THE TEACHER'S ASSOCIATION. Saturday's Session Full of Interest. Notwithstanding the bad roads throughout the county at this season of the year, a large crowd of teachers was present Saturday and the meeting was one of the finest during the year.

Notice to Public From information received by the undersigned it is apparent that great damage was done by the rain fall on Saturday night, to the roads, dams and bridges throughout the county, and I take the liberty of suggesting to the public that this damage amounts to considerable and will therefore, of course, require some time to repair.

BANK ON CASH BASIS. New York, Jan. 11 - Evidence that New York banks are again on a cash basis was given today in the weekly bank statement, which disclosed that they now hold a surplus above the legal reserve requirements. For five successive weeks since last October, when the money and banking situation became acute, the deficit increased until the record-breaking total of $54,000,000 was reached.

NATIONAL BANK. The stockholders of the National Bank of Greenville held a meeting Tuesday afternoon in the office of the bank. The following directors were elected: F. G. James, J. P. Quinerly, H. W. Whedbee, C. W. Tucker, J. E. Harvey, E. A. Moye, Jr., and J. E. Nobles.

Several stocks discounted the return to better money conditions by advancing 3 and 4 points. The closing figures were the best of the day, but at that time the full import of the bank statement was not known.

Truth in Preference to Fiction

GREENVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA, FRIDAY, JAN. 17 1908

The Taft boom gives Fairbanks a frozen stare.

They will hardly get the street paving before it is needed.

Charlotte officers would like to get rid of a stomach left on their hands.

W. T. Dortch, of Goldsboro, is the latest addition to the ranks of gubernatorial candidates.

It will be a mighty good start for the new year to get the boat line established on the river.

When the State gets rid of whiskey the cigarette should not be long following.

A week from today, 21st, the extra session of the legislature will convene. Then all eyes will be turned toward Raleigh.

North Carolina thinks even better of Governor Hughes, of New York, since he refused to accept those fraudulent bonds.

The small amount of money showing itself would indicate that some people are boarding it.

If the prohibitionists want the special legislature to pass a State prohibition law no harm can come of letting it be known.

It took a week for a jury to be selected in the Thaw case. Now we will see how long the trial itself takes.

We do hope the extra session of the legislature can make a complete settlement of the rate question.

A good motto for the farmers this year would be that old phrase "Plenty of hog and hominy."

Two court houses in this State have recently been destroyed by fire, Rutherford and Swain counties being the sufferers.

The crowded court room at the Thaw trial in New York is irving to pick-pockets. One of the talsmen waiting to be called for examination was robbed of his watch.

If the main part of the Thaw trial drags along in proportion to the slowness of getting the jury, it will be a long time reaching a finish.

The New Bern Sun is of the opinion that we will have another summer. It advises that fishing tackle be fixed now and have it ready.

These extreme Western North Carolina stories of shooting affairs in which two or more persons are said to lose their lives, are getting to sound quite fishy. Most of these reported affairs did not occur at all.

The Pacific fleet in command of Admiral Evans has arrived at Rio Janeiro in Brazil. The Americans were given a great welcome there.

North Carolina bears can, have a sight of content. President Roosevelt writes that owing to a press of business he cannot accept Governor Glenn's invitation to come down and take a hunt.

One thing to consider in matters of controversy is that there are two sides to it, and the other fellow may have some opinions as well as yourself, and is entitled to his opinions.

The town of Morganton has adopted a cu-few law which forbids boys under 15 years of age being on the streets after 8 o'clock at night. An instance of the law doing what parents have neglected to do.

From now until the special session of the legislature convenes there will be much talk as to what the body should do and should not do. The most important thing is to do quickly what it decides to do.

We see a news item that there are 500 vacant residences in Greensboro. If that is true the city had better send for the directory maker to come back and see what has gone with the 42,000 population.

Pitt county has not experienced the value of good roads, but has had several lessons in the cost of bad ones. Some of these days the county may get out of the ruts.

