STATE NEWS.
Things Mentioned in our State Exchanges that are of General Interest
The Cream of the News.

A Third party paper called the Solid South has just been started at Fayetteville.

A negro woman of Mt. Olive was sent to the penitentiary a year for stealing a box of snuff.
Kinston Free Press: Mr. W.
F. Staley's gin house and four bales of cotton, four or five miles from Kinston, were burned last Friday afternoon.

The citizens of Wilmington will not have "Welcome Week"
this year, because the railroads would not comply with the one cent rate, as heretofore.

Ex-Judge Connor and Hon. B.
H. Bunn have formed a copartnership for the practice of law, the former residing at Wilson and the latter at Rocky Mount.

The State Superintendent of education has received $1,000 from Dr. Curry, of the Peabody fund, for the normal department of the State Normal and Industrial School at Greensboro.

Col. J. S. Carr, who was appointed by Gov. Elias Carr a delegate to the World's Congress of Bankers, at Chicago, has been elected a vice president of the American Bankers' Association.

Rev. J. C. Price, D. D., colored,
President of Livingstone College, Salisbury, died in that town on Tuesday night of last week. He was the ablest colored man in the South and the finest orator of his race. He was a native of Newbern.

Governor Carr has pardoned
one of the penitentiary Nero Jones, who was convicted of manslaughter in 1881 in Edgecombe county and sentenced to twenty years. He has served twenty-two years of his term.

Smithfield Herald: It is learned that quite a number of milk cows are dying through the county. One farmer near Benson, we learn, has lost two or three and we have heard of others.
Some two or three have died around town recently.

Gastonia Gazette: An old darker, 73 years old, who works on
Mr. Mac Wilson's farm, picked 313 pounds of cotton in one day last week and it wasn't a good day for picking cotton either.
His name is Big Bill Adams and he picks from 250 to 275 pounds almost any day.

Weldon News: Last Friday night thieves entered the yard of Henry Pope and stole one of his bee hives. They carried it some distance and proceeded to sweeten up by robbing it of the honey.
The bees made the work rather warm for them so they only succeeded in getting out one or two pieces of honey.

The dwelling house of Major John W. Graham, of Hillsboro, was destroyed by fire Thursday night. The fire is said to have been caused by the overturning of a lamp by a servant girl. The building is a total loss and only a little furniture was saved. The loss of Maj. Graham is estimated at fully $20,000, with no insurance.

Kinston Free Press: Dr. Hyatt performed a very difficult surgical operation on Mrs. Amos Phillips, of this county, about five weeks ago, removing a twenty pound fibroid tumor from her abdomen. She returned home last Monday perfectly cured.
Dr. Hyatt probably has the largest surgical practice in the State, and his practice is constantly increasing. He has a nicely equipped sanatorium for the treatment of diseases of the eye and general surgery. It is the only institution of the kind in the State.

In France, in recent years,
much attention has been given to school hygiene. Not only is physical culture made compulsory in all public schools, but the plans of all school buildings, both public and private, must be approved by the proper authorities, and all schools are subjected to systematic medical inspection. The last mentioned feature is one which American public school authorities, particularly in large cities, might borrow with advantage.—Educational Review.

WHAT IT COSTS TO MAKE LAWS.

The Enormous Amount of Money it Takes to Run the Congress—What
Some of it is Spent for—Fairly Economical With Respect to its Expenditure for Religion.

Washington Correspondent of Statesville Landmark.
I have several times in this correspondence alluded to the atrocious extravagance of Congress, especially the Senate. The following figures give in detail a part of these expenses. Many ridiculous items are omitted from this list. Is not some reform in this direction possible?

The extra session of Congress will take out of the impoverished Treasury a big sum in cash.
Though many of the expenses of the national legislature run on during its absence from Washington, they jump to maximum when it sits. To make laws costs Uncle Sam a pile of money annually.

The pay alone of members of the House amounts to $1,800,000 a year, and they get $130,000 extra for mileage. To help them transact their business they require a small army of clerks, doorkeepers, book keepers, pages, messengers,
etc. The salary list for this force of assistants runs up to $730,000.

This does not include the office of the sergeant-at-arms, which is a sort of bank through which the salaries of the Representatives are paid. To run this financial institution an outlay of $16,000 is needed. An additional $26,000 provides for the support of the House postoffice, through which as much mail matter passes as comes into and goes out of a good sized city.

The number of Senators being much smaller, their annual pay amounts only to $440,000, with an addition of $45,000 for mileage.
There is an expense of $5,400 for employees in the office of the Vice President. The office of the secretary of the upper house, which does the banking and attends to much of the clerical business of that august body, costs $64,500 in salaries. Clerks and messengers to the various committees draw $163,500. The sergeant-at-arms doorkeepers and other helpers get an aggregate of $118,600.

There are further expenditures of $30,700 for the document and printing rooms, $18,200 for the Senate postoffice, and $16,000 for stationery.

This brief statement by no means comprises all of the expenses involved in running Congress.
Among many things left out, which are paid for out of the contingent funds, is the item of salaries for the official reporters.
These are the men who write out the reports of proceedings and debates which make up the daily publication called the Congressional Record. There are five of them on the floor of the House, who sit at a table in front of the Speaker's desk. It is their duty to report every word that is said from the opening to the adjournment. Being all of them rapid stenographers, they manage by taking turns. As quickly as No. 1 has got 1,000 words put down he holds up his thumb and No. 2 takes up the thread, very likely in the middle of a speech, while
No. 1 goes down to a room on the floor below, where he dictates the 1,000 words to two shorthand writers—500 words to one and 500 to the other.

While the two shorthand writers are copying off their notes quickly in typescript, reporter No. 1 goes back to his seat in front of the desk. Meanwhile No. 2 has finished his 1,000 words, and held up his thumb to No. 3, who in his turn takes up the thread, while
No. 2 goes downstairs and dictates—and so on until No. 5 holds up his thumb to No. 1, and the business goes on as before.

This arrangement renders it possible to have a complete typewritten report of the House proceedings ready for the printer a few minutes after that body adjourns. It is the same way with the Senate. Thus each Congressman finds on his breakfast table next morning a copy of the Record comprising a complete record of everything that was said and done in the national legislature on the day before. These skilled stenographers get $5,000 a year each.

There are ten of them, and so it costs $50,000 a year for the writing of the Congressional Record, the stenographers paying their own assistants. The printing of this interesting daily publication is done at an expense of nearly $150,000 annually. During the last fiscal year it used up 325, 000 pounds of paper and 1,053 pounds of ink. For the titles and ornamentation on bound copies 150 pecks of gold leaf were required, valued at $1,000. Five barrels of flour were consumed in the shops of paste for binding.

During the session of the last Congress the outlay on the printing of bills and joint resolutions for both Senate and House was $71,800. During the two sessions 10,837 such documents were presented to the House and 4,056 to the Senate. Bills have to be printed and reprinted at all stages of their progress, so that a single one may have to be put in type a score of times before it becomes a law.

Among the advantages which a Congressman enjoys is the expectation of a costly eulogy in case he dies during his term of office. In such an event custom demands that his virtues shall be embalmed in book form at the expense of the government.
During the last fiscal year nine Representatives and Senators were thus honored, at an outlay of $46,462. The most extravagant of these publications came to $10, 812. The expenditure for eulogies runs from $2,500 up. From 10,000 to 25,000 copies ordinarily are distributed. Fifty are presented to the family of the dead statesman; most of the others find their way sooner or later to the junk shop. Each one must have a portrait, the engraving of which costs $34.

