General & Merchants
—AND—
Cotton Buyers.

Warrenton, N.C., February 22 1890

Mr Elias Carr,

My dear Sir.

I am financially ruined and what to do I do not know. The girls are endeavoring to get situations and I hope they may succeed.
It is a serious thing at my age and with a large family to be thrown upon the cold charities of the world. I was in hopes I would weather the storm but the pressure was too great.
All that I will have left is my house and five hundred dollars personal exemption.
I am too much troubled at present to take a Colon Vain of matters but my business is so completely wrecked that I can not see the end of it.
I have been laboring under financial embarrassment ever since the failure of The Union Savings Bank but I did hope I could work through that matter but was not able to do so. All well and send love.

Very truly yours
Jacob Parker.