The chamber of commerce committee is right down after the matter of establishing boat transportation on the river. That is the way to bring things to pass, gonfer them* with a determination to succeed. Such transportation will result in large saving of freights to shippers.

Two things The Reflector would like to see the extra session of the legislature settle quickly and permanently, are the passenger rate matter and State prohibition. Both of these questions ought to be kept out of the next campaign and let the State settle down to business and material progress.

Governor Glenn says that if a special session of the legislature is called, it will be for the specific purpose of considering the rate matter. However the body will be free to consider any other matter on which it might choose to act.

With the improvements and development in contemplation for Greenville this year, now is a good time for the home seeker to buy a lot and prepare to build. No place offers safer investments than Greenville, and the town never had brighter prospects.

Governor Glenn has written a letter to the North Carolina members of the U. S. senate urging that a national law be passed that will prevent shipments of whiskey to be made from one State into prohibition territory in another State. Such a law is needed.

The immense damage done to roads by the heavy rain Saturday night, will put a cost of several thousand dollars upon the tax payers of the county, to say nothing of the inconvenience and loss arising from travel over the bad roads. If the roads were macadamized such damage would not arise from heavy rains.

The town of Wadesboro is planning a celebration of Washington's birthday, and proposes to invite the three leading candidates for governor to be present and make speeches. After the speaking the folks can decide which of the three will make the best governor.

The Durham Herald remarks "Those towns that have prohibition elections on foot might as well call them off." No doubt this was said in anticipation of the extra session of the legislature passing a State prohibition law. It is too soon yet to say what the legislature will do, but we believe the passage of such a law would be a good thing.

From the way Judge Webb is dealing with illegal sellers of whiskey in Durham, prohibition will be likely to prohibit in that city. Judge Webb is holding court there and a number of persons were convicted of operating blind tigers. He gave them all terms on the roads, asserting that those who sell whiskey in prohibition towns should be given greater punishment than a fine.

A matter the extra session of the legislature might profitably give attention to after getting through with the rate compromise would be the selection of an additional Superior court judge. The State needs an extra judge who could hold the special terms of court that are called, and to take the place of any judge who might be prevented by sickness from holding a regular term.

The question of water transportation to Greenville is one our business people should not let rest until such transportation is secured. This is the only means of putting a check on the exorbitant freight rate charges the railroads make. The chamber of commerce at its last meeting started the agitation for a boat line, and elsewhere in today's paper is a strong communication on the subject. If our people could not help themselves they would have to submit to the combination of rates by the railroads, but as it is the river offers the advantage of showing their independence if they will use the opportunity.

Congressman Webb, of the ninth North Carolina district, has introduced a bill in congress that if enacted will go a long way toward making prohibition prohibitive. The bill reads: "Be it enacted that it shall be unlawful for any railroad company, express company or other common carriers to transport any spirituous liquors from one State to another and deliver same in territory of the latter State, where the sale and manufacture of such liquors is prohibited in said territory by the laws of the State wherein said territory is."

"Any common carrier violating the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction therefor shall be fined not less than $100 nor more than $5,000 in the jurisdiction of the court."

The late financial panic is being talked over time, and there is no need for it. Confidence cannot be restored until the people quit talking scarcity of money and predicting hard times. Such talk only has the tendency to make those who have money hold the harder to it. If you will read the article published elsewhere about the recent statement of New York banks, you will see that the continued panic talk is groundless. People are too easily frightened. What is needed is to quit the talk and let money and business resume its activity. Do not make times hard when there is no need for it.

There are those who say the legislature of 1909 will make a fight for 2-cent passenger fares. If the extra legislature next week settles the rate question it ought to stay settled for all time.

It is time some papers should stop throwing off on Speaker Justice. He has equally as much right to his opinions as other folks. Things would grow monotonous if everybody thought alike.

There is just as much money in the country as there ever was. There are plenty of people scattered throughout the country who have many, and it is only through imaginary fright that they are holding it instead of paying what they owe. The business men must stop talking panic and scarcity of money if they want to see confidence restored and times get better.

