

Electricities Recommend Joint Municipal Agency

RALEIGH (AP) — A recommendation that the 29 municipal electric systems served by Carolina Power & Light Co. organize a joint municipal power agency to develop power generation facilities for its members was recommended Tuesday by North Carolina Electricities.

Marshall Lancaster, executive director of Electricities, said he expects prompt action by the cities to result in formation of the North Carolina Municipal Power Agency Number Three.

According to Lancaster, Electricities has been conferring with CP&L representatives looking into the possibility of the agency building its own power generation facilities or acquiring a generation plant from the power company.

The negotiations have shown "substantial progress" in recent weeks and are expected to continue, Lancaster said.

Municipal electric systems in the CP&L area include: Apex, Benson, Black Creek, Clayton, Farmville, Fayetteville, Fountain, Fremont, Hookerton, Kingston, LaGrange, Laurinburg, Lucama, Lumberton, Macclesfield, New Bern, Pikesville, Pinetops, Red Springs, Rocky Mount, Selma, Sharpsburg, Smithfield, Southport, Stantonsburg, Wake Forest, Walstonburg, Waynesville and Wilson.

Municipalities in the Duke Power Co. area and those in the Virginia Electric and Power Co. area having their own electric distribution systems have already formed joint power agencies.

Those agencies are now negotiating for the purchase or construction of electric generation facilities, Lancaster said.

He said Municipal Power Agency Number One, composed of cities which buy their power from Duke, are negotiating with the power company for the purchase of one unit of the Catawba nuclear power plant the company is building on Lake Wylie near Charlotte. He said Municipal Power Agency Number Two, composed of 16 north-eastern North Carolina cities which purchase their power from Veeco, are considering the construction of peaking generation facilities which would be used during times of top power load and is negotiating with Veeco in the hope of having the facility in operation by the summer of 1978.

Pitt Tech Trustees Name Officers, Okay Budgets

The Board of Trustees of Pitt Technical Institute elected officers and adopted its county and state budget for the 1976-77 school year Monday night.

Senator Vernon E. White was reelected as chairman of the Board of Trustees and Clifton W. Everett, Sr., and Miss Nancy E. Mewborn were reelected as vice chairman and secretary.

The board adopted its 1976-77 county operating budget of $221,848 and a capital outlay budget of $191,440 as appropriated by the Pitt County Board of Commissioners. The 1976-77 state operating budget adopted by the board totaled $2,015,398 and the capital outlay budget totaled $87,581.

Chairman of the PTI Building Committee, Clifton Everett, reported that the Committee had conducted a final on-site inspection of the addition to the Administration Building. The board voted to authorize the administration to accept the addition when a remaining checklist of items had been compiled to the satisfaction of the PTI administration, the chairman of the Building Committee, and George Shoe, architect.

As a result of negative comments from the Office of State Property and Construction regarding the Institute's proposed architectural drawings for the new shop/classroom facility, the Trustees adopted a resolution reaffirming their commitment to the Georgian-style architecture for the PTI campus.

Dr. William E. Fulford, Jr., President of Pitt Tech, reported that the Institution had received the following gifts since its May meeting: $1,000 cash, Union Carbide; $250 in cash, American Water Works Association; $1,648.17 of supplies and equipment from the Art Shop and Gallery; $2,000 of X-Ray equipment from Dr. George F. Salle; and $400 in scholarship funds from Prepshirt Manufacturing Company. The fits were accepted by the board.

Mrs. Kay Whichard, chairman of the Personnel Committee, reported that the committee had recommended several persons for employment. The board accepted the recommendations for the employment of the following: Gayle Cobb, Operating Room Technician; Thomas W. Parris, Police Science; Laura J. Fitzgerald, Reading; Patricia Grimesley, Child Development; and Judy Leek, Math and Physics.

An enrollment report was presented to the board. According to the report there is an increase in full-time students over last year's enrollment, but a light decrease in part-time enrollment.

Fewer Jobless

RALEIGH (AP) — A drop in unemployment in North Carolina to 5.9 per cent of the work force in August, was reported Tuesday by the Employment Security Commission.

The agency reported tobacco employment increased seasonally by 5,100 workers, textile employment was up 2,400 and employment in the apparel industry gained 2,100.

Unemployment in the month totaled 147,400 persons, a drop of 22,200 from August of last year.

According to the ESC, there were fewer claims for unemployment insurance payments during the month. The commission paid $19 million to eligible jobless workers under the regular unemployment insurance program and various federal benefit programs.

The biggest drop in employment was in agriculture which had 11,900 fewer workers.

State Starts Its Flu Shots Next Week

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—The North Carolina disease specialist, Dr. Martin Hines, says the state will start giving swine flu shots next week, with the first ones going to the high-risk group. These are people 60 and older and those with chronic diseases such as chronic heart trouble, diabetes, emphysema and bronchitis.

Hines said the state expects to get next week the first 160,000 doses of an anticipated 1.1 million doses of bivalent vaccine, which is only for the high-risk group.

He says, "We have no information on when we'll get the monovalent type," for younger and healthy people.

Hines said he expects ample supplies of the bivalent vaccine, but that there would be a shortage of the monovalent type.

He said the North Carolina Division of Health Services probably will distribute the vaccine to its regional offices in Asheville, Greenville, Winston-Salem and Fayetteville. Individual health departments will pick up their supplies at these offices.

State health officers have about given up the idea of mass clinics because "apparently the vaccine is going to dribble in, rather than come in very large shipments," Hines said. "It looks like late September before we'll get it all."

The vaccines will be free to the public at local health departments.

Physicians in private practice also may give the shots. In that case, the doctor may charge for the shot, but the vaccine itself is free.

Syrian Tanks Advance

By FAROUK NASSAR Associated Press Writer BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Syrian tanks overran four leftist strongholds today in their drive to dislodge Palestinian guerrillas from mountain positions overlooking Beirut.

A guerrilla communique admitted that Syrian armor had overrun Palestinian and Lebanese leftist Moslem positions on the uppermost ridge of the Mount Lebanon chain. Syrian tanks now dominate a guerrilla-held area north of the vital Beirut-Damascus highway, 12 to 15 miles east of the capital. The area is on the southeast corner of the 800-square-mile Christian enclave north of Beirut.

Another communique said Aley, the biggest summer resort town in Lebanon and the all leftist leader Kamal Jumblatt, was under heavy rocket attack by the Syrians.

The Syrian punch followed a murderous artillery and rocket bombardment, touching off dozens of fires in once-fashionable mountain resorts.

A guerrilla spokesman said Palestinian warriors struck back with "suicide forays, blasting enemy positions with grenade-throwing hit-and-run attacks and inflicting heavy losses in lives and equipment."

Top guerrilla leader Yasir Arafat sent urgent messages to Arab kings and presidents pleading for them to stop a "new bloodbath against my people."

Attempts by Lebanese President Elias Sarkis and Arab League mediator Hassan Sabri Kholi to arrange a cease-fire were fruitless.

The Syrians reportedly have said they will halt their assault only if the Palestinians pledge to withdraw from the mountain front.

The Palestinians say they will withdraw only as part of an over-all peace settlement involving Syrian pullbacks.

The Syrians described the attack as "a police operation designed to clear a Lebanese mountain area of disorderly elements."

Casualty figures compiled from militias and hospitals showed about 200 persons killed in escalation of fighting on all fronts in the civil war since the Syrian assault was mounted Tuesday.

Greenville C-Of-C Joins U.S. Body

The Greenville Area Chamber of Commerce has joined the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, according to Chamber president Don Collier.

Frank Melton, who presented the membership certificate to the chapter, said the national chamber was designed to provide "guidance, information and inspiration" for its affiliates. "Our purpose is to help local chapters be outstanding, and very efficient in the implementation of their goals.

"The Chamber of Commerce should be the leadership and action group in the community."

Approximately 2,500 local chambers are affiliated with the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, as are 1,100 trade associations and over 55,000 business organizations.

The U. S. Chamber of Commerce was chartered in 1912 at the request of President William H. Taft. The Greenville Chamber of Commerce was chartered in 1949.

"There are 460 members in the Greenville area chapter, and we're very honored to become a member of the national chamber," said Don Collier.

U.S. 64 Communities Are Urged To Support Consultant's Findings

By STUART SAVAGE Reflector Staff Writer

Tom Taft, president of the Highway 264 Association today called on communities along U.S. 64 to support the preliminary findings of a consultant firm studying the most feasible means to provide four-lane highway access from the East to the rest of the state.

Taft, a Greenville attorney, asked that the communities along U.S. 64 join the Highway 264 Association in rejecting any "common corridor scheme" and, instead, support proposals to four-lane U.S. 64 from Tarboro to Rocky Mount and U.S. 264 from Wilson to Greenville, and from Greenville to Washington.

In addition, Taft proposed that the U.S. 64 communities support the "immediate up-grading of U.S. 64 from Tarboro to Manteo and U.S. 264 from Washington to Englehard.

Taft said the Highway 264 Association is asking the support of the communities along U.S. 64 because of a feeling that the East will be "better served by working together, rather than working at cross purposes."

The 264 Association president emphasized, "we feel like there is more strength in unity and common purpose than in factionalism and competition."

He said "a joint effort will help diminish the likelihood of a re-occurrence of the regional airport outcome 15 years ago. The same communities, were unable to join together in a common plan" to establish a regional airport to serve the East at that time.

"We still don't have any decent air service," Taft emphasized.

"We are not in any way giving up any of our objectives," Taft noted. "We just feel the East would be better served by working together rather than at cross purposes."

He said the East is the "only part of the state with no four-lane road connecting it with the rest of the state."

"The current and next administration should make this project the most important highway project in North Carolina. The East has been left out long enough.

More Millions In Aid To Soul City Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal housing officials will seek high level approval of a $5 million extension of aid to Soul City, Floyd McKissick's controversial "new town" in Warren County, N.C. an official said Tuesday.

James F. Dausch, administrator of the New Communities Administration in the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), said he would ask the agency to release another loan guarantee for McKissick's real estate development even though it has not lived up to the terms of its contract with the department. "Two years ago they started out in the wilderness," Dausch said. "This last month, they acquired the land necessary for a rail spur...They are in the process of resolving sewage treatment operations. They have a health facility...Two businesses...We think that is a good program."

Dausch said Soul City had complied with the "spirit" of HUD requirements for obtaining the added loan guarantees even though it has not "precisely" met all the requirements. The requirements included demonstrated progress in employment, road-building, water and sewer connections, and land sales. McKissick's development firm, The Soul City Co. received a $14 million loan guarantee from HUD in February, 1974, but only $5 million of it was released at that time.

The $5 million Dausch wants to release would boost the federal loan guarantees available to The Soul City Co. to a total of $10 million.

HUD's February, 1974, contract with The Soul City Co. required it to develop at least 300 jobs before it qualified for any further loan guarantees.

In a telephone interview Tuesday, McKissick said there are "more than 100" persons currently employed throughout Soul City.

UNSAFE

Is it safe at hog-killing time to pack pork in brine in plastic garbage cans? I know of someone who did this last year, but I've just read in your paper that it isn't safe to brine cucumbers in plastic so please let me know if it is safe for pork. Mrs. M. S.

Pitt County Home Extension Food Specialist Addie Gore said it is not safe to use containers meant for garbage for food processing. She said most such containers — bags or cans — have been sprayed or have within their makeup ingredients to combat odor and insects that may be harmful if they found their way into food. She suggested you contact institutions such as school and hospital cafeterias, meat and grocery wholesalers and the like about large containers that might fit your purposes. If any of our readers have further suggestions of sources of such containers, we will be glad to pass them along.

Study Of Cookies Yields Recipe For Saving Energy

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "Sesame Street's" Cookie Monster might want to meet Ohio State University's "Cookie King."

The king is better known as Dr. Francis A. Kulacki, professor of mechanical engineering. He is into cookies because of a $66,000 research project grant aimed at testing ways to bake cookies in less time — and using less energy.

"We wanted to find out if the same amount of cookies can be baked with less energy using a phenomenon known as the 'corona wind,'" he says.

The corona wind, explains Kulacki, is a flow of ions resulting from a breakdown of air molecules around a hot wire or point source.

"The intriguing thing is that when you direct the corona wind onto heated or evaporating surfaces, you can triple or quadruple the effects."

Mechanisms of the corona wind aren't well understood, says the Ohio State engineer. But he adds that, in theory, baking is essentially a heat and mass transfer process, and "this transfer can be three or four times as fast in the presence of the corona wind."

To find out if the project sponsor could use the corona wind to bake cookies with less energy, Kulacki and his students built an experimental oven which permitted baking either with or without an electric field.

The typical industrial oven moves the dough on a long conveyor belt with burners below and open flames above. Humidity is controlled, or influenced, by periodic squirts of steam into the baking atmosphere.

"It's quite inefficient from an energy point of view," says Kulacki.

The experimental oven doesn't have a moving conveyor, so the Ohio State researchers had to "batch" their experiments rather than make cookies on a continuous basis.

To simulate the air motion over the cookies caused by the conveyor, they injected a crossflow air stream over the stationary cookies.

Cookies were baked at about 400 degrees Fahrenheit, and the corona wind was produced with electrodes.

The baked cookies were submitted to a random panel of students, teachers and secretaries, who judged them on how they "looked, felt and tasted."

The cookie tasters judged Kulacki's product as comparable to commercial brands.

Although falling short of the theoretical three to four times as fast in baking time, Kulacki says test results have been impressive.

"We found, for example, that we could achieve an industrially acceptable hard, sweet cookie like a lemon snap in just over four minutes, versus six minutes in a commercial oven."

For another cookie, similar to a gingersnap, which expands more but is less dense, researchers achieved acceptable products in eight minutes instead of 10, for a time or energy saving of about 20 per cent.

Kulacki's main surprise was "the really small proportion of the total energy used to activate the corona wind."

"I did not calculate it precisely, but it is well under 5 per cent."

As to the future of corona wind-enhanced cookie baking, Kulacki shrugs.

"That's an imponderable for me. For an established baker to modify or convert, or put in new ovens, would be a big expense, and is more a hard economic question than an engineering decision."

"But for a new company, or a new plant starting out, it would certainly seem to make sense for them to adopt anything which would make them one-quarter to one-third more energy efficient."

Statement Issued

In response to recent information about poisonous industrial chemicals (PCBs and PBBs) found in mothers' milk in 10 states including North Carolina, the local La Leche League has issued a statement on the subject.

The release says, "The presence of these environmental contaminants in mothers' milk serves as a warning signal that they are present in all humans in the areas involved and suggests the need for research to determine the extent of the contamination and the degree of danger to humans. It does not suggest any particular danger to breastfed babies, according to members of the Professional Advisory Board of La Leche League International, who say they are in continuous touch with authorities worldwide conducting research on environmental contaminants."

Dr. Mark Thoman, pediatrician, who is editor-in-chief of AACTION, the official publication of the American Academy of Clinical Toxicology, 1404 Woodlawn, Dee Moines, Iowa, 50309, said he assures mothers that breastfeeding is still the preferred method of infant feeding and that there is no evidence that it should be discontinued in the areas concerned about PCBs and PBBs.

"The known advantages of breastfeeding clearly outweigh the theoretical but extremely remote possibility of future problems from miniscule amounts of these substances in mothers' milk," he said. He listed advantages of breastfeeding as "optimal nutrition, immunological protection, and emotional security," and disadvantages of artificial feeding as "increased incidence of infections and allergies and possible obesity and hypertension in later life."

Local La Leche League certified instructors are Mrs. Judy Beckert and Mrs. Shella Johnson.

Super Crop Of Fresh Western Winter Pears

This year's superior crop of fresh Western winter pears assures markets nationwide of an abundant supply of high quality Anjou, Bosc and Comice pears for enjoyment during the months when fresh fruit is at a minimum.

