Butz Out, Knebel In Economists Puzzled Economy Boggling Down

By BRIAN B. KING

WASHINGTON (AP) — John A. Knebel, acting agriculture secretary following Earl Butz' resignation, brings to the post a variety of government experience both within the bureaucracy and Congress.

law practice and then last December he was named undersecretary, the No. 2 post.

During his 10 months as undersecretary, Knebel has enjoyed good relations with Republican members of Congress and at least a working relationship with Democrats on the House and Senate agriculture committees.

As undersecretary, Knebel has been the department's principal coordinator of investigations into corruption within the nation's grain inspection system.

Unlike most top USDA officials, Knebel has no distinct ties to any farm group or university.

Shirley Backs Policy In Africa

WASHINGTON (AP) — Shirley Temple Black, former U.S. ambassador to Ghana and now President Ford's chief of protocol, says American policy in Africa is "morally impeccable."

"I'm staunchly optimistic for its future," she said in a speech Monday at the National Press Club.

By R. GREGORY NOKES
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's report later this month on economic growth is expected to show that the U.S. economy grew at a disappointing rate of about 4 per cent in the third quarter of this year. This is the opinion of economists both in and out of government who are puzzled about why the economy has bogged down after such promising growth earlier this year.

If the Oct. 19 report is disappointing, which now seems likely, it may give Democratic presidential nominee Jimmy Carter new ammunition in his attempt to use the economy as an issue in his campaign against President Ford.

A 4 per cent growth rate in the Gross National Product is considered just enough to keep up with new entries into the labor force and does nothing to dent the nation's still-high 7.9 per cent unemployment rate.

The report on the third-quarter GNP will be released by the Commerce Department just two weeks before the election on Nov. 2. The GNP measures the value of goods and services produced in the economy and is the broadest measure of overall economic performance.

Although Ford claims credit for "turning the economy around" after the deep recession, Ford's advisers privately admit that recent economic setbacks have taken much of the steam out of the claim.

There could be more bad news for Ford if the September employment report, to be released Friday, shows another rise in the jobless rate. That rate already has increased for three consecutive months.

Ford administration officials say that although the economy still has a long way to go, it nevertheless is on the right path.

"We see no reason whatsoever to alter our basic feelings that continued economic growth is still there," James T. Lynn, director of the Office of Management and Budget, said in an interview Monday.

"Very shortly, that growth will resume at a faster rate than in the last two quarters." Carter's approach is to claim that the economy is in danger of being permanently bogged down because the Ford administration has not done enough to stimulate it.

His top economic adviser, Lawrence Klein of the University of Pennsylvania's Wharton School of Economics, has said the economy may need additional stimulus of about $15 billion next year in order to maintain a satisfactory growth rate.

Grant For An Advisor

The Mid-East Commission has received a Planning Assistance Grant totaling $20,000 from the Economic Development Administration according to John W. Eden, Assistant Secretary for Economic Development with the U. S. Department of Commerce.

The grant will establish the position of a Town Advisor for the towns of Bethel, Fountain and Aurora. Although the individual to be hired through the grant will be a Mid-East Commission staff member, he will work in the three towns.

The Beaufort and Pitt County communities will be responsible for the provision of office space and secretarial services to support the Town Advisor.

The Town Advisor will be responsible for the following: providing technical assistance and advice designed to maintain and strengthen economic growth and development in the towns; coordinating the town's planning efforts with similar county and regional efforts; providing officials in the town with technical assistance concerning revenue sharing, Community Development, capital improvements and additional federal programs; giving professional assistance in budget development; advising on matters of solid waste collection and disposal, taxes, water and sewer facilities, providing professional guidance in coordination, initiation and revision of town codes; and furnishing up-to-date information on available sources of federal and state funding to address town needs.

The first year $20,000 EDA grant has been matched on the local level with $6,667.

tain a satisfactory growth rate. The stimulus could be provided through tax cuts, or increased federal spending, or both, he said.

Lynn said suggestions that new economic stimulus may be needed is "sheer speculation."

But one administration economist, Sidney L. Jones, an assistant secretary of the Treasury, said the Ford administration might have to consider some stimulus through tax cuts if the economy remains in the doldrums during the fourth quarter of the year.

Jones said he believes the economy will speed up from its second and third quarter growth rates during the final three months of the year. However, he said, the effects of a prolonged strike at the Ford Motor Co. could throw a monkey wrench into this prediction.

The GNP growth rate of about 4 per cent compares with growth of 4.3 per cent in the second quarter of the year and 9.2 per cent in the first quarter, all computed at an annual rate.

In January, the President forecast an over-all increase in the GNP of 5.9 per cent. In July, the Council of Economic Advisers raised its sights to 6.8 per cent.

But Ford said in the first debate with Jimmy Carter on Sept. 23 that the economy probably would grow about 6 per cent for the year. Jones said he thought it would be "6 per cent-plus."

The difference between 6 per cent and 6.8 per cent translates into about 400,000 jobs.

Along with the retreat from their July predictions on GNP, administration economists also have pulled back from their July forecast that unemployment would drop below 7 per cent by the end of the year.

Chairman Alan Greenspan of the Council of Economic Advisers now says this target may not be reached until early 1977.

Hubert Facing Surgery

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, reportedly in his usual good spirits, is undergoing last-minute tests in preparation for the removal of a cancerous bladder.

Barring unforeseen complications, the Minnesota Democrat could be back on his feet by early December, his surgeon says.

Humphrey, 65, was admitted to the hospital Monday and was to undergo tests today. The operation Thursday will probably last six to eight hours.

At a news conference Monday, Dr. Willet F. Whitmore said, "We have every reason to anticipate he will survive the surgery, have an uneventful convalescence and be restored to the useful political life he has led to date."

Dr. Whitmore, chief attending surgeon of the urology service at Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer center here, said the prognosis depends on how deeply the tumor has penetrated the bladder. He said surgeons won't know that until they operate.

He said that in cases involving a superficial tumor, 50 to 60 per cent of the patients at Sloan-Kettering survive to live five years or more. If the tumor has infiltrated deeply, through the wall of the bladder, the "cure" rate drops to 20 to 30 per cent.

High Costs Force Housing Unit Cut

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer

Increased building costs will apparently necessitate a reduction in the number of housing units that will be planned for the Housing Authority's 18-acre tract off Evans Street in the Southside area.

Joe Laney, executive director, reported Monday night that it now appears that the Authority will have to rework its construction budget and bring it up to date, losing approximately six to ten units planned initially for the site.

The Authority, Laney pointed out, will be building the new units, originally planned to number 117, on the 1977 market with a budget that was established by the Department of Housing and Urban Development in 1973. The increase in construction costs since 1973 will mean a reduction in units in order to meet the limits of the fixed budget, he added.

Laney and the Authority's architect, Cameron Dudley, met with HUD representatives in Greensboro on Sept. 28 to discuss the site plan for the units, it was noted, and HUD gave its tentative approval for the Authority to redesign the site plan with the number of units scaled down.

The new site plan and budget update will be submitted to HUD for consideration, Laney reported.

He informed commissioners that the Authority is still searching for a means to finance the proposed Section Eight housing effort for the elderly on E. Third Street.

Preliminary plans, which are due to be in the HUD office by next Tuesday, call for the construction of a mid-rise apartment building of (Continued on page 8)

PICKUP TRUCK DRIVER

A pickup truck driver who stopped at the scene of a car-bicyclist accident last April 21 about 7:15 p.m. on Highway 33 near the Fast Fare (then Quik-Pik) convenience store near the Greenville city limits is sought. Persons at the scene reported that the man said he saw the accident in his rear-view mirror. He turned around in the Fast Fare parking lot and went back to the scene, but did not stay until the investigating highway patrolman arrived. His eye-witness account of the accident is needed. He or anyone knowing someone who says he saw this accident is asked to call 756-6937 immediately.

HOTLINE FEEDBACK

PASS NOT NEEDED

Bob Wills, publicity person for the N. C. State Fair, reports that senior citizens need not even write for a gate pass to the fair, as was reported in last Thursday's column. "We used to issue the passes," he said, "and anyone who still has one may use it, but other persons 65 or older need only show at the gate some proof of age. A driver's license will be fine."

HOTLINE regrets it relayed not quite current information last week. The jist of the item is the same, however — persons 65 or older may get into the fair free. A special Senior Citizens' Fun Festival will be held Wednesday, Oct. 20, with entertainment in Dorton Arena beginning at 11 a.m.

Nye Points To 2 Philosophies

By SUSAN QUINN

State Labor Commissioner, T. Avery Nye visited Greenville industries Monday.

"We were just looking at the operations' work and observing the health and safety programs," Nye said.

Nye said that he feels very confident about the campaign for the office of Commissioner of Labor. The incumbent commissioner said that there is only one main issue in the campaign.

"I firmly support the Right To Work along with 85 per cent of the citizens of North Carolina. I think that this shows that I am in favor of little governmental control," he said.

"Mr. Brooks' failure to support or not support the Right To Work shows that he is in favor of more governmental control," Nye added.

"The Right To Work issue is the main issue in this campaign. In this campaign we've found that the race has developed into a nonpartisan one, not Democrat or Republican, but two philosophies which differ in the race. With my background in management, I have seen that

Congressmen Bid For Votes With 'Free Mail'

By JEFFREY MILLS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hundreds of thousands of letters from congressmen seeking reelection are being mailed to voters at public expense.

The mass mailings constitute the latest instance of what critics say is use by congressmen of the free mailing privilege to win votes.

Congressmen are prohibited from making mass mailings to their constituents within 28 days of an election. So Monday was the deadline and congressional mail facilities were busy.

At one time Monday, an employe pushing a mail-filled hamper from a hallway outside the House folding room to a loading dock said, "We've been working nights and weekends for three weeks." Another said of the mail volume, "It's unbelievable. It's as bad now as I've ever seen it."

A third was asked why there was so much mail. "It's election year," he replied.

The assistant postmaster for the House said the men were working to deliver to the Postal Service before midnight mass mailings by about 20 representatives. The Senate superintendent of mails declined to say whether large mailings had been sent by any senators.

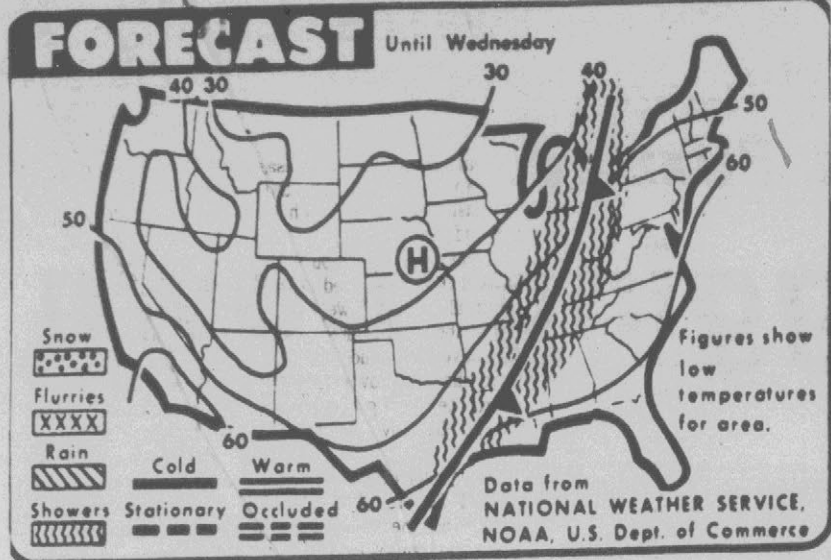

Mass mailings frequently are newsletters recounting a congressman's accomplishments and are addressed only to "postal patron." They are stuffed into every mailbox in the congressional district or, in the case of a senator, in the state.

In the place of a stamp is a frank, a facsimile of the Congress member's signature, which allows the item to move through the mail without charge.

The citizen lobby Common Cause, which has filed suit challenging the constitutionality of the franking privilege, contends the privilege is an unfair advantage for an incumbent. Common Cause has estimated the value of the free mail at $70,000 per year for a House member and up to $500,000 annually for a senator.

Labor Boss Is Convicted

BARTOW, Fla. (AP) — A federal jury has convicted a migrant labor camp boss, his brother and a camp overseer on charges of holding five workers in involuntary servitude.

Ivory Lee Wilson was found guilty Monday on eight counts of a 12-count indictment. The jury found him innocent on two counts, and two counts were dismissed. He faces a maximum 40-year sentence and a $40,000 fine.

Rosco Wilson was found guilty of two counts of involuntary servitude. Overseer Willie J. Bibbs was convicted on three counts.

U.S. District Judge W. Terrell Hodges did not set a date for sentencing.

The government based its case on statements by some of Wilson's laborers who worked in his camps in Benson, N.C., and Lake Wales.

They testified that they were lured by Bibbs to North Carolina to pick sweet potatoes with promises of wine and money. They said they were forced to remain until they repaid debts Wilson claimed they owed for food and supplies.

They said Wilson made them follow him to Lake Wales to pick citrus fruit. They said they were beaten when they tried to escape.

The sun peeked through the clouds in North Carolina today. It burned off dense fog which had covered the southeastern portion early in the morning.

A few showers fell along the upper coast.

High temperatures reached into the 70s, except for some upper 60s across the mountains.

Skies will be partly cloudy across most of the state tonight and Wednesday.

A cold front will approach late Wednesday. Scattered showers are possible then across the mountains.

Overnight temperatures will be in the upper 40s and 50s. The highs Wednesday will be in the 70s and low 80s.

The extended outlook is for a chance of showers across the state Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Daytime highs for the three days will be in the 70s, except for some 60s in the mountains. Overnight lows will be in the 50s, except for some 40s across the mountains.

Skies were cloudy to partly cloudy yesterday. A few showers developed in the northeast during the afternoon. And toward sunset a heavy shower brought almost an inch of rain to Elizabeth City. Sprinkles fell in other locations. Raleigh, Durham, Rocky Mount, Wilson and Cape Hatteras had traces.

Afternoon temperatures warmed into the upper 60s to mid 70s. They ranged from 67 at Rocky Mount and Wilson to 76 at Goldsboro and Wilmington.

ADK Week To Be Observed In N.C.

Next week, Oct. 10-16, has been declared ADK Week in North Carolina.

