

THE REFLECTOR. Greenville, N. C.

D. J. WEAVER, Editor and Proprietor

WEDNESDAY, MAY 30th, 1894.

Entered at the postoffice at Greenville, N. C., as second-class mail matter.

Judge Armfield, one of our State Superior Court Judges, is quite sick, and Gov. Carr has authorized Judge Brown to hold the courts in his stead during his sickness.

The Soldiers' and Sailors' monument will be unveiled at Richmond to-day. The occasion is expected to be of almost as much interest as the unveiling of the Lee monument four years ago.

This is truly commencement season. The papers are full of reports of them and will continue so for about two weeks longer. Well, it is the young people's day, and they are entitled to occupy this much of the public eye.

Senator Gordon, of Georgia, delivered his lecture on "Our Confederate Dead" at the commencement of the Normal and Industrial School at Greensboro last week. He has delivered this lecture all over the South and it has won for him much applause.

Under the plan of Episcopal visitation adopted by the General Conference of the Methodist Church, Bishop Wilson will preside at the session of the Western North Carolina Conference which meets in Statesville November 28, and also at the session of the North Carolina Conference which meets in Durham November 5. The Conference also transferred the North Carolina counties hitherto in the territory of the Virginia Conference to the North Carolina Conference.

The Senate continues to hammer away on the Tariff bill. What headway they are making is not very evident but they ought to bear this in mind, that the people demand speedy action. Senator Gorman did not add much to his reputation by his apology in his speech a few days ago for those who have been delaying action. There is no excuse for taking so much time to obey the will of the people so forcibly expressed nearly two years ago. Action, action is what the people demand and not so much debating.

Senator Bryan, of Nebraska, delivered the address to the young ladies last week at the closing exercises of the Normal and Industrial School, at Greensboro. He took for his subject the "Value of Money." This was rather an unusual subject for an address to a female school, but doubtless the Nebraska orator had in his mind the men and not the girls when he selected his subject. The address is spoken of as a very fine one and further emphasizes the fact that he is a free silver man to such an extent that he even foregoes the pleasure of tickling the ladies with something more congenial than finances on an occasion when he might, with his eloquence, have won the hearts of all.

Col. Harry Skinner recently addressed a Populist meeting in Kinston, commenting upon which the Free Press says:

Col. Skinner presented his side of the political question about as strong as it can be presented. He said a good deal that the Free Press agrees with, but we do not agree with many things he said. He pointed out the shortcomings of Cleveland and the present Democratic Congress, and gave figures to show that it is impossible for the south to ever go in a national Democratic convention and nominate a candidate not controlled by goldbug influences. There may be something in what he said on this line, but it appears to us that there is even less hope of electing a Populist president, even if it was desirable. Seems to us that about the only chance for the south is to cut loose entirely from national conventions and elect local presidential electors, with instructions to vote in the electoral college for men who come nearest to representing the principles enunciated by the State platform. However, the presidential question is two years off yet, and we believe the proper thing for southern and North Carolina Democrats to do now is to elect their State, county and congressional tickets. North Carolina can do no more, as to national matters, in the next election than to send men to congress to vote like North Carolina believes. The congressmen from this State, except two, have done that in the present congress. No serious fault can be found with our local government, to change which would be exceedingly dangerous, therefore the great majority of the best citizens of the State will continue in the Democratic party.

Senator Thos. J. Jarvis is attending the meeting of Southern Governors and ex-Governors at Augusta, Ga., to-day. He is one of the speakers at the meeting.

The Supreme Court has adjourned for the spring term. During its session 204 cases have been disposed of. Business in this court has fallen off in the past few years, as it has also done in the other courts.

Coxy and Browne were sentenced to jail by Judge Miller in Washington for violating the law when they entered the city with their procession. His army is said to be suffering for food and the citizens of Washington have sent out some provisions to their camp.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.) WASHINGTON D. C. May 26, '94.