The first of the three varieties of winter pears to appear is the Bosc. Available from September into March, it has a spicy, sugary-sweet flavor that is perfect for fresh eating and baking. The distinguishing characteristic is its russet color and long tapering neck. The all-purpose Anjou, yellowish-green in color even when ripe, has the longest season lasting from October to May. Because of its fine-grained texture and buttery sweet flavor, it is popular as a fresh fruit for snacks and salads, as well as a fruit for baking and poaching. For gourmet eating, the "gift-pack" Comice variety can be obtained from October to February. The beautiful greenish yellow skin of the Comice is often accented by a blush of crimson.

Fresh winter pears keep that right-from-the-tree god quality throughout the entire season. Grown in the sunny orchards of the Pacific coast states, the pears are harvested in the late summer and early fall at an immature state and stored in a controlled atmosphere until they are marketed.

Often the pears are not ripe when they reach the markets. Winter pears can easily be ripened at home by keeping them at room temperature until their flesh yields to soft pressure. Then, they should be refrigerated to retain their freshness.

Fresh pears are nutritious as well as delicious. They supplement diets with some Vitamin A and Vitamin C along with important minerals such as iron, and calcium. In addition, they have a natural sugar content that satisfies appetites, yet contributes only 75 calories per average pear.

There is no limit to the variety of ways that fresh winter pears can be enjoyed. Their natural flavor and goodness are a special treat in lunches and snacks. Their juiciness and tender skins don't require peeling, making them perfect for salads and desserts, both fresh and cooked.

Dear Abby

Nose Problems All In Her Head

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1976 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 34-year-old woman who has divorced three husbands. (Not my fault. I always picked losers.)

My problem is my nose. I had plastic surgery on it when I was 18, and the doctor botched the job, so at 21 I had it reshaped and then it was worse. I think it makes me look stuck-up and keeps me from making friends.

I went to a well-known local plastic surgeon, and I offered to pay him in full in advance but he refused to take me as a patient! He said he didn't think any plastic surgeon could please me because I had "emotional and social problems" I should face up to instead of blaming everything on my nose. Then he insulted me further by suggesting that I use my money to see a PSYCHIATRIST!

Abby, there is nothing wrong with my mind. It's my nose! Will you please recommend a good plastic surgeon? I can afford to go anywhere.

DETERMINED IN HARTFORD

DEAR DETERMINED: Since you're determined to have plastic surgery, you'll have to find a doctor without my help because I am in total agreement with the last one you saw. Trust me and reconsider. I think his advice was on target.

DEAR ABBY: The other night I had a date with a girl I've admired and respected for some time. I received a surprise when she insisted on buying her own ticket to the basketball game. She wasn't putting on a show, Abby; she absolutely refused to go in unless I let her buy her own ticket. Throughout the evening she wouldn't let me open doors for her either.

I am only 16. I really like this girl, and I'd like to date her again. To tell you the truth, I don't care if she is a feminist. I respect her ideas and what she believes, but I don't know how to react to her. Everything my parents taught me about how to treat a girl was blown up that night.

FLUSTERED IN RICHMOND

DEAR FLUSTERED: If you want to date her again, go ahead and date her, but you'd better be prepared to let her do things her way. But don't reject everything your parents taught you, because some girls still want their dates to buy the tickets and open the doors.

Business Meet Held By VFW Auxiliary

Mrs. Alice Moseley, Buddy Poppy chairman, reported Oct. 29-30 as Buddy Poppy days. The group voted to give a $50 bond to the student who participates in the Voice of Democracy program.

Mrs. Lillian Hart and Mrs. Hazel Baker served refreshments.

A business meeting was held by the Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars

Town Meeting Results Lauded

The planners of Greenville's Town Meeting held Saturday were pleased with the results of the event.

The Rev. James H. Bailey, chairman of the steering committee, said response was "really great."

"People are excited about the chance to speak on issues that concern them," he said. "Some of the politicians that attended said that for the first time they were hearing some real ground-level thought."

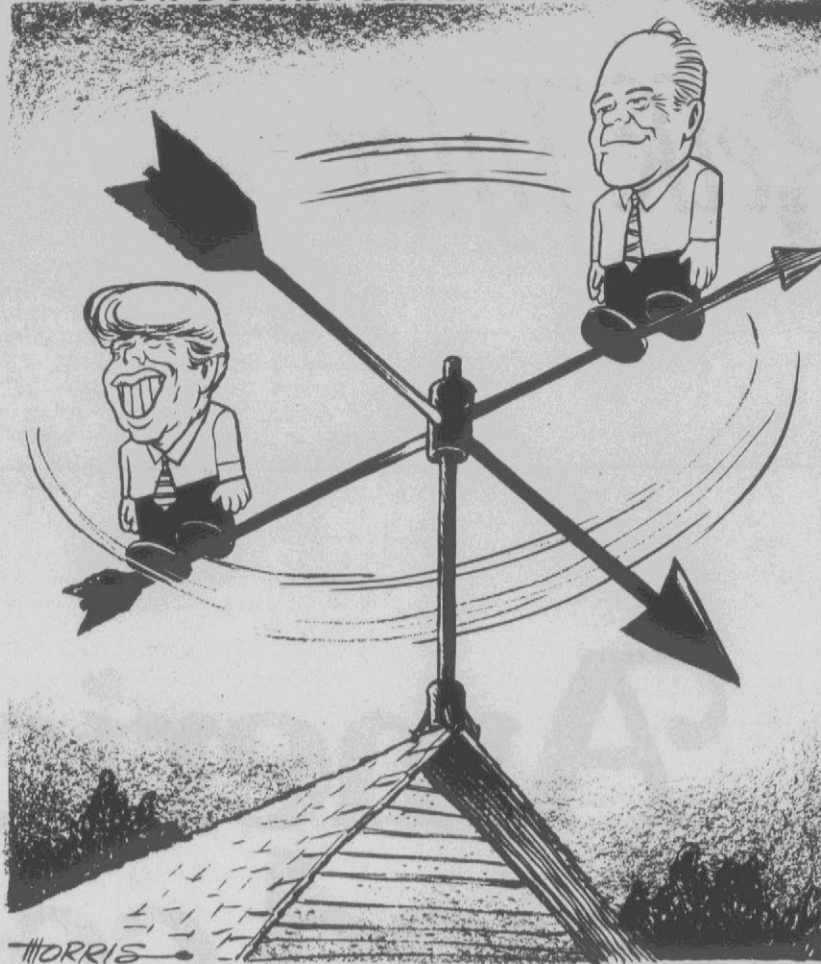

The Rev. Bailey said there was a real cross-section at the meeting from Ph.D.s. to those who cannot read or write.

The city was challenged to improve racial equality, city beautification, study allocation of resources between city and county governments, combat political apathy, improve youth education and improve cross-cultural communication.

Among the proposals were job training for the handicapped and disadvantaged, implementation of citizen input through a citizens' council, development of a Beauty in Greenville committee and a series of mini-town meetings.

If we want to improve our city we need all the good ideas we can get. No one knows Greenville better than its citizens and meetings such as this one should be beneficial to our city's development.

HOW DO THE POLITICAL WINDS BLOW?

Fritz On The Attack

By JAMES GERSTENZANG
Associated Press Writer
MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Democratic vice presidential candidate Walter Mondale has hit a campaign stride that brings him out each day to hammer away at the positions President Ford advocated the day before.

Day after day, as Ford outlines a policy or extols his administration's record, the Democratic vice presidential candidate comes back to attack with the Democratic party's answers or to defend the Democratic programs that Ford attacks.

On Monday in Miami, Ford promised a crusade against crime in his first 100 days if he wins the election. Vowing to jail career criminals and "violent and streetwise" youthful offenders, Ford said voters should identify on their ballots "those candidates who have demonstrated indifference or permissiveness towards crime."

One day later in Cleveland, the Minnesota senator said Ford failed to "talk about his role, his record," in stemming crime in the United States.

"He talked about areas where he has very few responsibilities," Mondale said, asserting that the Ford administration failed to enforce anti-trust laws and to fight drug abuse.

After Ford campaigned three days in the South without discussing reports that his congressional campaign funding was under investigation and reports that as a congressman he had been a golfing guest of a U.S. Steel lobbyist, Mondale accused the President of "ducking and hiding and not answering."

Washington Is Leaking

WASHINGTON — Last week's House Ethics Committee hearings in which Daniel Schorr was asked to reveal the name of the person who gave him the Pike CIA Report was a big flop. The reason was that Mr. Schorr refused to tell his source and the committee, which had spent $150,000 trying to find the culpable person, was still left in the dark as to how the report got into Mr. Schorr's hands.

A few of the committee members questioned Mr. Schorr's patriotism and others raised constitutional issues of Congress' "right to know." But what wasn't mentioned during the hearings is that trafficking in and passing on of top secret and classified information is an essential part of running the government and one that very few people in Washington would like to see abolished.

"There was a covering letter with it," she says. "It reads, 'While this information has been classified Top Secret, we would like to remind you that the First Amendment gives you full protection to use it.'"

ART BUCHWALD

"Here's a classified document from the Pentagon saying the Soviets have developed a new laser-guided bulldozer that could destroy every mobile home in America."

"Isn't the Pentagon going up on the Hill tomorrow to testify on its new defense budget?" I ask her.

"Yes, they are, and they've been inundating the media with top secret material on Soviet military strength. Everyone in town is on their list."

"I don't know if I should use this or not. I don't want to endanger my country's defenses."

"They must be pretty desperate to get their budget. What else do you have?"

"I have a classified report from the CIA revealing their covert operations at Disneyland."

"Why would they send us that?" I ask.

"It was subpoenaed by Congress last week and if we print it, the CIA can say, 'You see what happens when we give the House of Representatives secret information.'"

"They're not very subtle," I say. "The CIA is going to have to come up with a better ploy than that if they expect me to play their game."

"I didn't think you'd buy it," she said. "Oh, by the way, we just got a confidential transcript of Henry Kissinger's talks with the King of Morocco."

"I wonder who sent it to us?"

"I don't know," she replies, "but there is a note on the top which says, 'If you use any part of this transcript, I'll tap your telephone. Best to your wife. H.'"

"He probably sent the same stuff to Jack Anderson. What did the White House leak to us today?"

"Jimmy Carter's income tax returns and the FBI sent us over a classified file on the Socialist Worker's Party plans to disrupt the swine flu program."

"Anything else?"

"The Navy sent us a secret report on what a waste of money the B-1 bomber really is, and the Air Force sent us a 'For Eyes Only' study on how vulnerable the new Navy

40 Years Ago Today

Sept. 29, 1936

The terrifying epic of Toledo and its rescued Alcazar was unfolded bit by bit today while Spanish insurgents started a fresh drive on Madrid and the government, slowing its reinforcements to Toledo, built a giant defense system before the capital itself.

In the last hours of the fascist assault on Toledo Sunday, survivors said today, 600 Catholic priests supporting the rebellion were slaughtered by frenzied leftists.

Radio reports of the advance of the insurgents kept the Alcazar men, women and children alive as food was dropped from planes to aid the escaping citizens.

The formal opening of East Carolina Teachers College this afternoon, when a record-breaking freshman class gathered for the first program of Freshman Week, marks the beginning of the twenty-eighth year of this institution.

When the dining halls and dormitories were opened yesterday, the new students began to pour in and were greeted by officers from the Student Government Association and the Young Women's Christian Association.

The first two days are devoted entirely to freshmen and start them off on "Freshman Week." Throughout the week special attention is paid to the newcomers.

Pride Can Stand In Way

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH — There may be a new day dawning for North Carolina's place in world trade, but Tar Heels had best not let their traditional pride in our way of doing things stand in the way of that.

This is the message carried to the newly created Coastal Plains World Trade Association by J. A. Rigney, dean of international programs at North Carolina State University.

"Prideful stumbling blocks" can stand in the way of becoming a great trading nation, Rigney warned those who gathered in Greenville to organize the state's fifth World Trade Association; the first one in Eastern North Carolina.

Several state economists and development experts are convinced that a boom in foreign trade and influx of foreign firms is on the not-distant horizon — especially significant for the area surrounding Greenville and the campus of East Carolina University.

Some Plusses
Key factors seen by those experts as pointing to a development trend are sharply increased labor costs abroad which make comparable outlays in North Carolina more favorable; increasing dominance of foreign operations by socialist governments; and the expanding market here for the array of goods produced abroad.

Additional plusses for Eastern North Carolina, in the eyes of developers, are the location in proximity to ports and the population centers of the Piedmont in several states; available non-union labor; and the research and cultural assets of East Carolina University.

So, all things considered, Rigney thinks the United States stands on the threshold of becoming the leading trading nation of the world... but things need to move rapidly to prepare for that eventuality.

"We must have businessmen and government agents who know the customs, language, traditions, culture of other countries... our universities must gear up to provide this education both in academic courses and in continuing education.

But he sees that as "a tall order given the present neo-isolationist posture of our general public... we cannot become a great trading nation... encumbered by prideful stumbling blocks... arrogance of learning, our sense of superiority, our belief that we are God's chosen people... Arrogance is despised everywhere."

School Assignment
Rigney sees the universities of North Carolina as playing a key part in breaking down the walls: "You businessmen have the right to expect your universities to provide you with... analytic understanding of the countries around the world (studies such as political and trade climates, market potentials, social attributes, etc.)."

"They have not developed this capability very well as yet, primarily because there has been little need or demand for it.

But the educational and governmental system and "the Legislature must be made aware of the fact that the next decade will see North Carolina move strongly in the international scene and they must support the programs appropriate to that development."

Rigney foresees future trade as being a more solid, long-lasting relationship between nations as opposed to a "quickie" skimming the cream and moving on. In that respect, he thinks the schools must begin preparing people to help the state "become as international minded as the British or the Dutch were 40 years ago."

With world dominance in tobacco, textiles, and furniture, North Carolina is seen as occupying an enviable position for expanding world trade — both in imports and exports, and the location of foreign manufacturing and assembly firms.

The 1976 session of the General Assembly approved creation of Foreign Trade Zones in the state which can be used to cut the cost and red tape of the import business.

THE INSIDE REPORT

It Could Cost Him Texas

By ROWLANE EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Sudden enthusiasm by John B. Connally in President Ford's behalf helps confirm the new consensus in Texas: Jimmy Carter actually can lose that critically important state thanks to his inexplicable remarks about Lyndon B. Johnson.

Connally, who in private has been none too optimistic about his role as Texas state chairman for Mr. Ford, told an old Texas Democratic friend in Washington last Wednesday that everything has changed. Connally said he was returning to Texas to spread around the now notorious Playboy magazine interview's lethal last paragraph in which Carter linked former President Johnson with Richard M. Nixon as "lying, cheating and distorting the truth."

The Democrat privately agreed with Connally that Carter's LBJ gaffe gives Mr.

Ford his first chance to carry Texas. "Giving this to Big John," another Texas Democratic politician told us, "is like handing a Stradivarius to Heifetz." Accordingly, Carter insiders fear the Playboy interview's lasting political damage may come not from Carter's musings on sex but his gratuitous remarks about Johnson.

Whether or not Connally actually stirs many Texans over the dead President, Carter's conduct has turned off Democratic candidates in Texas who had wanted to tie their campaigns closely to his. Even non-candidate politicians, including Gov. Dolph Briscoe, may be less enthusiastic.

One former Johnson intimate who has been privately advising Carter was at first incensed by the Playboy comments, then cooled off enough to suggest that Carter quickly telephone Lady Bird Johnson in Texas.

The apology was made Tuesday but did not keep Mrs. Johnson from describing herself Thursday as "distressed, hurt and perplexed." Old LBJ loyalists describe her true feelings as vastly more intense than that.

