GOLDEN OPPORTUNITIES.

I sometimes sit and wonder Why we live a life asunder From the purest bliss that fills the human breast.

Why we close the golden portal
To the joys that are immortal.
Shutting tightly up within us all that's best.

Many words remain unspoken
That would be the happy token Of the good will that we bear to one another.

And the little act of kindness
We neglect in our blindness, Would have gone so far to help a weaker brother.

Precious moments fast are fleeting;
Filling up the brimming measure
And in their grand completeness Let all hate and envy perish.
Only kindest feelings cheerish.
And our hearts beneath their sunshine will expand.

Let us gather every treasure,
Filling up the brimming measure
With the jewels scattered all along our way.

They will fill our lives with sweetness
And in their grand completeness
Turn the darkest night to glad and glorious day.

Free Schools and Institutes.

EDITOR EASTERN REFLECTOR:

We will ask for space in your paper in which to place some of our views on an act of the last Legislature which we saw in the REFLEC-TOR a few weeks ago, entitled an act to abolish the white Normal Schools of the State and to provide for holding County Institutes throughout the State.

Feeling a special interest in the Free Schools and those for whom they were originally intended, I hope it will not be thought presumptious in me if I take the privilege of trying to express my conviction upon this very important subject.

We are not oblivious of the fact that all we can say will not alter the case now, but on that point we will suggest that another two years will soon roll around and we may say more about it hereafter.

If we have any conception of the true objects and uses of the free school system, it is that they were restituted mainly for the benefit of children within the school age who could not otherwise obtain educational advantages, so that they might be instructed in practical studies adapted to the needs and essential to the avocations of the common people in their every day life, and I don't believe even in this wonderful day of wisdom, it has ever entered the mind of any reasonable thinking man, that it is possible for anything more than that ever to be accomplished in our free schools, and not even that much under the present management.

Our law rulers seem to have taken an idea that the free schools are mainly for the benefit of the teachers and the office holders connected with the system, and that the education of the children and the terms of school are only secondary matters.

Now let us examine the act and see if we are not right.

Section 1st of the act abolishes the white normal schools and provides for the holding of teachers institutes, &c. The part of the act abolishing the normals is all right, they were a fraud upon the white children of the State for whose benefit the free schools were intended, and ought never to have been established, and their abolishment in so short a time after they were established proves they were a failure, and if our solons had gone one step further and abolished a lot of free school offices that are worthless except to the beneficiaries who hold them, they might have saved thousands of dollars to the school fund which if properly applied would lift the veil of ignorance from the faces of hundreds of our bright little boys and girls who are starving for knowledge. But when they apply the free school money to the institute business, we think they have given us something worse than the normals, and we believe that time will show that if this institute act is carried out, our terms of free school will be very near nothing, and mighty little of that.

Section 3rd makes it the duty of the County Superintendent to assist in the institute work, and the County Board of Education to provide suitable buildings, defray expenses, &c., &c. Now we can't undertake to say how much the expenses which the County Board is required to defray will amount to, but we will venture the assertion that it will not be less than ten dollars per day, for every day the institute machine runs; and in addition to the expense, the free schools being taught at the most convenient, and in many cases the only season in which the children who have to labor on the farms can be spared, suspended, and the teachers forced to go to a free school (institute) and the children forced to stay at home and lose the only opportunity they have to learn to read and write, while the money their fathers have had to stunt from them in order to pay the school tax and which the State has so generously appropriated, presumably for their benefit, is being lavishly expended for the benefit of those who are already educated to a degree far above that to which the average free school attendant can ever hope or expect to attain, and for the bountiful support and gain of those who are not even citizens of our State, who, with others, are working the machines merely for the money there is in it.

Now, conceding the schools to be taught by the average grade teacher, the sum we have estimated to run the institute will run a free school in eight districts for the same time the institute is run, and apart from this view of the act we think that a little experience will demonstrate the fact that section 4th of the act which requires the teacher to attend continuously is impracticable, for that the majority of the free school teachers are poor and can't afford to move to town and attend all they have made in a whole year (clear of expenses) for a few days attendance on an institution which many of them have attended before under a different name and found to be a failure.

Our school bosses tried the Normals and they could not get the teachers into them and they saw that something had to be done, or that the act of the old State government would soon be dry and somebody would be suffering for pap, so they dress up the old hornet in a new suit and sent him buzzing around in behalf of the same old concern under the new name of institute and invite the poor teachers to the same old empty feast, and parade the law before them, telling them that unless they do attend they shall not be free school teachers, meaning, it matters not how competent and deserving you are, unless you patronize and support the institute they will crush you, and because you will not attend them you shall not have employment at the old district school house and receive for your wages some of the tax money paid by your fathers, brothers and neighbors, but he who is more fortunate in having means to attend the institute shall have preference though he be a stranger and less competent.

Now I know somebody will say we have taken a wrong and extreme view of the case and will be ready to spread on paper a vast amount of benefits to be received from these institutes. Well, there are a great many benefits to be derived from them for some folks, but certainly none for the poor children for whom the free schools were originally instituted, and the originators of this institute scheme had some misapprehensions about the success of the machine or they would not have incorporated the compulsory clause in the act.

