From the throes of a turbulent half-century of progress, East Carolina College stands with its face toward the future. A new vista shapes itself amidst the turmoil of expansion. With confident strides, the College moves to meet the challenge of tomorrow — to serve answers to inquiring minds — to perpetuate the disciplines of modern education.

Future . . .

*As steel beams frame the y and new buildings rise most overnight, the face of e campus changes quickly.
he future seems at hand and e conquest easy.*

And it is for the hallmark posterity and to the multiicity of East Carolina ollege as it begins its second ty years of service that the 1959 Buccaneer is dedicated.

... the Old

More than a half-century ago, an act of the State Legislature established a school which has become one of the largest colleges in North Carolina.

Rising with stately grace from the rolling green acreage off Fifth Street, East Carolina's oldest building, Austin, stands as a time-honored monument to by-gone days.

Standing with an emerald elegance, Juniper trees have witnessed the years bring a rising fame to East Carolina College.

Surrounded by green herbage, the fountain in Wright Circle has become a peaceful repose from the turmoil of expanding brick and mortar.

Keeping pace with the growing demand for scientists, technicians, and business personnel, Flanagan Building has justified the foresight of those men who brought higher education to eastern Carolina.

For those moments away from books, the College Union has provided a wealth of activities for those students who seek more than a repertoire of facts.