Since Carter often has expressed admiration for Johnson (and in his acceptance speech broke the conspiracy of silence on LBJ at the Democratic national convention), why did he assail him in the very last moments following hours of interviewing by Playboy?

The answer may be Carter's irresistible impulse to show the left his understanding and sympathy. Playboy's interviewer was Robert Scheer, an extreme left journalist and old anti-Vietnam activist. "That's what burns me up," one ex-LBJ aide told us. "Jimmy was using old left-wing codewords — Johnson lying and cheating — and he knew he was using them."

A footnote: A counterattack showing Connally himself as betraying Johnson is being readied by state Land Commissioner Bob Landis Armstrong, an early Carter supporter in Texas. Armstrong says Johnson in 1972 expressed regrets to him that Connally, after accepting all honors the Democratic party could give him, cut and ran to Nixon.

Ford's Strange Appointment

Suspicion that the bureaucratic establishment is calling the shots at the White House has been strengthened by President Ford's appointment of a veteran Democratic bureaucrat to end Republican control over the Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC).

Mr. Ford's selection, typically after five months of inaction, of George F. Murphy Jr. ran counter to recommendations of senior national security advisers and conservative Republican Senators. The reason: Murphy, longtime staff director for the joint Atomic Energy Committee, was the candidate of the bureaucracy's old boys network.

Dr. Fred Ikle, director of the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency (ACDA), early this year recommended ACDA general counsel James L. Malone for the NRC vacancy — the first and only appointive recommendation by the self-effacing Ikle. Deeply concerned about worldwide

To the editor:

I am 45 years of age and in perfect physical shape and I have recently graduated from Pitt Tech with a high school diploma.

I have some minor court records against me, but nothing that could be called a felony. I have tried to get a job as a police officer in Bethel, Winterville and the Sheriff's Dept. here in Greenville, but N. C. state law requires me to be 35 or under. I feel rights of Americans like me, who fought in the Korean War and other wars and who want to take part in helping to make our local community a better place for our wives, children and loved ones to live in, by serving as police officers are being denied.

Our ages and our minor court records should not under the Constitution and Bill of Rights prevent us from being able to take part in helping to make America the great country it used to be. What has happened to fairness and justice and the opportunity that used to be available to Americans like us? Must we continue to take a back seat while everyone else takes the credit? Yet, everyone expects us to vote for the same people in city, county, state and national office who have made the very laws that keep us from serving our community? Can anything be done to give our American heritage and rights back to us — rights that once used to be ours guaranteed by the Constitution?

Men like myself can do just as good a job as a police officer as any young man can do. All we ask is that guys like us be given the chance to prove ourselves. Give us the will and desire to want to vote again in a free America.

Top Problem? It's Your Choice

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — "I say unemployment is the nation's No. 1 economic problem," said the candidate, "and I," said his opponent, "declare it is inflation."

The dispute, at least the appearance of it, is familiar to millions of voters and, in fact, to almost anyone who has listened to more than a couple of political orations, local, state or national.

But not candidate, even if they profess the ability to perceive of unemployment and inflation as distinctly different issues, can entirely separate one from the other.

To the candidate who cuts inflation apart from unemployment and stresses it as a separate consideration, one is entitled to ask these questions:

Doesn't unemployment represent a waste of assets? Doesn't it deny the country the productivity, and the revenues too, that the unemployed would contribute if their abilities could be utilized?

Isn't the wasteful misuse of any resource inflationary? If a nation cannot utilize the potential contributions of millions of unemployed isn't it the worse for it?

And then there is this consideration: Who supports the unemployed? And because the unemployed need to be supplied with financial maintenance, aren't government revenues diverted from other projects? And perhaps deficits produced? And aren't deficits often inflationary?

Would it be better to spur the economy and create jobs for many of the unemployed, thus producing the double-barreled impact of reducing government's financial burden and providing it with more revenues?

The answers to these questions might vary from candidate to candidate, but there is hardly any legitimate response to them that will fail to reveal the interrelationship, the balance that exists between jobs and inflation.

That relationship, of course, is revealed also by questions directed to the candidate who emphasizes jobs without considering the inflation potential. Try these questions:

Won't efforts to single-mindedly "manufacture" jobs result in lower productivity and higher costs of production? And doesn't business always pass on its increased costs by raising prices?

Do "make-work" jobs contribute to the economic goods of the general population or do they simply disguise the problem? Do they reduce the drain on revenues or do they add to it?

Is it sufficient merely to occupy the time of an otherwise jobless person or should an effort be made to make the occupation constructive, productive? If it isn't productive, who bears the cost of maintaining such wasteful activity?

There is no way to completely separate the two. They are the Siamese twins of economics, and anyone who claims to see them as separate entities claims also to have a surgical skill that probably doesn't exist.

THE AFTERGLOW
The most beautiful part of the day is often the closing hours, when the sun has gone down behind the hills and the landscape experiences what is known as the afterglow.

Someone has said that the modern secular movements for social betterment are the afterglow of the religious experience of earlier ages. There is a great deal of truth to this observation. Christianity over the generations created a new set of moral standards and a clearer sense of the worth of the individual. This provided the impetus for the organizational efforts to bring about a better world which characterized later generations.

But an important thing to remember about afterglow is that it fades into darkness. If secular movements remain separated from religion for a long period of time, they die away into nothingness.

An afterglow may be beautiful, but it is the sign of coming dissolution.

Defense Sec. Critical Of Carter Budget Cuts

CAMP LEJEUNE, N.C. (AP) — U.S. Secretary of Defense Donald H. Rumsfeld, visiting the Camp Lejeune Marine Base to present an award, used the occasion to criticize budget cuts proposed by Democratic presidential candidate Jimmy Carter.

Such cuts, said Rumsfeld Tuesday, could "inject a fundamental instability into the world."

The secretary prefaced his remarks by saying he was staying out of presidential politics, but he used the forum of a news conference to attack Carter's criticism of defense spending.

Rumsfeld said if a trend toward reducing defense spending is continued, it could "result in a situation where the U.S. would move into a position of inferiority . . ."

"The effect of it is to continuously reduce the U.S. effort in defense in real terms annually at a time when the Soviet Union has been increasing its effort in real terms," he said.

He accused Carter of being vague on the issue, saying the Democratic candidate has not pinpointed where the cuts would come and has used figures ranging from $5 billion to $14 billion in proposed cuts.

Rumsfeld visited Camp Lejeune to present his department's National Resources Conservation Award for 1975.

He said Camp Lejeune won the citation "for conducting the most outstanding military natural resources program during the years 1973-1975."

Camp Lejeune has won the inter-service base competition three times in the last 14 years. The award was accepted by Maj. Gen. Herman Poggemeyer Jr., commanding general at Camp Lejeune.

In his attack on Carter,

Rumsfeld said, "What concerns me is that the pattern has been

... for people to walk around the U.S. and tell the American people that through some sort of magic we can have defense on the cheap, that there's some sort of free lunch.

ing" reporters' questions. Deputy Campaign Director John Johnson says this role has not been dictated to Mondale by Democratic presidential candidate Jimmy Carter's Atlanta headquarters, but simply fits Mondale naturally.

"If Ford made a major housing speech, Mondale would be on that the next day," Johnson said. "He gets so offended when they try to stand up and pretend they have a reasonable record on these things."

He said Mondale had not checked his comments on Ford's crime speech with Carter or Carter's staff before he spoke. "To him, it was such an obvious area in which he must respond," Johnson said.

nuclear carrier can be. Treasury is blowing the whistle on the Federal Reserve Board's monetary policies, and Agriculture sent us over a top secret document on the State Department's plans to out a wheat embargo on Iceland."

"It doesn't seem like much of a day for violating national security."

"I agree. Oh, there was one call from the House Ethics Committee. They wanted to know if you were interested in their top secret discussions on whether to impeach Dan Schorr or not. They've decided if they can leak them, it will get them off the hook with the rest of the press."

nuclear proliferation, Ikle felt at least one NRC member ought to have interests beyond those of the nuclear energy industry.

An unusual coalition emerged in support of Malone. Secretary of State Henry Kissinger backed him. So did conservative Republican Sens. James Buckley of New York, Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, Carl Curtis of Nebraska, Jesse Helms of North Carolina and Peter Domenici of New Mexico. On March 24, those five Senators wrote Mr. Ford urging the appointment of Malone, a Republican.

But the network of past and present staffers at the old Atomic Energy Commission (AEC — predecessor agency to the NRC) neither shared nor approved of Malone's concerns about nuclear proliferation. Besides, as a longtime joint committee staffer, Murphy was a kindred spirit. The key role for him was played by Dr. James Connors, Mr. Ford's secretary of the cabinet who worked at the AEC before coming to the White House.

Connors is credited with managing to get Mr. Ford, in what could be his final weeks in office, to consciously reduce Republicans to a minority (two out of five members) on the NRC by appointing a Democrat.

A footnote: White House personnel chief Doug Bennett told us he does not know whether Murphy is a Democrat or an independent but had the idea he is an independent. In truth, supporters of Malone had sent Bennett information showing that Murphy is a registered Democrat in Maryland.

How Tar Heel Representatives, Senators Voted

By ROLL CALL REPORT
WASHINGTON — Here's how area Members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes Sept. 16 through Sept. 22.

HOUSE
EARTHQUAKE PREDICTION — Failed, by a tie vote of 192-192, to achieve the two-thirds majority needed to suspend the rules and pass the Earthquake Hazards Reduction Act. A two-thirds majority was required because of the short-cut parliamentary procedure by which the bill (S 1174) was brought to the floor.

The bill, already passed by the Senate, would have created the first centralized, comprehensive federal program for dealing with earthquakes, both before and after they occur. It proposed, in part, an Office of Earthquake Hazards Reduction and stepped-up funding of research into earthquake prediction.

Supporters noted that all 50 states — not just western states like California — are vulnerable to earthquakes, and that concerted federal action in this field is overdue. Rep. Charles Mosher (R-Ohio) said the same dedication put into the space program "can result in real progress in earthquake hazard reduction."

Opponents said the bill creates an unnecessary level of bureaucracy on top of existing federal earthquake program.

and that the proposed multi-million dollar expenditure was unwise at a time of inflation. "My fear is that we are talking about $30 million of new money to accomplish something that perhaps some of the bureaucrats here... could accomplish with a telephone call to the Department of Mines and Geology in California," said Rep. William Ketchum (R-Calif.).

Rep. Charles Rose (D-7) voted "yea."

Reps. Walter Jones (D-1), L. H. Fountain (D-2), Ike Andrews (D-4), Stephen Neal (D-5), Richardson Preyer (D-6), James Martin (R-9), James Broyhill (R-10) and Roy Taylor (D-11) voted "nay."

Reps. David Henderson (D-3) and W. G. Hefner (D-8) did not vote.

VETOES BY CONGRESS — Failed, 265 for and 135 against, to achieve the two-thirds majority needed to suspend the rules and pass a bill giving Congress "veto" power over regulations put forth by federal agencies and departments. Such regulations, totalling in the thousands annually, are issued as the executive branch implements laws passed by Congress.

The defeated bill would have enabled Congress to disapprove of any such regulation within 60 legislative days of its promulgation.

Supporters said the so-called "congressional veto" would rein-in the bureaucracy, which they view as a frequently meddlesome fourth branch of government. "Congress has allowed civil servants or appointed officials to conjure up thousands of far-reaching laws that can put in jeopardy the liberty or property of the people without having anyone elected by the people involved in the process," said Rep. Bill Alexander (D-Ark.).

Opponents, backed by the Ford Administration, said the bill would usurp the executive powers guaranteed the executive branch by the Constitution, and that it would be impossible for Congress to monitor the thousands of regulations. "Such 'veto power' would further burden scarce congressional resources, delay the regulatory process, enhance the political power of wealthy corporate interests, and politicize the entire federal bureaucracy," said Rep. Robert Drian (D-Mass.).

Jones, Fountain, Andrews, Neal, Preyer, Rose, Hefner, Martin, Broyhill and Taylor voted "yea."

Henderson did not vote.

LABORATORY STANDARDS — Failed, 193 for and 188 against, to achieve the two-thirds majority needed to suspend the rules and pass a bill (HR 14319) setting federal quality standards for clinical laboratory medical testing, and making it a felony for laboratory operators to defraud federal Medicare or Medicaid programs.

Rep. Harley Staggers (D-W. Va.), a supporter, said federal standards are needed because of the high rate of inaccurate testing done by clinical laboratories, and the "growing evidence that kickbacks, bribery and other abusive practices are widespread."

Rep. Larry McDonald (D-Ga.), an opponent, said that federal involvement in health care has resulted in "increasing paperwork, bureaucracy, harassment, and massive increases in cost to the American patients..." and that "government medicine is bad medicine."

Andrews, Preyer and Rose voted "yea."

Jones, Fountain, Neal, Martin, Broyhill and Taylor voted "nay."

Andrews, Preyer and Rose voted "yea."

Jones, Fountain, Neal, Martin, Broyhill and Taylor voted "nay."

Henderson and Hefner did not vote.

SENATE

ELECTRIC VEHICLES — Overrode, 53 for and 20 against, President Ford's veto of HR — Failed, 193 for and 188 against, a bill authorizing a six-year, $160 million research and development program for electrically-powered vehicles. The House also voted to override the veto, and the bill became law.

Sen. James McClure (R-Idaho), a supporter of the override, said electric vehicles "can have a significant impact" on diminishing the nation's petroleum demands. He described the bill as a "reasoned, soundly-based response to the critical transportation problem facing this nation."

Sen. James Allen (D-Ala.), an opponent, said that federal energy and transportation officials oppose the bill, and that "existing electric vehicle technology has not advanced to the point where it is realistic to have the massive, mandatory, near-term demonstration program provided by the bill."

Sens. Jesse Helms (R) and Robert Morgan (D) voted "nay."

ABORTION — Passed, 47 for and 21 against, the conference report for an appropriations bill (HR 14232) which includes language prohibiting use of the funds to pay for abortions under such programs as Medicaid, except when the life of the mother is endangered. The vote sent the bill to the White House. It provides $56.6 billion in fiscal 1977 funding for the departments of Labor and Health, Education and Welfare.

The Senate had earlier disagreed with House-passed language in the bill which flatly banned use of the funds to pay for abortions. A House-Senate conference committee then added the exception for mothers whose lives are endangered by pregnancy.

Sen. Richard Schweiker (R-Pa.), a supporter, said that the compromise abortion language "is a sound method of responsibly rendering federal funding of abortion on demand," which he said should "not be paid for out of the federal treasury."

Sen. Robert Packwood (R-Ore.), an opponent, said he was "disgusted" with the compromise, because while wealthier women can pay for abortions, this ban discriminates against "poor women, to be exact, and black women in particular."

Helms voted "yea."

Morgan did not vote.

LAWYERS, FEES —

Rejected, 39 for and 47 against, an amendment to allow courts to award lawyers' fees to defendants who win tax collection suits brought against them by the Internal Revenue Service. The amendment was proposed to S 2278, a bill allowing courts to award lawyers' fees to the winning side in suits brought to enforce federal civil rights laws.

A final vote on the bill was "is only right" that the government pay the cost of defending against a tax assessment which proves unfounded.

Opponents generally believed the amendment would excessively broaden the scope of the bill and thus jeopardize its chances for passage by the House.

Helms and Morgan voted "yea."

Tapes Suggest Murder Dream

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Sept. 20. Richard Strawther, 38, who ambushed a school bus and then committed suicide with the shotgun, "had grand thoughts about a mass murder thing" even as a child, tapes released Tuesday indicate.