Now let us look squarely and honestly at the facts and ask ourselves some plain, simple questions.
Is it right and honest to take the money appropriated for the education of poor children and apply it to the use and benefit of those who are not within school age and who are already educated?

money appropriated to hire common school teachers at limited wages and give it to traveling instructors in such sums as the superintendent may in his discretion think right?

Is it right and honest to suspend the free schools at the only time when the poor children have the chance to attend and thus exclude them from the schools for the year?

Is it right and honest that the poor school teachers who have not the means to spare with which to pay their expenses should be forced to attend the institute or go before the master like a boy who has been late at school, and render an apology for his absence, or be debarred from the free school house?

Is it right and honest that a sum sufficient to run schools in eight districts should be taken from the poor children of the county, and bestowed upon the learned and wealthy?

Until these questions can be truthfully answered in the affirmative, the County Board ought not to appropriate a single dime to the institute business. Gentlemen, look well before you leap for the day of reckoning will surely come.

Years truly,
A FRIEND TO FREE SCHOOLS,
Bethel, N. C., July 23d, '89.

Look at Your Watch.

Why the Numerals on Watch Dials Differ from Those in Common Use.

New York Star.

In a recent conversation with a Star reporter a prominent jeweler of Maiden Lane told the following story to explain why the Roman numerals printed on the dials of watches and clocks differ from those in common use. He said:

"It is nothing but a tradition among watchmakers, but the custom has always been preserved. You may or you may not know that the first clock that in any way resembled those now in use was made by Henry Viek in 1370. He made it for Charles V. of France, who has been called 'The Wise.'

"Now, Charles was wise in a good many ways. He was wise enough to recover from England most of the land which Edward III had conquered, and he did a good many other things which benefited France.
But his early education had been somewhat neglected, and he probably would have had trouble in passing a Civil Service examination in these enlightened ages. Still he had the reputation for wisdom, and thought that it was necessary, in order to keep it up, that he should also be supposed to possess book learning. The latter was a subject he was extremely touchy about.

"So the story runs in this fashion, although I will not vouch for the language, but put it in that of the present day:

"'Yes the clock works well,' said Charles, 'but being anxious to find some fault with a thing he did not understand, you have got the figures on the dial wrong?'

"'Wherein, your majesty?' asked Viek.

"'That four should be four ones,' said the king.

"'You are wrong, your majesty,' said Viek.

"'I am never wrong!' thundered the king. 'Take it away and correct the mistake!' and corrected it, was, and from that day to this 4 o'clock on a watch or clock dial has been IIII, instead of IV. The tradition has been faithfully followed.'

The Deadly Cigarette.

New York Sun.

The cigarette habit appears to be growing among the boys of this city, and there are physicians who tell of evil effects upon the constitution and health of those who indulge in it. It promotes nervous affections, interferes with the digestion, induces insomnia, leads to muscular diseases of the mouth and eyes, and blunts the mental powers.
It blows the air, leaves the taint upon the garments and is apt to create a liking for liquor. It is injurious in every way and advantageous in no respect. Several State legislatures, including those of New Jersey and Michigan, have bills under consideration for the prohibition of the sale of cigarettes to miners, and a large amount of testimony favorable to such action has been presented to them. In Michigan the testimony of three hundred teachers has been taken on the subject, and many of the facts given are a kind that might well alarm parents. In this city, especially at night on the east side, one may often see groups of sallow-faced urchins indulging in the baneful habit.

Dr. Benj. Dillard, druggist, at Aurora, Mo., says: I sell a great quantity of S. S. S. for Scrofula, Eczema, Rheumatism, and other blood troubles, and have never heard of a case of failure to cure.

Pimples blotches and eruptions on the skin evidence the fact that the blood is in bad shape, and these symptoms show that nature is trying to throw off the impurities, in which effort she should be assisted by a reliable vegetable blood remedy, as is Swift's Specific.

Mr. John B. Harrison, of Springfield, Ill., says that he had blood trouble for quite a time; his tonsils were swollen, eruptions over his hands and face, followed by paralysis of the face, which was all relieved by Swift's Specific, and after the lapse of seven years there has been no sign of a return of the disease.

Over four years ago Swift's Specific cured me of a troublesome eruption which covered my shoulders, back and limbs. This was after I had been treated by six doctors, some of whom said I never would get well.

piled by the Reflector's Bad Boy.

Bride—"George, dear, when we reach town let us try to avoid leaving the impression that we are new to the town."

"All right Maud; you can lag this valise."

"The Browning" collar is the latest thing in men's neckwear. It can be worn buttoned under the left or right arm, or under the chin, or at the back of the neck, with both points turned up or down, or with one up and one down, either one, doesn't make a cent's difference which; and the maker challenges creation to find a neck that it will or will not fit. It is sold for two shillings because there are no cents in it.

