Senate OKs Contra Aid Plan, Sends It Back To The House

By TIM AHERN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two top House leaders predicted today that President Reagan's $100 million Contra-aid plan, fresh from a narrow Senate victory, will face another close vote when the House reconsiders its earlier rejection.

House Minority Leader Robert Michel, R-Ill., said, "It's certainly not a foregone conclusion that we'll win when it comes back to us."

"But I was sure happy to see it get through the Senate, although we all would have liked to see a larger margin" than the 53-47 victory for Reagan's package, Michel said in a telephone interview from his Peoria office.

Rep. Thomas Foley, D-Wash., the third-ranking Democrat in the House leadership, said he expects the House to "focus on a real compromise and not the cosmetic one that the administration offered where the president really makes all the decisions."

That compromise, approved by the Senate on Thursday, delays delivery of lethal weapons to the U.S.-backed rebels for 90 days to boost the chances for negotiations with the Sandinista rulers of Nicaragua.

The Republican-controlled Senate, after approving the compromise 53-47, approved the aid plan on a voice vote. Michel said Reagan may pick up some House votes because "I sense there's really some anxiety on the part of some of our colleagues who voted against us last time who I think want another shot and a chance to turn around their votes."

"But it sure won't be any walk-away," he said. "I think the closeness of the votes in both chambers is really indicative of the way the country is split on this thing."

On few foreign policy issues had Reagan ever worked so hard. Even as the Senate debated the issue Thursday, Reagan lobbied by telephone as he traveled west for an Easter vacation.

Eleven Democrats joined 42 Republicans in voting for the aid resolution while 36 Democrats joined by 11 Republicans voted against it.

The narrowness of Reagan's victory in the Senate showed he still has a fight on his hands. The House rejected the Reagan plan 222-210 a week ago, so Reagan must find some converts there if he is to prevail.

What will not work in the House, Foley said, is any attempt to bully it into going along with the Senate.

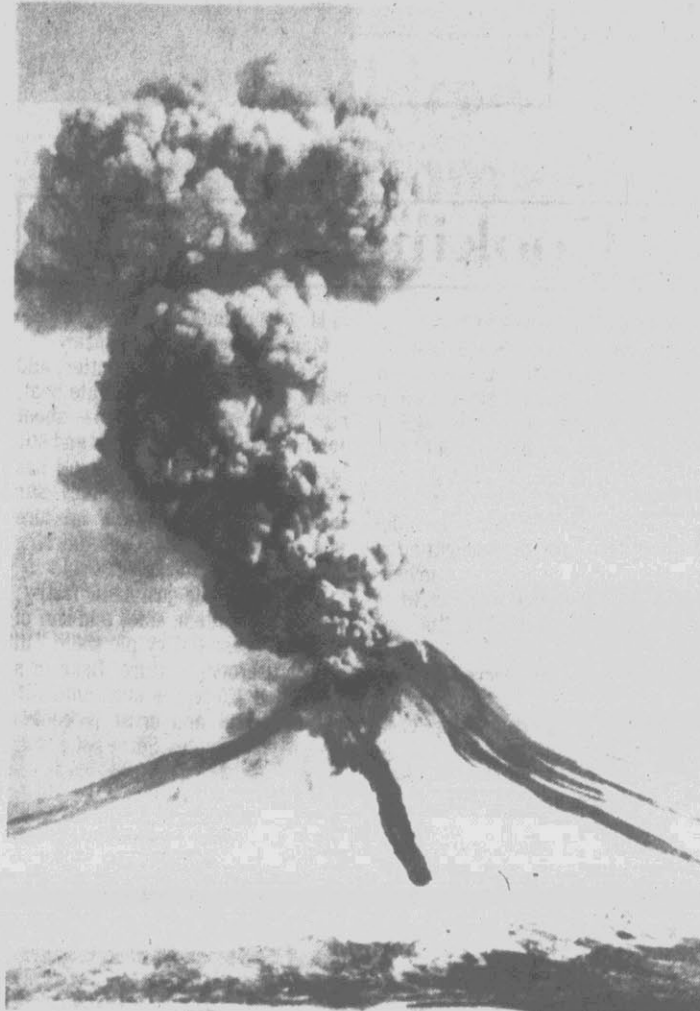

"The Congress isn't going to be bullied," he said on the NBC-TV "Today" show. "The opinion of the American people still is on the other side of this question; they don't support the president's policy. And I think the Congress is really trying to do in its best judgment what's good for the United States."

Foley, a leading opponent of Reagan's aid proposal and the Democrats' chief vote-counter on the issue, was asked about Reagan's assertion Thursday that reported Nicaraguan attacks on Contra camps in Honduras amount to a "slap in the face" to House members who hoped their "no" vote would be seen as an attempt at reconciliation.

"That's nonsense," he replied. "As a matter of fact, the intelligence that we were given right after the incursion ... was that the Sandinistas probably moved because they expected aid to come, not because the vote was against it in the House. That's what we were told by State Department briefers."

In the Senate, White House stress on what it pictured as a large-scale incursion this week by Nicaraguan troops into neighboring Honduras failed to have much impact on the vote, according to both opponents and supporters of the aid plan.

"I don't think it made a difference," said Sen. Richard Lugar, R-Ind.

BLOWING ITS TOP — Augustine Volcano, southwest of Anchorage, sends a plume of steam and ash skyward. Acidic ash from the eruptions has settled over Anchorage and the Kenai Peninsula. Residents of the Alaskan capital have been warned to remain indoors. (AP Laserphoto)

Alaskan Volcano Fans Acidic Dust

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Clouds of corrosive ash carrying the stench of sulfur drifted today from the erupting peak of Augustine Volcano after the restless mountain spit debris more than nine miles high, triggering health alerts in Alaska's largest city.

The 4,025-foot volcano, quiet since 1976, erupted Thursday on its uninhabited island 175 miles southwest of Anchorage and by early today had spread ash as far away as Skwentna, about 75 miles northwest of Anchorage.

Pat Poole, a meteorologist with the U.S. Weather Service, said the Anchorage area probably will see more of the carburetor-choking ash falling by midday, or after the winds change direction.

"We've had some, but so far it hasn't amounted to anything," Poole said of the acidic gray-brown dust. "But as the winds shift from south to southwest, they should start carrying more of it over the Anchorage bowl. It'll probably be a little more noticeable around noon."

FIRE LANE

March 21 I went shopping at The Plaza Shopping Mall with my grandmother who requires the use of a wheelchair. I was unable to pull up to the curb near the buildings to load her chair because of the thoughtless people who had left their cars in the fire lane next to the curb.

Can't someone prevent this practice? I would hate to see a tragic event call attention to this problem. J.M.

According to a spokesman for the shopping mall, the Plaza has been attempting to discourage this practice by having its security force give out warning tickets. Now, however, the lane next to the curb designated is being striped and appropriate signs are being erected. Once this is done, city police will be giving real — not warning — tickets, she said.

U.S. Breaks Off Gulf Showdown

By NORMAN BLACK

AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A large U.S. Navy battle group has sailed unmolested from the Gulf of Sidra and away from Libya with vows by American leaders that the ships will return any time they wish.

"We'll do it again, whether or not any incidents happen or anything of the kind," said Defense Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger, as he and President Reagan announced the 6th Fleet had completed exercises in the disputed gulf Thursday.

Libya's state-run radio responded with claims that strongman Col. Moammar Khadafy had overseen "a glittering victory over the imperialist invaders." The official news agency JANA added that Walid Jumblatt, Lebanon's Druse Moslem militia leader, had offered "suicide squads" to help carry out Khadafy's threat of retaliation for the destruction wrought by the U.S. ships and planes.

President Reagan, who flew to California Thursday for an Easter vacation, countered by saying Khadafy had been planning terrorist operations against Americans even before the confrontation in the gulf. And he pledged, "The United States will not be intimidated by new threats of terrorism against us ... Mr. Khadafy must know that we will hold him fully accountable for any such actions."

The American withdrawal came four days after the 6th Fleet began operations in the Gulf of Sidra and two days after Libyan forces gave up any pretense of further military challenge to the 30-ship battle group led by three aircraft carriers.

The firing of surface-to-air missiles at American planes on Monday touched off U.S. attacks on a missile site and on Libyan patrol boats. At least two of the vessels were reported sunk, and Weinberger said Thursday the Libyans had still not returned the missile battery to operational status.

No American casualties were reported. Weinberger offered no estimate of Libyan losses.

In related developments, —The Reagan administration turned down a Soviet offer for withdrawal of U.S. and Soviet ships from the Mediterranean. "We've explained many times the U.S. has vital interests and commitments to our allies which require a U.S. presence in the Mediterranean," said State Department spokesman Charles Redman. At the United Nations, Libya asked Mediterranean nations to support the Soviet proposal.

PCC Enrollment Climbs

By JANE WELBORN

Reflector Staff Writer

A total of 2,656 students are enrolled for the spring semester at Pitt Community College, members of the Board of Trustees were told at their Thursday meeting.

This figure represents 203 more students than were enrolled at PCC during the 1985 spring semester. According to PCC President Charles Russell, the largest increase in the student population of the college has been in part-time students.

The holiday and school calendar for the college was approved by the board members. Registration for the fall quarter 1986 will begin on Sept. 4, and the first day of classes will be Sept. 8. The last day of classes will be Nov. 21.

The holiday schedule for 1986-87 includes: Independence Day, July 4; Labor Day, Sept. 1; Thanksgiving, Nov. 27-28; Christmas, Dec. 23-24, Jan. 1-2; Easter, April 20.

The board members discussed extending State Road 1708 across the south boundary of the campus, and mentioned the problems with the traffic flow on N.C. 11 in front of the campus.

Building Committee Chairman A.B. Whitley told the board members that the contractors are approximately three weeks behind schedule on the construction of the Learning Resource Center on the PCC campus. "The recent weather conditions have enabled the contractors to avoid any further delays," Whitley said, and the crew has worked six Saturdays.

Whitley said that the roof systems should be complete within two months, and the drainage contractor should have completed his work within the next 30-45 days.

The board members approved the establishment of a Joseph E. Down-

'Bring South Africa To Its Senses'

U.S. Official Raps Apartheid

By ECU News Bureau

An official of the Reagan Administration told a symposium at East Carolina University this week that the United States intends to use all its influence to end apartheid in South Africa.

William Robertson, deputy assistant secretary of state for African affairs, said the people of the United States are aware of the need for change in South Africa.

"Americans desire freedom for those here and abroad. The message to South Africa today is end apartheid. We (the U.S.) are going to use the influence we have in South Africa to end apartheid," he said.

According to Robertson, pressure on American businesses operating in South Africa is the best method the United States has of facilitating positive change in the region.

"The only lever we have to pull is the business entity and we are going to use it as effectively as we can to assist change in South Africa. Our aim must be to bring South Africa to her senses. Apartheid must be dismantled," he said.

He added that American business interests need to remain in South Africa in order to bring about a peaceful resolution to that country's problems. "Rather than talk about how we are going to pull our businesses out of South Africa, our message to businesses should be, 'Do more; do more.'"

Robertson said American businesses operating in South Africa are helping to end apartheid. "The businesses there are doing more; many are staying to see that change does take place. This is a major way the United States can play a role in positive change," he said.

Although the United States has about 350 multinational corporations and $2.7 billion invested in South Africa, Robertson said a withdrawal of American businesses would not destroy the South African government.

"If the United States pulls out, the South African government is not going to topple tomorrow ... We can impose sanctions, but I can assure you, apartheid would continue. If the United States is there, we can put pressure on South Africa. To our 350 companies I would say, 'Stay the course,'" he added.

Another speaker at the symposium, John Chettle, director of the South African Foundation, said apartheid will have long-lasting effects on the country and its people.

"Apartheid has been a disaster whose repercussions will be with us

Cooking Is Fun

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Some recipes are elusive. When recently I was asked how to bake a large mushroom tart without egg to bind its filling, I could find only one recipe of this kind and that did not work well.

Obviously the next step was to develop a recipe for that sought-after mushroom tart in my own kitchen. After several testings, we hit on what our tasters decided must be "the real thing."

This tart may be served several ways. As an hors d'oeuvre with drinks. As a main course for lunch with a crisp green salad. To accompany roast pork or chicken, along with a cooked vegetable, for a sit-down dinner.

MY MUSHROOM TART
Cream Cheese Pastry, see recipe

- 3 tablespoons butter
- 1 small onion (2 to 3 ounces), chopped medium-fine
- 1 pound mushrooms, sliced medium-fine
- 2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
- 1/4 cup heavy whipping cream mixed with 1/4 cup milk
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper

1 large egg white
Make up Cream Cheese Pastry.

In a 10-inch skillet melt butter; add onion and cook over moderate heat, stirring often, until yellowed — about 10 minutes. Add mushrooms and stir until they wilt and their liquid has evaporated — about 10 minutes. Stir in flour, then cream-milk mixture and salt and pepper. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Cool.

Beat egg white just until frothy; brush over bottom, sides and rim of Cream Cheese Pastry pie shell. Fill with mushroom mixture. Bake in a preheated 425-degree oven until filling looks set and crust is golden brown — 25 minutes. Serve hot.

Dear Abby — By Abigail Van Buren

Road To Degree Can Begin At Mailbox

DEAR ABBY: This is for "Closet Dropout," the young married woman who had never graduated from high school. She wanted a high school diploma but was afraid that if she enrolled in a local school the whole town would know it, and it might embarrass her husband—a prominent businessman.

My situation was a bit different. Sixty years ago, when I completed grade school in a one-room country school, my parents thought I had enough education for a girl, so I went to work instead.

Years passed; I married, but never gave up my dream of a higher education. I heard that I could take a correspondence course by writing to the American School of Correspondence, 850 E. 58th St., Chicago, Ill. 60637 (telephone: 312-947-3300). I wrote for the particulars and enrolled. I was 42 at the time. I was allowed five years to complete the high school course, but I finished in a year and a half. After I got my high school diploma, I applied for college, passed the entrance exams, earned a college degree and taught school for 15 years.

I'm retired now, but I never get bored. I'm too busy.

Tell "Closet Dropout" to let nothing stand in her way. Anyone who really wants a high school diploma can get it.

LENA STEPHENS,
ANDERSON, IND.

DEAR LENA: Congratulations. Many wrote to say they received their high school diplomas through correspondence courses. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: There are more than 25 million high school dropouts or folks who never attended high school in our country—many of whom would dearly love to earn a high school diploma. A great many either feel embarrassed or find it inconvenient to attend resident school programs.

I served 51 years in the field of education and have a suggestion for your readers:

Anyone who wants to earn a high school diploma should write or phone the National Home Study Council, 1601 18th St. N.W., Washington, D.C. 20009 (phone: 202-234-5100), and ask for information on accredited home-study high schools. (For university courses: National University Continuing Education Association, One Dupont Circle, Suite 420, Washington, D.C. 20036.)

Correspondence by mail is a very effective method of learning. The prime advantage is that students can study at the time and place of their choice and proceed at their own pace. And correspondence courses are generally far less expensive than resident programs.

I served as the director of education at the American School of Correspondence for 34 years, then left to become dean of Hadley School for the Blind in Winnetka, Ill.—the only school that offers correspondence courses for the blind, tuition-free, to students throughout the world.

E.C. ESTABROOKE, WINNETKA

DEAR ABBY: Several months ago, a prominent Louisiana physician choked to death while dining—in a room filled with physicians! It was the third such tragedy in as many years, all involving persons I had known well.

In all three cases, the victims, programmed since childhood not to show distress in the presence of other diners, left the table without giving the slightest indication that there was a serious problem.

One simple gesture—grasping the throat with both hands—might have saved them. I cannot think of a better medium than your column to spread the vital word that this means, "Help! I'm choking!" I hope you feel that this is worth space in your column.

CONCERNED

DEAR CONCERNED: Worth the space? Yours may be a life-saving contribution, and I thank you for it.

DEAR ABBY: This past week I was approached by 12 co-workers who were selling Girl Scout cookies for their daughters. I feel this is cheating these girls of the opportunity to be part of a team who agreed to help their organization by selling cookies.

I am 100 percent for the Girl Scouts of America. I went through the entire program myself many years ago, and when my doorbell rings and there is a Girl Scout asking me to buy a box of her cookies, I always buy a box. I would never refuse a Scout who has the courage to come to my door to sell her wares. I do, however, refuse to buy from a parent who indirectly encourages laziness in her daughter by selling the cookies at her office for her child.

It's important for parents to realize that they are sacrificing character building when they take over a job for their child.

NO NAME OR TOWN, PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME OR TOWN: I share your view, but there are those who think the bottom line is racking up as many sales as possible. And speaking of selling Girl Scout cookies, read on:

(Do you hate to write letters because you don't know what to say? # Walgreen Pulls Drug After Tampering Threat

CHICAGO (AP) — An anonymous caller's assertion that Encaprin capsules had been tainted with cyanide prompted Walgreen Co. Inc. to remove the non-prescription pain reliever from its 1,170 stores nationwide, a company spokesman said.

A spokesman for the drug's manufacturer today confirmed that the company received an anonymous telephone call in which the caller claimed that Encaprin packages had been tampered with in Walgreen stores in Chicago and Detroit.

Tom Mammoser, director of corporate communications for Deerfield-based Walgreen, said late Thursday the company has no stores in Detroit and he didn't know if there actually had been any tampering.

"All we're doing is reacting to that threat and (taking) that threat away," he said.

"They referred to cyanide," Mammoser said, adding it was not immediately clear if the caller had claimed responsibility.

In Cincinnati, Procter & Gamble spokesman Patrick Hayes said the company had received the anonymous call.

"The caller was a male and indicated, I believe, there were only five capsules involved," Hayes said. "It's not clear to me now whether or not the five capsules were in five separate bottles or supposedly in one bottle."

Hayes said tests would be conducted on the product, but added, "the entire thing may simply be a hoax."

Mammoser said Walgreen officials decided to pull the drug Thursday night after P&G officials contacted Walgreen.

"We just took a very cautious and conservative approach," he said. Walgreen officials sent a message to the company's nationwide computer system to remove the product immediately and to wait for further instructions, Mammoser said.

Food and Drug Administration spokesman Bill Grigg in Washington said he knew nothing about the developments. Dr. Bernard Turnock, director of the Illinois Department of Public Health, and the FBI in Chicago also said they had no information about the situation.

Spot checks early today of stores that sell over-the-counter medications in Chicago, Washington, D.C., Bethesda, Md., Arlington, Va.,

Boston, and Los Angeles turned up none that had gotten reports Encaprin might be tainted.