Congressmen have caused great waste of the public funds by scattering the publications issued from the government printing office broadcast where there was no use for them. As a result of this practice, thousands and thousands of volumes every year were sold to dealers in waste paper all over the country without having even been taken from their wrappers. This abuse has been done away with to a great extent by recent legislation.

Among the materials consumed by the public printer in the last year, mentioned in his account, were three gross of fire balls, $50 worth of eggs, 84 yards of blue jeans, 296 gallons of benzine, $16,171 worth of gold leaf, and $2,090 worth of imitation gold leaf. Lithographed and engraved illustrations for the reports and executive documents of both House and Senate cost $8,824.

Congress is fairly economical with respect to its expenditures on religion. The salary of the House chaplain is only $900, while the chaplain of the Senate gets the same amount. The two branches of the national legislature spend twice that much in the course of a year on packing boxes. These are made by carpenters at the capitol, and being handsomely put together, are found very useful for stowing dresses in, and for other purposes of transportation which would otherwise require trunks. Out of the contingent funds the "junkies" of special committees are paid for Often they are very enjoyable as well as very expensive affairs, costing many thousands of dollars. Statesmen who travel thus at Uncle Sam's cost are usually liberal with themselves.

It is quite interesting to look over their printed accounts of disbursements. They always travel in drawing-room cars, put up at the best hotels, and enjoy the choicest of whatever is to be had.
It costs a lot of money to run the building which Congress occupies for business purposes. The capitol is under the charge of Architect Clark, who is allowed $65,000 a year for keeping it in order. Seven carpenters are employed all the year round in making repairs, while six painters devote their exclusive attention to the many acres of wall surface inside and outside of the structure. Four plumbers do nothing but mend and renew the arrangements for water and gas, while a skilled cooper with attends to the roof and sees that it does not leak anywhere. Half a dozen gardeners and a score of assistants are always at work on the surrounding grounds, while twenty-five laborers are engaged every day of the year scrubbing the corridors of the great edifice, washing the steps, etc. All this has nothing to do with the keeping up of the two wings, so far as their interior arrangements are concerned. The care of these devolves upon the Senate and House respective. Furniture and repairs require an annual outlay of $18-000, to which must be added near $35,000 for fuel and gas. The wages of engineers, elevator conductors and workmen come to $32-500 extra. The pay of the capitol policeman is $39,000 per annum.

Now Try This.
It will cost you nothing and will surely do you good, if you have a Cough, Cold, or any trouble with Throat, Chest or Lungs. Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds is guaranteed to give relief, or money will be paid back. Sufferers from La Grippe found it just the thing and under its use had a speedy and perfect recovery. Try a sample bottle on your expense and learn for yourself just how good a thing it is.

Never forsake a friend. When enemies gather around, when sickness falls on the heart, when the world is dark and cheerless, it is the time to try friendship.
The heart that has been touched with pure gold will redouble its efforts when the friend is sad and in trouble.

Adversity tries real friendship.
Those who turn away from the scene of distress betray their hypocrisy, and prove that interest only moves them.
If you have a friend who loves you, who has studied your interest and happiness, be sure to sustain him in adversity. Let him feel that his love is not thrown away.

HEALTH BRINGS HAPPINESS.
California as a Sanitarium—Climate Advantages—Malaria Unknown.
In an article written for the California Lieutenant John P.
Finlay, of the United States
Weather Bureau, makes the following statement: "Theoretically, California should furnish the best and the most varied health resorts and sanitariums in the United States. Within her borders almost every form of wasting disease should find the means of temporary, if not permanent relief."

This theoretical statement, from an unbiased, scientific standpoint, is fully and abundantly confrmed by actual experience. The cool and bracing coast climate,
devoid of any trace of malaria, extends from the northern part of the State to the extreme south.
There is the choice between this cool, humid atmosphere and the dry, warm atmosphere of the inland valleys.

In the matter of altitude there is a yet greater difference. From Palm Valley, 390 feet below sea level, to the upper Sierras, 7,000 or 8,000 above, any altitude can be selected, and comfortable homes be founded.

The peculiarity of an almost rainless summer; during which the injurious germs of animal and vegetable decay are destroyed by thorough desiccation, is one of the striking features of California climate.

During the rainy season it is usually too cool to facilitate fermentation, and the result is, except along some of the river valleys, an absolutely pure atmosphere. The ocean winds entering through the several coast openings, are tempered by the intermediate sea passed over,
and often receive desirable healing properties by taking up the resinous odors of the pines and redwoods on the Coast Range.

The skillful physician, acquainted with the climatic conditions, should find little difficulty in selecting a locality where climate and environment will do all that these agencies can ever do toward the restoration of health.

There is enough of wildness to keep the mind constantly engaged, and enough of civilization to satisfy the most exacting.
Sufferers from pulmonary diseases, people whose systems are chagrined with malaria, or are "run down" by over work, find immediate and in many cases permanent relief in this invigorating climate, establishing anew the fact recognized by all intelligent persons, whether physicians or laymen, that "Nature is the best healer."

The paid admissions to the World's Fair on Chicago Day (October 9) reached the enormous aggregate of 713,646. In 1876, Pennsylvania Day called to the grounds of the Centennial Exhibition a great throng, numbering 274,919 people, of whom 256,169 paid for admission. For many years that was regarded as the greatest crowd ever collected at one place.

SCIENCE IN WASHINGTON
Mon at the Capitol Who Delves Deep Into Nature's Secrets.
They Are Found in the Treasury, War, Navy, Agriculture and other Departments and Render Service to the Government Which is Indispensable.

There is a deal of science in Washington. The government maintains a sufficient number of learned gentlemen who are delving into the secrets of nature to constitute the nucleus of an agreeable, inspiring, and sometimes inspiring club
known as the Cosmos, which is domiciled on the corner of Fifteenth and I streets, in a house that has both family and club traditions; for Virginia aristocracy and statesmanship have dwelt within its walls, and it has been the birthplace of clubs that excel it both in ignorance and conviviality.

There is no doubt that the scientific men are rather overlooked in the contemplation of the more dangerous and bewildering picture presented by the men of politics and by the women of fashion. But they have their club and their own society, and they have their work, which to a well-organized scientist is sport enough.

In Washington one finds science hidden away in the most unlooked-for quarters. In the treasury department there are the mathematicians, the surveyors, and the geographers of the geodetic survey, but there are no original investigators here. In the war department there used to be a few meteorologists connected with the signal corps, who for many years were trying to discover the general law by which nature's explosions are governed. The "professors" have all gone over now to the agricultural department, and their scientific investigations aid the secretary's efforts to stimulate the making of hay and the growing of grain.

In the army and navy there are proficients in metallurgy who are known as the "ordnance sharps" of the two services. In connection with the navy a large and important astronomical observatory has been built. This is the outgrowth of a naval need for a place to correct chronometers, but it has developed so rapidly that a corps of civilian astronomers has been employed, and now the civilians are objecting to any longer control of a rear admiral who may not even remember the astronomy that he learned when he was serving guns at Lake Erie, or on promotion at the naval academy.

