STATE NEWS

Things Mentioned in our State Exchanges that are of General Interest The Cream of the News.

There are 180 students at the A. & M. College, Raleigh.

Mr. Morrison has been appointed postmaster at Smithfield.

A railway has just been completed to Jackson, Northampton county.

Stephen H. Lane has been appointed collector of customs at Newbern.

Hon. Hoke Smith will deliver the address at the next commencement at Chapel Hill.

Don Carlos Harrill, a prominent farmer of Bertie county, aged 63 years, has married his ninth wife.

Frank Newell colored, was shot and killed in Cumberland county by other negroes, the result of a row over a dog.

Secretary Carlisle has awarded the contract for the erection of the life saving station at Portsmouth, N. C. to W. J. B. Shuff, of Beaufort, N. C. at $5,412.

Salisbury Herald: It is talked on the streets that the city fathers will follow the example of Charlotte and Greensboro and place a license tax on cigarettes.

James Boylan, of Raleigh, has invited all North Carolina owners of running horses to meet there on February 14th, for the purpose of forming a State association for handicap racing.

Mr. James A. Bryan, one of the wealthiest citizens of Newbern, is to be married at Princeton, N. J., on the 18th instant to Miss Woodruff. It is quite a romantic marriage. She was his sweetheart while he was at college there twenty-five years ago.

Paul C. Humphrey and Marion Butler had a lively scuffle in Hotel Kennon, at Goldsboro, on Sunday morning. The trouble originated about a certain seat Butler was occupying which was claimed by Humphrey for his wife, and which Butler refused to give up.

Charlotte Observer: Rev. Mr. Stickney, of the Episcopal church, paid his respects to the Roman Catholic Church in a very emphatic way Sunday. Among other things, he said that it was a shame Charlotte Protestants had given $800 to help build a Catholic church in this city.

R. P. Howell, who up to the first of January was cashier of the Bank of Wayne, at Goldsboro, made an assignment Wednesday. It was a great surprise. The liabilities are said to be $45,000. The bank is the largest creditor. The assignment caused a decided sensation. Capt. Howell is one of Goldsboro's leading citizens and has the finest farm in Wayne. He gave up all his property.

Last month a desperate attempt was made to wreck a passenger train near Hillsboro, on the North Carolina division of the Richmond and Danville railroad. Sills were placed on the track and the engine was disabled. Detectives were put at work and William Merritt, an eighteen-year-old white boy, was arrested Saturday week. Other arrests of white persons living near by will follow.

Deserving Praise

We desire to say to our citizens, that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits.

The Durham Sun states that "the American Tobacco Company" has notified all of its buyers on all markets to cease buying the grades of tobacco of which cigarettes are made, one of the reasons being the action of the ways and means committee in increasing the tax on cigarettes. This is characteristically "trusty." Every trust in the country whose profits are to be affected by the Wilson bill is making a great big bluff at Congress, and the shutting down of mills is a piece of the same business. When they can neither persuade nor buy a Congress they try to bully it—Charlotte Observer.

THE KICKING MULE.

BY LONELY JOHNNIE.

Seeing quite a congregation of people of all descriptions completely filling the street opposite my boarding place one day, as I returned from making the matron sad on account of the quantity of luxuries that I made myself possessor of, I deliberately proceeded to the centre of the attraction. In the midst of this variegated assemblage of people, I saw an animal of quite a stubborn disposition, that persistently refused to go; but was flying his heels profusely and insisting upon keeping himself near fences and trees, while his would be master was mercifully applying with spurs and every conceivable mode of persuasion, to induce him to "homeward plod his weary way." But all in vain. The kicking mule held his ground with his fore feet, and yet kept two a good part of the time trying the density of the atmosphere.

As I joined the spectators I asked myself whether the people or the mule was the better satisfied with the fun. The mule was evidently the fool for the occasion, and received all the physical pain inflicted by his would-be rider. In his failure to see himself as others saw him, he failed to see the joke.

Our country is full of just such mules, except they stand erect on two feet. A good part of the world's fun is obtained at their expense. They laugh and seem to enjoy it. They laugh because they think they do something smart, while the people laugh at what is wanting.

Considering the mule as an intermediate stage in Darwin's Theory of Evolution, I am almost compelled to agree with him, or else believe that some men are rapidly declining in a retrograding scale to this sphere occupied by the assinine family. Instead of evolution it may be involution. Had Darwin selected such a character for his subject, I am sure he would have changed his views and taken the opposite position.