Last week, the cold remedy Contac and two other over-the-counter medicines were withdrawn from the market by their Philadelphia-based manufacturer, SmithKline Beckman Corp., after rat poison was found in capsules that had been tampered with in Houston and Orlando, Fla.

The contaminant was found after anonymous telephone warnings were made to the company, news media, a storekeeper and police. No injuries were reported.

On Feb. 8, a 23-year-old woman died in New York after taking a cyanide-laced Extra-Strength Tylenol capsule, leading to a recall of that type of capsule by its manufacturer, Johnson & Johnson of New Brunswick, N.J. The company announced it would stop making all of its over-the-counter medicines in capsule form. Police said last week they still had no suspects in the case.

In 1983, seven Chicago-area people died after taking Extra-Strength Tylenol capsules laced with cyanide. No one was ever charged in the killings.

Six Children Die In Flames

WAVELAND, Miss. (AP) — Fire broke out in a foster home here today, killing six small children, the county coroner said.

"The children were in adjoining rooms in the back of the house," said Coroner Harold Stiglet. "They were all burned."

The foster parents and their teen-age son escaped the blaze but were taken to Hancock County General Hospital in nearby Bay St. Louis, he said.

Mary Perkins, a hospital spokesman, said Larry Giveans, 39, underwent surgery for severed arteries in the right hand, while his wife was treated for shock and Robbie Giveans, 14, was examined and released.

Authorities said they were unsure how Giveans suffered the cuts but that the injuries may have occurred in an attempt to reach the children.

Collen Evans, a spokesman for the Waveland Police Department, said the fire was reported about 5:07 a.m.

Authorities were unsure what caused the blaze, Stiglet said. He said the fire was confined to the back of the house, where the children's rooms were located.

National Economy Indicates Better Days May Be Coming

By MARTIN CRUTSINGER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's main forecasting gauge of future economic activity rose a sharp 0.7 percent in February as the economy continued to send out signals of better days ahead.

The department said the increase in its Index of Leading Indicators was the largest since a 1.5 percent December rise, which had been the biggest surge in two years.

In addition, the January change in the index, which had originally been reported as a 0.6 percent drop, was revised upward on the basis of new data to show no change.

The February increase and the big upward revision in January were certain to be viewed as positive signals that economic growth will strengthen in the coming months.

The economy, as measured by the gross national product, rose at a barely perceptible 0.7 percent annual rate in the final three months of the year, a weak change that helped push growth for all of 1985 down to 2.2 percent, the slowest performance since the 1982 recession year.

But the Reagan administration is predicting growth will rebound to a robust 4 percent this year. While this prediction was greeted with widespread pessimism when it was first issued, a number of economists now feel it may come true.

The new-found optimism comes from the steep declines in oil prices of recent months. The price of West Texas crude has plunged by almost $20 a barrel since November, reflecting similar declines in worldwide oil prices.

The dramatic plunge in oil prices has already helped to push interest rates down and the combination of lower interest rates and lower oil bills is expected to give the economy a significant boost in the months ahead, most analysts feel.

The leading index is designed to predict economic activity six to nine months down the road. Many analysts believe that the rebound in growth will really pick up steam in the second half of the year.

Some economists believe that growth in the first three months of 1986 rebounded only slightly from the weak 0.7 percent rate in the final three months of 1985.

With the January revision, the index has now gone without a decline for 10 straight months.

The largest positive factor by far last month was a rise in orders for business capital equipment. The other four positive factors were a rise in stock prices, an increase in the money supply, a gain in the number of new businesses and a slowdown in product deliveries, considered a positive factor because it reflects growing demand.

The February rise came despite the fact that six of the indicators fell last month, as opposed to five that increased.

The biggest negative factor was a decline in the length of the average workweek. Other negative factors were a drop in building permits, a decline in business and consumer credit, a drop in manufacturers' orders for consumer goods, a rise in weekly unemployment claims and a change in prices for sensitive materials.

The various changes left the index at 175.4 percent of its 1967 base of 100.

Economists are in general agreement about the positive impact of falling oil prices, but they disagree over the negative fallout from lower oil bills. Some argue that economic growth in the first half of the year will be depressed because of cutbacks in regions of the country with energy-industry concentrations.

Samuel Nakagama, chief economist for the New York forecasting firm of Nakagama & Wallace Inc., predicted the economy will have to weather a weak first half with growth of around 1 percent before the positive effects of the oil price declines begin to take effect.

FDIC Details Regulatory Plan For Farm-Hurt Banks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. today released details of its plan of regulatory relief for banks that are hard pressed because of heavy agriculture and energy lending. Two other regulatory bodies were expected to follow suit.

The action came as Congress adjourned for a week-long Easter break without passing legislation farm groups had sought to achieve the same regulatory changes in time for the spring farm lending season.

The changes, endorsed earlier in the week by the Senate Banking Committee, became bogged down as senators sought to load the legislation up with unrelated riders on other banking issues.

Worried about the delay that would result if action awaited Congress' April 8 return, 30 senators led by William Armstrong, R-Colo., had written on Thursday to the FDIC, the Federal Reserve Board and the comptroller of the currency asking them to use their administrative authority to accomplish the same policy changes.

Alan Whitney, a spokesman for the FDIC, said letters were being sent to 8,500 banks spelling out details of relief measures and how banks can qualify to take advantage of them. While there are some 4,000 banks with heavy agricultural lending and 500 with large energy loan portfolios, only a small proportion will need to apply for the relief measures, Whitney said.

"This is designed to provide some breathing space to the banks that are experiencing the most severe strain," he said.

The comptroller and the Fed were preparing similar instructions for distribution as early as today.

"Lending decisions are now being made for the 1986 growing season and agricultural lenders need the flexibility that the new regulatory climate would afford if they are to be able to avoid unnecessary foreclosures," the senators wrote in their letter encouraging the regulatory relief.

The American Farm Bureau Federation endorsed the action, saying credit relief for farmers struggling to arrange money for spring planting had become bogged down in election-year politics.

The nation's 4,000 agricultural banks, many of which are feeling the same financial pinch as their farm borrowers, have said they need regulatory allowances if they are to continue making farm loans and to work out restructuring plans with problem borrowers.

Agricultural banks accounted for 68 of the 118 commercial bank failures in 1985, and such banks on the "problem" list have grown to 302 from just one-third that number three years ago.

After an announcement two weeks ago that they would permit banks hurt by bad farm and energy loans to take advantage of looser capital and reporting rules, federal banking regulators were slow to carry out the promise, said Mary Kay Thatcher, a Farm Bureau issues analyst.

"There has been a fight between Republicans and Democrats over who could do the right thing first," Thatcher said. The regulators withheld action so politicians could seize the credit issue, she said.

"If we wait for the House to come back on April 8, we'll be talking around so long it won't be of any help to farmers this spring," she said. "We don't have the luxury of waiting for legislation."

The regulatory relief package announced March 11 included permission for qualifying banks to allow their capital temporarily to fall below the currently required 6 percent of assets. Qualifying banks would be able to let their capital — their cushion against losses — fall as low as 3 percent without being subject to regulatory sanctions.

Reality

While the space shuttle may be on hold, pending full investigation of the disastrous explosion which took the lives of seven present day space travelers, planners are looking ahead to permanent space colonies.

A presidential panel has proposed a $700 billion space program which could put settlements on the moon and Mars and lead to a million travelers a day in space.

The National Commission on Space, which was appointed by President Reagan, sees these possibilities within the next half century. The report, titled "Pioneering the Space Frontier: Our Next 50 Years in Space," is expected to be released next month. While it is dedicated to the crew members who died in the Challenger explosion on Jan. 28, the tragedy did not change the recommendations.

The report is expected to recommend new equipment development. That would include a low orbit cargo vehicle, a passenger vehicle to allow travel to and from low Earth orbit and a transfer vehicle to take passengers and cargo beyond the moon. There would be a network of space stations to support the permanent stations on Mars.

The report will paint a very exciting — and expensive — future for man in space. The present reality, however, is that first we will have to develop further methods of making space travel safe. The recent Challenger tragedy has made that point. We will also have to have clear goals as to how the tremendously expensive space colony undertaking will be of economic benefit to the Earth. The costs of space colonization will be difficult to sell even to future generations.

Private Prisons

One idea for handling the prison population is to turn the operation and construction of prisons over to private interests.

Under such a plan the state would pay a set amount per prisoner to private operators who would incarcerate the prisoners in facilities they construct and manage.

It is a bad idea for North Carolina. Those who commit crimes should be punished and in many cases that certainly means jail terms. Nevertheless taking away a person's liberty for a set period of time is a serious matter and something that should be performed only by the state.

North Carolina has the responsibility to see that accused people receive a full and fair trial in open courts. Once there is a conviction and a prison term is imposed, the state's responsibility does not end. It still rests upon the government to operate the prisons, and at some reasonable standards.

So we turn the incarceration of prisoners over to private interests. What next? Do we contract out the death penalty, possibly to hospitals to administer lethal doses, or do we turn to the paid hangman?

An effort is now under way to provide state funding for improving the prison system. Certainly that is the direction in which we should move, as well as considering alternative punishment possibilities for lesser crimes.

Let's stay away from contracting out the state's prisoners. It is not in anyone's best interest.

How Do You Cover A War?

WASHINGTON (AP) — "You can't cover the war from the White House," presidential spokesman Larry Speakes told reporters as they peppered him with questions about Nicaragua's reported attack across the Honduran border.

That statement is evident, but this was a fight that might not have been noticed — much less netted $20 million in U.S. military aid to repel the attackers — had it not been for the bully pulpit in the White House press briefing room. The White House, in fact, was the principal source of information about the conflict this week.

A senior administration official, briefing reporters there Monday, told of a report — he called it preliminary and unconfirmed — of "a very large Sandinista incursion into Honduras."

Normally, when administration officials are asked about such reports, they refuse to answer until they know more about the situation.

But in this case, the official, speaking from behind the curtain of anonymity, was unusually forthcoming and took care to point out the purported attack came "within 48 hours of the House vote" last week rejecting President Reagan's request for $100 million in aid to the Contra rebels battling Nicaragua's Sandinista government. He was speaking only three days before an even more critical Senate vote was scheduled on the same issue.

Speakes and other administration officials in Washington and U.S. Embassy spokesmen in Tegucigalpa quickly became the primary sources of information about the incursion, which was said to involve two 800-man Nicaraguan battalions assaulting a rebel base camp and hospital about 12 miles inside Honduras.

Honduran officials at first denied there had been an attack, then reversed themselves. Nicaragua denied its forces had crossed the border and called for international observers to monitor the frontier.

Although the fighting described by Speakes was the largest confrontation in recent years, reporters in Honduras were unable to verify it was taking place. And Honduran military sources said Wednesday that soldiers were ordered to keep journalists out of the area.

Associated Press reporter Filadelfo Aleman reported from northern Nicaragua that he was able to move along the Nicaraguan side of the frontier without restriction and found the border region quiet. Speakes said his information indicated Sandinista reinforcements were massing on the border and had crossed at another point.

The White House spokesman continued to be hammered with questions, both as to details of the fighting and as to why his information could not be verified elsewhere.

"It's an isolated region," he said, explaining his inability to provide many answers. "Information is sketchy. Communications are sketchy."

But the spokesman insisted he was sure the attack was real and that the information he had was true.

Speakes said he had "numerous sources, and this is accurate information."

Dismissing a suggestion that he was getting his information from Contra leaders who might be exaggerating the gravity of the situation in their campaign for U.S. aid, Speakes said, "Every national security agency of the government funnels into the White House. ... I don't come to you with information that I haven't checked myself to be sure it's correct. And I look at numerous sources in the Sit Room (the White House nerve center). I see the raw information. I don't see it sanitized."

A senior administration official, speaking from the same lectern but on condition he not be identified, said Honduran officials were tardy in supporting the U.S. version of events out of fear of the Nicaraguans.

"They are very, very goosey about the United States' role down there" and are hesitant to get too close to the United States when they face 120,000 Sandinista troops with Soviet weapons "that far outstrip anything they or all their neighbors have got," the official said.

Testing For Drugs Can Go Too Far

The testing of baseball players for drugs has begun.

"Well, ladies and gentlemen, this is Dan Sundergard of WFLY Radio, and we are in Florida at the baseball training camp stadium of the Doppler Snail Darters. They are playing an exhibition game against the Windemere Dimplings. Leading the lineup for the Snail Darters is Brian Smirk.

"Brian steps up to the plate, tips his cap, takes a practice swing and the umpire hands him a specimen bottle. Smirk is shaking his head to indicate that he doesn't want to be tested, but the umpire vehemently insists. Hold it. Max Fury, the Snail Darter manager, has just jumped out of the dugout and is having a tantrum. He is cussing and throwing his hat on the ground. The umpire is telling him to get back to the dugout. But Max is too incensed to pay any attention. Wait a minute — Fury has grabbed the specimen bottle and has thrown it at the Windemere bench. It has broken into a thousand pieces. The umpire is now tossing Max out of the game for interfering with the testing of a baseball player when he is at bat.

"Things have settled down. Smirk is back at home plate. The umpire gives him another specimen bottle. This time Brian does not flinch. He jogs behind the backstop where no one can see him and ... Let's pause now for a commercial.

"Welcome back to Doppler Stadium. Smirk is returning to home plate. He hands the specimen bottle to the umpire who raises it up to the sun. Everyone in the stadium is holding his breath. Now here comes the decision from the umpire. He is spreading out his hands in a sweeping gesture. SMIRK IS SAFE! The test has come up negative! The crowd is going crazy. The Doppler dugout has emptied out and the players are swarming around Smirk, hugging and kissing him. Now he is riding on their shoulders waving to the fans. Just a second, Tap Chewing, the Windemere manager, is arguing with the umpire that Smirk's specimen was positive and not negative. The umpire has turned his back on Chewing who seems to be threatening to take the test to the baseball commissioner on appeal.

"The umpire has told everyone to get off the field so the teams can play ball.

"Monarchy throws a fast-breaking ball which Smirk connects with and there is goes over the second baseman's head ... back to the wall. Brian has a triple! The third base umpire hands Brian another specimen bottle to make sure he hasn't used any drugs while running from home plate to third. Smirk is going behind a billboard ... And now it's time out for another commercial.

"Here comes Brian back to third with his specimen. The umpire is taking out his test kit. Hold it! He is looking at Smirk strangely. Now his thumb goes up in the air. Smirk is out. Smirk is out! This is the first time a major league player has ever been tested safe at home and then called out at third.

"Smirk is jumping up and down on the umpire's test kit. The Doppler third base coach is throwing sand in the umpire's face. But nothing will change the umpire's mind. In baseball, test tubes don't lie.

"There goes Brian walking toward the dugout. Maybe our man on the field, Simple Semple, can have a word with him."

"What happened, Brian?"

"It was a bad call. I was clean for the entire triple."

"What was that white stuff you were sniffing when you slid into third?"

"That was lime from the baseline."

"Do you think it was the lime that made your test positive?"

"Beats me. I don't even know what the test for lime is."

"Do you believe the baseball commissioner has gone too far with testing baseball players?"

"Damn right. There is nothing wrong with testing us once. But when they test us at every base they've gone too far."

—Elisha Douglas—

Strength For Today

Many people waste their time asking God to do for them what he has already done. The opportunity and means to achieve their fondest desires stands right before them, yet these people continue to implore God to give them what is at hand.

A ship in the mouth of the Amazon River once sent out a call for fresh water to another ship standing by. The Amazon is 150 miles wide at its mouth, and the captain of the distressed ship thought he was in the open sea. The call came back from the other ship. "Lower your buckets over the side and get all the water you want. You are in the mouth of the Amazon River."

The water of life, given us by God, is as readily available as the water of the Amazon River was to the ship captain. We should stop asking God to give us powers we already possess and should ask instead that he stir up within us the disposition to use these powers intelligently.

Public Forum

To the editor:

Everyone calls this season spring. It gives us a zesty feeling of vigor, vim and vitality. It makes us want to walk and enjoy the air and colors of the flowers and the fragrance they hold.

Spring encourages us to smile and speak to those we meet.

We enjoy walking around in our yards, hoping to find someone out to say "Hello there, how are you today?"

Spring brings Easter, and it gives us reasons for thinking. Thinking can get us up to go, show and glow.

Easter is a collection of small and large things — from the egg and rabbit to our promised land, Heaven.

Easter is for all ages. My aging brings me years of work, peace and joy. I do trust my Saviour's word when He said He loved me first. Knowing this, I love Him back.

I praise my Saviour for all his love, grace and glory, and now I glow and show because He is special in my life, because He died for me, because all the time He knew had to grow the tree that had to be.

To the editor:

We usually take three meals a day for our physical bodies, but what do we take for the growth of our souls? Nathaniel Hawthorne, with great insight, wrote: "Most people are so constituted that they can be virtuous only in a certain routine."

Have we been regular in eating our spiritual food?

It is a sad moment for many people when they awaken to the fact that they no longer have a relationship with God. Almost desperately, they ask: "How can I find what I once had?"

The answer is nearly always the same: "We can find it where we left it. Follow the simple habits of the Master. They were these — 1. He went to church. 2. He read the Scriptures. 3. He prayed. 4. He went about doing good."

"Ask for the old paths. Where is the good way, and walk therein. Jeremiah 6:16.

In The Area

Thefts Reported

Greenville police said four thefts were reported to the department Thursday.

Officer J.M. Jones said a purse containing $20 in cash was taken from the Rug Mill Outlet in an incident reported at 1:04 p.m., while Officer T.A. Lee said a pair of ski racks were taken from Holt Oldsmobile on Hooker Road in an incident reported at 1:10 p.m.

Officer G.W. Williams said a pair of earrings and several rings, including a class ring and several silver bands, were taken from 406 Ringgold Towers on Cotanche Street in an incident reported at 2:40 p.m., while Officer J.A. Bartlett said a purse containing $100 in cash, as well as class, diamond and signet rings, was taken from a vehicle parked at the Washovia Bank branch on East Tenth Street in an incident reported at 8:55 p.m.

Possession Charge

William Earl Jones of 110 Manhattan Ave. was arrested Thursday by Greenville police on a charge of possession with intent to sell and deliver marijuana.

Officers assigned to the department's special investigations section said Jones was taken into custody at his apartment about 9 p.m.

Jewelry Robbery

Farmville police are continuing their investigation of an armed robbery at Ellis Jewelry Store on East Wilson Street Thursday in which an estimated $80,000 to $100,000 worth of jewelry was taken.