The members of congress might be allowed to draw their pay and stay home, and let Speaker Cannon run things to suit himself. It has reached the point that whatever he wants passed, goes, and whatever he does not want passed, don't go. It is a reflection on the decency and dignity of a great country like this to allow its law making body to be so dominated by one man.

You can hear the panic talkers saying that real estate in Pitt county has declined ten percent in value and will decline more. This is all nonsense, and you do not want to listen to that kind of talk. Just because money has been scarce and close is no reason why real estate should decline. Real estate in Pitt county is as good as gold dollars, and no safer investment can be made. The money panic is over if people will just let it alone and quit talking it.

The merciful man when he drives to town these winter days will take along a blanket to spread over his horse before leaving the animal hitched in an open lot. But so few are merciful, at least they do not show any consideration for the dumb animal that pulls them to town and back home again. The animals after being heated by the drive are hitched in an open lot and left exposed to the cold wind or rain, while the owner makes himself comfortable by a fire. On a recent very bad day we took notice of a certain lot in which several horses were hitched, and only one in the lot was covered with a blanket. The owners of the others had no mercy on them.

The question of water transportation to Greenville is one our business people should not let rest until such transportation is secured. This is the only means of putting a check on the exorbitant freight rate charges the railroads make. The chamber of commerce at its last meeting started the agitation for a boat line, and elsewhere in today's paper is a strong communication on the subject. The statement is sent out from Norfolk that there will be no official re-opening of the Jamestown exposition next summer.

Subscribers to newspapers should bear in mind that the recent ruling of the postoffice department, that goes into effect April 1st, will forbid papers being sent to persons who are long in arrears. The limit specified in the order is one year on weekly papers and three months on daily papers. Papers sent after these limits will require postage of one cent each, and no publisher can afford to pay this. The Reflector has endeavored to notify its delinquent subscribers by putting a blue cross mark on their paper and also by sending statements as fast as they can be made out. Whether you get a statement or not, if you owe for the paper you should settle promptly. We shall regret the necessity of dropping any names from the list, but we will have to comply with the law. Do not put off payment until your name is dropped.

British Columbia. British Columbia is vast enough to swallow up many times its present population with the most strain on its resources. The island from which Vancouver takes its name, originally called Nootka, was discovered early in the sixteenth century, but two years later became part of Columbia. FIRST DAY OF SCHOOL.

Member the Clubbin' You Got For That Punk at Henry?

Geek whio! You are a scrappy kid. And the new boys look admirably and shyly at you who don't mind a little rough house the very first day. And you get a bit excited and run madly around the yard, pelting wildly and bumping into every boy that you don't know. By the time school opens you have a meeting arranged with a half dozen fellows for a ball game at the close of the session. And then comes your old teacher.

"Hey, Miss Denny, am I promoted?" you scream with a score of others. And teacher smiles that superior sort of smile that makes you realize that teachers are different from sisters and things and waves you aside, while the submaster bows her in the front door just the way your sister's beau meets her. Perhaps teacher is like your sisters and things.

The bell rings, you fall in line, and to the accompaniment of the piano in room 102 you march to the last time, you pray, to your old class room.

Henry passes you in the corridor. He pushes you. You make a punch at him for old time's sake. The submaster yanks you both out of line and lifts you in the air by one ear while he christens the new rat-tan. And you set your shoulders proudly. You have reason to do so. You are the first man to get a "chubbing" this year, and that's a whole lot in the badley school.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Worthington have our deepest sympathy in the death of their child, aged about two and one-half years, caused by a severe burn. There was no one with the child in the house at the time except the next older little girl. It lived several hours after the burn. Its remains were interred Sunday.

FARMERS' EDUCATIONAL MEETING

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13. Editor Reflector:

I am very glad to announce another Farmers' Educational Meeting to be held in Greenville on Monday, February 3rd. This will be exclusively a tobacco meeting. It will be conducted under the supervision of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and at least four specialists from that department will attend.