His recording indicates that he had been seriously planning for years to shoot at a school bus. It would be the only thing the former operator of rides at a traveling carnival would ever do in his life that would cause the world to take notice.

Only the driver of the bus carrying 49 children from the Gibsonville Elementary School was hit. And he, Dennis Williams, 18, was released in time to play football for Gibsonville High School that night.

Most of the pellets hit the body of the bus on Monday,

"I hate it for the parents...but their kids are not going to school today," Strawther, who once had lived in the neighborhood, intoned into his recorder as he lay in wait at a roadside in eastern Guilford County.

Strawther had the recorder, a .12 gauge shotgun, and a bicycle he had named "Leo" as he waited during the night at his campsite by the road.

He was "dissatisfied with the way the world was being run."

The batteries on his recorder were getting weak, and he was worried. He wanted his words, his final manifesto, to be preserved.

He spoke to the bike, to the gun, and at times to an imaginary listener, perhaps a representative of a society to whom he felt compelled to justify his intentions.

"To know ones weapon is to know oneself," he said. The gun was "in tiptop shape. I'm in tiptop shape, physically and mentally. I know what I'm doing. I'm not puzzled about it, nor do I have any second thoughts about it or anything like that. I'm under no pressure from anyone. I'm under my own pressure."

After the bus was shot at, Strawther's body was found in woods beside the road. He had been shot in the head.

NOT SO EASY — Baton twirling may look easy but Marcie Jones, 6, of Macon, Ga., discovers that it is not as easy as it may seem as she gets "konked" by her baton. She missed the toss during her second baton twirling lesson at a recreation center class. (AP Wirephoto)

REACT Prexy Says CB Bands Not Affected

Billy J. Helms, President of Pitt County REACT Team, said that in the wake of Federal Communications Commission action to expand the citizens radio band from 23 to 40 channels, some people expect the present 23 channel sets to become obsolete.

Helms said that information he has received from REACT International Headquarters indicates that the present 23 channel band will not be affected by the new additional 17 channel which becomes effective on Jan. 1.

The local affiliate of REACT, Pitt County REACT 3133 Inc., maintains a volunteer watch on the CB emergency channel nine and participates in local community activities where communications are required. The group is prepared for emergency communications assistance on the CB band.

Jones Qualifies For NFIB Award

Rep. Walter B. Jones received the "Guardian of Small Business" award recently from the National Federation of Independent Business.

Jones qualified for the NFIB award by voting on the side of small business 88 per cent of the time during the 94th Congress, according to Wilson S. Johnson, president.

Johnson said that there are some 1,200 NFIB members in Jones' First District.

Reception Recognizes 21 Girl Volunteers

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

At a recognition reception on Monday night at Rose High School, 21 teen-agers, all girls, were honored for volunteer work with Volunteer Greenville during the past summer.

"We lost a lot of the students because of vacations, employment and for other reasons," Ms. Mescher noted. "But I feel the fact we had 21 who participated throughout the summer was most encouraging."

Hannifer, Kathy Murphy, Christie Priestly, Patricia Rouse, Cynthia Barefoot, Nancy Berg, Donna Rae Leggett and Judy Smith.

Honored for work with the Pitt County 4-H program were Robin Mansfield, Audrey Williams, Diana Woodley, Lynn Tucker and Michelle Ebron.

Marlin Rabey, for work with the TEACCH Classroom program; and Jamie Dunn, for volunteer work with the special population group at the Greenville Recreation Department.

Rose High principal Robert Alligood congratulated the students on their achievements. Mrs. Mary McPherson, supervisor of the Volunteers working at Pitt Memorial Hospital, praised the contributions made by the volunteers and the dedication they showed.

Mike Davis said this work "gave them opportunities, to grow in leadership and to further look at career objectives."

"These students involved themselves in program that really needed their help," Ms. Mescher added.

Called the "Volunteer Program," it was a jointly sponsored effort of Mike Davis, coordinator of Pitt County 4-H, and Susan Mescher, director of Volunteer Greenville.

In the initial sign-up during the period May 10-14, a total of 45 high school students volunteered for the program.

Those honored at Monday night's reception were awarded a certificate which was presented by the agency director in which each performed their volunteer work.

The largest contingent, a total of nine, did volunteer work at Pitt Memorial Hospital. These are: Kathy Conway, Mary

Barbara Ramey, Fran Gray and Wanda James, United Cerebral Palsy, working with handicapped people; Lisa Clark and Vicki Howard, for tutoring at Elmhurst Elementary School;

Named Director Of Association

Peggy H. Wood, RRA, was elected as a director of the American Medical Record Association at the association's 48th Annual Meeting September 14.

Ms. Wood is an Associate Professor and Chairman of the School of Allied Health and Social Professions, at ECU. As a director of the association, she will serve a three year term on its governing body.

Enrollment Of 11,702 Students

An official Fall, 1976 quarter enrollment of 11,702 students at East Carolina University was reported by university officials.

The officials reported that of the total enrollment, 11,517 are regular students and 185 are enrolled in the Evening College.

The final enrollment figure for the Fall quarter of 1975 at the university was 11,724.

This is it— not much to show for the time spent. I am 23 years old. My hometown is Dallas. I have an Associate in Arts Degree from Georgia College and have been at ECU for 3 years working toward a Bachelor of Arts Degree. My future plans are to leave Greenville as soon as this show is over to look for work in Charlotte.

SHOW TIME . . . for seniors of the School of Art, East Carolina University, is underway again, with shows scheduled in Mendenhall Student Center, Joyner Library, Rawl Building, and the Baptist Student Center. These one-week exhibits give seniors an opportunity for the public to see what they've achieved. Three up this week are (at left), that of Stuart Blake, being given critical attention by Phil Morris (left) and Frootz Rofmani; a detail from a painting by Constance Bumgarner (both these are in Mendenhall); and (at right), the photograph-note poster of Glenn Jenkins, whose show is at Baptist Student Center. The public is invited to visit these shows, which will be on view through Saturday. (Reflector photos by Jerry Raynor).

OLDSMOBILE 1977 MORE THAN JUST BETTER CARS THEY'RE BETTER OLDSMOBILES

In our search for a new measure of excellence, we've strived to make every Olds a better Olds for 1977. Our new Ninety-Eights and Delta 88s are more space-efficient, more weight-efficient and fuel-efficient than last year. (EPA test results below are estimates; your mileage depends on how you drive, your car's condition and its equipment. California EPA estimates are lower.)

There's lots more, too. Redesigned Rocket V8s . . . beautiful new interiors in many models . . . a new Cutlass Supreme Brougham 4-door with a luxurious 98 Regency-type interior . . . a new Toronado XSR so dramatic in design it causes excitement wherever it is seen. So read our news, then visit your Olds dealer. He's got the Olds that fits your needs and lifestyle!

CAN WE BUILD ONE FOR YOU?

98 Regency. A remarkable new kind of luxury.

Only a completely new car could do everything a luxury car must do in 1977. So here's the room, comfort and splendid luxury you expect in a Regency . . . plus the unexpected luxury of good gas mileage: an estimated 21 mpg in the EPA highway test; 16 mpg in the city test, with the standard Rocket 350 V8! You've got to experience its driving ease to believe it!

Delta 88 Royale. New idea in family cars.

Now you don't have to sacrifice the room, the comfort, and the great ride you want—to get the kind of good gas mileage you need! There's new headroom and legroom in the rear; new suspension systems for the smooth, big-car ride you like. Yet Delta 88 mileage is dramatically improved: 23 mpg, highway; 17 mpg, city test, with available Rocket 260 V8.

Which kind of Cutlass is the right Cutlass for you?

Salon: The "grand touring" Cutlass. With 260 V8, 5-speed transmission, 2.73 axle, EPA estimates are: 26 mpg, highway; 17 mpg, city. Hatch roof available.

4-4-2: The legend lives on! Bold, sporty looks. FE2 rally suspension. EPA estimates with available 260 V8, 5-speed transmission, 2.73 axle: 27 mpg, highway test; 17 mpg, city.

Cutlass S: Classy Cutlass look, ride, and comfort in the lowest-priced Cutlass of all! Plus an EPA highway rating of 26 mpg; 16 mpg, city, with standard 231 V6 engine and manual transmission.

Supreme Brougham: Big-car luxury interior, practical size in coupe or new sedan! EPA estimates: 25 mpg, highway; 18 mpg, city, with 231 V6, available automatic, 2.73 axle.

Toronado XSR. New concept in personal luxury cars.

Twin sliding roof panels, wraparound rear window, a new classic look. New Rocket 403 V8 with computerized MISAR electronic spark timing. EPA estimates: 19 mpg, highway; 13 mpg, city.

Starfire GT. The joy of driving is alive and well!

See what's in Starfire with the available GT package: buckets, floor-shifter, tach and gauges, GT stripes, rally wheels—and more! EPA estimates with available 231 V6, 5-speed transmission, 2.56 axle: 34 mpg, highway; 19 mpg, city. Sensational!

Omega Brougham. Economical answer to expensive European sedans.

Our impressive "import fighter": Roomy, luxurious-feeling, inside; compact, maneuverable on the road. The affordable alternative! EPA estimates: 27 mpg, highway; 16 mpg, city, with standard 231 V6 engine and manual transmission.

Promotions And New Posts Announced For ECU-RDI

R. T. (Tim) Brinn has been appointed assistant to the director and Mrs. Helen Rountree of Greenville, a veteran of nine years on the staff, administrative assistant in the Regional Development Institute (RDI) of East Carolina University.

The promotions and several additions to the ECU-RDI staff, reflecting broader scope of responsibility and increasing work load, were announced today by RDI director and founder, Thomas W. Willis. Willis termed the changes a "major reorganization" of the RDI staff.

"With the increased work load of the Institute, more control had to be forthcoming and these changes should enable the Institute to maintain its service to the citizens of the East," Willis said.

The 12 year old Regional Development Institute is an interdisciplinary function of East Carolina University. It provides assistance and service in planning and development projects in 32 counties and more than 200 cities and towns in Eastern North Carolina.

With a goal of improving the economy and quality of life, the RDI aids in preparation of state and federal applications, in planning community improvement projects and aiding individuals to enter and remain in private businesses for overall economic uplift.

Brinn, 57, a resident of Rocky Mount, served in the U.S. Navy from 1941-65 retiring with the rank of captain. He holds degrees from Duke University and ECU, and has been a development specialist on the RDI staff for several years.

Mrs. Rountree, wife of State Rep. H. Horton Rountree and mother of four, has served on the RDI staff as administrative secretary. A native of Dayton, O., she attended Miami, O. University, and ECU. She headed the staff which set up the RDI library.

Willis also announced promotion of Malcolm T. Simpson Jr., 27, a Greenville native and 1971 graduate of ECU in geography and urban and regional planning, to the position of senior planner. He has been on the RDI staff since May, 1974.

Added to the RDI staff as development specialist is John

David Staley, a native of McLean, Va., and an ECU graduate who has worked with RDI for the past 13 months under the CETA federal job program; also Larry Morton, 28, a resident of Ayden, and Marine Corps veteran as draftsman, and Cynthia Elaine Hix, holder of an art degree from ECU, as commercial artist.

The promotions and new staff

R.T. BRINN

MRS. HELEN ROUNTREE

positions were approved by ECU Chancellor Leo W. Jenkins, Dr. Robert Holt, Vice Chancellor and Dean, and Dr. C. Q. Brown, director of Institutional Development.

Jaguars, Firebirds Meet In Key Clash

Ayden-Grifton's Rod Nobles

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
After three straight losses, a victory came to Ayden-Grifton's Chargers last Friday night—and it couldn't have come at a better time.

Their 44-6 win over Southern Nash was not only their first of the year, but got the Chargers off on a good note in their conference play.

Joining the Chargers in the victory circle were C.B. Aycock, a 14-0 winner over winless North Pitt; D.H. Conley, winner by 12-8 over winless North Lenoir; and Farmville Central, a 34-0 winner over another team without a win, Greene Central.

All four of those teams have a chance to pick up their second victories, against the same four losers—but with different partners this week.

Southern Nash, one of the preseason favorites, visits Farmville Central in a key game, while Conley goes to Greene Central, North Pitt visits Ayden-Grifton, and North Lenoir is at Aycock.

The meeting of the Jaguars of Farmville Central and the Firebirds of Southern Nash may be the key contest because the Jags will be seeking to solidify their claim as one of the league's favorites. And Southern will be trying to get back into the race before it is too late.

"They are a hard team to evaluate," Farmville Coach Gene Brewer said of Southern. "I picked them to be one of the top teams, and I know they've got good material and good speed. I think their defeat was just a question of everything going Ayden-Grifton's way."

"I expected a good game from them and it is a key game for both of us. We haven't been consistent on both offense and defense yet, and we've got to do that if we're going to have a chance to win the title."

Referring back to last week's game, Brewer felt that his offense moved the ball well through the air. "We didn't block that good, but we threw well. Our defense did a good job in the second half. Greene Central was stronger defensively than we expected, especially in the first half."

"And we have a tough game in meeting Tony Dorsett and Pittsburgh," he added. James said that the job of athletic director is a hard one and isn't getting any easier. "The biggest problem is economics."

"Currently the price of football tickets in the ACC is $8, and I can't see how they can get higher. But the costs are going up all the time, and you've got to find some way to raise more money. This has to be done in ticket sales, gate receipts, and fund drives."

He added that Duke was currently in a $13.5 million drive to raise funds for stadium work both at Wade Stadium and Cameron Indoor Stadium, and for scholarship money and the like.

"The 11th game has brought us close to $1 million in six years. And the 12th game can do us more good."

James also said that women's sports is causing an even bigger crunch on the dollar. "I'm for women athletics, but they've got to realize it can't come all at once." He noted that a former athletic director at one Big Eight school resigned over the women's athletic problems. "He said that it had taken 50 years for his school to build the men's programs to its current levels, and that the women's wanted to get even overnight and it just wasn't possible."

For these reasons, James looks for the passage of the need scholarships for athletes, and the holding of the level of grants as currently imposed by the NCAA.

Next week's Sports Club speaker will be Atlantic Coast Conference Commissioner Bob James.

Dave Kingman of the New York Mets owns a four-bedroom home in Cos Cob, Conn.

Brewer singled out quarterback Carroll Griffin for his play on offense, along with receivers Ted Dunn and Keno Farrow. "Both of them made some good catches," David Winborn, who intercepted two passes, was named on defense.

Ayden-Grifton Coach Claude Kennedy was glad to get the victory. "I don't think Southern Nash is that bad, nor us that good. It was just a series of things that happened to let us score. Of course we made some of those things happen."

Kennedy felt his team did a good job both offensively and defensively. "We played everybody we dressed."

Kennedy singled out William West, who scored three touchdowns and Rod Nobles, who may have been the leading ground-gainer for the team. "Terry Morris did a good job both at fullback and linebacker. Mike Teachey and Larry Taft and Tim Holland did a good job on the line."

One player was injured in the game, as Bryant Edwards suffered a slight concussion, and may sit out this week's game.

"From all indications, North Pitt is not as bad as their record might lead you to think," Kennedy said. "Their people get us for us, and this could work to their advantage. I know they played Aycock toe-to-toe except for a couple of plays. Calvin Carmack is a good player and Aubrey Wynne did a good job for them at linebacker. George Little is also impressive."

While Kennedy said it was possible the Chargers might suffer a letdown after playing Southern, he said some of the players still remembered a couple of years ago when North Pitt "kicked us good."

"We can't take anyone lightly," he added.

Conley Coach Chuck Dunn felt his Vikings played well in spots in their win.

"I knew (North Lenoir) would be a whole lot tougher than anyone thought," he said. "They came to play. Their backs ran real well. We may have been down a little after losing last week. We missed a couple of early chances to score that could have put it away early."

