KILL FRAUD EXPOSED.

A few counterfeiters have lately been making and trying to sell imitations of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, and other medicines, thereby defrauding the public. This is to warn you to beware of such people, who seek to profit through stealing the reputation of remedies which have been carefully and fully tested, for over 35 years. A sure protection, to you is our name on the wrapper. Look for it, on all Dr. King's, or Bucklen's remedies, as all other are mere imitations. J. B. GRAVE TROUBLE FORSEEN.

It needs but little foresight to tell that when your stomach and liver are badly affected, grave trouble is ahead, unless you take the proper medicine for your disease, as Mrs. John A. Young, of Clay, N. Y., did. She says: "I had neuritis of the liver and stomach, my heart was weakened, and I could not eat. I was a very bad for a long time, but in Electric Bitters, I found just what I needed for the cure. I was cured and cured. Best medicine for weak women. Sold under guarantee by J. L. CARELESS LEGISLATION.

Much vicious legislation is due to carelessness. The volumes of repealed and amended laws are tokens of this thoughtlessness. In 1873 the legislature of New York passed a repealing clause threatened a general jail delivery. The governor refused to sign the measure until an amendment recalled the repealed law. In 1888 the legislature of the same state passed a municipal code, and a whole page of the original was omitted from the copy sent to the executive for approval. Through a legislative blunder the supreme court of Ohio was robbed of a large portion of its jurisdiction two years ago, and an act of a special session of the legislature was required to override the mistake. A repealed or amended law is sometimes an indication of a change in conditions. More often it is a confession of weakness or of shortsightedness. Our tendency to constantly amend makes laws shifting as the sands—S. P. Orth in Atlantic.

The Spread of English.

Some people believe that English will one day be the universal language and look upon the report that the empress dowager of China has undertaken to learn English in her old age as another proof of this. English has had some remarkable ups and downs in its own history. For 300 years it was suppressed from the Norman conquest on to 1362, when it was introduced as the language of the law. When the language of Hanover was installed it was anticipated that there would be another suppression of the English tongue. The wife of George III's eldest son could not speak English, and it was suggested that she should be taught. "That is unnecessary," said her mother; "the house of Hanover having been above twenty years on the throne, to be sure most people speak German as often and as well as English."

Laws on Election Betting.

An old Pennsylvania law provides that if any one shall make any bet on the result of an election within the commonwealth or shall offer to make any such bet by verbal proclamation or written challenge he shall forfeit three times the amount bet or offered to be bet. Probably every state has a statute prohibiting betting on the election. The New Haven Register in referring to the Connecticut statute passed in 1701 says that so far as is known no prosecution has ever taken place under it, nor has it ever deterred any one who saw fit to make a wager from doing so. Betting on elections is clearly unlawful, and the ancient laws prohibiting it have not become extinct by non-enforcement. Like many other enactments, which are sleeping—Philadelphia Ledger.

When Too Tired to Sleep.

If you are overtired—"too tired to sleep," as we sometimes say—bathe the neck and temples with hot water. Bathe the back of the neck particularly. This seems to relax the muscles and the veins that supply the brain with blood. Lie down to sleep with peace, for it will come surely. The same treatment will wonderfully refresh during the day. A headache may often be relieved, even cured, by hot applications to the back of the neck—Washington Star.

He Way of Thinking.

"I have called, doctor, to settle that dental bill, but I think it's a good deal higher than it ought to be."
"But you will remember, madam, that the tooth required a good deal of treatment, and I took the greatest care to make every operation painless."
"I remember it didn't hurt me a particle. That's why the bill seems so outrageous."—Chicago Tribune.

HAY RIDE TO GLENDALE.

