Poetry.

LISTEN.

BY ELLA WHELER WILCOX.

Whoever you are as you read this,
Whatever your trouble or grief,
I want you to know and to heed this:
The day draweth near with relief.
No sorrow, no woe is unending,
The heaven seems voiceless and dumb;
So surely an answer will come.
Whatever temptation is near you,
Whose eyes on this simple verse fall;
Remember good angels will hear you,
And help you stand, if you call.
Though stung with despair I beseech Thee,
Whenever your losses, your need,
Believe, when these printed words reach you.
Believe you were born to succeed.
You are stronger, I tell this minute,
Than any unfortunate fate;
And a coveted prize—you can win it,
While life lasts 'tis never too late.

Endorsing.

The system of endorsing is all wrong, and should be utterly abolished. It has been the financial ruin of more men than, perhaps, all other causes. Bookkeeping, a journal devoted to merchants, clerks, and business men, advises our young men especially to study the matter carefully in all its bearings, and adopt some settled policy to govern their conduct, so as to be ready to answer the man who asks them to sign his note. What responsibility does one assume when he endorses a note? Simply this: He is held for payment of the amount in full, principal and interest, if the maker of the note, through misfortune, mismanagement, or insanity, fails to pay it. Notice, the endorser assumes all this responsibility, with no voice in the management of the business, and no share in the profits of the transaction, if it proves profitable; but with a certainty of loss if for any of the reasons stated, the principal fails to pay the note.

OVER THE STATE.

Happenings of Interest Occurring in North Carolina.

AS REFLECTED FROM OUR EXCHANGES

A new cotton factory is going up at Franklinsville.

Honey in great quantities has been found on Pilot mountain.

A $200,000 saw mill will soon be erected at Morehead City.

Chatham county wheat crops as reported will turn out badly.

Edgecombe—25,000 pounds of butter this year is pretty good.

Three thousand dollars has been collected for the soldier's home.

In two days Winston shipped 86,- 277 pounds of manufactured tobacco.

Mr. G. Watson, of Sanford, N. C., has discovered a rich gold mine in that vicinity.

In the county of Lenoir, corn is exceedingly scarce among the farmers owing to short crops.

Mr. C. A. Camp, Scotland Neck, will plant 20 acres of rice this season to only two last year. He is satisfied that it is a paying crop.

Lee Hawkins was drowned at Elizabeth City a few days ago. He was intoxicated, it is thought, and fell overboard from a boat.

Sixty-four fertilizer licenses have been issued this year in North Carolina. Heretofore about 85 companies have done business in this State.

New Berne Journal:—A good rain fell Monday and night and Tuesday morning. It is the first time since the opening of the spring that the ground has been sufficiently wet.

Monroe Enquirer-Express:—Three fires in one night was never experienced before last Wednesday night probably in this county. On that night Mr. S. L. Gardner's residence in Monroe, Mr. Wm. Privett's kitchen, a mile and a half from town, and Shiloh Methodist church, six miles from town, were burned down.

Raleigh News and Observer:—Mrs.
Gill, widow of the late Ransom Gill, who was so mysteriously murdered a short time ago in Franklin county, has offered a reward of two hundred dollars for the apprehension of the party who committed the crime.
Some new developments have been made in the case and this reward may lead to the detection of the assassin.

Wilmington Star:—A horse running away with a dray yesterday on Water street created a brief but lively sensation on that busy thoroughfare. The driver, Jimmie Miller, colored, was thrown off the dray and falling in front of the wheels was run over and severely hurt about the hips and one of his arms. The accident was caused by the breaking of the harness breaking.

Winston Daily:—Died, this morning at 3 o'clock, Annie Lee, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Barton, age 8 months. Her remains will be taken to Reidsville on to-morrow morning for interment. Track

Judicial Convention.

The Judicial Convention of the Democratic party of the Third District, is hereby called to meet at Rocky Mount on Thursday, July 3rd, at 2 o'clock, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Solicitor. F. A. WOODARD, Ch. Dem. Judicial Ex. Com.

Any one interested in the sick-benefit, funeral-aid, and death-beneficiary associations of the United States can help make the statistics of their organizations for the forthcoming census more complete and disseminate the knowledge of the good work they are doing by sending the names of such societies as they may know of, and the addresses of their principal officers, to Mr. Charles A. Jenney, Special Agent of the Eleventh Census, 58 William street New York City.