TOO PREVIOUS.

"Mr. Editor, I just dashed off"—
"A poem, I suppose? Well, I do not want your poetry. It would look better if you'd bring up some money."

"I was about to say that I just dashed off a check for the amount I owe you, but I guess I'll come in again."

HIS PROPOSAL.

Edgar—"Miss Edith, I—ah—have something most important to ask you. May I—that is—Edith (softly)—"What is it, Edgar?"
Edgar—"May I—Edith, would you be willing to have our names printed in the papers, with a hyphen between?"

The attention of the passengers in a Southern smoking car was riveted on a strangely behaved negro. He rocked himself from side to side without ceasing.

"What's the matter with you?" asked a traveler.

"Does you know Dan McGray?" inquired the negro.

"Yes."

"Well, sah, he sold me a silver watch for $20, added the negro, still swaying from side to side, "and if I stop movin' dis here way it dan an' don' go no moah."

HAD STRUCK SOMETHING HARDER.

"I suppose you find this to be a hard, hard world, do you not?" she said, as she gave the tramp a loaf of stale bread.

"Yes'm," answered the tramp, trying to make a dent in the loaf with his knife; "but we frequently strike things that are harder."

Miss Pyrite—"What makes you such a confirmed woman hater, Mr.
Olebach?"

Mr. Olebach—"Well, when I was a young man a woman made a fool of me."

Miss P.—"And you never got over it?"

Flap—"I'm in love, and the only disagreeable thing about it is that the girl is older than I."

Jack—"How old are you now?"
"I'm eighteen."

"And the lady is what?"
"Twenty-two."

"Well make your mind easy. By the time you are twenty-one she'll be only twenty."

Electricity on the March.

Norfolk Landmark.

A company has been in existence for some time preparing for the operation of what is known as the Weems Electric Railway System, and it is now claimed to be perfect and ready for inauguration. The invention consists of a railroad track and cars, the cars to be moved by an electric motor at a speed of three miles a minute on a level and two on heavy grades and curves. The train is operated entirely from central stations and requires no help abroad. The system is for the purpose of the quick transmission of packages, which can be sent by this line at the rate of 180 miles an hour. The manipulator can stop the train when he wishes, and tells by an automatic indicating arrangement just where the train is all the time. It is so constructed that it cannot leave the track, and the track can be constructed at a cost of five thousand dollars per mile.
The exterior line, and the tests, which have been exhaustive, prove the absolute practicability of the system. The question of passenger travel on this rapid system has not yet been discussed, but if the freight line shall prove successful after full trial in actual operation over long distances, there would seem to be no reason why, in the near future, passengers may not be getting around at this lightning rate of speed in a train which is above ground and safe from run-offs.
Verily, the world does move.

No man knows his own will power until he gives it a trial. Some years ago a gentleman of the Cape Fear section was upon what he, his physician and his friends thought was his death bed. The doctor had just told him he had but a few hours to live. He called his wife and told her to be waited her to promise him not to marry again. She declined to make the promise. This made him angry and he said: "Well, if you intend to marry after I'm dead, I just be— if I die now." He recovered and lived many years.—Sanford Express.

A Married Editor's Thoughts on Women.

Henry Grady in Atlanta Constitution.

In the daydawn of youth, when the kindling flame sweeps the plains of fatuity and sees only the blazonry of hopeful promises, the young man weds some damsel on whose cheeks the dews of morn are still airtreble. Then come the years of toil and labor, the cares and worries, the joys and disappointments.

Man is prone to selfishness and is too near sighted to observe the hand that bears the cooling chalice to the fevered lips. But to the woman he is all in all. She has not a thought higher than his dear head, for that is, to her, as high as heaven. And there is more strengthening and support in a pair of those soft white arms than there is in braces of iron and girdles of steel.

There is something in her very presence—something soothing and refreshing. And her voice is dearer to him than all the melodies of earth and sea and sky combined.
Enticement his smallest wishes, she teaches him to expect all that is best in life through her tender hands.

The man who is incapable of that pure and lofty appreciation of woman's love is incapable of feeling the thrill of that noble intellectuality which is but a forestate of joys that are to come in a world where the souls of these pure and tender wives and mothers shall shine with a lustre unequalled by the conceit splendor of a hundred suns.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 17th, 1889.

A slight earthquake shock was reported from Charleston, S. C., last week. It is getting time to revive the earthquake talk—

August is nearly here, you know.

The matter of removing Trinity College has been settled. At a meeting of the Trustees held last week in Greensboro they decided to remove the College to Raleigh. That city raised $25, 000 to secure the school.

It is reported that Richard K.

Fox, proprietor of the Police

Gazette, lost $90,000 on Kilrain, who he was backing in the prize fight against Sullivan. Its a pity but what he had lost enough to bust his dirty paper.

The Board of Trustees of the Agricultural and Mechanical

College held a meeting in Raleigh last week and elected our townsman, Hon. Thos. J. Jarvis,

President of the College. Gov.

Jarvis declined to accept the honor.