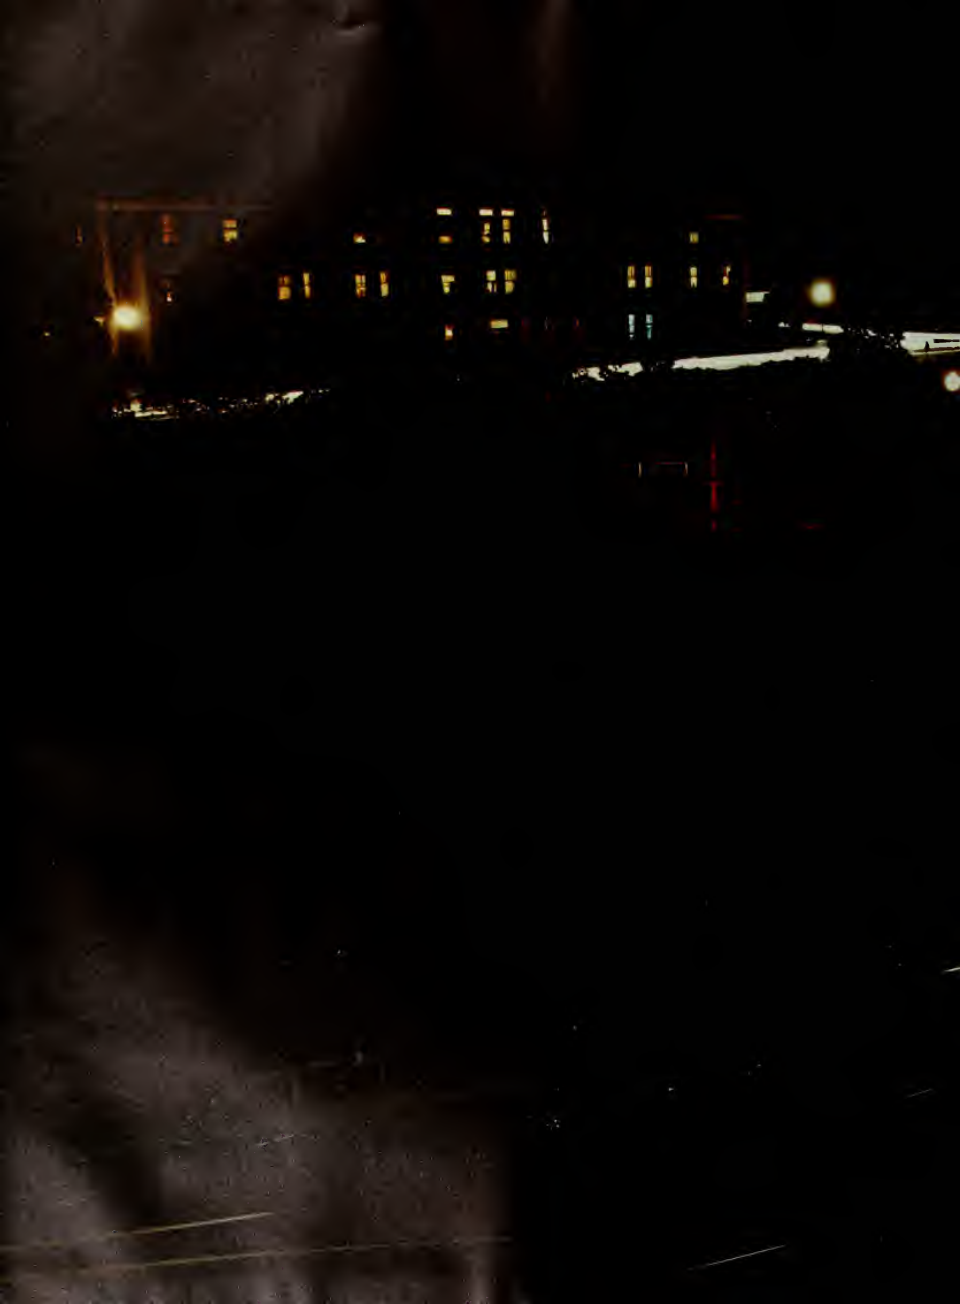

Framing the panoramic stretches of the interior quadrangle, Flanagan columns stand as a vestige to business and scientific excellence.

Lining the length of North State Avenue, the girls' dormitories constitute the oldest campus buildings.

... the New

Heralding a new era for East Carolina, Christenbury Gymnasium looks out across Tenth Street to the fast developing South Campus.

Becoming one of the two state vocational training centers in Home Economics, the college built a home management house for practical experimentation.

representing more than two million dollars, Joyner Library is the largest research facility in eastern North Carolina.

A new influx of male students came in mid-century—William B. Umstead Hall for men is the result.

Garrett Dormitory is the newest addition to the women's housing development project.

As the first building to be erected on the South Campus, this five story men's dormitory becomes the tallest building in Greenville.

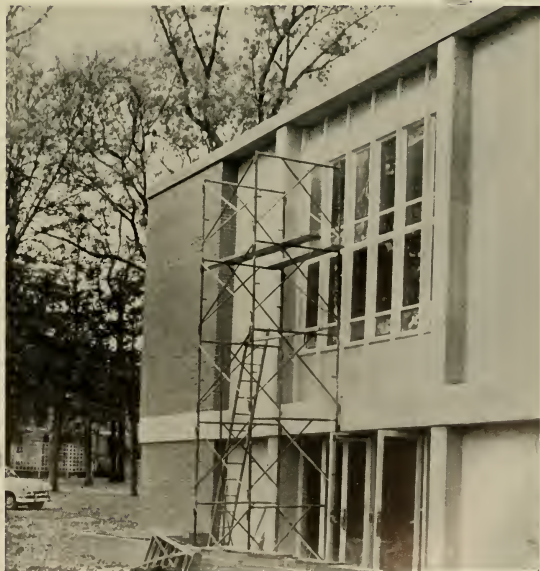

As classroom space demands increase, new buildings push expansion into the ever-shrinking arboretum.

A modern cafeteria addition is one of the many such extensions which strive to meet the increasing needs of an expanding student body.

Board of Trustees

Appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate, the Board of Trustees consists of twelve members. Each appointed member serves for a period of six years or until his successor has been appointed and qualified.

The Trustees prescribe the course of study, retain all rights and titles to property acquired for the use and benefit of the college, and report the operation of the college biennially to the Governor before the meeting of each General Assembly.

Mr. Ralph Hodges, Mr. Fred Willetts, and Mr. Robert Morgan were not present when pictures were made.

John D. Messick

PRESIDENT

Coming to East Carolina College in 1947, Dr. John D. Messick has led the college during a period of phenomenal growth. He has witnessed the enrollment mushroom and the physical plant almost double its size. Under his leadership, the college has established itself as one of the foremost institutions of higher learning in North Carolina.

President Messick holds a Ph.B. Degree from Elon College, a Ph.D. Degree from New York University, and a Litt.D. from Elon College.

Ascending the steps of Wright Building, Dr. Messick prepares for another day of administrative duties.

From behind a polished mahogany desk, the President always has a kind smile and word for his many visitors.

Industrial Arts

Providing initial experiences in a number of fields, the Industrial Arts Department has as its main purpose the preparation of teachers for the public schools of North Carolina.

