PAY UP AND GET A BIG PRIZE.

By special arrangement made with the publishers of the Farm Journal we are enabled to offer a 5-year subscription to that paper to every new subscriber who pays for The Eastern Reflector 1 year ahead and the same offer is made to every old subscriber who will pay back dues and one year in advance—both papers for the price of one only.

In order to get the Farm Journal as a premium for advance payment it will be necessary to walk right up to the captain's office, for we have only a limited number of 5-year subscriptions to dispose of. The Farm Journal is on solid foundation and perfectly trustworthy.

Congressman Baird, of Louisiana died Saturday afternoon in Washington. He had just finished his first term in Congress and had been re-elected to the next Congress.

The dispatches tell that Spain now wants to help the United States. Lieut. Gilmore and the fourteen of the Yorktown's crew who were recently captured by the insurgents, were on an expedition to release some Spanish prisoners held by the rebels, and to show appreciation of this Spain has asked permission for the remaining Spanish troops in the Philippines to join the American forces in finding and releasing the captives, if they are yet alive. However, Spain is treacherous, and if allowed to take a hand in this matter it should be done with a good deal of surveillance.

Two weeks ago near Palmetto, Ga., a negro named Sam Hose murdered Alfred Cranford, a well-to-do farmer, almost killed two of his children, and then outraged Mrs. Cranford within a few feet of the body of her husband. On Sunday last Hose was captured, and in the presence of 2,500 people was chained to a stake, his body dismembered and poured over him, the torch applied and the flesh slowly tortured to death. This was terrible punishment, but it pales in comparison with the awful crime the negro had committed. While in the hands of his captors hose confessed his crime and said a negro preacher named Lie Strickland had hired him to murder Mr. Cranford. The crowd went after the preacher and hung him to a persimmon tree. It is but that people have to take justice in their own hands, but the delays of the law and frequent miscarriages of justice are responsible for it.

Large Spaces Pay Best. The price of space is just the same whether the advertisement that is put into it is a good advertisement or a bad one. An advertisement that costs twenty dollars and pays is good deal better than an advertisement that costs two dollars and does not pay. As a general thing I believe that the two-dollar advertisement is more likely to bring really profitable results than the two-dollar advertisement is. That is to say, if the two-dollar advertisement will result in a ten-dollar sale, the twenty-dollar advertisement will bring more than ten times as much.—Rates.

Bright Idea. A factious citizen was heard to remark that with so many "re-reshment bazars" licensed to do business in Greenville the town authorities should be careful how they make any sidewalk narrower, or they might not be wide enough for some patrons of the "bazars" to walk on.

MURDER AND ARSON HORRIBLE CRIME AT DONGOLA.

CLERK BRUTALLY MURDERED AND STORE ROBBED AND BURNED.

Early this morning at Dongola, in the western portion of the county, was committed the most horrible crime that has ever occurred in Pitt county.

Mr. T. L. Tarnage, a wealthy farmer and merchant, has for several years been doing a large business at Dongola, his store being a short distance from his dwelling house. His nephew, Mr. Robert Tarnage, who was his salesman, slept in the store. About 1 o'clock this morning Mrs. Tarnage awoke her husband telling him she saw a light outside. Mr. Tarnage arose and looking out discovered that his store was on fire. He hurried out and went to the front of the store calling to his nephew. Getting no response he went around to the rear of the store and called him again. Still getting no answer he broke open the rear door of the store and went inside.

Upon getting in the store Mr. Tarnage first went to the bed where his nephew slept intending to wake him up, but found the bed unoccupied. Then passing around the bed to go on into the store he was horrified at stumbling over the dead body of the young man lying upon the floor a short distance from the bed. Mr. Tarnage dragged the body of his nephew out of the building and found that he had been most brutally murdered. His head was almost severed from the body, there being a terrible cut on the throat and another on the back of his neck. There were also several cuts about the temple, shoulder and on the hands. The young man's night clothes were nearly torn off and his feet were bruised as if he had upon all indicating that he had made a desperate struggle with his assailant. The body being so horribly mutilated was an awful spectacle.

The store and all contents were entirely consumed by the fire, not a penny's worth being saved from the building. The books had been left out of the store when the fire was first noticed, and they were also destroyed. Mr. Tarnage's loss is estimated at $10,000, and he had no insurance on either building or stock.

Greenville was considerably excited over the awful crime when the news was telephoned here early this morning. At this writing no clue of the perpetrator has been discovered. Blood hounds were telegraphed for to help hunt down the murderer. It is the hope of all that the author of this double crime may be speedily captured and receive the punishment deserved.—Daily Herald, 25th.

GOOD BUSINESS RULES.