Col. L. C. Jones, Superintendent of the Carolina Central Railroad, died in Wilmington on the night of the 12th. He was a civil engineer and his life had been spent in railroad work.

The Star of Saturday had a beautiful tribute to his memory.

Postal officials, Wanamaker in the lead, are going to change the color of the postage stamp from green. We suppose that is done to form more of a contrast with the route agents. He says there is nothing green about him, but he don't mention "them coons."

Newspaper affairs are becoming interesting around Rocky

Mount. Two papers coming from that town are called the Plaindealer, the name, good will, etc., being claimed by the parties who are publishing each of the papers. Wonder how many rounds they will hold out.

That excellent paper, the Con- cord Times, of which Mr. J. B.

Sherrill, Secretary of the North Carolina Press Association, is editor, recently closed its seventh year. Sherrill is getting out one of the most readable weeklies in the State. He is a young man possessed of plenty grit and push, and is making his work tell. Continued success to him.

We always regret to see young men of talent leaving the State and lending their aid to the upbuilding of other States when our own sorely needs their service. And when one of these can be induced to return and take up his labors for his native land we rejoice at his return. A few years ago Mr. Edward A.

Oldham, one of the brightest young men of our State, and one of the best equipped and most talented journalists, was induced to leave North Carolina to accept an editorial position in Alabama. His talents winning for him a wide reputation he was tendered a still better position on one of the leading papers in Charleston, S. C. Lately very flattering offers have been made him from New York papers, but instead of accepting them we are glad to know he has been influenced by that excellent gentleman, Mr. J. S. Carr, to return to North Carolina. Mr.
Oldham will locate in Durham and about the first of August will take charge of the Tobacco

New York Letter.

Opposed to the Destruction of City Hall

Park—Tweed Recalled—Bud-diesiek.

(Our special correspondence.)

NEW YORK, July 15, 1889.—There seems to be a universal public sentiment against the proposed erection of a new municipal building in City Hall Park, a bill for which purpose was passed at the last session of the Legislature. The proposed building will occupy 54,000 square feet, and, if erected according to present intentions, will overshadow what is conceded to be one of our finest specimens of architecture—the City Hall. This is the second time that an encroachment has been attempted on the City Hall Park, the first one being successful. I refer to the slicing off of a large space for the General Postoffice. No doubt the postoffice is a very useful building and was much needed, but it was really too bad to take away any of the people's breathing space.

The attempt to gobble up 54,000 feet more is meeting with such determined opposition that it is exceedingly unlikely to succeed. The park is certainly small enough now —so small that we wonder where the 54,000 feet is to come from, anyhow.

TWEED RING DAYS.

The recent death, in New Orleans, of John H. Maginnis, son-in-law of William M. Tweed, recalls the palmy days of the "Tweed ring." When Maginnis married Tweed's daughter nearly twenty years ago, Tweed was then at the zenith of his career.

The wedding was a most magnificent one, and it is said the bridal present amounted to more than $150,000. Among the donors and the presents they made were Thomas J. Creamer, gold and silverware,

$1,000; James Ryan, gold chain necklace, set with diamonds, $1,500;

Senator Norton, gold chain and diamond pendant, $1,000; John J.

Blair, cameo, diamond and pearl set,

$2,500; Joseph G. Harrison, cameo sleeve buttons, diamond settings,

$1,000, and Thomas C. Fields, gold and diamond necklace, $5,000.

BUDDENSIEK'S BUILDINGS.

The announcement is made that

Charles J. Buddensiek, the contractor for ten years for manslaughter, has petitioned Governor Hill for a pardon. This will recall a remarkable accident in which a row of eight houses, each five stories high, tum-bled down with fatal result, and the remarkable fact that somebody was convicted for it. Buddensiek had charge of the erection of these buildings, which were on 62nd

Street, between Tenth and Eleventh Avenues. A large number of carpenters, roofers, masons and other mechanics were at work on the buildings on the forenoon of April 13th, 1885, when, without warning, the entire row of houses collapsed.

One of the end buildings, eye-witnesses afterward said, was seen to sway for a moment and the outer wall fell against the inner wall.

This caused it also to fall inward, and the whole row went down in much the same manner as a house of cards. A gang of laborers who were put to work on the ruins, re-enforced by the Fire Department, extricated 13 wounded men a few hours after the collapse. One of them, Louis Walters, died the following day in Roosevelt Hospital.

Buddensiek was tried, convicted, and sentenced to ten years in State Prison and the payment of $500 fine. Public feeling was very strongly against him, and in many parts of the city there was almost a panic, as it was learned that he had erected more than 2,000 houses.

His name became a synonym for "shaky" building, but he probably has a counterpart in every town in the land. EDWIN ARLINGTON.

Experiment Station Bulletin No. 63.

A new departure in the issues of the Station, which is likely to be appreciated, is the abstract of contents which prefaces all long articles, which gives in a few words a summary of what is contained in the article. Also at the conclusion of the article the deductions that may be drawn are included. The following in reference to the article by Gerald McCarthy, Botanist of the Station, on the subject of "Tests of Seeds with special reference to the vitality of old seed," will well illustrate the plan.