The Brazilian Department of Agriculture deplors the rapid destruction of what were at one time looked upon as inexhaustible forests of india rubber trees. A recent report of the department suggests a remedy that plantations for the cultivation of the tree be established, and shows by statistics that large profits would accrue to the planter.

The bicycle is getting to be nearly as common in the country as in the city, declares the New York Sun. There is probably not a village of any consequence in New England where at least one performer on this instrument cannot be found, and the sight of three or four machines beside the door of the local tavern at meal hours is common. Nor are these obsolete forms of bicycle, either; there are no more tall wheels nor wooden wheels in the country than in town, for, in spite of the high prices, the farmers manage to get the best.

The wandering St. Regis Indians, who are found in camps and villages on both sides the St. Lawrence, still retain their own language, though most of them speak English and some of them French. They address one another and their beasts, dogs and horses in the Indian tongue, and, according to their belief, "the robin bird speaks the Indian language." The women are industrious, kindly and shapeless in middle life, while the men are fat and idle, after the manner of savage males brought under civilizing influences.

Says the Boston Cultivator: There is a deficiency of 34,900,000 bushels in the German rye crop this year, and this comes with a deficiency of 18,000,000 bushels of wheat. Rye bread is the staple food of a large part of the German people. They prefer it to wheat bread when they can get both. Owing to the tariff war with Russia importations of rye from that country are cut off. It is Russian rye that has heretofore supplied the deficiencies of what Germany requires. There is sure to be a large demand for all the rye American farmers can produce during the coming twelve months. It is a crop much less exhaustive than is wheat. It can be sown later in the fall, and if fertilized with mineral manures it responds to liberal treatment quite as freely as does wheat. In many places the demand for rye straw makes the crop worth growing for the straw alone.

The California co-operative experiment known as "The Atkinson Colony," in honor of Edward Atkinson, is at last to have a trial. Its location will be near Poso, in Kern County, where a tract of ten square miles under irrigation has been secured. A small sum is to be paid down for the land, the balance to be secured on long-term payments. The prospectus has been carefully guarded, but the San Francisco Examiner professes to have seen it and gives an account of the aims and hopes of the colonists. No recruit is to be barred on the score of religion. Women are to be admitted to membership, and the promise of wages as high as those paid to men is held out to them as an inducement to join the colony. Payments for all services and exchange of commodities will be made by means of a system of credits given at the conclusion of each day's work. A colonist who can show by his book that he has credits will be entitled to merchandise at the colony store. Should he desire any article not in stock it will be the duty of the merchant to order the article and charge a reasonable price for it. The profit will go to the common fund, which the Board of Directors will control. A marked point of difference between this experiment and others is that individual ownership of land will be permitted, the community interest extending only to the products of the soil. The funds from the sale of crops will go into the treasury until the regular dividends shall be declared. The articles of association explain that employment will be furnished to every colonist, and that the members will receive full value for actual labor and no more, so that no one or more men in the community will be enabled to absorb the product of any number of his fellow-colonists. To meet the "unearned increase" problem the colonists propose to "divide the increased value of the lands on which colonists settle among the actual workers every six months." One provision in the articles prohibits sale of liquor within the colony. Schools will not be established, the children availing themselves of the instruction furnished by the State. The colonists are to take possession of their land next spring, and live in tents until they are able to build houses with their own hands.

The facilities to be furnished by the completion of this work are expected to induce a large increase in the number of vessels entering the port.

The Durham, (N. C.) Tobacco Association held a meeting last week and elected officers for the ensuing year. The annual statement of the warehouses was presented, showing that the receipts for the fiscal year, ending September 30, 1893, were 9,832,004 pounds of leaf tobacco.

The purchase of the South Bound by the Florida Central and Peninsular has caused a change in the former's board of officers. The new officers, who in the main are members of the Florida Central and Peninsular directory, are these: President, H. R. Duval, New York; Vice-President, J. E. Tucker, Savannah; Directors, W. Bayard Cutting, New York; R. Fulton Cutting, New York; John K. Gapsen, New York; B. A. Denmark, Savannah, and A. C. Haskell, Columbia, S. C.

The high prices for Virginia apples are arousing much interest among the farmers in the fruit growing counties, and the chances are that more attention will be devoted to fruit and less to other crops hereafter in many of the counties. New York buyers have taken all the apples offered in the vicinity of Bedford City. About $10,000 worth have been purchased thus far. A report from Page county states that every farm house has been visited by the buyers in quest of fruit. The prices range from 25 to 40 cents per bushel, and the roads are lined every day with teams hauling apples to the railroad stations. The apple crop will be worth thousands of dollars to Page this year, and the good prices it is bringing will go far to supplement the low price of wheat.

World's Fair Visitors Asphyxiated. CHICAGO, ILL.—Three persons named Sternloth, from Hampden, O., that father aged 60, a daughter, aged 21, and a son, aged 16, lost their lives in the night in the Kaiser Hotel through their ignorance of gas and fixtures. They were found dead, having been asphyxiated by gas escaping from an open jet in the room.

TWENTY-FIVE KILLED.

A Horrible Railroad Accident in Michigan.

The Cars Caught Fire and the Passengers Burned to Death.

BATTLE CREEK, MICH.—The worst accident of the year occurred early Friday morning in the yards of the Chicago and Grand Trunk Railroad at the round-house here, by which at least 25 persons lost their lives and double that many were badly injured. A Raymond and Whitcomb special train of passengers from New York and Boston was returning to Chicago. The train was in charge of Conductor Scott, of this city, and Engineer Whoolly, and took orders at the station to meet, at Nichols, No. 9, the passenger express going west, due at this station at 1:35 o'clock this morning, but which was three hours late. The conductor or engineer, or both, of the Raymond special, disobeyed orders and passed Nichols station, and collided with the express coming west at the rate of about thirty miles an hour. The two engines were driven into each other and were a total wreck.

The cars immediately took fire and in an instant were ablaze. One passenger escaped through the doorway. Others who escaped smashed out the windows and climbed through. Only three escaped from the side, and no more than six from the other side. All the rest of the occupants of the second coach perished. The bodies were burned so badly as to be almost unrecognizable. Nearly all had the heads, arms or legs burned off, and but few have been identified.

The news of the terrible accident did not become generally known in the city until 7 o'clock, and then apparently the entire population began moving towards Nichols. The railroad men and police had all they could do to keep the curious back, but the crowd was an orderly one. The men of the Battle Creek fire department did noble work. After putting out the fire, they did all the work connected with taking out the dead bodies, which were in a horrible condition. So badly burned and dismembered were some of them that they could only be taken out in pieces. These pieces were placed in blankets and baskets and have become so mixed and separated that it will never be known to which bodies they belong.

The most horrible sight was that presented by Mrs. Charles Vandusen, of Fort Plain, N. Y. She was getting half way out of a window, but her legs were fastened, and those who ran to her assistance could not release her. She burned to death before their eyes, with one-half of her body still hanging out of the window. Her agony was terrible, but she retained her senses to the last, giving her name and address, and telling those who were powerless to save her, what friends to notify of her fate. She was a teacher in the Methodist Sunday school at home, and she died like a Christian.

