NEWSPAPER TALK

The business of the newspaper is to give news, that is what our subscribers pay for and they have a right to get all the news that can be put in the paper. We make every possible effort to get the news that is of interest and if we do not publish a piece of news it is not because we do not want to, but probably the only reason is that we did not get the facts. Many things happen each day in a city of this size that would make good news if we could get it to put in the paper. Some people do not like to see their name in print, or for other people to know where they go but they are very few, the majority of people do not object to giving news or to being the subject of an item of news. In our search for news we are glad to get any piece of real news, if you are going out of town or have friends visiting you, we want particulars. If anything unusual or peculiar happens we want to hear about it. If your business is on the boom or you make any changes that can be made public, its real news and we want it. If a former resident of this place is mentioned in other papers we would like to hear about it. If you do not see one of the reporters there is one way that you can always reach us, telephone the particulars to this office. We will thank you for this help and your thoughtfulness in aiding us to get out a good news paper, one that will interest all the people of the city and county.

There is just one other thing we would like to impress upon our readers and that is that hereafter we will publish a full report of all cases tried in the police court at any session we make an attempt to report. We may not be able to get in each day's proceedings but when we do put one in it will be complete. Heretofore we have held out some cases at the request of the parties involved but it is doing an injustice to those whose cases are reported and we want to be fair. The time to think about the publicity and disgrace of the thing is before it is done. Court proceedings are open and are a source of news to everybody, and so are the reports of certain officials and hereafter we will not hold out cases or other legal proceedings.

We have been requested to mention the fact that several boys are engaged in playing pranks that may result in serious injury to some person. It is the practice of putting bricks or rocks in empty boxes or wrapping them up in paper and placing them on the streets to be kicked or stumbled over. Very often serious injuries are received by kicking one of these obstructions and then some old feeble person might stumble over them and get a severe fall. We trust the boy's guiltiness of this practice will find some other kind of practical joke to amuse themselves, by which an innocent and unsuspecting person will not be injured. The boys probably do not realize the danger in such a thing and on second thought will stop it.

Next Sunday, is the day set apart by the President as the day on which prayer is to be made for peace in Europe. It is to be largely observed and the United Prayers of a whole nation should certainly accomplish some good.

TIDAL WAVE COMING.

When Europe's orgy of blood and devastation has run its course and the surviving population comes to a full realization of the ruin that has wrought and the years of toil and privation that will be necessary before agriculture, commerce and industry can raise their stricken heads, there will be a tidal wave of immigration, to these shores. That is, there will be as the gates remain open. It is a grave question, which our people will have to face, calmly and without prejudice to ourselves, keep them open, then we can safely, or should, in justice to ourselves, keep them open. To many thoughtful men it seems that we have already reached the full limit of our capacity to assimilate all sorts and conditions of aliens, and that too liberal an immigration policy from now on will prove a menace to our national welfare.

Secretary McAdoo has just withdrawn $5,000,000 of the reserve funds distributed among the banks because the banks were piling up large reserve funds thus defeating the purpose of the loan. The banks have no room to complain, they deserved this action and the Secretary is to be commended for this procedure. The withdrawal of this money from those banks will not seriously affect them if their reserves were very large. But by their action in piling up this money they lose all right to sympathy and further assistance. This money withdrawn will be given to other banks that are using the money formerly given them as it was intended. The action of these banks was very selfish, they were keeping money out of circulation at a time when it was most needed and especially in the war depression.

Governor Craig has made a proclamation calling upon the people of this state to observe three days in December as Community Service Days. Its real news and we want it. If a former resident of this place is mentioned in other papers we would like to hear about it. If you do not see one of the reporters there is one way that you can always reach us, telephone the particulars to this office. We will thank you for this help and your thoughtfulness in aiding us to get out a good news paper, one that will interest all the people of the city and county.