ADK — Alpha Delta Kappa — is an international honorary sorority for women educators. It was incorporated as a national sorority in 1947 and went international in 1955. The Alpha Chapter in Charlotte, formed in 1954, was the first in North Carolina. There are now 79 in this state.

The local chapters are the Alpha Nu chapter and the Alpha Iota chapters.

The Alpha Nu chapter awards a scholarship annually to a student in the teacher aide training program at Pitt Technical Institute. The recipient is selected from one of the four county high schools and funds are designated for tuition and books. Funding is possible through special projects undertaken by the chapter and through memorial contributions to the chapter.

The Alpha Iota chapter awards two scholarships to education majors. It has favored children of ADK members. Funding is through Alpha Iota chapter projects and contributions.

Alpha Nu sponsors a patient at Cherry Hospital, has members who do volunteer work at the local rest home, and who make donations to local rest homes and day care centers.

Alpha Iota members volunteer their services to the tutoring of special education students, contribute to the Operation Sunshine girls activity program, make favors for hospital trays, contribute to Cherry Hospital, contribute to the Community Ambassador program, present programs at local nursing and rest homes, and sponsor educational trips and provide refreshments for special education classes. It also sponsors mini-workshops on various topics of interest.

The sisters of Alpha Nu and Alpha Iota chapters of ADK meet once a year jointly to renew friendships and meet new sisters.

Legal Execution A Step Closer

By RICHARD CARELLI
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Criminal executions, absent from the United States since 1967, are now one legal step closer to returning. But some of those who fought to restore the death penalty say the nation's gas chambers and electric chairs may remain idle for years.

The Supreme Court, in refusing Monday to reconsider its decision of last July upholding the death penalty laws of Florida, Texas and Georgia, removed a federal delay of executions in those states.

The death penalty laws of other states also are expected to meet the high court's requirements, but prosecutors discounted any possibility of mass executions of death-row prisoners in the near future.

In the meantime, the court agreed Monday to hear arguments in a different case that raises the question of whether the death penalty is constitutional for the crime of rape, as opposed to crimes where another person's life is taken.

After the court denied hearings in the cases from Florida, Texas and Georgia, Texas Atty. Gen. John Hill predicted there will be no mass executions in his state and said appeal procedures could delay the first execution for two years. There are 39 men on death row in Texas.

James Whisenand, deputy attorney general for Florida, said the legal apparatus of issuing mandates to state courts, establishing execution procedures and presenting death warrants for approval by the governor would consume at least six months.

In Georgia, where an execution set for Nov. 6 was delayed indefinitely, officials said they expected the state's sentencing courts to take time to either reset execution dates or stay executions.

Florida has 71 men on death row and Georgia has 56. Nationwide, more than 600 prisoners have been sentenced to death.

The rape case that the court agreed to review involves the case of Ehrlich Anthony Coker, who wants the court to declare his ordered execution unconstitutional because his crime did not involve the taking of a human life.

Coker was sentenced to die in the electric chair for the abduction and rape of a Waycross, Ga., woman on Sept. 2, 1974. The woman had given birth to a child three weeks before her abduction.

In other cases, the court: —Sent the death penalty cases of two convicted murderers, Charles Martin Neal and Carl Albert Collins, back to the Arkansas Supreme Court for further consideration in light of the high court's recent decision. —Agreed to hear a government appeal against lower court rulings that restricted the power of agents to search for evidence in drug cases.

Student Protestors At Chowan College Warned

MURFREESBORO, N.C. (AP) — Dr. Franklin B. Lowe, dean of Chowan College, has delivered an ultimatum to dissenting Iranian student who claim they have been treated unfairly.

Lowe told a news conference Monday, "Any student who cannot live by the rules and regulations of this institution should leave and seek to find an institution with rules and regulations more to his liking."

Lowe said any student not abiding by the college's rules is subject to dismissal.

His statement followed a week of negotiations with 55 of the 65 Iranian students. They claim their lives have been threatened, that some American students and staff are hostile to them, and that they frequently are ridiculed by other students.

The Iranian group held a sit-in demonstration and a hunger strike Sept. 27 in front of the college administration building. The group disbanded after a meeting the next day in which President Bruce Whitaker promised to investigate their charges and to talk with two staff members accused of being especially hostile to Iranians.

Whitaker told the group discrimination was contrary to the college's policy.

However, Lowe said Monday that subsequent actions by the Iranians caused the college to take a strong position against further disruptions. He said that since the Sept. 28 meeting: —An Iranian drew a knife on an American student in a dormitory. —A group of Iranian students who said they didn't like the food being served in the cafeteria went into the kitchen to help themselves to other food. They demanded to see the printed rule which said they had no right to be in the kitchen area. —Iranians who have never been enrolled at the college have called the news media and have given out false information about the college. —Persons have called state law enforcement agencies claiming that the lives of Iranian students are endangered. They also have claimed that campus security guards and the college administration

Smuggling Probe Ended

NEW BERN, N.C. (AP) — A federal grand jury returned an indictment Monday that was immediately sealed by court order as the panel completed a lengthy investigation into marijuana smuggling in Pamlico County.

On the government's motion, U.S. Judge John D. Larkins Jr. ordered that contents of the indictment be kept secret until defendants are arrested.

Government attorneys refused to disclose the number of defendants or the nature of the charges contained in the indictment.

The grand jury had been investigating an operation that reportedly smuggled tons of marijuana into the coastal town of Mesic under the cover of the Mayo Seafood Co.

Earlier this year, the grand jury indicted 10 men who were arrested in the state's largest drug raid Jan. 11. Federal officers seized 22 tons of high-grade marijuana.

Two of the 10 defendants testified for the government and eight others are now serving prison terms.

George Brent Poppas, one of the defendants, was brought here from federal prison in Atlanta to testify before the grand jury in August. Poppas, who was sentenced to seven years in prison has filed for a reduction in sentence, but the government has not responded to the motion.

would offer no protection. None of the names given by callers are students enrolled at the college.

—Threats have been made to the 10 Iranian students who did not participate in the sit-in. —Efforts have been made to get the college to excuse classes that the Iranians missed during their protests. —Iranians boycotted a meeting with Whitaker Friday which the college president had requested. Leaders of the Iranian group refused to answer a reporter's questions Monday.

Mart Sees Average Up

The season average continued to increase Monday on the Greenville Tobacco Market as sales topped $1 million.

J. N. Bryan, sales supervisor of the Tobacco Board of Trade, reported that the season average improved to $114.67 per hundred pounds Monday as the market has sold 38,046,147 pounds so far $43,628,778.

Poundage yesterday amounted to 956,147, he said, and sold for $1,171,817, an average of $122.56 per hundred pounds.

Top practical price paid was $1.30 per pound with some of the top grade leaf selling for $1.31 to $1.40 per pound.

Stabilization receipts amounted to 3.05 per cent of total sales.

Offerings consisted of leaf, smoking leaf and cutters, with some lugs, primings and non descript tobacco still showing up on the warehouse floors.

A couple of weather station reporters atop Mt. Washington in New Hampshire grow salad crops under lights when they are isolated by winter's 100-mile-an-hour winds and 50-below-zero temperatures.

A Chicagoan whose grown children have left home converted their room to an indoor garden under lights. When she called to thank E. Woody Bickford for his advice on plant selection and illumination, she compared her plants to the children, saying: "At least I can talk to them, and they don't give me any back-talk."

Bickford invented and holds the patent for the first plant light. As manager of environmental lighting for the Duro-Lite Home Lighting Institute, he spends a lot of time these days answering phone calls and letters from people beginning to garden with artificial light. So far, they represent a tiny fraction of the indoor gardeners in America. A recent survey indicates that only 2.7 per cent use artificial light, although 44.5 million of the country's 69.4 million households have three or more individual plants indoors.

In an interview, Bickford said there was a time when he received two or three calls a week from giggling high school and college coeds asking for information about closet foliage. "You knew they wanted to grow 'grass' (marijuana), but they wouldn't tell you. Underground books really contain sound information on growing it in a closet."

Bickford added that he did not give these callers either the growing information or the names of the books.

A recent marketing survey on indoor gardening indicates it's not the plants, but the accessories that add up.

However, the type of plant a grower chooses also makes a difference.

"Nonflowering plants grow with less light than blossoming plants. The cost is twice as much for miniature vegetables as for nonflowering plants," he said.

That's because vegetables in general require much more sunlight to grow, mature and ripen.

"You can even grow corn if you want to, but it would cost about $30 an ear to provide all the light the plant needs. A corn plant six feet tall needs a level of light almost equal to full sunlight, about 150 watts per square foot of growing area."

Lettuce, on the other hand, can be grown fairly reasonably, he said; it is a short crop that gives a high yield for a small area. Small cherry tomatoes can also be grown successfully indoors, he said.

Bickford sees a lot of motivations for indoor gardening: part therapy, part getting away from routine, part pride or status. "It is used for psychotherapy in some mental hospitals," he said.

Sources he recommends for guidance on indoor gardening under lights include plant manufacturers, books (but borrow a library book first to see if it is worth buying, he suggested), horticultural society information services and publications, Cooperative Extension agents and free government publications.

Bickford said one thing every indoor light gardener should keep in mind is placement: shelves are not as good as direct light, and glass shelves are preferable to plastic because plastic alters light spectrum.

Mrs. Ernest Holt Gives Woman's Club Program

The Greenville Woman's Club met Friday afternoon at the club building. Mrs. Ernest Holt gave the program on "Patriotism."

She read a poem "The Flag" by Edgar A. Guest and a Bicentennial prayer "A Child of God." Mrs. Holt traced her family background and told of the loyalty of her grandmother's family as well as her own family.

Mrs. Lindsay Savage, president, opened the meeting by reading a poem "Patriotism." She also urged members to attend the District 15 meeting Thursday, Oct. 14, in Jamesville.

Mrs. W. Ed Roseveare announced that the Arts Department will meet Friday, Oct. 8, at the club building and that the international dinner will be held Nov. 5 at 6:30 p.m.

Mrs. Edward Ricks announced plans for a benefit bridge tournament luncheon to be held Oct. 27 at noon. A call meeting of the Home Life Department was held at the home of Mrs. Ricks today.

The hostesses served refreshments which included Mrs. Holt's birthday cake which was decorated as a U. S. flag.

A 4-pound roasting chicken, baked whole in a 375-degree oven, will need about 2 hours of cooking.

An Answer To Anxious Son: Help Your Sister

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1976 by Chicago Tribune N. Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: May I respond to ANXIOUS SON whose problem was his sister who phones him at all hours of the night when she's "loaded"? Because this sister lives in the same city with their elderly and ailing mother, ANXIOUS SON cannot take his phone off the hook in case the call is from or about their mother.

In our city (Columbus, Ohio) and in many others cities across the country, there are treatment centers in general hospitals where an alcoholic can be admitted for treatment just as he (or she) would be if diabetes or any other disease were present. Because alcoholism is a disease, it is progressive and can become terminal. Until the public understands these facts, and reacts to them as it would to any other disease, the cure cannot be effected, and many fine people will die unnecessarily.

Please tell ANXIOUS SON to contact his mental health association or some related agency to find out where his sister can receive the treatment she needs before too much brain damage results from her drinking.

Finally, Alcoholics Anonymous (and Al-Anon and Alateen) have made the difference between life and death to many alcoholics and their families.

MRS. L.R.B.: COLUMBUS, OHIO

DEAR MRS. B.: I agree, ANXIOUS SON should make an all-out effort to help his drinking sister instead of seeking ways to escape her disturbing phone calls. (Those calls may well be an unconscious cry for help.) However, unless the sister calls A.A., they can't help her. A.A. doesn't go out to rescue alcoholics; the alcoholics must come to THEM.

DEAR ABBY: Whatever happened to your sense of humor and fair play? Regarding the middle-aged woman working in an office with 10 men who, much to her dismay, used the lavatory marked "WOMEN".

If she wants privacy, all she has to do upon entering the lavatory is to hang a cardboard sign marked "NOT NOW!" outside the door.

The men would surely respect her wishes as well as her ingenuity.

M.N.

DEAR M.N.: Clever idea. And practical, too—unless some clown crosses out the "NOT."

DEAR HOTEL GUEST: I am not working here because I want to earn money; I just enjoy emptying wastebaskets full of peanut shells and stale beer. "Black Lung" is a small risk to take in exchange for the pleasure of dumping ashtrays all day long. But the best part is the invigorating exercise of scrubbing toilets and bathroom floors—guaranteed to turn hands sandpapery even through rubber gloves. My fondest memories will always be the thrill of pursuing those elusive little hairs all over the bathtubs.

So, you see, that tip really wasn't necessary. Please accept my deepest thanks for your generosity. The penny you left will go towards furthering my college education.

Women's Symposium Is Scheduled For Saturday

GREENSBORO — "Tensions of Transition," a one-day symposium on the problems women currently face because of changing sex roles in society, will be held Oct. 9 at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro.

The symposium will feature nationally-known author and psychologist Dr. Judith Bardwick of the University of Michigan as keynote speaker.

The program is open to the public at no charge.

"What we hope to do is let women in this area hear a discussion of the problems women nationwide are facing," said Ms. Roxie Hobson, coordinator of the project. "We'll discuss the problems and some of the possible solutions to them and then have discussion groups."

The program will begin at 9:30 a.m. in UNC-G's Cone Ballroom. The event is jointly sponsored by the University's Committee on Women's Studies, School of Home Economics and Center for visiting Scholars.

Dr. Elizabeth Pleck, assistant professor of history at the University of Michigan, will speak at 10 a.m. on "Changing Sex roles in historical perspective."

Dr. Bardwick will deliver the keynote address at 11 a.m. on the topic, "The Sex Role Revolution."

"We are very excited about having her here," said Ms. Hobson. "She is a very learned person and she has done extensive research on the problems women and their families face because of the changes in sex roles."

After a lunch break, the symposium will feature a panel discussion on "Tensions of Transition." Panelists will be Dr. Jacquelyn Gaebelein of the UNC-G Department of Psychology; Dr. Jane Faily, professor of psychology at the UNC-CH School of Medicine; and Dr. Mary Abu Saba, counseling psychologist at UNC-G.

The afternoon also will have a series of discussion groups in which the panelists and two speakers will answer individual questions.

The symposium is one of five scheduled for Greensboro's colleges and universities. Funded by a $5,284 grant from the North Carolina Humanities Committee, the series will run through next spring.