Officials, who said the robbery occurred about 5:30 p.m., said two men entered the Farmville store on the pretext of purchasing a ring. Police said that after one of the men paid $180 for the ring, the man pulled a pistol and ordered the owner and his wife into the rear of the store, where they were taped to chairs.

The robbers then took jewelry and watches from display cases and also took a number of watches that had been left by customers to be repaired, police said.

Driver Hurt In Wreck

A 4:39 a.m. wreck 3 1/2 miles west of Bethel on U.S. 64 early Thursday injured one man and caused heavy damage to a tractor-trailer truck.

Vicky Rogester, a spokesman for the Bethel Rescue Squad, said Larry Williams of Charlotte was injured when the truck he was driving ran off the highway and overturned. He was taken to Pitt County Memorial Hospital for treatment.

Ms. Rogester said the accident was reported at 4:39 a.m.

Russell Honored

Dr. Charles Russell, president of Pitt Community College, was one of two North Carolina State University alumni in the state to be selected for membership in Phi Kappa Phi, the university's honor society.

Russell was initiated into the chapter in a ceremony Wednesday. Selection is based on professional achievements and service to NCSU.

Students Win ECU History Day Awards

ECU News Bureau
Approximately 285 high school students participated in National History Day district competition at East Carolina University recently.

Competition in junior and senior divisions included six categories of entries. The Pitt County Historical Society awarded a plaque to the school with the top entry in each of the contest categories in each division.

District winners will advance to the state competition at Wake Forest University in April and state winners will compete in June at the University of Maryland.

Local students receiving awards in the junior division were:

John Beasley, E.B. Aycock Junior High School, second place, historical papers; Jennifer Gill, Farmville Middle School, first place, individual projects; Craig Kirkland and Scott Thomas, Aycock Junior High, second place, group project; and Nikki Suggs, Misty Joyner, Allison Van Norman, Belinda Wiggins and Sarah Mercer, Farmville Middle School, second place, group performance.

Senior division winners were: Megan Huber, J.H. Rose High School, first place, historical papers; Nicole Lanier, Aycock Junior High, first place, and Julia Song, Rose High, second place, individual projects; Mohammed Dar, Chris Richards and James Marshall, Rose High, second place, group projects; Sarah Burden, Rose High, first place, and Rob MacKenna, Aycock Junior High, second place, individual performance; Robin Bolande, Anne Benztel, Ingrid Lalik and David McDonnell, Rose High, second place, group performance; and Becky Kirkland, Jamie L. history, according to a spokesman from the school.

Math Winners

J.H. Rose High School took overall first place honors in a countywide math contest. Student winners included:

•Algebra I division — Mike Harris, first place; Lydia Coulter, second, and Courtney Jones, third.

•Algebra II division — Melanie Hardee, first; Chris Marks, second, and Ketan Amin, third.

•Geometry — Jeff Bell, first; Kathy Day, Mark Simmons and Won Kim, second, and Julie Garrison, third.

•Comprehensive division — Carl Wille, first; Duncan Parks, second, and Jon Jolley, third.

Commissioners Meet

The Pitt County Board of Commissioners will hold a workshop meeting Wednesday at 10:30 a.m. at the county office building, 1717 W. Fifth St.

Taft Was Speaker

State Sen. Tom Taft was the guest speaker at the quarterly meeting of the Eastern North Carolina Hospital Association held in Greenville.

Public Hearing

A public hearing concerning application for a 1986 Community Development Block Grant by the town board of Winterville will be held April 14 at 7 p.m. in the town's municipal building.

Maps of the proposed project areas and cost estimates of the amount of work needed in each area will be presented at the meeting.

Easter Egg Hunt

Greenville area Shriners of Refelt Pasha Shrine Temple will sponsor an Easter egg hunt Monday at 11 a.m. at Tom Foreman Park, the Old Eppes High School football field.

The hunt is for all children in kindergarten through eighth grade and the handicapped. Rain date will be Tuesday at 11 a.m.

School Holidays

Pitt and Greenville schools will observe Easter holidays Monday through Friday, school officials said today.

Classes will resume on a normal schedule April 7.

Pig Pickin'

A pig pickin' for Pitt County sheriff's candidate Jackie L. Move will be held at the Bruce Neal Tugwell farm near Fountain on state road 1231, across from Carraway Presbyterian Church, at 1 p.m. Saturday.

Easter Jamboree

An "Easter Jamboree" party was held Thursday at Greenville Villa Nursing Home.

Residents participated in an egg coloring contest and were presented a program on how Easter is celebrated in various countries by Lou Taft and Susan Miller, the East Carolina University therapeutic recreation students who planned the party.

April Proclamation

Greenville Mayor Leslie Garner has proclaimed April as "Clean-up Month."

In his proclamation, Garner said area groups have pledged their help in conserving the beauty of the area.

Indecent Exposure

Greenville police are continuing their investigation of an indecent exposure incident reported to the department about 8:55 p.m.

Officer H.D. Hines said a man entered an apartment at 400C2 Kings Row and exposed himself to the resident.

RECRUITING OF CHILDREN OPEN

The Martin County Community Action Head Start Program is recruiting handicapped children to take part in the program.

The children are being enrolled to use the full range of Head Start education, health and other program services under a Congressional mandate providing 10% per cent of Head Start enrollment nationwide for the handicapped.

The mixing of handicapped and non-handicapped is expected to give all the children a valuable experience in learning to understand and respect differences among people.

In the program, a handicapped child is encouraged to think less about his/her disability and more about his/her strength as he/she relates to other children. By learning and playing with children who are not handicapped, the child improves his/her self-image, overall development and sense of belonging.

Head Start staff workers are trained to work with handicapped children and their families. The program also works with other agencies in the community to provide the full range of services a handicapped child may need.

The Congressional directive defines handicapped as "mentally retarded, hard of hearing, deaf, speech impaired, visually handicapped, seriously emotionally disturbed, physically impaired, or other health impaired children who require special education and related services."

For more information or to enroll a child, please call Mrs. Gloretean Matthewson at 792-1251 and/or Mrs. Mary Lloyd at 792-1761 or come by the Martin County Community Action Office on Ray Street in Williamston, North Carolina; or contact the West Sixth Street Head Start Center located at 1610 West Sixth Street.

Head Start began in 1965 under the Department of Health, Education and Welfare as a program for pre-school children from low-income families. Head Start is a comprehensive developmental program for children ages 3-4 and is based on the premise that all children share certain needs, and that children from low-income families, in particular, can benefit from a program designed to meet those needs. The Head Start program operates nine (9) months of the year — September through May. The Head Start centers are opened Monday through Friday and the hours of operation are 8:00 a.m. - 1:00 p.m. Eligibility is determined by HHS income guidelines, family needs and handicapping and/or special conditions of the child.

GAO Criticizes Hunger Study

WASHINGTON (AP) — A recent hunger study used questionable methods that "cast general doubt" on its findings that many of the nation's 150 hungriest counties are in farm states, a government report says.

The General Accounting Office, the investigative arm of Congress, said Thursday there were "major limitations" in the methodology used by the Physicians Task Force on Hunger in America and Harvard University School of Public Health, which issued the report in January.

Those limitations, the GAO concluded, "are sufficient to vitiate the overall integrity and credibility of the report."

The GAO said, "We doubt that the 150 'hunger counties' identified by the task force are the areas of the country in greatest need of relief from hunger."

John Kellogg, a spokesman for the Physicians Task Force, took issue with the GAO report and said it "appeared to be politically motivated."

"The rhetoric of the report is much sharper than the report's actual findings," said Kellogg. "The GAO report does simply reiterate methodological limitations which we ourselves, when we released our initial report, also highlighted."

The task force study identified 150 "hunger counties" where more than 20 percent of the residents live below the federal poverty level and fewer than a third of eligible residents receive food stamps. The counties were found in 24 states, 13 of them in the Plains or Mississippi Valley.

The sharpest GAO criticism focused on the study's link between food stamp participation and hunger.

"It is not clear that the fundamental relationship between hunger and food stamp participation underlying the task force report can produce an accurate estimate (no matter how methodologically sound the procedure), since this relationship has not been demonstrated," the GAO said.

The hunger study estimated the number of people eligible for food stamps in counties because there is no data on the actual numbers.

Researchers, using data from the Census Bureau and the Agriculture Department, found the 150 counties by identifying 716 counties where 20 percent of the residents live below the poverty line — set at $10,609 for a family of four. They then looked for those counties where at least 33 percent of eligible food stamp recipients do not draw benefits.

The GAO faulted the study for using some 1979 data and said its methods skewed the findings by identifying counties with a small proportion of food stamp participants instead of counties with the "largest absolute number of nonparticipants."

Missouri Reps. Bill Emerson and Tom Coleman, both Republicans, requested the GAO report last month. There were 17 hunger counties in their state.

New Anti-Hunger Song Premieres

NEW YORK (AP) — On the first anniversary of Good Friday broadcasts around the globe of "We Are the World," thousands of people joined in a nationwide sing-along for the debut of the anthem "Hands Across America," aimed at fighting hunger and homelessness in the United States.

Hundreds of people gathered on the steps of St. Patrick's Cathedral in New York City for the sing-along as radio stations played first "We Are the World," then the new song.

The richly mixed song featured verses emphasizing the brotherhood of man and the chorus:

"Hands across America, hands across the land I love. United we stand, united we fall. Hands across America."

The song was to promote a campaign to raise $100 million to fight hunger in the United States. The money will come from contributors willing to stand, hand in hand, on May 25 in a line that organizers hope will stretch across 16 states and the District of Columbia.

In remarks kicking off the 10:15 a.m. EST nationwide broadcast, comedian Lily Tomlin said the campaign would give people "the ability to link up, feel they can make an impact."

Entertainer Suzanne Anton said it's a "possibility for us to put an end to hunger in the United States in our lifetime. It's an opportunity for us as Americans to set an example, show what a difference it makes when we get involved."

The program was made available for broadcast across the country via United Stations, a New York-based radio satellite network, said David Fulton, a spokesman for the Hands Across America group. About 7,500 copies of the record were shipped to radio stations, he said.

Ken Krager, organizer of USA for Africa and the new campaign, said the new record, by musicians billing themselves Voices of America and being distributed by EMI-America, would reach stores next month.

Fulton said the organizers tried to keep the year-old, Grammy-winning "We Are the World" as the theme of the May 25 event because they wanted the focus to be on the linkup and not a song.

"Hands Across America," he said, is a promotional tool.

Fulton said there are 9,000 licensed AM and FM radio stations in the United States, and he believes thousands will pick up the broadcast. Because it was being offered free and without exclusivity, there was no way to know how many stations would use it, he said.

"Hands Across America," by commercial jingle writers Marc Blatt, John Carney and Larry Gottlieb, will be released for sale about April 7, said Krager. "We Are the World" will be on the flipside.

The proceeds will go to Hands Across America in the same way that Krager's USA for Africa raised $44.5 million, mostly for African famine relief.

First figures for sign-ups are expected to be released in early May; and corporate sponsors such as Coca-Cola, Citibank-Citicorp, McDonald's and American Express are expected to begin promotional pushes in April.

Krager said today's sing-along kicked off sign-up for the May 25 line-up and urged those who wanted to join in to call 1-800-USA-9000.

Summerfield Opens

Ribbon-cutting ceremonies marking the official opening of Summerfield Subdivision, a 46-acre single-family housing subdivision on the west side of Memorial Drive within walking distance to the Greenville Golf and Country Club, were held this morning.

Tommy Worthington, a spokesman for the developer, DUCO Properties, said the development is the first new subdivision in Greenville in over five years.

Worthington said lots in Summerfield will range from 12,000 to 20,000 square feet. The one- and two-story houses in the subdivision will range from 1,200 to 1,800 square feet and cost from $70,000 to $100,000, he said.

There will be 128 lots. Worthington said trees 20 feet to 30 feet high are being transplanted in the subdivision to provide a "nicely landscaped area."

The developers, with over 30 years building experience in the Greenville area, have been major participants in development projects such as Cherry Oaks, Camelot and Windy Ridge.

Use Permit Granted

The Greenville Board of Adjustment on Thursday conditionally granted a special use permit to Reynolds Aluminum and James Roberson allowing a trailer to be used to buy and store aluminum in a commercial downtown fringe zoning district.

"The board conditionally granted the permit subject to them keeping the lot clear of debris and trash," said Jack Simoneau, city planner.

Simoneau said the owners of the property located at 1114 N. Greene St. must return in one year's time for a renewal of the permit.

In other action, the board granted a special use permit to Holt Oldsmobile allowing a major repair shop in a highway commercial zoning district. The property is located at 991 Greenville Blvd. S.W.

The board also conditionally granted a special use permit to Stacy Clark Eastwood and Clifton Earl O'Geary allowing a mobile home in a residential/agricultural zoning district.

The petitioners are subject to having the mobile home moved off the lot on the north side of SR 1726, south of the Norfolk Southern Railroad right-of-way, according to Simoneau, who said the petitioners are building a house on the lot and plan to live in the mobile home until it is completed.

At the conclusion of the meeting, the board presented a letter of appreciation for serving on the Board of Adjustment to Don Brown, who stepped down.

Acquittals

FRANKLIN, N.C. (AP) — A Macon County doctor and a former nurse anesthetist at Angel Community Hospital in Franklin were acquitted Thursday of involuntary manslaughter charges.

A seven-man, five-woman Macon County Superior Court jury took slightly less than two hours to deliver innocent verdicts for Dr. Joseph W. Kahn and Mary Sue Bryson, who had been on trial since March 17 in Macon County Superior Court.

Kahn, a surgeon and general practitioner in Franklin since 1946, and Ms. Bryson were indicted in July on involuntary manslaughter charges in connection with the Sept. 22, 1984, death of Nancy Lee Holland of Macon County.

Mrs. Holland, 30, whose husband, Gary, is a chief deputy with Macon County Sheriff's Department, died in the hospital's operating room while undergoing a Caesarean section delivery of the couple's daughter.

The child, Nancy Elizabeth, lived.

Municipal League Says Tax Hikes Likely

By JOHN FLESHER
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH (AP) — With the federal government cutting its apron strings, North Carolina cities and counties may have to impose property tax increases to keep providing services citizens are accustomed to, officials say.

"We are seeing... the beginning of the end of the relationship between the federal government and cities and counties," said Leigh Wilson, executive director of the N.C. League of Municipalities. "It has been in place 50 years and the plug is getting ready to be pulled."

Six federal programs involving aid to municipalities are scheduled for drastic cutbacks or elimination over the next five years, Wilson said

Thursday in a report to the Legislature's Property Tax System Study Committee.

The proposed cuts place local governments in a difficult position, because the public continues to demand the services provided under the federal programs while opposing local tax increases, Wilson said. Meanwhile, the Gramm-Rudman-Hollings deficit reduction plan makes deep federal cuts virtually inevitable.

Smaller towns would suffer the most because they have relied more heavily than larger cities on the federal government for capital projects and other major expenditures, he said.

The endangered programs include: general revenue sharing, water and sewer system construction grants, community development block grants, federally assisted housing programs, urban mass transportation grants, and economic and rural development assistance programs such as the Small Business Administration and Farmers Home Administration.

Those programs provided North Carolina cities and towns an average of $192,889,848 per year between 1980 and 1984, Wilson said.

He said the municipalities league's analysis of the extent to which cities and towns would have to raise property taxes to continue the programs was based on a "worst-case scenario" — elimination of all the programs and no help from the state in picking them up.

Wilson also cautioned that the analysis was based on the assumption — which may prove wrong — that local government will try to fund all the programs at current levels using only property tax revenue.

Based on the federal funding received between 1980 and 1984 and the property tax rates levied during that period, the league estimated that Ahsokie would have to raise its tax 45 cents per $100 of assessed property value to continue the programs.

That would raise the typical taxpayer's property tax bill by $228.30 per year in Ahsokie, Wilson said. The league report considered an owner of $50,000 worth of property to be typical, he said.

Here's the league's estimate of the amounts some other cities and towns would have to raise property tax rates to continue the federal programs on their own: Asheboro, 25 cents per $100 of assessed property ($125 per taxpayer); Boone, 48 cents ($243 per taxpayer); Chapel Hill, 20 cents ($101.40 per taxpayer); Charlotte, 21 cents ($108.40 per taxpayer); Goldsboro, 28 cents ($140.50 per taxpayer); Hookerton, $1.67 ($838 per taxpayer);

Lincolnton, 62 cents ($314.45 per taxpayer); Macclesfield, $4.73 ($2,367.30 per taxpayer); Manteo, 64 cents ($323.90 per taxpayer); Pilot Mountain, 96 cents ($481.45 per taxpayer); Red Springs, $1.34 ($673.10 per taxpayer); Rocky Mount, $1.01 ($507.75 per taxpayer); St. Pauls, 25 cents ($125.30 per taxpayer); Waynesville, 46 cents ($233.25 per taxpayer).

Officials noted that the tax rates of some small towns would jump extraordinarily high because they have received major grants for such projects as wastewater treatment. That's the case for Macclesfield, which got an average of $221,797 annually for an Environmental Protection Agency water project between 1980 and 1984.

Ron Aycock, executive director of the N.C. Association of County Commissioners, told the legislative committee the average county would have to raise its property tax rate 9 percent — or cut spending by that much — to compensate for the loss of revenue sharing funds alone.

ECU Science Fair Honors Announced

ECU News Bureau

Awards were given to 97 high school students for science projects that were displayed in the Eastern Regional Science Fair held recently at East Carolina University.