The Vikes' rest lineman Lo Carmon for the rest of the year with a dislocated shoulder. "He was the only size we had on defense. I don't know how we're going to compensate for his loss."

Dunn praised Nuggie Worthington for his offensive play, crediting him with 117 yards rushing. "Kenny Phillips, Kevin Adams and Mike Phillips all played well on defense," he said.

"Greene Central is going to be another tough one for us. They've had problems, but they're better than their record. They've always given us a lot of trouble defensively. And they have a real strong running back in Jeffrey Warren."

By winning a second league game, however, Conley, already away to its best start ever with a 3-1 record, can play itself in a role as a dark horse in the conference title race.

North Pitt's Pat Smith felt his team put forth one of the best defensive efforts he's seen at that school against Aycock. "We just don't have the offense," he said. "Our punting and the punt return game was what killed us."

Also plagued by injuries, Smith hopes his Panthers will have some of the wounded back for Friday's game with Ayden-Grifton. "I don't know how effective they'll be, or even how much they'll be able to play."

Smith singled out tight end Tim Corey for his play on offense, and both William Knight, a corner back, and linebacker

Aubrey Wynn for his play at linebacker. "It was the first time Wynn had been at linebacker."

"I'm scared to death," Smith said in reference to playing Ayden-Grifton. "I see no way we can stay on the field with them."

Elsewhere in the area last week, Jamesville dropped its fourth straight game in the 1-A ranks, bowing 39-0 to unbeaten Bath in a Tobacco Belt game. This week, the Bullets will play host to another winless team, Aurora.

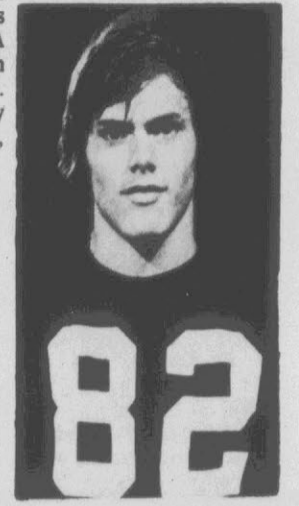

In the 2-A ranks, Roanoke's Redskins fell before unbeaten West Edgecombe, 12-6. It was the fourth loss in five games for the 'Skins, and their second in Eastern Plains play. The Redskins are at home to Saratoga, 2-2, this week.

Williamston continued to win as the Tigers opened play in the Northeastern 3-A Conference last week, nipping Roanoke Rapids, 22-14.

The win was the fifth straight for the Tigers, and their first in the league. They entertain Washington this Friday night.

ECU-Duke Would Need 12th Game

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
A meeting between Duke University and East Carolina University on the football field will probably lie with the NCAA, Duke Athletic Director Carl James hinted yesterday to the Greenville Sports Club.

Asked if the two teams would be meeting any time soon, James said that Duke is scheduled through 1988 currently with 11 games. "Some of those games will be renegotiated before being finalized," James said, "so it is possible that a date might open. If there are changes, then we would discuss the possibility with East Carolina."

Duke is the final member of the "Big Four" to schedule the Pirates in football. They are already on the State and Carolina schedules, and will soon begin a series with Wake Forest.

"We got a lot of games when the NCAA okayed an 11th game in 1970. Now, we are pressing for a 12th game for those who want to play them," James said. "If the NCAA approves this, then East Carolina would be one of the first schools we would talk with."

James added that he did not feel that Duke had the built-in advantages of an East Carolina series that State and Carolina had. "Most of our students are from out of the state and that rivalry isn't there as much so as it is at the other two schools."

James did praise the job being done at East Carolina both in football and in other sports. "You have a fine, well-rounded program here."

James said that football in the state is good and pointed to the victories this week of Wake Forest over Kansas State, a Big Eight school; of State's tieing Michigan State of the Big Ten, and of North Carolina's win over independent Army. "And our victory over Virginia was a big one for us, since it was in the conference, just as East Carolina's win over William & Mary was important for the same reason."

This week, he said, things got no better for the state teams. "Wake has to play number one Michigan, while UNC is at Missouri, which just beat Ohio State in Columbus. State goes against another Big Ten school in Indiana, and East Carolina has an important game with The Citadel."

"And we have a tough game in meeting Tony Dorsett and Pittsburgh," he added. James said that the job of athletic director is a hard one and isn't getting any easier. "The biggest problem is economics."

"Currently the price of football tickets in the ACC is $8, and I can't see how they can get higher. But the costs are going up all the time, and you've got to find some way to raise more money. This has to be done in ticket sales, gate receipts, and fund drives."

He added that Duke was currently in a $13.5 million drive to raise funds for stadium work both at Wade Stadium and Cameron Indoor Stadium, and for scholarship money and the like.

"The 11th game has brought us close to $1 million in six years. And the 12th game can do us more good."

James also said that women's sports is causing an even bigger crunch on the dollar. "I'm for women athletics, but they've got to realize it can't come all at once." He noted that a former athletic director at one Big Eight school resigned over the women's athletic problems. "He said that it had taken 50 years for his school to build the men's programs to its current levels, and that the women's wanted to get even overnight and it just wasn't possible."

For these reasons, James looks for the passage of the need scholarships for athletes, and the holding of the level of grants as currently imposed by the NCAA.

Next week's Sports Club speaker will be Atlantic Coast Conference Commissioner Bob James.

Conley In 2-0 Victory

HOLLYWOOD — D. H. Conley's volleyball team took two close wins over North Pitt yesterday in a 2-0 match.

The two games both were decided late as Conley took 15-13 wins in each.

In the opener, Alice Costen got Conley going with five straight serves for scores. Teresa Mills then finished things off by serving up five in row to break a 9-9 tie.

G. Dixon of North Pitt has served up six North Pitt earlier.

In the second game, Costen again and had five straight, while Dixon picked up four in a row.

"It was our best all-around team game," Coach Norma Respass and afterwards, Conley is now 3-2 while North Pitt is 1-3.

The junior varsity play, Conley took a 2-0 win with 15-5 and 15-10 wins.

Ladies' Day at baseball parks was inaugurated by the Cincinnati Reds in 1889.

Baseball's seventh-inning stretch began in 1910 when President Howard Taft stood up to stretch his legs at a game.

The 1938 San Francisco Seals had a heavy hitting outfield. Smead Jolley batted .404, Roy Johnson hit .360 and Earl Averill .354.

Rampettes Take Win

Rose High School romped to a 9-0 victory over Rocky Mount in a girls' tennis match yesterday.

The Rampette victory raised the team's overall record to 3-1, and their Division I mark to 1-1.

Rose had little trouble in the match, winning all but one of the singles in straight sets. Rocky Mount won only 15 games in the first five singles matches, and only one of those Gryphon netters got past two games in a set.

In exhibitions, Rose's Helen Whitehurst downed Mae Jackson, 8-0, and Nancy Garrett beat Dorothy Steadman, 8-7.

Rose travels to Raleigh Sanderson on Thursday.

Summary:
Serena Matney (R) defeated Charlotte Ward, 6-2, 6-0.

Norton Claims He Was Robbed

By ALEX SACHARE
NEW YORK (AP) — "I was robbed," declared Ken Norton. "What else can I say?"

The muscular Norton, his face unmarked but for slight puffiness around the eyes, sat on a stool in his dressing room at Yankee Stadium and fought back the tears.

"I know I won it, you know I won it, I think even Ali knows I won it," he said quietly.

But he didn't win it, at least not according to referee Arthur Mercante and judges Barney Smith and Harold Lederman. They all scored Tuesday night's fight in favor of heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali.

Norton could not believe it. He was crying when he entered his dressing room, and was still visibly upset when newsmen were finally admitted some 30 minutes later.

"The fight speaks for itself," Norton said. "I outfought him completely. I wasn't even breathing hard. I've worked harder in the gym."

"I won at least nine or 10 rounds. I didn't think there was any question about that. I knew he was hurt two or three times and he never hurt me.

"From beginning to end, I won the fight."

He didn't get the decision, however, and he charged it was a matter of money.

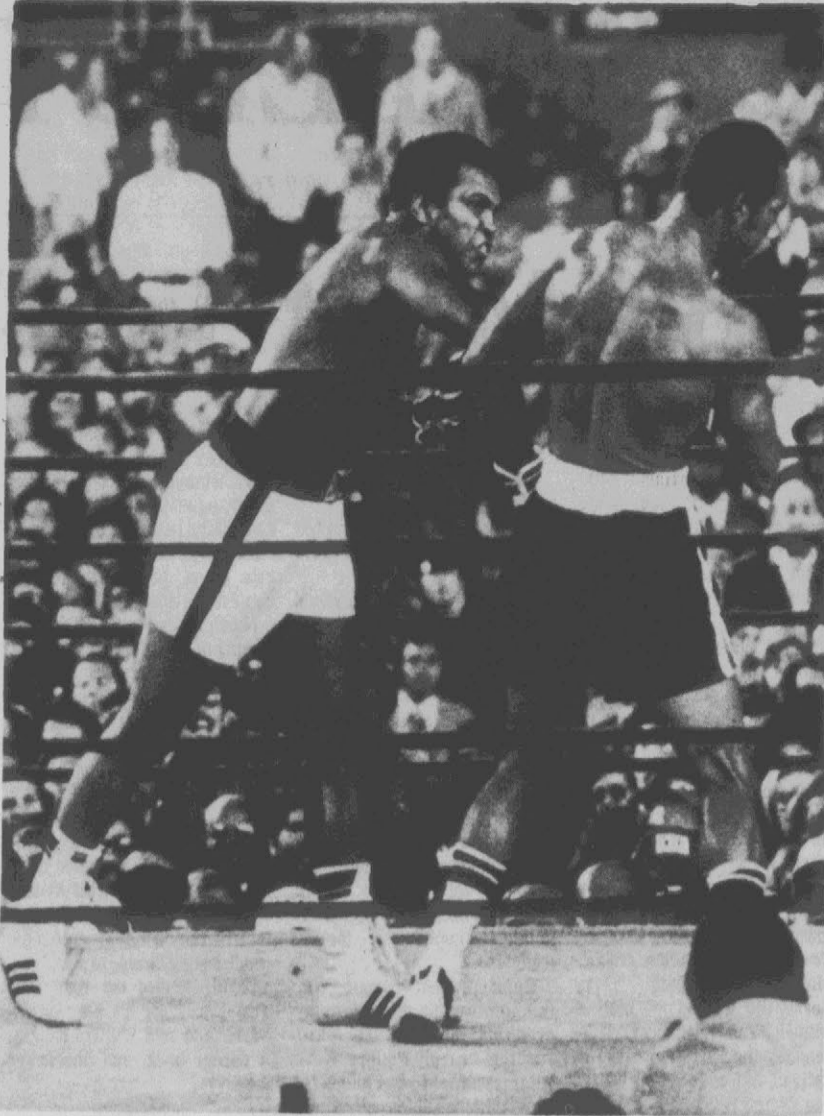

"It was those New York judges — they were thinking of the money," he contended. "If Ali wins he fights Foreman and that's big money, right?"

"Well that shouldn't happen. I should have a rematch first. That should be mandatory."

All three officials gave the 15th round to Ali, and that proved decisive. Mercante scored it 8-6-1, both judges 8-7.

Norton had said before the bout he thought he had no chance of getting a decision in a close fight against Ali. Tuesday night's 15-rounder reinforced that feeling.

"I outfought him completely," he said. "The only thing I didn't do was knock him out. And because of that, he's still the champion."

round of their title fight Tuesday night. Ali retained his title with a decision win in the 15-round fight in New York's Yankee Stadium. (AP Wirephoto)

Ali's Future Is Uncertain

By JOHN NELSON
AP Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The thought crossed his mind — whether to retire as the world heavyweight champion or to risk it all once more. It's a decision Muhammad Ali says he will not face frivolously.

He was not in a frivolous mood Tuesday night after scoring a narrow, 15-round decision over challenger Ken Norton at Yankee Stadium.

"I'll be thinking about it," Ali said. "But I got so many people that I represent. I want to retire with this title."

Ali's face was marked, his voice was quiet and his demeanor a glaring contrast to that of only a few moments ago when he had cursed Norton, berated and taunted him, and once spat at the challenger.

"Age will get me if I don't stop," Ali said. "If I had done anything wrong before this fight — anything — I would have lost."

"I didn't stay up late at night. I didn't fool around. I didn't drink no coffee," Ali said.

"Norton was ready, but I was ready."

Ali had a towel draped over his lower body as he lay on his back on a training table in his locker room. Many of the questions he was asked dealt with the outcome of the fight, booted by many fans who thought Norton had wrested the crown from Ali.

"Sure, I won the fight," Ali said. "I'll settle for any kind of victory."

"He hurt me only one time. He hit me in the ribs. But none of the face shots hurt."

"I was gonna fight all night," Ali said. "Norton was probably in better shape than me, but I had the will. I was thinking of my brothers and sisters out there — some of them white but most of them black — and when I think of all my family out there, it makes me fight."

Ali was asked if there was any real animosity between he and Norton.

"No," Ali said. "I like him. He's a brother of mine, doing his job."

Ali Take Unpopular Decision Over Norton

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent
NEW YORK (AP) — Muhammad Ali, the winner and still heavyweight champion of the world, will go into a huddle with himself during the next few days and ponder two alternatives affecting his remarkable ring career.

are interested in the promotion — Turkey, Syria and Nigeria. Montreal, the Olympic capital, also is very interested."

The prospective date is sometime within the next three months.

Talk of a return bout with Foreman, whom he knocked out Oct. 30, 1974, in Zaire, quickened the interest of the somber Ali.

"I say I been thinking about retiring," he hedged. "But maybe in a few days when my back don't hurt so much and my hands don't feel so sore I will change my mind. So I don't want to make a snap decision right now."

Meanwhile, less than 100 yards away, over in the dressing room of the baseball Yankees, Norton, the defeated challenger, was venting his frustration on all within ear shot.

"I was robbed," he insisted. "I won 10 rounds, at least nine. The judges gave the decision to Ali because they see him making a lot of money for boxing."

Judges Harold Lederman and Barney Smith each scored the fight 8-7 in rounds for Ali while referee Arthur Mercante had it 8-6-1. A majority of the newsmen — by random sampling — gave the nod to Norton. A loud roar of boos came from the pro-Ali crowd when the verdict was announced.

Overall, it was a heavy-weight fight of little distinction. Here were two of the supposedly most powerful fighting men on earth — Ali at 221 and Norton at 217½ — slamming away at each other for 15 rounds and hardly making a dent in each other's facade.

After the skirmish, in which there were no knockdowns and no visible blood, Norton suffered a bump under his right eye. Both men were red and bruised from the pounding but virtually unharmed.

Ali started out with a flat-footed, bore-in style as he promised, fell back on his familiar dancing routine in the middle rounds and held his own in some wild but futile hitting sprees at the finish. Norton slumped badly after dominating five of the first six rounds.

Boxing expects more blood and thunder from its heavyweights.

"I outfought him completely," Norton said afterwards, not attempting to restrain the tears of disappointment. "I thought I whipped him decisively in our first fight and won the second fight although the decision went to Ali. I think I won this fight by a bigger margin than either of the others."

The 31-year-old Norton, a rugged, picture athlete who towers 6 feet, 3 inches, broke Ali's jaw and won a decision

A-G Gains Victory

LITTLEFIELD — Ayden-Grifton High School's volleyball team retained sole possession of first place in the Eastern Carolina Conference yesterday with a 2-0 win over Farmville Central.

The Chargerettes won the opening game, 15-12, then came back to take the second, 15-6.

In the opener, Vivian Ellis got Ayden-Grifton started by serving up five straight points. Farmville Central came back on six in a row served up by Bobbie Pittman to push into an 8-6 lead.