A parking garage in Kansas City has a little button that you push and an attendant helps you find your car.

I don't know about you, but I haven't been so excited since I saw a sale on black towels.

It's about time. For years, cars have been wandering away from where their owners parked them. They don't get far... just enough to drive a motorist crazy.

The "color" system never worked for me. Why would anyone assume that a woman who can't remember what car she drove would remember that she parked it on the "yellow" level, in the "E" section?

There's only one system I know that women use and it's quite ineffective. It's the old association trick. I am parked on the green level in the I section, ergo, my grass is green and we use iron on it to keep it that way. Iron begins with an I. Thus, as we leave the car I tell the girls, "All we have to remember is that the grass is green because of the iron and we know where we parked the car."

Seven hours later, as we return from shopping, I turn to Eunice and say, "What was it I was supposed to remember?"

"When?" asks Eunice blankly.

"When I parked the car."

"There was oil leaking underneath."

"No, I'm trying to remember where I parked it... something about color. Something growing."

"It was your son who outgrew his pants."

"Was it living?" asks Diane.

"Yes."

Is it a movie star?"

"Is it bigger than a bread box?"

"I think so. Wait a minute. I got it! Grass!"

"And what color is your grass?" asked Eunice.

"Brown."

"And how did it get that way?"

"Neglect."

"It's simple," she said. "We're parked on the brown level in the N section."

Kansas City is 1,200 miles from my home... but it'll be worth it to commute.

Couple Honored On Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Richard G. Joyner were honored Saturday afternoon at a 25th anniversary reception.

Receiving guests were their children, Mrs. Bruce E. Johnston of Grimesland, Mrs. Roger Harris of Winterville, Mrs. Terry Bonner of Aurora, and Richard Joyner Jr. of the home. The honoree was remembered with a corsage of white carnations with silver ribbons.

The refreshment table featured a floral arrangement of white and silver and lighted candles. The table was overlaid with a cloth with a lace border. Punch was poured and the three tiered wedding cake was served.

Gifts were displayed on a table centered with silver praying hands and was covered with a white and silver cloth.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Joyner and Mrs. Ina Briley, parents of the honored couple, said good-byes to the friends and relatives attending.

Ford Failed To Act Decisively

Sec. of Agriculture Earl Butz has resigned after being cited as the source of a obscene and tasteless joke about blacks.

The comments attributed to Butz were totally uncalled for either in public or private conversations, and certainly we should expect more of our high government officials than this.

In resigning, Butz, said this was his own decision.

"It is what I and Mrs. Butz felt would be in the best interests of the president and his election campaign." He said it was the price he paid for a "gross indiscretion in a private conversation."

"By taking this action," he continued, "I hope to remove even the appearance of racism as an issue in the Ford campaign."

"President Ford is a decent man with high moral values, who insists that every American be treated equally and with dignity."

We hope that, as Butz maintains, the joke does not truly reflect his real attitude on the black race, and we are certain that it does not reflect the attitude of the administration.

What does concern us is that we had a situation in the president's cabinet that called for firm action and the best President Ford could come up with was a reprimand.

Ford should have acted promptly to dismiss Butz after it was confirmed to the president's satisfaction that the comments had indeed been made by Butz. Instead the president delayed and finally left it to Butz to resign.

Firing a top cabinet official is difficult, but the public expects its president to act decisively in difficult situations.

President Ford didn't in this case and it is not to his credit.

Sabotage Is Matter For Deep Concern

The sabotaging of around 60 pieces of heavy equipment at the Morehead state docks over the weekend is deplorable.

The wanton damage is of particular concern due to the labor dispute which has plagued the Morehead docks recently.

The SBI is conducting an investigation of the damage, and we hope nothing is left undone to bring the investigation to a successful conclusion.

Envoys Will Listen

By ARTHUR L. GAVSHON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Most Americans listening as President Ford and Jimmy Carter debate big world issues probably will be concerned more with workaday problems of rents, food prices and taxes than with such concepts as "nuclear overkill" or the future of white supremacy in faraway Africa.

But it will not be so with thousands of envoys who staff 128 foreign diplomatic missions in Washington and nearly 150 delegations at United Nations headquarters in New York.

Trained in the esoterics of international relations, they will, through the night, be signaling their reports, analyses, interpretations back to their home capitals.

Both Ford and Carter will be aware of this. And the knowledge will impose on each even greater constraints than those that derive from their respective political party commitments. This is because they will be discussing America's vital interests around the world. Interests each contender is pledged to preserve.

The listening diplomats, then, will be alert for clues that might suggest even the slightest switch in the foreign policy of superpower America. Certain switches could affect the stability of rocky regimes, the budgets of nations on the brink of bankruptcy, the orientation of middle-road governments big or small. The lives of millions could be affected.

The campaigners, even focusing mainly thus far on home affairs, have already through some statements generated a fallout of international unease and resentment on certain issues.

Some examples: —Early in 1974, Ford promised Panama he would continue plans to negotiate a new Canal Zone treaty "as quickly as possible." Panamanians were threatening sabotage if they could not regain 559 square miles of territory and oper-

What The Teachers Think

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH — Earlier this year, as the people of North Carolina set about pondering why children aren't learning to read as well as they should, it was suggested that classroom teachers might hold the answers.

So a discussion seminar was set up at which 35 teachers — coming from all sections of the state, and different grade levels — were temporarily relieved of their various duties as hall monitors, chaperones, lunchroom attendants, and playground supervisors; to talk about reading.

While the teachers came up with a host of recommendations and a long list of problems, the experience only proves that teaching reading is extremely complex and there are apparently no simple answers.

Far Afraid
Some of the recommendations are far removed from the question of reading, getting into traditional fields of conflict between teachers and administrators — items such as who controls decision-making in the schools; free flow of information; teacher access to budget decisions, etc.

But in most of their ponderings, the teachers brought to bear their background and experience, singular insights, and ideas to put forth a number of suggestions.

From that experience and other seminars held during the past few months will come reports and eventual recommendations to the General Assembly and the State Board of Education which, in coming years, may change the system in public schools.

Here is an overview of the recommendations put together by the classroom teachers in the seminar sponsored by the Learning Institute of North Carolina and Citizens United for the Improvement of Reading:

VALUES — push the value of reading by educating all school people, parents, and citizens to needs and ways to improve; maintain professionalism in teacher ranks by upholding Teacher's Code of Ethics and "Joint acceptance by all teachers of the responsibility for helping to support the N. C. Teacher Tenure Act."

College Work
TEACHER EDUCATION — All school personnel (not just elementary teachers) need preparation, and teacher-training ought to be action oriented and involve close contact with children rather than primarily lecture and textbook oriented; present school people need (within five years) updating through inservice training; and administrators should be more involved in actual classroom experience.

SELF CONCEPT — Use individualized teaching, and use honest evaluation which views error as part of learning, not a defect.

PLANNING TIME — Teachers should have unencumbered planning time each school day.

TEACHERS IN DECISION-MAKING — Set up continuous teacher representation in policy-making on schedules, funds, attendance, promotion, material purchasing and all other matters affecting the student and the instructional environment; and that such decisions not be "locked into place" but be subject to review.

INFORMATION CLOSURE — Establish a permanent system for all teachers to get information on decisions affecting students, such as funding, scheduling, textbook selection, so that teachers will be in position to help make decisions.

READING PLAN — Provide a comprehensive plan in each system, including a reading director in each unit, a coordinator in each school, a list of resources and materials for each teacher, more aides in the classes to reduce pupil load, and a student reading plan.

The student reading plan would include a record each year showing reading skill level and progress, list of child's interests, types of literature the child is seeing, and special notes about family and personal experiences.

The Whitewash-Mixing

WASHINGTON — The U. S. Commission on Civil Rights delivered itself a few weeks ago of a full-blown report on desegregation of the nation's public schools. The report had a curiously antiseptic aroma, as if the authors had just gargled with mouthwash. The general impression was that desegregation is being achieved without offending anyone.

An explanation has just come providently to hand. The telltale aroma wasn't mouthwash; it was whitewash. A reader in Minneapolis supplies a revealing letter of amplification.

The commission's report was based in substantial part upon a series of public hearings held around the country. The report goes to some pains to describe these hearings and the "evidence" obtained at them. The purpose was to gather "accurate information." The idea was to cover "the entire spectrum of views and experiences concerning school desegregation."

As part of this elaborate search for "accurate information," four state advisory committees also held "open meetings." Preparations for these state meetings "resembled that of the public hearings." One such session was held in Minneapolis April 22-24.

The session was as rigged as a clipper ship. On February 11, Clark G. Roberts, regional director of the Commission on Civil Rights, sent a letter to Minneapolis School Superintendent Donald Bevis. He wanted to explain the national school desegregation study.

"As you know," Roberts began, "The United States Commission on Civil Rights is essentially a fact-finding or research agency." With disarming candor, Roberts went on to explain precisely what kind of facts the commission wanted to find, and to explain the purpose of the commission's research.

"The commission has undertaken this major effort," Roberts wrote, "to demonstrate to the nation that school desegregation can be effectively accomplished."

Let us pause to hail the finding of facts. Let us give praise to honest research.

Roberts requested the superintendent's cooperation in this admirable undertaking. He asked for the help of "selected individuals within the school system." It appeared that Robert L. Williams, a member of the school superintendent's staff, had "indicated concern about an open forum." Roberts undertook to dispel that concern.

"The study is not designed," he said, "to increase the visibility of anti-desegregation forces. We are Claims of victory from both sides made a question mark today of the heart of the Spanish Civil War.

The government contended that its "do or die" militia had raged down the main highway southwest of Madrid, taking the important junction of Maqueda, and fought their way on west to a point near Santa Olalla.

But the insurgents stated that their southern planking column, having taken Ilescro and cut the southern supply line to Madrid at a point 22 miles south of the capital, had then cut abruptly toward Naval-carnero, on the Madrid-Maqueda road.

The insurgents did not concede the militia's recapture of Maqueda.

The fifth game of the World Series went ten innings this afternoon as the Giants staged their second win of the series by a score of 5-4.

After losing the first contest to the Giants, the Yankees capped three wins in a row by taking yesterday's game, 5-3.

THE INSIDE REPORT

Levi OK'd Investigation

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — While Watergate Special Prosecutor Charles Ruff is the object of some public wrath and much private outrage by Republicans, his politically murderous investigation of President Ford's bygone congressional campaigns would not have been possible were it not for the approval of Atty. Gen. Edward Levi.

The special prosecutor's limited charter requires a specific request from the Attorney General to rummage around Ford campaigns back in Grand Rapids. Indeed, Ruff's skeleton special prosecution force would have been closed down long ago save for Levi's insistence that it stay.

Astonishing though it seems, this role by the Attorney General was unknown at the White House. Dr. Levi, attempting to be the most non-political Attorney General in history, is completely detached from the administration. Thus, there has been no conversation between the Attorney General and the White House over what becomes of the special prosecutor, much less whether the prosecutor was about to investigate the President.

Nothing better reflects the presidency's institutional weakening under Gerald Ford than Levi's role as quasi-independent Attorney General. While Mr. Ford is inclined to delegate broad policymaking powers to all cabinet members, the strong-willed former University of Chicago president is special — virtually autonomous in the post-Watergate Justice Department. One byproduct of that autonomy is the special prosecutor's Ford investigation, which could well determine the presidential election.

Beneath their facade of nonchalance, presidential aides were frantic about politically corrosive news accounts of the special prosecutor probing possible laundered money in Grand Rapids. Privately, they bitterly accuse Democrat Ruff of playing politics.

But officials in both the Justice Department and the special prosecution force agree that the prosecutor's charter — limited to investigating the Watergate conspiracy, the 1972 presidential election and Richard M. Nixon — does not cover Mr. Ford's congressional campaigns. Ruff's sole statutory authority for the investigation is the catch-all category of the prosecutor's charter covering "other matters which he consents to have assigned to him by the Attorney General."

Both Levi and Ruff are unusually tight-lipped, so it is unknown who initiated the Ford investigation. But whether it started at the Justice Department or the special prosecution force, the central point is this: Ruff could not have dispatched a single FBI agent without Levi's specific request.

Since investigations of Mr. Ford's finances preceding his vice-presidential confirmation found no dirt, the timing of the present inquiry has raised eyebrows. "I wouldn't conduct an investigation of this kind at this time myself," said former Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski, adding he would "rather let the investigation be conducted after the election." But Levi, priding himself on being totally non-political, would bridle at such a thought.

Moreover, Justice Department insiders confide that Levi considers himself mandated by Mr. Ford to

To the editor:

About six months ago as commander of VFW Post 7032 on Mumford Road, I answered a question in Hotline about our flag-flying procedures and I pointed out the problem we have with people stealing the flag. Now I'd like to ask a question of the people of Greenville and surrounding areas — what kind of person would steal an American flag? Some time later Friday, Oct. 1, we had another flag stolen. It's ironic that 200 years after our forefathers fought for the right for there to be an America, there are some people who would steal the universal symbol of freedom for the entire world. VFW Post 7032 intends to keep the flag flying 24 hours a day to show our pride in being Americans and as a reminder that being a good American citizen is a fulltime job. We ask the cooperation of every citizen to helping in keeping our flag flying proud.

A Winning Touch Is Necessary

By STEPHEN FOX
AP Business Writer
SAN DIEGO (AP) — Don't envy your buddy for making a killing in the stock market — he's probably unlucky in love.

The very qualities that make a stock speculator successful often work against him in developing a close relationship with a woman, according to Dr. Sandra Levy Ceren, a clinical psychologist who studied stock market winners and losers in a series of tests at United States International University.

Successful speculators, says Dr. Ceren, often exhibit "tremendous self-involvement, so much so that it precludes them getting close to someone else."

Dr. Ceren explains that the predominant characteristic of the stock market whiz is self-confidence. This, she adds, allows them to be able to take greater risks because they have such self-confidence in their ability to make successful decisions. They act very quickly — they don't have to hem and haw over whether to sell a stock."

Losing speculators, Dr. Ceren found, tend to be more conventional, insecure, impulsive, easily discouraged and less self-disciplined than winners. In addition, they often exhibit what the psychologist found to be an unconscious but powerful need to lose.

Dr. Ceren devised a series of tests using 30 pennies per person as a way of keeping score. Those who guessed right on the movements of an imaginary trio of stocks were rewarded with pennies. Those whose guesses were wrong lost some of their pennies.

