SCHOOL OPENS AT GRIMESLAND

The Fall Session Began on Last Monday Morning

LARGE NUMBER OF STUDENTS

People of Section Will Petition Legislature for Bond Issue Election to Build More Room.

With an attendance that exceeded sixty-five on the first day, and which has been growing since that time, the graded school at Grimesland opened last Monday for the session of 1913-14. The attendance this year was far above that of last year for the opening date, and the prospects for a good session are the best that have faced the school in many years.

The school is this year in charge of the lady principal, Misses Loarnee Britt and Louise Dell Pittman. All of the teachers are well prepared and especially fitted for the work of teaching the young people committed to their charge, and are working to make a successful year for the school in every respect.

The people of Grimesland are very proud of their school. The present quarters that are being used for the children are entirely inadequate, and the people realize this and expect to remedy it. The extra version of the legislature will be asked to grant them permission to issue bonds to build a modern up-to-date six room school building, the material to be of brick. If permission is granted by the legislature for this purpose, and it is not doubtful that the general assembly will grant the request of these people, the election will be held as soon as possible, and the bonds issued immediately. If prompt action is taken, the people hope to have the building ready for use by the session of 1914-1915. If the new building is ready by that time, there will be an abundance of room for the accommodation of the students that will desire admission, and it is not unlikely that additions will be made to the teaching force at that time.

TOMORROW THE SHIPS WILL BEGIN PRACTICE

Thirteen Men-of-War Now Assembled at Hampton Roads Start Gun Practice.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 9.—Elementary gun practice by thirteen battleships now assembled at Hampton Roads, will begin Thursday morning. When this is completed, probably in about a week, the ships will go to their home yards for docking, preparatory to their steaming trials.

The division practice for vessels of the Atlantic fleet will be held from October 12th to 18th. At the same time the Connecticut, Vermont, Virginia, and Florida, which are now being overhauled, will conduct their elementary firing, their division practice having been deferred.

The South Carolina, New Hampshire, Michigan, and Louisiana have completed elementary torpedo practice in Mexican waters, where they are now stationed. They will have their elementary practice with guns in November after their return to the North.

The destroyers and submarines of the Atlantic fleet will base on Gardner's Bay late this month to complete elementary torpedo practice in that vicinity.

THE FIGHT FOR THE PEOPLE AND FREE BUSINESS HAS BEEN WON

Democratic Party Has Reason to be Very Proud of Its Leadership and Steadfastness

DECLARES PRESIDENT WILSON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—President Wilson tonight issued the following statement:

"A fight for the people for free business which has lasted a long generation through has at last been won, handsomely and completely. A leadership and a steadfastness in counsel has been shown in both houses, of which the Democratic party has reason to be very proud. There has been no weakness or confusion or drawing back, but a statesman like direction and command of circumstances I am happy to have been connected with the government of the nation at a time when such things could happen and to have worked in association with men who could do them.

"There is every reason to believe that currency reform will be carried through with equal energy, directness and loyalty to the general interest. When that is done, this first session of the Sixty-Third congress will have passed into history with an unrivalled distinction.

Hurrah for Simmons and Underwood! "I want to express my special admiration for the devoted, intelligent and untiring work of Mr. Underwood and Mr. Simmons and the committee associated with them."

When the president was asked to comment on the votes of Senator LaFollette and Senator Poindexter, he expressed very warm admiration for their conscientious independence and courage.

The president, while always confident that the democratic majority would be kept intact to insure the passage of the bill by a safe margin, had been hoping for the votes of Progressive Republicans. He told some of his friends tonight that the Democratic party is progressive.

Personally the president felt happy over the result. He had returned from the golf links when Secretary Tumulty, who had been an eager auditor in the senate gallery, drove rapidly to the White House, and beaming with smiles told the president of the vote.

"Great," was the president's first remark as he went to his study and telephoned Chairman Simmons his congratulations.

GUILTY IF HE RELIES ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

LONDON, Sept. 8.—That a father is guilty of manslaughter following the death of his child, if he relies solely on the services of a Christian Scientist practitioner during serious illness, was decided today by Justice Rowlatt in Central Criminal court. Though the case was actually tried the defendant was acquitted because the charge wasn't technically proved.

A verdict of manslaughter was returned August 9th by the coroner's jury against Benjamin Jewell, whose seven-year-old daughter died of diphtheria, while undergoing Christian Science treatment. Jewell today declared he wasn't aware the child was suffering from diphtheria. The justice directed the jury to acquit, because of insufficient evidence, but, turning to the defendant, he declared emphatically:

"If this case had been proved, I certainly would have passed a heavy sentence, Christian Science or no Christian Science."

Wild West Show to be in Greenville on 17 of September

The first and only big show to come to Greenville this year is the Young Buffalo Wild West, Vernon C. Seaver's Hippodrome and Col. Cummins Far East which will show here on Wednesday, September 17th.

This is an amusement enterprise that is absolutely unique for it consists of a wild west show, combined with a regular circus, Vernon C. Seaver's Hippodrome. This is the first year of the combination and together with the Far East section the united shows are carried in a train of forty cars. The exhibition has a seating capacity of ten thousand, every seat well protected from inclement weather proof canvas.

The Hippodrome section makes it possible to present splendid scenic spectacles of unusual grandeur and beauty in an exhibition of this sort.

Hundreds of cowboys and cowgirls, scouts, plainsmen, vaqueros and rufes, together with performers from Russia, Arabia, Japan and representatives of nearly every other nation are presented on the program in a series of sensational and daring feats of strength and agility. Through-out the twenty-two numbers the performance smacks of novelty and originality from the opening to the closing features.

Among the numbers calculated to amuse and guaranteed as dispellers of gloom is "The Dance of the Jungle," a terschorean revel that is entirely new and said to be one of the most laughable creations ever devised. "The Taximeter" is another imported European novelty as is also "The Bounding Hayrack" a contrivance of rural simplicity. A number of other comedy turns are of equal merit.

The Wild West section is headed by a star of international renown, Annie Oakley, holder of the title of champion rifle and wing shot of the world, and Young Buffalo himself. Annie Oakley is undoubtedly the best shot in the world. At a recent rifle meet in Madison Square Garden, she defended her title in most satisfactory manner.

In the Far East contingent will be seen scores of Cossacks in marvelous riding and shooting exhibitions. There will be groups of Cingalese, Arabs, Moaris, Hindoos, Japanese and numerous orientals of other races. Altogether the Wild West, Hippodrome, and Far East this year far exceed any previous efforts of the owners of these big shows.

The street parade, over a mile in length, will leave the show grounds promptly at 10:30 o'clock the day of the show. The doors will open at 1 and 7 o'clock and the performance commence an even hour later.

Suicide Near Falkland.

Delayed reports reached here Saturday of the suicide Thursday night of Bryant Williams, a negro living near Falkland. No reasons were given as to why the negro man should have attempted such a rash deed, but he came to his end by the pistol route, shooting himself through the head after he and his wife had gone to bed for the night.

The negro man was subject to attacks of insanity, and had been known to have slight trouble from this source at other times. While walking along the road he sometimes would become very much frightened, thinking that something was after him, and that he was trying to free himself from the clutch of some sort of an animal.

Last Weeks Storm was the Worst that ever Visited This Section

Leaving death and destruction in its path and causing hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of damage, a storm said to be the worst and most severe that has ever visited this section broke over Eastern North Carolina shortly after midnight Tuesday, and lasted until far in the morning on Wednesday. No estimate of the damage wrought has as yet been attempted, or at least any that can be relied upon as anywhere near accurate. News from every section out from Greenville is that the storm is the worst ever known, and that the damage and toll of life is appalling in every respect.