The Lady Jaguars built that to 12-7 before Amy Kilpatrick dished out eight in a row for the Chargerettes to give Ayden-Grifton the victory.

In the second game, Farmville Central again pushed into a lead, holding a 6-3 edge before Cindy Potter led A-G into a 10-6 lead with seven serves in a row. Amy Kilpatrick then finished it up with five in a row.

In an exhibition match, Farmville Central downed Ayden-Grifton, 2-0, winning 15-4 and 15-8.

Ayden-Grifton is now 4-1 while Farmville Central is 2-3.

Richard Feels 19th Was His Just Reward

By BOB GREENE
AP Sports Writer
James Rodney Richard feels his 19th victory is only a just reward.

"I feel I deserve to win 20," the Houston pitcher said after tossing a three-hitter and beating the Los Angeles Dodgers 1-0 Tuesday night, raising his record to 19-15.

"I've worked hard. I've suffered," said the hurler who goes by his initials, J.R.

"When I say suffer, I mean that I figured I should have come up to the big leagues earlier than I did. The only difference between my pitching now and when I first came up is that I've been given the opportunity to pitch," Richard said.

Elsewhere in the NL, Cincinnati edged San Diego 5-4, San Francisco downed Atlanta 4-1, St. Louis stopped Philadelphia 5-3, and New York split two with Montreal, winning the opener 5-4 and dropping the nightcap 4-2.

Two of the Dodgers' hits were by Steve Garvey, who now needs only two more to reach the 200-hit plateau for the third straight year.

"The sooner I get them, the better," Garvey said. "It's tough getting to the plate four times a game."

Houston scored the game's lone run in the first but Cesar Cedeño reached base on a two-base error by second baseman Dave Lopes and came home on Bob Watson's single. It was Watson's 100th run batted in of the season.

Burt Hooton, 11-15, took the loss.

Reds 5, Padres 4
Pete Rose's pinch-hit single in the eighth and Ed Armbrister's triple in the ninth pushed Cincinnati over San Diego. Padres starter Randy Jones suffered a muscle pull in his pitching arm. The injury to Jones, bidding for his 23rd victory, was not considered serious but could cause him to miss his final scheduled start this weekend.

Giants 4, Braves 1
Bobby Murcer slammed his 23rd home run of the season and Chris Speler drive in two runs with a bases-loaded single to give rookie Bob Knepper, 1-2, his first major league victory as San Francisco topped Atlanta.

Cardinals 5, Phils 3
Hector Cruz drove in three runs, including two with his 13th homer of the season, to lead St. Louis over Philadelphia. The loss foiled Phils hurler Steve Carlton's bid to become a 20-game winner. Carlton is 19-7. Down 3-2, St. Louis took the lead in the fourth on Cruz' two-run blast in the fourth.

Mets 5-2, Expos 4-4
Ed Kranepool slapped a bases-loaded single to lift New York to victory in the opener and Larry Parrish slammed his 10th homer as Montreal captured the nightcap.

Kranepool tied the first game in the eighth with his 10th homer, then singled home Bruce Boicclair and Jim Dwyer in the ninth to give reliever Skip Lockwood, 10-7, the victory.

Parrish's homer put the Expos in front 1-0 in the second inning of the nightcap.

Buc Golfer Tops Field

BOONE — East Carolina freshman Heather Jones captured individual medal honors at the Blue Ridge Ladies Golf Tournament at Boone Tuesday.

Jones, from Raleigh, N.C., shot an 80 to top all finishers in the one day tournament.

Overall, the Lady Pirates did not fare as well. Out of the five teams competing for the team title, ECU trailed the field. UNC-Chapel Hill took the team honors with a score of 335. Duke followed, edging out Appalachian for second place, 350-351. Wake Forest finished fourth at 365, and East Carolina finished at 385.

East Carolina scores included: Heather Jones, 80; Marsha Person, 92; Jill Carney, 99; Lynn Copeland, 114; Morri Chamness, 141.

This was the first intercollegiate tournament for all on the ECU team girls except Person.

The next match for the Lady Pirates is this weekend, the Mary Baldwin Golf Tournament at Staunton, Va.

Oakland Slaps Royals Again

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

The Oakland A's are rolling ... the Kansas City Royals are reeling.

"They've got the momentum," conceded Kansas City's Hal McRae.

The respective directions of the American League West teams were more evident today, following Oakland's 1-0 victory over the slumping Royals Tuesday night.

That loss cut Kansas City's lead in the wild West to merely 2½ games, giving comfort to Oakland hopes of overtaking the Royals in the homestretch of the 1976 baseball season.

"We're just not hitting," moaned Kansas City Manager Whitey Herzog, reiterating a thought he has voiced with some consistency in recent weeks. "Maybe we're trying too hard."

The unfortunate Royals have turned a runaway in the AL West into a pennant race with their shoddy play of late — having lost six of their last seven games. With the opportunistic A's on a winning tear, the combined results have dissolved most of a hefty seven-game lead held by the Royals as recently as Sept. 21.

The A's can make things more interesting tonight in the last meeting of the West adversaries this season. Larry Gura was nominated to stop the Kansas City slide against Oakland's Paul Mitchell.

In the other AL games Tuesday night, the Baltimore Orioles swept a doubleheader from the Milwaukee Brewers 7-5 and 7-3; the Detroit Tigers took the Cleveland Indians 4-0 in the first game of a doubleheader before losing the nightcap 6-1; the Boston Red Sox turned back the New York Yankees 7-5 and the Texas Rangers blanked the Minnesota Twins 7-0.

ACC Has Big Task

By The Associated Press

Atlantic Coast Conference football teams have won three times this season in games against nationally ranked outsiders. But it will be difficult to keep up the average this Saturday.

Wake Forest travels to Ann Arbor to play top-ranked Michigan. Duke is home to Pittsburgh, No. 2. And North Carolina, itself No. 14, is at Missouri, No. 12 and 22-21 upset winner last week over then second-ranked Ohio State.

Wake Forest schedule makers have gotten into the habit of lining up the top teams. Duke also is a glutton for punishment, having opened with Southern Cal, Alabama, Tennessee and Florida in recent years.

The Duke Blue Devils finally will have a chance to discard their Astroturf cleats and dig into the natural grass at Wallace Wade Stadium.

"We have had our third game now on artificial surfaces," says coach Mike McGee. "That takes its toll, as far as injuries go."

Left guard Terry Ketchell will miss the Pitt game because of an injury. Other Duke players must work out minor hurts in order to see action.

The last team to come to Wade Stadium ranked as high as the Panthers was the second-ranked Navy squad of 1963. It was quarterbacked by Roger Staubach, who went on to become a Heisman Trophy winner.

The Pitt quarterback, Tony Dorsett, is regarded as in the running for the Heisman as the best college football player of the year.

Pitt beat Duke 14-0 last year, limiting the Blue Devils to 37 net yards on offense.

Wake Forest coach Chuck Mills says, "We are not supposed to win at Michigan, but we could. The biggest mistake that we could make is to start changing things around. That would indicate panic to our players."

At Columbia, Mo., North Carolina will be facing a Top 20 team for the third time this season. The Tar Heels beat the others, Miami of Ohio and Florida.

North Carolina probably will have an extra quarterback. P.J. Gay, sidelined in the pre-season with an injury, will dress against Missouri. But he is not expected to be used unless disaster strikes starter Bernie Menapace and backup Matt Kucep.

Seventh-ranked Maryland, undefeated like North Carolina, is home to Villanova. Clemson, which settled for a tie with Georgia Tech last week, will be on the road at Tennessee.

Pity Deacons, UCLA; Bucs Picked

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Coach Chuck Mills of Wake Forest says he has read that Alabama's Bear Bryant has endorsed President Ford, who is from Michigan.

"I'm withholding my endorsement until after the Michigan game to see what kind of hosts they are," cracks Mills.

Mills doesn't have long to wait. Wake Forest visits No. 1-ranked Michigan this weekend and by late Saturday afternoon, Jimmy Carter should have one more vote.

"Our players are looking forward to it," Mills says with a straight face. "We're not going to just stand around in the lion's den. We're going to claw back. Michigan is outstanding, but I'm not going to cry. We're not expected to win, but we're not going there to lose."

Would you believe ... Michigan 63, Wake Forest 0?

Last week's count showed 45 right, 22 wrong and two ties for a .672 percentage. For the season, it is 136-64—680.

UCLA at Ohio State: "After you have a loss, that next game is always very important," said

Red Sox 7, Yankees 5

Veteran reliever Tom Murphy checked New York on one hit in the final four innings as Boston defeated the Yankees, spoiling Ed Figueroa's bid for his 20th victory of the season. The Red Sox clobbered Figueroa, 19-10, for 14 hits, including rookie Butch Hobson's seventh homer and Jim Rice's 25th.

Rangers 7, Twins 0

Toby Harrah slammed a two-run homer in Texas' six-run second inning and a solo shot in the fourth as the Rangers defeated Minnesota behind Gaylord Perry's six-hitter.

Ohio State's Woody Hayes. "We'll play it for all we have." That became obvious as soon as the final gun sounded in the Rose Bowl last New Year's Day — UCLA 23, Ohio State 10 — and cost the Buckeyes the national championship. Woody never forgets ... Ohio State 20-17.

Alabama at Georgia: Bama is in the unusual position of fighting for its Southeastern Conference life. Hang down your head, Vince Dooley ... Alabama 24-14.

Louisiana State at Florida: An unusual week for the oddsmakers. Eighth-ranked Ohio State is favored over No. 4 UCLA, 10th-ranked Alabama is favored over No. 6 Georgia, 19th-ranked Florida is favored over No. 11 LSU. No sense bucking the tide ... Florida 20-13.

North Carolina at Missouri: Coach Al Onofrio can only hope Missouri will not have a let-down after the upset of Ohio State ... Missouri 24-17.

Pitt at Duke: Last year's 14-0 tough game should warn the Panthers not to take Duke lightly ... Pitt 28-14.

Oklahoma at Iowa State: Sooners could be in for trouble if they are looking ahead to Texas. Iowa State, 3-0, has scored 146 points while yielding 27 in trouncing Drake, Air Force and Kent State ... Oklahoma 31-21.

Miami, Fla., at Nebraska: The Hurricanes actually led Nebraska at the half last year before succumbing 31-16. "We think they're very good," warns Coach Tom Osborne. So's ... Nebraska 35-14.

Wisconsin at Kansas: This was the game that zoomed Kansas into national prominence a year ago with a 41-7 romp. Keying on the revenge motive, let's try this for the Upset Special of the Week ... Wisconsin 24-20.

Iowa at Southern California: Coach Bob Commings called last week's victory over Penn State "a shot in the arm" for Iowa's program. This week it's a shot in the head ... Southern Cal 31-13.

Auburn at Mississippi: Ole Miss can take a giant step toward the Sugar Bowl by beating Auburn this week and Georgia next ... Mississippi 18-12.

Notre Dame at Michigan State: The first game Dan Devine lost as Notre Dame's head coach was to Michigan State last year ... Notre Dame 17-10.

Penn State at Kentucky: What is a nice guy like Joe Paterno doing with a 1-2 record? The Nittany Lions are due to come down hard on someone, and Kentucky's in the way ... Penn State 21-10.

Stanford at Army: Who shall not pass? In this game, they might not do anything else ... Stanford 38-24.

Texas A&M at Illinois: This was one of the day's top matchups a week ago before A&M lost to Houston and Illinois bowed to Baylor ... Texas A&M 27-17.

South Carolina at Baylor: Jim Carlen had Grant Teaff's number when he was at Texas Tech and he's 1-0 at Carolina. Teaff's revenge ... Baylor 29-22.

Texas at Rice: No Longhorns stampe, especially with Oklahoma just around the corner ... Texas 24-14.

Saudi Arms Deal Seen Cleared

By KENNETH J. FREED
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ford administration cleared away one obstacle threatening relations with Saudi Arabia, but Congress is still considering legislation opposed by the oil-rich Middle East kingdom.

At issue, according to the administration, is a possible price rise for oil that Arab nations ship to the United States.

Responding to Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's plea, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on Tuesday cleared the first obstacle by killing any chance that Congress would block the sale of $30 million worth of sophisticated airborne missiles to the Saudis.

The second obstacle is an amendment that would prohibit U.S. firms from participating in the Arab boycott of Israel.

Reversing an earlier decision, the Foreign Relations Committee refused to send to the floor a resolution by Sen. Clifford Case, R-N.J., that sought to stop the administration from selling 650 Maverick air-to-ground missiles to Saudi Arabia.

Technically, Case could still raise the issue directly on the Senate floor, but a source in his office acknowledged that the chance of success is nil.

In addition, the House does not even have a similar resolution before it. Because Congress expects to adjourn for the year by week's end, it is unrealistic to expect the matter to be pushed through.

In fact, one of the House's leading opponents of the sale, Rep. Benjamin Rosenthal, D-N.Y., said of the effort to stop the sale, "It's dead."

Under the law, the administration can sell arms to a country unless both houses of Congress pass identical resolutions opposing the sale.

Kissinger made a personal appeal on behalf of the missile sale, saying Saudi Arabia "has been a good friend ... has been helpful in (Middle East) peace efforts and it is in our interests to retain the friendship."

The issue is not a renewed oil boycott, he said, but the Arab nation "is in a position to use its influence in other ways." This was a reference to an increase in oil prices. "The issue is one of our basic relations with Saudi Arabia," he concluded.

State Department officials said Tuesday after learning of the Foreign Relations Committee action that the next step is to arrange shipment of the missiles to the Saudis.

Meanwhile, the struggle over the anti-boycott amendment is unresolved. At issue is a rider that would prevent American businesses from boycotting Israel or other U.S. firms that do business with Israel.

The amendment is attached to a bill setting out controls on the export of strategic goods.

Acting on behalf of the administration, Sen. John Tower, R-Texas., has blocked the bill in the Senate through parliamentary maneuver. Unless he relents, and there are indications he is willing to compromise, the entire bill will die when Congress adjourns this weekend.

No Arab country has vowed specific retaliation if U.S. firms are barred by law from participating in the boycott, but the Ford administration and some lawmakers have said the anti-boycott campaign could lead to another cutoff of Middle East oil to the United States.

Two Injured In Collision

More than $6,300 property damage resulted from two collisions investigated here yesterday by Greenville Police.

Heaviest damage resulted when cars driven by Susan Gooding Ridgeway of 710 West Fifth St. and Mamie Brown Gardner of 1007 West Fourth St. collided about 4:20 p.m. at the intersection of Third and Greene Streets causing an estimated $3,000 damage to each of the two vehicles.

Investigators, who noted both drivers were injured in the mishap, charged Mrs. Ridgeway with failing to stop for a stop sign and having no liability insurance.

No charges were made following investigation of a 3 p.m. mishap on Edgewood Drive, 60 feet East of the West Rocksprings Road intersection involving a car driven by Willis Kenneth Whichard Sr. of 1044 West Rocksprings and a parked vehicle owned by Cary Frederick Irons of 1104 West Rocksprings.

No damage resulted to the Whichard car, while an estimated $340 damage resulted to the Irons vehicle, investigators reported.

Church Holding Country Bazaar

Salem United Methodist Church will be sponsoring an old-fashioned country bazaar Saturday from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Simpson Community Building.

As a special attraction a quilt auction will be held from 10:30 to 11. In addition to handcrafted items, potted plants and baked goods, there will be a country store booth featuring homegrown vegetables, pickles, preserves, and canned goods.

The bazaar will also include a Christmas shop and white elephant booth, and a children's table, with items especially made and priced for them. Homemade soup, sandwiches, beverages, and desserts will also be on sale.