Her husband, Charles Vandusen, was terribly injured, but was taken from the wreck alive. He was removed to Nichols Memorial Home, where he also died at 10 o'clock.

The awful work of rescuing the dead and injured was not completed until 9 o'clock this morning, when the last body was taken from the wreck. Sufficient stretches were not to be had, and the workers nailed boards together, on which the charred bodies were laid and carried away as fast as they were extricated. A temporary morgue was made of a freight car, in which the disfigured bodies were placed in charge of local undertakers. So horribly burned and charred are the bodies lying in the improvised morgue that it is hardly possible that their names will ever be known.

ANOTHER WRECK. CHICAGO, ILL.—The New Orleans limited over the Illinois Central was wrecked by colliding with a coal train, three miles beyond Kankakee at 11 o'clock. Two persons were seriously and six others slightly injured.

A Dumb Girl Made to Speak. WATKINS, GA.—Last week Miss Nellie Bullard was dumb. Now she talks fluently. The cause of her being speechless was cleft palate, a misfortune from birth. Her voice is clear and her words are uttered distinctly. This change has been wrought by means of an artificial palate obturator, made of vulcanite and rubber. It was made by a dentist of this city. Formerly Miss Bullard experienced great difficulty in swallowing. The dentist learned of her misfortune, and after making an examination, decided to try an experiment. For several weeks he has worked on the artificial palate obturator. Last week it was completed. Miss Bullard came on a visit to her relative, Col. R. C. Cannon, and she was presented with the palate obturator as a free gift. It was adjusted in her mouth and for the first time in her life she uttered a word. Like a little child, she began to talk from the simple words in common use until today she converses freely with her friends. Miss Bullard is 17 years of age, and is pretty.

SURPRISE IN SUPREME COURT.

A Point of Law that Some of the Justices Seem to Have Forgotten.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Some of the members of the Supreme Court of the United States had a revival of information upon a point of law that seemed to surprise them. Ex-Assistant Attorney General Chaney moved the court for leave to file a petition for a writ of habeas corpus for the release of John H. Bonner, imprisoned by order of the Indian Territory court in the Iowa penitentiary. The Chief Justice asked if the Iowa court had been asked for relief.

"It has," responded Mr. Chaney. "Judge Shiras heard the case and refused the writ."

"Has an appeal been taken from his judgment?" asked the Chief Justice.

"It has not."

The Chief Justice said it was the practice to require attorneys to take appeals in such cases and not to bring the matter up originally in the Supreme Court of the United States.

At this point an idea occurred to Justice Jackson. He asked Mr. Chaney:

"Was the application made to the court below at the Chamber or in the Term?"

"At the Chambers," the attorney replied.

"Is there no appeal from the judgment of the Court at Chambers in such cases?" asked Justice Gray, with an incredulous air, looking from the attorney to Justice Jackson.

"I do not understand the law," said Mr. Chaney.

"There is not," said Justice Jackson. The Chief Justice repeated the same question and receiving the same answer, remarked: "Very well, we will take the papers."

Bonner was sentenced to one year's imprisonment in the penitentiary and fined $1,000 for stealing two cows. Judge Shiras refused to interfere, Chaney says, on the ground that the judgment of the court below was void, and that relief lay in another direction. In the meantime, however, the prisoner would probably serve out his term, and Mr. Chaney determined to bring the case to the Supreme Court of the United States.

PRISONERS ESCAPE.

Two Colored Convicts Play it Smart on the Sheriff of Watauga.

DURHAM, N. C.—The mixed train which left Greensboro Wednesday night at 12 o'clock for Raleigh, had on board Sheriff D. T. Baird, of Watauga county, with four prisoners bound for the State penitentiary. Their names were William Davis and Finley Columbus, white, sentenced to two and three years respectively, and Finley Bell and William Pharr, colored, the former sentenced to two and the latter to four years for stealing.

Soon after the train left Mebane, which is about twenty miles west of Durham, the two negro prisoners requested to be allowed to go in the closet. As their legs were securely chained together they were allowed to do so, the sheriff stationing himself at the closet door.

About seven minutes later, before the train reached Hillsboro, the Sheriff called the brakeman and made him open the door, when lo! the jail birds were gone. They had made their escape through the window, although the train was making very good time.

The anger and chagrin of the sheriff can better be imagined than described.

He passed through here with his two white prisoners for Raleigh, and will return and make diligent search for the escaped culprits, and they will probably be recaptured, as they were chained together, and were doubtless disabled, to more or less extent, when they jumped from the window of the moving train.

Asheville's great Water-power Scheme.

The committee appointed by the business men of Asheville, N. C., at their meeting about two weeks ago, to investigate the financial standing reliability of the Limited Industrial Co., which had made propositions to the city aldermen looking to the establishment of mammoth knitting factories above site of the city water works on the Swannanoa river, have reported favorably on the standing of the members of the Limited Industrial Co. The propositions submitted by the agent of the Limited Industrial Co., included the construction and ultimate operation of enough mills to employ 5000 or 6000 operatives. It is stated that as the character of the company has been established, there is a probability that some decisive action will be taken by the Asheville board of aldermen without delay. The business men of that city are disposed to make reasonable sacrifices in order to induce this company to locate its plant there.

Lynched for Stealing Hogs.

SMYRNA, LA.—Near Knox Point, Bossier Parish, some twenty miles above here, two negroes were lynched Thursday night, the news of which has just reached this city. The negroes are said to have been notorious hog thieves, and the mob, it is stated, was composed of both whites and blacks.

10 HOURS AND 45 MINUTES.

Bicyclists Make Quick Rides Between Staunton and Chambersburg.

STAUNTON, VA.—The mayor of this city, at 6:30 o'clock, sent a letter to Chambersburg, Pa., by means of bicycle couriers, each rider being relieved every fifth mile. The object of the trial was to test the practical speed of the wheel for courier service, and the experiment was made under the auspices of the League of American Wheelmen, the wheel used being the pneumatic-tired "Safety." A telegram just received says the last wheelman delivered his letter to the Chambersburg mayor at 4:48 p. m., the 162 miles being covered in 10 hours and 45 minutes, or at a 16-mile an hour clip. The country traveled was very hilly at places.

To Test the Constitutionality of the Dispensary Law.

CHARLESTON, S. C.—The whiskey was assumed an entirely different phase today when Mr. Gibbs Whaley, the counsel for the State, filed a petition in the United States Court asking Judge Simonson to issue an order to the receiver of the South Carolina Railway forbidding that road to receive any intoxicating liquor for transportation into the State unless it has the official stamp of the State Dispensary of it. The question involves an interpretation of the Interstate Commerce laws. By making the application the State submits the question to the court and admits its jurisdiction. The constitutionality of the Dispensary act will, therefore, be directly in question.

Carried off and Killed Them.

SUMMERVILLE, GA.—In the night the jail of Chattoogo county was visited by two men who said they were constables. They had a third man, represented to be a prisoner. The jailer opened, and 100 armed men suddenly arose and took possession of the jail. They seized Bill Richardson and Jim Dickson, two colored prisoners, and after tying their hands and feet, threw their bodies across two horses and rode off in the darkness.

Nothing more has been heard of the intruders, except that they rode into the swamps near Trion Factory, where the two negroes were put to death. The crime for which the men lynched who were in prison was the murder of Constable James Hall and the shooting of Fown Marshal Murphy of Summerville.