Business in Greenville was totally paralyzed for the greater part of the day Wednesday, and but very few people attempted to carry on their affairs as under circumstances that might be considered as normal. Workmen in every vocation and in every line of employment have been busily engaged almost ever since day break yesterday, or since the storm ceased, trying to repair the damage as best they can. But, notwithstanding all this, there is scarcely any sort of a business enterprise in this town or in neighboring towns that has resumed its normal operations.

The first knowledge of any serious disturbance Tuesday night came shortly after midnight when residents all over town were awakened by the howling of the wind around the corner, and driving rain that was being driven on by the wind in its fury. This condition of the elements was kept up continuously, increasing in its strength and never abating, until after ten o'clock Wednesday morning. At that time the rain partially, and later totally, ceased, and the wind grew lesser in its fury. It was not until this time, when people were able to get out and walk over town, that anything of the extent of the damage was learned.

Giant trees in the yards of citizens and on many of the streets of the town were twisted from their trunks or torn up by the roots. Limbs and sprigs from the trees literally showered forth through the air, and streets in every direction were covered with debris. Passages, both streets and sidewalks all over town were blocked by the falling of trees across them, and traffic, and in many instances, the passing of people, was almost impossible. Dickinson avenue in the vicinity of the Presbyterian church and the Higgs-Taft Furniture Company was covered by water more than two feet deep during the morning Wednesday and no passing by foot was possible until some outlet was found for the water.

An unlimited number of stores and business firms in the town, as well as manufacturing plants, were put out of business yesterday, and some of them has not yet recovered. The local telephone exchange was entirely put out of business for the greater part of yesterday, and for some time there was not a single connection made in town. All wires were down in every section, and a force of hands was immediately set to work making repairs. All of the wires of the Western Union and the Postal Telegraph companies were down, and communication with the outside world was absolutely impossible all day yesterday. At a late hour today neither the telegraph companies nor the telephone exchange have been able to get any long distance connections.

All trains going and coming were running late, though on the Atlantic Coast Line ran behind only a few minutes. Their trains, however, were operated for the most part without dispatches. Norfolk Southern train due here Wednesday morning at 3:43 o'clock did not run until late in the afternoon, and the morning train from Raleigh, due here at 9:38 a. m., did not reach town until between two and three o'clock in the afternoon. No trains on this road have been able to go beyond Chocowinity, and a temporary schedule has been put into operation to last for several weeks until repairs can be made on the eastern end of the line.

The office of The Reflector was so badly damaged that no paper could be issued Wednesday. The wind blew off the most of the tin roof, allowing the rain to come through into the shop in the mechanical department of the plant. It soaked the floor and went through into the press room, in to the editorial office, the Western Union, and the office of Moseley Brothers, doing damage wherever it went. The stock of paper and the plant of The Reflector company was damaged to the extent of several hundreds of dollars, though it was at first thought to be above the thousand dollar mark. When the employees of the company arrived at the shop early in the morning to begin work, water was standing on the floor about four inches deep. The big newspaper press was covered up, as was also the linotype machine, and all of the job presses. A window sash was blown out on the north side of the building, the big mass falling on the stones and piecing type that had required much time to set, and forms which were ready to go on the presses for job work.

Smoke stacks at several of the manufacturing plants over town were blown down, principally those of the Greenville Cooperage Company. The stack at the ice factory was blown down, striking other missiles which fell up on the negro fireman, making a large hole in his head, and injuring his shoulder to a considerable extent. So far as has been learned, this is the only injury that has resulted from the storm, and no deaths at all have been reported.

Otis L. Adams' carnival, now filling an engagement of one week in this town, was but one of the heaviest losers in Greenville. The big ferris wheel is a complete wreck, and the top on the merry-go-round was blown off. The tents were badly damaged, and the company otherwise greatly inconvenienced. Notwithstanding all this, however, the shows was not altogether put out of commission are still running, and crowds are patronizing the amusement stands.

Though the electric light wires were down all over town Wednesday morning at the time the storm ceased its raging, the steady, persistent work of Manager Allen and his force made it possible for the current to be turned into nearly all of the homes of the town last night, and but very little inconvenience was felt because of this. The men waded through water to their knees in some places in an effort to repair the damage and to get things in shape for giving service to the patrons of the company last night. The force did not attempt to put the street lights into commission, and these were in total darkness all night. Wires sputtering and burning were noticed in many places, though nothing has been heard of any one being injured because of having come into contact with a live wire.

No little inconvenience has been felt by the people of the town because of the irregularity of the handling of the mails, due to the bad schedules of the trains. Not even the railroads have any telegraph wires in operation, and nothing can be learned as to whether or not the trains will run on time, and consequently put the mails here on schedule time.

Damage in Washington

The town of Washington is cut off completely from communications with the outside world save only as people cross the river in water craft, and that sort of passing at this time is very slow. What is known of the damage that has been done has come almost entirely from people who have come here from Washington. It is said that all of the bridges, those of both the railroads, are washed away, and that no trains have run into the town since the storm came. Water has been up in the streets in nearly every section of the town, and the total extent of the damage has not been learned at this time.

Miss Amine King left this morning for Raleigh to attend the opening of Peace Institute.

Mr. O. L. Joyner's Views on the Marketing of Tobacco

It is not always safe to judge the tobacco market by the way tobacco starts off at the opening sale. For the last several years the market has opened pretty strong and gone gradually higher throughout the main selling season. This has resulted in general satisfaction and has been much better for both the farmer and the buyer but some years back, for instance, 1902, the market started strong and rapidly grew stronger until about the middle of September, when it began to ease off and went lower and lower until along toward the last of the season it was difficult to sell it at any price. I hope we shall never experience this condition again. The best way to rear the future is in the light of the past and when we compare conditions in the tobacco world then and now we will find no such condition existing.

Eastern North Carolina has been producing for several years prior to 1902 from 60 to 80 million pounds of tobacco from which cigarettes were principally made. On account of legislation against manufactured cigarettes chiefly the consumption had fallen off until 1902 when only about three and one half million cigarettes were consumed in the United States. In 1902, eastern North Carolina alone produced over one hundred million pounds. This in conjunction with the decreased consumption of our tobacco produced utter demoralization and the bottom actually fell out of the market for bright tobacco. There was on hand at this time many millions of pounds of bright tobacco for which there was actually no market. Dealers had their money all practically tied up and manufacturers were carrying large surplus stocks. There was but one remedy and that was to cut back the production. The price at which the market opened in 1903 and continued for the most part throughout the season, certainly had the desired effect and the tobacco acreage began to be cut until in a few years the production had fallen to about one half a normal crop. In 1902, eastern North Carolina alone produced over one hundred million pounds. There are nearly four times as many cigarettes consumed now as in 1902, and there is no prospect of a big yield this year. On the contrary it will be lighter weight. Therefore, in the light of these known facts the price of tobacco should be high and pay the growers a profit. If present conditions don't give us high prices I know of no influence that will.

I have always been a booster for high prices for the farmers tobacco. The manufacturer can pay the farmer a profit and sell the manufactured product so that the burden of high prices, if it be a burden, will be borne by the consumer. If there is any class of farmers in this world entitled to liberal compensation for their labor it is the tobacco farmer. There is no crop in this country that calls for more constant persistent attention, more hard arduous work than the tobacco crop. I know whereof I speak.

Filter is Improved.