REVIVAL UNDERWAY

Revival is now in progress at Corey's Chapel FWB Church. The Rev. F. C. Mitchell is the evangelist for the week.

The public is invited to attend the nightly services.

$1 Million Sales Day

The season average on the Greenville Tobacco Market increased Tuesday as offerings sold for more than $1 million.

J. N. Bryan, sales supervisor of the Greenville Tobacco Board of Trade, reported that Tuesday's results brought the overall average here to $114.07 per hundred pounds. So far this season, according to Bryan, the market has sold 35,154,842 pounds for $40,101,831.

Sales yesterday totaled 35,154,842 pounds and brought $1,191,247, an average of $123.27 per hundred.

Top practical price paid was $1.30 per pound, the sales supervisor reported.

Stabilization receipts amounted to 2.11 per cent of total sales.

Offerings consisted of leaf, smoking leaf and cutters, he said, with more lugs, primings and non descript tobacco on the floor than on Monday's sale.

WHEN YOU QUIT SMOKING, THE HARDEST HABIT TO BREAK IS REACHING IN YOUR POCKET FOR YOUR PACK OF BUTTS!

BUT THE EASIEST HABIT TO BREAK IS REACHING IN YOUR POCKET TO PAY FOR THEM!

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 30, 1976

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Until evening avoid any situation that might involve you in considerable trouble. Study whatever arises with more than usual awareness. Get affairs on solid structure.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You have to use care and caution in handling affairs in the business world today and avoid trouble. Use diplomacy where a prominent person is concerned. Home is best bet in the evening.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Try to do some close investigating before you get involved in a new interest that appeals to you. If there are too many snags, forget it altogether. Be patient with a new acquaintance who is a problem.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Find the best way to handle responsibilities and keep promises conscientiously. Try to please a loved one more. Have a more practical approach in all phases of your life.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) First be sure to listen to what partners have to say and then you can express your views and get fine results. Further that interest in civic work. Something fine can come of this.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You are able to handle all that work that has been difficult to do for some time and get fine results with it. List to what co-workers have to say and then coordinate your efforts.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Try not to jump into some amusement that is going to cost you too much, or take you away from important work. Try to please a loved one more by doing what is desired of you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You have some plan in mind and want the cooperation of kin and can get it provided you explain it honestly and directly. Make sure you have all the information necessary before you get into a new project.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Check out the right sources if you want to get the information you need. Get the backing of a good relative where some personal matter is concerned.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You have to be more practical and modern in the handling of finances if you are to become more successful. Get the advice of experts. Avoid the social in the evening.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Use your fine practical talents to gain your fondest desires and make your life richer, more satisfying. Attend a group affair that could bring fine results. Become more aware.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Take time to analyze where you are going in business and personal matters and make any improvements that are necessary to your plans. Get routine work done on time and properly.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Try to come to a better understanding with allies so that there is more rapport, success in the future. But don't let them take up too much of your time. Discuss future plans with an expert.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will have the knack of making others feel liked. Teach early to smile more and there can be greater success in this interesting life, since the nature is a most practical one. Education should be slanted toward business for best results.

The bidding:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 2NT Pass
3NT Pass Pass Pass
Opening lead: Nine of ♣.

When dummy appeared, it seemed that declarer had a straightforward club guess for his no trump game. However, East created an illusion that declarer had a safe line, which, for all practical purposes, doomed the contract.

South had a difficult response to make to his partner's one club opening bid. He had an absolutely flat hand and his only four-card suit was the one his partner had opened. Since a jump to three clubs would have suggested a more unbalanced hand, South chose the value response of two no trump despite the fact that his spade stopper was virtually non-existent. North had an easy race to game.

West led his top spade, and routine defense would have been for East to cash his four spade tricks and exit with a red card. Declarer's fate would then hinge on whether he could guess the location of the queen of clubs—a 50-50 proposition. East, however, found a shrewd way to improve the defensive chances.

He cashed only three high spades before exiting with a heart. Since declarer needed only three tricks from the club suit, the contract now seemed to be impregnable. From the play to the first three tricks, West appeared to hold the thirteenth spade, and it was a simple matter to keep West off play until the third club trick was established. So declarer won the heart in his hand, briskly cashed the ace of clubs and ran the jack. He was not unduly upset when East won this trick, until that defender firmly placed the eight of spades on the table for the setting trick.

South might have misguessed the position of the queen of clubs anyway. Once East had produced the three top spades, declarer might well have decided that West was more likely to hold the only missing high card of any consequence. Nevertheless, East is to be congratulated on a pretty piece of deception that was bound to fool declarer.

Network Schedule Two Great Shows Same Hour

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — There are nights you'd like to throttle network executives for putting two great shows on at the same time. Tonight is such a night for executive-throttling at NBC and ABC.

At 9 p.m. EDT, NBC starts its "Best Sellers" series with a superb two-hour chapter of "Captains and the Kings," the novel about a poor Irish lad's rise to power and money in 19th century America.

At 9:30 p.m. ABC starts its new, very funny, "Nancy Walker Show" with Miss Walker as a Hollywood talent agent whose personal portfolio includes a 29-year marriage to a Navy captain (William Daniels).

I'd reluctantly say pass up the Walker opening because: — The premiere of NBC's epic is so good — and sets the stage so well for the next episode — it should be seen in its entirety.

— You'll be able to watch ABC's "Walker" the next four weeks, because "Captains" will run only an hour then, starting at 10 p.m. EDT.

Tonight's "Captains" is set between 1857 and the start of the Civil War. The hero — sort of — is Joseph Armagh, an Irish youth of intelligence, a strong will and considerable self-confidence.

In a later episode, we'll see his ambition and that of his son make the latter the first Catholic president of the United States (please, no Kennedy comparisons on company time).

Tonight's opener covers only his formative years, starting with his illegal entry into New York with his brother and sister after he promises his dying mother he'll keep the family together.

Impoverished, barely in his teens, he takes the youngsters to Philadelphia in search of their father, who has led them to believe he's struck it rich in America.

Not so. The father has died a poor man's death. And Joseph is temporarily forced to put the kids in a Catholic orphanage in Pennsylvania while he sets out to make his way in the world.

This sounds like the start of a Horatio O'Alger story — and it basically is — but the story is exceedingly well-told, full of robust, well-defined characters who show up during Armagh's transition from penniless immigrant to apprentice mogul in Pennsylvania.

Its cast is first-rate. In short, "Captains" has class. You see this so rarely on the tube that it'd be a pity to miss tonight's display.

Ervin Eyes Ford's Ties

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Former Sen. Sam Ervin of North Carolina, who chaired the Senate's Watergate investigation, says President Ford's ties to Watergate should be an election issue.

"I just think he's (Ford) got a lot to answer for," Ervin, a Democrat, told a news conference at Vanderbilt University before a speaking engagement Tuesday night.

Ervin said Ford, while a Congressman, helped stall a House investigation into possible corruption. Ford also echoed President Nixon's claims of innocence and then pardoned him, Ervin added.

"He did all he could to carry out the White House's wishes that Wright Patman's committee (the House Banking Committee) not make an investigation before the (1972) election," Ervin said.

"Ford got the Republicans and Southern Democrats to vote against it."

Ford's pardon of Nixon "was premature in any event," he said, adding that Ford should have let the law take its course.

Ervin, who retired from the Senate two years ago, said he does not pike the "frank talk" that Democrat presidential nominee Jimmy Carter has used in recent interviews.

He said the Carter's nomination "would indicate that after 100 years the South has been re-admitted to the Union."

The country had "a little more profound people" seeking the presidency in past years, he added.

The College of William and Mary was chartered in Virginia in 1692.

MADE HIS CHOICE — Olympic figure skating champion John Curry of Britain sits behind a bronze statuette of Peggy Fleming in New York where he explained his choice not to join an ice show, hence spurning millions of dollars. Instead Curry has signed a contract to head the cast of a road show called "The Theater of Skating", which will attempt to present figure skating "with music, elegance, choreography and style." Weather Delays Balloon Attempt KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—land in Mt. Rest, S.C. He's accustomed to delays. "When I first got into ballooning six years ago, I knew there were times when I would let myself do things before conditions were as good as possible," he said.

"You should learn after one time out to let nature take its course and not try to buck the weather."

Gabel said a newspaper article sparked his interest in ballooning. "I was living in Corpus Christi, Tex., and read about a guy in Austin who had a balloon, so I went up to see him," he said.

"I helped him crew for awhile and finally got a ride; I was immediately hooked—the experience was almost overwhelming."

Your senses become more refined during the silence of the flight, he said.

"You can hear your heart beating, which makes it go faster. At first, it's scary, but I look forward to the silence because you can't find it anywhere else."

Gabel is married and is the father of a 4-year-old son, Nathan. Another child is on the way, but he said his wife, Linda, is not worried about his proposed flight.

"She's got confidence in my flying," he said. But he confessed, "I'm really a coward at heart."

The students concluded their demonstration after a group of student representatives met with school officials to protest the way an Iranian student was treated by an assistant dean and a campus security guard during a recent drug case.

The Iranians had camped peacefully in a circle in front of the administration building for two days. They slept on the ground at night despite a drizzle of rain.

First Week Of New TV Season Sees ABC Lead Ratings

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) —

While ABC won the over-all ratings for "premiere week" and CBS emerged an unaccustomed third, the start of the new season last week featured anything but typical network scheduling.

Okay, so ABC had 11 shows among the nation's 20 highest-rated, compared with six at NBC and three at CBS. But consider:

Four half-hour comedies were doubled in length, three series that usually go an hour got twice that, and TV's sole Western, NBC's normally-an-hour "Quest," got 30 extra minutes of premiering time.

NBC's new Dick Van Dyke show, a Thursday opus, got premiered on a Monday, and the network's new "Baa Baa Black Sheep," after a two-hour Tuesday opener, logged an extra hour's time Thursday.

And Thursday was the night the network schedules were thrown into even more disarray by the opening Ford-Carter debate.

So only a lion would use last week's ratings as indicative of any trend. This week's Nielsen, expected next Tuesday, will give the first real hint of normal-times viewing patterns.

But how did Crazy Week go? Quite well for ABC's "Happy Days," whose one-hour opener Tuesday featured Fonzie's new haircut.

The show was the week's top-rated effort, seen in 24.7 million homes by a whopping 53 per cent of the estimated audience.

The lowest-rated? NBC's "Big Party" in New York, where a glitter gang of celebrities showed up to preen and be famous. Bad news for their egos: Viewers in but seven million homes cared about it.

The bash, part of NBC's new "Big Event" of Sunday hoohah, should have done better, considering the estimated 19.8 million-home audience for the preceding show, half of the hit movie, "Earthquake."

The drop of 12.8 million homes may indicate that few viewers care if the rich and famous have a marry time in Gotham.

Of 14 new weekly entries arriving last week, only four made the Nielsen top 20 — ABC's "Charlie's Angels," "Captain and Tennille" and "Tony Randall" series, and NBC's Dick Van Dyke show.

The new ABC wares premiered in their normal time. Not Van Dyke's hour, which inherited a huge Monday audience from NBC's preceding "Airport '75," the week's third most-watched show.

Whether Van Dyke will get high ratings next Oct. 7 when he starts in his regular Thursday slot remains to be seen. He'll then face CBS' "Barnaby Rudge" and ABC's "Streets of San Francisco."

For the ratings record, the 20 top "premiere week" shows in the Nielsen were "Happy Days" and "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid" (ABC); "Airport '75" (NBC); "Bionic Woman" (ABC); "Earthquake" (NBC); "All in the Family" (CBS); "Rich Man, Poor Man" and "Charlie's Angels" (ABC); "M-A-S-H" (CBS); "Six Million Dollar Man" and "Barretta" (ABC); "Big Jake," "Walt Disney" and "Sanford and Son" (NBC); "Captain and Tennille" and "Tony Randall" (ABC); "Van Dyke" (NBC); "Starky and Hutch" and "Barney Miller" (ABC); and "Good Times" (CBS).

Dees And Duck Play It For Laughs

RICK DEES put one of his early morning radio characters on his first record, "Disco Duck". (AP Wirephoto)

By MARIAN FOX
Associated Press Writer
MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — For Rick Dees to have cut his first record about a dancing duck is flaky, but in many ways, it figures.

For in many ways, Dees is flaky. But he is obviously a man who gets his kicks out of entertaining people.

"I just like to make people happy," he said. "I'm into stand-up comedy now at spots around town and I'm having a ball. I work hard, but I enjoy it. I love this town and it's been good to me. I hope I'll be here a long, long time."

A disc jockey until recently, Dees trotted out his duck regularly to jar his listeners out of the early morning worries. That's why at 7 a.m. he holds conversation like this:

"Mr. Dees, Mr. Dees," says an obviously sex-starved duck.

"What, Donald?"

"Mr. Dees, I gotta have me a woman."

Dees, 26, figures if he can make you laugh, he can wake you up.

To take care of both, he has created his cast of idiots, a group of characters from over 350 tapes of voices, personalities, sound effects and his own vocal tricks.

The result is bedlam.

There's Dortch Horton, the politician; Dr. Billy Frank Birmingham "from across the fruited plain" in Her-nan-doe; Miss; Coward Hossell, Coach Wolf Willis from What'samatta U; Wyeth Chandler, the mayor, saying "Yes, suh, Mr. Dees," behind the most embarrassing questions Dees can think of; an impression of Elvis Presley lusting after jelly doughnuts and, of course, the duck.

For the duck, Dees had something special in mind: a song and dance called "Disco Duck." The record is a cross between the David Seville novelties of the 50s and funky Memphis soul.

"I wrote it about four months ago, back in May, and I'd been thinking about it sometime before that, but I didn't know exactly how to do it.

"I pictured having an animal doing a disco thing and having a dance patterned after the animal. The alliteration between disco and duck seemed to fit and I had the duck voice, so . . ."

So he wrote the song and found a man named Pruitt over at the Seven-Eleven in Little Rock, Ark., to be the duck and a well-known music lady, Estelle Axton, to record it.

The ever-generous Isaac Hayes provided his drummer and backup group, Hot Buttered Soul. Add a group of vocalists, Ebony Webb, Bobby Manual and two takes later, it's done.

Dees' roots are in radio. He's been developing his style since high school in Greenboro, N.C. A job at a small station helped pay his way at the University of North Carolina, where a pre-med start turned into radio, TV and motion pictures.

He met his wife Carolyn in college. No kids, yet.

"She was majoring in broadcasting and I was majoring in broad-chasing. She had nice legs, so I said, 'Marry me and let's see you naked.'"

FOR THE ELDERLY

NEWBURY PARK, Calif. (AP) — Anthony Lamb, 72, wants to do "my best trying to help out oldtimers like myself." So he has invented an electric quadracycle which he calls "Volts Wagen."

"More than 70 per cent of men and women over 65 cannot drive. They have no wheels. They are stuck, many unable to walk even to the corner grocery store. They could get there with my Volts Wagens."

The vehicle is two bikes joined together with bars with a horse-carriage-like seat.

From 'Raiders' To New Style

By ELIZABETH A. HARRIS
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Back when Paul Revere and the Raiders were a hot rock act of the '60s, the band's guitarist, Freddy Weller, amused himself playing and singing country tunes on the long bus rides between concerts.

Lean and lanky, Atlanta-born Weller was something of an oddball in the rock world. It never bothered him.

Weller, now an established country singer, admits he wasn't much of a fan of the Raiders' music. At the time, he says, he figured a job with the band "would be a hell of a stepping stone. I'd meet all sorts of influential people that I'd never meet in Atlanta."

they did a lot of synchronized dance steps that I could never do in a million years. I explained that I couldn't dance and he said to come out to L.A. and try it."

There are many record-buying Americans, aged ten to 18, who no longer remember the Raiders. But, in 1967, their photographs were in the magazines and they were idolized by hordes of screaming adolescents.