President Cleveland on his return to Washington found a radical change for the better in the tariff bill situation. Senator Teller, after his very sensible speech, telling the Republican Senators that they no longer had any reasonable excuse for delaying the final vote on the bill, clinched his argument by forcing a test vote on a motion to lay the bill on the table. That motion received the vote of every Republican present, 28 in all, and every Democrat present—among them Senator Hill—35 in all, voted against it, as also did three populists. That vote removed the last vestige of doubt about the passage of the bill, and leaves Republican filibustering without a leg to stand on, the Republicans having claimed that they were justified in using the tactics they used by Democratic opposition to the bill. They will now be given a last chance to agree upon a time to take the final vote. Should they refuse the bill will be forced to a vote. There is a feeling of relief to know that the end is in sight.

The Senate committee has concluded the taking of testimony in the bribery case, and it is believed that the report will state that belief of the committee to be that the attempt to bribe Senators Hutton and Kyle. The committee is now taking testimony concerning the sugar trust and its alleged relations with Senators.

The House committee on Naval Affairs has begun the investigation of the Carnegie armor plate contracts, authorized by the resolution this week adopted by the House. It will probably be a long one, as it covers all the armor made by the Carnegie companies from the beginning of their contracts with the government.

Senator Walsh, of Georgia, was naturally very much surprised when he learned that the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers regarded his bill against any stoppage or interference with trains carrying mails as being aimed against them, and, after telling the Senate that as a journeyman printer his sympathies were and always had been with the laboring men of the country, of whom he was proud to be one, he introduced an amended bill, which he thinks cannot possibly be misconstrued by anybody. The title of the bill is "To protect the United States Mails," and it provides that any person who shall rob or attempt to rob or maliciously obstruct or retard for the purpose of robbery the passage of any railroad train on which the mails are carried shall be punished by imprisonment at hard labor not less than one nor more than twenty years.

Attorney General Olney, in answer to a resolution adopted by the Senate last week, asking what action had been taken against the trusts under the act of July 2, 1890, has furnished the Senate with the record of a suit begun against the various firms composing the sugar trust, which was dismissed in the U. S. Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, with costs against the government, appealed to the Circuit court, which affirmed the action of the District court, and which is now before the U. S. Supreme Court on appeal. Mr. Olney does not say so, but it is inferred from his communication and the accompanying documents that he considers the much talked-about Sherman anti-trust law worthless one. Other people suspicious as much when it was first proposed by Mr. Sherman as a substitute for a more stringent measure proposed by Democratic Senators.

Coxy, Brown and Jones are in jail, and the deluded men who followed them are on the verge of starvation. The lesson should not be lost. Whether Freedom really shrieked when Kosciusko fell is a matter about which practical folk have doubts, about throwing up his hat and giving three cheers and a tiger for the Democrats in the House who had the moral courage to support the amendment offered by Representative Enloe, of Tennessee, to the Legislative and Executive appropriation bill, striking out the appropriation for salaries, etc., of the most colossal public sham of the age—the Civil Service Commission—a commission which, although authorized which, all intentions to make it fair and impartial, has been operated from the first day of its existence to the present time as a machine for keeping Republicans in office. Mr. Enloe has offered this amendment several times when this annual appropriation was before the House, but never until now has he succeeded in getting it adopted, and even now it is not certain that it will stay adopted, as the vote—109 to 71—was taken when the House was sitting as a committee of the whole, and the Republicans have given notice that they will call for a separate yeas and nays vote on the amendment when the bill is reported back to the House from the committee of the whole, and they will make a desperate attempt to get enough Democrats to vote with them to defeat the amendment.

Read Twice.

The failure to pay debts and meet obligations on the part of some people is more for the lack of desire than of ability. A man who will ignore his just obligations by evading the collector, and then indulge in luxuries, be they few and many, is woefully lacking in the most excellent attribute that makes a man the noble work of the Creator.—Suffolk Herald.

North Carolina Still Ahead.

Julius Deggerheart, of Headrick Postoffice, N. C., has the most remarkable living family in the United States—twenty-three living children, the oldest a young and sprightly girl of twenty-one, and twenty-two boys, from six months to nineteen years of age; his wife having given birth to twins seven times, each time boys. All of the children are whole, healthy and well-grown. Mr. Deggerheart is a prosperous farmer.—Winston Sentinel.