The undergraduate curriculum offers courses in hand and machine woodwork, engineering, machine, architectural drawing, and descriptive geometry. It also provides training in general shop, crafts, electricity, and industrial arts design. The graduate program affords the student an opportunity to strengthen his training along professional lines.

Foreign Language

Foreign languages have truly found their place in the college curriculum this year. The department has grown in offerings, students, and faculty members. Enrolled in the department are 322 men and women who are taking courses in French, Spanish, German, and Russian. The addition of German and Russian to the curriculum has doubled the choices for those interested in language. The faculty was increased this year from four to six members.

A strong foundation has been laid, and the department is ready for greater growth and accomplishments as the college enters its second half-century.

Graduate School

The Graduate School offers a program of study leading to the Master of Arts degree in Business, English, Health and Physical Education, Industrial Arts, Library Science, Mathematics, Music, Science, and Social Studies. The program of study in these nine areas meets the requirements for Graduate Certificates issued by the North Carolina State Department of Education. The student who does not wish to obtain Graduate Certificate may take an academic major of twenty-seven quarter hours in any one of the various departments of the college which offers graduate work. For the school year 1958-59 there were approximately six hundred students registered for graduate courses. About four hundred of these were working to meet the requirements for the Master of Arts degree.

"Home is where the heart is!"

Freshmen expect almost anything when they come to college, but when they do away with the professor and put you in front of a TV monitor for a class in US History, it's just going a little too far.

Freshman girl's proving ground: of course, this picture was made before kissing was outlawed!!

First year students bring family car to college.

Marshals . . .

Marshals are representatives of the college at public functions, especially at commencement, and the success of such occasions can be definitely affected by the way in which the marshals serve.

The marshals, selected by vote of the entire student body, choose their chief marshal and serve for one year in this esteemed and honorary campus position.

Campus Life

Spring '58 . . .

Often called the happiest season of the year, spring holds a special significance for East Carolina students. Featured events such as the Junior-Senior Dance, the May Day pageant, and senior graduation are anxiously expected each year. Highlighting the 1958 spring was the 50th anniversary pageant, "East Carolina's Spade: To Serve." The production celebrated a half-century of growth and development.

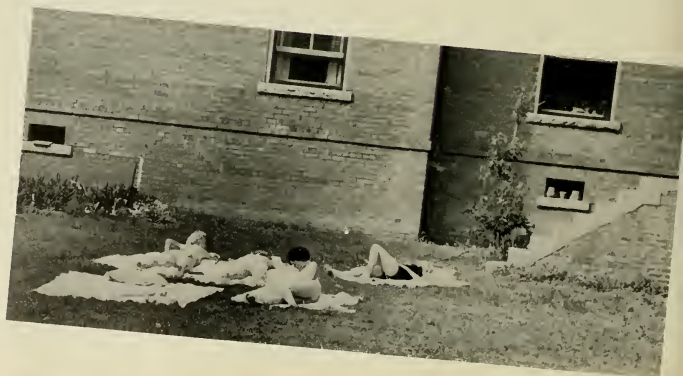

Among the delicate flowering of Japanese cherry trees, Marilyn Shavender welcomes the first brisk days of spring.

Warm days come and the Umstead males make like dead Indians.

Carnival spirit fills the College Union at the annual "Carnival Night." One of the favorite attractions was the pie throwing booth, especially with Mike Katsias as the target.

Hal Langdon's "Hi-Five" provide the music for the annual Military Ball.

Construction begins on the new men's dormitory on South Campus.

Sponsored by the Student NEA, Dwight Smith and Tanya Anderson were selected Mr. and Miss Student Teacher for the year.

Presented by the East Carolina Playhouse, Sleeping Beauty was given before audiences in Greenville and Pitt County schools.

Chairman of the Business Department, Dr. E. R. Browning, crowns Earl Soles and Gayle Davenport king and queen of the Valentine Dance.

Ralph Marterie and his nationally known band visited the campus for the Chandelier ball.

Guest actor, Jerry Rockwood, starred in the East Carolina Playhouse production of Tea-house of the August Moon.

President Messick presents Maurice Everett with the award for outstanding tennis player in NSC.

Bulldozer clears arboretum for construction of new classroom building.

May Day '58

Like spring itself, May Day, 1958 was an event of delicate charm as the campus beauties paraded around the college pool. It was a fairyland experience when young girls dressed in satin lavers announced the entering queens, and baby white ducks paddled through the pool water. Our queen was Miss Betty Phillips, and her maid of honor was Marcia Forbes.