While most of the participants in the tests were quite wealthy, those who proved to be successful speculators held onto their pennies even after the tests were over, Dr. Ceren says. The unsuccessful speculators returned them. One man, a 64-year-old millionaire, even wound up crawling around under a park bench looking for two or three of his pennies that he had dropped. Another "winner" asked Dr. Ceren to frame his pennies for him.

She also cites the case histories of several speculators who amassed large fortunes in the market after the turn of the century. One, a meek college professor, made more than $1 million on stocks but lived on $1 a day. Another, a janitor and handyman, left $4 million behind when he died in self-imposed poverty.

Successful speculators often say that their actions were guided by "hunches," but Dr. Ceren says they were probably reacting to some bit of information they themselves were unaware of when they made their brilliant moves.

The psychologist has devised a personality test composed of 100 questions that is designed to tell a person whether he or she has the qualities needed to be a successful stock speculator. After taking it, and after observing the characteristics of men who have made large sums of money in the stock market, she says she has concluded: "I'm afraid I'm just one of those people who don't have the winning touch."

ational control of the canal. Ellsworth Bunker, chief U.S. negotiator, spoke gravely of the possibility of a "new Vietnam," unless there was agreement. But deferring to hawkish sentiment among Republicans, the President has stalled and negotiations have been suspended.

—In July, Carter spread dismay among key European members of NATO by expressing skepticism toward the existing nuclear strategy of the allies. He told an interviewer he does not believe in the real possibility of limiting nuclear war.

—The Democrats angered Arabs by adopting a policy plank promising to recognize Jerusalem as Israel's capital. This led Arab ambassadors to send a telegram of protest to the party convention in New York.

In reaching their conclusions, the envoys of most of the world's governments will have to allow for the special constraints under which Ford and Carter will be speaking.

Ford, they will recognize, has to protect his party flanks, knowing that any overt expression of softness toward the communist world, might cost him the active support of Reagan's followers.

By KERNAN TURNER Associated Press Writer MEXICO CITY (AP) — Hundreds of young Americans soon will be released from Mexican jails as the result of initiatives taken by President Luis Echeverria to further prison reforms his administration set in motion six years ago.

Just two days before American prisoners went on a hunger strike last month, Echeverria announced he had sent legislation to the Mexican Congress which would give drug violators the right of parole and would amend the constitution to make it possible to sign prisoner exchange agreements with other countries.

The hunger strike fizzled as prisoners began counting the days until they would be eligible for parole.

An estimated 100 out of 572 jailed Americans quit eating for 36 hours, but strike organizers called an end to the protest after praising the Mexican government and accusing the U.S. State Department of delaying its response to a Mexican prisoner-exchange proposal.

The prisoners were elated at the prospect of early release from their jail terms, which average about six years. Their hopes have risen even more since U.S. and Mexican negotiators met after the strike and announced they had set November as a target date for reaching agreement on a draft treaty.

The treaty would allow Mexicans in American jails, about 2,000 of them, and Americans in Mexican prisons, to serve their sentences in their home countries.

Americans have been winding up in Mexican jails ever since Operation Intercept, a U.S.-financed campaign against the smuggling of drugs into the United States, began in 1969. Many of the Americans were arrested at the Mexico City airport and charged with possessing cocaine as they arrived from Colombia or other South American countries.

They have complained repeatedly of alleged torture, forced confessions and other civil rights violations when they were arrested. The U.S. State Department said an investigation after a 1974 hunger strike confirmed 250 prisoner complaints.

Dr. Sergio Garcia Ramirez, under secretary of government system, appears to be the force behind the reforms, which include a major prison construction program.

inaugurated by the Mexican government. (AP Wirephoto)

He is an international prison reform advocate and is one of the 15 members of a United Nations committee of experts on prevention of crime and treatment of delinquents.

Garcia Ramirez said in a recent interview that Mexico has invested $104 million in new facilities since Echeverria took office in 1970.

"Mexico's reform measures are based on the concept that what is accomplished through imprisonment is in no way the exercise of vengeance — an idea which would be archaic today — nor is it the pure and simple detention of delinquents. Rather it is the concept of social rehabilitation," he said.

avoid any faint resemblance to John Mitchell. Thus, no matter who brought up derogatory information about the President, and no matter how far-fetched, Levi would predictably ask Ruff to investigate. He would neither advise nor consult the White House.

Today's special prosecution force is a shadow of its former self with only two full-time lawyers plus Ruff (who teaches part-time at Georgetown University). Yet, its name still evokes public memories of its glory days under Archibald Cox and Jaworski. Thus, news accounts of a special prosecutor's investigation are far more lethal than of an inquiry through regular Justice Department channels.

Henry Ruth, Ruff's predecessor and Jaworski's successor as special prosecutor, wanted to close down the office last year and let the Justice Department handle remaining Watergate appeals. Levi adamantly refused — as usual, without consulting the White House.

Levi's attitudes about a permanent special prosecutor are murky, since he has been on both sides of legislatively creating the post. But critics believe he kept Ruth from closing down the force so that the Levi Justice Department would be free of future political headaches — such as Congressman Jerry Ford's campaign finances.

In fact, Republican anger is directed wholly at Ruff, not Levi. Sen. Robert Dole calling Ruff's probe "nothing but election politics" produced nothing but a retort from Democratic National Chairman Robert Strauss. Republican Congressmen have pondered summoning Ruff to state his intentions to the House Judiciary Committee but fear the move would backfire.

Meanwhile, gnawing terror envelops the White House as they see the phantom investigation stopping Mr. Ford's momentum and neutralizing Jimmy Carter's mistakes. "I wish to hell they'd give us a verdict — 'guilty' or 'innocent' — before the election," one frustrated senior presidential aide told us. Self-constrained from finding out what's happening from the special prosecutor or even his own Attorney General, President Ford becomes a chief of state with Kafkaesque overtones.

not attempting to do anything that would have a negative impact on the school system."

Roberts was full of reassurances. "This is not a forum for the appearance of just anyone who wishes." Individuals permitted to speak at the open meeting would first be interviewed by the commission staff. Roberts identified the "types of individuals" he was interested in hearing. He wanted one pro-desegregation school board member, one anti-desegregation board member, and any board member whose views on desegregation had become more favorable since implementation of desegregation.

Once a token "anti" had been provided for, Roberts wanted, in effect, a hallelujah chorus. He wanted a minority administrator, a representative of the teachers' union, two student leaders (one minority and one white), and two principals from schools "where problems are greatest, or where problems were expected but did not occur, and at schools where desegregation is most successful." He wanted influential white and minority religious leaders. He wanted "officials of NAACP or other major civil rights organization."

In brief, the Civil Rights Commission wanted a dear little dumbshow, a charming charade, an open meeting effectively closed to dissenting views and intrusive remarks. Given such "evidence," it is scarcely to be wondered that the commission's final report found that desegregation is ducky-wucky, and that almost everyone just loves it.

Probably this whitewash job is harmless, for the commission had little credibility to begin with, but the report recalls a famous work of history published in Savannah about 1871. It was entitled, if memory serves, "An Impartial, Nonpartisan, and Unbiased Account of the recent War Between the States, compiled from a Confederate Point of View."

"Cash-Flow" and your lifelong battle of income vs. outgo.

That first paycheck can seem pretty big, until you start paying for your own food, clothes, and housing.

The median price of a home in the U.S. today is $39,300—something to consider when you need room for kids.

Sending kids through four years of college can cost anywhere from $10,000 up, depending on where they go to school.

In a working life, you make hundreds of thousands of dollars. So you shouldn't have money worries when you retire.

Over your lifetime, you'll have a lot of money coming in.

And a lot of money going out. Sometimes, you'll have more than you need. Other times, you won't have enough.

And, in this lifelong battle of income vs. outgo, a bank can help you in a lot of ways. By looking at things more from your point of view. And less from the bank's point of view.

NCNB INTRODUCES LIFETIME "CASH-FLOW" BANKING.

"Cash-Flow" is a new way of banking designed to work for you, whatever your situation.

Whether you're a 20-year-old with your first job, or a couple planning your retirement.

It considers more than just the banking business you do; it also considers all the things that affect your financial life. So we've put together booklets covering eight different situations.

They're designed to help you with everyday finances, long-range planning and putting NCNB services to work for you.

Then, our people are trained to do more for you than open an account or make you a loan. They'll answer your questions and help you find the best way to handle things. (If they can't answer your questions, they'll find someone who can.)

Finally, our services have been designed to be flexible enough to help you make the most of the money you make.

HOW TO START GETTING THE MOST OUT OF A BANK.

One of our booklets fits your situation right now and it's yours for the asking.

So stop by any NCNB office and pick one up. Or just call our toll-free number, 800-822-8855 and we'll send you a copy.

Either way, do it soon. With all the money you earn, save, spend and borrow over a lifetime, it pays to get the most out of your bank.

And, we think you'll get more when your bank is NCNB.

Green, Hiatt Argue Candidacies Before Gathering

By DAVID R. NELSEN
Associated Press Writer
PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Whether North Carolina voters prefer experience or a fresh face in the state's No. 2 elective post will be a major factor in choosing the next lieutenant governor, the two major candidates for that office implied in a face-to-face debate Monday.

House Speaker Jimmy Green, Democratic hopeful, told the North Carolina Association of Broadcasters that "this job... very closely parallels the job I presently hold."

He said he would be an effective leader of the state Senate because he knows most of those who will be in the Senate and is aware of their strengths and weaknesses.

Republican candidate Bill Hiatt saw it differently, saying, "The people of this state and the people of this nation have a tendency to be against the incumbent," implying that the voters will reject Green because of his 16 years of legislative service, the last two years as speaker of the House.

Monday's 30-minute debate was a prelude to today's hour-long confrontation between gubernatorial hopefuls David Flaherty, the Republican, and Democrat Jim Hunt.

The gubernatorial debate will be televised later by most of the state's television stations, but the Green-Hiatt debate was not.

Few significant differences surfaced in Monday's confrontation as both Hiatt and Green restated their conservative beliefs.

Hiatt took Green by surprise in response to the first question when he said Green favors decriminalization of marijuana because he supports the state Democratic platform, which calls for relaxed penalties for possession of marijuana for personal use.

"Certainly, I said nothing about legalizing marijuana," Green responded, obviously miffed.

One of the major differences emphasized Monday was selection of the state school board and superintendent of public instruction.

Green said the governor should appoint the superintendent with legislative approval. He also said the legislature should have the right to remove a superintendent who does not perform adequately.

The board also should be appointed by the governor, he said, because it would not be fair to require a person to bear the expense of seeking public election to a post that has little or no pay.

Hiatt said the school board members should be elected by congressional district with the board then choosing its superintendent.

For the most part the candidates agreed. Both Green and Hiatt supported career education with Hiatt calling for junior high school students to have the opportunity to begin training for a trade.

Green said he fears there is duplication in high school and community college training for the trades and added that the lieutenant governor should work to eliminate any such duplication through his position on the state school board.

Both candidates supported higher pay for teachers and state workers but opposed new taxes.

Both also strongly opposed increasing North Carolina's two-cent per pack cigarette tax. Green said he believes a doubling of the tax would barely provide enough money to give teachers a 1 per cent pay increase.

"The people of North Carolina would be opposed to any new taxes and as lieutenant governor I would be opposed to any new taxes," Hiatt said.

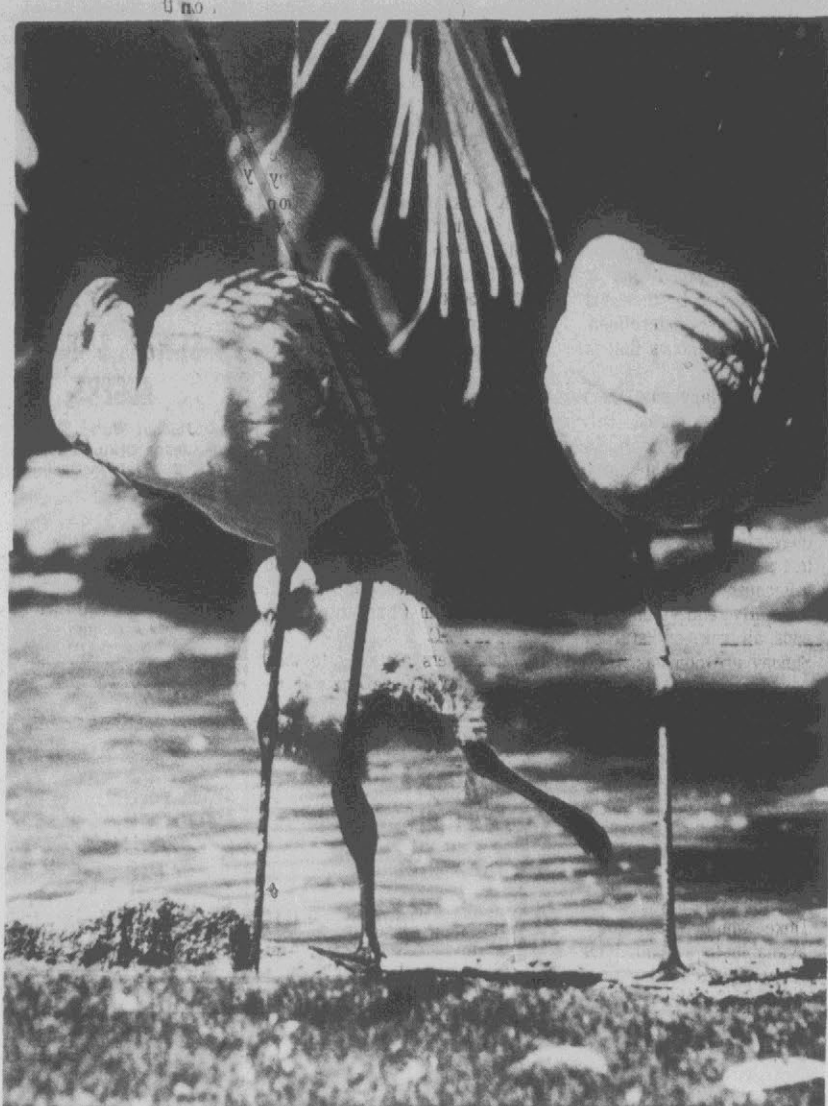

The candidates also restated their belief that a hard line on crime is the best way to deal with the problem and that more money must be spent on prisons so that offenders can be punished.