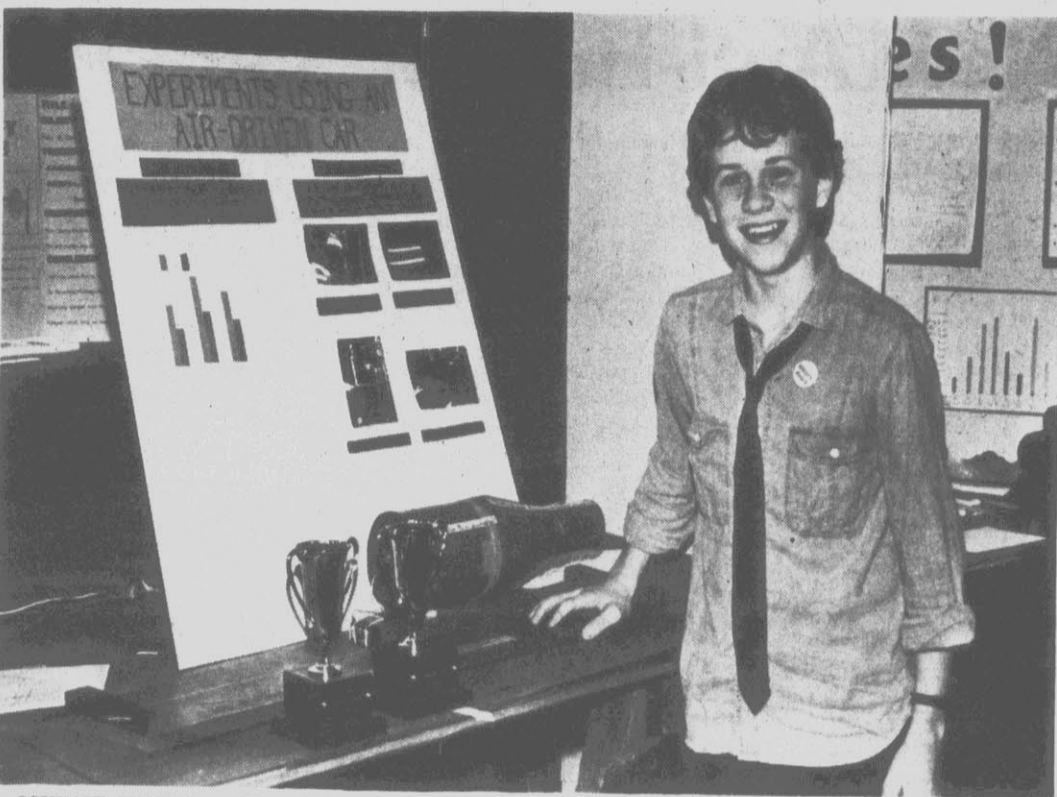

More than 300 exhibits were entered in the annual competition.

Awards were given for first, second and third place and for honorable mention in junior and senior level divisions. Categories included biological, computer, earth, physical, and technological sciences. In addition, special awards were given by the Air Force, Army, Navy, Marine Corps, the Eastern District of the N.C. Dietetic Association and the ECU Home Economics Alumni Society.

Local winners included:

Evan Kane, E.B. Aycock Junior High School, first place, junior technological category; Jonathan Li, Aycock Junior High, second place, computer category; Jonathan Carson, Aycock Junior High, second place, junior earth category; Brian C. Wille, J.H. Rose High School, second place, senior biological science category; Kelly L. Seamster, A.G. Cox Grammar School, third place, junior earth category; and Meredith Ross Lee, Greenville Middle School, second place, junior biological science category; Tina M. Williams, Greenville Middle, third place, junior biological science category; Kimberly S. Faulkner, Greenville Christian Academy, U.S. Marine Corps Award; Marty K. Brannon, Greenville Middle, ECU Home Economics Alumni Society Award.

Wilson OKs Single-Seat District Plan For Elections

WILSON, N.C. (AP) — More than four years after a lawsuit was filed charging that Wilson County's election system diluted minority voting strength, county commissioners have agreed to adopt the plaintiffs' single-member district plan.

The settlement reached this week also came more than six months after U.S. District Court Judge Franklin Dupree ruled last August that the county's seven-member, staggered-term, at-large election system was invalid because it violated the Voting Rights Act of 1965.

Dupree ordered the plaintiffs and defendants to propose alternative election plans for review by the court. Earlier this month, the U.S. Justice Department rejected the county Board of Commissioners' two-district plan, which would have elected two members from a predominantly black district and five members from a larger, predominantly white district.

The plan adopted 4-3 Wednesday sets up seven single-member districts and requires the county to agree to elections for all seven commissioners to four-year terms in 1986.

County Commissioner Preston Harrell said he supported the motion reluctantly.

"I am disappointed that those of us who were elected and sworn to serve four years will not have an opportunity to serve," Harrell said, "but I accept that on behalf of the citizens of Wilson County so that Wilson County can continue to go forward."

Robert D. Haskins, J.E. Williams, the Rev. T.A. Watkins, Roy Atkinson, Lamont Hamilton and Milton F. Fitch Sr. had sued the county Board of Commissioners, the Board of Elections and the elections supervisor in April 1982.

The original complaint said the county had never received Justice Department approval as required by the Voting Rights Act for election changes installed in 1965, 1967 and 1976. The suit was later amended to allege dilution of minority voting strength.

The plaintiffs' plan includes three districts with more than 60 percent black population and one district that is entirely rural.

The four predominantly white districts have black populations ranging from 3.45 percent to 30.68 percent. The population of Wilson County is 36.4 percent black. Population totals are based on 1980 U.S. Census figures submitted by the plaintiffs.

County Manager Garry Mercer said after the meeting that the election date would be set by the court and is not a part of the commissioner's agreement. The plaintiffs have asked for an election as early as possible, but the county has filed a motion seeking a later election date to allow for assigning voters to the new districts.

The settlement will be submitted to the federal court in the form of a motion by the plaintiffs.

Waterway Oil Spill Cleared

SHALLOTTE POINT, N.C. (AP) — Fuel oil spilled into the Intracoastal Waterway when a barge ran aground near Shallotte Inlet earlier this month has been cleaned up, officials say.

Lt. Cmdr. Keith Moll of the Coast Guard Marine Safety Office in Wilmington, said the last part of the cleanup was to remove oil from piers and large pleasure craft.

A barge carrying 360,000 gallons of oil hit an object in the waterway March 17 and a tank ruptured.

Good weather the past couple of days helped make the cleanup easier, but it will still be costly for the owner of the barge, Chatham Towing Co. of Savannah, Ga., officials said.

"The bills are still coming in, but it'll be over a couple hundred thousand (dollars)," said Al Allen, safety and environment director for Chatham.

The accident is under investigation by the Coast Guard. There is speculation that the barge may have struck an anchor attached to a dredge under contract to the Army Corps of Engineers.

Moll said that because the emergency crews arrived promptly, the spill was contained.

"The initial response was a key factor in the cleanup, with the booms being placed around the barge right after the accident," he said.

Moll said Mother Nature helped remove some of the oil by cleaning some of the marsh areas and taking the oil out to sea.

State environmental and health agencies have reopened affected waters in the spill area to clamming as officials determined the shellfish were safe to eat.

Reagan Will Sign Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan said Thursday he would sign a budget bill that revamps the federal tobacco program.

"I expect to sign it into law," Reagan said in an advance copy of a speech released by the White House.

Besides a new tobacco program, the legislation will also make permanent the 16 cent per pack federal excise tax on cigarettes. The tax was temporarily dropped to 8 cents per pack because Congress failed to enact legislation by March 15.

Volunteers Plan Study Of Dolphins At Beaufort

RALEIGH (AP) — Some dolphins have been hanging out in the Beaufort area, but no one's ever determined whether they're tourists or permanent residents, say volunteer researchers who intend to find out.

Emory S. DeCastro, a researcher at the Duke University Marine Laboratory in Beaufort, said groups of dolphins, called stock, migrate up and down the North Carolina coast, while others, called separate stock, leave and rejoin the migrating herd from time to time.

He said researchers believe some of the mammals find the Beaufort area to their liking and never leave, but a study is being conducted to see if that's true.

DeCastro said if there is a local population, other studies will be conducted to learn more about how the animals live.

The Dolphin Watch program is sponsored by a group of researchers at the Duke Lab and at an adjacent laboratory of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration. DeCastro said researchers got the idea for the project while watching dolphins in the waters near their Pivers Island laboratory.

"We would be doing our research, see them out the window and stop to watch," he said.

The group had to get a federal permit to study the dolphins because the mammals are protected by federal law. Participants receive no funds for their help. Public volunteers were enlisted as observers.

Since the project began last June, observers have sent about 200 sighting reports and 90 photographs to the scientists. Volunteers are asked to describe the time and any identifying characteristics, especially the shape of each dolphin's dorsal fin.

DeCastro said the fin "is like their thumbprint" and can be used to help identify individual animals. One dolphin with a distinctive fin shaped like a broken sailing mast has been sighted in Beaufort, at Fort Macon and at Cape Lookout throughout the year.

"He's a prime contender for being a local," DeCastro said.

Patrons Say Duke Rates Hurt Industry

RALEIGH (AP) — A group of textile firms and other industrial electric customers, who oppose Duke Power Co.'s latest rate hike request, say the utility's rate increases are hurting business and driving jobs away.

"We intend to present witnesses (at public hearings this summer) that will testify to the fact that jobs are being moved out of Duke's industrial territory," Jerry Roberts, executive director of the Carolina Utilities Customers Association, said Thursday.

Roberts' organization represents 65 industrial customers in North Carolina — most of them textile companies.

He said one of the problems is that Duke Power is placing too big a burden on industry to get its return on investment.

The 14.7 percent rate increase filed Thursday goes further toward closing the gap between industrial and other consumers in sharing the rate-of-return burden, he said, but "it probably does not go far enough to correct the terrible inequity against the industrial class of customers."

In other states, industry is being offered breaks on electric rates, Roberts said.

"Industrial consumers in North Carolina are not asking for this at all, just a fair rate of return and an opportunity to be competitive rather than having jobs exported to New York and South Carolina," he said.

The request would increase rates for industrial consumers by 14 percent and rates for commercial and residential customers by 15.9 percent.

For the typical North Carolina residential customer who uses 1,000 kilowatt-hours of electricity a month, the average monthly bill of $72.76 would increase to $84.36.

The request is the last one tied to Duke Power's 15-year construction program. While other rate increase requests are likely, they probably won't be as great, company officials said.

The N.C. Utilities Commission is expected to hold hearings on the request this summer and issue a ruling in the fall.

"About 60 percent of the request is to cover costs associated with the recently completed second unit at our Catawba (nuclear power) station," said Donald Denton, Duke Power's senior vice president for marketing and rates.

Crash Suits

FAYETTEVILLE (AP) — Families of three Cumberland County soldiers killed when their charter jet crashed in Gander, Newfoundland, have filed $15 million lawsuits, saying the servicemen were ordered on to an aircraft that was unsafe.

Meanwhile, U.S. Rep. Charlie Rose, D-N.C., is sponsoring a bill that would make such aircraft subject to military inspections.

Rose and Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., sponsor of similar Senate legislation, want military inspectors to make sure charter airplanes are up to Federal Aviation Administration standards because the FAA says it lacks the manpower for such inspections.

Two of the lawsuits were filed last week in Florida by Fayetteville attorney Bobby Deaver on the behalf of the families of Spec. 4 Mark Edward Carter and PFC Jerrin C. Johnson, both 22. The third suit was filed on behalf of the family of PFC Stuart "Dan" Arrowood by Fayetteville lawyer Reed Noble.

Waste Rally

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — A Triangle group is sponsoring a benefit rock concert for Eastern Sunday to educate residents on a possible nuclear waste dump for a site near Raleigh, an organizer says.

Seven rock bands will perform Sunday, in the second benefit concert organized in the area. A concert was held last weekend in a Chapel Hill nightclub.

Organizer Betsy Levitas wants to put a stop to the Department of Energy's proposal to place a nuclear repository in a crystalline rock formation called the Roanoke Pluton lying under eastern Wake, southern Franklin and northern Johnston counties.

WINSTON-SALEM (AP) — A scientist at the Bowman Gray School of Medicine has received a $296,000 grant from the National Institutes of Health to study man-made biochemical substances that may help the body fight cancer.

Dr. Edward J. Modest, a professor of biochemistry, will lead an eight-member team in studies on platelet activating factor derivatives. Commonly known as PAF derivatives, they are modeled after the substance that helps blood form clots.

Scientists at Bowman Gray and the University of North Carolina School of Medicine are among the leading researchers developing PAF derivatives in the country.

Promotion

SHELBY, N.C. (AP) — Distillers are being allowed to merchandise their products in North Carolina ABC stores for the first time, a practice that began with a Shelby outlet and has been expanded to five other stores, officials say.

In the Shelby store, a large peach revolves to promote Peachtree Schnapps and a turning sign draws attention to Wild Turkey. Store manager Joe Stockton said the store received authority for the change from state Alcoholic Beverage Control officials in December.

Stockton said North Carolina was one of the few states that has forbidden distillers from merchandising in stores. He said reaction to the change has been "excellent" and that sales have remained stable despite price increases that took effect in October.

Sentenced

CHARLOTTE (AP) — A 37-year-old Charlotte man has been sentenced to five years in prison and fined $500 after pleading guilty to shooting his 31-year-old brother in the back.

Larry Honeycutt pleaded guilty to assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill, inflicting serious injury on Pete Honeycutt, who was paralyzed from the chest down in the September shooting.

Testimony indicated both men had been drinking.

Speaker

CHARLOTTE (AP) — The Rev. Billy Graham will be the final speaker in a series of events to honor The Charlotte Observer's 100th anniversary.

Graham will discuss his perspective on how religion has changed in North Carolina and South Carolina and the world during the recent decades, as well as how his Charlotte roots affected him and his approach to religion.

The eight-month series of anniversary speeches and performances by North Carolina and South Carolina natives began March 21 with CBS newsman Charles Kuralt.

Election Suit

HIGH POINT, N.C. (AP) — Mayor Judith Mendenhall says the city of High Point will act by April 17 on a discrimination suit filed against the city over its election process.

Ms. Mendenhall said the City Council will meet April 17, three days before the city's deadline for response to the suit filed by the North Carolina Civil Liberties Union on behalf of John Langford, a High Point lawyer, charging that the city's election process discriminates against blacks.

Town Fined

PILOT MOUNTAIN, N.C. (AP) — The state Division of Environmental Management has fined the town of Pilot Mountain $2,915 for allowing its sewage-treatment plant to pollute Heatherly Creek last year.

In a special meeting Thursday night, the town Board of Commissioners decided to ask the division to reduce the fine.

The pollution did not affect Pilot Mountain's water supply, which is taken from another creek.

Campgrounds

CAPE HATTERAS, N.C. (AP) — In an effort to curb expenses under the Gramm-Rudman deficit-reduction law, Cape Hatteras National Seashore campgrounds will not open for the summer this Easter weekend.

Superintendent Tom L. Hartman said in a news release that the campgrounds will open May 2.

Fayetteville Veterans Group Calls For Study Of Media In Vietnam

By TOM MINEHART
Associated Press Writer

Biased and false news reports that the United States lost the 1968 Tet Offensive robbed the American people of the will to win the Vietnam War, says a Fayetteville group calling for a congressional investigation of the media.

But a University of North Carolina military historian says that while some media reports were unbalanced, it was President Lyndon Johnson's credibility gap that turned many Americans against the war.

A spokesman for the Vietnam Veterans of America said such an investigation "would seem to be a violation of the First Amendment."

"I'm haunted by the 55,000 lives given in the cause of freedom over there," said Leonard Magruder, who is working with the Veterans Press Syndicate of Fayetteville and other veterans groups pushing for a congressional investigation into news coverage of the Tet Offensive.

"They never really got the credit they deserved for their efforts in the media," said Magruder, 57, a former psychology professor who is not a veteran himself. "The millions who came back were badly treated because of the distortions and myths the media created."

Magruder said nearly 100 books about the war, including some by former war correspondents, concluded that reporters portrayed the Tet Offensive as a U.S. defeat and helped turn the nation against the war. Even some Viet Cong and North Vietnamese officials expressed surprise that a communist defeat was seen as a U.S. defeat, he said.

"By 1968, most of the reporters had become sympathetic to the anti-war movement," Magruder said. "They said it was only a civil war, that communists were not involved."

"People still hold onto the myth, and it's perpetuated on college campuses around the country," he said. "I'd like to get the historical record straight for the sake of the country, for the sake of veterans and for the sake of future crises."

James Luetze, a professor of military history at UNC-Chapel Hill, agreed that the Tet Offensive of Jan. 31-Feb. 26, 1968, was a U.S. victory "in purely military terms."

"We inflicted staggering losses on the Viet Cong infrastructure, and they never recovered from it," he said. Some 4,300 Americans and South Vietnamese were killed, while the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese lost 38,000.

But the battle also undermined the credibility of Johnson, who had "tried to manipulate the media to his own benefit," and the credibility of top military officials, Luetze said.

"They gave the impression, since they were very positive about the way the war was going prior to this, that they did not know what was happening, that they were not in control of the situation and that the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese were much stronger than they had known," he said.

"The press was in part responsible. But what's really important is what happened. (Enemy forces) were able to hold on in the city of Hue for a month. They did inflict some losses on us and our Vietnamese allies."

Public support for the war had been slipping for at least two years before Tet, said Luetze. Many people moving against the war were not for peace but were frustrated by Johnson's failure to escalate and win the war.

But surveys during Tet showed that "public support for the war actually went up while the press sent in dramatic stories about what was happening," he said.

"It was only after Tet sunk in, when the media were presenting new analyses and the military was stressing the positive things, that the public concluded, 'Yeah, you're right, we killed more of them, but the war is still going to go on and on and on; we're not going to take our gloves off and fight to the finish.'"

Luetze said the media did not always present a "fair and well-rounded picture," but generally did a good job of showing how complex the war was and how unwisely it was being fought.

Magruder said 15 groups, including chapters of the Vietnam Veterans of America, the Veterans of the Vietnam War and the Young Americans for Freedom, have rallied behind his call for a congressional investigation. He said he is having 10,000 bumper stickers printed that say, "No More Media Vietnams."

VVA spokesman Michael Leaveck said that while VVA chapters are free to take a stand, the central organization cannot. He said a congressional investigation of the media "would seem to be a violation of the First Amendment."

"I can't see how an investigation of the media's coverage of the Tet Offensive would vindicate or cast light upon the sacrifice of the lives lost in Vietnam," he said. Among veterans, "you'll find a lot of different opinions voiced on the media and whether the Tet Offensive was a victory or not."

Air Force Will Cancel Costly Jet Trainer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force, facing budgetary pressures, has decided to modernize its aging fleet of T-37 trainer planes and cancel a $3.5 billion program for new T-46 aircraft, Pentagon and congressional sources say.

Rep. Norman Lent, R-N.Y., said Thursday his office had been told Air Force Secretary Russell A. Rourke had decided against the T-46 and would make an announcement as early as today.

An Air Force spokesman said he was unaware of any official decision. But Pentagon sources, speaking on condition they not be identified, confirmed Lent's statement and said Rourke had based his decision on "budgetary limitations."

They said the Air Force would scrap the T-46, the main defense product made by Fairchild Republic Co. in Farmingdale, N.Y., and try to upgrade the existing fleet of T-37s built by Cessna Corp. of Wichita, Kan., home state of Senate Majority Leader Bob Dole.

Earlier this year, Dole had urged the Air Force to cancel the T-46 program, contending the planes could not be built on schedule or within their budget. Although he did not refer to Cessna by name, the Republican lawmaker said upgrading the T-37s would "result in a savings to the taxpayer of several billion dollars."