"East Carolina's Spade: To Serve" climaxed the Golden Anniversary celebrations of East Carolina. This was one of the most effective summer sessions in many years. The campus streets were named and the college acquired its first mascot.

More than 1700 students were enrolled in the two sessions.

Summer '58 ...

After fifty years of wrong directions, the campus streets were given names. One of the most impressive is North State Avenue.

For the first time East Carolina has a mascot. Through the efforts of SGA President Johnny Hudson and Vice President Clint LeGette, a Great Dane was purchased and appropriately named "Buc."

H. S. Kelly seems to be enjoying the hospitality of the College Union at one of their many "Bingo-Ice Cream" parties.

Remember the controversy over the College Union bicycles? No matter where the money goes, Sandra Gray and Betsy Smith check two out for a ride out to Green Springs Park.

One of the highlights of the Summer Session is the numerous watermelon cuttings sponsored by the College Union. Director Cynthia Mendenhall eyes Charles Youmans as he expertly carves the chilled fruit.

The most popular place on campus during the summer months is the picnic area. Cases of Pepsis and pounds of hotdogs find their way here to be gluttonously consumed by hungry students after a long hot day of classes.

More hotdogs!! Looks as if we have a glutton in the party . . . she's roasting a hotdog and at the same time chewing on one. Well, the co-ed standing thought it was funny.

The college pool needs no advertising. Its cool, sparkling water is the perfect place for relaxation from one of Greenville's humid sub-tropical days.

Fall '58 . . .

Another school year began in September with a record enrollment. During the summer months, the campus had undergone a considerable change. Returning students found two new buildings and three extensions.

East Carolina continued to fulfill its promise as a growing institution.

Homecoming . . .

Hailed as the most impressive Homecoming weekend in the history of East Carolina College, students, fans, and alumni gathered to celebrate another year of growth and progress. The 1958 Homecoming was highlighted with the appearance of sister queens, Jimi and Carol McDaniel, the new mascot, "Buc," and ECC's own Betty Lane Evans, Miss North Carolina for 1958.

Following in the footsteps of her older sister, Carol, Jimi McDaniel was chosen Homecoming Queen for the 1958 event.

Winter

'58-'59 . . .

Coming on the heels of a pleasant fall, winter arrived in a flurry of white flakes as the campus was blanketed in sixteen inches of snow. For the second time in three years, Miss North Carolina is a student at East Carolina College—this year, Betty Lane Evans of Greenville. Also came the White Ball and poet-historian Peter Viereck. This was the college winter . . .

... And the Snows

On the morning of December 4, East Carolina students awoke to find the college campus blanketed in sixteen inches of snow and ice. For many it was a first experience with a white winter. With high banked drifts, the campus was never more picturesque, and both young and old found snowballs, icy streets, and snowmen an exhilarating new experience.

DELANO DRIVER
Vice President

JO ANN BRYAN
Secretary

East Carolina's Student Government began a series of sweeping changes following the spring elections. Its organizational theme of "greater service through student responsibility" was challenged from the beginning by a host of campus issues.

The Advisory Board for the organization brought the Senate System to reality. For the first time in years, the Points System worked effectively to curb office holders, and the freshman orientation program was considerably improved. A featured event of the year came when the Student Government Presidents Meeting, drawing students from several states, was held in Joyner Library.

The body has in general been more active than previously.

Senate

Since 1920 the East Carolina College Students Association has operated under a Student Legislature composed of the presidents of all recognized campus organizations. Due to continuous changes in membership each year, a new system which would continue to be representative yet more stream-lined and effective was sought. As this year's S.G.A. administration came into office, the new senate system came into being. The Senate has caused renewed interest on the part of the student body in vital campus issues and student government activity as a whole.

Seen above is the Senate in session. A college annual is not just a picture book. It should strive to emphasize the intellectual and social tenor of the college campus and has as a secondary obligation to indicate the developing trends of the cultural and academic climate through layout, motif, and copy.

The Buccaneer is published by a staff of approximately ninety people. Each staff member has the opportunity to learn the integral makeup of the college and the tedious business of organized book publishing. In this, a college year-book brings to fruition its threefold purpose.