A correspondent of the Raleigh Southern Farmer has suggested that Dr. T. B. Kingsbury, editor of the Wilmington Messenger, be chosen to fill the chair of Mental and Moral Philosophy of the University of North Carolina, recently made vacant by the death of Dr. Mangum. The Southern Farmer also added a hearty endorsement of Dr. Kingsbury and we are glad to see that the mention of his name is meeting with general approval. A man more admirably adapted to this high position cannot be selected. He is a man of high character, a ripe scholar, and eminently fitted to occupy the position with credit to himself and honor to his State and to the University. It is time North Carolina was recognizing the ability and worth of her sons and bestowing her honors upon them. The REFLECTOR hopes Dr. Kingsbury will be selected.

The North Carolina Conference of the M. E. Church, South, has just lost another of its ablest and best men, and one whose death will be sorely felt. Dr. J. E. Mann died in St. Louis on the night of the 23rd of typhoid fever. He had gone there as one of the clerical delegates from the North Carolina Conference to the General Conference held in that city, and was taken sick while there. Dr. Mann in his career filled many positions of importance in his conference and made friends of all among whom he labored. While presiding elder of the Washington District he was frequently in Greenville and had hosts of warm friends among this people who hear of his death with deep regrets. He was a native of Alamance county and was 60 years of age. The degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred on him by Trinity College a few years ago.

The handsomest trade edition of any newspaper we have yet seen published in North Carolina was the issue of the Statesville Landmark of May 22nd, published under the auspices of the Statesville Chamber of Commerce. The paper was 24 pages besides the cover, and 11,000 copies were issued. It was complete in every respect, beautifully printed, elegantly illustrated and interestingly compiled. The money spent by the Chamber of Commerce in such a paper was wisely invested, for it will bring forth fruit a hundred fold to the good of Statesville. Editor Caldwell is to be congratulated upon so excellent an edition of his paper. It makes us all the more anxious to vote for him for Governor. By the way, other towns might be doing themselves credit and bringing advancement to their gates by organizing Chambers of Commerce and following the example of the Statesville Chamber, namely, have a trade edition of the local paper issued. No advertisement can be equal to it.

Dishonesty Never Thrives.

There is a fellow out in Chicago who would have acted the part of wisdom to have stopped talking just a little before he did. His name was Ed. L. Huntley and he did business under the style of Ed. L. Huntley & Co. They purported to be in the clothing business and for some months past flooded the country—especially the Southern portion—with flaming posters. One of these circulars happened to fall in the hands of the writer and we never saw a more vilely disgusting sheet. Instead of proceeding in a legitimate way to do an honorable business Huntley set about to build up a trade for himself by pulling down and slandering others; in other words he thought to bring himself into note and make friends by defaming and slandering certain classes of business men and trying to excite a prejudice against them—his attacks being chiefly upon the Israelitish merchants who can be found doing business in nearly every Southern city, town and village. But contrary to his expectation Huntley's vile circulars only served to bring contempt upon his own head. The Clothing Gazette, published in New York, began an investigation to see who Ed. L. Huntley & Co., of Chicago, were. They found no such firm, but found one Ed. L. Huntley who has been shown up to be a fraud of the first magnitude, a man void of all principle, and whose character and past history were of the blackest type. Huntley was doing business, (on paper) that is true, but the large factories and salesrooms he represented himself as owning were all a myth. He never had any factory nor even a store, and did not own a suit of clothes outside of his personal apparel. But his style of doing business was this: He did have enough space for a desk and a pile of circulars in the office of some other firm and did his business through the mails. Whenever someone was deluded into sending him an order for clothing he turned it over to the firm who had rented him the space to fill and had the bill made out in his own name. Huntley & "Co." also gave the names of several banks in Chicago as reference to their financial standing, but these banks have published a card stating that the reference was without any authority whatever, that they knew nothing of such a firm and could not vouch for it financially or otherwise.

The man who attempts to do business in the above style is deserving the contempt of every lover of honesty. From Ed. L. Huntley's downfall this moral can be drawn: Don't try to build up yourself by trying to vilify and pull down somebody else.

Farmers' Institute.