A Greenboro correspondent of the Charlotte Observer writes that in conversation with Mr. Ireland, of the Old Hardware Company, of Greensboro, N. C., he told me of their rules with regard to employees, which I wish to give to other business men. When they employ a man or boy it is stipulated that he is not to swear or smoke in or about their place of business, and he is not to drink intoxicating liquor at all. If caught associating with those of questionable character, he gets a discharge at once. Their position is that if he cannot find suitable associates among their forty-five employees and all the other moral men in town, then there is something wrong with him, and they do not want such a man. When they employ a man they ascertain what church he belongs to, and notify the pastor of that church and expect him to look after the new comers. They have no cash system, nor cashier, but put a man on his honor in making the cash. To show you how it works, they form one of their young men drinking just a little, and fired him, and wrote his parents the cause. In a short time they (the parents) wrote to thank the company for being so positive with their boy, saying that the company had by their strict rules taught the young man a lesson that they had never been able to do, i. e., that he could not drink whiskey and hold his job with good people. Another thing, when they men want credit, they get it when it is known that they work for Odell & Co., a business man that fails to pay his bills cannot stay with them; for they pay their men good salaries, and there is no excuse except extravagance for not paying their bills.

I am writing from memory and may have left out some important items, but it seems to me that these are good rules, and if adopted by business men generally would be incalculable benefit to young men in re-training them from evil habits and helping them to build characters that are worth something to the world. While the young man is benefited, the merchant is also, as it secures for him the very best class of help, help that he can rely on when absent from his business.

He Lost His Breaches. A Lincolnton young man lost his breaches last Sunday under exciting and distressing circumstances. He has a sweetheart down about Hickory Grove and his sweetheart has a father and the father has a dog. The dog and the girl are fond of each other, but the dog is unfriendly to him. The young man went to see his girl Sunday and as he entered the yard, the dog went to see him. The young man went for the front yard fence and the dog went for the back yard of his pants. The dog got there first and when the young man went over the fence he didn't take his breaches with him—the dog had 'em. The only thing that saved the young man's neck was the dissolution of partnership between his breaches and his suspenders.

How the girl fainted and the dog rumped around with the Sunday pants in his mouth, while the young man dodged behind a tree and waited till dark to get home, would require more space to describe than we can spare for this issue. We leave these to the imagination of our readers.—Lincoln Journal.

Petty Criticisms of the Preacher. No atmosphere is so injurious to the hearer, and none so trying to the preacher, as petty criticisms and malicious interpretation. People ought to hear in a large and generous spirit remembering that the preacher is a man of like frailties with themselves, and remembering that no man ought to be judged except on the length and breadth of his teaching. It is possible that one day he may be dull—it is a matter of the weather; it is possible another day that he may be sweet tempered—it is a matter of digestion; the hearers ought to make great allowances for one who has to work with the double instrument of a feeble mind and an imperfect body. Hearers should remember that no man ever can be equal except heteroval on the plan of dressy common-place.—Jan Macdonald in the May Ladies' Home Journal.

What To Cut Off. Cut off the inconsequential papers, if you have to, but always keep your eye on your best papers brought in to you just once. It is better to convince a few people than to talk to many.—Chicago Apparel Gazette.

Revenue Ruling on Leaf Tobacco. The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has issued the following to collectors which is of interest to all dealers in leaf tobacco: To Collectors of Internal Revenue: Internal Revenue Circular No. 523, dated February 20, 1899, relating to the sale of leaf tobacco in quantities less than a hoghead, case or bale, shall not be construed as applying to tobacco composing the breaks on warehouse floors in the loose leaf market where it is sold at public sale, or to qualified dealers in leaf tobacco, or to qualified manufacturers of tobacco, snuff or cigars, or to persons who buy leaf tobacco for export only.

Every person who buys loose leaf tobacco, composing the breaks upon the warehouse floors, for the purpose of reselling the same at public auction, or at a private sale, without removal from the warehouse, is regarded as a dealer in leaf tobacco, and will be required to pay special tax and qualify as a dealer at each place where he carries on business, and must keep a record of his purchases and sales on Book 59, for each place, the same as other qualified leaf dealers.

Every qualified dealer in leaf tobacco who purchases loose leaf tobacco from the farmer or grower of tobacco after it has been placed on the warehouse floors, may resell the tobacco at that place without being required to repack or re-press the same in hogheads, cases or bales.

Loose leaf tobacco purchased outside of a public tobacco warehouse by a qualified dealer in leaf tobacco directly from the farmer or grower, before the same is offered for sale and delivered by such farmer, is required to be put up in hogheads, cases or bales, except the cigar leaf may be sold and delivered by him from his place of business in quantities less than a case or bale for use in his own manufacture exclusively.

In case the farmer or grower of tobacco delivers at a public warehouse, two or more different grades of tobacco in a single package, the tobacco may be removed from the packages to the warehouse floors, assorted and divided into as many grades, cases or bales, as there may be kinds or grades of tobacco contained in such package. The leaf, trash, lugs and spots or cigar wrapper, filler and binder, forming distinct lots, and each lot may be sold separately from the others, without the owner or warehouse man being required to repack or re-press the same in a hoghead, case or bale, and the purchaser in each instance may remove the tobacco from the warehouse floors, to his own use, in baskets, boxes, chests or other receptacles which will enclose and protect the tobacco in transportation.