I will take the liberty of writing you for your next issue something of the capacity and equipment of the men who will speak at this meeting.

There will be both a morning and afternoon session, and the morning session will open at 10 o'clock. I have every reason to believe that the meeting will be most profitable and I urge all to attend who are interested in tobacco culture.

Very respectfully,
Jno. H. Small

Law Needs Changing. The Powder Chronicle asks the newspapers of the State to join in asking the Legislature change the law in regard to the payment of costs in State cases. As the law now is, when the costs fall on the county only half fees are allowed. The Chronicle thinks it is unjust to require witnesses to attend court and officers to perform the service for half fees simply because the costs fall on the county. This seems hardly fair and the Landmark is disposed to agree with the Chronicle as to witnesses. As to officers, it favors putting all of them on the salary basis. That is fair to both the men and the public.—Statesville Landmark.

Terrible Fire in Opera House.

Boyetown, Pa., Jan. 13.—Between fifty and seventy-five persons were burned to death tonight in a fire which completely destroyed Rhoads' Opera House in this place.

The opera house was crowded with the members of St. John's Lutheran Sunday school, who were attending a benefit given for that church. While the show was in progress a tank exploded. The actors endeavored to quiet the audience, but in their anxiety to make themselves heard and to avoid the awful stampede of the women and children the coal oil lamps, which were used as the footlights, were overturned, setting the place on fire. The flames fed by the oil shot almost to the ceiling, and there was a wild rush of the seven hundred persons to escape from the burning building. Scores of women and children were trampled upon and several who escaped being burned to death, died after being dragged from the opera house.

What About Christmas?

With the compliments of the season to all our readers we ask you the question of the hour
WHAT ABOUT CHRISTMAS
The children are asking it with wondering and hopeful expectations of what Santa Claus is likely to bring them.

The older people are asking it, not so much in speculation regarding the remembrance of Christmas, but rather as an inquiry as to how they are to provide suitable and satisfactory presents for their children and friends without too heavy a drain upon their time and purse.

Now we help you to solve the problem and put you in the way of doing your Christmas shopping with pleasure satisfaction and economy.

We offer the advantage of selection that cannot be found in a very extensive show-window display. We take pleasure in serving our customers and will do all in our power to help you to just the right article at the right price, so that you may leave our store with a smile and a perfectly satisfied conscience. Our purchases in every variety of goods are made in the most judicious manner.

HOLIDAY - GOODS

Nothing to see every reader at our store at an early date, and wishing one and all a very Merry Christmas, we remain,

Yours truly

TO MY FRIENDS,

Having been away for several months I wish to announce to my friends and patrons of the "Empire" of Pitt that I am still connected with the firm of Chas. M. Starn, and if perchance you term home as a synonym for a "hanging out place" I still call Greenville my home, and while I intend to be away from Greenville a great deal of my time during this fall a postal care of box 325, Greenville, will reach me within a day or two. We now have a number of slightly used upright pianos, some of which have been rented during the summer months, others which were temporarily used by artists at the exposition and for orchestra work, at bargain prices.

Notice to Creditors

A Higher Health Level

SENATOR SIMMONS WINS.

Best Yarn of Year His "Drag" Killed Him.
Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, carried with a single eminence told at a banquet the other night, the reputation of having produced the best story of the session. The story has been the talk of the Congressional lobbies ever since. To reproduce it as it was told is impossible, but it is a good story in any guise.

The occasion was Joe Sibley's banquet to the Postmaster General, the postal committees of the two houses, the chief executives of the Postoffice Department, and some newspaper men. The Postmaster General as the guest of honor was the first speaker, and being very full of his subject, he talked shop—told about his interest in parcels post and postal savings banks, and indicated how they were certain to help the country. Postmaster General Myer has suddenly made a real issue of these propositions by forcing them to the front with a vigorous recommendation that they be adopted. Quite incidentally, he had got a lot of statesmen in hot water because, as Senator Dulliver said in a speech late in the evening, "Everybody is either violently for or violently against the Postmaster General's proposals, and one element is threatening to defeat everybody who is for, and the other to destroy everybody who is against the suggestions."