ABSTRACT OF CONTENTS—Introductory. Necessity of value for seeds, The English Standard for grasses and clovers. Suggestions of helps towards examining for impurities. Method of calculating the quantity of seeds in a grain and a ounce. Lessons taught by these experiments. Details of examination and tests of seeds. Tabular resume. DEDUCTIONS—1. Grass and clover seeds deteriorate very rapidly with age and generally are not worth sowing after they are two years old. 2. That aged and deteriorated seeds are often sold by local storekeepers. 3. That farmers should test samples before purchasing seeds, and purchase directly from some reliable seed grower or from a local merchant who will guarantee the quality of his seeds. 4. That a trustworthy standard of value for seeds, with laws—if necessary—to enforce its observance, is very badly needed.

Mr. F. B. Daney, 1st Assistant Chemist, gives the result of his investigation in an article "Does Stable Manure in Drying lose any of its Ammonia?" The result as evidence by this experiment is that well rotted stable manure in drying loses such a small amount of its ammonia as to be inappreciable. This must not be confounded with fresh unrotted manure, however, before fermentation has set in; in which case there will most probably be a greater loss of Ammonia.

Analyses of the Pamunkey Marl Phosphate are given in a separate article, and attention is called to the fact that in separate analyses of samples from different localities, over three fourths of the whole is sand. On account of its nature, it is not subject to a license and official control, but the management of the Experiment Station is determined to give to the people of the State a knowledge of what brands it discloses. In this special case it is doubtful whether the value is sufficient to pay the freight alone on this grade of goods.

The publications of the Station are free to those who request them. H. B. BATTLE, Raleigh, N. C. July 2, '89. Director.

Weekly Weather Crop Bulletin.

For the Week Ending Friday, July 13 89. (CENTRAL OFFICE, RALEIGH, N. C.) The reports of correspondents of the Weekly Crop Bulletin, published by the North Carolina Experiment Station and State Weather Service, co-operating with the United States Signal Service, show that there has been a deficiency of rain fall, an excess of temperature and sunshine for the week ending Friday, July 12th. All crops have been favorably affected. The week has been favorable for farm work and harvesting. The oat crop has improved very much and in some places is said to be the finest for years. Tobacco was injured to some extent by the heavy rains of the previous week but is now looking better. Cotton has had just such weather as it needed and is generally looking well. The prospects for an average crop are good. The hot wave which crossed the State the latter part of the week was very beneficial to the growth of all crops. The following special temperatures are reported: Lambertson, Robeson county, 98 degrees; Goldsboro, Wayne county, 98 degrees; Weldon, Halifax county, 98 degrees; Wadesboro, Anson county, 96 degrees; Charlotte, Mecklenburg county, 96 degrees; Wilmington, New Hanover county, 94 degrees; Newbern, Craven county, 94 degrees; Raleigh, Wake county, 94 degrees.

EASTERN DISTRICT—Very light showers. An excess of temperature and sunshine has been very favorable to all crops in this district.

CENTRAL DISTRICT—Although crops generally have improved, yet a little more rain would probably have proved beneficial. Some complaint of cotton fring. Tobacco is reported as looking well with prospects of a good crop.

WESTERN DISTRICT—A number of correspondents report the weather just what was needed. Occasional showers, very hot and an abundance of sunshine. Cotton, corn, tobacco and grasses doing well. Very favorable for garnering wheat and oats. The prospects for five crops in some sections of this district are reported as exceedingly good. H. B. BATTLE, PH. D., Director.

THE EASTERN REFLECTOR. GREENVILLE, N. C.

Local Sparks.

Yes, it is warm. Nice showers Saturday. Hurrah for Greenville! Hurrah for the Railroad! Do you hear the train whistle? One week to the Press Convention.

Another exodus to Oeraoke yesterday. Cherry Hill Cemetery needs cleaning up badly. Okra and tomatoes have appeared in market.

It keeps coming right on this way—the railroad. You can notice that the days are getting shorter. Crops have generally improved during the past week.

Crops grow rapidly this weather. Same thing with grass. A good horse for sale for cash or on time by J. C. Lanier.

The thermometer has been crowding the hundred mark. Cantaloupes in market last week. Now look out for watermelons.

Fruit Jars Masons P. L., Cheap at the Old Brick Store. One of the most stylish things this weather is a palm leaf fan.

50lbs Rutabaga Seeds—now is the time—at the Old Brick Store. How we all do miss the soldier boys. The town is positively dull.

Ladies and Misses, Opera slippers at cost for cash. J. B. CHERRY & Co. More grass has been killed during the past week than you can shake a stick at.

$6 will buy Point Lace, the best Flour at the Old Brick Store. Potatoes bugs are plentiful. You can see them promenading the street most any time.

The Cash will be paid for 10,000 lbs. Beeswax at the Old Brick Store. The M. E. Sunday School had a pleasant time at their lawn party last Friday night.