For the Reflector
At five o'clock sharp according to agreement our wagon well loaded with "live freight" and buggies in the rear we started for Glendale commencement, about four and half miles from town. With hearts filled to overflowing (for if such an ideal spring evening could not have engendered ecstatic life would have lost its responsive cords) by continued persuasion perfect quietude prevailed until we were beyond police authority, after which we said "Let's serve lunch." From then on you can imagine the rest, as the crowd comprised six grown up girls, five boys and one old man away from his wife. Eating, singing, all talking at once, what real joyous experience! Our train going a little too fast (2 miles an hour) we arrived too early and were compelled to go to the home of Mr. Tyson. We stormed them in accordance with the spirit of the crowd. We found them quite busy getting ready for the entertainment, so we repaired to the front porch and yard where sweet violets were served to each, after which loving couples could be seen here and there enjoying a sweet chat in the twilight hour. Ere long we arrived at the Frog Level school house and found a large crowd of Pitt county's best people assembled. Miss Hornaday for us, an intellectual feast in interest and entertainment from beginning to end. The pupils did splendidly, showed skilled training. We wish to note specially the rendition of "Nearer My God To Thee" in pantomime which was exceedingly well rendered.

Mr. F. C. Harding, speaker for the evening, also added greatly to the enjoyment of the occasion. A more compact, fruitful, appropriate, entertaining and historical address we have not heard. His reference to North Carolina, the possibilities of the slave-foot on our grand state was truly enlightening and we wish it were possible for the youth of our county to have heard it. Just before the last words were spoken by Mr. Harding that our lighting and rain were in abundance, about twelve pairs of bright pretty eyes, not looking in one direction and said to the expression, what small we did.

By the kind assistance of a friend with a lantern we started on our homeward journey. Before going far we noticed in front a stir and light, by the strong voice of the driver from the extreme darkness we learned Fordie, boy and buggy were all in ditch. Such a scene almost made the driver lose his breath with exclamation: "Oh; what shall we do?" "I am dripping on me," "move further," "don't run off the bridge," together with shouting.

We at last arrived at the home of Mr. Tyson again. We soon learned that we would remain with him until the moon "ris" or he would have to furnish us a lantern. In a few minutes a nice old fashioned light wood fire was built, then drying and singing "Let the blessed sunshine in" and other equally appropriate songs. Mr. Tyson had started on our way home. Happy, though wet, the sweet voices of the girls rang out in gospel songs against the intense darkness. About twelve o'clock we loaded each piece of freight to her respective home. Thanks to Miss Hornaday for creating the desire to attend Glendale, which will long be remembered by each one. We congratulate the people of that section in securing so valuable a teacher as Miss Dora Hornaday.

Washington, March 29.—The President today issued a proclamation inviting the nations of the earth to be represented by their military organizations and naval vessels at the celebration to be held in the vicinity of Jamestown, Va., from May 13, until November, 1907. The proclamation is as follows:

A PROCLAMATION.

Whereas the Congress of the United States has passed an act approved March 3, 1905, and entitled "An act to provide for celebrating the birth of the American nation, the first permanent settlement of English-speaking people on the Western Hemisphere by the holding of an international naval, marine and military celebration in the vicinity of Jamestown on the waters of Hampton Road in the State of Virginia to provide for the suitable and permanent commemoration of said event and to authorize an appropriation in aid thereof and for other purposes:"

And whereas section 3 of the said act reads as follows:

"Section 3. The President of the United States is hereby authorized to make proclamation of said celebration setting forth the event to be commemorated, inviting foreign nations to participate by the sending of their naval vessels and such representations of their military organizations as may be proper."

Now, therefore, I, Theodore Roosevelt, President of the United States, by virtue of the authority vested in me by said act do hereby declare and proclaim that the celebration to be held in the year 1907 and near the waters of Hampton Roads, in the State of Virginia, an international naval, marine and military celebration, beginning May 13, and ending not later than November 1, 1907, for the purpose of commemorating the birth of the American nation, the first permanent settlement of English-speaking people on the American continent, made at Jamestown, Virginia, on the 13th of May, 1607, and in order that the great events of the American history which have resulted therefrom may be perpetuated to the present and future generations of American citizens.

And, in the name of the people, I do hereby invite all the nations of the earth to take part in commemoration of the event which has had a far-reaching effect on the course of our history, by sending their naval vessels to the said celebration and by exhibiting such representations of their military organizations as may be proper.