THE PARTY OF THE WINDS.

Big, blustering, boisterous Northeast invited all the little winds that live up in the sky to come and play. North-east was so merry and mad that he bristled blue and friskily flew, getting ready for his party.

THE PARTY OF THE WINDS.

He whisked the leaves and twisted the trees and broke off twigs with greatest ease. He was awkward, too, and made a big ballad for the little wind he had to do. But at last all was ready, and the guests began to arrive. North and East came to get ready for their party.

THE PARTY OF THE WINDS.

West was such a mild, gentle little lady she was quite contented all by herself and snuggled sweetly and played little lonely but lively games of puff and whiff. Then she heard West Wind coming the three went away and hid in the deep, dark wood.

Short addresses were made by Mayor Wooten, Rev. M. T. Plyler, Dr. Charles Laughinghouse and others, and the following resolutions were adopted by a rising vote:

We, a portion of the people of Pitt county in mass meeting assembled, do resolve.
1. That we urge upon the General Assembly at its special session to pass on an act prohibiting the manufacture and sale of liquor in North Carolina. We urge this upon the legislature because we believe a great majority of the people of the State favor such action and that the time is opportune for the passage and enforcement of such a law.

2. That we earnestly request our senator and representatives in the legislature to vote for the passage of a law that will put an end to the manufacture or sale of liquor in this State after the 30th day of June, 1908.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

Discusses Boat Line and Protests Against A. C. L. Taking off Midday Passenger Train.
Immediately after the prohibition mass meeting in the opera house, Monday night, the chamber of commerce held a meeting to hear reports of the committees appointed at last regular meeting looking to the advance in rail road freight rates and the establishing of a boat line between Greenville and Norfolk.

The first committee read a letter from the clerk of the State corporation commission disclaiming that the commission had forced the Norfolk & Southern railroad to advance its rates to an equality with the Atlantic Coast Line. As the committee had also been asked by the commission to furnish a list of commodities on which rates to Greenville had been advanced, so that the commission might make an investigation, the committee was continued to look further into the matter.

The committee on the boat line reported that it had visited Washington and held a conference with the North Carolina and Virginia Steamboat Co., that representatives of the company had been invited to attend this meeting and were present.

Messrs. Walter Daniels and J. F. Taylor, of Washington, addressed the meeting upon the organization of the company and its plan of operation and invited the co-operation of the business interests of Greenville with the movement.

There was considerable interest in the matter, and a committee consisting of Dr. Charles Laughinghouse and Messrs. Wiley Brown, J. F. Davenport, E. E. Ficklen and W. Moseley was appointed to confer further with the North Carolina and Virginia Steamboat Co. relative to Greenville business men taking stock and co-operating with it.

The matter of the Atlantic Coast Line seeking to withdraw its midday passenger train from this branch of their road was discussed, and the secretary was instructed to write both the corporation commission and the officials of the A. C. L. entering a protest from the Greenville chamber of commerce against the discontinuance of the train. Other towns along the road are requested to join in this protest.

MESSAGE FROM SICK ROOM.

Governor Jarvis Unable to Attend Convention But Sends Telegram.
Ex-Gov. T. J. Jarvis was to have been present and speak at the State prohibition convention in Raleigh this afternoon, but much to his own disappointment and the regret of a host of people he is detained at home by sickness. With that great love for humanity that wells in his heart, from his sick room he sends a message to Chairman Oates that breathes the deep earnestness he feels in the important question that means so much for North Carolina. The telegram reads:

Greenville, N. C., Jan. 21.
John A. Oates,
Raleigh, N. C.
Deeply regret sickness keeps me from temperance meeting. Legislature has great opportunity to voice will of people and render humanity and State great service. Eternal conflict between school room and bar room. School room makes men, bar room destroys them. It is good statesmanship, good politics and good religion to multiply and replenish school rooms and to destroy bar rooms. I appeal to the legislature with all the fervor and intensity of my soul to rise to this high plan.

