, was charged with nine runs, only four of which were earned.

He got through two outs in the second inning before Darrell Chaney bobbled a bases-loaded grounder off the bat of Pirate starter John Candelaria to open the gates.

Ken Henderson then booted Frank Taveras' single to right as three more unearned runs scored.

Bill Robinson's homer provided two more Pirate runs in the third before the Braves got on the board. Rod Gilbreath led off the Atlanta fourth with a triple and scored on Jim Wynn's sacrifice fly.

Pittsburgh scored once more in the fourth before erupting for five runs in the fifth.

Dave Parker and Richie Zisk each singled to open the inning and chase Niekro. Robinson greeted reliever Frank LaCorte with a double before Manny Sanguillen made the first out trying to stretch a single into a double.

Ed Kirkpatrick then batted for Candelaria, who had to leave with a pulled groin muscle after going long enough to raise his record to 9-4.

Kirkpatrick walked and Taveras and Rennie Stennett added singles to bring on Mike Beard for the Braves. He gave up a sacrifice fly to Al Oliver before getting out of the inning. Pittsburgh's final run in the eighth came off Pedro Torrealba.

Oliver, the National League's leading hitter with a .360 average, had to leave the game after being hit on the right arm by a Torrealba pitch.

Although the arm is sore, he said, there was apparently no damage and "I will be able to play tomorrow night. It might have bothered me if it were my throwing arm, but I think I'll be alright."

"That was the best fastball he threw all night," he jokingly added.

Larry Demery and Giusti mopped up after Candelaria left with four innings of three-hit, shutout ball.

Palmer Hoping To Buy Kansas City Team

DENVER (AP) — Sports-caster Bud Palmer says efforts by his small group of investors to purchase the Kansas City franchise of the National Hockey League and move it to Denver are virtually certain to succeed.

"I would definitely say the Scouts are coming to Denver," Palmer said at a news conference on Thursday. "You've got the wrong name of the team, though. Just say the Kansas City franchise."

Palmer, who heads a group of seven investors that includes Denver oilman John A. Vickers and Munson Campbell, a former executive with the NHL's California Golden Seals, said the purchase price would be between $5.8 million and $8 million.

"We'll send the league some earnest money this afternoon, along with our letter-of-intent," he said, although he added there were still a few details to be worked out before the transaction was assured.

He said the two major obstacles, one with league officials and the other with the Denver city government, have been resolved in principle.

Palmer, who lives in Vail, said at the news conference he was "98 per cent certain" the problems could be worked out by the beginning of next week.

The disagreement with city officials stems from negotiations on a rental agreement for the use of McNichols Sports Arena, where the team would play.

Palmer had reportedly sought rent-free space for the team's front office and an agreement calling for $2,500 a game in rental fees.

But the city reportedly turned down the request for free office space and said it had to charge rent of $3,500 a game to break even on operating the municipally-owned arena.

"We still have some polishing up to do on a proposed contract with the city to lease McNichols Arena, but it's an agreement we can live with," Palmer said, not disclosing any terms.

The second problem facing Palmer and his investors was a last-minute bid by a part owner of the Scouts, Gene Novarr, to buy out the team and keep it in Kansas City.

"Our posture is that Kansas City has some problems, especially with St. Louis over territorial questions," Vickers said. "The league is concerned with that problem, and we don't intend to get involved in it."

The NHL Board of Governors, meeting Thursday, extended the deadline for resolutions of the franchise's future until Monday.

Four Teams Meet Requirement

NEW YORK (AP) — Although merger talks "are not going as well as we'd hoped," four American Basketball Association teams have placed $1 million each in escrow accounts as a first step towards admission to the National Basketball Association.

"The merger talks are not going as well as we'd hoped but as well as expected," said Indiana Pacers executive Bill Eason, but he added, "We have met the NBA requirement for the $1 million. That is, it is in the bank."

He said he hoped for a final agreement within a few days.

The deposits Thursday were strictly paper transactions for the New York Nets, Denver Nuggets, San Antonio Spurs and Pacers.

A second payment of $2 million each is due Sept. 15. There were unconfirmed reports that one of the ABA teams had experienced some problems in raising sufficient funds for the initial payment.

Finalizing of the merger agreement has been slowed because of problems with the settlement with owners of the ABA Kentucky and Utah teams, which were disbanded, and the final settlement of the NBA Players Association suit, which still must be signed by both sides.