At a recent meeting of the Aldermen an ordinance was passed requiring that all plots in the Cherry Hill Cemetery be cleaned off and kept clean and imposing a fine for not complying with this ordinance. There are at present several plots in this cemetery that have not been properly looked after and are in a very bad condition. The matter should be looked after and if a failure to put the plots in proper condition continues the officials should see that the persons responsible are fined as provided by the ordinance. The persons who do keep their plots in good condition should look after the enforcement of the ordinance because an ill kept plot spoils the looks of the whole ground and if any place should be kept clean and be well cared for it is the cemetery. Probably a gentle reminder is all that is necessary and it is to be hoped that this will be sufficient to stir the negligent ones to activity.

The Fartherland is a German paper issued for the purpose of convincing the American people that they are in the right in this war, according to the way things are around here it has a hopeless task.

Right now when there is so much talk of helping the cotton situation, any movement toward reducing the acreage next year is very appropriate. It is generally realized that legislation along this line is useless, that the farmer cannot be compelled to plant a certain amount of any crop. The best and most feasible plan so far suggested is to start a campaign of education and information that will reach every farmer and present to him the need of curtailment in such a manner as to convince him of the benefit of such action, and thereby let the cotton grower himself regulate his acreage. The appeal should be a simple statement of facts and a request that the farmer agree to curtail his crop to a certain amount. This appeal should touch every farmer and as a means of conveying this to him it has been suggested that the common school system, the officers and the officials and employees of the state agricultural departments; all working under the direction of the Department of Agriculture of the United States be used as a means of conveying the request for curtailment. By this method much publicity will be given the appeal and by the United efforts of such a force of workers the co-operation of the farmers will be secured. This is the plan being worked in Texas and its adoption in other states is urged.

We hear of different organizations and unions declaring they are for the amendments and meetings being held to arouse interest. The number of influential men working for the adoption of these amendments is increasing and shows the interest that is being aroused.

We notice the citizens of the town have neglected to comply with the ordinance passed by the Aldermen at their last meeting relating to cleaning up vacant lots. This is an important matter and if properly looked after will remove several eye sores around town. The officers have authority to enforce this ordinance and we feel sure a reminder will be all that is necessary.

The wonderful possibilities of North Carolina are being realized more and more by people in different parts of the country as is evidenced by the increasing number of wealthy men who come to this State to invest their money. These men are starting business for which there is a need and are thereby making good money. Of course these new businesses are welcomed for they help to make up the industrial part of the State, but there are plenty of men, natives of this State, who are able and could if they would start these new enterprises and there is no reason in the world why they do not do it except perhaps they have not seen the vast possibilities which this state offers.

The German navy has adopted the watchful waiting policy.

SHERIFF DUDLEY BUYS FIVE BLOODED COWS

Sheriff Dudley recently purchased at Rockingham six Holstein cows, paying $250.00 a piece for them. They were expected today but were delayed and will probably not get here until tomorrow. The addition of these cows to Mr. Dudley's dairy farm will make a total of 26 Holsteins and in addition to the others, which number 40, will make his farm exceedingly well stocked.

The News and Observer is certainly doing a great deal to encourage the buy-a-bale plan, it is to be commended for its efforts along this line and that it is in a winning fight is already shown by the marked improvement in the cotton market.

France's share in the War's expense is seven million a day with only one to fight, wonder what Germany has to pay out with all of them to fight.

The Atlantic Coast Line is supporting the wear cotton movement and is sending out circulars to arouse wide interest in the work.

Many Cakes and Puddings

Full miserable flat—because of inferior extracts! Ever use the choicest flour, the freshest eggs and wonder why the cake or pudding wasn't good? It all depends upon the flavor.

Purity in your extracts is not enough—quality is the ultimate factor. In Bee Brand Flavoring Extracts you get both—and a subtle something, almost indescribable—"Bouquet". It isn't purity, nor strength nor mellowness—it's a combination of all three—brought about by patient aging in white oak casks.

Try Bee Brand Vanilla today. You can get it from most progressive dealers 25c. Here are a few:

ACT QUICKLY

Delay Has Been Dangerous in Greenville.

In time of kidney danger Doan's Kidney Pills are most effective.

Plenty of Greenville evidence of their worth.