STATON-WALDROP.

A Beautiful Church Wedding in Hendersonville.
Hendersonville, N. C., Jan. 20.—One of the most beautiful weddings that ever occurred in this city was the marriage of Mr. John Arthur Staton, of Bethel, N. C., to Miss Emma Bertha Waldrop, of Hendersonville, in the Methodist church. Rev. Mr. Moore, pastor, officiated, assisted by Rev. Mr. Rowe, of Asheville. The ceremony took place at six o'clock, the church being beautifully lighted and artistically decorated, two lovely arches being in each aisle, and a large flowerdesigned bell being suspended over the altar where the marriage vows were spoken.

The bride was gowned in a brown traveling suit, wearing hat and gloves to match, and carried a large bouquet of bride's roses. She was given away at the altar by her father, Dr. W. G. Waldrop.
The maid of honor was Miss Lillian Waldrop, sister of the bride, and she carried a handsome bouquet of lilies of the valley.

The bride's maids and ushers were: Miss Vera Waldrop with Mr. Walter Wilson, of Greenville; Miss Mamie Waldrop with Mr. Scoggins, of Richmond, and Miss Lula Waldrop. The bride's maids carried carnations. Little Miss Dorothy Waldrop, aged five years, was flower-maid, and the small brother of the bride carried the ring, the impressive ring ceremony being used.

After the wedding amid many congratulations. Mr. and Mrs. Staton took the southbound train for Florida. Upon their return to Bethel they will be given a reception by the father of the groom.

On the evening before the wedding a reception was given at the home of Dr. Waldrop, in honor of Mr. Staton and Miss Waldrop, this being one of the most brilliant social events of the season in Hendersonville.—Raleigh News and Observer.

GO ON WITH ELECTION.

And Let Greenville Vote on Prohibition.
Greenville has been moving to have a prohibition election, and a petition to that effect is now in the hands of the aldermen. When the special session of the legislature was called, with the outlook that a State prohibition law would be passed there was a disposition here to see what that body would do, and if the law was passed there would be no need of holding an election here. But the caucus of the legislature decided, instead of passing the law, to submit it to a vote of the people of the State at an election on a date to be later determined upon.

Since the legislature has decided this course Greenville had as well go on and hold a local election on the question. Then if the entire State does not adopt prohibition Greenville can have it anyway.
The petition for the election will be heard by the board of aldermen Thursday night, and the election should be called.

State Railway Figures.

Clerk Henry Clay Brown, of the corporation commission, gives out some interesting figures about the railways in the State. The present mileage is 4,106, the increase in twelve months being 148, of this the Norfolk & Southern contributing 97. The earnings totalled $28,291,740 of which the Atlantic Coast Line shows $7,257,822; the Seaboard Air Line, $4,079,013; the Southern, $12,617,883; miscellaneous roads, $3,440,206. The taxes paid last year totalled $708,904, of which the Coast Line paid $228,796; the Seaboard Air Line, $122,081; the Southern, $288,542; miscellaneous roads, $67,804.

Democratic Caucus Decides to Submit Question at Election.
Last night the Democratic caucus of the House and Senate, acting separately, decided to pass a State Prohibition law to become effective when ratified by the vote of a majority of the people of the State.
The Republican members have not held any caucus yet, but it was stated by a leading Republican last night that a majority of the Republicans in the Legislature were in favor of a straight Prohibition law.
The only matters yet to be decided are the character of the bill to be submitted and the time when the vote shall be taken. There was much sentiment expressed last night in favor of an early election, say in May before any primaries are held or political campaign opens. Some suggested August as the time for holding the election. It is the best season if it did not come so near the regular elections. That is a matter that will be settled later.
There are those who preferred a straight Prohibition law or no action but the sentiment in the Legislature was pronounced in opposition to any action without submission to the people of the whole State.
The result came after a long session of both bodies and long debate. The matter of the right sort of a law is now of prime importance. It will be necessary to have the right sort of law.—Raleigh News and Observer.