In testimony whereof, I have now set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done in the city of Washington, this twenty-ninth day of March, one thousand nine hundred and five, and in the independence of the United States, the one hundred and twenty-ninth.

MISS COWARD'S SCHOOL

Closes with Splendid Entertainment.
Miss Nancy Coward's school near Greenville closed Thursday night with an entertainment. There was no one present who was not astonished that such exercises could be had at the close of a school in a small building, as most of the public school buildings are.
The program was admirably selected and rendered in such a way as to do great credit both to the teacher and every pupil. Some of the pieces were exceptionally fine and beautiful.
There was a large crowd present, everybody was delighted. Everything that was done or said showed the hand of a teacher and exhibited talent in the children. At the close of the exercises three prizes, which had been offered by the teacher, were presented to the successful competitors. These were won by hard work and the contest was close. The community is, and ought to be proud of their school and they showed their interest by being present almost as entire community, and their outspoken appreciation of the entertainment.
The school will continue a month longer as a private school.
A number of people from Greenville were present and they are all lavish in their praise of the exercises.

Two Horrible Deaths.

Burlington, N. C., March 31.—Today about noon one of the most shocking accidents that has ever occurred in our city happened. Mrs. Edward Teague, wife of one of our most prominent citizens, was so seriously burned that death resulted at five o'clock.
Mrs. Teague was assisting a woman servant in cleaning up her lawn. A large pile of leaves had been raked up and set afire when in some way the flames took hold of the lower edge of her dress and before she had time to extinguish them the wind had fanned them into a blaze that completely enveloped her, and before she could be helped her clothing was burned from her body.
Highpoint, N. C., March 31.—Mrs. Will Roache, of this city, was literally burned alive this afternoon at three o'clock. She was engaged in cleaning up the yard and had set fire to some leaves and rubbish.
In some way her clothing caught fire and before assistance could reach her every vestige of her clothing was burned from her body and the flesh was so nearly roasted that it fell from its place.—Raleigh News and Observer.

Cream or Milk.

A gentleman, an appeared in the office this morning and said that he had the best joke that would be promulgated during the summer. His milk but yesterday morning, delivered a quart of milk in a can and left. This morning the boy came around and found that the purchaser's can was clean, and then there a little dispute arose. Finally the boy, after examining his cans, said he had only one empty can. This morning it contained a quart of cream and on opening it he found that the can had half inch of cream left in the bottom. Whereupon the purchaser told him to fill it up with milk quick.

CONDENSED STORIES.

An Occasion When the Practice of Economy Seemed Useless.

George H. Daniels of the New York Central railroad knows a man "up the state" who bears a local reputation for extreme stinginess, says the New York Tribune.

One day the man of frugal tendencies was met by a friend, who observed that the other was rigged out in his best attire, including a

"What's the use of trying to be economical?"

"The stinky man said, 'Heard the news?'

"No. What is it?"

"Trink," he exclaimed, jerking his thumb over his shoulder in the direction of his domicile.

"The friend began to understand.

"I congratulate you," said he, "that you are the holiday maker."

"Sure?" responded the close-fisted man disgustedly. "What's the use in my trying to be economical?"

On the Conductor.

He was a pleasant faced, meek man. He sat about the center of the car, holding a transfer ticket between his fingers and placidly gazing out of the window opposite.

"No. What is it?"

Scaring Him Away.

The musical young woman and her father were on their way home after Professor Fortissimo's piano recital.

"He has all the pupils he can take at $10 a lesson and more opportunities to play in concert than he can accept," said the young woman enthusiastically. "And just to think that five years ago—he has told me himself—the wolf was always at his door."

"Well, then, I'll venture to say he didn't regard us as loud as he does now," said the unfeeling parent.

An Eye to Business.

He (just refused)—Then life has no further charms. I shall kill myself.

She—By poison?

He—Probably.