Sufficient improvements have been made at the water plant to furnish enough water for the use of the citizens of the town until better and more permanent improvements can be made. The proper authorities are now working on the matter, and in a few days material will be here and the plant will be competent of supplying all the water that may be needed.

The British Medical Association is seriously considering the advisability of organizing as a labor union.

SIX GALLONS OF LIQUOR CAPTURED

Sheriff Dudley in Exciting Chase Early Sunday Morning

BUT THE "TIGER" ESCAPED

The Race Extended Over Several City Blocks After a Record Run Over the River Bridge.

Though failing to get his man, Sheriff S. C. Dudley nabbed the goods shortly after midnight Sunday morning when he captured six gallons of booze after a long chase across the river bridge and around one of the blocks in town. The chase occurred just after the long session of court adjourned, and while Sheriff Dudley was on his way home.

With another man in his automobile with him, he had just crossed the bridge on the north side. A buggy passed them, and as it faded away in the darkness the sheriff's partner told him that it was a load of spirits. The officer kind that is often handed out behind closed doors. Taking chances with luck, the officer turned his machine around on the narrow part of the dam a few feet off the bridge, and started after his man. In the meantime, however, the buggy with the liquor had been making good time towards town and across the bridge. The sheriff pulled his spark to the limit, and came across the bridge as though he were somewhat of a Barney Oldfield and an old hand at the wheel.

He struck the hill just to the south of the bridge, but his trusty benzine wagon did not halt in her onward rush. The man in the buggy reached Second street and turned to the left, the sheriff close behind him. The chase lasted one block more when the pursued man turned again towards the river, and headed back in the direction of Pitt street. When he reached Pitt street, he turned into the road again, and finally started around the block once more. During the race, the sheriff had to mend his machine for a few moments two or three times, but nevertheless kept on after his man. The last lap of the struggle led the trusty flier up S. cond street to Washington where the man in the buggy turned toward the river. Just at this point the case containing the fire water was thrown into the middle of the road in front of the sheriff's machine, presumably in an effort to stop him. Feeling that the better course would be to pick up the matter that was thrown overboard, the officer stopped and took on what had been delivered to him, and upon examination found that there is as much as six gallons in all, fifty pints and twenty-four half pints.

The sheriff never did get his man, but he has not given up the chase. He believes that he knows the man in the buggy. The amount of liquor was shipped to him at House station, and upon inquiry at the express office there, Mr. Dudley saw that the amount had been shipped to the man suspected, and that he recognized for it. All that remains is for him to locate the guilty party, and the officers are now at work on some clue as to his whereabouts, since he left these parts shortly after his exciting chase with the sheriff.

FAMILY POISONED BY IMPURE CREAM

Entire Family of Mr. J. J. Caraway Is Affected

Ice Cream Was Made of Condensed Milk From Which the Poison Is Said To Have Come.

Poison from impure ice cream came very near to causing the death of an entire family on the farm of Mr. G. H. Munford Friday night. The seven members of Mr. J. J. Caraway's family were the unfortunate people to be incovenienced by the poisonous substance, and one or two members were so seriously affected that it was for a while thought that they would never survive the illness.

It appears that the cream was eaten by the family on Thursday night. No evil effects were noted before late Friday evening. At that time Mrs. Caraway became affected, and Dr. Ward, of Robersonville, was summoned to attend her. While he was in the home the other members of the family were taken sick, and in the course of a very few hours every member of the household was taken seriously ill.

Mr. Munford stated this morning that he was at Mr. Caraway's home yesterday, and that most of the members of the family were greatly improved, and that Mrs. Caraway was a great deal better than she was on Friday night.

The illness of the people was not caused by the quantity of the cream that they ate, but by some sort of a poison that was in the cream. It is believed that the impurities came from the milk that was used, or at least from the cream that contained it. The milk was the canned quality and was thought to be all right when put in the ice cream.

Christian Preacher Delivers Final Sermon and Leaves For Alabama

Gov. Jarvis and Mr. F. M. Wooten Form Law Partnership

Rev. Horace Settle, a young preacher who has been supplying the Christian church at Mt. Pleasant for the past year, Sunday night at the local Christian church preached his farewell sermon in North Carolina, and will leave immediately for Alabama where he goes to take charge of a church. During the time that he has served Mt. Pleasant church, he has done a great work among the people of that section. He was a man well loved by the membership of his church, and the people of the community in general. He had come to be known among the members of the Christian church in other parts of the county than that where he has lived and labored, and has many warm friends in Greenville.

His final sermon was preached in the Christian church last night, his subject being "Christ, the Messiah," and those who heard it were of the opinion that it was one of the greatest efforts of the young man's ministry thus far. It was full of thought and contained ideas that were of the kind to make people think.

Mr. Settle graduated from Atlanta Christian College in Wilson last year, and has had charge of the Mount Pleasant church since that time. Many friends will regret to see him leave this state, but will be glad to learn that his meritorious work has attracted attention, and that he has been called to a larger field of labor.

Work of Widening Pitt Street Started Today

Workmen began this morning on the new project of widening Pitt street. Ground was first broken on the south end of the street where it joins Dickinson avenue, and the force will move from that place to the river bridge. A large force of hands is being employed, and those in charge will push the work to an early completion as possible. The fence on the left side of the street is to be removed, as it stands in the way of the improvements that are to be made. By the time the work is completed, this street will be one of the finest in town. It is proposed to have it rounded off and put in excellent shape so as to accommodate all the traffic that may move over it. Many of the telephone and electric light poles will have to be moved further in so as to make room for the widening, but this will cause but little delay in the progress of the improvements that are to be made.

Rev. J. J. Walker Preaches Able Sermon at the Methodist Church

At the request of the membership of the church, and being able to do it because of visiting preachers in town at his own church, Rev. J. J. Walker, pastor of the Christian church, filled the pulpit at the Jarvis Memorial Methodist church Sunday morning. The well known Christian preacher talked to a large and appreciative congregation, and one that gave him the best attention. His subject was one that is always close to the heart of all Christian people, it being "A Declining Conscience," a subject which Mr. Walker used at his own church a few weeks ago, and that with good effect.

Gov. Jarvis and Mr. F. M. Wooten Form Law Partnership

Announcement is made today of the formation of a new law partnership in Greenville, N. C., between Gov. Jarvis and Mr. Alex. L. Blow to the clerkship of the federal court of Eastern North Carolina, which appointment took effect last night. During the greater portion of the time since he was appointed to the new position, Mr. Blow has been in Raleigh looking after the duties of his office and getting acquainted with the work that he will have to do.

The old firm was one of the best known in the eastern part of the state, and it was also one of the very oldest. Governor Jarvis and Mr. Blow had been partners in the practice of their profession more than twenty-three years, and during that time had built up a practice which was a credit to both. Their clientele was composed of some of the finest and best people in the county.

The transfer of the office of Governor Jarvis to the new location marks the beginning of the practice of the new firm of Jarvis and Wooten. Mr. F. M. Wooten, the other member of the new firm, is well known in Greenville and throughout Pitt county. He has for a long while taken a prominent part in the affairs of the town, and has just retired from a most successful term as mayor of the town. The two attorneys will form a strong partnership.

JURY ACQUITTED JASPER GRANTHAM

Negro Was Charged With Burning Oil Mill Last Winter

Verdict on Sunday Morning

Case Consumed All of Day Saturday and Was Given to the Jury Shortly Before the Midnight Hour.

"Not guilty" was the verdict rendered Sunday morning by the jury in the case of Jasper Grantham, colored, charged with the setting fire to the plant of the Pitt county oil mill last December. It was one of the most interesting cases tried in this county not only at this term of court, but at any time in recent years and required as much time as any during the late session of superior court. It was the last case on the docket that was tried at last week's session, and the final scene was not closed until the time the jury rendered a verdict between nine and ten o'clock Sunday morning.

