Dr L & B.

We want some Alliance law in regards to the eligibility of a person in regards to joining the Alliance. We know what the Constitution says in regards to the matter. Can a person join the Alliance who is a farmer; but clerks occasionally in a store say once in a while in a part of a Saturday evenings. And we also had some members of the Alliance who were Saturday occasionally, but whose true interest is in farming. We also had a member who is a Dutchman buys & sells meats of all kinds, he farms for a living & does the butchering business on Saturday.

Now what we want to know Bro Polk is that the spirit of the law that a member cannot clerk a few hours of a week or Saturday nor sell or buy meats. Where his interest is in farming. We are having some trouble in our Alliance on this question as we cannot agree upon the meaning of the Constitution. Will you answer through the columns of The Progressive Farmer as soon as possible, and settle this troublesome question in regards to what a member can do or not do as we cannot agree upon the Constitutional meaning.

We have a large Alliance over 100 members and are getting a long fine with the exception above mentioned trouble

It is with regret that we trespass upon you valuable time, but like Day & Crockett we want to be sure we are right and then we can go ahead.

I am Yours Fraternaly