It is not surprising that an indifference towards intellectualism permeates, and in many cases dominates, the general atmosphere of our colleges. This is the sort of thing against which we hope to rebel.

We hope The Rebel will stimulate thought, create a variety of opinion, and provoke an interest in a highly developed art form. We believe that the achievement of these goals would constitute a revolution on any campus.

THE EAST CAROLINA PLAYHOUSE was established on the campus in 1939. The organization has as its purpose the encouragement of "dramatic arts at East Carolina and to give students of the college an opportunity to participate in dramatic productions of educational, cultural and/or dramatic worth." All students of the college are eligible to become members and may do so upon the completion of a period of apprenticeship during which time they must work in at least one major production and two Player's Studio Productions. At least one play participation must be along technical lines. Members are expected to take part in each of the major productions and to direct and act in Player's Studio Productions during the school year.

The East Carolina Playhouse Presents . . .

"Player's Studio"

Experimental Drama

Each year, aside from the three regularly scheduled major productions, the East Carolina Playhouse presents various plays on an experimental basis. This type of theatre is designed to give any student the opportunity to be in a play to satisfy enthusiasm as well as talent. Most of the superior actors in the organization are products of the various original, famous, or children's plays. No student who is truly interested in the theatre is ever turned away from one of these plays. While they may not have the training necessary for a major production, there is always the PLAYER'S STUDIO through which one may air his talents to their fullest advantage.

"Carousel"

The time—1873; the place—a small town on the coast of Maine . . . and with that audiences gave up reality and were carried magically away into the world of musical theater. Carousel, with music by Rodgers and Hammerstein, captured the imagination and became the most lauded production ever seen in McGinnis Auditorium. Sponsored by the S.G.A., the directors were Dr. Kenneth Cuthbert and Dr. Elizabeth Utterback.

PRODUCTIONS STAFF

Linwood Pittman, Technical; Ralph Shumaker, Ass't Music Director; Elizabeth Utterback, Dramatics; Sue Hunt, Ass't Dramatics; and Kenneth Cuthbert, Director and Music.

Many hours of rehearsals were well rewarded with some of the finest choreography ever seen on the McGinnis stage. Charles Shearon, choreographer, did an excellent job. Dancers at the left are: Joy Johnson, Carolyn Hinton, Carole Hunter, Laverne Coughlan, Noah Barefoot, Ken Killibrew, Adolphus Spain, and Glendal Jenkins.

Dancer Carole Hunter is caught in a fast pirouette.

Carousel Barker, Billy Bigelow (Steve Farrish), flirts with Julie Jordan (Dottie Jo James)—the beginning of a tragic romance.

In dream ballet, Louise (Carol Harris) recreates her mother's romance with mythical carousel Barker (Charles Shearon).

The villain, Jigger, (Ralph Shumaker) convinces Billy to join in his evil plan to rob rich mill owner to get money for expected baby.

Enoch Snow (George Knight) comically proclaims his love for Carrie Pipperidge (Barbara Harris).

The show climaxes as Nettie Fowler (Peggy Griffin) consoles Julie with "You'll Never Walk Alone" after Billy kills himself.

Billy appears at Louise's (Sue Hunt) graduation. She feels his presence but cannot see him.

"All That Glitters . . ."

... IS NOT GOLD," an old saying goes. In no other campus organization is this as true as in the EAST CAROLINA PLAYHOUSE. Literally hundreds of hours go into the building of sets, rehearsals, staging and producing plays . . . and then ... GLITTER!

Larry Craven, Director, and Marvis Edwards, Assistant Director, block movements for two characters in "The Old Lady Shows Her Medals."

"Dr. Joe," as playhouse members call their director, instructs Tommy Hull, Aileen Condon and Jerry Rockwood on stage movements for "The Teahouse of the August Moon."