The stubborn bipeds, whose assinine character shows itself so prominently in their actions, are not confined to any particular section of country nor restricted to any one profession. In every avocation of life, in every community, and on every question that comes before the minds of the people this smart fellow is in the midst kicking for all his life, and not kicking at any particular thing. He kicks because some more of his family is standing near to laugh.

His small cranium affords the nearest vacuum ever known to man. A seven and a half hat would get only one side of his head, while the other side would be exposed to the ridicule of men of lesser heads. What's gained in space is lost in density. Like his ancestors, his head is quite long with prominent top, while his ears rise high to catch the first sound in public opinion.

He is an old foggy and all his ideas are stale to the better class of men. He has not learned that the world extends beyond his realm. He considers everybody opposed to him cranks and fools. He clings to his foggy ideas with the same love that the miser hoards up precious jewels in his sacred treasure. As the ancients believed the earth the centre of the universe and that old Sol submissive went in his daily journey around, to do obeisance to their mighty planet; so these old fogies still fondly cherish the vain idea that they are the centre of all the thinking world around. Nothing new is ever prepared by them. Like the mule they are not progressive, but sternly refuse to advance, or let those, who may wish to do so, move the wheels of progress. Because they did not propose the theory, or discover the truth, or make the invention, they at once determine to oppose it. Their opinions are all the public ever gets from them. The absence of deep thought is replaced by the egotistic whirl of the upper lip, and the sudden contraction of the lower jaw, to give their opinion the proper air, tempered by their melodious words.

But their opinions because they lack depth, soon pass away. Their bray that is sure to follow their kicking is the last sound that dies uncherished on the public ear. And short-lived with their opinions the promoters soon pass away; and the best said of them is, they were, but are not. They leave behind no one to mourn their fate. No bier is attended to their last resting place. No sacred spot is ever strewn with flowers to remind friends of dear ones laid away to rest. Dear reader, lets stop kicking. Lets progress, and lets join with Longfellow in his Psalm of Life, remembering that "Lives of great men all remind us. We can make our lives sublime, And, departing, leave behind us Foot-prints on the sands of time."

"Lives of great men all remind us. We can make our lives sublime, And, departing, leave behind us Foot-prints on the sands of time."

"Let us, then, be up and doing, With a heart for any fate; Still achieving, still pursuing, Leant to labor and to wait."

Does Wealth Rule?

Burke Cockran, it is reported, has sought to impress upon the President his view of the dangerous "unpopularity" of an income tax. A zealous monopoly organ says in effect that no Northern Democratic State or Congressional district could be carried for such a tax.

Has it really come to this, that money counts for more than men in elections? Does wealth rule? Is there any basis for the assumption that a tax upon large incomes, affecting at the most not one voter in a hundred—only 1 in 150 according to official estimates—would defeat the party responsible for it?

If these things are true, we are already living under a plutocracy—the rule of wealth. The World does not believe them to be true. It believes that a fractional tax on incomes from $5,000 to $10,000, and a slightly increasing, graded tax on incomes above the latter sum, would be not only just but popular. It would oppress no one, wrong no one, deprive no one of any necessary or even of an habitual luxury.

Money may decide, as it sometimes has decided, a closely contested election by throwing its weight into the balance. But it cannot, in a republic, condemn at the polls an equitable tax which affects only the large incomes of fortunate small class. Men count for more than money. Justice is stronger than wealth.—New York World.

Autopsy of a Grip Victim.

The case of Mr. J. K. McCreight was one that puzzled the doctors. They were confident that there was some affection of the brain, and they treated him in general for the grip. His was a well defined case of that malady. It was determined that in the interests of science to hold a post mortem examination and it was conducted by Drs. McCombs, Misenheimer and Robert Gibbon, Jr. The autopsy revealed the deadly character of the grip.

There was a gangrenous spot on the right lung; an effusion of water on the brain; an atrophied gall bladder, and the liver and spleen were affected. Mr. McCreight was seized with his illness on the Saturday night before Christmas. During the first stages of his sickness he was unconscious, but later he became conscious and remained so until within a short time of his death.—Charlotte News.

Satisfying Him.

"I have called," said the captious critic, "to find out what reason you can give for representing the new year as a nude small boy."

TO REPRESENT THE IMMIGRATION AND REAL ESTATE INTEREST OF THE SOUTH.

There are thousands that would go South if there was some one to start the ball" is what a New England farmer writes to the Southern States magazine, of Baltimore. From Minnesota comes a letter giving a long list of names of farmers who want to go South, and with it is expressed the hope, "may God give you success in your laudable work for the benefit of us frozen denizens of the cold Northwest." And from the same State a farmer writes: "I have got and am getting more real good points regarding the South from one copy of the Southern States than I would have been able to have got in a long, long, long time had I not chanced to have seen it. The South will beat California for fruit. I have lived in California and know whereof I write."