Both also reiterated their opposition to the proposed equal rights amendment to the U. S. Constitution, but vowed to give the issue a fair hearing if it reaches the Senate in the 1977 session.

Andrew Jackson became the first Democratic president of the United States when he was inaugurated March 4, 1829.

DEMOCRATIC HEADQUARTERS... were officially opened Monday at 3012 Memorial Drive with little Ashley Jones, granddaughter of Rep. Walter Jones, cutting the ribbon. Also taking part were Betty Speir, Pitt Democratic chair-

Martin Bd. To Favor Board Apply For Fund Be Elected

WILLIAMSTON — Martin County Commissioners Monday approved making an application for Youth Services Fund. The fund is one that would provide a center for delinquent children in a three county area of Martin, Bertie and Beaufort Counties.

Another fund request application approved by commissioners is for grant money to conduct an Industrial Site feasibility study through EDA.

Following a request by a representative of the Martin County Arts Council, commissioners gave the council permission to use the Biggs Home in Williamston as a council center. No funds are involved, and the council would make improvements with funds that might be received from other sources.

No action was taken at Monday's meeting on a request by the senior citizens group for additional space at the old General Hospital building. Commissioners are to further study the request.

Following an inspection of city buildings by an OSHA team, a report of violations found was made by Thurman Ange on the committee's findings. Commissioners then appointed a local OSHA committee, naming Ange as chairman with Kenneth Daniels, Kenneth Modlin and Kader Ward as committee members. The committee has been instructed to proceed with steps to correct reported violations.

Three new members were appointed to the Martin County Action agency. The three are Kenneth Daniels (secretary, replacing C. M. Cobb), Leon Allen and Darrell Johnson.

Commissioners also passed a resolution proclaiming this week as 4-H Club week.

The Greenville Area Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors has forwarded to the Greenville City Council a resolution calling for the City Council to establish an elective system for the Greenville City School Board.

The policy of the Chamber was made after a majority of the Chamber members responses were tallied at a board of directors meeting.

"We give credit to the State and Local Affairs Committee of the Chamber of Commerce for the diligent work in this matter that promoted a referendum in the Chamber membership for a policy position on the matter of where the Greenville Area Chamber of Commerce favored an elected Greenville City School Board in lieu of an appointed school board for the city," Don Collier, Chamber of Commerce President said.

Workshop Is Being Held

A Soil Compaction Workshop is being held in Greenville today and tomorrow with about 60 participants representing towns and cities in eastern North Carolina.

The workshop is co-sponsored by the North Carolina Chapter of the American Public Works Association, an affiliate of the North Carolina League of Municipalities in Raleigh, and by the Carolina Asphalt Pavement Association.

City Manager Jim Caldwell opened today's session at 10 a.m. at the Moose Lodge. Mayor Percy Cox was expected to address the group today and several other city officials were expected to be involved in the workshop.

Today's afternoon session is an on-site demonstration of methods to improve ditch-digging and street construction, especially soil compaction.

The group will meet Wednesday morning at 9 in the City Council chambers to provide a wrap-up and discuss new methods. The workshop will end at 12 noon.

Each of the participants is an employee of his respective city government. Most of them are street superintendents or foremen of street crews.

Found Body Of Woman

KINGS MOUNTAIN, N.C. (AP) — The woman operator of a penny arcade concession at the Cleveland County Fair in Shelby was found stabbed to death Monday night near a motel where she had been a guest.

Police Chief Earl Lloyd said that the body of the woman, 43-year-old Rosemary Knauer of Daytona, Beach, Florida, would be sent to the state medical examiner's office in Chapel Hill to determine if she had been raped. The chief said she had been stabbed in the neck and her clothes were partially torn off.

No arrests were made immediately. Police will question motel guests today to learn if they had seen anything suspicious.

The chief said the body was found 75 feet behind the Kings Mountain Motor Inn after her husband, Dennis, who was operating a concession at another fair, and was not a guest at the motel, notified police his wife was missing. He had learned from a friend that she had not shown up Monday morning at the concession in Shelby 13 miles from Kings Mountain.

The chief called the State Bureau of Investigation to assist in the case.

Deductions Up

Both the maximum amount of earnings subject to Social Security tax, and the maximum amount to be paid by an employee have been increased, according to the Internal Revenue Service.

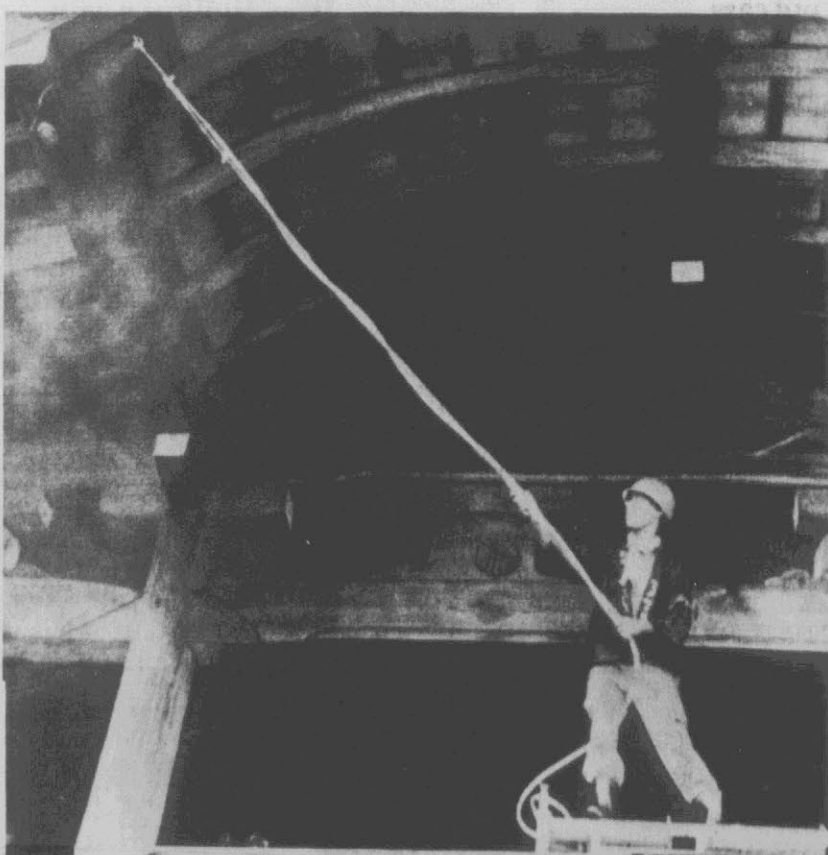

This IRS reported that the maximum amount of earnings subject to Social Security tax in 1976 is now $15,300, up from $14,100 in 1975.

The maximum amount an employee must pay for 1976 has been increased to $895.05, it was reported, while for self-employed persons the maximum amount is $1,208.70.

Utility Companies Offer N.C. Peak Pricing Plan

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Housewives in North Carolina may find it cheaper in the future to do their washing and ironing after everyone else has gone to bed.

Major utilities in the state have filed proposed time of day, or peak load, rates.

The Duke Power Co., Carolina Power & Light Co. and Virginia Electric Power Co. did so Monday in accordance with a directive from the state Utility Commission.

Rates would be higher rates for electricity used during peak load periods and lower for during off-peak hours. This a customer would be motivated to use electricity other than at peak periods of demand. The commission is seeking to determine if peak-load pricing is a workable way to level out the demand for electricity and reduce the need to build new generating capability. Such programs have been used in other parts of the country, but the results have not been conclusive.

The utilities, as ordered by the commission, filed a set of rates for a mandatory program and another set for a voluntary program.

If implemented on a mandatory basis, the time-of-day program would raise many individual power bills, while at the same time lowering others.

The amount of change, in either direction, would depend on the individual customer pattern of electrical use. Duke officials said that in any event the total revenue to the utility was estimated to remain the same.

Duke Power said it could not recommend a mandatory program because it would force many customers who could not make significant changes in their lifestyles to pay substantially higher rates all at one time without the opportunity for gradual change.

Neither of the programs would prevent rates from going up in the future, Duke officials stressed. They said continued inflation would push rates up regardless of whether a peak load pricing program were implemented.

The company added, however, that if the program were successful, rate increases in the long run would be lower.

Customers, by their pattern of use, have determined the peak pricing hours that would be in effect.

The company said the peak load pricing period between June and September that would apply under the mandatory program is 11 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Between October and May, there are two periods — 6 a.m. to 1 p.m., and 5 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Because the use of electricity is greatly reduced on the weekends, all hours on Saturday and Sunday are nonpeak, the company said.

The peak period would be shortened under the volunteer program. Under this system, Duke recommended a shortened summer peak pricing period of 1 p.m. to 7 p.m. and a shortened winter peak of 7 a.m. to noon.

If the commission so orders, Duke would make the rates available to a limited number of customers willing to accept time of day billing for at least one year.

The company said it would carefully monitor and evaluate the results.

Duke is not relying solely on time of day pricing to manage peak loads, officials said. Many programs already in operation are beginning to produce results, they said.

Officials estimate that in 1976, 150,000 kilowatts were cut from the peak by its load management program. The goal by 1988 is 1,000,000 kilowatts, the company said.

Duke also announced the purchase of 100 advanced experimental meters suitable for time of day metering and other purposes. The company said these meters, which have the potential of reducing the peak load pricing metering cost, will be tested in Charlotte and in Greer, S. C.

Customers agreeing to their installation, however, will remain on the current rates, the company added, with the test being of equipment, not rates.

Even if Duke and the North Carolina Utilities Commission decide that time of day pricing is feasible, it would be several years before it could be put into effect for all of Duke's customers, officials said.

Canada's Diefenbaker Says JFK Out To Destroy Him Politically

OTTAWA, Canada (AP) — Former Canadian Prime Minister John Diefenbaker says the late President John F. Kennedy and his administration intervened in Canadian elections in 1962 and 1963 to help defeat Diefenbaker's party.

"He was out to destroy me, 100 per cent," Diefenbaker said about Kennedy in a new television series previewed here Monday night.

Diefenbaker, prime minister from 1957 to 1963, blamed Kennedy and "his friends ... the powerful interests on Wall Street" for a foreign exchange crisis that forced the Diefenbaker government to devalue the Canadian dollar just before the 1962 general election.

Diefenbaker's Progressive Conservative party, which had gained a sizeable majority in Canada's House of Commons, was reduced to minority status in 1962 and forced to form a coalition government. It was defeated in 1963 after the cabinet split on arming Bomarc anti-aircraft missiles in Canada with nuclear warheads.

Diefenbaker was opposed to the nuclear armaments.

"In 1962, everything pointed to an election victory for us," Diefenbaker said. "Suddenly, an eventually arose of which we had no warning. It was obvious that some external influence was being brought to bear (on the Canadian dollar)."

"It's now clear it was part and parcel of the beginning of action by John F. Kennedy and ... powerful interests on Wall Street to get rid of the Conservative government of Canada," he said.

On the Bomarc issue, Diefenbaker said, "JFK decided I must be kayoed."

Diefenbaker described Kennedy as "affable, friendly and suddenly arrogant." He said the late president believed that Canada should closely follow U.S. advice on international matters.

Diefenbaker said the late Lester B. Pearson, former Liberal party leader who succeeded him as prime minister, "became the ally of the U.S. administration ... and beneficiary in funds and assistance."

"The Liberal party under Mr. Pearson was a party whose policies were determined and made in Washington and nowhere else," he contended.

Diefenbaker voiced his remarks in a new 13-week series, "One Canadian," scheduled to start Wednesday on the nationwide network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corp.

Home Lost To Fire Last Night

$125.06 Day At Farmville

Pitt County Firemen battled a blaze last night that destroyed the home of E. P. Lee near Belvoir.

According to Pitt County Fire Marshal Bobby Joyner, the concrete block structure was a total loss.

Joyner said that the two occupants of the house, Lee and his mother, were not injured in the fire.

Members of the Belvoir fire department and Station House fire departments responded to the 12:20 a.m. alarm.

Cause of the blaze is still under investigation by officials.

FARMVILLE — Demands for most grades of tobacco yesterday was some stronger than last Thursday. Quality was about the same. Volume was heavier, and Stabilization receipts increased.

Smoking leaf grades showed an increase in volume, while leaf grades dropped compared to the last sales day. Offerings of non descript were light.

Leaf grades sold as high as $1.42 a pound. Top practical price continued to be $1.30 a pound.

The market sold 675,262 pounds for a total of $844,497 for an average of $125.06 per 100 pounds.

To date, the Farmville market has sold 23,384,191 pounds for $26,926,679 for a season average of $115.15 per 100 pounds, compared to $99.29 last year.

Georgia Fourth; Tar Heels 19th

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON AP Sports Writer

The Georgia Bulldogs supplanted UCLA as the No. 4 team in The Associated Press college football ratings today, moving up to challenge Michigan, Pitt and Oklahoma, the 1-2-3 clubs for the second week in a row.

Georgia's impressive 21-0 triumph over Alabama booted the losers out of the Top Twenty for the first time since 1970 and shot the Bulldogs from sixth to fourth.

Besides Alabama, Penn State's perennial Eastern champs also were missing from the rankings for the first time since mid-1970 when they were beaten by Kentucky 22-6 for their third consecutive setback. However, the Nittany Lions were back in the rankings by the end of the 1970 season. Alabama was not.

Michigan held down the No. 1 position for the fourth week in a row with a 31-0 triumph over Wake Forest. The Wolverines received 52 first-place votes and 1,182 of a possible 1,200 points from a nationwide panel of 60 sports writers and broadcasters.

Runner-up Pitt, a 44-31 winner over Duke after piling up a 37-7 lead, received three first-place ballots and 992 points. Last week, Michigan led the Panthers 1,208-972 with 61 panelists voting.

Oklahoma retained third place with three No. 1 votes and 914 points after downing Iowa State 24-10. Then came Georgia with the other two top votes — the first of the season for the Bulldogs — and 870 points.

UCLA slipped from fourth to fifth and Ohio State went from eighth to 10th after the Rose Bowl rivals played to a 10-10 standoff.

Georgia's rise also dropped Nebraska from fifth to sixth. The Cornhuskers had to rally to defeat Miami, Fla., 17-9.