Rep. Thomas Downey, D-N.Y., whose district includes Fairchild Republic, said he had heard about the decision, which he called

"frightening, not only for the future of pilots in the Air Force but certainly for Fairchild Republic."

He said he believed the House ultimately would restore money for the new trainer for the 1987 fiscal year.

"This means that Bob Dole wins this round, but frankly, I think we'll win the next round," Downey said.

Officials at both Fairchild and Cessna declined comment Thursday.

According to the congressmen, Fairchild would complete its initial contract for 10 T-46 trainers and two test planes, but the Air Force would then opt to retrofit the T-37. The T-37 first entered service in 1957 and is the first jet trainer student pilots learn to fly.

Fairchild Republic was selected in 1982 to build the T-46 as the replacement for the T-37. But the T-46 program has been plagued by development snags.

Last September, the Air Force announced it was slashing Fairchild's monthly contract payments in half, to $4 million, because of "numerous management and production deficiencies" at the firm's plant.

A few days later, Cessna sent an unsolicited proposal to the Air Force, saying it could retrofit the existing T-37s and save roughly $2 billion of the projected $3.5 billion cost of building the new fleet of 650 T-46s.

The Reagan administration's fiscal 1987 budget contains no funds for the T-46 program, but the Air Force had agreed to review the program before making a final decision this month.

British Banning Special Air Discounts In North Atlantic

NEW YORK (AP) — In the midst of a crucial booking period for North Atlantic air charters, Britain has dealt a blow to the trans-Atlantic airline fare war by prohibiting special discounts on such flights.

"We're sort of back to a square-one situation now," John Lampl, a New York-based spokesman for state-run British Airways, said Thursday following the announcement of the action.

The Civil Aviation Authority of the United Kingdom, exercising its rights under a U.S.-Britain aviation agreement, announced that it was prohibiting the discounts that North Atlantic carriers have been relying on to stimulate business.

British Airways was only one participant in the fare war which is offering travelers up to $200 off customary fares to Britain, the most popular European destination for U.S. travelers.

The announcement came as a surprise to British Airways and competing carriers, including American Airlines, Trans World Airlines, Pan American World Airways, British Caledonian Airways, Lufthansa German Airlines and Northwest Orient Airlines.

James A. Arey, a spokesman for Pan Am, said he was surprised at the announcement because the discounts have been in effect since the middle of this month and it was unclear why the British government waited to prohibit them.

"I'm sure this will have an effect because it is a period of time when we're trying to stimulate the market for the busy spring-summer season," he said. "We will simply have to find new ways in order to entice that market."

The British government gave no public explanation for the ruling, which was effective immediately, but said tickets already issued under the discounts will be honored. The deadline for purchasing them had been April 15.

Most of the carriers offered the bargains through coupons available from travel agents and newspaper and magazine advertisements. They gave $200 discounts for tickets from West Coast points to Europe and $150 discounts from East Coast points to Europe, through Sept. 15.

In typical examples, a New York-Frankfurt roundtrip which normally sells for $784 under the cheapest fare costs $634 under the special bargains, and a Los Angeles-London roundtrip, normally $700, costs $500.

Al Becker, a spokesman for Dallas-based American, said American will still offer the discounts to Germany.

"I guess this did come as a surprise to us, although one never knows how foreign governments are going to react to this kind of competition," he said. "We in the United States are used to this freewheeling activity."

France, Ireland, Norway and Sweden also have disallowed the special fares, and Italy has allowed them on flights to Rome only. But the British ban is considered a major setback because of Britain's unparalleled popularity as a U.S. tourist attraction.

Airline industry analysts have said the discounts stem mainly from the declining value of the U.S. dollar, which has discouraged Americans from traveling overseas and compelled airlines to entice them with cheaper fares.

Other reasons for the bargains include an aggressive move by Pan Am into Europe and a TWA flight attendants strike, which began March 7. The walkout compelled the carrier to slash fares in an effort to keep customers.

A hazardous chemicals team has been organized within the Fire-Rescue Department in order that officers may be better prepared to respond to chemical fires and disasters. For information, call 752-4137.

Senators Want Mailing Costs Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two senators warned their colleagues that if they don't take drastic steps to curb their mailing costs, the choice they face this summer "will either be stop sending letters or turn to the phones."

Sens. Charles Mathias, R-Md., and Wendell Ford, D-Ky., introduced an urgent resolution Thursday night proposing an immediate seven-day moratorium on Senate mass mailings and urging similar action in the House.

That would be the first step in a plan advanced by Mathias, chairman of the Senate Rules Committee, and Ford, the panel's ranking Democrat, to make sure that Congress stays within its current $95.7 million budget for mailing expenses.

Without emergency action, Ford warned, "in the next 30 days Congress will mail itself broke."

According to the Postal Service, government-paid postage for mailings by the House and Senate will exceed $146 million this year unless legislators exercise voluntary restraint.

Newsletters to constituents, which critics denounce as thinly disguised campaign literature for members of Congress seeking re-election, accounts for the bulk of these costs.

Shortly after it returns April 8 from an Easter recess, the House is expected to vote on a $1 billion supplemental money bill that includes an additional $42.2 million for congressional mail this year.

If approved by Congress, the extra money would push to a record $137.9 million the budget for "franked" mail which is sent at government expense.

But in a letter to their Senate colleagues, Mathias and Ford said that "in light of present fiscal and political realities, a supplemental appropriation for franked mail is in the interest of neither the Senate nor the American taxpayer."

They said that if House and Senate mailing costs are not curbed, they will nullify the budget-cutting savings that Congress has achieved to meet requirements of the Gramm-Rudman law aimed at eliminating budget deficits by 1991.

"In other words," they said, "if something is not done, the Senate and the House will make no contribution whatever to deficit reduction."

If Congress goes along with the call for a seven-day moratorium on mass mailings, Senate authorities would determine how much money is left from the current $95.7 million congressional mail budget, and divide what's left equally between the House and Senate.

Under the Mathias-Ford formula, the Rules Committee then would determine the minimum amounts necessary to cover official mail costs for the rest of the fiscal year, which ends Sept. 30. Newsletters and other mass mailings would be excluded.

Any remaining funds due to senators would be allocated in proportion to the size of their state populations, and could be used for newsletters or any other purpose they saw fit.

Board Again Rejects Sirhan Parole

SOLEDAD, Calif. (AP) — Sirhan Sirhan, who told a parole board he wants to "live out my life productively and peacefully," failed to convince authorities he was ready to be released from his sentence for killing Robert F. Kennedy.

A three-member panel rejected Sirhan's eighth bid for parole Thursday with a declaration that "the murder of Sen. Kennedy was one of the most premeditated ever since."

The board said the assassination was "an attack on the democratic system of the United States" and had destroyed the hopes of those who wanted Kennedy to be president.

Kennedy, then the senator from New York, was gunned down on June 5, 1968, in the kitchen of Los Angeles' Ambassador Hotel moments after he claimed victory in the California presidential primary. Sirhan, a Jor-danian immigrant, was wrestled to the floor by members of the Kennedy party who knocked the gun from his hand as he was still firing. Five others were wounded.

Sirhan, 42, has admitted he killed the senator but says he does not remember most of the events of that night because he has partial amnesia and was drinking liquor which blurred his thinking. The board does not accept his amnesia claim.

Sirhan repeated Thursday that he regrets the killing — "I'm sorry it happened, and I wish it had never happened."

Sirhan and his lawyer attempted in the latest hearing to focus the board's attention on Sirhan's adjustment to prison and his glowing psychiatric evaluations.

Sirhan, who had tears in his eyes as the decision was read, was described by his attorney, Luke McKissack, as "very disappointed but calm."

Thursday's hearing had been granted because of technical flaws in a previous hearing nine months ago. During that session, a different panel was inadvertently overheard deciding Sirhan's fate in only three minutes.

At the new hearing, the three panel members seemed conciliatory toward Sirhan, congratulating him repeatedly on his progress within the prison system and on the psychiatric evaluations that declared him rehabilitated.

They listened closely as Sirhan pleaded for freedom.

"I want to live my life productively and peacefully," he said. "I am not looking for trouble from anyone, and I'm not going to cause trouble for anyone. I would be a constructive, productive, peaceful citizen."

After the decision, McKissack said the board had led Sirhan to believe through its demeanor that he would get a date for freedom.

"We were led down the primrose path and sucked in ...," McKissack said. "I don't know what more we can do. His behavior cannot be more exemplary."

The panel accepted the argument of Los Angeles Deputy District Attorney Larry Trapp, who said, "I think he is dangerous. ... I think Mr. Sirhan was a crusader, and the question is whether he has any of the

Psychic Wins Award

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A woman who claimed a CAT scan she received at a hospital in 1976 made her unable to use her psychic powers has been awarded $988,000 by a jury.

The eight-member Common Pleas Court jury deliberated about 45 minutes Thursday before awarding Judith Richardson Haines $600,000 plus $388,000 in interest on her malpractice claim against Temple University Hospital.

Ms. Haines, 42, contended an allergic reaction to a dye injected during the exam gave her severe, recurring headaches that forced her to give up her practice in New Castle, Del., two months later.

Before the test, she said, she was able to read auras, conduct seances, observe the past and the future and help police solve crimes.

Judge Leon Katz had instructed the jury not to consider Haines' assertion about her psychic powers and her loss of business in weighing the suit.

Instead, he told jurors that if they found the hospital negligent in giving the CAT scan, they should consider only the damages related to the immediate allergic reaction, which included nausea, welts and hives.

After the verdict, hospital attorney Richard R. Galli argued that the jury had disregarded the judge's instructions and asked Katz to set aside the verdict. The judge gave him 10 days to submit written arguments.

A CAT scan is a sophisticated form of X-ray that enables doctors to see cross sections of the body.

Pilgrims Retrace Steps Of Jesus

JERUSALEM (AP) — Thousands of Christian pilgrims today retraced Jesus' sorrowful walk to his crucifixion, carrying their own crosses and singing prayers along the cobblestoned route of the traditional Good Friday procession.

Brown-frocked Franciscan monks led the pilgrims who had come from as far away as Japan and the United States to observe Easter and visit the land where Jesus lived and died.

The procession made its way along the 1,000-yard-long Via Dolorosa, Latin for "the Road of Suffering," and entered the Church of the Holy Sepulcher at the site where Jesus is said to have been buried after dying on the cross.

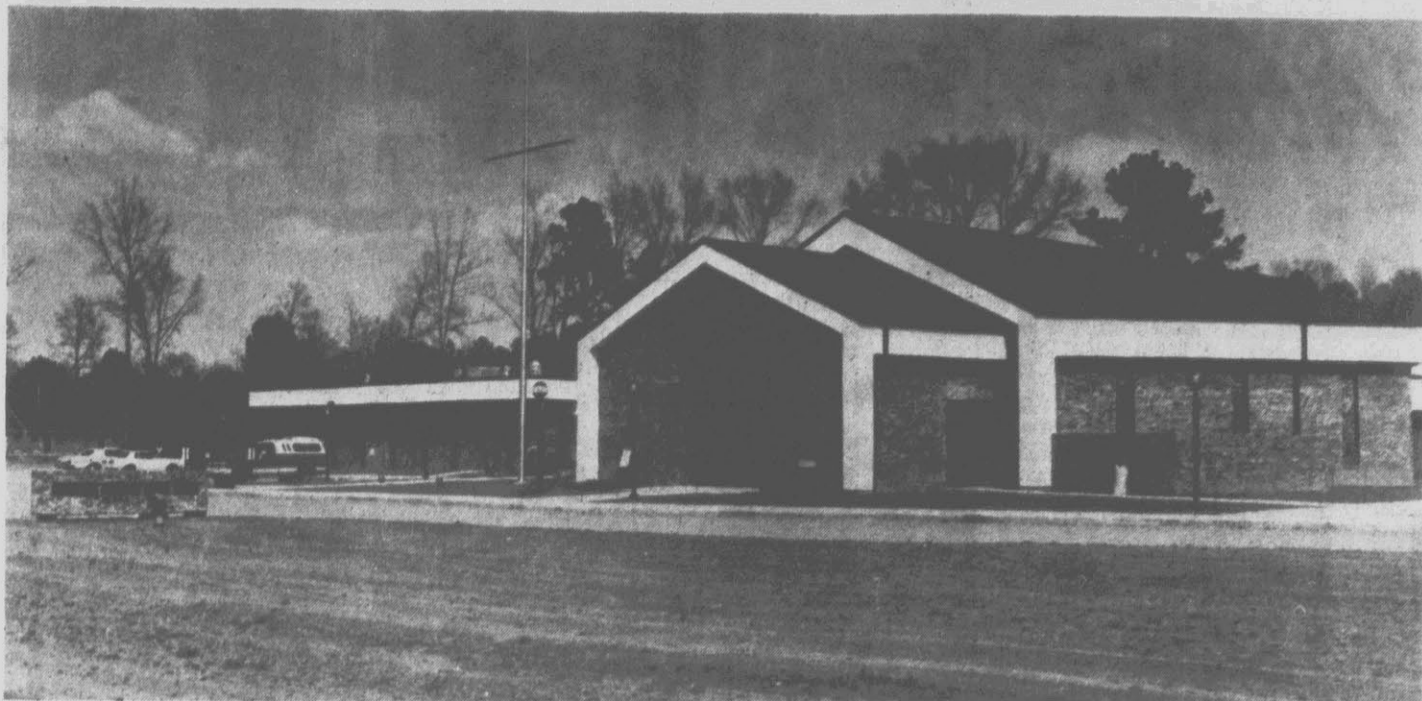

The monks and priests read prayers into hand-held microphones, leading the marchers past shuttered shops through all 14 stations of the cross, which depict the events leading to Jesus' crucifixion.

Israeli police barricaded narrow alleyways leading into the Via Dolorosa to allow the procession to march unhindered.

The number of pilgrims was expected to drop this year because of the fears of international terrorism, but Tourism Ministry officials said they did not have exact figures yet. Last year, 80,000 visitors arrived in Israel for Good Friday and the celebration of Christ's resurrection on Easter.

"There is a sense of fear back in the States" about coming to the Middle East, said Barbara O'Malley of Chicago. "But I was impressed by the peace and the sense of welcome here," she said.

Ms. O'Malley, who said she was a

Libyan Media Celebrates 'Victory' As U.S. Ships Leave Gulf Of Sidra

TRIPOLI, Libya (AP) — Libya's official media today hailed the withdrawal of the 6th Fleet from the Gulf of Sidra as a victory, but ordinary people on the streets of Tripoli said they doubted the crisis was over.

Libya's state-run television said the Libyan people met the Americans with "defiance." It said the U.S. Defense Department recognized the "criminal actions" in calling off the naval maneuvers earlier than scheduled.

President Reagan and Pentagon officials announced Thursday the end of maneuvers in the Gulf of Sidra and called the exercises a success. The United States indicated initially the maneuvers might last until Tuesday.

U.S. officials have said the U.S.-Libyan clashes began Monday when Libya fired missiles at U.S. warplanes in the gulf, which Libya claims as its territory. The United States does not recognize the claim.

The United States retaliated by attacking a missile site and Libyan patrol boats, U.S. officials said, and at least two vessels were reported sunk. U.S. officials said American forces fired at the missile site again Tuesday.

Libya's state-run radio said the North African nation had scored "a glittering victory over the imperialist invaders."

Hundreds of Libyans took to the streets in a parade Thursday night to celebrate and denounce the United States. A torchlit ceremony capped an evening of partying and protest, and some people hoisted banners carrying the image of Libyan leader Col. Moammar Khadafy.

But Tripoli was quiet today, the weekly Moslem holiday. Only a convoy of 10 army trucks loaded with communications equipment and supplies was seen driving on the sea-front boulevard.

Along the port's streets, residents said they regarded the 6th Fleet departure as a defeat for the United States, but they expressed doubts that the crisis had ended.

Sadeq Hajj, 50, working in his blacksmith shop in Tripoli's Old City, said the conflict between the U.S. fleet and the Libyans would not be the last. "This is nothing compared to what will come next," he said.

"It's just part of a whole series of events. War is inevitable. But we are prepared for that," he said. "We'll fight the Americans until death to defend our country."

"It was obviously a defeat for the Americans because they left earlier than they were supposed to," said Hassan, a fisherman standing on Tripoli's waterfront. "They said they were going to leave later so this was a victory for us." He gave his name only as Hassan.

His friend, Kamal, who like most others interviewed today refused to give his last name, said: "What does a big country like America gain by attacking a small nation of 3.5 million people?"

Mohammed, a 19-year-old student, responded uneasily to questions about the confrontation.

"What was the point of it?" he asked. "We both lost. How can we consider it a victory when we had our boats destroyed and a base attacked? No one will gain anything from this in the end."

Mohammed Ghaddour, 72, sitting on a doorstep waiting for his family's supply of morning milk to arrive, said the Americans prevented a world war by leaving when they did.

"If America had continued its attacks on us, other countries would have got involved. We are too small a country to be left on our own. But we managed on our own to get rid of the Americans — every one of us will fight if necessary."

Fatima, an elderly woman wearing a white chador standing outside her home near the bazaar, flashed a gold-toothed smile when she was asked about the week's events. "I don't like the Americans," she said. "Do you like them? We will eventually drive them out and make them go home. Don't you think?"

In other developments, the Libyan ambassador to Italy, Abdul-Rahman

Shalgam, said in Rome on Thursday that Libya would not retaliate against U.S. military bases in Europe or American citizens in Libya or other Arab countries.

Libya's official radio called Wednesday for Arabs to form "suicide squads" to attack American installations and embassies worldwide.

The official Libyan news agency JANA said Lebanese Druse leader Walid Jumblatt sent Khadafy a telegram calling the recent clashes "your legitimate defense of the entire Arab nation" and saying his followers were prepared to act as "suicide squads" if Libya opted to attack American targets.

DEA Warns New Heroin Dangerous

WASHINGTON (AP) — A form of Mexican heroin now spreading across the United States is unusually potent and led last year to dozens of drug overdose deaths, federal authorities said today.

The heroin, known among users as black tar, sells for one-tenth the price of heroin previously available and is the cause of the first general increase in overall heroin use in more than five years, the Drug Enforcement Administration says in an unreleased report.

Portions of the report were made available to The Associated Press today after a story on the findings appeared in The New York Times.

According to the unfinished report, the availability of black tar is leading to a nationwide decline in prices for all types of heroin.

"Some areas are reporting decreases of 25 to 35 percent in the last quarter alone," the report says.