Such letters as the foregoing are coming to the Southern States from New England, from the West and from the Northwest in an ever increasing number. We confess that we have been amazed at the number of these letters and at the great interest that is being aroused in these sections among farmers and others who want to go South, and for the demand for information about the South. The cry of "Go South" promises to swell to greater volume than even the "Go West" of the past ever reached, if the railroads and the people of the South will now promptly unite in vigorous work to encourage this growing tendency and do it on the same broad scale as has characterized the work of the Western States for many years.

Because of these facts the Southern States magazine will henceforth be devoted mainly to the immigration and real estate interests of the South, and at the same time presenting every phase of the South's general attractions and advantages for the home seeker and the investor with the same energy with which the Manufacturers' Record has for ten years labored to push forward the industrial growth and interests of the South. The Southern States magazine will fully cover this field. It will continue from month to month to publish the letters of Northern and Western farmers who have settled in the South, telling of the advantages of their former homes. These letters are attracting great attention in the North and West. It will set forth the attractions of the South for fruit culture, as well as for every branch of agriculture; it will publish special illustrated articles covering the attractions of the South for the pleasure and health-seeker. Especial attention will be given to the real estate interests of the whole South, and reports made of all important sales anywhere from Maryland to Texas.

The leading feature of the next issue will be a general discussion of how to develop immigration, by some fifteen or twenty of the most prominent railroad officers of the South. Mr. R. H. Edmonds, editor and general manager of the Manufacturers' Record, is also editor of the Southern States magazine.

The Friends After Death.

A father once related to his children the following parable: The viceroy of a certain island was once summoned by his lord the king to render an account of his government. Those of his friends on whom he had placed the greatest reliance suffered him to depart, and did not move from their place; others in whom he had not a little confidence went with him only as far as the ship; but some in whom he had scarcely trusted at all, accompanied him through the whole of the distant journey, even to the king's throne, spoke in his favor, and obtained for him the grace of the king.

The children did not understand who these friends could be. Their father, therefore, said: "Man also has three kinds of friends on earth; which, however, for the most part, he does not learn to know rightly till the time when he is called from this world to give account of his actions and omissions. The first class of these friends, wealth and possessions, remain behind. The second, his relations, accompany him only to the grave. The third, his good works, follow him into eternity, even to the throne of God, where it will be rendered to each according to his works," and where even the cup of cold water which is given to one who thirsts will not be unrewarded."

How thoughtlessly, then, does the man act who does not concern himself in the least degree about these true friends!

THE OLD COLLECTOR AND THE NEW.

The announcement last week that Mr. Kope Elias had withdrawn from the contest of the collectorship of this district did not take the readers of this paper by surprise; no more did the news that Capt. Melvin E. Carter, of Asheville, had been named as his successor.

It is scarcely needful that we add anything to what we said last week in reference to this change. It is a case in which we can without insincerity both "hail the rising sun" and "how to him whose race is run." The Observer shared fully in the general gratification felt in the State when Mr. Elias was appointed collector. He had been so good and so active a Democrat, and had really accomplished so much in the conversion to Democracy of the formerly Republican counties west of the ridge, and is, withal, so amiable and attractive a gentleman, that there was a general feeling that his reward had been well earned, and, among those who know him, a sense of personal gratification that he had received it. His conduct of the office during the brief period he held it was entirely credible and gave promise of an administration which would satisfy the people and amply justify the appointment. He estimated at its full worth the honor the President had done him and we are sorry he lost it. This much we feel disposed to say, and feel disposed to say nothing at all as to the rest.

So far as the choice of his successor is concerned, it was made in great wisdom. Capt. Carter is a gentleman of whom almost all good things can be said. He is very able man, a tactful man, a skillful politician, a business man, a man of elevated character. In all the district there is not a fitter man for this place. He will not only mean to administer this great office in the interest of the government and at the same time with scrupulous regard for the rights and the welfare of the people, but he will know how to do it. He is that sort of a man. He not only has ability but he has sense. The Observer presents its compliments to him in the full assurance that his administration of the collectorship will give emphasis to everything it has said of him in the foregoing and that it can speak as cordially of him when he goes out as it does now that he is just going in. And, to wind up in good form, it can say for the President that, although his administration is not yet a year old, he has given the western district of North Carolina two good collectors and we hope he will not find occasion to give it any more.—Charlotte Observer.

She is After Him.