She—Well, you'll excuse my mentioning it, but my brother Jack last night opened a chemist's shop, and you may as well buy the poison of him. It would encourage poor Jack and prove your devotion to me.—London Telegraph.

Applying a Text.

"I shall be my ambition, father," said a young man who had finished his education and was ready to lift parental shoulders. "It shall be my ambition and my motto to keep the family name free from stain."

"All right," said the old man. "Tell the office boy to give you the whitener and ammonia, and then go and polish up the brass door plate."—London Star.

Objectionable Antiquo.

Mr. Child—Mrs. C. I have borne with resignation—may, even cheerfulness—antique chairs that wobbled, antique clocks that were always thirteen hours behind time, antique rugs that some prohibitionist Park wren, antique chair, antique book, pens and kettles. All this I have smiled at, but when you give me antique eggs for breakfast I draw the line.

A Juvenile Critic.

The celebrated soprano was in the middle of her solo when little Johnny said to his mother, referring to the conductor of the orchestra: "Why does that man hit at the woman with his stick?"

"He is not hitting at her," replied his mother. "Keep quiet."

"Well, then, what is she hollerin' for?"—Answers.

Christmas Eve in England.

The little daughter indignantly—I do hope some one will be able to distinguish between hogs and ordinary hogs.

Madame Ladybird—Why, child? What is your objection? What is wrong with that pig?

The Little Ladybird—Why, child? Centipedes told me she was going to hang me and what set of her socks hung—Town Topics.

Among the visitors were Mrs. Hicks and Miss Blow and Moya.

Each member extends sincere thanks to our charming hostess for a delightful afternoon.

The club will meet next with Miss Glenn Forbes April 11th.

A Dinner Invitation.

After a hearty meal a dose of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure will prevent an attack of indigestion. Kodol is a thorough digestant and a guaranteed cure for indigestion, Dyspepsia, Gas on the Stomach, Sour Stomach, Bad Breath and all stomach troubles. N. W. Walker, Leslies, Ky. says: "I can testify to the efficacy of Kodol in the cure of Stomach Trouble. I was afflicted with Stomach Trouble for fifteen years and have taken six bottles of your Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, which entirely cured me. The six bottles were worth $1,000 to me." Kodol Dyspepsia Cure will digest any quantity of all the wholesome food you want to eat while your stomach takes rest—recuperates and grows strong. This wonderful preparation is justly entitled to all of its many remarkable cures. Sold by J. L. Wooten's Drug Store.

By the Tonic Route.

The pills that act as a tonic, and not as a drastic purge, are DeWitt's Little Early Risers. They cure Headache, Constipation, Biliousness, etc. Early Risers are small, easy to take and easy to get—a safe pill. Mack Hamilton, hotel clerk at Valley City, N. D., says: "Two bottles cured me of chronic constipation." Sold by J. L. Wooten's Drug Store.

To Clean Cemetery.

The town will soon have Cherry Hill cemetery thoroughly cleaned out, and the cemetery committee desires that all lot owners there have their lots cleaned off first on the town hands can remove all the rubbish when they go to clean the walks. Lot owners should attend to this at once.

The late Bishop Beckwith of Georgia was fond of his gun and spent much of his time hunting, says a representative from that state.

One day the bishop was out with dog and gun and met a member of his parish, whom he reproved for intemperance to his religious duties.

"You should attend church and read your Bible," said the bishop.

"I do read my Bible, bishop," was the answer, "and I don't find any mention of the apostles going a-shooting."

"No," replied the bishop, "the shooting was very bad in Palestine, so they went fishing instead."—Nashville Banner.

Truth in Preference to Fiction

GREENVILLE, PITT COUNTY, N. C., TUESDAY, APRIL 4, 1905.

Possibly there will be peace in the East after awhile.

The boll weevil will be forgotten in potato bug season.

And the Southern will make them pay their fare from Durham to Asheville.

If the farmers were holding the receipts would not be running up around 40,000 sales a day.

As Vice-President Fairbanks is the ice trust king, perhaps it is his presence that frosted the banquet.