The case was called for trial early Saturday morning, and counsel on both sides announced that they were ready. Grantham was represented by Mr. Abbot Dunn, and Mr. H. S. Ward, of Washington, while Solicitor C. L. Athnethy was assisted by Messrs F. G. and J. B. James. All of the morning the jury held their sessions, and until fifteen minutes before midnight were consumed by the attorneys on both sides. Evidence was taken, and every attorney on both sides of the case spoke and presented his phase of the case.

Grantham was tried on circumstantial evidence, and was acquitted, the jury holding that they were not satisfied "beyond a reasonable doubt" that the negro was guilty of the crime with which he was charged. The case went to the jury a little after midnight, after Judge Whedbee had delivered his charge to the twelve men who were to decide upon the fate of the man charged with the destruction of the plants. Several times before the plant was burned it was set afire, but in each instance the fire was discovered extinguished before any considerable damage was done.

The verdict of the jury in declaring Grantham not guilty ends the case, and brings to a close the case which has been on the docket here for a long time. It was first tried in the April term of court, but a mistrial was the result, and the negro was remained in jail to await the August term.

LIND STILL IN VERA CRUZ AWAITING INSTRUCTIONS Consul's Office Beseled by Americans Who Seek Information About President's Warning.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 29.—The failure of John Lind, personal representative of President Wilson, to return to the capital from Vera Cruz is taken here to indicate that Washington and Mexico are agreed on one thing at least, namely, that there is no good to be accomplished by the trip. Mr. Lind is still in Vera Cruz awaiting instructions. The Mexican government has made no further proposal or concession to the United States.

HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE After Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Catron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Estelle Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side. The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good, and I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair. At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without its tiring me, and am doing all my work." If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 50 years of continuous success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. He will recommend it. Begin taking Cardui today.

THE COST OF IT.

A business man could not be found in Greenville who does not believe that perhaps the greatest need of the town is more room for people to live. There should be a greater supply of dwelling houses here, and no one denies this fact. Several men with their families are living here now waiting for vacancies in houses so that they might be able to find a place to call home.

When questioned the other day as to why he did not invest his money in dwelling houses instead of putting up a store building, one of the business men of the town replied that there was no money in dwelling houses. He said that by the time the owner paid the cost of the erection of the building, kept up the insurance, and paid his tax, he had spent just about all that he received for the rent of his property. We are disposed to believe that this man had to say, but if this be true as he says, then something is wrong somewhere. Such a condition of affairs as this has never existed before. Times are few when a house will not rent for what it is worth, and when a man cannot make money on his property.

The trouble is not in the prices paid for the rent of houses in this town, for if these were increased to a much greater figure, all of us might in a few years save up enough money to build a home of our own, and not be bothered about rent. Might we lay the blame at the door of the town and say that the tax rate is too high? And yet, when we do this, we must face the proposition of the upkeep of the town and the expense that must be met in the government of our community. This we cannot afford to neglect. We ourselves voted to saddle upon the town the indebtedness and the expense that it must face and we are they who must shoulder the burden.

The place for the blame to be laid is at the door of the insurance companies, and yet even at its high rate, it does not amount to so much that the rent should be affected as it is. And, in some instances, there is no insurance, still the rent is just as high. Where is the trouble? We must confess that it is our opinion that if there is no money in renting houses in Greenville, it is the first town we have seen in which this is the case. If it pays in other towns, why should it not pay here? And if it does pay here, why is it that our business men are so blind as not to see it and to know that there is money in such an investment? Again a confession on our part, and this time to the effect that the problem is too much for us to solve.

One thing certain, however, and that is that unless more room is provided here, the growth of the town will be stunted, and the progress and prosperity of the community will be set back a decade or more. If houses must rent at a loss to the owner, then our real estate men must pay the price and make more room for additional people to come here, or else the business of the town must suffer very stringent limitations, and will never be able to ETATIO ETATIO will never be able to expand as it should.

This weather is just a little taste of what is coming.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

There have been very few Sundays during the long summer months that have found the coors of all Greenville's churches open for the regular Sunday services. At various times nearly every pastor in the town has been away, and some churches have been without ordained leaders. Owing to the absence of the preachers, some of the churches have been forced to close their doors.

We know, of course, that this could not in many cases be avoided, but at the same time it is of the opinion that no good has resulted from this condition of affairs. Those who care to do so may say that one may be a Christian away from the church as well as at the church, and that he does not have to be a regular attendant upon the services to be faithful and loyal but it might not be a wild venture to say that because of the scarcity of services some of the people have drifted into the habit of caring but little whether or not they go to church.

On yesterday, for example, only two churches held services, and by all they had seating capacity for perhaps not more than five hundred people. Room for only one-tenth of the people of the town in church on the Sabbath day. What did the other nine-tenths do during the church hours? The fall of the year is now upon us, and our preachers will be returning from their vacations. Let's open the doors of our churches and have places where the weary and care worn pilgrim along the way of life may find a place of refuge and comfort for at least twice on Sunday.

FOLLOW UP.

Acting upon the suggestions of Dr. H. R. Carter, the government expert who recently visited that town, the town authorities of New Bern have ordered several ponds and creeks in and about the place drained and cleaned up. The people of New Bern were anxious to have the noted government expert visit their town and are showing their appreciation of the services rendered by him in following up his visit by taking his advice in some of the suggestions that he made. The trip was arranged by Congressman Small at a great expense, and in many of the towns of the eastern part of the state, it seems that what has been started as a result of his visit is less than enough to warrant the expense of the trip.

What has Greenville done? Dr. Carter came here as one of the first towns on the list originally prepared by the government health department, and our people have had ample time and opportunity to take action in the matters mentioned by Dr. Carter. Why then these big men to the town if none of their suggestions or their advice is to be heeded? If we do not intend to pay any attention to him, then let's notify the government to send its experts somewhere they will be appreciated when hereafter they have anything to offer us.

Of course, there is no great pond of stagnant water inside the city limits, but there are suggestions that were made by Dr. Carter which, as a town, we should do well to follow. The proper authorities ought to take notice of these matters.

THE NEED IS IMPERATIVE.

In spite of all that has been said and written, and in the face of the ever-increasing demand for lodging accommodations in this town, the moneyed men seem to turn a deaf ear to the call that is being made. It would seem that if ever there was a chance for the investment of capital wherein a handsome profit might be realized, it is right now.

It seems that the matter is now getting to that stage where it is more than a business proposition, and that something should be done in the interest of the town. People will not always come here and want to find homes and places of residence, and then leave because they can't get accommodations. If this thing keeps on in its present course, the time will come when people will no longer come and when, if seeking homes, they will turn their eyes in another direction. We have here a good town, and one that is growing and that deserves to grow, but it will be set back in its progress at least ten years if the condition continues so that no man can find a home here.

A SIGN OF PROGRESS.

The opening this morning of another bank in Greenville only spells progress for this town. If there is another town in North Carolina with five thousand population that has three banks, we challenge her to speak up. We believe that there is none to answer. But our credit is not so much in standing alone of the others as it is in being able to handle sufficient business here to require a third banking institution.

And then, if there is anything in the location of a business firm or corporation, the new bank should have easy sailing. More of the business of the town that one would at first think is done on the west end of Dickinson avenue, especially at this season of the year when the tobacco season is on at full blast, and when tobacco is bringing such high prices. And then, some of the town's strongest business firms are located in that section, and a large proportion of the laboring class. We wish for the new enterprise the best of success.