Congressman Breckinridge can truly sing: "She's After Me," for Madeline Pollard, who has a breach of promise suit against him, has not compromised the case. She is making a still hunt in the district with her friends, and they propose to make it warm for the colonel. Miss Pollard has been in Cincinnati gathering evidence of her visits there. She claims that three times she was an inmate of lying-in institutions during the period of her relations with the Congressman. The Woodford Sun, one of the most influential papers in the Ashland district, contains an editorial advocating the election of W. C. Owens to Congress. The Sun has heretofore been a zealous supporter of Colonel Breckinridge, but now declares that the Pollard scandal will destroy his usefulness in Congress. Evan E. Seale has announced his candidacy against Colonel Breckinridge. The Colonel is making an active canvass.

She Figured on Diamonds.

"Is the society editor in?" she asked, as she entered the room, says the Chicago Post. She was a determined looking woman, with sharp eyes and an air that seemed to say: "I know my business if I am from the country." "I am the society editor," said the young man at the corner desk. "What can I do for you?" "Well I'm engaged," she said, in a business like way. "Engaged to be married?" he asked. "Sure," she replied. "Do you think I came up here to tell you I was engaged as a cashier?" "No, no; not at all," he assured her. "If you'll give me your name and the name of your—"

"Never mind the name just now," she interrupted. "You printed something about plain gold engagement rings being fashionable."

THE DAIRY.

Kindness and confidence between the owner and the cows saves food and makes profit. The churn should not be filled nearly full of cream. If it is, butter will not come quickly. The cellar in which milk is set must not smell musty. The air must be pure or the milk will be spoiled.

It is just as necessary now as in summer to scald the dairy utensils and then wash them with cold water. It is claimed by some that adding old cream to cream that is not sufficiently ripened will make the butter oily. Butter must please the eye. Speaking for our selves, and we are like other people, we would not buy white butter.

Butter that is in a granulated state should be washed until the liquid that comes from it is clear of all milky color. If butter is colored too deeply it looks nasty. We believe in coloring butter because the consumer wants it yellow. But too much butter is bad. Do not apply salt to butter carelessly. Weigh the butter and then add salt at the rate of three-quarters of an ounce or an ounce to the pound and work it in thoroughly.

An officer of the Missouri State Dairy Association has proposed a large number of questions for dairymen to answer. It reminds us of our public school system in Chicago, under which the teacher is paid to teach, but instead of doing it, asks the scholar questions which he takes home for the parents to answer. This officer should give instructions and not ask questions. Perhaps he is not able to answer his own questions.

The American Cultivator hits the nail on the head when it says that when it takes more time and trouble to sell butter than it does to make it there is evidently something wrong in the management. It may be in the animals, the food or water, the stable arrangement, the manner in which the milk or cream is handled, or the condition in which it is put up and sent to market. Usually the man of the place is responsible for all but one of these points.—Farmer's Voice.

Successful Skin Grafting.

Perhaps the most noteworthy case of skin grafting in a decade has been performed at Mercy Hospital under the direction of Prof. E. W. Andrews, assisted by Drs. De Silva and Dudley. The subjects were ex State Attorney George W. W. Blake and Mrs. Blake, of Ottawa, Ill., who came to Chicago two weeks ago. The operation consisted in the removal of 72 square inches of cuticle from the thighs of Mr. Blake in strips of one and one-half inches in length and one half to three-quarters of an inch wide, and grafting them upon great spaces of raw flesh on Mrs. Blake's arms. The skin had been burned away at their residence in Ottawa early last fall, and the choice lay between grafting and the amputation of both arms.

Mr. and Mrs. Blake were put under the influence of ether and placed upon the operating table side by side. As each piece of skin was cut from Mr. Blake's thighs, it was passed into a disinfecting solution, and then carefully transferred to Mrs. Blake's arm, until a sufficient number of square inches had been secured to insure a new growth upon the raw surface. Several days ago the bandages were removed from Mrs. Blake's arm, and it was found that each of the pieces had adhered and taken firm growth, making the operation absolutely successful.—Chicago Dispatch.

A contemporary, in its market report, says "Sugar is weak and brandy is strong." Mix them and find a happy medium.

Why He Didn't Shoot.

A man with a wife who has her own ways about doing things catches her now and then. "My dear," he said the other morning as he was dressing, "I think you were right when you told me last night that there were burglars in the house."

"Why?" she asked nervously. "Because all the money that was in my pocket when I went to bed is gone." "Well," she said with an I-told-you-so air, "if you had been brave and got up and shot the wretch you would have had all your money this morning."