Ladies and Misses, Opera slippers at cost, for cash. J. B. CHERRY & Co. ARRIVED—Breakfast Bacon, Reliable Hams, Pickled Beef, at the Old Brick Store.

The Wilmington papers are giving us some interesting reading about the encampment. FOR SALE—I have an organ I will sell for $20. JOHN DUCKETT.

Personal. Miss Lillie Peebles is visiting in Wilson. Miss Nannie Lawrence is visiting relatives in town.

Mr. Z. Z. Moore is sick. He went out home Monday morning. Mr. S. A. Redding spent a day or two in Kinston last week.

Miss Nannie King has returned from her visit to Kinston. Mr. Alex. Heilbronner has gone on a two weeks vacation to Tarboro.

Master Larry Heilbronner returned from a visit to Tarboro last week. Mr. W. A. B. Earne is spending some days in Farmville and vicinity.

Miss Ella Harrington spent a few days last week visiting Miss Bessie Jarvis. Misses Neille and Ollie Moye, of Wilson, are visiting the family of E. A. Moye, Esq.

Mr. F. G. James and Col. Harry Skinner attended the encampment at Wrightsville last week. Misses Hortense Forbes and Maida Williams are visiting in Washington. Some of the boys are sad.

Miss Mattie Abrams of Rocky Mount, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Schultz, has returned home. Mr. Charles Laughinghouse one of the brightest young men of our county, is studying medicine under Drs. O'Hagan and Brown.

It is a source of much pleasure to his many friends to know that Dr. F. W. Brown continues to improve. On Saturday he and his family left for Oeraoke.

Rev. G. L. Finch returned home last Wednesday after an absence of two weeks. He had been visiting relatives in the Roanoke section of our State and also in Petersburg, Va.

Mrs. L. Heilbronner and daughter, Ray, of Tarboro, Miss Freda Hoffman, of Scotland Neck, Mr. A. Heilbronner, and son, Louis, of Wilson are visiting Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Lang.

Messrs. J. E. Tucker and J. L. Fleming, two young men of this county who recently graduated at Wake Forest College, will take charge of Hamilton Institute during the coming session. The REFLECTOR office has printed some nice circulars for their school.

Mr. A. L. Spandour, a water works contractor, of Norfolk, has been here this week for the purpose of examining the bottom of the river so as to ascertain the kind of foundation will be best for the railroad bridge. He bored into the river yesterday.

Hon. L. C. Latham and family, Mr. R. J. Cobb and family, Misses Sue Kinsaul, Pattie Cobb and Rosalind Rountree, Rev. G. A. Oglesby and W. M. Brown left on steamer Greenville yesterday morning for Oeraoke. The party with their servants numbered seventeen.

The soldier boys will be home the last of the week. The freshest is down and repairs to the bridge are finished, so there is no more trouble about getting in to town and out.

The railroad is completed to Great Swamp, four miles from Greenville. In a few days more the train will be here.

There is too much going in the river by the boys. Bathing is healthy, but swimming around in a muddy river is not healthy.

It is said that ripe tomatoes will remove ink and other stains from white cloth also from the hands. There will soon be enough of them to try the experiment.

Orders for job printing are increasing. That is the way we like to have it—bring on your orders. Another lot of nice material has just been ordered.

Rev. J. W. Wildman is preaching a series of sermons on the flood. He delivered two excellent ones last Sunday which will be followed by two others next Sunday.

Mr. Charles Turnage who lives on the farm of Mrs. Laura B. Anderson just South of town, brought us the first ripe watermelon of the season on last Friday, and won the prize we offered.

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday of last week the County Board of Education examined applicants for teachers' certificates. A large number of teachers were examined.

We hear that the railroad will begin running a regular schedule to this place the first of August. The trains will only come to the other side of the river until the bridge can be built.

Some of the nicest plums one generally sees were brought us Saturday by Mr. J. L. W. Nobles. He presented us with a basket full of the wild goose variety. They were very large red plums and the flavor was elegant.

The town is quiet enough. Mayor and Chief of Police both gone and the remaining Police has nothing to do.

Patterson's Springs advertised in this paper gives the lowest rates of any Springs in the western part of the State.

We hope this nice weather will cause such improvements as will result in the making of better crops than the outlook of two weeks ago indicated.

Mr. Robert Maje went across the bridge yesterday morning, and killed four herons, three whites and one blue. The blue one stood six feet high.

At the examination of teachers for certificates last week, one of the applicants wrote an answer to the question in geography, 'What are political divisions?' Small circles extending around the globe near the poles.

The man who is too stingy to advertise in his home paper is greedy enough to drive hard bargains with his customers. He who is too poor to advertise had better quit the business in which he is engaged and go to Oklahoma.—Navosta (Tex.) Tablet.

His many friends in and around Greenville will regret very much to learn of the death of Mr. George Cobb, which occurred on Monday, the 8th inst., near Penny Hill. He had been sick only about two weeks with typhoid fever. To the bereaved family we tender our deepest sympathy.