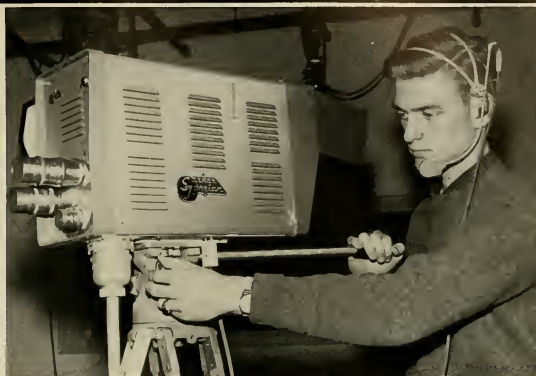

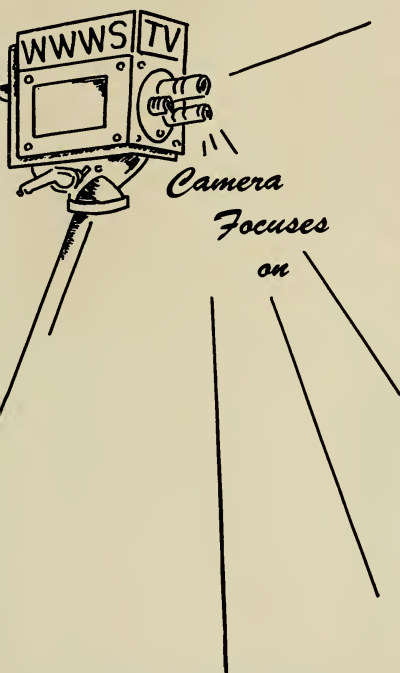

Empty coffee cups witness as Jane Berryman constructs "cricket cages" for "Teahouse," and Ken West checks his final stage directions.

Larry Craven points the proverbial accusing finger at Bubba Driver in Lambda Chi Alpha's production of "The Moon Is Blue." Doris Robbins and Tommy Hull express both horror and amusement.

Alpha Chapter of Tau Sigma, honorary educational fraternity, was founded on the campus of East Carolina College in the spring of 1955. This fraternity was the outgrowth of a club organized by members of Dr. John White's psychology 205 class. The objectives of this organization are to be an organization for educational exploration, to supplement classroom work with actual experience, to give the student member an opportunity in which to meet first hand problems and situations that will eventually be met in the field, and to provide a living laboratory in which to work and learn in what practical ways to be of service.

Delta Sigma Pi has many social affairs and three big dances each year; the most outstanding is the "Rose Formal" which is held during the Winter Quarter. The Rose Weekend starts on Friday evening with a "Stag Social," followed by the big event on Saturday evening. Since Delta Sigma Pi is primarily a professional commerce fraternity, they have many guest speakers and make several tours each year through various Companies in Virginia, South Carolina, and North Carolina. The Professional life is centered around fostering the study of business and promoting closer affiliation between the commercial world and the field of commerce.

Phi Omicron

Phi Omicron's purpose is fourfold: to encourage interest and scholarship in home economics, to aid in civic betterment at East Carolina College, to encourage and foster high ethical standards in business and professional life, and finally to teach the ideal of service as the basis of all worthy enterprises through the development of personality, leadership, initiative and poise in such a way as to lend distinction to the profession of home economics.

Gamma Rho Chapter of Kappa Alpha Order, East Carolina College, received its charter on September 25, 1958.

"For the things which are seen are temporal; but the things which are not seen are eternal."

Its influence cannot be weighed or measured or computed or analyzed, but, for its members, there is nothing more substantial, nothing more real, than the vows they have taken, the precepts which become part of their very souls, the strong bonds of brotherhood which have been among their dearest and most cherished blessings.

The Air Force ROTC at East Carolina College offers young men opportunities for personal development as individual cadets into capable leaders, as potential Air Force Officers, or citizens cognizant of the challenge of new air age frontiers where even the realms of sound and time are left behind.

The unit was activated in 1948 and is now in its eleventh year. It is one of the college's best developed departments. It offers great opportunities to those young men desiring to become pilots, navigators, or observers in the USAF.

Pirates drop Emory-Henry in opener by 12-0 . . .

The Bucs equaled their 1957 win total as they capitalized on two fourth-quarter fumbles by turning them into touchdowns. Bass, Bishop, and Perry stood out in the backfield and Emory, Davis, and Gordon were stalwarts in the forward wall.

Jerry Carpenter halts Emory-Henry player.

Glenn Bass sweeps end for sizable gain.

Pirates bow to strong Presbyterian by 24-16 . . .

Facing a 24 point deficit, the ECC offensive unit managed to get rolling with eight minutes left in the fourth quarter and wound up with 16 points for their efforts. Bobby Perry and Ralph Zehring dominated the offensive play for the Pirates.

ECC stops Western Carolina 18-7...