On Thursday and Friday of last week Hon. John Robinson, Commissioner of Agriculture and Prof. Massey, of the N. C. Agricultural and Mechanical College, were in Greenville holding a Farmers' Institute. In every point save attendance the Institute was a decided success, but contrary to the expectation of the originators in the movement there were very few farmers present to be benefited by the meeting. True it was a busy time with them in their crops, yet we dare say the information they could have obtained at the Institute last week would be worth many fold more to them than the two days work will amount to. However, the occasion was very interesting and those who attended were glad of an opportunity to be present and receive such valuable information.

Commissioner Robinson was introduced by Hon. Willis R. Williams and addressed the Institute upon some of the causes of agricultural depression, and suggested the remedies for the same. He was followed by Prof. Massey on general agricultural topics, particularly on the pea culture and the manorial value of the pea vine.

J. J. Laughinghouse was called upon to give his theory and practical experience in the Irish potato culture, which he did in an interesting manner. These consumed the morning session and the Institute adjourned for dinner.

AFTERNOON.

Prof. Massey was requested to tell the advantage of Agricultural Colleges, and why such institutions are better than other colleges for those who expect to follow farming as a livelihood. He spoke very entertainingly, and showed how such institutions were not for the purpose of learning and practicing the pupils in such manual labor as every ordinary farm hand was already acquainted with, but to train both mind and hand practically, and scientifically that their pursuit may be carried to the highest success.

R. R. Cotten spoke upon general cultivation of crops, draining, use of fertilizers, &c.

J. B. Yellowley spoke of the rapid progressive developments of the South, but that agricultural progress had not kept pace with other industries and pursuits. Cause of this the farmers had been too slow in discarding the old methods and getting out of the old ruts of the past. Diversified farming the only hope of our country.

Gov. Jarvis spoke upon agricultural education and benefits to come from A. & M. College. While our North Carolina College offered excellent opportunities, he regretted that not a pupil from Pitt county was availing himself of them. He also argued for a better relation between land owner and laborer, and showed how the farmer could be greatly benefitted in this direction.

Prof. Massey followed and spoke upon the value of oyster shell lime as a fertilizer and its varied effects upon different soils as a decomposer of humus.

The Institute then adjourned to meet Friday morning.

FRIDAY'S SESSION.

Allen Warren exhibited cuttings and gave examples in grafting, rooting and budding plants and vines. He also explained how to set out strawberry plants.

Prof. Massey lectured upon the making of ensilage and how to build silos and the best forage for making ensilage. R. R. Cotten spoke upon the same subject. Remarks were also made by Gov. Jarvis, A. J. Moye and others.

The question how to get rid of nut grass was asked and remarks made upon it by R. R. Cotten, C. C. Kirkman and Com. Robinson. Mr. Cotten suggested planting the land in some crop to keep it thoroughly shaded. Mr. Kirkman suggested turning geese upon the land and plowing it frequently so the geese can get the nuts. Com. Robinson agreed with the suggestion for shading the land.

AFTERNOON.

Prof. Massey spoke at some length upon the methods of preparation for planting and cultivation of Irish potatoes of late crop.

Sheriff Warren followed upon the cultivation of strawberries and raspberries.

The Institute was most interestingly entertained by C. C. Kirkman upon the propagation of bees, and the management of the same.

Before adjourning the following resolutions offered by J. B. Yellowley were unanimously adopted:

Resolved: That the thanks of the farmers of Pitt county are due and hereby tendered to Hon. John Robinson and Prof. W. F. Massey for the valuable information they have disseminated among the farmers of the county, and the increased interest in farming they have instilled among those who were present.

Resolved: That a copy of this I sent to the REFLECTOR with request to publish.

This synopsis of what transpired by no means conveys the full interest of the Institute. All the talks on the different subjects were good and instructive. We are sorry more of the farmers did not hear them.

Washington Correspondent.