Maryland stayed in seventh place by beating Villanova 20-9 while Kansas climbed from ninth to eighth with a 34-24 victory over Wisconsin.

Rounding out the Top Ten are Missouri, a 24-3 winner over North Carolina, and Ohio State. Missouri was 12th a week ago.

The Second Ten consists of Southern Cal, Florida, Boston College, Notre Dame, Texas Tech, Texas, Texas A&M, Arkansas, North Carolina and Louisiana State.

Last week, it was LSU, Missouri, Southern Cal, North Carolina, Boston College, Mississippi, Texas Tech, Notre Dame, Florida and Penn State. Ole Miss fell out following a 10-0 loss to Auburn.

Texas returned to the rankings after a two-week absence while Texas A&M and Arkansas got back in after one-week vacations. Texas trounced Rice 42-15 while A&M downed Illinois 14-7 and Arkansas trimmed Texas Christian 46-14.

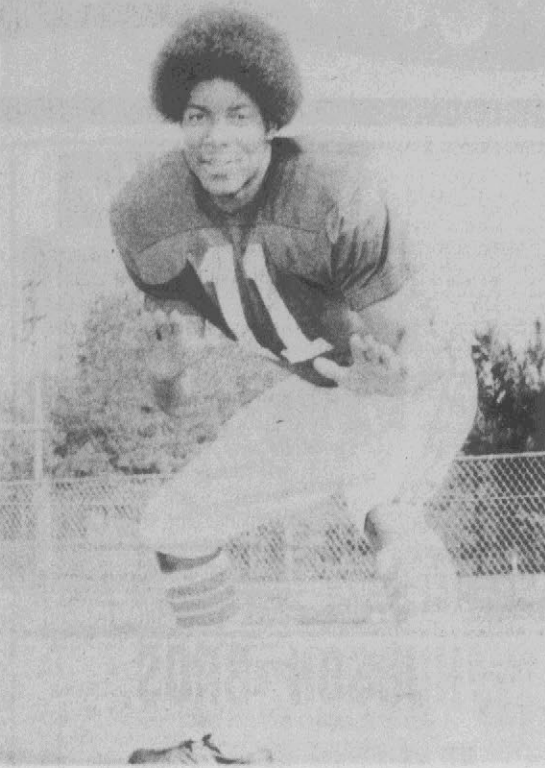

The Top Twenty teams in The Associated Press college football poll, with first-place votes in parentheses, season records and total points. Points based on 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1:

Nobles Gets Hole-In-One

AYDEN — Elwood Nobles of Winterville picked up his first hole-in-one in six years Sunday at the Ayden Golf and Country Club.

The ace came on the 144-yard fourth hole. Nobles used a five iron for the shot. Playing with him at the time were Callie and Les Stocks and Reid Joyner.

Safety Gerald Hall

Gerald Hall Is Top Defender

RESTON, Va. (AP) — William and Mary quarterback Tom Rozantz and East Carolina defensive back Gerald Hall today were named Southern Conference football players of the week.

Rozantz, a 6-foot-2, 185-pound sophomore from Fairview, Pa., was almost letter-perfect in directing the Indians to a 27-15 upset last Saturday over Virginia Tech.

The Indian signal-caller hit eight of 15 passes for 101 yards and one touchdown and also ran seven times for 32 yards while playing only the first three quarters as William and Mary built a 24-7 lead.

Rozantz leads the conference in total offense with an average of 151.5 yards per game and is third in passing with 8.3 completions per game.

Virginia Tech Coach Jimmy Sharpe said "Rozantz is the finest quarterback we have faced in a long time." Hall made eight big plays as East Carolina took over the Southern Conference lead with a 22-3 victory over The Citadel, and Coach Pat Dye said Hall "broke the backs of The Citadel all night. He had a super game."

The 5-foot-10, 170-pound sophomore from Edenton, N. C., ran back two pass interceptions 61 yards, returned two punts 68 yards, broke up two passes and made two key tackles. His return yardage was just 21 yards less than The Citadel's total offense.

Hall, who leads the conference in punt returns with an average of 19.5 yards per runback, set up one touchdown and two field goals with his defensive play.

Three Defy Odds, Get New Pacts

By The Associated Press Sherry, named California's interim manager July 3 when the Angels were in last place in the AL West, also signed a one-year contract, at an undisclosed salary, after lifting the team into a tie for fourth place, its best finish since 1973.

And McNamara was given a one-year contract with San Diego despite the Padres' fifth-place finish in the National League West in his third year as manager.

Robinson and General Manager Phil Seghi both termed the Indians' season disappointing, but Seghi said: "The very fact that he's been rehired would indicate we have confidence in him. I think everybody learns by experience."

This was Robinson's second year as manager and the Indians' second straight fourth-place finish. He said bunting and base-running "were the two areas I was most unhappy with," and added: "I did not expect the inconsistencies that we had. We'll work ... very hard on fundamentals in spring training."

One player Robinson will be missing from his roster next year will be Robinson himself. While signing his new contract, he announced the end of his playing career.

Robinson said the combination of the team's good attitude and above 500 finish "should give them plenty of incentive for next year."

Meanwhile, Sherry said, "I really enjoyed managing this club," after leading the Angels to a 37-29 record over the second half of the season.

"At the end of the season, I believe our team had gotten to the position where the players really believed they could win ball games, and did. As the season ended, we really felt we had it going."

Sherry's rehiring ended speculation that Earl Weaver might move from Baltimore and become the Angels' manager.

McNamara called the Padres' season "frustrating," adding: "We played well in the first half, but things didn't fall right for us in the second half."

San Diego finished with a 73-89 record.

Minnesota Capitalizes On Errors Of Pittsburgh For 17-6 Victory

By BRENT KALLESTAD AP Sports Writer

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — Minnesota's "Purple People Eaters" look hungrier than ever in 1976 and they remain unbeaten a month into the National Football League season.

The Vikings, now 3-0-1, capitalized on six Pittsburgh turnovers and ravaged the defending Super Bowl champions 17-6 in a nationally televised interconference battle Monday night, leaving the Steelers critically wounded.

"I can't believe our defense has ever matched our effort," said fifth-year middle linebacker Jeff Siemon. "In terms of total effort, everyone is coming up with big plays."

And while the defense did its thing, the Minnesota offense stayed on the ground more than normal under the direction of quarterback Bob Lee, who played the entire game for Fran Tarkenton.

The 36-year-old Tarkenton missed the first starting assignment of his 16-year career because of injury. The veteran Vikings' defense picked off four Terry Bradshaw passes, recovered two Pittsburgh fumbles, and blocked two field goal tries and an extra point attempt.

The work of the Minnesota special team on the Steelers' kicking game left Pittsburgh's Roy Gerela astounded.

"You get a kick blocked on you once in a while and you expect it," said Gerela in the subdued Steelers' locker room. "But three in a row. That's never happened to me."

The Vikings have now blocked three-of-four extra point tries and three field goal attempts.

"They're the best I've ever seen at doing that," said Bradshaw. "Just absolutely awesome."

Bradshaw, in fact, was so impressed with Minnesota's interior strength that he changed signals early in the fourth period.

With the Steelers at their own 28 on fourth down — a new inches shy of a first down — he originally left the huddle planning to try for the first down.

"Then I gave it a little more thought," said Bradshaw, who instead called a timeout and went to the sidelines to confer with Steelers Coach Chuck Noll.

"I think against any other team we'd have gone," said Bradshaw. "They're so super in goal line and short yardage situations and besides, we were down only 7-6 and there was still 12 minutes or so left in the game."

The decision to abort the effort for a first down backfired.

"There are no tricks in this business," said Vikings Coach Bud Grant. "You don't want to admit to yourself though that you can't make a yard."

The Vikings have given up only 34 points in victories over the Steelers, Detroit and New Orleans and a 10-10 overtime tie against Los Angeles.

"They're gonna be there at the end, man," whispered Pittsburgh running back Franco Harris, who was held to only 34 yards in 17 carries. "They're some kind of a football team and they love to hit."

Minnesota capitalized on Pittsburgh turnovers for all their scoring.

Nate Allen picked off the first of his two interceptions on the night and returned it nine yards to the Pittsburgh 36 midway through the second period.

Chuck Foreman, who gained a career-high 148 yards in 27 carries, led the scoring charge with 28 yards on five carries, including an eight-yard scoring smash, and Fred Cox kicked the extra point, giving the Vikings a 7-6 lead.

The Steelers, who had scored on Bradshaw's one-yard pass to Bennie Cunningham in the first quarter, watched three scoring opportunities disappear in the face of the Vikings' defense in the third period.

Gerela had two-short range field goal tries blocked and Bradshaw was intercepted with the Steelers at the Minnesota 15.

Minnesota, which blew a similar opportunity late in the first half, converted a poor center snap by Mike Webster into its second TD. Allen, who has been brilliant all season for the Vikings, recovered at the Pittsburgh seven and Foreman jackknifed through two plays later for his fifth touchdown of the year.

Cox sewed it up with a 43-yard field goal with 4:08 left, just five plays after Alan Page recovered a Bradshaw fumble at the Pittsburgh 24.

Bradshaw, who had been intercepted only once previously this season, completed 10-of-22 pass attempts for a meager 90 yards while Lee, who made his first start since being exiled from Atlanta two years ago, connected on four-of-11 attempts for 41 yards.

Rocky Bleier led Pittsburgh's ground attack with 85 yards in 16 carries.

Tigerettes Gain Win

EDENTON — Williamston High School's girls' tennis team came away with a 7-2 victory over Edenton yesterday.

The Tigerettes dropped the number one and number four singles, but held a 4-2 lead after the individual events. They then swept the doubles to wrap it up.

Summary: LuAnn Bunch (E) defeated Lisa Robertson, 6-3, 6-1. Kristi Rogerson (W) defeated Lee Cheers, 6-2, 7-6. Joanna Lilley (W) defeated Caroline Ervin, 6-2, 6-4. Amy Lane (E) defeated Beth Boyd, 6-2, 7-5. Lisa Roebuck (W) defeated Beth Gardner, 6-3, 6-1. Susie Orton (W) defeated Catherine Harless, 6-3, 6-3. Robertson-Lilley (W) defeated Bunch-Cheers, 6-6. Robertson-Orton (W) defeated Stevens-Lane, 6-0. Boyd-Roebuck (W) defeated Byrum-Hutchinson, 8-3.

Contest Winners

Curtis Ebbs of 1202 Drexel Lane, Greenville, is the winner of this week's Daily Reflector Football Contest.

Ebbs correctly picked the winners in 26 of the 32 games listed on last week's slate.

Second place went to David Pettus of 103 Pineridge Dr., Greenville. He picked the winners in 25 of the 32 games.

The next weekly contest appears on the following pages.

Pittsburgh Still Feels It Can Be Winning Team

By GENE LAHAMMER Associated Press Writer

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — They have won too many big games to panic, but Pittsburgh's two-time Super Bowl champions feel they have already made enough critical mistakes in the 1976 National Football League season.

"We fight back — we made the mistakes," Coach Chuck Noll said after his Steelers lost the ball six times and were penalized seven times for 64 yards in a 17-6 defeat to Minnesota Monday night in a nationally televised game.

The loss dropped the Steelers into a last-place tie with Cleveland in the Central Division of the American Football Conference, two games behind coteleaders Cincinnati and Houston.

The Steelers have a 1-3 record and are in danger of missing the postseason playoffs for the first time in five seasons.

"We can't think about anything else but next Sunday," said Noll, whose team faces Cleveland in the next game. "All we have to do is start winning. That's all we have to do right now. The Super Bowl is about four million miles from my mind now."

"We've crawled out of holes before," said star running back Franco Harris of the Steelers, who was held to 34 yards in 17 carries by the rugged Vikings' defense. Harris had rushed for more than 100 yards in two previous games against the Vikings, including a record 158 yards in the Steelers' 16-6 victory over Minnesota in the 1975 Super Bowl.

"We're too good not to do it again this year," added Harris. Despite the discouraging start, veteran linebacker Andy Russell said the Steelers must avoid the "pessimistic doldrums." The 12-year pro from Missouri noted that, "a few of us on this team have a lot of experience in this kind of situation, very few. There aren't

Forzano Resigns

By LARRY PALADINO AP Sports Writer

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Detroit Lions owner William Clay Ford was to announce today the successor to embattled Coach Rick Forzano, who resigned Monday.

The resignation ended three weeks of speculation that his job was on a win-or-else basis. "Forzano submitted his resignation as head coach and it was accepted by owner William Clay Ford," the National Football League team said in a terse statement late Monday. A club spokesman said Forzano would hold a news conference, then an announcement would be made on his successor.

There was no indication whether Forzano was asked to resign by Ford, who had issued his win-or-else ultimatum. The Lions beat Atlanta then to save Forzano's job — but followed up with a one-point loss to Minnesota and a 24-14 loss to underdog Green Bay last Sunday.

Forzano said his resignation was "strictly voluntary" and had nothing to do with Ford's statement. "I respect Mr. Ford as the owner of the Detroit Lions, as a person, and hope he will always be my friend."

Ford had indicated General Manager Russ Thomas was tied to that ultimatum, but Thomas did not join Forzano in resigning. Said one Lions' player: "I can't imagine Russ Thomas resigning."

Forzano said he first thought about resigning around Wednesday of last week.

"I felt the football team was deserving of a coaching change at this time," Forzano said. "There are problems that I, Rick Forzano, could not correct and felt that maybe they could be corrected if I were no longer coach."

Forzano refused to elaborate on what the problems were.

Sunday's loss to the previously winless Packers was the straw that broke Forzano's back. The Lions could have gotten back into the Central Division race in the National Conference with a triumph, but instead fell to 1-3. The other losses were to division opponents Chicago, 10-3, and Minnesota, 10-9.

ROBERSONVILLE — Farmville Central's girls' tennis team won four of the six singles to get a good start, then swept the doubles to gain a 7-2 win over Roanoke High School yesterday.

Farmville Central dropped only the number five and six singles to Roanoke as it breezed to its sixth win in eight starts. Roanoke is now 0-4 on the year.

Farmville entertains Plymouth on Wednesday. Roanoke is idle until the 18th, when it meets Farmville in a return match.