Both for $1.50

There are a number of people in this county who send one dollar for the Atlanta Constitution without ever thinking of the fact that they can save 50 cents by subscribing to that paper through the REFLECTOR. We send both papers a whole year for $1.50 and every subscriber we send them has the same privilege of guessing at the missing word contest and the cotton crop. Fifty cents is worth saving. Come for $1.50.

Bishop Potter, of New York, says that there are 250,000 women in that city who earn their own livelihood, and whose wages do not average more than $3.50 per week.

The wage-earners of these United States annually pay $600,000,000 for liquor, a sum so large that if it were saved for a few years and properly invested, a fund would be created that, under wise management, would render destitution among the poor of this country forever impossible. If this statement be true, and no one disputes, what is the plain duty of every right minded patriotic citizen toward the liquor traffic? It is a question that appeals to each man's conscience for answer.—Indiana Farmer.

A Narrow Escape

From Loss of a Limb

Dreadful Case of White Swelling—A Perfect Cure.

One of the most serious forms of scrofula and one of the most difficult to cure is that of white swelling. Hood's Sarsaparilla has accomplished many wonderful cures of white swelling, one of which is related below by Mr. B. E. Thomas, a manufacturer of harnesses, saddles, etc., at Transville, Va. Read his letter: "On 11th I was seized with a severe attack of white swelling. Five years later I had to have the flesh on my limb cut open and the bone scraped. After the flesh healed up I was not troubled again until January 1894. I was taken down with the grip which settled in the previously affected limb, some gathering where there had been scars, and the particular penetrating to the bone. The whole front of my leg from knee to ankle seemed to be in a state of inflammation. I could get but little ease and comfort and loss of sleep from the medical treatment I received. Some of my friends advised me to have the leg amputated, but I hesitated, not wanting to lose a limb. I saw an advertisement in a paper embracing the name of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and I bought a bottle of it from Mr. John McMurry, telling him that I was seized with a severe attack of white swelling. Hood's Sarsaparilla had done for his son. I bought a bottle of it and used it for three months ago. I had not taken two months when I could see it was doing me more good than anything I had taken. I have now used about three bottles. The sores have all healed up."

It has also benefited my general health. I am now able to work as my trade. Hood's Sarsaparilla restores all the praise and I cannot recommend it enough for the good it has done me." B. E. THOMAS, Transville, Va.

This observance of an exchange is full of truth. It says: One watch set right will do to set many by. On the other hand, one that goes wrong may be the means of misleading a whole neighborhood, and the same may be said of the example we set to those around us.

Personal.