"Possibly, my dear, possibly," he said gingerly, "but I would have been a widower." She laughed softly then, and gave half of it back to him.—London Tid-Bits.

It Should Be in Every House.

J. B. Wilson, 371 Clay St., Sharpburg Pa., says he will not be without Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, that it cured his wife who was threatened with Pneumonia after an attack of "La Grippe." When various other remedies and several physicians had done her no good, Robert Barber, of Cooksport, Pa., claims Dr. King's New Discovery has done him more good than anything he ever used for Lung Trouble. Nothing like it. Try it. Free Trial Bottles at Western Drug Store. Large bottles, 50c. and $1.00.

There is absolutely nothing that will help you bear the ills of life so well as a good laugh. Laugh all you can. If the clothes line breaks, if the cat tips over the milk and the dog clogs with the roast, if the children fall into the mud simultaneously with the advent of clean aprons, if the new girl quits in the middle of house-cleaning, and though you search the earth with candles you find none other to take her place, if the neighbor in whom you have trusted goes back on you and keeps chickens, if the chariot wheels of the uninvited guest draw near when you are out of provender and the gaping of your empty purse is like the unfilled mouth of a robin, take courage if you have enough sunshine in your heart to keep a laugh on your lips.

OUR NEW VOLUME.

This is the REFLECTOR's birthday. This journal has made its weekly visits through an even dozen years, and this morning greets its patrons with the first number of the thirteenth volume.

It is customary whenever these events come around to let the public know it, and have a bit to say about the past and make what ever promises may seem desirable or necessary for the future.

The REFLECTOR does not feel called upon to-day to rehearse any of the past, but "forgetting those things that are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before," we let the past alone, except to profit by its experiences, and apply our thoughts to the duties of the immediate present.

He that doeth his duty to-day hath no regrets of yesterday, and needeth not to trouble what over-to-morrow may bring. As to the future, the REFLECTOR has not one solitary new promise to make.

That we feel gratified to all who have given us patronage, whether little or much, and to all who encourage us with kind words of approval, need not be told.

THE WRONG CONSTRUCTION.

We publish a communication to-day signed "Citizen" that needs some comment upon at our hands. When we wrote the little editorial squib referred to by "Citizen" we did not notice that it was capable of the construction that he puts upon it.

We cheerfully give space to his communication as it gives us an opportunity to write more explicitly in reference to the matter. There had been some talk in the county in reference to the fewness of the appointments that Mr. Simmons had made in this county and in referring to these remarks we meant to be understood as saying, that though this might seem true, yet Pitt county Democrats were not, as "Citizen" says, "Democrats for revenue only" but were always on hand when elections come on.

"The doctor who signs a false prescription for a man to get whiskey on is a contemptible character and ought not belong to the profession."

county, fortunate in lead will the administration be. We were a little mistaken just now when we said that we knew of no man whom we would more gladly support than Mr. Simmons.

The banking capital of the United States is estimated at $5,150,000,000, the greatest in the world. The total dividends paid by the United States national banks in 1892 were $40,000,713.93.

JUDGE BYNUM.

This term of Pitt Superior Court is being presided over by Judge John Gray Bynum. And the above sentence may be taken for just exactly what it says, as those having any business about the Court, or even going there as spectators, are not long in discovering.

His charge to the Grand Jury at the beginning of the term occupied about an hour and a half, and though out of the ordinary line of charges had plenty of points of law in it and showed the jurors their duty very plainly.

In the course of his charge Judge Bynum said a great many good things. A few of them we jotted down and give them as near as we can quote him. Of course we give these disconnectedly, and in type they lack the Judges forceful expressions.

"North Carolina has twelve Superior Court Judges on the Bench and about two or three thousand off it, and these latter are always ready with their advice and opinions as to how the Courts ought to be run."

In analyzing the oath the jurors had taken, that they should present no one for envy, hatred or malice, he said: "These are three very small words, yet if they could be entirely blotted out and there could be removed from our being all the characteristics embraced within their meaning, and along with them remove all the mean whiskey, and there would be no more need of Criminal Courts."

"More harm is being done today to the rising generation by the sale of cigarettes than by the sale of whiskey."

"The doctor who signs a false prescription for a man to get whiskey on is a contemptible character and ought not belong to the profession."

If there is any man who deserves the commendation of the people of this community, that man is Solicitor Woodard. In the stand he has taken to break down certain vices that have long existed here, and which have been the cause of leading many boys into evil, he should have the support of all people who love good morals and good government.