The new type of heroin first showed up in the United States in late 1983, in four states in the Southwest, DEA spokesman Robert Feldkamp said today. It is now prevalent in 27 states, he said.

Azzarouk also asked the organization's Security Council to condemn the American naval action in the disputed gulf, calling them "contrary to the rule of law and peaceful cooperation."

The Reagan administration notified Congress that it did not consider the naval action against Libya to fall under the 1973 War Powers Act, which requires a president to notify Congress within 48 hours after troops are put into a situation in which they are likely to become involved in conflict. In a letter to House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill, D-Mass., and Senate Majority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan., Reagan said he ordered the exercises under his constitutional authority as commander in chief.

According to Pentagon sources who asked not to be identified, the naval group remained intact Thursday night and on the move to new stations in the Mediterranean north of Libya. The ships will remain there at least through the weekend, the sources said.

Weinberger declared the maneuvers "in every way a successful operation." Reagan called the fleet commander to hail the bravery of the American sailors. And Adm. William J. Crowe, the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, declared that the outbreak of combat earlier this week had demonstrated the potency of modern American weapons.

Looking relaxed and occasionally joking during an afternoon appearance at the Pentagon, the defense secretary denied the United States had mounted the operation for the sake of revenge. Reagan has accused Khadafy of supporting the Palestinian terrorist faction believed responsible for the Dec. 27 attacks on the Rome and Vienna airports, which left five Americans among the 20 people killed.

"I don't think it's a question of settling scores or anything of the kind," Weinberger said.

"This exercise has demonstrated once again what it set out to do, which is our right and the right of all nations to operate in international waters. If Libya's radical claims and aggression against our forces were to go unanswered, no peaceful nation could safely rely on freedom of the seas anywhere."

Khadafy claims the Gulf of Sidra as Libyan territorial waters. Last January, following the U.S. charges, he had supported the airport attacks. Khadafy drew an imaginary "line of death" across the gulf and vowed to defend it.

The United States refuses to recognize Khadafy's claims to the gulf beyond the normal 12-mile territorial limit. After fortifying the 6th Fleet with a third aircraft carrier, the administration ordered the Navy to challenge the "line of death."

Crowe, after describing the maneuvers as "a flawless operation," praised the performance of the Navy weaponry and got in a dig at Pentagon critics who complain about the high cost of weapons development and acquisition.

Two missiles never before used in combat — the Harpoon anti-ship cruise missile and the HARM anti-radar missile — "both worked well, did exactly what they were supposed to do," Crowe said.

for years to come. It is a matter of anguish for any caring South African," he said.

Despite the serious problems which exist in South Africa, Chettle said change is occurring. "Throughout (South African) society, segregation is being dismantled. Far more significant are the changes which indicate the government has abandoned grand apartheid."

Chettle cited an increasing number of blacks moving into businesses and a denouncement of apartheid by South African President Botha as some of the change that have occurred in the country.

Although reform is taking place in South Africa, Chettle said serious problems for blacks such as the right to vote, poor education and high unemployment are yet to be solved.

Chettle also said he believes American corporations should continue to operate in South Africa. "There is a general rejection by the American people of apartheid, but also a general rejection of economic sanctions and disinvestment against South Africa. Black people react very much the same way — the black rank and file believe U.S. corporations should stay in South Africa. I believe this is a profoundly sensible and correct view."

The symposium, "Apartheid and the United States," was sponsored by the ECU African Studies Committee and was designed to promote a better understanding of apartheid.

People say time heals all, that's not true. It hurts as much today as it did the day you died. We know the hurt we feel is for ourselves, because we miss you so much. We know you are going to a far better place than this earth could ever be. You are as fine a son as any mother and father could ever have. Selfish tears are being shed as this is being written, for we wish so much you were still here. We can't bring you back, but we can, one day, go where you are and if God will give us the strength, we'll live our lives so that when it's our turn to leave this earth, we will join you, in Heaven.

No Theme To The Final Four

DALLAS (AP) — What we have here is a Final Four with all of the song-and-dance — and no theme.

The NCAA basketball championships of recent years have become, like the Super Bowl, a four-letter word — hype. More a pageant than a sporting event.

There's plenty of that here, too, but what's missing here, with Duke, Kansas, Louisville and Louisiana State, is a common denominator, the kind of story that binds two or more teams or players together.

Last year in Lexington, Ky., it was the Big East Feast, with Georgetown, St. John's and Villanova.

This year's four teams represent four conferences.

Last year had the possibility of a repeat champion. Georgetown missed by one victory, losing to Villanova.

This year, Villanova didn't make it past the second round.

Two years ago in Seattle it was the Battle of the Big Men — Georgetown's Patrick Ewing against Houston's Akeem Olajuwon.

This year's "Big Man," Danny Manning of Kansas, is measured more by reputation than by his 6-foot-11 frame.

Three years ago, Houston's Phi

Sigma Jama fraternity owned the headlines.

This year, there's more dunking going on in the coffee shops.

Four years ago, North Carolina Coach Dean Smith came to the Final Four bearing a monkey on his back. In six tries, he had never won a championship. Would he finally succeed? He did.

This year, neither Kansas Coach Larry Brown, nor Duke Coach Mike Krzyzewski nor Louisville's Denny Crum nor LSU's Dale Brown wears anything resembling a millstone.

The only angle to all of this, therefore, is, who will win the national championship? There is none of the fabricated foolishness that so often pervades these events.

No headbands.

No refrigerators.

Just basketball.

And money.

This is, of course, Dallas.

But it could just as well be Lexington or Seattle or any other city fortunate enough to become the college basketball capital of the nation for a few days each March.

On Saturday and Monday night in Reunion Arena, more than 16,000 spectators won't have so much as one thought about the Texas Longhorns' information, about the Dallas Cowboys' Super Bowl chances.

This may be football country, but for now basketball is king.

Duke, champion of the East, comes here hoping to prove that its No. 1 ranking is justified, and 6-2 guard Johnny Dawkins seeks to cement his position as one of the top two or three draft choices next June.

Standing in their way Saturday is second-ranked Kansas, which overtimed Michigan State in the controversial clock game, getting 10 to 15 precious extra seconds, then beat North Carolina State to take the Midwest title. Ron Kellogg, slowed by a sprained left arch, says he will play alongside Manning.

In the first game Saturday, Louisville, the seventh-ranked champs of the West Regional, will play LSU, the surprise entry this year, unranked — as Villanova was a year ago.

None of these youngsters, Dawkins, Manning and the rest, will be making a dime off the extended weekend's proceedings, according to the dictates of the NCAA.

Their time will come later, when agents and pro teams discuss seven-figure contracts. For now, it is their teams which reap the benefits of their stardom.

The Final Four — and the Final Two — means money in the bank for the teams which get this far and the city which wins their presence.

Each team receives $835,300 — to be shared by their respective conferences. And it is expected that the 20,000 or so visitors who come to see them will leave behind something like $6 million in restaurants and hotels and other tourist-related businesses.

To own a ticket to Saturday's and Monday night's games is to be wealthy, one way or another.

There are those who simply must be wherever the action is. They are the chosen few.

Those who purchased their ducats a year or so ago as a $46-per-seat investment but can just as well watch the game on television can achieve a return that would make even E.F. Hutton stop and listen. The asking price here, where scalping is legal, ranges anywhere from $650 to $1,500.

Tickets orders for next year's Final Four in New Orleans have been in the mail for several weeks now. Kansas City, Seattle and Denver await their windfalls in succeeding years.

It has not always been so.

Barely a generation ago, when Larry Brown was a point guard at North Carolina, when Krzyzewski was pronouncing his name differently and was learning the ropes as a player at Weber High in Chicago, when Crum was coaching his alma mater at Pierce Junior College, and when Dale Brown was coaching high school wrestling, track, football and basketball, much of this generation of dribblers and dunkers had not yet been born.

Neither had the glamour which now surrounds this tournament. In fact, it shared billing with the National Invitation Tournament, the

Offense Pleases Pirates' Baker

East Carolina University's offense showed definite signs of improvement as the Pirates held their first full-scale scrimmage of the spring Thursday afternoon in Ficklen Stadium.

In the two previous controlled scrimmages, the defense was slightly ahead of the offense, but Head Coach Art Baker said he was pleased with both units' play Thursday. Sophomore quarterback Berke Holtzclaw worked with the Pirates' first team offense and Baker said he "came a long way toward establishing himself as our number one quarterback."

"We threw the ball better today than we have in previous scrimmages," Baker said. "I was more pleased with the offense as a whole today than at any other time this spring. We ran the option better than we did at any time last year, but that's not to say that I wasn't happy with the defense. They're playing very aggressive."

ECU's running game also showed signs of coming around as both fullback Anthony Simpson and tailback Reggie McKinney caught Baker's eye. "I was very pleased with Reggie McKinney today. He and Willie Lewis ran well and Anthony Simpson ran exceptionally well. Pat Bowns (fullback) also showed us some good things."

Baker also cited free safety Ellis Dillahunt, inside linebacker Vinson Smith, offensive linemen Rich Autry and Robert Alexander, and wide receiver Jackie Armstrong as enjoying good scrimmages. Armstrong caught a touchdown pass during the scrimmage.

Baker also said the kicking game showed improvement "but we still have a long, long way to go before we have a college kicker we can depend on."

The Pirates will now break for the Easter weekend and return to practice on Tuesday for their third week of spring drills. The Pirates' next scheduled scrimmage is set for April 5 at 2:30 p.m. in Ficklen Stadium.

Area Baseball Teams Go To Bat In Tournaments

The annual Pitt County Easter Baseball Tournament will get underway at D.H. Conley High School Saturday at 11 a.m.

Four games will be played on Saturday, with four more Monday and four Tuesday, leading to full placement of the eight-team field.

Meanwhile, other area teams will be playing in the Wilson Breakfast Optimist Club Tournament in Wilson, the SouthWest Edgecombe Invitational Tournament at Pinetops, and the Jamesville Invitational at Jamesville.

The Pitt tournament features hosting D.H. Conley, along with Greenville Rose, Ayden-Grifton and Farmville Central from the area. North Pitt is playing in the SouthWest Edgecombe event, Greene Central at Wilson; and Roanoke, Williamston, Washington and Jamesville in the latter's tournament.

The Pitt tournament will open at 11 p.m. with North Lenoir taking on Havelock. Game Two will feature Ayden-Grifton and Kinston, colliding at 2 p.m. New Bern and Rose meet at 5 p.m. with Farmville Central and Conley finishing off the day at 8 p.m.

Monday, the first game will feature the afternoon losers from Saturday, with the evening losers playing at 2 p.m. The afternoon winners meet at 5 p.m. with the night winners meeting at 8 p.m.

The finals will be held on Tuesday, with seventh place decided at 11 a.m., fifth place at 2 p.m., third at 5:30 p.m. and the championship at 8 p.m.

Jamesville's tournament will also begin on Saturday with four games, starting at noon. In that game, Bath meets Roanoke. The second game, at 2:30 p.m. sends Columbia against Williamston. Plymouth meets St. Francis (N.Y.) at 5 p.m. and Washington plays Jamesville at 7:30 p.m.

Monday, the afternoon losers meet at noon, with the evening losers at 2:30 p.m. The afternoon winners meet at 5 p.m. and the evening winners at 7:30 p.m.

Tuesday, only two games will be played, the consolation championship, featuring the two losers' bracket winners at 5 p.m., and the championship at 7:30 p.m.

The Wilson tournament also begins Friday with eight teams playing to an eight-team placement.

Friday's opener at 11 a.m. sends Raleigh Enloe against Wilson Hunt. The second game, at 2 p.m., features Wilmington Laney against Wilson Beddingfield. At 5 p.m., Raleigh Sanderson meets Greene Central, while at 7:45 p.m. Wilmington New Hanover meets Wilson Fike.

The other rounds, Monday and Tuesday will be played under the same time frames, with all games at Fleming Stadium.

Only four teams will play in the SouthWest tournament, which runs Monday and Tuesday. Besides the Panthers and the hosting Cougars, the other teams are North Edgecombe and Northampton East.

North Edgecombe will meet Northampton East at 2 p.m. with North Pitt takings on the hosting Cougars at 5 p.m.

Tuesday, the consolation game will be at 5 p.m. with the championship game at 7:30 p.m.

Vikes Win 8th; Rose Defeated

WASHINGTON — D.H. Conley's Vikings remained unbeaten on the season Thursday with an 8-3 baseball win over Coastal Conference rival Washington.

The game was scoreless until the third when Conley erupted for five runs — all it was to need.

Jody Vines led off the inning with a walk and he stole second, scoring on Shane Adams' hit. Adams stole up and took third on a wild pitch, then waited as Brian Joyner and Randy Mills walked to load the bases. Lee Hardy walked to force in Adams and Butch Mills singled in Joyner. Mills and Hardy both scored on a hit by Michael Elks.

Conley went on to add one in the fourth and two in the sixth. Washington was able to match that production exactly, but never overcame the third inning.

Adams, Fred Bryant, Randy Mills, Butch Mills and Bronswell Patrick each collected two hits for Conley.

John High had three and Franz Holscher had two for Washington.

The Vikings are now 8-0 overall and 2-0 in league play. Washington drops to 2-3 overall and 1-2 in Coastal action.

Conley plays against Farmville Central in the final game of the Pitt County Easter Tournament at Conley on Saturday, while Washington meets hosting Jamesville in the final game of the Jamesville Invitational on Saturday also.

Rocky Mount.....12 Rose.....7

ROCKY MOUNT — Rocky Mount brought Rose High School's winning streak to a crashing stop Thursday, rolling up a 12-7 Big East baseball victory over the Rampants.

Rose, which had lost its opening game to Havelock, had come back to win its last five in a row prior to clashing with the Gryphons on their home field — a place that has never been very friendly to the Rampants.

"They (Rocky Mount) really played well," Coach Ronald Vincent said. "They got 18 hits and they were all legitimate. They hit everything we threw at 'em."

The Rampants used three pitchers in the game and none of them were able to put out the fire that the Gryphons set to burning in the opening inning of play when they scored three runs.

Rose, however, did strike first, getting a run in the top of the first inning. Tyrone Jones opened with a single and stole second. He moved on to third on an error on the play and scored on Eric Jarman's ground-out.

But Rocky Mount came back with three in the bottom of the inning. With one away, Mike Davis walked and stole up, scoring on Jerry Edwards' single. Donnie Bobbitt then cracked a two-run homer for a 3-1 lead.

Rocky Mount pushed over two more in the second. Shelton Grant opened with a single, and stole third. With two away, Anthony Brown singled him in and also stole up. Davis reached on an error, and Hank Jones singled, scoring Brown.

Rose got a second run in the third. Jones walked and stole up, scoring on Travis King's single.

The Gryphons countered with another run in the bottom of the third for a 6-2 lead. Bobbitt reached on an error and Mike Morris doubled him in.

A seventh Rocky Mount run crossed in the fourth. Davis reached on an error after striking out and stole second. Jones singled, driving him in.

In the fifth, Rocky Mount closed out its scoring with five more runs to up the lead to 12-2.

Grant opened the inning with a single and Jeff Carter got a hit. Both were sacrificed up and scored on Brown's hit. Brown, however, was caught trying to stretch his hit. Davis got it going again with a single and Jones walked. Edwards singled in Davis and Bobbitt doubled in the other two.

Rose tried to rally, coming up with five runs in the seventh. Jimmy Gillihan reached on a third-strike wild pitch and David Daniels singled to score Gillihan, who had advanced on a wild pitch. Robbie MacDonald singled and Hunter Clark grounded out, scoring Gillihan. Jones walked and George Saad reached on a third-strike error, loading the bases. Jarman singled in both MacDonald and Jones and a passed ball let Saad score.

But the rally died there, still five runs short.

Daniels led the Rose hitting, getting two.

Grant and Carter led the Rocky Mount hitting with three each while Brown, Jones, Edwards and Bobbitt each had two.

The loss dropped the Rampants to 5-2 overall and 1-1 in Big East play. They are to return to action Saturday at 5 p.m. at D.H. Conley, facing New Bern in the Pitt County Easter Tournament.

"This was one of those games that you knew was going to come," Vincent said. "But you just keep hoping that it won't."

Greene Central.....3 Ayden-Grifton.....2

SNOW HILL — Greene Central held off Ayden-Grifton, 3-2, in an Eastern Plains Conference baseball game Thursday to win its league opener.

The Rams scored first, getting a run in the bottom of the first. Adrian Smith doubled and came around on Shay Beamon's hit.

In the fifth, Ayden-Grifton tied it up on a solo homer by Frank Mills.

But in the bottom of the fifth, Greene Central pushed over two more runs for a 3-1 lead. Gary Ginn doubled and Smith got a single. Michael Griffin then brought both in with a two-out, full-count double.

Ayden-Grifton came up with one in the sixth, but fell short.

Smith led the Greene Central hitting with two while Mills had a pair for Ayden-Grifton.

The win boosted the Rams to 6-3 overall and to 1-0 in league action. Ayden-Grifton lost its first conference game of the year and falls to 2-1 in EPC action.

Ayden-Grifton returns to action on Saturday in the Pitt Easter Tournament at Conley, facing Kinston at 2 p.m. while Greene Central plays Raleigh Sanderson at 5 p.m. in the Wilson Optimists Tournament.

Jamesville.....16 Belhaven.....13

JAMESVILLE — Jamesville High School rallied for 11 runs in the sixth inning to pull out a 16-13 Tobacco Belt Conference baseball win over Belhaven Thursday.

The victory kept the Bullets unbeaten in league play with a 5-0 record.

Belhaven took the lead with three in the top of the first, but Jamesville came back with four in its half of the frame. The Bulldogs then scored four times in the second to take a 7-4 lead. Jamesville cut it to 7-5 with one in the fourth, but Belhaven came up with three each in the fifth and sixth to move out to a 13-5 lead.

Jamesville then took advantage of six walks in the sixth to rally for 11 runs. Greg Bell had a two run single and added a second hit in the inning, while Ernie Gardner also had a pair of hits. Chris Jones had a two-run triple while Tony Hale batted in two more with a double.

Bell and Gardner both finished the game with three hits while Chris Jones had two. Belhaven was led by Darryl Griffin, Wendell McCloud, Adam O'Neal and Mike McCabe with two each.

Jamesville, 5-2 overall, will face Washington on Saturday at 8 p.m. in the final game of the first round of the Jamesville Easter Tournament.

CRESWELL — Creswell High School pushed over eight runs in the fourth inning to record a 13-6 Tobacco Belt baseball win over Chocowinity Thursday.