The business man who refuses to advertise because times are hard commits a very great mistake. When times are hard and money scarce, the man who has cash to pay looks out for bargains, and the best way to catch him is to advertise cheap goods. If you have bargains to offer this is the very time, above all others to let cash buyers know it.—Still Eagle, (Va.)

New Officers. Below are the new officers for Covenant Lodge I. O. O. F.: P. G.—W. M. Brown. N. G.—O. W. Harrington. V. G.—J. A. K. Tucker. R. S.—W. L. Brown. S. S.—M. S. Schultz. Treas.—D. L. James. Warden.—H. A. Blow. Conductor.—F. Johnston.

We have been requested to announce that all young men of the town who are interested in the organization of a boat club will meet at the REFLECTOR office to-morrow evening at 8:15 o'clock. The object of the club will be to arrange for races and sports on the river. No doubt the club can afford considerable amusement and we hope it will be organized. All are invited, whether owners of boats or not.

Every person in the community deeply sympathized with Mr. and Mrs. James Brown in the sad affliction that visited them last week. On Wednesday morning their little boy, just a few days past one year old, was taken away from the love of fond parents and carried to the Father above. God had use for the little flower, hence plucked it from its earthly stem and transplanted it in the presence of His throne. May He in His loving kindness and mercy comfort the hearts that have been so sorely bereaved. The remains of the child were interred Thursday afternoon in Cherry Hill Cemetery. Rev. G. A. Oglesby conducting the service.

The reports of the heads of the different departments of the Post Office show that the total receipts of the New York City office during the past year were $5,430,170.84, and the total expenditure $2,033,187.58, giving a net revenue to the Government of $3,396,983.26.

William Knable, the first baseman of the Johnstown (Pa.) baseball team, was about to marry Miss Abler on the evening of the fatal disaster. He and his fiancée were waiting for the clergyman when the flood rushed down and separated them. Both escaped drowning and their wedding was celebrated last week.

He's Been There. Uncle John Cherry run up from Oeraoke Monday to spend a few days at home, and will return to Oeraoke Saturday.

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday of last week the County Board of Education examined applicants for teachers' certificates. A large number of teachers were examined.

We hear that the railroad will begin running a regular schedule to this place the first of August. The trains will only come to the other side of the river until the bridge can be built.

Some of the nicest plums one generally sees were brought us Saturday by Mr. J. L. W. Nobles. He presented us with a basket full of the wild goose variety. They were very large red plums and the flavor was elegant.

How would it do for Greenville to get up a celebration for the completion of the railroad? What say the people? It is time we were making this town known to the outside world. We will be glad to hear suggestions in this matter.

The Wandering Trunk. Miss Meta Chestnut, the primary teacher at the Institute here last session, is teaching near Keelsville. She attended the Teachers' Assembly at Morehead and came back to Greenville on the 5th inst., expecting her trunk to get here on the 6th, when she intended leaving for Keelsville. Her trunk didn't come, but she went on to Keelsville, leaving orders for the trunk to be sent down on steamer Greenville Tuesday when it would be met at Pactolus and taken to her. By some means said trunk went down on steamer Myers. Some one met the Greenville and as there was no trunk on board, went back home thinking it had not come, consequently the Myers had to take it on to Washington and bring it back to Greenville Wednesday. On Thursday she sent to Greenville after her trunk just after it had been put on steamer Greenville with orders to carry it to Washington and leave it if it was not met at Pactolus. The last we heard of it, it had at last found rest in the warehouse at Washington. BAD BOY.

Agricultural and Mechanical College. The following compose the faculty of the Agricultural and Mechanical College, all but the President: Prof. of Agriculture, Live Stock and Dairying, Mr. Jos. R. Chamberlain, of Cornell University, now of the N. C. Agricultural Experiment Station.

Prof. of Horticulture, Arboriculture and Botany, Mr. W. F. Massey, of the Miller Manual School of Virginia.

Prof. of Chemistry—pure and agricultural—Mr. W. A. Withers, of Cornell University, formerly of N. C. Experiment Station.

Prof. of English and Bookkeeping, Mr. D. H. Hill, Jr., (son of Gen'l D. H. Hill), now Prof. of English in the Military and Agricultural College of Central Ga.

Prof. of Practical Mechanics and Mathematics—pure and applied—Mr. J. H. Kinelay, of Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College.

Foreman of Farms and Garden Mr. B. S. Skinner, of Hertford county.

Steward, Mr. J. N. Hubbard, of Wake.

Matron, Mrs. Susan C. Carrell, of Herald's Store, Sampson county N. C.

The Grand Lodge Knights of Honor will meet in Waynesville next Wednesday. Mr. Henry Sheppard goes as a delegate from Greenville representing Insurance Lodge.

The new Brooklyn Directory for 1889 shows the population to number about 875,000 souls, an increase of 312,000 since 1880.

Steve Brodie, the bridge jumper, will go over Niagara Falls in his rubber suit, on August 10th, for $3,000, to be given by hotel and railroad people.