The superintendent of the Durham county home justly condemns the recent marriage of two of the inmates of the institution on the ground that it is no place for the rearing of families. Not satisfied with what the county is doing for them, these people seem to want to take advantage of the good old county of Durham.

The Wilmington Dispatch says that Wilmington is daily adding to her population by the coming of folks from other towns and states to take up their abode and to do business in that city. The same might be said of Greenville if it were possible for people to get places to live after they reach town.

Victoriano Huerta, provisional president of Mexico, has finally announced that he would not be a candidate for president of the republic at the regular election. Guess the old man held out as long as he thought there was any chance for him, and that is more than can be said of a great many people.

Durham papers are bragging on the sales there Friday of a hundred thousand pounds of tobacco. That is pretty good, but what would those people say and think if they had what we have down here and could dispose of between six and seven hundred pounds in one day, and that at a price averaging about eighteen cents.

It now looks as though Felix Diaz is going to have it all to himself in the race for the presidency of Mexico. But old man Felix ought to know that even if he gets it without opposition, there is no telling how long he will be able to hold it that way.

A date for a hearing has been set in the interest of a pardon for Rev. R. L. Davis, superintendent of the state Anti-Saloon League, and Governor Craig will certainly not be availing this privilege when he overrules the biased opinion of the Wake jury that convicted the minister.

In quoting the press of the country in regard to the sugar tariff, it is interesting to note that the sugar interests are careful to get those papers that are known to be Republican, or in some respects leaning that way.

From this time on until Thanksgiving the public will be dragged and worried to death by these college or repondents telling about football and college athletes in general.

Since the improvements that have been made on Pitt street, even a stranger would never recognize it as the same old thoroughfare.

WINTERVILLE

WINTERVILLE, Sept. 10.—Mr. M. B. Bryan left here Monday for Greenville where he has taken a position as assistant cashier in the Farmers' New Bank.

A. W. Ange and Company have received a shipment of about four hundred cases of "Ham-Sucker" buggy manufactured by the A. C. Cox Manufacturing Co., Winterville, N. C., warrants that you get these when you buy a buggy from them.

So long as the newspapers of the country keep within their rights and do not overstep their privilege, the Japanese government will have nothing to gain by suppressing them.

The new dreadnaught North Carolina is one of the navies of the world, but no ship, however large, can hold that distinction long at a time these days.

Several big two-masted schooners which were lying in the sound at Beaufort were badly whipped around by the wind, and damage to them will amount to right much of a figure. One of the schooners broke away from two anchors, and turned over in the sound, while others were blown into very serious condition.

The Atlantic City at Morehead City was damaged other than to have several chimneys blown in, and a portion of the long porch wrecked in a small way. Mr. Wooten said that about the only damage to the town was to the Morehead where a number of chimneys were blown over, and other such minor damages as was that. The long trestle of the Norfolk Southern over the sound was not damaged, though the railroad company was not allowed to use before Thursday afternoon.

None of the big timbers were washed away, and the bridge is now being used regularly by the trains that are being operated over that branch of the road. Mr. Wooten says that the base was so dense that it was impossible to see the inlet, where the storm and the ocean meet, and that for that reason it was impossible to ascertain just whether or not the surf was very turbulent. He stated, however, that it was very rough on Tuesday afternoon at a time about six or eight hours before the storm struck the coast.

From information that has been gathered to the present time it seems that the center of the storm was confined to the country about Washington and the Pamlico sound. It is known that the greatest damage was done in that section.

Norfolk Thursday Trains Operated by Choctawhatchee to New Bern.—Schedule of Trains
Cooperation and exchange of runs by the trains of Norfolk Southern and Atlantic Coast Line railroads have been brought about by the damage wrought in various places on the lines of the two roads that run through the sections affected by the wind and rain of last week. The Norfolk Southern's trains through the Norfolk are operated over the Coast Line from Greenville to Plymouth and return, thence on to Norfolk over the Norfolk Southern.

An exchange has been made whereby the Coast Line operates its trains on the Vandemere section from Vandemere to Choctawhatchee, and from there to Greenville, where it again connects with the Coast Line, the run from Choctawhatchee to Greenville being over the Norfolk Southern lines.

Every means of cooperation is being used by the agents of the two roads to help the other this is being done. It will be remembered that the Atlantic Coast Line lost a bridge at Washington and that for that reason it is impossible for the road to use its line from Washington to Vandemere. Connection, therefore, however, can be made at Choctawhatchee to Greenville.

The two night trains, carrying Pullman sleeping cars are being handled into Greenville over a round-about schedule. The 1:17 train from Raleigh is taken on to New Bern and stopped there and it is understood that the train for the west is operated the same way. The schedule has been very much muddled because of the inconvenience caused from the destruction of the bridges of the roads, but these inconveniences are being overcome as rapidly as possible.

The Coast Line train from Vandemere to Greenville arrives at 10:30 a. m., and leaves at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

breaking several rafters, upsetting the ceiling and plastering. The rail drove into the dormitories, upsetting and damaging the ceiling and plastering badly. There were some ten or twelve shade-trees uprooted on the campus.

There was considerable damage done to fifteen hundred dollars damage done to the town at large. Some of the like seventy-five or a hundred shade trees have been uprooted, leaving the streets looking very badly with trees and electric wires strewn in the many directions. Owing to the condition of the wires there will not be any electric lights in town for a night or two. The roofing was partly blown from the North end of the depot. Several of the stores were slightly damaged in the front.

Crops, especially cotton, are reported to be badly damaged through their section.

Many Big Two-Masted Schooners Lying in the Harbor Were Swept From Their Wharves
Damage done in Beaufort and Morehead City by the storm Tuesday night and Wednesday morning was very slight, according to reports by Mr. John L. Aside from the blowing down of a few chimneys and the lifting of a few roofs by the strong wind, the principal damage was done to the boats that were lying at anchor in the harbor. REPAIR WORK AT GRADED SCHOOL

General Overhauling to be Made Before the Opening
EXPECT LARGE ATTENDANCE

Every Available Space to be Pressed Into Service to Care for Students Wanting Admission.

Preparations and general overhauling of the graded school building will be started as soon as workmen can be secured to make the necessary repairs. It is not proposed to make any repairs necessitating the service of a force of carpenters, but there is much work that will have to be done before the fall session is opened the latter part of this month.

Superintendent Taylor is busy every day now getting everything in readiness for the opening, and is very optimistic as to the bright prospects of a large number of students. Indeed so great is the number of young people expected that it is believed that the authorities will face a problem in finding places for them to be taken care of. Every space that can possibly be used will be turned over to the building to accommodate those who desire admission.

As soon as workmen can be secured the problem of rearranging the desks, and of setting up service positions will be tackled, this is to be done for the purpose of providing more room. The floors will be treated to some sort of coating, and all of the window glasses will be washed and cleaned. The blackboards will be cleaned, and all of the rooms fitted up with a good supply of chalk for use after the classes have started.

The office will very likely be rearranged, and the books will have to be dusted, and shined up for the use of the students who will make calls for them after they have got down to the work of the session.

The outside grounds at the school building present a much more beautiful and attractive appearance than they did before the last session came to a close. During the past few months Mr. Leslie White and his band of tree surgeons have done extensive work on the big trees in the grove, and this treatment has added much to the appearance of the giant trees.