Mrs. Lou Rioks has moved back to Greenville from LaGrange. Mrs. Ed. Lewis, of Washington, visited Mrs. A. J. Griffin last week. Mrs. H. G. Jones, of Scotland Neck, visited Mrs. Emily Harris last week. We are glad to see Mr. A. L. Blow out again from his long spell or sickness. Mr. J. M. Moore left yesterday to spend a week at Wilmington and Wrightsville. Mrs. W. B. Brown and children left yesterday to visit her father near Portsmouth, Va. Dr. R. L. Carr returned Friday from Philadelphia where he attended dental lectures. Dr. Andrew Harris, of Wilmington, spent a few days last week with friends here. Misses Appie Smith, Lucy and Ada Tyson returned home Friday from the Normal and Industrial College. Mrs. S. B. Wilson, accompanied by Master Walter Wilson, left Monday for Penny Hill to visit her daughter, Mrs. Warren. Miss Minnie Carraway came down from Bethel Friday evening and remained until Monday visiting Mrs. Chas. Skinner. Rev. J. W. Hines will preach in the Presbyterian church next Sunday morning, and Rev. J. N. H. Sumner will preach at night. Mrs. M. S. Moore and children of Washington, have been spending the past week with her father, Mr. Allen Warren. She returned home yesterday. Mrs. S. M. Haurahau, of Grifton, spent two days last week with Mrs. S. A. Cherry. She returned home Saturday, Mrs. Cherry and grand-son, Argall Vick, accompanying her. The large number of pleasure turns out on the streets Friday was very noticeable. Every conveyance that could be procured was in use. Some women are awful touchy. A widow has brought an action against a newspaper which said that her husband had gone to a happier home. The man who said the snail was the slowest living creature did not have in his mind the man who owes you money when you are hard up.—Durham Sun. The REFLECTOR renews its suggestion that the Magistrates at their meeting next Monday consider the advisability of working county convicts upon the public roads. Mr. S. P. Erwin says he has plenty of tobacco plants that a big straw hat will not cover. Mr. Erwin is a good farmer and is never behind any of his neighbors. Elliott Bros are converting another of their store buildings on Fifth street into a dwelling house. The changes they have made in that vicinity are good improvements. The Quarterly Meeting of Greenville Station, M. E. Church, will be held next Sunday in the Opera House. Presiding Elder R. B. John will preach both morning and evening. The mill pond at Pactolus has been a veritable bonanza the last two weeks. Many fishing parties have been down, and made fine catches. Fish are more abundant this season than for several years. The Presbyterian Sunday School which meets every Sunday morning is growing steadily in numbers. The session last Sunday was the largest attended and most interesting since the school was organized a few weeks ago. The Atlanta Constitution's missing word contest for June is as follows: "Patiently, with the dark lantern closed and hid under his arm, he waited behind a ragged rock in the crevice next to the clothes for the to return." The Magistrates at the meeting next Monday will have to elect a Board of County Commissioners and Board of Education. We do not know how many of the present incumbents will stand for re-election, but Pitt county has good boards, both Commissioners and Educators. The Methodist Sunday School had Children's Day exercises in the Opera House Sunday morning, in the presence of a large congregation. Mrs. I. C. Davis, of New York, presided over the meeting and at the close of the interesting programme made a delightful half hour's talk. So much important work to be done at the meeting of the Justices of the Peace next Monday—levying taxes, electing a Board of County Commissioners, a Board of Education and a Superintendent of Public Instruction—ought to bring every Magistrate in the county to the meeting. Mr. B. H. Hearne, mail carrier, tells us that Mr. Frank Day, a young man of Tarboro committed suicide Sunday. He had been on an spree and took an ounce of laudanum. It is generally believed that his taking such an overdose of laudanum was unintentional, but was only trying to relieve pain from which he was suffering.

Married.

At the residence of the bride's father, Mr. J. W. Allen, near Greenville, yesterday evening at 8 o'clock, Mr. J. B. Cory and Miss Priscilla Allen were married. The happy couple will come to Greenville to day and make their home in the Cherry building in Skinnerville. The REFLECTOR extends best wishes. Christian College Commencement. The Commencement exercises of Carolina Christian College will be held at Ayden Friday morning and night, June 1st. Major Harding of Greenville will deliver an address at 11 A. M. Friends from a distance will be entertained, but there will be no public dinner. Those who wish will carry their dinner to the grounds. L. T. Rightwell, Printer. Any kind of habitual borrower is objectionable; but a newspaper borrower is past description. Suppose when a man starts his children to school he should undertake to borrow books for them all the time? Well, it would not be long before his neighbors would get tired of lending books. So it is with newspapers. Borrowing newspapers is a very small thing—look at it as you may, and is especially small on the part of the borrower.—Scotland Neck Democrat. We also received an invitation to the commencement exercises of Oxford Female Seminary, May 27th to 29th. The editor thanks Miss Aylmer Sugg for an invitation to the commencement exercises of Louisville Female College, June 5th and 6th. Mr. W. C. Jackson, of Pitt, sends the REFLECTOR an invitation to the second annual commencement of the A. & M. College, Raleigh, June 17th to 20th. Hon. W. H. Hatch, of Missouri, will deliver the address. The King's Daughters. The visit of Mrs. I. C. Davis, of New York, Corresponding Secretary of the Central Council of the King's Daughters and Sons, and the series of meetings she held in Greenville, has caused a great revival of interest in the work of the circles here. The first meeting was held in the Presbyterian church Friday afternoon and that night Mrs. Davis delivered an address to a large audience in the Opera House. Saturday afternoon another meeting was held in the Presbyterian church. Sunday morning she delivered another address at the close of the Children's Day exercises in the Opera House, and in the afternoon a consecration meeting was held in the Episcopal church. Our people were charmed with Mrs. Davis and her visit here will result in much good. She was the guest of Mrs. J. B. Cherry while in Greenville.