From Our Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, D. C. May 23, 1890. There is a very common impression among the American people, especially those who disdain to bother themselves with the tiresome details of Congressional action and public finance, that the U. S. treasuries are filled with inexhaustible loads of gold and silver, and that the problem of "reducing the surplus" is the great urgency of the times. All manner of schemes have been suggested to this end, and by those who should know better. A few billions for sea-coast defenses, with a neat fortune for every soldier, and a good farm, modestly stocked for every poor man, it is thought would somewhat relieve this bulging state of affairs. But it remained for Senator Plumb, of Kansas, to bring out the most fantastic remedy. He has introduced two bills in Congress providing for an organization called the "Grand Army of Labor." All citizens of 21 years of age are entitled to membership. No one shall work more than 4 hours a day, nor more than 5 days a week, nor more than six weeks without an intermission of two weeks. Every citizen in the U. S. is to be provided with a governmental farm. The government is also to undertake public enterprise for the purpose of providing labor for members, whose daily recompense is to be $4.

Where is all this money coming from? The last statement from the Treasury showed the amount of available cash on hand to be about $35,000,000. Senator German, a member of the appropriation committee, stated before the Senate that the pension payments from 1891 for several years will amount to $200,000,000, and nobody contradicted him. The new tariff bill is said to reduce the public revenues about $71,000,000. This will leave for all public purposes, except pensions, about $180,000,000 of the annual revenue, and which is also about the size of the deficit that will be found in the Treasury at the end of the next fiscal year if the bills calling for expenditures which have passed one house and are likely to pass the other, are perfected. Besides, the importers are organizing and are determined to cut down the rates or every article in the tariff schedule.

A delegation of 250 representing all the wholesale importing Houses of New York City, will besiege the Capitol this week, and the importers of other cities will also be on hand in view of the indifference of the majority in Congress to money matters these visiting delegations will no doubt be graciously received and accommodated.

185 private pension bills have been passed by Congress this session. Senator Ingalls has introduced a bill to put the minimum rate for invalid pensions at $4 per month.

Senator Sherman has introduced a bill providing for a special pension of $25 per month to the surviving soldiers, sailors and marines who were on board the steamer "Sultana" when her boiler exploded April 27, 1865. 2300 enlisted men who had been prisoners in the South were packed on board and sent North. About 8 miles above Memphis, the boilers of the steamer exploded at 2 o'clock at night. About 1700 were killed or drowned, and about 200 died next day from exposure in the water. 141 survivors have signed a petition for the passage of the bill.

Senator Butler presented the petition of the heads of nine families, aggregating 72 persons, that Congress appropriate $100 per capita to enable them to emigrate to Liberia and maintain themselves six months. The petition had a printed heading, and it was said that an organized movement in the South indicated a scheme of wholesale deportation of the colored people of South Carolina. If these are not good and respectable citizens they have no claim upon public charity. If these are good citizens why should the government pay $500 or $600 to get a family of them out when it lets a number of bad Liberia and charges them nothing?

In the House the tariff debate this week was no better than a squabble, the amendments being regularly voted down as they were offered. The bill was voted on Wednesday and passed the House all right. But wait till it gets to the Senate. Senator Allison is waiting for it. The west will show its teeth. He says that he is profoundly convinced that "the conditions had changed," and will handle the McKinley bill so that the author won't know it when he sees it. In the Senate Mr. Teller denounced the Windom silver bill in vigorous terms, and promised that with free coinage, wheat would go up to $1.10. He didn't say that it would go to that price in Liverpool, where the world's price is made, but virtually confessed that inflation was the object.

Colonel William E. Anderson, President of the Citizen's National Bank, dropped dead in his office on Wednesday evening about 5 o'clock, from heart disease. He was a man noted for his many virtues and good qualities, and thoroughly beloved by those who knew him. He came from Wilmington at the age of seventeen and became connected with the banking institutions of this place, and held positions in them till his death.

On the 17th inst., about dark, a white man named "Sonny" Bryan about 33 years old, was shot and killed on Kense river about six miles from the city. It seems he and a man named Pulley were looking for a boat which was in his charge when shot, and it is supposed the shooting was done by parties employed to watch some posted land near where he was killed. From facts which subsequently developed it is impossible at this time to apprehend the men supposed to be concerned with the murder, as the evidence against them is only circumstantial, though of the strongest kind. The shooting is believed to have been done with an old fashioned powder and ball pistol of Col's make, of thirty-eight calibre. Dr. James McKee made the post-mortem examination and stated the ball entered the breast on the right side three inches below the nipple, passing through the heart and lungs, producing death instantly. The coroner has been investigating the case, but so far no important features have developed, though it is likely important evidence tending to discovery of the guilty one will be found on further investigation.