The Governor of Florida says that there shall be no prize fight between Corbett and Mitchell, and the sheriff of Duval county says that he will not permit it. The next week will reveal the quality of backbone carried by these two gentlemen.

A CARD.

In a short editorial in the EASTERN REFLECTOR of January 3rd this statement appeared: "In the numerous appointments Collector Simmons is making to fill the various revenue positions under him, we notice that Pitt county is conspicuously out of it."

Secretary Carlisle explained this week to the members of the Senate Finance committee and those of the House Ways and Means Committee the immediate necessity for legislation to provide the money to meet the $50,000,000 deficit now staring the Treasury in the face.

Mr. Grimes is an industrious, intelligent, progressive farmer, and one thoroughly identified with the industrial and political interests of the county. He is a thoroughgoing Democrat, loyal and true in his devotion to his party, and in every campaign his influence and patriotic services are felt.

"I regard Hood's Sarsaparilla and Hood's Pills, the very best family medicines, and we are never without them. I have always been a Delicate Woman."

"I take pleasure in recommending these medicines to all my friends, for I believe it people."

"I take pleasure in recommending these medicines to all my friends, for I believe it people."

"I take pleasure in recommending these medicines to all my friends, for I believe it people."

"I take pleasure in recommending these medicines to all my friends, for I believe it people."

without any ifs, and's or but's, no Democrat has spoken against the underlying principle of the bill, even Representative Haines, of New York, who represents the Troy district and who has been quoted as being strongly opposed to the bill, admitting in his speech that he would vote for it if the schedule affecting the industries of Troy was amended to meet his wishes.

The Republican leaders of the House were very cleverly taught a little lesson by the Democrats this week which would convince men with less conceit than Reed, Burrow & Co., have not secured a corner in parliamentary knowledge.

Edward Dunbar, the author of the hymn "There's a Light in the Window for Thee Brother," died a few days ago in the jail at Coffeyville, Kan., where he had applied for lodging as a tramp.

It is politically rumored that Kope Elias will be a Democratic nominee for Congress in the ninth district.

Senator McPherson, of New Jersey, who has been widely advertised by Republican papers as a tariff "kicker," has been compelled by a troublesome throat affection to take a trip to Florida in search of relief, but before going he addressed a letter to Senator Voorhees which effectually disposes of any doubt as to his position towards tariff reform.

Secretary Carlisle explained this week to the members of the Senate Finance committee and those of the House Ways and Means Committee the immediate necessity for legislation to provide the money to meet the $50,000,000 deficit now staring the Treasury in the face.

Representative McMillin said it has not been definitely decided whether the income tax shall be offered as an amendment to the tariff or as a separate measure.

"I regard Hood's Sarsaparilla and Hood's Pills, the very best family medicines, and we are never without them. I have always been a Delicate Woman."

Mrs. V. L. Pendleton left last week for Warren.

Mrs. Rev. G. F. Smith is visiting relatives in Beaufort.

Miss Minnie Carroway, of Halifax, was visiting friends here last week.

Mr. J. F. Joyner has moved his family to his farm five miles from town.

Miss Pat Hardison, of Williams-ton, has been visiting Mrs. E. H. Shelburn the past week.

His many friends here were glad to see Mr. Alex. Heilbroner in town the past week. Alex. has a position in New York and likes city life.

Greenville had two weighty visitors last week, Capt. W. W. Carroway, of Lenoir, and Mr. H. W. Witcover, of South Carolina. The latter was here organizing a lodge of Chosen Friends, and obtained a number of members.

Our old friend Prof. W. H. Ragsdale, formerly of Granville, has been elected Superintendent of Public Schools in Pitt county. He stands in the front rank as an educator and we congratulate the good old county of Pitt upon having such an admirable gentleman to look after her educational interests—Oxford Ledger.

Miss Lissie Moore, who was for some weeks at Paoctous attending Mrs. J. R. Davenport, returned home last week. Mrs. Davenport's friends are glad to know that she has very much improved and hopes to soon be recovered from her recent long and severe attack of fever. We are glad to learn that her mother, Mrs. Sydney Fleming, has also greatly improved from the injuries she received in a fall.

Messrs. John A. Purvis and Peter B. Rieves, two farmers from near Hamilton, were here Saturday. Mr. Purvis called on the REFLECTOR and said everything looks a great deal more lively and progressive around here than over in his section. He is thinking of moving to some town in order to give his children better educational advantages, and would be glad if Greenville could claim him. Mr. Rieves was for some years a citizen of Pitt.

Dress goods and trimmings have been marked down considerably, and we will sell them cheaper than ever at Lang's.