Roberson, Esq., of Robersonville were in town last Wednesday on business. Messrs. Ward & Branch have attached a grist mill to their saw mill here and are now prepared to grind all corn that may be brought them. County Surver J. B. Kilpatrick was in town to-day. He came up to run the disputed land between Pitt, Edgecombe and Martin counties. Mrs. Harriet Ann Council, wife of Mr. R. C. Council, died last Wednesday. She was buried Thursday evening at the family burial ground about four miles from Bethel. She leaves a husband and five children who have our heartfelt sympathy in this their sad bereavement. Farmale Items. May 28th, 1894. Miss Emma Mayo is spending to-day in Bethel with Miss Minnie Carraway. W. H. Griffin, Esq., lent his majestic presence to our city a while this A. M. Our respected townsman, Mr. G. J. Cherry, is on an extended trip North this week. "Somebody" came near getting wet Sunday afternoon. Hope they did not catch cold thereby. Miss Bertha Whitley, who spent last week in Williamston, returned yesterday, to the delight of her many friends here. Misses Mollie and Lula Johnson, of Bethel, spent Saturday and Sunday in town. Glad to see you ladies, come again. We are glad to note the return of Miss Lizzie Mayo who has been attending the Normal and Industrial school at Greensboro. Mr. C. R. Speight left Thursday for Jacksonville, where we hope he will be for a short while only, as his cheering smile and pleasant face is greatly missed by many in and around Parmele.

OTH'R LOCALS.

Farmers in town yesterday told us there was some hail with Monday evening's rain. It was not enough to do any damage. The soldier boys got back home safe from Raleigh last Wednesday evening and had many pleasant experiences to tell of their trip to the laying of the corner stone. The only draw back was when Coot Whiehard tried to eat up everything in Raleigh but found out it was more than he could hold. Four hundred young shad were recently placed in Neuse river near Newbern, and about the same number have been turned loose in Pasquotank river near Elizabeth City. Why cannot something like that be done for Tar river? It goes without arguing that this region has a fish loving people. The Town Council held a meeting Monday and took steps to immediately have the town thoroughly cleaned up and lined. The citizens should join in this movement and give their premises proper attention. This weather is conducive to sickness and too much care can not be given to cleanliness. Mr. Allen Warren says the fruit prospects for this year are the poorest he has noticed in many years past. Peaches will be almost a total failure, there will probably not be over one-fourth a crop of early grapes and only about one-half a crop of the James variety. There are plenty of common plums. Can't you drop in the REFLECTOR office and give us an item of news from your neighborhood when you come to town? Every item of this kind will help make your county paper all the more interesting. People in every other section of the county will be glad to hear what is happening in your neighborhood. Cotton and Peanuts. Below are Norfolk prices of cotton and peanuts for yesterday, as furnished by Cobb Bros. & Co., Commission Merchants of Norfolk: COTTON. We also received an invitation to the commencement exercises of Oxford Female Seminary, May 27th to 29th.

The editor thanks Miss Aylmer Sugg for an invitation to the commencement exercises of Louisville Female College, June 5th and 6th.

Mr. W. C. Jackson, of Pitt, sends the REFLECTOR an invitation to the second annual commencement of the A. & M. College, Raleigh, June 17th to 20th. Hon. W. H. Hatch, of Missouri, will deliver the address.

The King's Daughters. The visit of Mrs. I. C. Davis, of New York, Corresponding Secretary of the Central Council of the King's Daughters and Sons, and the series of meetings she held in Greenville, has caused a great revival of interest in the work of the circles here.

The first meeting was held in the Presbyterian church Friday afternoon and that night Mrs. Davis delivered an address to a large audience in the Opera House. Saturday afternoon another meeting was held in the Presbyterian church. Sunday morning she delivered another address at the close of the Children's Day exercises in the Opera House, and in the afternoon a consecration meeting was held in the Episcopal church.