J. L. Connor, carpenter, 1109 Evans St., Greenville, says: "About six months ago I had an attack of kidney complaint. My back ached and I had pains across my loins. I was so sore and stiff I could scarcely bend to pick up my tools. I had headaches and dizzy spells and the kidney secretions were irregular in passage highly colored and contained sediment. Finally I got Doan's Kidney Pills at The Warren Drug Co. and used them according to directions. They soon relieved me and three boxes cured me of all symptoms of the complaint. I have had no return attack."

Price 50c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Connor had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

There will be political speaking tonight at which the important issues of the day will be discussed all voters should be present to hear this discussion.

Victor Company to Buy Cotton
A. B. Ellington & Co., Agents for Victor Talking Machine Co., have received the following letter:
Gentlemen:—
The Victor Talking Machine Co., desiring to show their sympathy with and appreciation of their dealers throughout the cotton belt of the South in the present emergency wishes to extend their assistance in the buy-a-bale movement and makes you the following proposition.

You may buy from a producer in locality, for our account a bale of cotton of approximately 500 pounds in weight, to grade "middling", at 10 cents per pound, and draw on us for the value of the cotton.

Very truly yours,
Victor Talking Machine Co.
per Louis F. Geissler, G. M.
Such action as this speaks well, for it means the purchase of several thousand bales of cotton by this firm as they have agents in nearly every town in the South, and an order has been placed with each one.

NEIGHBORLY ADVICE.

Freely Given by a Greenville Citizen.
When one has suffered tortures from a bad back and found relief from the aches and pains, that person's advice is of untold value to friends and neighbors. The following neighborly advice comes from a Greenville resident.

Mrs. J. C. Savage, 112 Eleventh St. Greenville, says: "About a year ago I was bothered with my kidneys. I had a dull pain in my back and could not rest well at night. In the morning I was sore and stiff. Dizzy spells were frequent and when I stooped and then try to straighten, my head swam, making me blind for a few minutes. The secretions from my kidneys were too frequent and annoyed me considerably. Doan's Kidney Pills, which I procured from Bryan's Drug Store gave me much relief. After using four boxes, my kidneys and bladder were fixed up in good shape and the soreness across my loins was relieved."

Price 50c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Savage had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

ANN BOSTWICK'S LUNCHEONS

By GRIFFIN BARRY.

When Ann Bostwick's funds fell to a certain very low level, she could see Giant Despair in the corner of her patch of a hall bedroom. She tried to cover him up by hanging certain "honorable mentions" in that corner, and later she was able to add one drawing after another on his edge; but when she opened her flat purse he was inside that, as grim as ever.

To make it worse, a career was not all she would leave behind when he had spent all her money—all of it, that is, except the price of a ticket to her home in a certain New England village. Even to herself she would not admit it, but there would be another wrench when she saw the last of a certain wearer of corduroy breeches, who, for all the size of him, might never have worn anything nearer crossed trousers in his life. He was a Westerner, and the critics said that he painted "freer and bolder" than any student in the school.

Tom Graham and she had a painstaking acquaintance which extended to lunch-time, when they usually nodded shortly to each other from opposite ends of the same soda fountain. He lunched on egg concoctions, with hot chocolate and crackers to boot; she, on malted milk.

There had been a time when Ann used to have a sustaining egg put in her thin drink; but that was in the days of her father's remittances—practical days, when she spent as much as twenty cents in coffee, on a Sunday, to fill her lungs with God's fresh air as it blew across the Hudson. When the remittances ceased, instead of eggs and car rides, she bought baked beans and fresh paint-tubes. In fact, she kept reducing her food outlay, nickel by nickel, until sometimes she weakly wondered if after all courage doesn't run in the diet. She ought to have been told that a tumbler of malted milk isn't enough to keep the blood in your cheeks at noon, when your breakfast has been two cold squares of chocolate, following a 15-cent dinner the night before.

Then something strange happened. Everybody noticed the man, perked up—especially the "mitologist" before the fountain, who had often slipped a little more than a fair ten-cent's worth into her tumbler. But this was different, for now an egg appeared daily, and sometimes two, while the check she paid was the same.

Ann hated taking charity, even while she swallowed it. She hated it only when it came from the counter, however. She forgot everything she wanted to forget in the resulting power. It leaked from her finger-ends to the canvas for hours, on the day when she had two eggs. About that time she sold a drawing to a magazine, and in came another prize for her work in oils.