Summary: Jennifer Counterman (FC) defeated Sandra Whitaker, 6-0, 6-0. Diana Gordon (FC) defeated Susan Mobley, 6-2, 6-2. Courtney Lancaster (FC) defeated Fran Vandford, 6-3, 7-5. Margaret Yelverton (FC) defeated Miriam Jones, 6-3, 7-5. Yvette Modica (R) defeated Cara Burnett, 6-1, 6-2. Charlotte Grimes (R) defeated Margaret McCaughey, 4-6, 6-3, 6-0. Counterman-Yelverton (FC) defeated Whitaker-Mobley, 8-3. Gordon-Lancaster (FC) defeated Jones-Modica, 8-6. May-Eason (FC) defeated Respass-Roberson, 8-5.

Rampants Take Third

WILSON — Northern Nash took five of the first ten spots in a four-way cross-country meet to take first place in the event yesterday. Rose finished in third place.

Despite not having a runner higher than fifth place, Northern Nash finished the event with 35 points to take first. Wilson, with a best finish of third, finished in second place overall with 44 points.

Rose picked up 62 points and finished third, while South Lenoir was fourth with 89.

South Lenoir's Tony Warren took individual honors with a time of 15:04. Rose's Jesse Baker finished second in 15:07.

J. Tucker of Wilson was third in 15:29, followed by teammate Leden in 15:40. Northern's R. Hardy was fifth in 15:43, followed by four other Knights, M. Davis; 15:55; W. Austin, 15:58; C. Hardy, 15:59; and B. Smith, 16:03.

Wilson's R. Hinton rounded out the top ten with a time of 16:05.

Other Rose finishers included Til Jolly, 11th in 16:15; Mickey Finn, 14th in 16:26; Mike Norfleet, 17th in 16:41; Steve Blackwell, 18th in 16:43; Cliff Hagan, 19th in 16:58; Walter Kortschak, 20th in 16:59; Robert Vick, 21st in 17:03; John Lawler, 24th in 17:31; David Daniel, 26th in 17:41; Jim Hunt, 28th in 18:05; and Steve Saieed, 36th in 19:52.

EXPLANATION—The Dunkel system provides a continuous index to the relative strength of all teams. It reflects average scoring margin combined with average opposition rating, weighted in favor of recent performance. Example: a 50.0 team has been 10 scoring points stronger, per game, than a 40.0 team against opposition of identical strength. Originated in 1929 by Dick Dunkel.

East Sees Presidential Race In N.C. Picking Up

By BETTY SANDERSON
Reflector Staff Writer

John East, co-chairman of the Ford campaign in North Carolina, believes his candidate can carry the state if the public is sufficiently educated on the issues and stands involved.

A political science professor at East Carolina University, East thinks the state's Democratic voting tendencies will be outweighed by Ford's stands on certain issues of interest to the people of North Carolina.

The general issues are "fiscal responsibility" and defense spending, according to East. The more specific issues are right-to-work laws and abortion.

"Ford has clearly tried to hold down the big-spending efforts of the Congress," said East. "The mood of North Carolina is that there has been too much big spending in Washington. The Democratic platform calls for spending more money. We need to hold the line."

"The Republican platform calls for maintaining a posture of military superiority. Southerners, and North Carolinians in particular, understand the value of a first-rate defense posture. Carter and the Democratic platform call for cuts in defense spending. Carter has talked about rough equivalency, meaning either parity or a second-rate status."

On the right-to-work issue, East explained that a right-to-work law such as North Carolina's allows states to decide whether a person can work without having to join a union. The Democratic platform calls for repeal of Sect. 14-B of the Taft-Hartley Act, which allows for state right-to-work laws. East feels such laws have strong support in North Carolina.

"In North Carolina there is a general unhappiness with the idea of abortion on demand," he said of the fourth issue. "People feel that a casual, permissive attitude toward sex is not healthy morally. Ford's stand is that states should determine abortion laws. A constitutional amendment to this effect is supported by Ford and the Republican platform."

East said the main purpose for his appointment as campaign co-chairman was "to try to help mesh former Reagan supporters into the Ford campaign. I am very pleased with the results so far. I was asked to serve on the committee because they clearly wanted to expand their workers to include former Reagan supporters."

East's campaign responsibilities center on making recommendations "on how the campaign can be geared to North Carolina," especially in regard to local candidates and issues. Ted Heydinger, executive director of the campaign in Raleigh, is in charge of the details (candidates' appearances, etc.).

Vice presidential candidate Robert Dole is expected to visit the state Oct. 6, according to East, but the site or sites of appearances have not been worked out yet. Jack Ford, the President's son, is expected to make an appearance about Oct. 8. Other national campaign figures, including Ronald Reagan and John Connally, are scheduled for visits to campaign for individual candidates in state and local elections.

East said he is currently working on getting county co-chairmen of both Ford and Reagan supporters. The next task will be "to sell the voters of North Carolina (on the idea) that Ford and Dole make more sense than Carter and Mondale."

He believes the state presidential race is getting more competitive, just as the national race is. He noted that North Carolina should not be forfeited to the Carter campaign just because it is a Southern state.

"I think North Carolina is not that unlike the rest of the country," he explained. "We're encouraged that it (Ford's victory here) can be done."

He sees little chance of Ford's campaign being hurt by current investigations of the President.

"The Michigan investigation (of possible finance mismanagement) appears to be a fishing expedition. (Former special investigator) Leon Jaworski has said that it was covered thoroughly, and the FBI said they checked it out when Ford was being considered for vice president. The move is heavily politically motivated and may backfire and be counter-productive unless some truly incriminating evidence is found."

He sees Ford's image as that of "a man with leadership capability" who "restored confidence in the White House." He thinks the pardon of former President Nixon and the whole Watergate issue will not be a major political problem for Ford.

"A CBS poll indicated that a majority do not consider Watergate an issue," East noted. "I don't think the people will taint Ford with Watergate. There will be some non-support, but it will probably be from people who wouldn't have been for Ford anyway. It is less significant than one might have thought at the time (of the pardon)."

He added that Dole should be an asset in the state because of his activities on the Senate agriculture committee.

Organized Labor And Teacher Groups Give Hunt Endorsement

RALEIGH (AP) — State organized labor and organized teacher groups have endorsed Democratic gubernatorial candidate Jim Hunt, but the teacher group decided to confer with its membership before endorsing a candidate for lieutenant governor.

Endorsing Hunt and the entire Democratic ticket for Council of State posts was the operating committee of the state AFL-CIO's Committee on Political Education (COPE). Also, the Political Action Committee for Education (PACE), the political arm of the North Carolina Association of Educators, announced that it was supporting Hunt and Harlan Boyles, Democratic nominee for state treasurer.

PACE state chairman Steve Takacs, said the committee had decided to survey its members before deciding whether to endorse Democrat Jimmy Green or Republican Bill Hiatt in the race for lieutenant governor.

No Charges In Auto Mishap

No charges were reported following investigation of a 6:40 p.m. mishap here yesterday near the intersection of Third and Library Streets involving vehicles driven by Larry Bryan Garris of 305 Ash St. and Jerry Lane Jones of 1311 East Second St.

Officers estimated damage from the collision at $500 to the Garris car and $350 to the Jones auto.

State PACE coordinator E.B. Palmer said each of the endorsed candidates was given $3,000 for campaign expenses. This is the maximum that any one organization can contribute to any candidate in a given race.

"The candidates were very positive about the legislative program of the North Carolina Association of Educators, with the exception of the plank calling for a collective bargaining law," Palmer stated.

The endorsement of Hunt continued an unbroken string of PACE support that began when Hunt was endorsed in his primary campaign for lieutenant governor four years ago. At the time PACE endorsed Hunt in advance of the August 17 primary, it also endorsed Republican David Flaherty in his bid for the GOP nomination, but preferred Hunt in the general election campaign.

Also at the time it endorsed Hunt and Flaherty for the primary, PACE endorsed Green and Republican Odell Payne in the contest for nomination for lieutenant governor.

However, the endorsement of Green brought such an uproar among the PACE membership that its state committee was revamped. It then announced that it was backing former Chapel Hill Mayor Howard Lee in his unsuccessful runoff race against Green.

In announcing its support of Hunt, COPE recalled that last month the state AFL-CIO Convention had endorsed Hunt and Democratic presidential nominee Jimmy Carter.

It said it felt "the Democratic team...represented the best chance to get North Carolina moving again economically."

Present Awards In Gospel Music

By JOE EDWARDS
Associated Press Writer

NASHVILLE (AP)—Gary S. Paxton, a former alcoholic and drug user, received one of the Gospel Music Association's highest awards Monday night.

Paxton, who wrote the song "No Shortage," won a Dove award for co-producing the best contemporary gospel record album of the year by the same name.

The album was recorded by The Imperials, who were chosen best male gospel group.

"I was an alcoholic for 15 years and also into drugs for 15 years," said Paxton, who wore a crimson jump suit to the black tie affair. "I'm glad to get to earn this for God."

A Dove award is comparable to an Oscar for motion pictures.

Major awards went to the Speer Family, best mixed gospel group; "Statue of Liberty," gospel song of the year; Joy McGuire, best female gospel vocalist, and Johnny Cook, best male gospel vocalist.

Songwriter Mosie Lister and the late George Bernard, who wrote "The Old Rugged Cross," were selected for the Gospel Music Hall of Fame.

Other winners were "Between The Cross and Heaven" by the Speer Family, best

Southern gospel record album of the year; "Jesus We Just Want To Thank You" by the Bill Gaither Trio, best inspirational gospel record album of the year; "Sunday Morning With Charley Pride," best gospel record album of the year by a non-gospel artist; Bill Gaither, gospel songwriter of the year; Henry Slaughter, best gospel instrumentalist; Sid Hughes, WRIP TV, Chattanooga, and WOVE Radio, Rossville, Ga., gospel disc jockey of the year; "Gospel Singing Jubilee," best gospel television program; Sylvia Mays, best backliner notes of a gospel record album for "Just A Little Talk With Jesus," Bob McConnell, best graphic layout and design of a gospel record album for "No Shortage," and Bill Barnes, best gospel record album cover photo or cover art, for "Old Fashioned, Down Home, Hand Clappin', Good Stomping, Southern Style, Gospel Quartet Music."

Winners were selected by members of the Gospel Music Association.

NEW PRESIDENT
PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Jim Heavner of WCHL, Chapel Hill, was installed today as president of the North Carolina Association of Broadcasters.

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, OCT. 6, 1976

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The latter part of the day is the best time to take advantage of a rare opportunity. Your visionary ideas could come to fruition now with little difficulty. Keep a private matter private.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Morning is the best time to handle a very private matter. Talk over your ideas with persons of experience. Be wary of newcomers.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Make long-range plans for the future early in the day. Arrive on time for an important appointment. Show more devotion to mate.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Plan what you want to accomplish today in the business world before leaving home. Come to a meeting of minds with associates.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Study every aspect of a new plan you have in mind so that you will know exactly what should be done. Be logical.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Make preparations for future activity of a constructive nature. Labor diligently during the day, but rest and relax at night.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Ask associates what is expected of you and then try to improve your status. Sidestep an argument with a family member.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Plan a schedule so that you can be more productive at regular routines. Work out a better arrangement with co-workers.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Take care of small duties that are important. By showing more attention to the one you love you benefit greatly now.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Analyze a new situation carefully so that you can handle it most intelligently. Sidestep one who gossips.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You have a rare opportunity to contact a person who can help you advance in your line of endeavor. Avoid one who bickers.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Plan enough time for handling monetary affairs that are important. A business expert can give you the advice you need.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Handle important business at hand early in the day. Taking health treatments now is wise. Enjoy the company of good friends tonight.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will require good training in ethical matters since there could be much ability in handling whatever is of a philosophical nature. Give as fine an education as you can afford. Don't neglect religious training early in life.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

West led the king of diamonds, and as soon as dummy came down declarer realized that he could not afford to draw trumps right off, for then he would have to lose a trick in a minor suit at the end. However, the fact that dummy held such strong trumps alerted declarer to the possibility of a dummy reversal.

He won the ace of diamonds and ruffed a diamond with a high trump. A spade to the nine put declarer in dummy for another diamond ruff, again with a high trump. Dummy was reentered with the jack of spades and declarer ruffed dummy's last diamond with the ace of trumps.

The rest was easy. A heart to the king allowed declarer to cash the king of spades, extracting the defenders' last trump. On this trick declarer discarded the club loser, and he was left with nothing in his hand other than running hearts and the ace of clubs. In effect, declarer manufactured his thirteenth trick by managing to score six trumps in all, despite the fact that he had started out with only five trumps in his hand and three in dummy.

NASHVILLE (AP) — Some 45 million blackbirds will begin heading for their winter roosts in Tennessee next month, and little can be done to curb the invasion, says state Agriculture Commissioner Edward Porter. The birds will be roosting throughout the state, he said, although officials are expected to find larger roosts — some with several millions blackbirds — around Chapel Hill, Milan and Ft. Campbell, Ky.

Over the years, officials say, the birds have destroyed millions of dollars worth of crops, and have spread a lung disease, histoplasmosis, to humans.

The commissioner said the only weapon available is the detergent based chemical, Tertitol, which he admits is not effective.

"A lot of it depends on luck, and luck depends on weather and other things," Porter said. "I can't be real optimistic about the prospects. One possible hope is the birds may go further South this year and roost there."

Officials say Tertitol killed about 4 million blackbirds in Tennessee and Kentucky two years ago. However, the same chemical killed about 2 million birds last year.

Other chemicals have been ineffective or such a threat to the environment they cannot be used safely, the commissioner said.

Such ideas as scaring birds from their roosts with low flying helicopters blaring tape-recorded bird calls through loud speakers also have failed.

"We are locked into Tertitol. The ideas were temporary and they didn't solve any problems," Porter said. "Tertitol is not effective generally, but it is the only thing available."

Porter says a drawback to Tertitol is that it must be sprayed from the air after at least a half-inch of rain and when the temperature is 32 degrees.

"It's hard to get a plane to fly and spray the chemical in that kind of weather," the commissioner said. "But if you don't do it then, it won't work."

Porter said his agency is coordinating its use of Tertitol with the U.S. Interior Department. Additionally, the state agency will conduct a survey to document economic losses caused by the birds and to determine how many roosts there are this year.

The bird count must be done because of an environmental impact statement issued this year on the use of Tertitol, he said.