Creswell took the lead with one in the second, but Chocowinity came back with four in the top of the third. Creswell cut that to 4-2 with one in the bottom of the inning. Chocowinity added a fifth run in the top of the fourth to lead 5-2.

But in the bottom of the inning, Creswell came up with eight big runs to move ahead, 10-5. Creswell took advantage of four walks, three Indian misplays, a single and a double by Honable to score the eight.

Chocowinity added one in the fifth, while Creswell picked up three more in the sixth.

D. Hall led the Creswell hitting with two, while Chocowinity got only two on the day.

The loss drops the Tribe to 2-4 both overall and in conference play. Chocowinity returns to action on April 8, traveling to Belhaven.

Rams Top Jags, 6-3

FARMVILLE — Greene Central High School kept its record intact with a 6-3 victory over Farmville Central Thursday in Eastern Plains Conference tennis.

The Rams are unbeaten on the season at 5-0 overall and are 2-0 in league play. Farmville drops to 4-2 overall and 0-2 in league matches.

Greene Central won five of the six singles matches to sew up the victory and picked up one more in the doubles.

Farmville returns to action on April 8 hosting Ayden-Grifton. Greene Central is back in action on Thursday, hosting C.B. Aycock.

Unbeaten Texas Feels No Pressure In NCAA Finals

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Texas is undefeated, top-ranked and feeling no pressure in its bid for the NCAA Division I women's basketball championship.

"We did tell them after regional and the pressure that we went through to get here that this was going to be a fun trip," says Texas Coach Jody Conradt, who sends the 32-0 Lady Longhorns against No. 5 Western Kentucky in tonight's opening semifinal at Rupp Arena.

No. 3 Southern California, chasing its third national title in four years, faces No. 15 Tennessee in the other semifinal. The winners clash Sunday afternoon for the title.

"We're not going to have expectations that detract from this season," Conradt said. "This team generally has more fun when they play to win."

No Theme...

Madison Square Garden extravaganza which in the intervening years has been reduced to little more than an afterthought.

Quick Quiz: Name the losing team in the 1985 NCAA championship? Just about every fan remembers Georgetown and Patrick Ewing falling to Villanova.

Now name the loser in the 1985 NIT championship.

It wasn't until the 1970s, when television turned its unblinking eye on the tournament, when the UCLA dynasty finally came to an end, and when the field was gradually increased from 20 or so schools to the current 64, that the NCAA championships changed from a game to an event.

Answer to quiz: Indiana, beaten by UCLA.

Almost but not quite lost in the hype and hysteria that surrounds the Final Four are the players — Manning and Kellogg of Kansas, Dawkins and Mark Alarie of Duke, Milt Wagner and Billy Thompson of Louisville and John Williams and Don Redden of LSU.

They are the link to past generations, when Wilt Chamberlain was canning them for Kansas, when Jeff Mullins was hitting them for Duke, when Pistol Pete Maravich was demolishing records at LSU and when Wes Unseld was patrolling the paint for Louisville.

Some Kansas players — Greg Dreiling, Jeff Johnson, Chris Piper, Doug Henzlik, Mark Turgeon and Spooter Barry — have dedicated themselves to maintaining a link with the past in a special way. They're sporting flat-top haircuts in honor of Clyde Lovellette and the rest of the Jayhawk short-hairs who, under Coach Phog Allen, won the 1952 NCAA championship.

so I can't imagine them doing anything different from that."

Western Kentucky upset Texas in regional play last year, 92-90, on a last-second shot by Lillie Mason.

"I'm confident," Conradt said at a news conference Thursday. "I think this team has proven themselves through the course of the season."

Coach Paul Sanderford of Western Kentucky is also confident.

The Lady Toppers, 32-3, are the only member of last year's Final Four to earn a return ticket.

"I think that the experience we gained last year was tremendous," Sanderson said. "I think it's a distinct advantage to have been there before. We'll find out just how much of an advantage Friday night."

Southern California, 30-4, and 24-9 Tennessee met earlier this season. The Californians recorded an 85-77 victory.

The Lady Longhorns, who failed to make it to the Final Four the past two years despite being ranked No. 1 in the season's final poll, have become familiar with the adversity of injuries.

Two years ago Annette Smith injured her knee two days before the regular season ended and was out of action for 19 months. The 5-foot-11 senior has slowed some, but Conradt credits her return with producing the trip here.

"This year I have to play a little smarter," said Smith, who is averaging 10.6 points a game after averaging between 19.3 and 24.9 points her first three collegiate seasons. "I can't move as fast as I used to move. I can't jump as well as I used to. But with the help of a lot of my teammates, a lot of this also comes easier."

Texas, this year, has a year of experience, which I think is a number one factor that makes every team better," Sanderford said. "I think (freshman forward-center) Clarissa Davis adds a new dimension to the University of Texas."

"(Cara) Priddy is a good post player, but she was a step slow and basically last year we exploited that. I think Clarissa Davis and Annette Smith in the lineup makes them a much quicker team."

Sanderford wouldn't mind if Texas thinks about avenging last year's loss.

"I hope Texas plays for revenge," he said. "We're playing for the national championship."

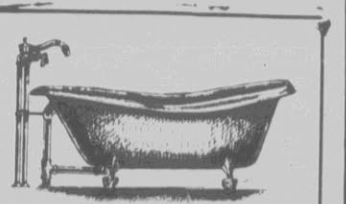

Conradt is trying to downplay the revenge factor in preparing her club.

"The biggest thing going for the revenge factor is that it gives you a headline," she said. "We're not going to talk about it because I think we have all the motivation in the world to play this game, to play it hard and to play well without getting the wrong reasons."

Tribes' Harris Signs Grant

CHOCOWINITY — Henry Harris of Chocowinity High School signed a grant-in-aid to play basketball at Mount Olive College today, Coach DeWayne Kellum announced.

Harris was a principal force in Chocowinity's season this past year, leading the team with a 15.7 average.

Rose Tops Rocky Mount; Conley Downs Pam Pack

ROCKY MOUNT - Rose High School's girls' softball team bounced back from its first defeat earlier this week to take a 9-0 victory over Rocky Mount in Big East play Thursday.

Kim Bridges hurled the shutout for the Rampants who are now 5-1 overall and 1-1 in Big East action.

Rose scored once in the first inning to take the lead. Vicki Parrott singled and scored on a hit by Lisa Harkley.

In the second, Rose added four more. Jenny Carroll walked and Andrea Rogers singled. Casey Drewrey singled in Carroll and Parrott homered to drive in the final three of the frame.

Rose added two in the fifth, and one each in the sixth and seventh.

Vicki Parrott and Lisa Harkley, who homered in the fifth, each had three hits to lead Rose while Gina Parrott and Melissa Pruden each added two.

No one had more than one hit for Rocky Mount, which got only two during the game.

Rose is idle until April 8 when it hosts Beddingfield.

Conley.....14
Washington.....2

WASHINGTON - D.H. Conley's girls' softball team kept its Coastal Conference record unblemished Thursday with a 14-2 romp over Washington.

The Valkyries jumped into the lead with two runs in the first. Darby Fulford walked and Melanie Becton reached on an fielder's choice. Rhonda Jackson walked to load them up and successive singles by Trellaney Boyd and Miriam Fulford brought in two runs.

A third run - what proved the difference - came over in the second. Gale Cash singled and Janelle Gaylord walked. Shannon Tugman reached on an error, allowing Cash to score for a 3-0 lead.

Conley added five in the third, four in the sixth and two in the seventh while Washington scored both of its runs in the fourth on a homer by Pam Blackledge.

Lynn Keeter, Jackson, Cash and Gaylord each recorded two hits for Conley, while no one had more than one for Washington.

Conley is now 5-1 overall and 2-0 in the Coastal while Washington slips to 1-4 overall and 0-2 in the league.

Conley returns to action on April 8 at North Lenoir. Washington plays host to West Carteret the same day.

Sutton Named Coach Of Year

DALLAS (AP) — Eddie Sutton, who took over Kentucky this season and led the Wildcats to the Southeastern Conference title, today was named college basketball's coach of the year by the Associated Press.

It was the second AP award for Sutton, who won in 1978 when he guided Arkansas into the Final Four, where the Razorbacks were beaten by Sutton's current employer. He is the sixth coach to win the award more than once — UCLA's John Wooden won it five times — but the first to win at different schools.

Sutton, who stepped into a pressure situation by replacing Joe B. Hall as coach of college basketball's winningest team, attracted 35 votes from a panel of 192 sports writers and broadcasters.

The Wildcats were 18-13 in Hall's 13th and final season and returned only two senior starters, one being All-American Kenny Walker. But Kentucky posted a 17-1 record to win the SEC regular-season title and then won the SEC tournament.

Dick Versace, who guided Bradley to the Missouri Valley Conference regular season title, finished second with 32 votes. Mike Krzyzewski, coach of Atlantic Coast Conference champion Duke, was next with 30.

St. John's Lou Carnesecca, whose team surprised by sharing the Big East regular season championship and winning the tourney crown, drew 26 votes. Dean Smith, whose North Carolina team was No. 1 for 13 weeks before injuries struck, got 23, while Larry Brown of Kansas' Big Eight champions, landed nine.

The voting was conducted before the NCAA tournament. Kentucky, seeded No. 1, made it to the Southeast Regional final before losing to Louisiana State 59-57.

Rose Girls Top Cougars; Farmville Defeats Four

PINETOPS — Rose High School's girls' track team had their toughest test of the year Thursday, but downed hosting SouthWest Edgecombe, 88-43.

The victory raised the Rose record to 5-0 on the season.

Amy Moore was the only double winner for the day, taking the 1600 and 3200 runs for the Rampettes.

Rose returns to action on April 9, hosting arch-rival Wilson Fike.

DALLAS (AP) — St. John's junior Walter Berry today was named winner of the 15th Adolph F. Rupp Trophy as the Associated Press college player of the year.

Berry, a 6-foot-8, 215-pounder who was the only unanimous selection on this year's AP All-America team, received 66 of 192 votes in a nationwide poll of sports writers and sportscasters conducted before the NCAA tournament.

The award, named for the late University of Kentucky coach, is sponsored by the Commonwealth Athletic Club of Kentucky, a group of businessmen who formed a not-for-profit organization to establish the trophy and care for it and other Rupp memorabilia at Rupp Arena in Lexington, Ky.

Kenny Walker of Kentucky finished second with 50 votes, followed by Johnny Dawkins of Duke with 18 and Len Bias of Maryland with 12.

Playing out of position at center on a team that lost All-American Chris Mullin and 7-footer Bill Wennington to graduation, Berry averaged 23 points and 11 rebounds game and shot almost 60 percent from the field in leading the Redmen to a share of the Big East Conference regular-season crown and the league's tournament title.

Berry, from the Bronx, N.Y., spent a year at San Jacinto, Texas, Junior College which he paced to the national junior college championship.

A left-hander with an unorthodox style, a soft touch and great leaping ability, Berry has scored 1,424 points in two seasons at St. John's to rank 10th among the Redmen's all-time scorers.

This past season he set school records with 76 blocked shots, a 58.6 field goal percentage and 327 field goals.

The Redmen were seeded No. 1 in the NCAA West Regional, in which they lost in the second round to Auburn, 81-65, to finish the season at 31-5.

Among the other honors received by Berry this season were the Wooden and Eastman awards as the player of the year. He also was named the Big East's player of the year.

First Frozen Embryo Pregnancies Announced

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The nation's first delivery of a baby who had been implanted in its mother's womb as a frozen embryo may be weeks away, and three other women in their first trimester were impregnated that way, doctors say.

In at least three of the cases, the woman's own egg and her husband's sperm were used, the physicians disclosed Thursday.

At Los Angeles' Good Samaritan Hospital, two women with damaged Fallopian tubes were impregnated with frozen embryos after they had failed to respond to all other conventional therapy, said Dr. Richard P. Marris, head of the hospital's in-vitro fertilization and embryo replacement program.

One is 36 years old, 29 weeks pregnant and expecting in June, while the second is 40 years old and seven weeks pregnant, Marris told a news conference.

In Walnut Creek, a woman in her 20s who had tube blockage due to infections received a frozen embryo implant and is seven weeks pregnant, said Dr. Glen Zorn, director of the in-vitro fertilization program at John Muir Hospital.

And Dr. Steven Taylor of the Fertility Institute of New Orleans said a Gulf Coast woman was in her first trimester after a frozen embryo transplant.

Doctors used the eggs of the three California women and their husbands' sperm, Marr and Zorn said. Taylor refused to provide such details.

The names of the women were not released.

Frozen embryo transplants have resulted in the births of only 10 babies, all in France, England, Holland and Australia.

The procedure involves freezing a fertilized egg that has developed only eight to 16 cells, in liquid nitrogen at minus 384 degrees. The embryo, fertilized in a laboratory outside the womb, is thawed for implantation in the womb three to four days after the mother ovulates and the uterus is most receptive.

Normal in-vitro fertilization involves removing eggs from a woman's ovaries and fertilizing them in a Petri dish, then implanting them in the womb within three days.

The two pregnant Los Angeles women "have failed all other conventional therapy," Marris said. "These are end-line patients who have been trying for three, five, 10 years to get pregnant. We look at embryo freezing right now as a back-up treatment."

Marris said Good Samaritan had anticipated some of the legal problems Australia's Queen Victoria

Medical Center had in 1983, when Mario and Elsa Rios, who had left frozen embryos in the Melbourne hospital's bank, died in a plane crash without leaving any legal guidance for disposition of the embryos.

Patients at Good Samaritan are asked to decide before their embryos are frozen if they would prefer to donate the embryos to someone else, donate them for research or leave them frozen, in which case they would eventually disintegrate, Marris said.

VIEWING HALLEY'S — During the week of April 1-6, Halley's Comet will be a dim, fuzzy glow above the southern horizon just before the first light of dawn. The comet will be visible below three bright star-like objects — the planets Mars and Saturn and the star Antares. Mars is separated from Saturn and Antares by about twice the width of your fist held at arm's length. (AP Laserphoto)

Test May Find Bone Victims

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — A test that could predict which women are most likely to develop osteoporosis, a bone-weakening disease that most often strikes after menopause, may be available in five years, a researcher says.

The number of American women over 50 will grow from 34 million in 1985 to more than 50 million by the year 2000 as the baby boom population ages, said Dr. Gary Hodgen, scientific director of the Jones Institute for Reproductive Medicine at Eastern Virginia Medical School.

"The scope of the problem involving 30 to 50 million women over the close of this century makes it a significant issue for us to be concerned about in the reproductive health of women," he told a news conference Thursday.

Hodgen and Dr. Rafat Abbasi of the Georgetown University Medical Center in Washington developed the test that could determine a woman's susceptibility to osteoporosis, the third-leading killer of women over 50 behind cancer and heart disease. They reported their findings in today's Journal of the American Medical Association.

The researchers gave female rhesus monkeys a hormone antagonist to simulate menopause before its actual onset. Urine samples were collected to measure calcium levels before and after the antagonist was administered.

Monkeys that showed a sharp drop in calcium levels after the simulated menopause were considered most likely to develop osteoporosis, Hodgen said.

Tests on women will begin at the Jones Institute later this year, he said. If they are successful, the test could be available within five or six years, he said.

The test's reliability may be more difficult to prove with women since they vary in their eating, exercise and smoking habits, he said.

Osteoporosis strikes older women because menopause greatly reduces the ovaries' production of the hor-more estrogen, which stimulates production of the calcium needed to keep bones strong.

Antibody Gives Indication It Could Block Cold Virus

WASHINGTON (AP) — Laboratory tests using a special antibody have shown some success in blocking a virus that causes the common cold, but researchers are cautioning that the work is only an important first step.

In tests involving 26 volunteers, the researchers said Thursday that volunteers using antibody nose drops delayed the onset of colds by two days and had less severe illnesses than those using a dummy preparation.

But Dr. Richard J. Colonno of Merck Sharp & Dohme Research Laboratories in West Point, Pa., conceded, "Clinically, we know very little about the common cold infection process."

In a presentation at the annual meeting of the American Society for Microbiology, Colonno said commercial application of the treatment would still be years in the future.

The so-called monoclonal antibody, produced by special cell cultures, attaches to one cell surface protein to keep cold-causing rhinoviruses from hooking on and infecting the cell.

The antibody ties up or blocks off this protein, called a receptor, so that rhinoviruses cannot attach and move into cells in the nasal cavity, Colonno said.

There are at least 115 types of rhinoviruses which are a main source of human colds. These viruses, alone or in various combinations, are responsible for an average of 50 percent of all colds and even higher numbers during certain seasons, Colonno told a news briefing.

In laboratory tests with the antibody, Colonno said it blocked 78 of 88 rhinovirus types tested against it. The other 10 viruses use a different receptor at another site on cell surfaces.

In the cultures, one dose of the antibody bound to cells for two days and prevented the viruses from attaching. Laboratory tests also indicate the antibody reaction is so strong that when it is introduced into cultures already infected, the antibody can knock off rhinoviruses that have already attached to cell receptor proteins, he said.

The human tests, conducted by Drs. Frederick G. Hayden and Jack Gwaltney of the University of Virginia Medical School, involved 13 medical student volunteers receiving multiple doses of the antibody and 13 others taking a placebo. All were exposed to excessive amounts of a rhinovirus.

In the treated group, 11 subjects showed signs of a viral infection and seven of them developed clinically defined colds. In the placebo group, 12 got viral infections and nine developed into colds.

However, onset of colds were delayed two days in the treated group and severity, measured by such indicators as the amount and weight of mucus production, were significantly reduced, Colonno said.

There are at least two possible reasons the treatment only delayed but did not prevent the colds, he said.

Maggie Says Dream Of Scrapping Nuclear Arms Is 'Pie In The Sky'

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher was quoted today as labeling ambitions expressed by President Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev to scrap all nuclear arms as unrealistic "pie in the sky."

The Times of London quoted the British leader as saying in an interview, "Both the president (Reagan) and Mr. Gorbachev have said that they want to see a world without nuclear weapons. I cannot see a world without nuclear weapons."

"Let me be practical about it. The knowledge is there to make them. So do not go too hard for that pie in the sky because, while everyone would like to see it, I do not believe it is going to come about," she was quoted as saying.

But the newspaper reported that

Mrs. Thatcher said she accepts the American proposal to eliminate all superpower medium-range nuclear missiles within three years. It quoted her as saying, "There is room for getting down the intercontinental ballistic missiles on both sides."

Mrs. Thatcher told Gorbachev in a letter delivered in Moscow on March 10 that the goal of a nuclear-free world was necessarily long-term, and that in the foreseeable future, nuclear weapons as deterrents would continue to make an essential contribution to world peace and stability.