Mark Lindsey, the Raiders' lead singer, encouraged him to go after a separate recording contract on Columbia's country label and introduced him to CBS producer Billy Sherrill in 1969.

"Revere knew I liked country music so he let me do a couple of solos at each concert. It was kind of a novelty for the kids and they got off on it."

"I've always liked country music and I never saw any reason to lie about it, even back in high school," Weller said on a visit to this country music capital.

"I used to drive around with the windows rolled down listening to this little East Point, Ga., country station and blast everybody's ears," he said.

"Sherrill listened to me and gave me the usual out — 'If you can find a fit song for you, we'll get together,'" Weller said.

A few months later, the Raiders booked some studio time, but the musicians didn't show up and Lindsey said, "Since we're paying for the time, why don't we record Weller."

They cut a tape of Joe South's hit "Games People Play" and sent it to Sherrill. Weller was soon on the label as a country artist.

Poking around in a closet one day, he came across his daddy's old banjo. He asked to learn how to strum it. Pretty soon, he moved on to the guitar. By age 15 he was performing professionally in small clubs and at local functions.

In his late teens and early 20's, he was part of the Atlanta entertainment scene which produced such performers as Jerry Reed, Joe South, Jack Greene, Tommy Roe, Ray Stevens and Billy Joe Royal.

Weller, now 33, became a respected studio musician. He backed Royal on his pop smash "Down in the Boondocks".

He stayed with the Raiders for 5½ years, living a double life as rock guitarist and country singer in the latter part of his tenure.

He left them in 1971 because their record sales dropped and he was making more money working alone.

"Plus a lot of dyed-in-the-wool country fans were getting hacked off that I was working with a nasty rock 'n' roll band. I'm comfortable with the decision.

"We were all taken by surprise when 'Boondocks' hit so big. Billy Joe didn't have a band and he asked me to travel with him whenever I could. It was on one of those weekend dates that I met Revere."

Revere needed a guitarist and he called Weller in Atlanta. "I'd seen them on stage —

Now Weller, whose latest album is "Liquor, Love and Life", lives in an apartment in Atlanta, records regularly and travels the road as a solo act. He says he has no interests, prides himself on his lack of prowess in sports and enjoys doing "nothing."

"The question people always ask me is 'Why did you leave rock 'n' roll to sing country?' But that wasn't it. The real question is why did I leave country to sing rock 'n' roll."

Buffalo Meat Proves Popular

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa (AP) — For some eight years, Elmo Bevington, a resident here, has sold buffalo meat at a hotel he owns at Garfield, Colo.

"It's amazing how popular it is," he says. "Skiers eat more buffalo burgers than hamburgers."

He said his staff prepares "steaks and roasts and all the other cuts you expect to get from beef. Most people can't tell the difference between beef and buffalo meat. Buffalo meat has an advantage in being lower in cholesterol."

Pioneer In Alaska Has Memories

By KATHLEEN BEASLEY
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Anne Hobbs Purdy rode into Alaska on a pack train nearly a half-century ago, at 19 a teacher anxious for some pioneering.

Alaska today, she says, is overdeveloped — "commercialized and exploited to the nth degree" — but she won't move. "I don't want to. This coming summer I will have been there 50 years — I'm part of Alaska."

Mrs. Purdy is the coauthor of a biographical novel, "Tisha: The Story of a Young Teacher in the Alaska Wilderness." It's the product of 11 years of collaboration with author Robert Sprech and details Mrs. Purdy's life in the old mining community that is still home.

Mrs. Purdy lives in Chicken, a near-town close to the Canadian border, about 200 miles east of Fairbanks.

"There are 10 or 12 permanent residents. Where we live there are no conveniences — we have to haul water because it's permafrost and you can't sink a well. We burn wood because there's no electricity. There's no industry, so children move away when they grow up."

She arrived in Chicken from Oregon a cheechako — a greenhorn with no knowledge of the difficulties of the wild.

At first, she recalls, she was respected and befriended as the new Teacher — with capital T. "Teachers," she says, "are looked up to there. They are one of the most important people in the community, birthing, burying and marrying the residents."

But that soon changed. "When I showed I cared for a half-breed man, they weren't about to take that. Some even wanted to take my teaching credential away."

It wasn't just her love for half-Eskimo Fred Purdy, the man she would marry 10 years later. She also took in two orphaned Indian children and soon had them in class with white children. Her ideas never were accepted by other pioneers, but in the ensuing years she adopted eight more abandoned children. It was her neighbors' contempt, too, that delayed her marriage to Fred Purdy.

"Thinking about that promise (to marry) now, I almost have to smile. Trying to keep it was like making a trip by dog sled in a snowstorm: You know where you want to go, but you can't be sure how long it's going to take or where you'll wind up along the way."

Purdy died 10 years ago. "He combined the best of both races — the gaiety and laughter of the Eskimos and the good judgment of the whites. I had something that few people have — he was utterly devoted to me and I loved him completely."

She lives today with Lynn, one of her adopted daughters. Her children have all grown and gone their ways — the youngest is a geologist in Alaska at the age of 22.

"We don't live in the lap of luxury, but we live as we want, coming and going when we please, letting the dishes stack up."

And she still fights racial prejudice.

Candle Festival Is Annual Event

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — Terry Troxell is a van muralist.

In the past three years he has painted murals on some 300 vans and more than 50 pickup trucks. Murals on vans are becoming common on Washington highways.

The van muralist is 28, and has a solid background in art. He was a member of an airplane manufacturer's art department and his father is a Seattle artist.

To paint murals, he uses a template cut from thin cardboard and color-tinted lacquer with a tiny spray gun.

Muralist Has A Van Specialty

LITITZ, Pa. (AP) — Each year since 1843 America's only candle festival has been held in this small Pennsylvania Dutch community.

The event features more than 5,000 candles, placed on wood lattices over a stream in Lititz Springs Park. A Queen of Candles starts the ceremony, then Boy Scouts with torches light the huge display of tapers that extends for a quarter-mile. As a Bicentennial gesture, Hallmark Cards donated the candles for this year's 134th annual celebration.

Tabitha Won A Bar Exam In 1878 Try

By R. D. H. G. Jones, Curator North Carolina Collection Written for AP

CHAPEL HILL (AP) — The editor of the Greensboro "North State" sighed and asked, "What next?"

What next, indeed. The Civil War had been over only a few years, and already North Carolina was yielding to the social revolution creeping down from the North. Six years before, the Medical Society had admitted a woman to honorary membership; and now, in 1878, a "modest, timid, unassuming young lady" had won admission to the bar.

The "sprightly brunette, of medium size, an intellectual cast of countenance, though not strikingly handsome," was Tabitha Ann Holton, the 23-year-old daughter of a Methodist Protestant minister in Guilford County.

Dressed "neatly but not gorgeously," Tabitha appeared with her brother, Samuel Melancthon Holton, and 18 other male applicants before the staid old state Supreme Court in January, 1878. The justices lost little time in calling for a recess to figure out how to handle such a surprising development.

After recovering their courage and making a fast reference to certain statutes, the court reconvened and invited Miss Holton and her attorney, Judge Albion W. Tourgee, to present her request.

That request was simple: Tabitha wanted to take the bar examination. She hastened to explain, however, that she did not intend to practice in North Carolina; rather, she wanted to go to Kansas, where several women had practiced successfully. The latter state, however, had a two-year residency requirement, so she wanted a North Carolina license which would be recognized immediately in Kansas.

But, the judges observed, the statutes governing admission to the bar clearly used the male gender. Besides, said William H. Battle, who opposed her admission, no Southern lady should be "permitted to sully her sweetness by breathing the pestiferous air of the court room."

To the former observation Judge Tourgee argued that the mere technicality of language should not be allowed to hold back social evolution, and pointed to court decisions which had extended the meaning of the pre-war term "free white" to black men after emancipation.

In response to Battle's concern, Tourgee suggested that allowing women freedom of choice in the professions would increase their means of self-support and prevent them from falling into poverty immorality, and vice. In other words, better a female attorney than a street walker.

The five justices were impressed by both Tourgee's arguments and the modesty and charm of Miss Holton. Even more persuasive, however, was her keen knowledge of the law. They noted that she was rather timid in conversation but displayed "fine colloquial powers when brought out."

Tabitha was permitted to take the examination, and she passed with ease. Two months later when Judge McKay administered the oath to her, North Carolina became the sixth state in the union (and first in the South) to license a woman lawyer.

Miss Holton won her license without ever having attended a law school. In fact, she had no particular preceptor in her studies, though various members of the Greensboro bar had lent her books and examined her from time to time.

Even after her admission to the bar, many men were reluctant to accept the precedent. The editor of the "North State" summarized the situation this way:

"Some of the older members of the profession ... feel very badly to think a woman has become a member of the North Carolina bar; but if woman is lowered by such association, whose fault is it, her own or that of her comrades?"

A Hunter Of Meteorites

By MAXINE YEE
LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Ronald Oriti likes to search for something he might never find — all in the interest of science. Oriti is an expert on meteors and meteorites. What he looks for are fragments of meteorites.

"Meteorites are so fascinating and interesting you get a big thrill when you find one," he said. "Then add to that the scientific importance. Then the excitement of the hunt is enough to make you want to look for fragments in the most rugged places."

An astronomical lecturer at Griffith Park Observatory, his latest search effort was for remnants of a single brilliant fireball that burst over northern California shortly before midnight Aug. 23.

Hundreds of people in three states — California, Nevada and Arizona — reported seeing the flash of the meteor as it exploded in the earth's atmosphere. Some even reported hearing a "sonic boom." That convinced Oriti that fragments survived the trip to earth and can be recovered.

But even Oriti admits searching for the fragments is like looking for a needle in a haystack.

Almost all meteors burn up in the earth's atmosphere. The ones that do survive often fall in inaccessible areas — the ocean, the forests.

Using preliminary calculations drawn at the observatory, Oriti concluded the meteor exploded over northern California, possibly in the Sonora area.

He packed his bags, arrived in the Mother Lode Country several hours later and began interviewing anyone who saw or heard anything the night the fireball was sighted.

From eye-witness accounts of where the meteor was seen overhead, he calculated the "sub-end point" — the area over which the meteor burst — was somewhere near Hetch Hetchy Reservoir on the west side of Yosemite National Park.

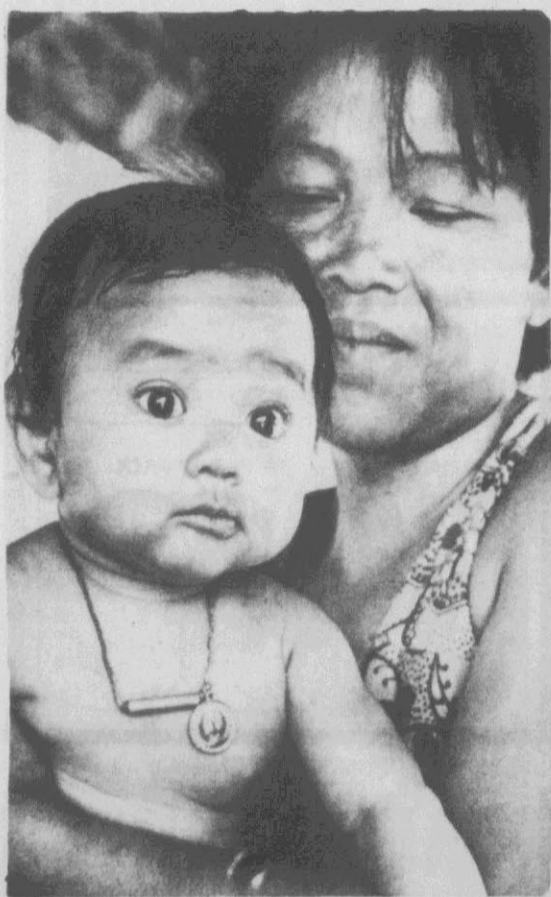

"We can determine the sub-end point to within two miles," said Oriti. "But the thing to remember is that when it breaks up, it falls in an area that sometimes covers several square miles.

"If there were 100 specimens, then we'll have a chance of finding one or two fragments. If we find anything, then we'll know the ellipse of fall (the area in which fragments were thrown from the explosion). Once we're in this area, we'll comb it with a fine-tooth comb."

"All meteorites found on U.S. government property belong to the U.S. government, specifically to the Smithsonian Institution," he said. "The Smithsonian has been calling us almost everyday. They're very anxious for us to locate something. They would be delighted if we can find several meteorites as a result of the recent fall."

Oriti's interest in meteorites spans 20 years. In that time, he has gone on several fragment-hunting trips. He has found meteorites himself in Arizona, Texas and California, and has, through various means, collected a large assortment of meteorites that are on display at the observatory.

"Once you've had the experience hunting meteorites," he said, "the subject gets in your blood."

YOUNG REFUGEE — A Cambodian mother cradles her youngster in her arms in the family's hut in a refugee camp at Aranyaprathet, 130 miles east of Bangkok, Thailand. The camp, set up after thousands of Indochinese fled to Thailand, houses some 3,000 Cambodians and has become a way station for refugees en route to countries in the West. (AP Wirephoto)

Summer Sliding Supplants Skis

By DAVID HASKELL BARTLETT, N.N. (UPI) — Wheeee... Hit that lever, bank that curve. Here comes a straightaway. Let it all out. For a few brief moments, young and old, male and female, can fantasize they are bobsledders hurtling at great speeds to victory in the winter olympics. Only it's not winter. It's summer. And the speed (tops 25 miles per hour) isn't exactly hurtling. And it's not really a bobsled, only a distant cousin. It is what's billed as the "longest slide in the world" — and that only by a few feet. The slide is located at Attitash ski area just north of North Conway, N.H., and south of the White Mountains' majestic Mt. Washington. Thad Thorne, Attitash's innovative boss, detailed the specifics of the slide, the idea for which was adopted from some similar — but smaller — slides in Europe. Actually there are two slides, winding parallel 4,200 feet down the mountainside, on and across ski trails, through thickets of pine, birch and hemlock. The slides, the first installed in this country, are constructed of molded asbestos-concrete, and the rider uses an easily controllable fiberglass sled. To reach the starting point three-quarters of the way up the mountain, riders — who on many days have stood in line for up to two hours — get aboard a double chairlift, operated at speeds lower than what would be usual for people with skis on their feet. At the top, riders place the sled in the slide's chute and sit on it, getting the feel of the lever between their legs and the pitch and roll of the sled itself. By inching forward, the sled is brought to the incline where a sign warns that the slide can be dangerous. There an instructor briefs the riders on how to go fast (push lever forward), stop (PULL BACK!) and degrees in between. Quite controllable. There have been mishaps, such as speeding sleds going up and over the edges. Thorne and his assistant Dick Jones attribute most of these accidents to youthful hotshots. "You really have to try to hurt yourself on this thing," Jones said. Then it's down, here a curve, there a curve, faster on the straights. The sense of speed is intensified because the slide is so close to the ground (and wow, do those sleds rock and roll on their specially designed rollers). Adults and kids on sleds in front and in back whoop their enjoyment. Spectators line the course cheering each new slider. In five minutes, more or less, bottom. It's over. And it was fun. For all this, Attitash gets $2.25 per ride for adults, $1.75 for kids. And they've got lines of sliders like lift lines of skiers in winter. Installation was a $450,000 project, a major expense, but the ski industry is for the first time taking a look at something they seldom ever saw — summer money. They like it. Jones said a large number of ski areas are giving serious consideration to installing the new money-maker. It might just be, Jones said, the answer to providing income to ski areas during otherwise idle summer months. He said Attitash expects to get its money back within three years. One other already exists, at Bromley, Vt., and several are definitely planned.