ONE CASE IN MAYOR'S COURT THIS MORNING

Negro Was Charged With Disorderly Conduct, and Was Fined $2.50.—Happened in Negro Restaurant on Dickinson Avenue.
Only one case was tried in the mayor's court this morning, and there was but very little doing in the way of criminals. The case tried this morning was that of a negro man charged with disorderly conduct. The colored man was in a negro restaurant last night on Dickinson avenue, and by the sweet tones of some music was lulled to sleep. Another negro came along and roused the sleeping man from his peaceful slumbers, whereupon the guilty man began to fume and sputter and to shell forth profane language. He was arrested and brought before the mayor this morning on the charge of misconduct, and was fined $2.50.

The two night trains, carrying Pullman sleeping cars are being handled into Greenville over a round-about schedule. The 1:17 train from Raleigh is taken on to New Bern and stopped there and it is understood that the train for the west is operated the same way. The schedule has been very much muddled because of the inconvenience caused from the destruction of the bridges of the roads, but these inconveniences are being overcome as rapidly as possible.

Mr. D. J. Whitchard to Speak at Interstate Meet of Postmasters

A joint session of the association of postmasters of North Carolina and Virginia is to be held in Norfolk sometime during the latter part of the present month. It is expected that several hundred of the stamp-tickers from the two states will be on hand for the meeting and it is believed that a great convention of these men will result.

Speeches are to be made by representative members of the association from every part of the two states. Among those who have consented to make addresses is Postmaster D. J. Whitchard, hence the local office, who is one of the federal office holders called for under the editorial office to preside over the destinies of Uncle Sam's station in his home town. Mr. Whitchard's subject will be "Good Roads and How to Secure Them."

Letter from John H. Small

The following letter from Congressman John H. Small will explain to the readers of this paper just the reason why the congressman and the expert from the agricultural department failed to show up in Greenville to fulfill their engagements here on last Wednesday. They were delayed in Washington on account of the storm, and it is presumed that a new date will be arranged for sometime in the immediate future. The letter was delayed in its tardiness in appearing in the paper.

Washington, N. C., Sept. 3, 1913. To the Editor of The Reflector:
I regret exceedingly that the party of gentlemen from the Department and I could not reach Greenville today, which is the day of the Farmers' Meeting. It was impossible to do so. There were no trains out of Washington, N. C. this morning and the terrific storm forbade us driving by the vehicles. We had a big meeting here yesterday and all our party went to the Norfolk station at 6:50 this morning to take the train for Greenville, but the train could not cross the bridge over the river here and shortly thereafter the bridge was carried away.

There may not have been any citizens in attendance, but it was our duty to be on hand and only impossible obstacles prevented.

Sincerely,
JNO. H. SMALL.

Taking Calomel Means Staying Home for the Day—Take Dodson's Liver Tonic and Save a Day's Work.

If an attack of constipation or biliousness hits you, you need not take a dose of calomel and spend at least a day getting over the effects of it. Dodson's Pharmacy sells the Liver Tonic, Dodson's Liver Tonic, that takes the place of calomel and starts a lazy liver without any bad after-effects.

Dodson's Liver Tonic does all the good that calomel ever did, yet it is absolutely harmless to young people at all. It is a pleasant-tasting vegetable liquid that will relieve constipation or stomach or other troubles that result from a lazy liver. You don't leave off of any of the things you regularly do when you take Dodson's Liver Tonic.

Basnigh's Pharmacy sells Dodson's Liver Tonic and gives it a strong personal guarantee. They say, "A large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic sells for 50 cents and we will hand any person back his 50 cents if it does not bring relief, and if you are not pleased with it we will give your money back with a smile."

SOMETHING IN THE WIND IS SMACKING OF A NEW PROPOSAL

From Our Uncle Sam to the Huerta Esquadron Holding Fort at Mexico City

GREASERS SAID TO BE WILLING
The Mexican minister of foreign affairs, Senor Gamba, still denies knowledge of the reported official character of Senor De Zamacoana's visit to Washington. He pleaded ignorance of the American government's intention to make further overtures although he expressed the belief that such action on the part of the United States was not unlikely, as Mexico was without a rejoinder to her second note.

Mexico, he said, was willing, as always, to take under consideration any proposition which might be forthcoming. General Huerta and his minister are engaged in daily conferences over the character of the message which the provisional president is to deliver at the pending congress, September 16th. The message promises to be sensational, as it will deal extensively with the relations between Mexico and the United States. Senor Gamba has suspended his customary daily receptions to the public for the preparation of the message.

Rebel activity is reported in consular dispatches at several points. Six rebels with machine guns, Salinas, northwest of the city of San Luis Potosi, are said to have wiped out three small detachments of Federals.

Committee Gathering Information so as to be in Position to Act Wisely When Decision is Made.

Investigations are now being made by the committee appointed at the last regular monthly meeting of the county commissioners with regard to the proposals to improve or remove the county home. The committee appointed for that specific purpose has been looking about for sites that will be available for the location of the home in case it should be decided to remove the institution to a place near or town. Prices on all available lots are also being secured, so that when the time for action comes, and when the commissioners get ready to make a change, they may have before them all information necessary to making a wise decision in the matter.

Another committee, appointed for the purpose of visiting and inspecting other county homes in various sections of North Carolina, is at work. It has not been learned whether this committee has made any visits as yet, though if this has been done, nothing has been made public as to the inspections or the visits. The men who are to do this, however, are looking about and are trying to pick out the best homes and those which furnish the best models for convenience and comfort for the inmates.

It is believed that some sort of a report on the county home question will be forthcoming at the next regular meeting of the county commissioners to be held on Monday, October 6. Those advocating the improvements or the change in the form of management at the institution seem to be very much in earnest about the matter, and if nothing is said, they propose to appear before the board and request some information on the subject.

Since the agitation was first started, much sentiment has been aroused over the question, and the people of the town and county are anxious that something be done. Those who visited the county home have expressed themselves as being very much surprised at the intolerable conditions at the institution, and are among those most interested in the proposed removal or improvement.

Pitt county superior court for the September term, civil docket, will convene here next Monday morning. Judge H. W. Whedbee, of Greenville, will preside over the sessions.

FATHER, HIT BY SON, DIES.

Following altercation, Elderly Man is Knocked to Ground.

RUSHVILLE, Ind., Aug. 31.—William Price, 60 years old, former sheriff of Rush county and marshal of this city, is dead as a result of an altercation with his son, Erbie, aged 25, in this city today.

Price and his son, who lives at Fort Wayne, and who has been visiting his father for a week met in front of his father's drug store and became involved in a quarrel. Persons who saw them say the father was the aggressor and pushed his son off the sidewalk. The son at once retaliated and it is declared, by striking his father a blow on the neck. The father was knocked to the sidewalk and the authorities are not certain whether it was the blow or the fall that caused his death.

The coroner is making an investigation, and young Price will be held until the coroner's verdict is returned. Price died about 20 minutes after he fell to the sidewalk.

Pitt County Fair to be Held This Year on October 30-31

If the silence of the governing board of the Pitt County Fair Association during the last few months has created the impression that a fair might not be held this fall, those getting such an impression had as well put it out of their heads. The fair is going to be held, and it is going to be a good one, up to the standard of its predecessors.

The Gum warehouse, in which the fair was held last year, has been tendered the association for use again this year, and Thursday and Friday, October 30th and 31st, have been selected as the dates for the next fair. President R. Williams tells us that the premium list of the coming fair is nearly ready to be published and liberal prizes will be offered for exhibits.

The people should begin now planning their exhibits for the fair, and as the farmers are housing their crops during the next two months they should carefully lay aside the best of their products to put on exhibit.