About Copyright.

To get a book copyrighted, you send two copies of the title-page, which you can have printed separate from the book itself, with the fee. To perfect the copyright, you must file two copies of the book as soon as it is printed. This protects the author fully, of course. There are no regular terms from authors to publishers. A well-known and popular author gets a very good percentage; an unknown author is often required to pay for putting the book in type and printing the first edition—usually one thousand copies. In fact, the rule is to send MS. to publisher, and when you find one willing to issue it, accept his terms.—New York Journalist.

The manie of 1893 has differed in several respects from all previous ones, remarks the New York Independent, and particularly that manufacturers, producers and the general business public have been for months preparing for what we have experienced this summer. There has been for a long time a continuous contraction of stocks on hand in almost every branch of industry, the result being that stocks of goods of all sorts at this time are probably smaller than they have been for a great many years. This fact will start mills and shops into prompt activity to meet the demand which must inevitably come.

Evans, the Quiet Citizen.

Bill Wade, the notorious desperado, rode into the town of Webb, Miss., Tuesday afternoon, armed with a rifle, a brace of revolvers and a butcher knife. He soon cleared the streets, with the exception of J. M. Evans, a quiet citizen who was sitting in front of his store. Wade opened fire on Evans, and the latter returned it, with such unerring aim that when the smoke cleared away Wade was found with six bullet holes through his heart. Evans is seriously but not fatally wounded.

The San Francisco Argonaut says: The largest millionaire fortunes in New York City have come from two sources: One, the enormous growth in the value of real estate, called by Henry George "unearned increment;" the other, by getting possession for nothing from the State or city of franchises, which really give the owner a sum which, if paid to the city or State, would relieve us from all excessive taxation.

There are no associations in Great Britain which insure against elopement, matrimony and twins.

A Telephonic Newspaper.

Mr. Stephen Godhard, of Buda-Pesth, Hungary, told of a novel way recently introduced in Buda-Pesth of disseminating the news of the day, according to the Kansas City Star. The editor of the Telephonic Gazette furnishes all the news of the day to his subscribers by telephone at a rate equivalent to sixty cents a month. The subscribers are given a telephone of special pattern, for which they pay $6. It receives but does not transmit sounds, excepting from the central office, which is the office of the Telephonic Gazette.

The telephonic instrument occupies a space of about five inches square, and has two ear pieces, so that two persons can listen to the sounds on the wire at once. At 9 o'clock in the morning the first edition of the Gazette is announced by the simultaneous ringing of a bell in the houses of the subscribers, and the business man and his wife listen to the stories of the events of the night. The editor is talking to hundreds of other subscribers at the same time, and he has the instrument so arranged that inquisitive housewives must content themselves with his precise statement of the news, and not ask.

The second edition appears at 10 o'clock, when the foreign news comes over the wire in a condensed form for twenty minutes or less, according to the amount on hand. At 11 o'clock the story of the meeting of Parliament is told, along with divers items of a local and political nature. The price of stocks is given, and the wise broker may have to hustle out and get "long" or "short" on certain securities in time to save his bank account. At 2 o'clock the editor gives a concise statement of the debate in Parliament.

At 3 o'clock the editor opens up on local news again. He tells about fires, riots and other happenings of the day in Buda-Pesth. He gives his subscribers a chance to rest then until 6 o'clock, when he gives literary and society news. Sometimes he repeats the latest poem at 6 o'clock. This 6 o'clock edition is popular with the women, and the editor speaks in a soft voice. The 7 o'clock edition is the last. It gives the reports of concerts and plays in progress.

Bull and Stallion in Combat.

John Kreutzer owns a forty-acre farm on the Rockford fork of Brush Creek, just over the line from this county, says an Oakland (Ill.) correspondent of the St. Louis Republic. The most valuable stock he has on the farm is, or rather was, a fine Durham bull and stallion of good breed. He has lost them both after the fiercest fight that two strong and fierce animals could wage.

Kreutzer had always turned his bull and stallion into the same lot, and there was apparently the best of feeling between them. One day recently, however, the bull began frantically cavorting around the barnyard. The stallion for a time looked with apparent consternation at the queer antics of his erstwhile sober friend, and then he began trotting around after the infuriated animal as it ran from one side of the enclosure to the other. Finally the bull, after almost exhausting himself in an effort seemingly to throw something off, suddenly turned and made for the stallion. The new tactics of the bull took the horse by surprise, and it was only after his flank had been severely gored that he realized the situation, and then began a battle that would have thrilled the heart of a Spanish bull fighter.

The stallion made no attempt to kick, but struck viciously with his fore feet and tore great quivering chunks of flesh out of the bull with his teeth. The terrific roar of the battle brought Mr. Kreutzer from an adjoining field, but he knew it was death to venture in the yard. At last, after struggling all over the yard, the bull made one grand rush, catching a horn in the horse's groin and disemboweling him. The noble animal sank to the ground with a groan and expired. The bull staggered away a short distance and fell.

Mr. Kreutzer, who had witnessed the mutual destruction of the best part of his fortune, now ventured in. The bull was still living, and, wrapped closely about one of his hind legs, he dislocated the cause of all the bloody battle. It was nothing more nor less than a little blacksnake about two feet long, which had coiled about the animal's leg and caused him such frantic terror that he completely lost his head. The snake showed no disposition to move on, and Mr. Kreutzer killed it where it was. The bull was so badly wounded that he was shot.

A Pullman Car Episode.

BY CHARLES SUMNER CLARE.

HAD just dropped my numerous traps on the front seat of section eight, car number twelve, of the Chicago limited, which left New York City on Tuesday of last week, when the brakeman cried "All aboard!"

shine of my life, leaving me inconsolable. My only comfort was in writing letters. This I did at the rate of five a day for one week; but as Margie wrote only seven in that time, I, fearing that I would annoy her, dropped to the same number.

While I sat trying to muster up courage to address her, and just about the time I had succeeded, the porter came through the train announcing, "Luncheon now ready in the dining-car!"

glanced at her traps in the hope of ascertaining her name. She watched me closely, and just as my eye caught sight of the little silver plate on her hand-bag she reached for it and placed it plate downward in her lap.

Not less than a score of theories have been advanced as to the origin of the dollar mark ($). Of these the St. Louis Republic believes the following to be the most plausible:

FARM AND HOUSEHOLD.

RAINING SUNFLOWERS FOR HENS. The necessity for a variety of food for chickens is generally understood, but very few people are aware of the value of sunflowers as hen food.

BLACK TEETH IN SWINE. Symptoms of black teeth in swine are many, writes a correspondent. Loss of appetite with continual squealing and a stunted growth are the first symptoms with some pigs.

GLASSINGS IN BEES. Bees are recommended a mixture of lead and zinc for painting beehives, putting on first a coat of lead as a primer, then mixing lead and zinc finish the painting.

OLD HICKORY Endorsed the Note. When Andrew Jackson was President a Washington boarding housekeeper had a number of department clerks in her house, who were very dilatory in paying for what they got.

Bees do not rob while honey is plentiful. They will not rob other bees during a temporary shutdown of work from storm or other cause.

FARM AND GARDEN NOTES. Ducks generally lay at night or very early in the morning.