NBA Deputy Commissioner Simon Gourdine said, "No date has been set for the dispersal draft of former ABA players and we are still waiting for formal signing of the merger agreement and settlement of all court actions that have been blocking the merger."

He indicated that he did not expect the dispersal draft to be held any earlier than July 26.

THE SILLY SEASON
MINNEAPOLIS (AP) —

Some are calling the American League schedule a bit silly. For instance, the Minnesota Twins end a June home stand on the 20th, fly to California for games the next two days with the Angels, then fly back to Minnesota for three games in two days with the Chicago White Sox.

After that the Twins fly to California again for three games with Oakland then fly back home for three games with Kansas City.

When you look for a home, look for ERA's exclusive Home Buyers Protection Plan. It's America's finest home warranty.

Anyone who buys a "resale" home is concerned about the possibility of unexpected, expensive repair bills. ERA's Home Buyers Protection Plan eliminates those worries.

For twelve full months after you take possession of your home, BPP covers ten major working components against repair or replacement. This includes the central heating system; wall, floor or window heating units; all types of central air conditioning systems; built-in appliances; the water heater; water softener; the plumbing system and fixtures; the electrical system; and all sheet metal duct work.

If anything covered breaks down, one toll-free call will start a repair specialist on his way to fix it. And your cost is always limited to a modest deductible charge. The BPP is an exclusive ERA service. Insist on it when you buy a home.

N.C. Law Requires Report Abusing Of A Disabled Adult

All North Carolinians who believe that a disabled adult is being neglected, abused, or exploited are required by a new state law that went into effect on January 1, 1976 to report such information to their county director of social services according to the Department of Human Resources.

The report may be made orally or in writing and anyone who makes such a report shall be immune from any civil or criminal liability unless they acted in bad faith or with a malicious purpose.

According to the law, a disabled adult is any person 18 years of age or over who is physically or mentally incapacitated due to mental retardation, cerebral palsy, epilepsy, organic brain damage or other physical degeneration caused by advanced age, or due to conditions incurred at any age which are the result of accident, organic brain damage, mental or physical illness, or continued consumption or absorption of drugs or alcohol.

The county director of social services is required to evaluate every case reported as soon as possible but not later than 72 hours after the case is reported. Neglect according to the law refers to situations where a disabled adult is either living alone and not able to provide for himself the services which are necessary to maintain his mental and physical health or is not receiving the services from his caretaker.

Abuse is the willful infliction of physical pain, injury or mental anguish, unreasonable confinement, or the willful deprivation by a caretaker of services which are necessary to maintain mental and physical health.

Exploitation, according to the law, means the illegal or improper use of a disabled adult or his resources for another's profit or advantage.

A caretaker is an individual who has the responsibility for the care of the disabled adult as a result of family relationship or who has assumed the responsibility for the care of the person voluntarily or by contract.

If the county director of social services determines that a disabled adult is in need of protective services, he is required to immediately provide or arrange for such services, provided that the disabled adult consents. If the disabled adult lacks the capacity to consent, the director may petition the district court for an order authorizing the provision of protective services.

Opening lead: Six of ♠.

When this hand was played in the 5th World Team Olympiad, three no trump was a popular contract. At some tables, South had the chance to defend against two spades doubled, but in view of the vulnerability, this chance was passed up more often than not.

The six of spades was a popular lead, and declarer had no trouble thereafter. Since the defenders had to allow declarer to make a spade trick to establish the suit, declarer easily came to ten tricks by simply finessing East out of the jack of clubs when the club position became known on the second round.

The strongest bridge-playing country behind the Iron Curtain is Poland, and their fourth-place finish in the Olympiad was well earned—indeed, for a while it looked as if they might win the whole thing. When this hand turned up in their match against Greece, the Poles were fortunate enough to have a veteran star, Julian Klukowski, in the West seat. His work as a doctor mathematics unfortunately tends to keep him away from the bridge table, but he proved a stalwart in Poland's cause throughout the Olympiad. Poland's fine performance this year can, in no small measure, be attributed to his return to the team.

After listening to the auction shown above, Klukowski brought the hand to a speedy conclusion. With seemingly no thought, he led the king of spades! This was devastating. When the queen fell, it was a simple matter for West to continue with the nine of spades, and the defenders took the first five spade tricks and were happy to concede the remaining eight to declarer.

Lucky lead, some might say. But since North was marked with long spades for his double, and since the defenders' only hope of beating the contract rested in developing the spade suit, Klukowski's lead was a brilliant bit of deduction to cater to the existing lie of the cards.