Every department of the fair will be under the careful management of competent directors, and in addition to the splendid displays of farm and dairy products, live stock, poultry, women's work, machinery, etc., there will be educational and other features to make the fair pleasant and interesting to all who come.

Like the fairs held here in the last two years, the next one will be free from side shows and fakes of all kinds, and there will be no tricks or traps to catch the people and rob them of their money. It is going to be strictly a clean county fair, to give all who come a good time and make them glad to be here.

Now, everybody get to work in earnest to make the coming fair a success.

In Honor of Miss Kilpatrick.
WILLIAMSTON, Aug. 29.—On last Wednesday evening the beautiful and spacious home of Mr. M. D. Wilson was thrown open when Mrs. Albert Perry, Mr. Wilson's sister, entertained in honor of her niece, Miss Hilma Kilpatrick, of Smithfield, N. C. It was one of the most enjoyable events of the season. By 9 o'clock the host of young people began pouring in. In the hall they were met by Miss Sallie Hadley who introduced Miss Kilpatrick. The girls were ushered to the cloak room by Miss Perry. Then the guests were asked into the dining room, beautiful in its decoration of roses by Miss Hadley and Miss Perry. Here was served a delightful sandwich and salad course with pickles, olives and ice tea by Mrs. E. E. Powell and Mrs. Perry. After this they repaired to the parlor and played games. At eleven o'clock library and veranda where they talked they were asked back into the dining room again for cream and cake.

At a late hour the guests began to depart, each declaring they had spent a most enjoyable evening.

Furniture and its Makers

NO. 3. JEAN HENRI REISENER

Copyright 1913 by The Associated Newspaper School, Inc.

The early years of the life of Jean Henri Reiserer would seem to indicate that he was born under a lucky star. But long before his death, at the age of seventy-one in the first decade of the nineteenth century, his star had set. Before the outbreak of the French Revolution he commanded enormous prices for his work. One small table he constructed is said to have been sold for more than a thousand dollars. Yet in his old age he was only saved from utter ruin by his son, a portrait painter.

Often, the famous and successful furniture maker, under whose name the property and the fortune, died some widow, one of the largest work-shops in Paris and a large fortune. The young man promptly married the widow, and upon her death six years later came into possession of both the property and the fortune. Three years later he married the daughter of a citizen of Paris; but again his marriage proved of short duration, for after a few storm years of wedded life he took refuge in the new divorce laws of the country and returned again to the state of single blessedness.

Often, his master, had been commissioned by King Louis XV of France to make a bureau. King Louis was called the "well beloved," although he was really hated by the majority of his subjects. This bureau contributed greatly to Reiserer's fame; for its construction took three years, and often having died in the meantime, his pupil completed it.

The massive bronze doors of this royal bureau were ornamented with elaborate and intricately modeled figures, and the whole was fashioned after a complete and miniature model. The degree of craftsmanship that was brought to bear upon this historical piece of furniture was of such a character that a second bureau, built similarly, was begun and completed by a competitor before the original was finished.

Reiserer became a greater artist than his teacher Oben, and was recognized as one of the leading furniture makers of his time. His great activity is shown by the quantity and elaborate detail of the furniture he made.

At the beginning of the French Revolution evil days came upon Reiserer. Those wealthy customers who did not flee and who escaped the guillotine were made bankrupt. In 1793 he held a sale of his prized collection of furniture; but he was forced to buy most of it back himself. A little later he tried again to realize some money on the furniture; but this also was a failure.

His son, who had joined the army, returned to Paris and saved the aged furniture maker from starvation. Every day a different human interest story will appear in The Reflector. You can get a beautiful intaglio reproduction of the above picture, with five others, equally attractive, 7 x 9 1/2 inches in size, with this week's "Mentor". In "The Mentor" a well known authority covers the subject of the pictures and stories of the week. Readers of The Reflector and "The Mentor" will know Art, Literature, History, Science and Travel, and own exquisite pictures. On sale at the Reflector office and Ellington's Book Store. Price, Ten cents. Write today to The Reflector for booklet explaining The Associated Newspaper School plan.

GREENVILLE, N. C., Phone No. 32.

On next Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock there will assemble in the auditorium in the city of Raleigh a great concourse of business men from all parts of North Carolina. The purpose of the big gathering will be to consider and to discuss ways and means of reaching some sort of an agreement with the railroads doing business in this state whereby the manufacturers and shippers of North Carolina may have their freight hauled to its destination at a rate that is fair and reasonable. Many of the foremost men of the state will be at the meeting. Fred N. Tate has sent out letters and notices to all parts of North Carolina asking cooperation among the business men and in Raleigh when the meeting is and he expects to meet several thousand to order next Wednesday.

All of the members of the General Assembly of North Carolina, which will on that day, at the call of Governor Locke Craig, convene in extraordinary session for the specific purpose of some sort of a remedy for the outrageous discrimination now being practiced by the railroads, will be invited to attend in a party the meeting of the Just Freight Rate Association in the auditorium. It is expected that there will be a full attendance of both houses of the legislature at the time, and that the sympathy and cooperation of the members may be had.

The letter below, written by Mayor F. N. Tate, of High Point, president of the state organization, to Mr. E. B. Higgs, president of the Pitt county association, explains itself, as well as gives information as to the nature and character of the meeting. Mr. Higgs expects a large number of the business men of Greenville to attend the meeting in Raleigh, and will be glad to communicate with any and all who contemplate making the trip. Mr. Tate's letter follows:

Mr. E. B. Higgs, Pres., Greenville, N. C. Dear Sir: Our call for the great mass meeting to be held in the city auditorium at Raleigh on Sept. 24th at 2:30 p. m. has been published in the state papers as you have doubtless seen. It is the purpose of the Just Freight Rate Association to bring to Raleigh on that date, the largest body of representatives citizens ever assembled together, and each person is expected to come with a definite purpose, that of showing by his argument, experience and by his interest in the paramount question which now confronts our people, that nothing short of strong and adequate measures will be acceptable to the various commercial and farming interests of our state.

It is hoped each county branch association will bring at least one hundred delegates—some counties will bring many more—and when the meeting is called to order, we hope every delegate will be in his place ready to do his full duty.

All of the members of the general assembly will be invited and expected to participate as citizens in the meeting with us, and we will be addressed by the Governor and others who have made this question their chief concern and who are in position to lay the bare, cold facts of outrageous discriminations before us. The light will be turned on in a manner to make us all realize the urgent demands upon us at this hour for quick, certain and decisive relief. Proper legislative bills will be ready, bills which every honest and free citizen of the state made by the advocate and support, and there should be no delay in deciding once and for all time, the sovereignty of our great state.

Please immediately get your entire community prepared for the work before us; have your senator and representatives understand what will be expected of them; get your delegates appointed, 100 from each county if possible; have them pledged to attend and let us meet at the Yarrowburgh home, our headquarters, on the morning of the 24th. Business Men of State Discuss Freight Rates

Great Gathering in Raleigh on Next Wednesday

CALL ISSUED BY MR. TATE

Business Men of All Parts of the State Will Study Remedy for the Unjust Discrimination.

On next Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock there will assemble in the auditorium in the city of Raleigh a great concourse of business men from all parts of North Carolina. The purpose of the big gathering will be to consider and to discuss ways and means of reaching some sort of an agreement with the railroads doing business in this state whereby the manufacturers and shippers of North Carolina may have their freight hauled to its destination at a rate that is fair and reasonable. Many of the foremost men of the state will be at the meeting. Fred N. Tate has sent out letters and notices to all parts of North Carolina asking cooperation among the business men and in Raleigh when the meeting is and he expects to meet several thousand to order next Wednesday.