The ceremony of laying the first brick of the new mechanical building of the A. and M. College took place Friday evening of 5 o'clock, the brick being placed in position by Miss Maggie Merrimon. The first floor of the building will contain the machine and forge shops, each 40x30 feet, the office and class room 23x24 feet, and wash room 10x23 feet. The second floor is to be used for pattern shop, drawing room and carpenter's shop, which will accommodate a class of thirty members. In the summer of 1892 the machine shop is to be fully equipped with tools, lathes, and other improved machinery. This College is a feature which our people are proud of, and we have no doubt but it will turn out skilled mechanics that will reflect credit on the institution. There are already too many young men in the professions slaving away for a mere living, but there is a demand for skilled mechanics and their services command high pay.

R. A. LEIGH.

Here's a Howdy Do!!

"Herald the glad tidings to the four corners of the civilized world! Proclaim it from the house-tops. That at a meeting of the Board of Education of Cumberland county, in this city Monday, the following resolution was unanimously passed: "Ordered that the Superintendent of Public Instruction be instructed to forbid the use of Mrs. C. P. Spencer's 'First Steps in North Carolina History,' and 'Goodrich's Histories of the United States.'"

"Such books as mentioned above have done no little to poison the minds of the present generation, and prejudice them against men and measures of the past, men to whom this generation should delight to pay honor, and whose memory they should fittingly perpetuate, and whose career is a rich legacy to us all. Cumberland county has heretofore planted itself in advance of the other counties throughout the State, and it becomes them to follow suit by emulating the most worthy example she has thus set. To use a common expression, the resolution is a "clincher," and puts an end, for all time to come, to the ill-fated and partially written "First Steps in North Carolina History," and another trashy publication of about equal merit. Such publications should be as speedily expunged from our public schools as possible, and our children taught to scorn them and their authors with contempt. For the suppression of such, the Observer has the proud satisfaction of knowing that it contributed its proportionate share, and truly hopes that every county, from Cherokee to Catawba, will adopt the above resolution on the first Monday in June."

MR. EDITOR:—I mail you a paper containing an article from the Fayetteville Observer upon the action of the Board of Education of Cumberland county with the request that you publish the comments of the Observer in full.

My belief in the REFLECTOR'S patriotism and its interest in our general welfare precludes the idea that you would hesitate one moment to fully and strongly endorse the action of the Board of Education of Cumberland county. I feel assured that the Board of Education of Pitt will commend this action and adopt similar resolutions.

It is well known that Mrs. Spencer's History is not an impartial one.

Besides containing many errors, it does injustice to the dead past and living present, and to adopt this partisan writing would be a reflection on North Carolina manhood, and a reproach to those dead heroes who bared with blood stained bodies the invader's approach to our homes to the glorification of those malcontents who remained at home rejoicing that the life blood of the flower of Southern chivalry was flowing in vain.

To teach the children of our State such history as this poisons their minds more to living truths than the most vituperative and venomous south-later in all his malignity could accomplish.

The authors of such histories can only inherit the abolitionist prejudices of their New England ancestors and use these methods to foist and force them upon the youth of the South, thinking perchance they will make these false sentiments as readily as we have swallowed other Northern histories of our people. Such attempts should be frustrated and such publications suppressed.

It is to be hoped that some day Southern history will be written with justice to all, and we hail with gladness the move now on foot to establish a chair of history at our University.

As we to teach our children Northern history of Southern facts.

Feeling assured that our county Board of Education will condemn such works if brought to their notice I request publication of the clipping.

Sincerely,

The catalogue of the University of North Carolina for 1889-'90 is before us, showing 200 students an increase of 13 over last year. The Law School is flourishing, having 33 students. The large number of Post-graduates (14) shows that our young men are seeking higher instruction. The Medical and Pharmaceutical department under Dr. R. H. Whitehead will be opened in September next. We note that departments of Civil, Electrical and Mining Engineering are to be opened also. Large and valuable additions of apparatus have been added to the departments of Physics, Chemistry and Natural History. A new course leading to the degree of Bachelor of Letters, established in which all studies after the first year, except English are elective, thus giving additional opportunities for the choice of studies looking possibly to the business the student intends to pursue.