A sick fowl is a nuisance, but many sick fowls are a calamity. The chickens from stolen nests are generally strong and lively.

stinated with hellebore in weak kerosene emulsion, sprayed on with a fine rose.

The appearance of vegetables, etc., from the farm has much to do with the price which they bring in the market.

Broiled Mushrooms—Choose the largest sort, lay them on a small gridiron over bright coals, the stalk upward. Broil quickly, and serve with butter, pepper, and salt over.

Floating Island—Beat thoroughly the whites of six eggs, add half a box of guava jelly and half a tumbler of currant jelly.

Pigeons With Green Peas—Roast four pigeons for ten minutes. Take them off the spit and split them, and lay them in a saucepan with three ounces of butter.

This she readily did, the young man fondly imagining there was no easier or more inexpensive way of settling with her.

SHU in the Family. A young man returned home a few days ago from a trip to South Africa for his health, and in narrating his adventures to his father he told him he had bought a silver mine for $5000.

It is claimed that the slug of pear trees and grape leaves may be exterminated with hellebore in weak kerosene emulsion, sprayed on with a fine rose.

Adventure With a Crocodile. An Indian contemporary says: "A gentleman of Digha Ghat met with a very curious experience. He was sailing in a boat in the Ganges between nine and ten in the morning.

To continue the story in the teller's own words, "I was at my wit's end to obtain an implement of some sort to release me from the brute. When all attempts proved useless, I forced the oar into its mouth, and in so doing broke a number of teeth.

City Commissioners meet in regular meeting of the fiscal year beginning the first of December.

fall crop of Irish potatoes is very heavy and a farmer says Thursday he did not think it would be necessary to import a barrel into this county next spring, so many have been in. And that means the saving of a lot of money in the county.

ing the line of through railroads in Central and Western portion of the there is much complaint about being so numerous. They are to strike down this way any time but people had as well rub up a bat and let the dog get a bit try.

Work Unless Compelled To. Saturday a farmer was discussing the value of the price of me t. When remarked that the high price of it is a blessing to the farmer as it caused many of them to raise their meat at home, he said "That is true, and it is so a blessing because it enables us to get so much more work done on our farms than when meat is low. Take meat at 6 cents a pound and cotton at 8 and the picker can make enough in a day's work to buy provisions for a week. And a large majority of colored laborers (on white people are that way, too) cannot be induced to work as long as they have any ration ahead. When meat is high there is far less idleness among them than when it is low, and we can therefore get more work done."

Prayed Meeting. Prayed meeting will be held in the Baptist church both Thursday and Friday nights of this week. Preps a copy to the school of me t to begin on Sunday night, and from then on services will be held regularly every night during next week and as long as interest in the meeting warrants. No services will be held in the Methodist church on Sunday night, as both congregations will worship together in the Baptist church. Dr. J. D. Huffman, of Tarboro, is expected to be here during the first week of the meeting. Greenville is much in need of a great revival of religion and all Christians should pray earnestly that it may come during this meeting.

Christian College. At the N. C. Christian Convention held in Washington October 24th-27th, the following board of trustees of Christian college was elected:
H. A. Moore, Dr. H. D. Harper, C. W. Howard, J. B. Gardner, Jesse Cannon, Caleb Canan, J. E. Tingle, L. L. Chestnut, Capt. John K. R. R. S. Swain and R. W. Smith.

Money was contributed at the convention for the purchase of a piano for the college. Another instrument was donated by H. C. Bowen, of Winston in memory of his deceased wife Mattie Sutton Bowen. These two instruments will add greatly to the efficiency of the musical departments, which is conducted by Miss Minnie W. W. W.

E REFLECTOR.

Local Reflections.

November. Eleventh month. Weldon fair this week.

For New Goods call at Lang's. Sell your chickens and eggs at Cobb's. The Rifles have not had a drill in some time.

Just arrived N. C. Chestnuts at the Old Brick Store. Joe Blow says he is the best collector in town.

No trouble about coal now—plenty of it can be had. Just received a large lot of Boots and Shoes at Cobb's.

The very latest style of Capes and Cloaks at Lang's. The Presbyterian Synod began in Tarboro yesterday.

WANTED.—50,000 pounds of old Cast Iron for cash. Ellington & Brown. Flower yards around town are beautiful now with chrysanthemums.

Heating Stoves, Cook Stoves and Stove Pipes at Haske's. The sidewalk in front of the King House has been covered with plank.

Our Second Lot of New Shoes has just arrived at M. R. Lang's. Wooten's drug store received a renovating and new dress of paint last week.

My Stove Pipe is made of the best Eastern Iron. D. D. Haskett. We see that Dr. D. S. Harman, the optician, is in Tarboro for a short while.

The Best Flour on earth $1.40 at the Old Brick Store. Christmas has got in less than two months of us and comes nearer every day.

Clothing and Gent's Furnishings Goods cheap for cash at Lang's. Thanksgiving Day comes on the 30th of the last Thursday and the last day of the month.

New Lot of Dress goods in the latest shades just received at M. R. Lang's. The rest season for the birds expired yesterday and the hunters are after them to-day.

Those Doors aren't they fine. Made of North Carolina pine. At D. D. Haskett's.

Did you see the Sheriff about your taxes? Time's up and he is going to add cost now.

Novelties in all styles of Dress trimmings among the ladies arrived at M. R. Lang's. This month calls for five Wednesdays, five Thursdays, five REFLECTORS and Thanksgiving Day.

COTTON SEED—Will pay cash for Cotton Seed at the Old Brick Store. The water is way up in the river last week and is nearly in the warehouses on the shore.

FOUND—Bunch of keys, nine on ring. Owner call on H. C. Hooker and pay for advertising.

A decided change in the weather took place Saturday, and it has since felt a bit winterish.

Do you want a good Axe for 75 cents or a Corn Shelter for $3.00, then see D. D. Haskett.

The REFLECTOR has had a pull the past week with part of the force sick, but here we are on time.

Look out for Bob Smith, he has gone West, after the finest lot of Horses and Mules ever offered on this market.

The weeds around town are dying a natural death. The wedding hoe ought to have been sent after them.

The ladies should see the pretty millinery at Mrs. M. D. Higgs'. Casts are being made, rehearsals will soon begin for two or three entertainments to be given during the holidays.

J. C. Cobb & Son have the prettiest Shoes in town. See our Card-ran Men's Bluchers.

The farmer who raises wheat enough to make the flour consumed by his family, saves that much money. Wheat sowing is in order.

Just received a car load of Bagging and Ties at J. C. Cobb & Son. See them before buying.

A coach of the passenger train got off the track this side of Hobgood, Friday evening, and delayed the train an hour. No damage was done.

Do you want to make your grading house comfortable, then see D. D. Haskett and get a Heating Stove.

A large stock of nice Furniture cheap at the Old Brick Store.

Mrs. M. D. Higgs has the very latest styles in new fall millinery and can please all patrons.

Remember I pay you cash for Chickens Eggs and Country Produce at the Old Brick Store.

Robeson Institute, Lumberton, N. C. of which Prof. John Duckett is Principal, has a large attendance of pupils. Already 122 have enrolled, about 30 of whom are boarders. Several young men are studying for the ministry. There are five teachers, and it is contemplated to employ another teacher in a short time.