One fall day, however, the keen wind that raked Broadway helped Ann through the door bodily. The mitologist looked her coat up and down, then caught it between his fingers to feel how thin it was.

"Pretty sharp breeze, miss," he said. "You need a fur coat—one of them new dog-skins, now."

He stopped in the face of Tom Graham, who had come in for his lunch. Ann, sensitive about her shabbiness, choked over her egg and got out quickly.

Later—an hour after Tom Graham had left the counter—she came back with 29 nickels in her bumpy, frayed black purse. It was nearly all the money she had. She talked to the mitologist with a red face.

"Here is the money for the eggs. Of course I expected to pay it as soon as I could. Very, very much obliged. I know there were just 20, for I kept track."

The waiter turned away. "I didn't mean any offense about that coat," he said over his shoulder. "Of course not. It is getting cold."

"Well, and I wasn't responsible for those eggs, either. It was the man with the velvet pants. He paid me for 'em."

Ann's finances were in that critical state when the loss of a dollar makes the whole difference; so she closed "honorable mentions," blue ribbons, and wrecked hopes into a home-bound trunk that evening, and thought out a note to Tom Graham meanwhile. She lacked the nerve to go and thank him.

When she opened the door to a man's thumping, late in the evening, she even lacked the nerve—or the food—to stand up. Tom Graham was breathless after a climb of three flights, but he caught her to save a fall, and then, to save an explanation, he told her he loved her.

It was enough for Ann when he said passionately that he couldn't see her grow pinched for food any longer if he had tried, for "women of your sort don't go hungry where I came from." Then he drew hasty sketches of the mountains on his Colorado ranch all over her white paper.

They have built a studio there now. The poor man's joy ride is by trolley.

Letter From Mr. H. B. Tripp

El Paso, Texas Sept. 27, 1914. Editor Reflector:— Just a few lines to let you know I am still alive. I left California two weeks ago direct for Mexico City.

There has been lots of counterfeiting money in circulation here but since a recent law passed in Texas against this the same has been done away with. In Mexico any one caught handling counterfeit money is executed.

The decrease in value of Mexican money, including Villa and Carranza money of which there is no way to estimate just how much, is in circulation, makes it had enough. The protection of the Federal Government would have saved the money market, or, at least enabled the banks to pull through, but now it will be a long time before the money matters can be adjusted.

Why are money matters as they are? This with many other questions is in the minds of many American people that have not yet been intelligently answered to their satisfaction. Those placed in similar circumstances as myself do not have the support of the American people to put our views before the people but the time is coming.

My contention all the way through is take American politics out of Mexico and the greatest problem there will be solved. Do away with the oil interest in the country owned by foreigners and big American land owners together with American politics and I believe as much as I believe there is a God in Heaven the Mexican trouble will adjust itself.

As to the leaders, who are they, where do they first start the trouble, where do they get their financial backing? When all these things are threshed out to the people then many of us will take another view of the situation. If General Diaz had killed Madero before he started his revolution, Mexico would have been a different place.

Now after the moral support Carranza and Villa have had from the American Government against Huerta, what have we now instead of Huerta's dictatorship, we have two dictators instead of one and they fighting each other. Has our good American government done any good for the Mexican people? Who is old General Carranza, Villa or any other leader in Mexico? Find one looking for more than personal ambition and you can have my life. The Mexican people are good people they are not mean and cruel as many people believe they are. They are simply poor, ignorant, innocent people most of them deceived by some leader and the others are driven in line to a slaughter pen like cattle, not one out of a hundred is allowed to express his opinion on political questions for fear of being shot. It looks like the Mexican problem can be solved by God only. We should try to give those people Christianity and educate them instead of backing some leader with shot and shells to kill each other.

I certainly hope our good American people will take their politics out of Mexico, the American capitalist will be satisfied to allow the Mexican people to own their own country and run the same according to their own views. I have sacrificed and lost nearly all I had in Mexico so has many another good American and I don't know whether one should wholly blame the Mexican people for it or not.

Very sincerely, H. B. TRIPP