If the purchaser is a licensed leaf dealer he will, upon removal of the tobacco from the warehouse, be required to repack it in hogheads, cases or bales before it is again offered for sale. Respectfully, (signed) G. W. WATSON, Commissioner.

A certain class of Londoners does not appear to be very lively to the publication in that city of Sunday newspapers, which innovation has just been introduced by The Daily Mail and The Leader. On a recent Sabbath an eminent clergyman preached a sermon against Sunday newspapers, and at the conclusion of his remarks he burned a copy of The Daily Mail in the pulpit—presumably by way of an object lesson.

FRANK WILSON. ORDER AT THE DEPOT. A Good Ordinance Adopted. At the special meeting Monday afternoon the Town Council adopted an ordinance that will put a stop to the bootleggers around the depot, and will also prevent hotel porters and hack drivers from crowding around in the way of passengers getting on and off trains. The ordinance reads as follows: It shall be unlawful for any agent or porter of any hotel or boarding house, for any owner, agent or driver of any hack or other vehicle, or for any other person at the depot or railroad station in this town to obstruct the way to such station or the platform or sidewalk of such station or car so as to hinder or prevent the free and uninterrupted access to or departure from such station or car, or those attending or receiving them at such station. It shall be unlawful for any person at such station to make any unnecessary loud outcry or clamor, or to solicit custom or employment as a tone loud-ner than a conversational one, or to take hold of any passenger's person, clothing, baggage or property, unless previously requested by such passenger to do so. No porter, agent, driver or owner of any hack or other vehicle shall go upon any such platform or sidewalk, or beyond the posts erected by the railroad to mark the limit of such persons, for the purpose of soliciting custom or employment, unless authorized to do so by the police officer on duty at such station; nor shall any person loiter or loaf around such depot or station after being warned not to do so by the policeman on duty. Any person violating the provisions of this ordinance shall on conviction before the Mayor be fined $5 or be imprisoned ten days.

It shall be unlawful for any person at such station to make any unnecessary loud outcry or clamor, or to solicit custom or employment as a tone loud-ner than a conversational one, or to take hold of any passenger's person, clothing, baggage or property, unless previously requested by such passenger to do so. No porter, agent, driver or owner of any hack or other vehicle shall go upon any such platform or sidewalk, or beyond the posts erected by the railroad to mark the limit of such persons, for the purpose of soliciting custom or employment, unless authorized to do so by the police officer on duty at such station; nor shall any person loiter or loaf around such depot or station after being warned not to do so by the policeman on duty. Any person violating the provisions of this ordinance shall on conviction before the Mayor be fined $5 or be imprisoned ten days.

At the special meeting Monday afternoon the Town Council adopted an ordinance that will put a stop to the bootleggers around the depot, and will also prevent hotel porters and hack drivers from crowding around in the way of passengers getting on and off trains. A Strange Case.
Mr. W. M. Wilson is well known to many of our readers. He has undergone a strange experience lately. About ten months ago he accidentally struck his head against a post. He was looking in another direction from the post when he ran against it, consequently the shock was great, although at the time no serious injury resulted. A few weeks after the accident his hair, beard, eyebrows and eyelashes began to drop out. This continued until he was bald as an orange. A little later on his hair began to grow on his head and instead of the natural color it was white, not gray, but white as cotton. In the same manner his beard, eyebrows and lashes were white. He remained this way until a week or so ago, ten months after he received the shock, when his hair began to assume its natural color, a dark brown, and in a month or so Mr. Wilson was, in all probability, the same as his friends knew him a year ago.

Of course the white hair changed Mr. Wilson's appearance. Very few people recognized him here, where he was well known. One time he went into the bank here and it was with great difficulty that he made the cashier identify him. If he had wanted to get money out of the bank instead of making a deposit he could not have done so.—High Point Enterprise.

Factories Help The Farmers.
Apprehension has been expressed that growing manufacturing interests will tend to the disadvantage of the farming interests of the South. Observation of facts do not prove such to be the case, but show a contrary result. The population engaged in manufactures become customers of farmers for their crops of food stuffs. These come of great advantage to farmers and the improvement in farming interests are readily noticeable in the vicinity of manufacturing towns. Of course more work is required, but the work of raising fruits, vegetables, chickens, eggs, milk and butter and taking these to the factory villages where markets are found is not by any means disagreeable work. This can all usually be done by a thrifty farmer with out materially interfering with the production of the usual cotton crop. It would seem as if manufactures benefit the neighboring farmers as they do those owning stock in them or engaged in operating them.—Charlotte Observer.