The REFLECTOR has received a copy of the report of the State Railroad Commission, a nicely bound book that contains much useful information.

We are requested to announce that the Pitt County Alliance will meet at Greenville on the last Thursday in this month, 25th, at which time a full attendance is desired.

The REFLECTOR returns thanks to Messrs. W. C. Jackson and C. Quinerly, for an invitation to first annual oratorical contest for a medal at the A. & M. College, Raleigh, Jan. 19th. The invitation is a beautiful work of art.

The REFLECTOR feels decidedly encouraged over its prospects for the new year. More new subscribers have been enrolled since the first than for the corresponding period of any year as far back as we have figures for comparison.

All who find a blue cross mark after their names on margin of the REFLECTOR, are thereby notified that their subscription has expired, and they are invited to come and renew. At our low subscription price we cannot afford to send the paper on credit.

Henry Vines and Cherry Bell, colored, who were convicted at court last Wednesday and placed in jail, ended their imprisonment by getting married that night. The marriage took place in the Sheriff's office, Rev. G. F. Smith officiating.

The wholesale indictments by the Grand Jury of persons for selling whiskey to minors, and of many others for gambling, caused no little consternation among those who had been participating. The eradication of such evils from the community would meet the approval of all right thinking people.

Stop Borrowing. The man who is too stingy to subscribe for his county paper certainly should be too proud to borrow, it from his neighbor. One would never think of troubling a neighbor week after week for the loan of hoes, plows, cook stoves, wash tubs, and such, when he is simply able to buy them for himself. You should be just as far from continually troubling a neighbor for the loan of a paper which he pays for. This item is for the borrower.

A Fraud. Rabbi John Sergius Ben Israel, claiming to be a Christian Jew, came to Greenville last Friday, and occupied the pulpit of the Methodist church Sunday morning and evening. Sundays Wilmington papers published a lengthy expose of the Rabbi and gave evidence that he is not what he claims to be. He is represented as a gross impostor. We are sorry that our people should have been "taken in" by the Rabbi, but the evidence against him came just a day too late.

Married. On Tuesday evening, Jan. 10th, at 7 o'clock, in the home of the bride's father, Mr. J. L. Wilson, near Paoctous, in the presence of invited friends and relatives, Mr. J. B. Overton and Miss Mary J. Wilson were united in marriage by Rev. J. H. Lamberth, pastor of Greenville Baptist church. Soon after the ceremony was over Mr. and Mrs. Overton went up to Paoctous, where they will occupy the beautiful residence formerly occupied by Dr. W. H. Bagwell. May God's blessings abide with them through life. J. H. L.

Doing Away With Pistols.

If the importation and sale of pistols in the State could be stopped, and all the Judges would adopt the plan of Judge Bynum, in a short while there would be fewer pistols in the State than at present. In the convictions at this term of Court for carrying concealed weapons the Judge has made it a condition of suspending judgment upon payment of costs that the defendant make the Court a present of the pistol. When the pistol was brought it was turned over by the Judge to the Sheriff with instructions that he take it down and break it in pieces and return the fragments to the Court. Several went between the anvil and hammer under this order.

A Mink Kills Pigs.

Mr. John F. Whichard, of Carolina, tells us of the peculiar capers of a mink in his neighborhood. The mink stole a litter of pigs from a sow and killed them. The sudden disappearance of the pigs led the owner to believe a bear had got them and a hunt for bruin was inaugurated among the neighbors. While the hunt was in progress one of the dogs was noticed coming out of a ditch with a dead pig in his mouth. An examination disclosed a hollow under some roots from which the dogs brought three other dead pigs. The hollow was too small for a bear, and all were puzzled as to what sort of varment could have put the pigs there. A steel trap was set at the mouth of the hollow and the result waited for with interest. Next morning there was a big mink in the trap.

Superior Court.

Some Do This Way.

A Northern man who sees the REFLECTOR every week and takes notice of its advertisers, expressed some surprise that the advertising patronage of the paper was smaller since Christmas than during the fall. He said it always looked peculiar to him that any business man should want to advertise only three months in the year, and just about long enough to begin getting himself before the public, and then throw away the benefit he would receive from it by stopping the advertisement and letting the people forget all about him. This gentleman expressed a sensible view of the matter. It is much easier for a man's business to be forgotten than it is to make it known.

Elder David House.