Our people were charmed with Mrs. Davis and her visit here will result in much good. She was the guest of Mrs. J. B. Cherry while in Greenville.

The Cadets.

At the competitive examination held in Edenton last week for the appointment of cadets to Annapolis and West Point from this district, Pitt county came out with three-fourths of the honors. There were three applicants for each position before the examining board. Two young men from Pitt county, Messrs. Lyman Cotton and Junius Grimes, stood for the Annapolis appointment, and one from Pitt, Mr. Harry Harding, stood for West Point. Mr. Cotton stood the best examination for Annapolis and received the appointment, while Mr. Grimes being second best was made alternate. For West Point Mr. S. T. Ansell, of Currituck, received the highest marks and was given the appointment, with Mr. Harding as alternate. Mr. Ansell was a pupil of the school taught by Prof. Sheep who was the head of the examining board. This gives Pitt county one appointment and two alternates. The appointees go on to stand another examination at the academies and in case of a failure to pass the alternate is given a trial.

Their instruments are first class and have stood the test for many years.

TOBACCO DEPARTMENT.

Conducted by O. L. JOYNER, Proprietor Eastern Tobacco Warehouse.

A GROWING MARKET.

Greenville is Making Steady Progress and Has a Bright Future.

Greenville, N. C., is one of the young tobacco markets, but it is a healthy youngster and is growing right along.

The market was established only a few years ago. For a season or two previous, the farmers of the neighboring county had been experimenting in tobacco culture, and their success was so marked that they went into it as a regular business. They have made money at it, too, for they produce bright stock of excellent quality. There is no better grown anywhere.

The lands are well adapted to tobacco, and the climate is such they have little fear in the way of frosts and cold spells. They are reasonably sure of a good crop every year and they made a good one last year.

Greenville is pretty certain to become one of the leading markets of Eastern North Carolina, and its enterprising citizens are leaving no stone unturned to build it up. Next fall it will have another warehouse, a number of new prizes and strong additions to its corps of buyers. The American Tobacco Company shows its faith in the future of the town by lettering the contract for a large leaf factory to be erected at once.

All admire pluck, and that is what the Greenville people are displaying. The efforts they are putting forth, backed by the merit of the article they have to offer to the world, is bound to win. We look for Greenville to largely increase her sales the coming season.

Prominent among those who have been doing hard and effective work for this market is Mr. O. L. Joyner. Mr. Joyner has made a gallant fight. He is a hustler, a strong writer and a business man of foresight and grit. Greenville is greatly indebted to him for the position it has taken among the tobacco markets and for its promising future.—Winston Tobacco Journal.

CROP PROSPECTS.

There is more than the usual speculation at this time of year as to the next tobacco crop. That it will fall short of an average in acreage may be set down as pretty sure, and it is equally certain that the planters will do their best to improve the quality. We must wait several months before we can get an idea of their success in this direction. The start has been unpropitious.

Advices from various sections of North Carolina leads us to believe that there will be a fifty per cent cut in the western part of the State and about twenty-five per cent in the central counties, while in the east there will be a slight increase. As a whole it looks now we will have a three fourth crop.

The shortage in Virginia will be about the same. South Carolina will probably grow as much as usual. When the farmers are through planting we can get the figures down finer. The Southern Tobacco Journal will obtain full and trustworthy information for its readers.—Southern Tobacco Journal.

STRAY BITS.

In South Carolina the tobacco crop has all been planted and is growing off nicely.

The new cigarette factory at Thomasville has started up. Mr. J. A. Leach is proprietor.

A patent for a spraying device for tobacco casing machines has been granted to Mr. J. C. Frost, Winston.

The May report of the State agricultural bureau puts preparation for the tobacco crops at 76 1/2 per cent. Mr. Thos. M. Brown has a curiosity in a tobacco leaf which he gathered from his farm last year, says the Mt. Airy News. The leaf is a perfect funnel in shape.