The best is always the cheapest. Buy the Richmond Stove Co.'s Stoves at D. D. Haskett's.

Look for the swinging sign "Cheapest Cash Store on Earth." Higgs Bros.

Fresh arrival New Buckwheat, Mountain Butter, Rolled Oats, Prunes, Macerels, Cabbage, Raisins, at the Old Brick Store.

H. F. Keel has connected himself with the well known Coopers' Warehouse of Henderson and will be glad to have his friends give him a trial, believing that Coopers' Warehouse is the place to get the very best prices for their tobacco. Hogsheads furnished on application.

Personal.

Miss Abby Abbott, of G. H. H. v. v. v. Miss Nannie Bagwell.

Miss Nannie Joy, of Kinston, is visiting Miss Rosa Forbes.

Mr. H. A. Blow returned Monday from a short visit in Na h county.

Mr. Day Quinley, of Kinston spent part of his week with Mr. Clark's Folks.

Miss Josie Joyner has gone to Aurora, in Beaufort county, to be charge of a school there.

Mrs. John Flanagan was quite sick last week. We are glad to learn she is improving.

Rev. J. H. Lambeth will fill his regular appointment at Pantolux next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock.

Miss Minnie Exum, of Farmville, who has been spending some days with Miss Aylmer's egg, returned home Monday.

Mr. Joe F. Taylor of Washington was seen on our streets yesterday. A more courteous or popular salesman seldom visits our markets.

Died. Miss Esther Ann Elizabeth Phelps, daughter of Mr. E. S. Phelps, two miles below Greenville, died at 3 o'clock Thursday morning of hemorrhagic fever. She had a chill about 8 o'clock on Wednesday morning and in nineteen hours thereafter was a corpse. Miss Phelps was only a few weeks past 18 years old, and was an excellent young lady. The family have our sympathy.

Another Freight Needed. A other freight train is badly needed on the western Neck Branch road. There is only one freight train on the line and the passenger train carrying the mail and express has to do freight work. The train often has to haul heavy flat cars loaded with logs. The lives of the passengers are endangered and it causes the train to reach here daily behind schedule time. We trust that the authorities will look into the matter and give the desired relief. The work on the line at this season is quite heavy and there should be a daily local freight.—Weldon News.

The people along the line of the road are entirely in accord with what the N. C. is doing about the need of another freight train. Since the passenger train has been compelled to do freight work it is rarely on time, and delayed trains are annoying both to the passengers and to the people of the towns who are dependent upon the trains for their mail, express matter, etc. Speaking of the danger to passengers on mixed trains, the cause of the passenger coach getting off the track at Hobgood, Friday evening, was no doubt attributable to the shifting necessary to taking on several freight cars there. We hope enough freight trains will be put on to do the heavy freight work, and let the passenger trains do only the work properly belonging to them.

Pitt County S. S. Convention. Convention called to order by D. D. Haskett a member of the Executive Committee and opened with prayer by Rev. R. D. Carroll.

In the absence of the President a Secretary the following temporary officers were elected: President, J. D. Cox, Secretary, A. L. Blow.

The convention then took a recess until 2:30 o'clock P. M.

AFTERNOON SESSION. Convention called to order by J. D. Cox, President.

The following additional representatives were present: Mr. Pleasant—L. A. Mayo Supt. Col. I. A. Sugg then addressed the convention on "Punctuality and Regularity," and Rev. G. F. Smith on the subject of "Best methods of exciting interest in Sunday School Work," and by W. H. Bagdale on the subject "The Sunday School—Its Teacher."

Mrs. J. D. Cox one of the delegates from this county to the State Sunday School Convention gave a verbal report of its proceedings—which she did in an interesting and entertaining manner, showing the importance of success of the work in North Carolina, and urged upon this convention the necessity of a perfect organization in the county and a complete compilation of Sunday School statistics to be submitted to the next State Convention. On motion Mrs. Cox was requested to file a written report for the benefit of the convention.

The convention then proceeded to the election of officers with the following result: President—W. H. Lagdale. 1st. Vice-Pres.—J. D. Cox. 2nd. Vice-Pres.—L. A. Mayo. Secretary—D. D. Haskett. Corresponding Sec.—W. B. Brown. Treasurer—E. A. Mayo. Ex-Committee—A. L. Blow, A. G. Cox, Henry Harding.

EVENING SESSION. Song service and opening the question box.

Several questions of interest were asked and answered by persons in the audience. Notable among the questions asked were: What has this convention accomplished and what should be accomplished by the next?

TOBACCO DEPARTMENT

Conducted by O. L. JOYNER, Proprietor Eastern Tobacco Warehouse.

LOCAL NOTES AND TOBACCO JOTTINGS

The Winston Tobacco Journal congratulates the Greenville market in securing Messrs. Strause and Bray to locate here.

Up to date the Greenville market has passed the half million pounds mile post and is moving on to a million. Nearly double what it sold last year up to this time.

Mr. R. P. Lindsey, of Rocky Mount, Mr. McGuire, of Oxford and Messrs. Clark, of Lynchburg, Va., and Jas. N. Boyd, of Richmond were on our breaks this week looking after our bright tobacco.

A few days ago we heard a prominent tobaccoist remark that if every available foot of ground for bright tobacco in Eastern Carolina was planted in tobacco it would only slightly, if at all, affect the trade in brights, because of the limited acreage that will grow that kind of tobacco, and the increasing demand for it.

Mr. R. R. Cotten, the most extensive tobacco farmer east of the W. & W. railroad, (having cured this year 186 barns) sold a large lot on the floor of the Eastern at Cooper's last week as well as at this date last year. Try him with a shipment of bright tobacco.

Mr. W. R. Horne, that wide awake and systematic farmer of Farmville township was also with us a few days ago. Mr. Horne says he intends beginning at home this year and if he continues to get good prices he will sell his crop here. Don't fear Billy, we will take care of you whenever you come. Mr. F. M. Whichard who has been selling elsewhere tried Greenville with a load this week and was so well pleased that we confidently look for him again. He is that kind of a man, when satisfied will say so, and vice versa.

Cooper, at Henderson, pays you for his tobacco in currency or his check as you may desire.

OUR FUTURE.

A few evenings ago we were speaking with a gentleman who doesn't live in this place, but who has had an eye on it ever since it became a tobacco market (and it would not surprise us at any time to know of his coming here to live for he is a tobacco man of considerable experience and one that is very much interested in our eastern tobacco) and in comparing Greenville with the other eastern markets namely Wilson and Rocky Mount, he said that he had been on all three of the eastern markets, during the fall and he was confident that Greenville was selling tobacco higher by far than either of the other two. He said he had told every farmer so, that had asked his opinion about it. Of course, said he, I am drumming for another market and it is natural that I should say my market is ahead of any, but beyond question of doubt Greenville is leading the eastern markets this year in the way of high prices.