Gov. Fitzhugh Lee, of Virginia, will accept the Superintendency of the Lexington (Va.) Military Institute. He will not take the place until his term of office as Governor expires on Jan. 1, 1890.

Three murderers will pay the penalty of their crimes, Friday, Aug. 23, on the Tombs gallows, New York City. They are Patrick Packenhain, James Nolan and John Lewis, whose cases have been affirmed by the Court of Appeals, which ordered that a new day be appointed for their execution.

The reports of the heads of the different departments of the Post Office show that the total receipts of the New York City office during the past year were $5,430,170.84, and the total expenditure $2,033,187.58, giving a net revenue to the Government of $3,396,983.26.

THE EASTERN REFLECTOR.
GREENVILLE, N. C.

Fond of Notes.

It is not always easy to tell why woodpeckers select one tree rather than others of the same kind in the forest to begin their operations upon, or why they attack one side of a tree and leave the other untouched. Commonly it will be found, no doubt, that worms or ants are concealed beneath the point selected, and that the woodpecker is guided in his search by the sense of hearing.

But there are circumstances which go to show that the woodpecker is not always searching for food or guided by sound. In the winter, when worms and ants are dormant and silent, he will make every echo for a long distance around by tapping on a dead, dry branch, or on the trunk of a tree. He does not then apply his ear to the bark to listen for the noise of the worms beneath, but his object seems to be to make all the noise he can himself.

The yellow hammer, or golden winged woodpecker, is most fearless, because he is most fearless and most nearly domestic in his habits. Where hollow trunks of trees are found, he usually confines his attentions to them; but in prairie regions he bores holes through hollow pillars, steeples of churches, and other structures which promise an opening into an interior.

But there must be some other motive at times, for the writer has watched one of these birds working with unusual racket upon one side of an oak board, where by moving six inches he was at perfect liberty to look over upon the other side of the board and investigate whatever he could be hoping to reach by boring a hole through it. Indeed, it was perfectly immaterial upon which side of it he should begin operations.

The year the writer occupied a house which had large, hollow pillars in front. Some smooth, round holes in them, about two inches in diameter, indicated what freedom the yellow hammers had used and would use again. In the early spring the holes were made, and it was impossible to sleep in that house after daybreak.

The birds would not have been harmed for this, even if it had become necessary to remove the pillars and pitch a tent on the spot; but some experimenting was done at their expense.

It was plain that noise was what they cared most for, as they would bore a hole within a few inches of one which was already formed, and which would answer every possible purpose as well as the new one. To try them they bored a hole through a board, probably a nail case, set bottom upwards on a carpenter's bench in front of the house.

The yellow hammers could not prevent it, for their intention was to bore the hole through the board, and not to pitch a tent on the spot; but some experimenting was done at their expense.

THE FAITH OF THE BRAHMIN.

His Belief concerning God, Jesus Christ and the Bible.

The faith of the enlightened Brahmin is on a very different level from that of the common people. If you ask concerning his own belief he will tell you that he believes in one God; according to his particular school he believes you that God is everything, or that he unites with matter to become everything. All proceed from him and all effort should be directed to re-absorb him into him. Good comes from this result by the gradual purification in successive incarnations of Karma, or the residuum of unrequited passions and unexpiated sins after death. Bad acts debase men more and more.

"What happens to devil worshippers and other such outcast races?" asked a friend of mine. "They go to hell," was the simple reply. "Observing my look of astonishment at the sweeping condemnation, the Brahmin with whom we were talking took it to indicate a doubt of the accommodation of the Brahmin to the gods. 'Oh, we have twenty, thirty, plenty of hells,' Shiva, Vishnu, and the other gods and goddesses are regarded as embodiments of the various divine attributes of the Brahmin. To reveal his own history as well as my own sacred books, but if what is told of him is true I believe that he must have been a saint, if not a divine incarnation.

"The Brahmin who had seen me had his own revelation. 'We,' he said, 'have Krishna, you have Christ. You say that your Christ was crucified—our Krishna was shot.' It may be that these are as these are not far from Christianity.

On the contrary, the vice chancellor of the Calcutta university aptly compared a contest with them to the contest of a man with a hundred in the 'Talisman.' The sharp sword of the crusader which adapts itself to every stroke. You ask why, if general, they spring the holes in the mass to idol worship. 'Ignorant people and females,' you are told, 'cannot at once comprehend the universal presence. We teach them first the image, and then the spirit, for he is everywhere—and from that we go on to explain that he pervades the universe.'

It is doubtful if the 'ignorant people and females' ever get beyond the first stage. One Hindu ascetic, with an extraordinary love of quotation and devotion to Thomas a Kempis, cited not only Roman Catholic arguments, but the 'Theory of Atoms,' in defense of idol worship. He demonstrated thereby that nothing, not even the leg of a table, was unchangeable; that, therefore, the divine presence could not be confined to that which the perfectly enlightened mind could see and worship the omnipresent as well in that piece of wood as in any other object visible or invisible.—The Nineteenth Century.