George W. Watts will donate to the city of Durham a city hospital, complete in all its departments. Rand & Everett, of Boston, are the architects. The contract has been let to C. H. Norton, for $25,000, the work to be completed by December 1st. It will have a $25,000 endowment, making the entire gift $50,000. The plans are declared by hospital experts to be the most perfect yet made for a hospital of moderate cost.

Great many of the scandalous stories current are built on this formula:—"I say, mother, John told me that he heard Mr. Johnson say that Mr. Handy's aunt was present when the widow Burham told Capt. Ball's cousin that old Mrs. Oxy understood that Sam Trife's wife said, in so many words, that her mother heard on the best of authority that you weren't any better than you you should be. If I were you I should look the matter up, for the thing comes pretty straight, you see."—New York Herald.

CIGARETTES TIPPED WITH REAL FLOWERS.

"Yes," said a fashionable Bond street, London, tobaccoconist to the other day, "Answers" to a correspondent, "cigarettes with real violet tips are all the rage now—quite a rash on them. A wealthy Russian Countess, with luxuriant and esthetic tastes, gave me my first order for them when on a visit to London, and since then I have my work cut out to cope with the extraordinary demand. We use only the very best English Parma violets, two violets to each cigarette. We treat them with a secret process to enable them retain their color, after which they are affixed to the cigarettes by an adhesive substance, the ingredient of which is another secret. Look at these cigarettes. The tips are the petals of Marechal Niel roses, costing at this time of the year half a crown apiece. We have a fresh supply from Italy and France every week, and it takes one rose to tip half-a-dozen cigarettes. Then we use damask roses a great deal, and the son of a very wealthy tradesman actually brought in a dozen choice orchids to be made up into cigarette tips. Expensive taste? I should think so; but money is no object to this class of customers. Each tip takes quite five minutes to affix, so you can't wonder at the cost—£2 2s. per hundred charged, can you? and we have them even higher than that. They are cool to the lips, and possess a certain fragrance, the sort of whiff to follow a light report of peach blossoms and peacock's brains. Oh, yes, the gold-leaf tip has quit died out—absolutely vulgar, in fact. What next? Haven't the faintest idea; but I dare say we shall be having some modern Monte Cristo coming along with a shipping order for jeweled cigarettes."

A Solomon in Judgment.
A Brooklyn judge recently showed wisdom of the Solomon order.

A cripple had been arraigned for beating his wife. The woman's testimony was very strong, and in spite of the prisoner's emphatic denial, that he had treated her cruelly, he was about to be booked for the penitentiary. As the woman was leading her child out of the court room, this child judge observed that the little one was reluctant to go. A bright idea struck him. He ordered the child placed between its parents, and at a considerable distance from either, and then directed each parent to call it. The mother called first, but the child paid no attention to her. Then the father called, and the child ran to him with every demonstration of affection.

This sort of evidence changed the judge's mind. He told the prisoner that his child had saved him, and that he could not believe that he was the brute his wife had described. The prisoner was released, and the judgment was approved by all who were present. Evidently all wisdom did not die with Solomon, but if Solomon's decision in the case of rival claimants for a child had not been on record, it is not probable that the Brooklyn judge would have reached a just decision.

Methodism in North Carolina.

There in the two North Carolina Conferences 119,916 members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. There are enough in the six counties of North Carolina now in the Virginia Conference to swell the number considerable above 120,000. There are in the North Carolina Conference 9 districts and 133 pastoral charges; in the Western North Carolina Conference, 10 districts and 143 pastoral charges; in all, 19 districts and 281 pastoral charges.

There are 597 Sunday schools, with 38,452 members, in the North Carolina Conference; 619 schools, and 44,818 members in the Western North Carolina Conference; a total of 1,216 schools and 83,270 members in the two Conferences, not counting the six northeastern counties.

The whole amount of money raised last year for church purposes was $189,014.93; W. N. C. Conference, $166,819.46.—North Carolina Christian Advocate.

Spotman Cases.
S. H. Clifford, New Cassel, Wis., was troubled with Neuralgia and Rheumatism, his stomach was disordered, his liver was affected to an alarming degree, appetite fell away, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured him.