In response to our remark that if Greenville had rail road and other facilities for inducing capitalists to come here, he said, within less than one year Greenville will have all the rail road facilities that she will need. The extensive and undeveloped timber lands of Eastern North Carolina of almost every kind and quality, the interest that is annually increasing in the way of fruit growing, trucking, dairying and stock raising, and last but by no means the least enticing and alluring inducement in the rich and fertile tobacco fields of Eastern North Carolina that grow and mature to tobacco which by its richness of texture and beautiful color has won for itself a proud destination in nearly all the largest navy manufacturing and cigarette concerns in the world, has induced the Seaboard Air Line to contemplate the building of a road from the city of Greensboro via Roxboro, Henderson and possibly Wilson or Rocky Mount, Greenville and Washington where they will connect with ocean vessels lively competition in transportation and the establishment of other evidences of an energetic people comes the assurance and the confidence that investors seeking our natural advantages must have before they will invest their money.

We are informed that Roxboro and Henderson have already voted their appropriation. In turn will come other towns along the route. Let Greenville extend the road a welcome and offer her proportional share of the inducements to get it.

Whenever in our opinion there is anything in sight that is for the unbuilding of Greenville we shall be found in the front ranks of those who are trying to secure it. So we say let anything and everything come that will be for the benefit of the whole people, and let's don't be a stumbling block in the way of it because possibly some one else will make 50 cents where we only get a dollar.

Cooper's Warehouse, at Henderson N. C., has been making the past week, fine sales of new bright tobacco. All bright tobacco free from green is selling at Cooper's fully as well as at this date last year. Try him with a shipment of bright tobacco.

Judge Hugh L. Bond, of the United States Circuit Court, died at his home in Baltimore Tuesday morning. His death due to heart failure though he had been in ill health for some time. He had been unable to attend to his duties on the bench since Sept. 20.

It is said that it costs $900 a year to finish a girl's education in the fashionable schools of New York, and when finished it isn't worth a continental.

Try Cooper, at Henderson, with some fine white tobacco and he will please you. Send your tobacco where you can get the cash for it. Cooper is always "well heeled."

MACHINE BELTS OF PAPER.

This is One of the Latest Novelties in Mechanics.
Paper belting for the purpose of transmitting power is the next thing which is going to astonish the manufacturing fraternity. The wonderful inventor was for five years assistant to the superintendent of power of one of the great factories in Lowell, Mass. It was while in this position, in which he had much to do with lacing and tightening belts that he conceived the idea that belting made of paper could be made to do better work than either leather, rubber or cotton. He argued that as a thick piece of paste board can be made to take on a very firm, smooth and durable surface by holding the same against another moving surface for several minutes, that a larger piece of paper made in the form of a belt and permitted to run up on the surface of a pulley day after day would soon create upon its surface a firm, hard shining coating that would last a long time.
In making the belts, links made from paper pulp are used. As soon as a belt is put into working order a hard, shining coating appears upon the surface next the pulleys, and this becomes harder and harder as the months slip by. It becomes so hard finally that only the cold chisel can cut into it. Such a surface works well on the pulleys.—Boston Bulletin.

TEN YEARS HENCE.

We May Hope to Go from New York to Europe in Four Days.
J. H. Biles, designer of the ocean steamships New York and Paris, believes that in "the third year of the twentieth century," or within ten years, the best transatlantic steamships will be able to leave New York at noon and arrive at Southampton in four days. Such an exploit would require a speed of almost thirty-five miles an hour. To attain this enormous speed, Mr. Biles believes that it is only necessary to introduce the following improvements, all of which are comparatively easy of attainment: 1. Carrying a smaller cargo, but more machinery. 2. Using a lighter metal, such as nickel steel, in the construction of machinery. 3. Using tubular boilers, with the water inside and the fire outside the tubes. 4. Substituting oil for coal, and thus saving one-half in the weight of fuel. 5. Improving the forced draught. Of all these, the most important is probably the substitution of oil for coal. Most of them are very expensive.

The British navy is to have three torpedo boats with a guaranteed speed of twenty-seven knots or a little more than thirty-one miles an hour.

TIMES HAVE CHANGED.
Old things have passed away and all things have become new. My old stock of goods have been sold out and a new stock has taken its place. The old was replaced by the new because my LOW DOWN PRICES catch the people and keep the goods moving. Now listen to a few plain facts: I know times are hard and money scarce just as well as the man who raises cotton, corn and tobacco, and am going to sell goods just as low as any honest dealer can afford to sell. For every dollar spent with me you will get the worth of your money. I keep a complete stock of General Merchandise, Dry Goods, Notions, Boots, Shoes, Hats, Caps and Gents Furnishing Goods, Clothing at any price a man can want. Also a full stock of Groceries Cotton Bagging & Ties.

Ripans Tabules.
Ripans Tabules are compounded from a prescription widely used by the best medical authorities and are presented in a form that is becoming the fashion everywhere.

Ripans Tabules act gently but promptly upon the liver, stomach and intestines; cure dyspepsia, habitual constipation, offensive breath and headache. One tabule taken at the first symptom of indigestion, biliousness, dizziness, distress after eating, or depression of spirits, will surely and quickly remove the whole difficulty.

Ripans Tabules may be obtained of nearest druggist.
Ripans Tabules are easy to take, quick to act, and save many a doctor's bill.

SALE OF TOWN LOTS!

On the Washington Branch Railroad, and the Scotland Neck Branch Railroad.
THE OPPORTUNITY of a Life to Make a PAYING Investment. THE OPPORTUNITY of a Life to Make a PAYING Investment. YOU CANNOT AFFORD TO MISS IT.
The Washington Branch Railroad has lately been completed and runs through one of the most fertile sections of the Sound Land of Eastern North Carolina, growing fine Corn, Cotton and other crops, and especially suited, by reason of climate and soil, to trucking of every description, and which is by the above road connected with the leading physical markets. At the following convenient points located and promising depots, on the above road, we will offer Town Lots for sale, at public auction, as follows:

WHARTON, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1893, 9 to 11 A. M.
PACTOLUS, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1893, 12 M.
WHICHARD, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1893, 12 M.
We have still some Lots for sale at the Depots on the Scotland Neck and Kinston Railroad, that we will offer at public auction as follows:

GOOSE NEST, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1893, 10 to 12 A. M.
HOBGOOD, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1893, 2 P. M.
AYDEN, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1893, 11 A. M.
The above Towns on this road are already well established and prosperous, and are too well known to need any extended description at this time. Persons desiring Homes in a section of country that has a future before it, and a soil and climate to sustain lasting progress, will do well to attend these Sales, where great Bargains can be secured on easy terms.

TERMS—Cash, or if desired one-half cash, and balance on 12 month time at 8 per cent, interest with note.
These Lots must be sold and now is your opportunity.

The Fundamental Principle of Life Assurance is protection for the family. Unfortunately, however, the beneficiaries of life assurance are often deprived of the provision made for them, through the loss of the principal, by following bad advice regarding its investment.

Under the Tontine Installment Policy of

The Equitable Life you are provided with an absolute safeguard against such misfortune, besides securing a much larger amount of insurance for the same amount of premiums paid in.

CHRISTMAN'S OINTMENT

For the Cure of all Skin Diseases
This Preparation has been in use over fifty years, and wherever known has been a steady demand. It has been endorsed by the leading physicians all over the country, and has effected cures where all other remedies, with the attention of the most experienced physicians, have for years failed. This Ointment is of long standing and the high reputation which it has obtained is owing entirely to its own efficacy, as but little effort has been made to bring it before the public. One bottle of this Ointment will be sent to any address on receipt of One Dollar. Sample box free. The Ointment is promptly attended to. Address all orders and communications to T. F.