The statement said up to 50 million birds could be killed nationally without upsetting the balance of nature.

Porter said the state must determine what percentage of the national blackbird population is roosting in Tennessee in order to know how many birds can be killed in the state and still be within the state's guidelines.

Officials say throughout the Southeast there are about 230 million blackbirds in late fall and early winter.

The average roost size ranges from 1 million to 5 million blackbirds, although some roosts are larger, officials say.

One in Arkansas has been estimated at 40 million and one in Missouri has about 35 million.

In all, there are more than 700 roosts, with the largest concentration in the Southeast, from East Texas to the Carolinas, officials say. At least 125 of these roosts have a minimum of 1 million blackbirds each.

LOAN BUSINESS
NEW YORK (UPI) — Loans account for more than half of the assets of the U. S. banking industry. Another fourth of the assets — $975 billion by the end of the year 1975 — is invested in interest-bearing government securities with the rest kept on reserve or invested in equipment to conduct business.

For 1977, there's more to an AMC.

More unique design features.
 Massive B-pillar construction is unique and basic to Pacer's design, allowing for an unusually large, comfortable passenger compartment. And its wide-design cargo area maximizes width instead of length for easier loading and unloading. For quick, easy access, the Pacer Wagon's passenger door is nearly 4" wider than the driver's. And the rear hatch opens on a flat load floor. Pacer Wagon also has rack & pinion steering for precise handling; isolated suspension, which combined with wide stance, provides a smooth, stable ride; and much, much more.

New AMC Hornet Wagon

More useable accessible space.
 The stylish, hard-working Hornet Wagon is a great car for people and families on the go. Its roomy interior seats five in sedan-like comfort. For cargo carrying, the rear seat flips down to give you 56 cubic feet of easy-to-load space. And, for easy access, it has 4 doors plus a rear liftgate. Hornet Wagon is both stylish and practical. Its sloping rear deck adds a sporty flare to its clean, handsome lines.

New AMC Pacer Wagon

New AMC Matador Wagon

More standard equipment.
 The Matador Wagon has the largest cargo area of any intermediate wagon. And at 95 cubic feet of cargo area the Matador Wagon is larger than many 1977 full size Wagons. And, for 1977, it has more standard features than ever before, including power steering, power brakes, 304 CID V-8 engine, automatic transmission, electronic ignition, dual swing tailgate, and many more!

More value for the money.
 Gremlin has a fresh new look for 1977. Handsome new front end treatment. Distinctive new taillights. And a larger rear lift window for easier than ever loading, plus better visibility. And it's loaded with standard features that make it an outstanding value. Like a proven 232 cubic inch OHV 6-cylinder engine; 3-speed floor-mounted synchro-mesh transmission; front disc brakes; and many more. Gremlin also gives you a smooth ride and has more hip and shoulder room than the competition.

New AMC Gremlin X

More Protection. Full 2 year 24,000 mile warranty on engine and drive train.
 Every AMC car is protected by BUYER PROTECTION PLAN® II, the only full warranty covering engine and drive train for 2 years or 24,000 miles. BPP II also includes a full 1 year/12,000 mile warranty protecting everything else except tires. You also get trip interruption protection. And if guaranteed repairs take overnight, we'll provide a free loaner car. This broad, across-the-board coverage is just one more reason why we say there's more to an AMC.

Familiar Territory For 2nd Ford-Carter Debate

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

President Ford and Democratic rival Jimmy Carter turn from domestic to foreign issues in Wednesday night's debate with questions expected to cover everything from military spending to U.S. policy in the Middle East.

If the second of the three planned confrontations between the presidential candidates goes anything like the first, Ford and Carter will range over some familiar territory.

Here is a guide to what they have said on some of the major foreign policy and defense issues:

ASIA

Ford has said, "We will seek to move forward in the Pacific ... on relations with the People's Republic of China. Obviously, we will want to strengthen our relationships, which are very good, with the Japanese." He declined to speculate on a date for the normalization of relations with China. Carter says he does not envision a rapid normalization of relations with China although that would be an ultimate goal. Before agreeing to normalization, "I would want to have an assurance in some way ... that there would not be a military attack on Taiwan and that the Taiwanese people would be relatively independent..."

DEFENSE SPENDING
Ford has said he submitted a "record peacetime defense budget request of $112.7 billion" to enable the United States to improve the strength and readiness of the armed forces "while trimming off all the fat that we can." He said, "I am very proud of the fact that I sent to the Congress in the last two years the two largest defense budgets in the history of the United States." (Congress approved a $100.7 billion defense budget for fiscal 1977.) Carter has said that "without endangering the defense of our nation or our commitments to our allies, we can reduce present defense expenditures by $5 billion to $7 billion annually." He says the cuts can be made by "management-improvement efforts." Ford says anyone who advocates budget cuts of the size Carter is proposing "does not know what he is talking about."

DETEENTE

Ford has discontinued use of the word detente. "I don't use the word detente any more," he said. "I think what we ought to say is that the United States will meet with the superpowers, the Soviet Union and with China and others, and seek to relax tensions so that we can continue a policy of peace through strength." Carter says: "I would continue the effort to be friendly with Russia ... (but) I would be a much tougher negotiator ... " He says, "The relationship of detente is one of both cooperation and competition ... The benefits of detente must accrue to both sides." Carter also adds: "As we sell the Russians things that they must have — food in their drought years, electronics equipment, heavy machinery — we ought to get a quid pro quo from the Soviets."

KISSINGER

Carter said early in his campaign for the nomination, "I don't intend to retain any cabinet members. The first one I would fire would be (Agriculture Secretary Earl) Butz and not far behind would be (Secretary of State Henry) Kissinger." He has said he would not avoid a strong secretary of state, but adds: "I would be the spokesman for this country." Ford, asked if he would request that Kissinger stay on, said: "If you have a ballplayer on your team who has a good batting average, you don't put him on the sidelines."

PANAMA CANAL

Ford supports continuing negotiations with Panama, adding: "We are talking about a treaty with an extended duration ... We are going to insist, during the period of that treaty, that we have the right to operate, to maintain and defend it." After the treaty expired, "there would have to be an absolute insistence that there would be the right of free access by all parties to the utilization of the canal." Carter has said: "I would not be in favor of relinquishing actual control (of the Panama Canal) or its use to any other nation ... I would certainly be willing to renegotiate the payment terms on the Canal" and "would be glad to yield part of the sovereignty over the Panama Canal Zone to Panama."

MIDDLE EAST

Ford has sought to promote negotiations among all parties in the Middle East, providing military and economic aid to Israel and to moderate and conservative Arab states. "We will try to keep the momentum going in the Middle East," he says. His most recent budget called for a $500 million cut in military aid to Israel in fiscal 1977. Carter says, "We must strive to maintain good relations with the Arab countries as well as Israel." He would not support sending U.S. troops to the Middle East but would let it be known "that our backing for Israel in economic and military aid is absolute."

SALT TALKS

Ford has said, "I believe that in our attempt to ease tensions between the Soviet Union and the United States, we have achieved a two-way street." He signed a treaty providing limits on underground nuclear explosions and for reciprocal inspection by Soviet and American scientists of each nation's testing sites. Ford says the administration is "keeping the pressure on in the negotiations with the Soviets" in an effort to reach a new agreement on strategic arms limitations to replace the pact expiring next October. Carter says the United States "should have been much more aggressive when we attended the Helsinki conference" which led to the existing SALT accords. He says agreements to date "have succeeded largely in changing the buildup in strategic arms from a 'quantitative' to a 'qualitative' arms race."

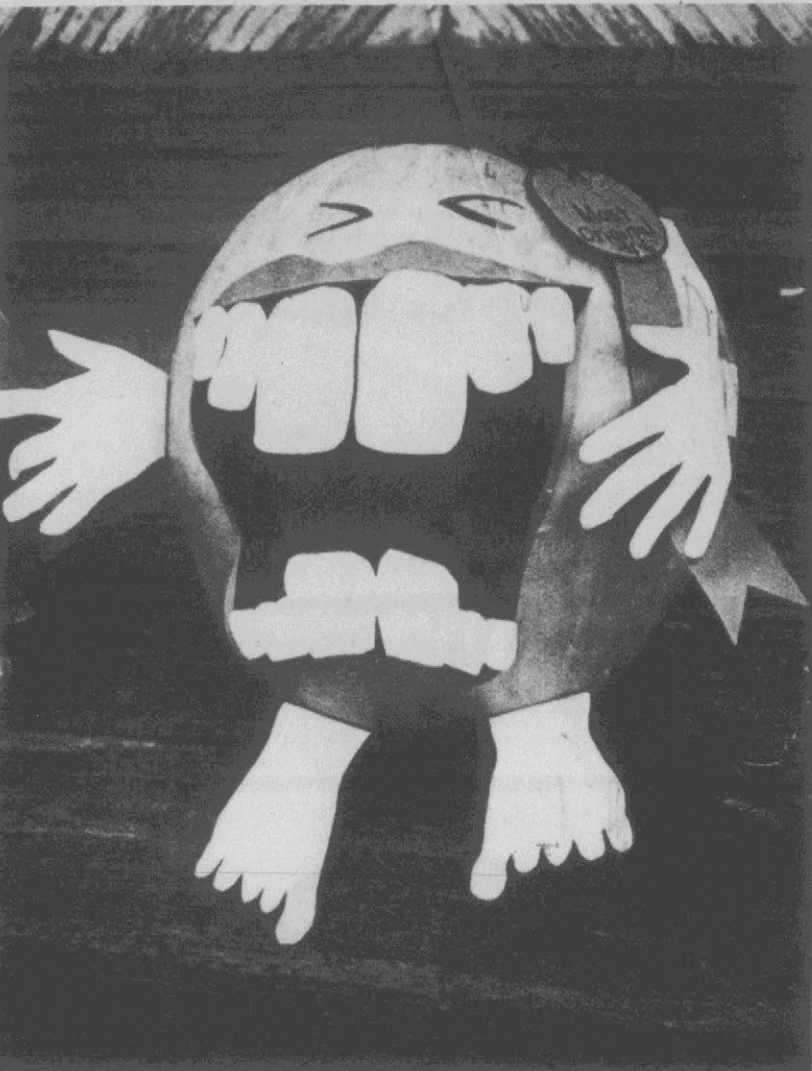

TROOP STRENGTH

Ford has said that the United States "is the single most powerful nation on earth — indeed in all history — and we're going to keep it that way." He also has said, "We cannot lay down our arms in the simple hope that others will follow our lead." Carter says: "We still have too many military bases and troops overseas..." He has urged reduction of U.S. troops in Thailand and the Philippines and a phased-out U.S. withdrawal from South Korea. At one point Carter urged a gradual reduction of troop commitments to NATO territory in Europe. He said more recently, however: "I would intend to maintain our present level of troop deployment in Europe for the foreseeable future." He said that in the event of an agreement with the Soviet Union to reduce atomic weapons, "I would even be willing to increase ground forces or conventional forces if that was what it took to give us equivalent strength."

WEAPONS

Ford supports development of the Trident submarine and the B1 strategic bomber. With Ford's approval, Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld asked Congress in May to increase Navy shipbuilding funds by $914 million, to $7.3 billion. Carter opposes production of the B1, but would continue research on it. He supports the Trident. He says, "Our ultimate goal should be the reduction of nuclear weapons in all nations to zero." He has proposed a five-year U.S.-Soviet treaty to ban all nuclear testing, for peaceful as well as weapons purposes. Meanwhile, he says, "I do favor the continuation of our three delivery systems for atomic weapons until we can negotiate some over-all reduction of weapons with the Soviet Union. We are inferior to the Soviets in our land-based intercontinental missiles — greatly inferior. We have a rough equivalency at sea and we are strongly superior in manned bombers. I think in general we have what is called rough equivalency. I certainly want to maintain that ... but I think a reassessment of our strategic deployment of nonnuclear weapons and delivery systems is needed now."

POLITICAL PUMPKIN — Politicians are encountered everywhere this year, yet the last place one expects to see Jimmy Carter's smile is on a pumpkin face. Taxes Rise At Faster Rate Than Other Costs

By G. DAVID WALLACE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although food, fuel or medical costs get most attention when the government reports on consumer prices, the fastest-growing bite out of the average worker's paycheck comes from taxes.

The Labor Department says an average worker in private industry, supporting a family of four, now pays 23.4 per cent more to the federal government for income tax and Social Security than he did a year ago.

The department arrived at that calculation by applying the standard Internal Revenue Service withholding rates against new wage levels. Because the rates are progressive, the over-all tax bite goes up at a higher percentage than income, which rose 6.6 per cent.

The withholding rates — which determine the amount deducted from paychecks — theoretically represent the average tax obligation over the course of a year for those with a given income range. Some individuals, of course, pay even more or get a refund when they file their tax returns for the year, depending on whether they have outside income or greater-than-normal expenses.

The over-all increase in consumer prices in the last year was 5.6 per cent. Transportation services, with a 15.5 per cent increase, are up the most of any single category in the price index. Food is up 2.4 per cent, fuel oil and coal are up 5.8 per cent and medical care services are up 9.7 per cent.

If price increases alone were the only element nibbling at that worker's budget, he or she would be better off than last year because gross pay was $178 in August, up 6.6 per cent or $11 a week from the previous August. This pay hike should have been enough to keep ahead of inflation.

But under the federal income tax system the more money you earn, the bigger the percentage of your income the government claims in taxes.

Thus, in August last year, that worker was paying $16 a week, or 9.6 per cent of gross pay, for Social Security and federal income taxes. This year, the August federal tax deductions amounted to $20 a week, or 11.2 per cent of total pay.

The result is that the buying power of the average worker's take-home pay is down three-tenths of 1 per cent in that time, in sharp contrast to the 4 per cent increase registered a year earlier with the help of the antirecession tax cuts.

The computations don't account for state income taxes, which ate up almost 2 per cent of the average wage-earner's total pay last year, according to the Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations.

That percentage was unchanged from 1974 but up from one-third of 1 per cent in 1953. State and federal sales and excise taxes are included in the prices computed by the Labor Department and thus plugged directly into the inflation rate.

President Ford and challenger Jimmy Carter have both promised some tax relief, at least for what they consider lower and moderate income people. The Joint Economic Committee of Congress said last weekend it appears that another stimulative tax cut might be in order.