Her letter signaled that her Conservative government had joined the Reagan administration in expressing strong reservations over Gorbachev's plan announced on Jan. 15 to rid the world of nuclear arms in stages by the year 2000.

Mrs. Thatcher said in the letter that a key condition of the Gorbachev plan, a freeze on any buildup of Britain's independent nuclear deterrent, was unacceptable.

In addition to U.S. cruise missiles and bombers equipped with nuclear weapons stationed on British soil under NATO agreements, Britain has its own nuclear deterrent. France also maintains an independent nuclear force, and has also expressed opposition to the Gorbachev proposal.

On Thursday, in a letter to U.N. Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar, Gorbachev said the Kremlin was ready to negotiate a nuclear test ban and the dismantling of superpower medium-range rockets in Europe "without any linkage" a term the Soviets have used in the past to refer to limits they seek on British and French arms.

Britain's nuclear deterrent currently consists of an aging Polaris submarine fleet equipped with missiles. But Mrs. Thatcher's government plans to replace the flotilla by the mid-1990s with a more powerful Trident submarine-launched missile system bought from the United States.

The new system will cost the equivalent of $14.6 billion at current estimates.

Part of Gorbachev's Jan. 15 plan called for the United States to agree not to transfer nuclear missiles to other countries, which would mean the cancellation of Britain's Trident program.

Filipino Strikers Stone U.S. Bus

CLARK AIR BASE, Philippines (AP) — Angry Filipino workers barricading the gates to a U.S. military base stoned a bus carrying American servicemen to work today, U.S. officials said. Negotiators failed to reach an agreement ending the workers' week-long strike.

U.S. Navy spokesman James Van Sickle said the latest talks focused on the issue of opening the barricaded gates of Subic Naval Base and Clark Air Base to enable Americans to get in and out.

"The talks failed to produce a solution to the gate problem," Van Sickle said in a telephone interview from Subic.

U.S. military authorities had demanded that Americans be allowed free passage through the gates as a condition for discussing the economic demands of 22,000 striking Filipino workers.

Meanwhile, an unidentified American military man broke past the picket lines outside Clark Air Base and got into the base after scuffling with blockading strikers, an Air Force statement said.

Half an hour later, a U.S. Air Force bus carrying servicemen to nearby Camp O'Donnell air station was "attacked with rocks and sticks" as it passed strikers at Clark, the statement said.

It said no one was hurt in the incident.

U.S. military spokesmen said they did not know how many Americans have been barred from the base by the strike. Some of those unable to get in were personnel on liberty passes while others were off-base residents.

Subic authorities said since the strike began about 200 U.S. servicemen and civilians have been able to get back to the naval base on boats.

Today's talks between Rear Adm. Edwin Kohn, the highest U.S. military officer in the Philippines, and Roberto Flores, president of the striking Filipino labor federation, were held in a Philippine military camp in Olongapo city outside Subic, Van Sickle said.

At Clark, Remigio Simbillo, one of the strike leaders, said the federation had submitted a new set of counter-proposals to the U.S. panel replacing the strikers' original demand for severance pay upon resignation.

Impromptu Warm-Up Serves As Prelude To 'Comic Relief'

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Billy Crystal, Whoopi Goldberg and Robin Williams, the hosts of "Comic Relief," were sharing a couch, discussing Saturday night's live HBO fund-raiser for the homeless. The subject of ancillary rights came up. They mentioned the standard revenue add-ons: a home video, a record album, T-shirts, lunchboxes ... And don't forget, Crystal said, his eyes widening, "The dolls, the Comic Relief Dolls!"

The image of little likenesses tickled him. It caught Williams' fancy, too. He lunged off his cushion. "Yeah, dolls. Dolls with interchangeable heads," Williams squealed. "It would be like Mr. Potato Head. Fun, fun, FUN for kids of all ages!"

Warming to the comic challenge, Miss Goldberg said the dolls must have other replaceable parts and X-rated accessories.

The comedians howled.

Then a phone rang. "The pledges already are coming in," Williams shouted. "Keep those calls coming."

For those wondering what type of teletthon 50 of America's top comedians planned for America's homeless, the answer was on that couch: a funny one. Stand-ups, sketches, ad-libs, heckling. Three hours of "Can You Top This?" The best "Saturday Night Live" ever.

"The main thing is to make the funniest show possible," Williams said, "but not to jam it home or proselytize, or beg every five minutes ... snu-lee-eeze." Then he kicked into a snooty British accent. "This is Robin Leach, Lifestyles of the Destitute and Down."

"You must remember this will be a very joyous event, one where people can effect change," Miss Goldberg said.

"Comic Relief" was dreamed up by Bob Zmuda, a writer and producer who had organized an American Cancer Society benefit for his late partner, comedian Andy Kaufman. Zmuda went to HBO programming vice president, Chris Albrecht. They once were a comedy team. "Jokes from A to Z," kidded Crystal.

"I told him, if he didn't do it, he'd have bad karma," said Zmuda.

"Ah, the wonderful word of guilt," Williams piped in.

HBO agreed to do the special, even taking the unprecedented step of allowing cable systems to put HBO's signal on a free channel, nearly tripling the potential audience from 14.5 million homes to 40 million.

Zmuda enlisted Crystal, Williams and Goldberg as hosts, then recruited major comedy agents to tap their clients. "We went door to door," joked Williams. "Eddie, Eddie Murphy. It's me, Robin. Let me in."

The result is perhaps the greatest gathering of working comedians ever, at least "since Charlie Chaplin dined alone," said Crystal, borrowing a line.

Among the scheduled performers are Steve Allen, Sid Caesar, John Candy, Tony Danza, Michael J. Fox, Buddy Hackett, Bob Hope, Madeline Kahn, Michael Keaton, David Letterman, Jerry Lewis, Bette Midler, Gilda Radner, Carl Reiner, Martin Short, Henry Winkler and Henny Youngman.

The show's writers include Norman Lear, creator of "All in the Family," Murray Schisgal, co-writer of "Tootsie," and staffers from NBC's "Late Night with David Letterman" and HBO's "Not Necessarily the News."

HBO was chosen rather than a commercial network to give the comedians more artistic freedom. "It's not just the language," Williams said. "It's the freedom to talk about anything." He noted how the networks, their affiliates and sponsors can get touchy about such things as politics and religion.

"The only restriction is time," Williams said. "If you're going well, there's a tendency to want to go a little longer."

A Reflector Review

'Bountiful' Falls Short Of Potential

"The Trip to Bountiful," opening today at Plitt Theaters, is an old-fashioned movie that doesn't quite live up to its potential. The lack is felt in weak direction and one-dimensional performance by some members of the supporting cast that never approach the memorable standards of Geraldine Page's Academy Award winning performance nor Horton Foote's screenplay.

"Bountiful" is about one woman's determination to go home again, the odyssey of her journey there and the peripheral characters that help or hinder her. Make no mistake about it: this is Carrie Watts' story. Her character is what lingers in the memory.

The time is 1947; the place Texas. Like many older people, Carrie has been forced to live with her son and his shrewish wife — home is a two-room apartment in Houston. But she has a dream: to return to her hometown, a farming community, Bountiful. She hasn't been home in 20 years, but for the last five, she has kept trying to run away to pursue that dream.

When a final confrontation erupts with her daughter-in-law, Jessie Mae, Carrie takes her pension check and flees, this time with cunning determination.

The theme of going home is powerful, but added to it, Cassie's bid for freedom and dignity turn this into an inspirational film that keeps us rooting for her all the way.

This is due in no small part to the caliber of Miss Page's performance. As to the question whether she deserved to win the Academy Award for best performance by an actress, in my mind there is no question. Long a respected journeyman actress, veteran of seven previous nominations, Geraldine Page gives us in the film the outstanding performance of her career. Gone are the distinctive mannerisms, lost in the realization/creation of Carrie Watts.

She plays the role with restraint and subtlety, allowing all facets of her character to be revealed. At times she is a child, at others, parent, with prismatic glimpses of the young flirtatious girl and stoic survivor. She is victim, dreamer, rebel, and finally victor.

In her skilled interplay of emotions, Miss Pages reveals Carrie as Everywoman (and Everyman) — a universal figure so real you regret you will no longer have the pleasure of her acquaintance once the film is ended. This is acting at its best.

It's a shame the academy gave out only one best actress award. The fact that Miss Page won is no reflection on the other outstanding performances of the year; it is only an acknowledgement of Miss Page's consummate skill in a role that demanded — and got — the best.

John Heard, as her son Ludie, and Carlin Glynn, as his wife Jessie Mae, never fully realized their characters in one-dimensional performances. Too bad — Horton Foote's characters and play deserved better. Two standouts are Richard Bradford as the sheriff whose compassion reaches out like a tangible helping hand. As the girl on the bus who befriends Carrie, Rebecca De Mornay delivers exactly the character required of her.

Technically, the production was mounted extremely well — the sets reflected the period and the mood the scenes needed. The music score by J.A.C. Redford struck exactly the right chord, not only in defining Carrie by the hymns in the background but thematically by the use of "Softly and Tenderly, Jesus is Calling" over the titles and throughout the film.

Peter Masterson makes his film directorial debut with this film, and it shows. A more seasoned director might have been able to produce a film of more even quality.

Horton Foote, a native Texan, is one of today's foremost screen/playwrights. He portrays the South honestly, without Gothic or stereotypical touches. "The Trip to Bountiful," first written and performed on television in 1953 became the inspiration for a cycle of nine plays, "The Orphan's Home," based on Foote's family history. "Tender Mercies," for which he won the Oscar (as did the star, Robert Duvall) in 1984 was one of this group, and more will be forthcoming in future years.

I look forward to them, for they, like "Bountiful," will be movies worth seeing.

Boycott Leaders Say Demands Negotiable

CHICAGO (AP) — Operation PUSH says its proposal to call off its 6-month-old boycott of a local CBS-owned TV station in exchange for minority hiring goals and charitable donations is a "moral covenant," but negotiable.

"The principles sought in the covenant remain, but we understand the specifics will have to be changed according to the realities of the situation," the Rev. Henry Hardy, chief negotiator for the Chicago-based civil-rights organization, said Thursday.

PUSH spokesman Walter Perkins said the organization on Feb. 27 had extended its boycott of WBBM-TV to CBS stations nationwide.

The WBBM boycott was sparked by the demotion last September of Harry Porterfield, a black anchorman, to make room for former WBBM anchorman Bill Kurtis, who returned to the station after a stint as co-host of the nationally televised "CBS Morning News."

In January, PUSH called on the station to agree, among other things, to strict minority hiring and promotion quotas and donate more than $11 million to black charities.

The proposal, which Hardy called a "moral covenant," is similar to agreements PUSH has reached with such business giants as Coca Cola Co.

Soviets Triple Chemical Warfare Capacity

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union has tripled its capacity to develop chemical weapons at a major testing facility on the Volga River, according to a U.S. intelligence finding made available to The Associated Press.

The recently declassified data about the Shikhanly Chemical Warfare Proving Ground near Volks showed an expansion of testing capability as well as a tripling of research and development floorspace.

The plant was built in the 1920s and has apparently been in operation without interruption since. It contains facilities for research, development and production of chemical warfare agents and materials, a U.S. official, who asked for anonymity, said Thursday.

The expansion began in 1970, but it was not clear whether the buildup has been steady since then or was recently accelerated.

"The Soviets have constructed new facilities at Shikhanly that have tripled the amount of its research and development floorspace, and have constructed several new chemical agent-weapon test facilities there," the report said.

The information was declassified as officials registered their skepticism that the Soviets were sincere in proposing a worldwide ban on chemical weapons. The United States introduced a draft treaty during negotiations among 40 nations in Geneva, Switzerland, in 1984 that also called for a global ban. Details of the two proposals differ.

Schoolgirl Takes Peace Message To White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet schoolgirl Katerina Lycheva, carrying her message of peace all the way to the White House, said both East and West shared a common desire for an arms-free world.

The 11-year-old girl Katerina, speaking in English before attending her sendoff party Thursday night at the Capital Children's Museum, said she reminded President Reagan of Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev's proposal "that all nuclear weapons be abolished before I grow up. I said that would be a very good thing."

"Mr. Reagan said he will do his best to do it and to make (the) world free of nuclear arms," she said of her brief visit with the president.

Katerina, who also visited national monuments Thursday, had tea at the Soviet Embassy and a lunch of pizza, was to leave today for Houston to continue her U.S. tour, which began March 20 in Chicago.

She met the Reagan on the second day of her capital visit in a hallway while taking a morning tour of the president's residence, White House officials said.

The girl, accompanied on the tour by her mother and a 10-year-old companion from San Francisco, also said she gave Reagan a doll with a globe for a head.

"I said to the president, 'I want you to have this toy on behalf of the Soviet children. It shows how all Soviet children and all Soviet people want peace,'" Katerina said.

"He said he's no longer a child, but it is also his dream that there be no nuclear weapons left on Earth," she said.

Katerina, excitedly describing the visit, said she was impressed by the White House's "beautiful rooms" and "a beautiful dog. It's Mrs. Reagan's dog ... He was very funny. He was waving his tail and barking."

Good Eggs

The origins of the Easter egg predate Christianity. Many ancient civilizations regarded the egg as a symbol of fertility and reincarnation. Egg rolling is a holdover from the days when farmers rolled eggs across their fields to ensure good crops. In the 1870s, the Easter egg role was moved to the Capitol terrace because of damage to the White House turf. But Mrs. Rutherford B. Hayes took pity on the many disappointed children and brought it back to the White House.

Taxpayers Pick Up $39,000 Tab For Marcos' Expenses At Bases

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $39,000 shopping bill run up at U.S. military bases by the associates and family of former Philippines President Ferdinand Marcos has been paid on an "interim" basis with U.S. taxpayer dollars, a Navy official says.

The decision to reimburse the Air Force base exchanges with federal funds was made earlier this month by Adm. Ronald J. Hays, the commander in chief of the U.S. Pacific Command, according to Capt. Al Becker, a spokesman in Hawaii.

Hays authorized the issuance of a U.S. Treasury check to the exchange system, drawn on the Pacific Command's operational and maintenance fund, because he did not think the exchange system should be forced "to bear the burden of carrying these bills on its books," Becker said.

Hays fully expects his military account to be repaid, Becker said, although the matter of reimbursement has yet to be resolved.

Earlier this month, Pentagon sources disclosed Air Force officials were becoming increasingly concerned the bills at the Air Force exchanges in Guam and Hawaii never would be paid. The issue became a sensitive one because the base exchanges are self-supporting and profits are used to support morale, welfare and recreational programs for active-duty personnel.

The exchange system does not use money from Congress, and if the bill is not paid, "it's our people on Guam and Hawaii that could turn out the losers," said one Pentagon official who demanded anonymity.

"Admiral Hays was sensitive to the concern on the part of the officers and airmen and their families that the expenses that were incurred at exchanges would be a long time in being repaid," Becker explained in a telephone interview Thursday.

"It's important to underscore that this is only an interim thing until we find out ultimately how we're going to take care of all the billings. How that will be resolved, we don't know yet," Becker said.

The State Department said Thursday the question of getting reimbursed by the Marcos party had yet to be decided.

The confirmation by Becker that it was Hays who authorized issuance of the Treasury check came as a member of the House Armed Services Committee warned he was investigating the matter.

Rep. Dan Daniel, D-Va., chairman of the panel's readiness subcommittee, said he was concerned "that the U.S. government not get stuck with the tab."

"I think there's an urgency to recovering the funds since President Marcos may soon no longer be a resident of the United States," Daniel added.

Wall Street Climbs

By The Associated Press

Falling interest rates, a strong, continuing bond rally and signs of an improving foreign trade balance have helped push the stock market to another record high.

On Thursday, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials rose 11.02 to 1,821.72. With the market closed for Good Friday, that put the week's total gain at 53.16 points.

Declining interest rates have been cited as a primary force behind the dramatic rise in stock prices since last fall. In the credit markets Thursday, prices of long-term government bonds, which move in the opposite direction from interest rates, rose about $20 for every $1,000 in face value.

The magic number 200 is the Holy Grail of the duplicate bridge player. To achieve that score, he will indulge in close doubles—the sort you would never make in rubber bridge. To back that up, you have to be a skillful defender.

This auction is typical of the tournament game. Since he had better than a minimum opening bid with support for his partner's suit, and since his side obviously had the balance of power, West elected to double at his second turn. That was a dubious decision since his queen of hearts was a doubtful value. Paradoxically, the lady turned out to be crucial for the defense.

Against one no trump doubled, West led a low spade. East grabbed his king and returned the jack, covered by the queen and taken with the ace. It was time to examine the position.

It seemed certain that declarer had a spade stopper and one of the minor-suit aces. Since the heart suit was going to produce five tricks with the help of a finesse, if declarer could take his spade trick and the ace he would have seven tricks. Therefore, West opted to switch. But to which suit?

He decided he would give declarer his heart tricks. Had he chosen to exit with a low heart, it would have been all over. Declarer would have run that to his nine, forced out the ten of spades and would still have had the ace of diamonds as an entry to his seventh trick, the good spade.

The solution was elegant: West exited with the queen of hearts. Now declarer could not use the nine of hearts as an entry to hand, for that would leave dummy's long hearts withering on the vine. And when East gained the lead with the ace of clubs, he could lead a diamond through declarer's tenace to establish the setting trick for the defenders.

Truck Ban

SUNDANCE, Utah (AP) — Actor Robert Redford and a number of other residents of the scenic mountain pass called Provo Canyon have joined forces in a bid to seek a ban on truck traffic through the area.

About 40 residents turned out for a meeting at Redford's Sundance ski area, including Lhomond and Barbara Jones, whose daughter, son-in-law and three grandchildren were killed in a traffic accident in the canyon recently.

Redford, 49, a longtime Utah resident, said he was pleased to see the issue being confronted and glad to lend his support.

Dental X-Rays Confirm Mengele's Identity

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — The federal police chief says dental X-rays found a week ago have proved beyond any doubt that remains exhumed from a Brazilian grave last year were those of Nazi war criminal Josef Mengele.

Eight X-rays of Mengele's teeth taken in 1976 exactly matched the X-rays of teeth in the skull unearthed in June in an unkempt cemetery outside Sao Paulo, Police Chief Romeu Tuma said Thursday.

Brazilian officials and officials from other countries that also were seeking Mengele concluded last summer that the exhumed remains were those of Mengele, called the "Angel of Death" by survivors of the Nazis' Auschwitz death camp.

But the Israeli government had cast doubts on whether the bones really were Mengele's.