Edward Shepherd, Harrisburg, Ill., had a running sore on his leg of eight years' standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and his leg is sound and well. John Specker, Calverton, O., had five large Fever sores on his leg, doctors said he was incurable. One bottle Electric Bitters and one box Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured him entirely. Sold by J. L. Wooten's Drug Store.

Living Appreciations.

In a private letter not long since, the thought was brought out and fell under the writer's notice that often a man's real worth to a community was not realized by its people till death claimed him or some other section saw his work and called him there. There is too much truth in the thought. Men on whom a certain community rely for much of the worth of the place, seemingly unconscious of the fact and suddenly, when too late, realized the true worth of the man and pour out the realization to a vacant place. Why not tell the living of your appreciation, it would give a satisfaction even in death, and possibly prevent, in the other case, the removal to a better field, men of real worth to the community.—Burlington News.

The Most Tragic Episode.

According to Kate Field, the most tragic episode of the war occurred during the siege of Charleston, when the wedding of Gov. Pickens' daughter was interrupted by a shell that came crashing into the house from the Federal batteries and exploded in the parlor. When the smoke cleared away the bride lay on the floor, her white robe stained with the blood of a death wound. All the others had escaped unhurt.

Very little has been said of an abuse which is steadily growing up in Congress. For many years it has been customary for members who have no use for certain documents or agricultural seeds to exchange them with other members for such as they do require. In making these exchanges sometimes a clerk is the intermediary, sometimes another person. This other person may be denominated a document broker. He not only sways off a useless for a useful print or seed; he purchases what is wanted of the member who doesn't want it or of his clerk. It was for a long while the habit of some members who were not over nice to turn over things not available to their clerks or other friends who made a little "spec" by the transfer. But latterly, I understand, some members actually sell outright such documentary and agricultural stuff as they find no use for. But as it would not look right to do this at first hand they employ intermediaries. The broker dies covers where he can negotiate, takes the information to those interested, ascertains what he can procure the article for, and buys it. He then sells it to the member wanting that precise thing. The member, in other words, quietly pockets the pay in cash for what Uncle Sam makes an appropriation, supposing he will need the document or seed. Thus, a city man does not care for a horse book unless he is a horse fancier; but the country member knows where he can please many a friend or placate many a foe by the present of a work on the noble animal. He authorizes his broker to find him some horse books and pay a small sum for a job lot, sometimes if the article happens to be scarce—as the work is costly—he has to pay a stiff price, but less than their real value. So of other things. The people suppose they are simply providing the necessary printing and so forth for their use through their Representatives or Senators. The result shows that they do a good deal more. This huckstering is fortunately not general. Self-respecting members refuse to participate in it. They will not even frank to their constituents seeds, purchasing from drug stores, over and above what the government provides for distribution, but pay the postage themselves. These men are honest in the spirit as well as the letter.—Washington Cor. Charlotte Observer.

Turkeys on a Drunk.
A Cedar Hill, Ky., woman found all her six turkeys apparently dead. She didn't want to eat diseased meat, and after plucking them to save the feathers threw the bodies over the fence. By evening they all came back, like little Bo Peep's sheep, and stood shivering around the kitchen door. They had only been on a frightful drunk. The woman had thrown out a jar of brandied cherries the day before.

How often we find men—men of good standing in every community—who are ready at any moment to criticize and find fault with everything that does not concern them, or that does not come up to their ideal of the fitness of things; when really, if their fancies were gratified, you would be confronted with narrow-mindedness, selfishness, hypocrisy and heaven knows what to contend with on every hand. And thus it is.—Darham Sun.

Keep Money at Home.

There is much advantage to any community in keeping money at home. Some people will send away for a thing to save 10 or 25 cents, when if their money were spent at home they would get as much and as good result from it and at the same time they would benefit their community by paying out the money here. Some merchants will even send away from home for their job printing to save 25c in the original price, and pay that 25 cents on express, rather than have their work done right here where they can read their own proofs. Suppose the people should order all their clothes, shoes, &c, from some other town, what would the merchants do? It is best for the whole community to keep all the money circulating at home.—Scotland Neck Democrat.