All of the members of the general assembly will be invited and expected to participate as citizens in the meeting with us, and we will be addressed by the Governor and others who have made this question their chief concern and who are in position to lay the bare, cold facts of outrageous discriminations before us. The light will be turned on in a manner to make us all realize the urgent demands upon us at this hour for quick, certain and decisive relief. Proper legislative bills will be ready, bills which every honest and free citizen of the state made by the advocate and support, and there should be no delay in deciding once and for all time, the sovereignty of our great state.

Please immediately get your entire community prepared for the work before us; have your senator and representatives understand what will be expected of them; get your delegates appointed, 100 from each county if possible; have them pledged to attend and let us meet at the Yarrowburgh home, our headquarters, on the morning of the 24th. HUERTA REPRESENTATIVE VISITS UNITED STATES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—Diplomatic Washington is wondering just what the significance of the visit to this country of Senor Manuel de Zamacona Esplan, former Mexican ambassador to this country and supposed representative of Provisional President Huerta.

Though he has been in the United States several days Zamacona has not revealed the purpose of his coming. At the state department and at the Mexican embassy no information can be obtained. It is believed, however, that he is commissioned by President Huerta to negotiate a loan from New York bankers if possible. He has spent several days in New York.

In all likelihood Zamacona is a Huerta envoy, and he may attempt to see President Wilson before his return to Mexico. The attitude of the president and of Secretary Bryan is not to receive any envoy who does not come to carry forward the negotiations begun by Mr. Lind and who does not proceed with the understanding that the points made by Mr. Lind have been settled chiefly, that Huerta is to be considered as eliminated from the presidential race.

Senor Zamacona is recognized, even by the opponents of the Huerta government as a very shrewd man, and therefore his movements are being closely followed by every one concerned in the Mexican situation. His claim that he is in the United States "on private business" is considered as a diplomatic statement.

TRIED TO KILL HIMSELF.

Has Since Changed His Mind and Now Wants to Get Well. GREENSBORO, Sept. 16.—George M. Reynolds, a young white man of the Pomona mill village, is at St. Leo's hospital here recovering from a self-inflicted wound in an effort to commit suicide Saturday night. The attempt of Reynolds on his life was kept quiet and few knew of the man's rash act Monday. Reynolds is about 26 years of age and Saturday night while in his room at a boarding-house in the mill village drew a razor across his throat. The fact that Reynolds is still living, and is apparently recovering, is due to the fact that he didn't sink the sharp blade deep enough in the throat. Reynolds' act, it is said was the result of temporary despondency from which he has completely recovered and is now anxious to linger yet awhile.

WERE EVIDENCES OF HIS COUNTERFEITING Search of Schmidt's Rooms Leads to Arrest of Dr. Muret, a Dentist. NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—A plate from which counterfeit ten-dollar gold certificates may have been struck, found in the rooms of Hans Schmidt, the confessed murderer of Anna Mueller, led to the arrest today of Dr. Ernest Arthur Muret, a dentist on a charge of counterfeiting, and Herbert Zeck, twenty-one years old his housekeeper, as a material witness.

Schmidt's rooms were later ransacked by detectives who found a receipt bill for rent paid by "George" Miller for an apartment where the detectives allege they found a complete outfit for the manufacture of photographic prints such as might be used in making counterfeit bills, and half-burned parts of several impressions of ten-dollar gold certificates. Examination disclosed that these probably were printed from the plate found in Schmidt's room.

Muret is alleged to have told the detectives after his arrest that he had been in counterfeiting operations with Schmidt. Muret is also identified as "George Miller."

DEATH SUSPICIOUS. Miss Warfield's Body to be Examined and Investigation Made. BALTIMORE, Sept. 17.—Upon a peculiar series of events preceding and following the sudden death of Miss Ella Warfield, at her farm near Sykesville several days ago, state's attorney went announced that he would make a charge of investigation at once and ordered the body of Miss Warfield exhumed. At the same time the state's attorney announced that he had learned that Miss Warfield's mother, to whom she left all her property, has become mentally unbalanced.

Despite the fact that a bottle said to have contained cyanide of potassium was found in the bed in which Miss Warfield died and a mysterious letter found beneath the bed, Coroner Miller, of Sykesville, who was Miss Warfield's cousin, issued a burial certificate without ordering an autopsy or holding an inquest.

Dr. Sprechel, who was called after Miss Warfield was found dead in bed, said he gave a certificate of death from "acute indigestion" at the request of Coroner Miller.

Greenville Supply Company Is now in its New Quarters

Within the past few days the Greenville Supply Company has moved into its new quarters just to the rear of the Atlantic Coast Line passenger station, and the firm is now occupying store rooms that will serve its purposes much better, and which will enable them to do a much larger and a more prosperous business.

In the old quarters on Dickinson avenue, the store was not large enough to accommodate the large and growing business of the firm and it was found necessary to build a new building.

The new home of the firm is two stories high, with a basement below. At the present time preparations are being made to lay a concrete floor in the basement and when this is done, much more additional room will be had for the storing of the coarsest groceries. The Coast Line will extend a spur track to the back door of the store building, and a comfortable place has been arranged for loading drays. It is one of the finest wholesale houses in town, and is now prepared to grow and prosper as never before in its history.

SOME "VITAL STATISTICS" REGARDING GOVERNORS. DENVER, Colo., Sept. 17.—Some "vital statistics" regarding the governors who attended the recent conference of governors at Colorado Springs were published here today. A local wag, whose waggishness runs to "small data" regarding "big people" has classified some of the chief executives and former chief executives as follows: Governors Dunne, Ammons, Oddie, Hodges, Carey, and McDonald are bald. Governors Slaton, Baldwin, and McGovern are getting bald. Governors Baldwin, Mann, Carey, and Byrne ornament their features with elaborate adornment. Governors McGovern, O'Neal, Miller, McDonald, Stewart, and Dunne, and former Governors Adams and Gilchrist wear ferocious mustaches. Governors Trammel, Colquitt, Oddie Adams, Slaton, and Hodges, and former Governor Dix are smoothly shorn and elegant.

SOCIALIST WOMEN AND BIRTH STRIKE

BERLIN, Sept. 16.—At the party convention of the socialists which is in session here, the birth strike of socialist women is being discussed. Rosa Luxemburg and Clara Zetkin, two most famous women leaders of the Socialists, are strongly opposed to the birth strike.

Miss Zetkin declares that the reduction of cannon food for the government would also effect a reduction of the number of revolutionists. If individual families decide to limit the number of children, she says, it is a personal matter, but she is opposed to make it a party policy.

Dr. Moses comes out in a vigorous defence of the birth strike. He declares that it would be the quickest, most effectual and most certain way of raising the status of the working classes. He tells of attending working mothers who had fifteen or eighteen children, while ten or twelve children in the family of a workman were numerous. He considers the physical ruin of mother, no workman could even half way rear, feed and educate such a number of children in the present conditions.

Improve your heating plant. A new, modern steam heating plant is to be installed at once, this is to be ready for use by the first of December. It will cost nearly $600, and will be complete in every respect. A basement to make room for the installation of the furnaces and storage apartments for the plant will be made underneath the church, and the plant will be modern in every respect. Contracts have been let also for the construction of a brick veneering over the entire outer wall of the church, this to cost in the neighborhood of three hundred dollars. When all of these improvements and additions to the church have been completed, the membership of the local church will have a place of worship of which they may justly feel proud, and one which will compare very favorably with the other edifices in this section.