A Homecoming crowd of approximately 8,500 witnessed Bobby Perry, Buc halfback, score his seventh touchdown in five games as ECC outscored a determined Western Carolina squad. The work of David Thomas, Bill Cain, Joe Holmes, and Howard Beale at the end slots stopped the outside attack while Gary Pierce, Charlie Cook, Henry Vansant, Wayne Davis, and Ed Emory dominated the inside play.

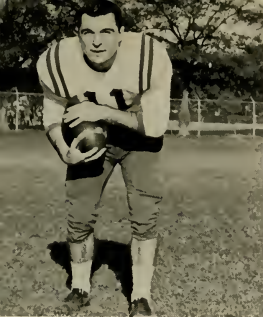

Jim Speight, Lee Atkinson, Ralph Zehring, and off course Perry led the offensive attack.

Newberry topples East Carolina 28-6 ...

The Indians of Newberry College took advantage of ECC mistakes in the opening half to gain a 12-6 lead at intermission, and then unleashed a bone-crushing ground attack in the second half to hand the Pirates their second worst licking of the campaign. James Speight was the leading ground-gainer for the Bucs with 113 yards out of their total of 137 yards. Randell Holmes got off several outstanding boots and wound up with a 47.5 average for six kicks.

Coach Porter, heading into his twelfth season as head basketball and the head mentor, has had some glorious years in the Pirate den. His 1958-59 club may produce another one of those good years.

With six strong men forming a nucleus, Porter is ready to aim his guns toward the North State crown once again. Jessel Curry, ALL-CONFERENCE Guard, heads the returning starters. Although leading the team last season with a 16 point average, Curry's greatest asset is his excellent play-making.

Ike Riddick is one of the returning guards averaging 12 points a game last season. Noted for his speed and quickness, Riddick is also a good rebounder.

Charlie Adams is the other regular guard. Having overcome a defensive weakness, this sharpshooter is a good bet for ALL-CONFERENCE honors.

Joe Plaster, who has shown great improvement over the past three years, returns to the pivot slot. Standing at 6'8", Plaster gives the Bucs plenty of height and he will also get his share of points.

At forward Coach Porter has a hustling Sophomore, Don Smith, who is ready for his second year as a starter. Smith was regarded as one of the top Freshmen in the loop last season and is once again tabbed as a mainstay on the club.

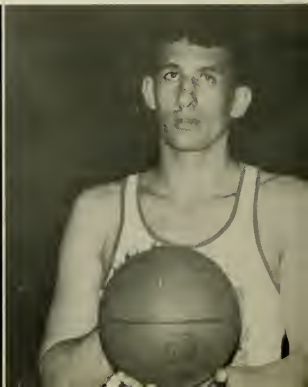

Nick Nichols, who was out last season with a shoulder injury, is back for his fourth year as a regular. Nichols, ALL-CONFERENCE in 1957, seems to have completely recovered from his injury by his early season showing.

Having early season trouble finding a smooth working combination, the Buc head mentor has made several changes which have produced victories in the past three games. Dave Starrett, Benny Bowes, and Charlie Lewis are the Freshmen who have been showing up well this year.

Pirates have successful season . . .

The Pirates, who won ten games and lost four in the North State Conference, came in second to Elon College which posted a thirteen and three record. Limited practice due to bad weather caused the Pirates to be slow in reaching top form. However, sparked by good defensive play, they were in contention for the title until the close of the season. The infield averaged two double plays per game. Lack of hitting resulted in several narrow losses.

Under the leadership of Intramural Faculty Director Coach Earl Smith, Student Director, Bill Boyd, Jr., and the Intramural Council, East Carolina's 1958 fall touch football program proved to be highly successful.

A total of twelve teams entered the football program. They were divided equally into a Fraternity League and a Dormitory League. At the completion of the regular season, a playoff was held to determine a first, second, and third place college championship touch football team. The Country Gentlemen, an up and coming group of students banded together under this name for athletic participation in intramurals, took the first spot with a two out of three game win over Lambda Chi Alpha. Lambda Chi emerged as the second champion and Kappa Sigma Nu bested the River Rats for the third place honor.

Trophies for the three top spots were awarded. One of the outstanding achievements during the fall for intramural sports was a new constitution drawn up by Student Director Boyd and presented to the Student Government Association for recognition. With this new constitution at work, the Intramural Association put many new ideas and policies into effect which are designed to benefit all male students at East Carolina.