The subject of this sketch was born August 14th, 1816, and died at his home three miles from Greenville, on Thursday, January 11th, 1894. In his death Pitt county loses one of the best men who ever lived within her borders. His walk was always that of an upright Christian gentleman. He had the respect and love of all who knew him, and no man could ever say aught against him. On the fourth Sunday in July, 1847, he was received as a member of the Baptist church at Great Swamp. Six years later, on the fourth Sunday in November, 1853, he was ordained to the ministry, and served his church faithfully until enfeebled by old age. At the time of his death he was the oldest member of the Kebutee Association.

Elder House was twice married. His first wife was Miss Felicia Fleming, to whom he was married in February, 1836. To this union twelve children were born, seven daughters and five sons. The first son died at the age of thirteen years, and all the other children are now living. They are Mr. M. J. House, who lives in Martin county, Messrs. W. C. House, G. T. House and D. E. House, residing in Pitt, Mrs. Nancy Little, Mrs. Naomi Lawrence, of Hamilton, Misses Bettie, Lovie M., Sue, Felicia and Lendonia House, all of the latter living with their father until his death. Any man might well feel proud of raising such a family as did Elder David House.

His second wife was Mrs. Caroline Jones, to whom he was married in 1881, and who now survives him. No children were born to his second marriage.

Elder House loved truth and honesty in everybody. Politically he never countenanced anything but Democracy. He was a just man and his memory will be blessed.

Falkland Items.

January, 15th, 1894.

Miss Jennie Williams, of Greenville, opened a school of twenty five pupils here last Monday.

Mrs. V. E. French, of Jasper, is visiting relatives near Falkland.

Miss May Harris went to Goldsboro last week to attend the marriage of her friend, Miss Lizzie Giddens.

Mr. William Harris, has been quite sick with the gripe but is now able to be out.

B. R. King went to Baltimore on a business trip Monday and returned Saturday.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

GREENVILLE, N. C., December 26th, 1893.

We have this day formed a co-partnership to conduct a General Mercantile Business, sell Fertilizers and buy Cotton, Peanuts and Rice in the town of Greenville under the firm name of BOSWELL, SPEIGHT & Co.

W. I. BOSWELL, JESSE SPEIGHT, C. M. JONES.

GREENVILLE, N. C., Dec. 26, 1893.

Referring to the above card we have this day our entire business, stock of merchandise and fertilizers, store fixtures and good will to Mess. Boswell, Speight & Co. They will continue to conduct the business formerly conducted by us at our old stand. They retain the control for this territory of those brands of fertilizers formerly sold by us, viz: National, Pocumoke, Capital and Beef, Blood and Bone. They will continue to buy cotton, peanuts and rice, and are prepared to pay the highest market prices.

We desire to return thanks to our many friends who have so kindly patronized us in the past and to them and the public generally we most cordially recommend the firm which succeeds us, and with our intimate acquaintance of many years with each of them, knowing their strict sense of honor and integrity, we feel justified in asking a continuance of your patronage which we can assure you they will appreciate and merit.

Mr. C. W. Priddy will settle up the business of Young & Priddy, and his address after January 1st will be 212 Buchanan's Wharf, Baltimore, Md., in care of The Woodbridge Fertilizer Co. Yours truly, YOUNG & PRIDDY.

GREENVILLE, N. C., Dec. 26, 1893.

We beg to announce that having purchased the business formerly conducted by Mess Young & Priddy, at this place, we shall continue to occupy the same building and shall be pleased to have all of our friends call to see us. We shall be very thankful for a continuance of the patronage of their former customers and shall strive to merit their confidence and trade.

Having bought the stock of merchandise of Mess. Young & Priddy at a very liberal discount from first New York cost, we are enabled to offer many bargains and shall continue to sell that stock at greatly reduced prices. We are also now receiving a large stock of new goods just bought on the lowest markets for cash and we are therefore prepared to save you money on any purchase you may make. It will pay you to see us before buying. We shall carry a full stock of Dry Goods, Clothing, Hats, shoes, Hardware, Agricultural Implements and Groceries. We have also arranged to continue the sale of those well established brands of Fertilizers, viz: National, Pocumoke, Capital and Beef, Blood and Bone, also Acid Phosphate and Kainit. We shall continue to buy cotton, peanuts and rice and are prepared to pay the highest market prices.

Trusting to be favored with a liberal share of your patronage, we are Yours truly, BOSWELL, SPEIGHT & CO.

For the Cure of all Skin Diseases

This Preparation has been in use over fifty years, and wherever known has been in steady demand. It has been endorsed by the leading physicians all over the country, and has effected cures where all other remedies, as but little effort has been made to bring it before the public. One bottle of this Ointment will be sent to any address on receipt of One Dollar. All Cash orders promptly attended to. Address all orders and communications to T. F. CHRISTMAN, Greenville, N. C.