The great financiers in this country are the men who earn their wealth by the sweat of other men's brows.

The fellow who says his bomb destroyed the Maine is talking through the bars. He is already in jail.

Greenville is getting along without it, but would get along much better with a building and loan association.

Durham is opening the excursion season early. The city officials will have one to Asheville Saturday. No April fool about it, either.

They are having a great time in Asheville over the dispensary campaign. There may be some 'air pulling' before it closes.

The Durham Herald thinks the town might even up a little by prohibiting the Southern from blowing whistles as the trains passed through.

The Gastonia Gazette says "Next Monday, April 1st," Marshall must be trying to work off an April fool joke. Our calendar says it comes on Saturday.

It is now in order to ask the question who is to foot the bill for that special train which is to carry the President on a homing expedition through Texas.

The fruit prognosticator is saying the cold spell to come in April will catch it at about the right stage to kill most of it. He might have waited awhile to tell us.

The Raleigh Times says the ice trust will make it for those who refuse to join the combination. We thought it would be made cold for them by freezing them out.

Whether they get in jail or not, the Durham officials will get a trip to Asheville at the expense of the city to answer to the charge of contempt in the Southern railway matter.

A dispatch from St. Petersburg says the Russians are worried because they have lost the Japanese army. They are worried possibly because they don't know what minute they may run across it.

"What and how to eat" is the heading of an article in some of the papers. It is the what and not the how that troubles us down this way. If the what to eat is forthcoming we can show you how mighty quick.

THE TEACHERS' ASSEMBLY MEETING

Great Interest in the Meeting to be Held in Greensboro, June 13, 14, 15 and 16.

Interest continues to increase in the great meeting of the North Carolina Teachers' Assembly which will be held in Greensboro, June 13-16. The Executive Committee is making extensive preparation for the occasion.

The city of Greensboro never does things by halves, and when it is decided that the Assembly should meet in an inland city, Greensboro decided that the meeting should be held there, and that it should be the greatest educational gathering ever held in the State. She put one thousand dollars into the treasury of the Assembly for the meeting, and thus enabled the Executive Committee to begin the large plans which are under way.

The program that is being prepared guarantees a most significant meeting, a meeting that will certainly mean a vast deal to the educational progress of the State. Several men and women from outside of the State, who are known throughout the entire nation, will be present to take part in the work. Prominent among these will be Dr. W. W. Stetson, State Superintendent of Maine, who will be present during the meeting. Dr. Stetson will work with the Department of County Superintendents in all their sessions and will address the entire Assembly once or twice. He is a wise man, has a most attractive personality, and is an able speaker. He has long been great things in his work in his own State. In his letter to President Foust, accepting the invitation to come to the meeting of the Assembly he says: "I will come when you want me, and speak upon the subjects that you name, if I can." The committee is very fortunate in securing such a man. They have been equally fortunate in securing other speakers whose names will be announced within a few days.

An address in regard to the meeting has been mailed to five thousand teachers in North Carolina, and Secretary W. D. Carmichael, of Durham, says that he is receiving numerous responses an every mail from teachers saying that they expect to attend this meeting.

The acceptance of that $100,000 which Rockefeller contributed to the Congregational church for foreign missions is continuing to cause trouble. Leaders in the denomination are on both sides of the question some arguing for acceptance and some against.

The Greensboro Record is making it warm for certain of the promoters of the recent Tar Heel Club Fairbanks Yerkes banquet in that city. The Record says the affair was such a failure in its purpose to make Republican votes that the said promoters are very sore over it. Speeches of the kind delivered on that occasion make the Democratic party stronger than ever.

The exploitation of The Washington Post, of the peculiar form of government employed for the city of Washington, published yesterday, is interesting, but the reason why the city has this peculiar form of government is also interesting. The government of Washington by commissioners under Congress is said to be for the same reason that the Southern States have incorporated grandfathers and other similar peculiar clauses in their constitutions, viz: to put limitations on the political powers and importance of the colored brother.

Just as the people of the United States don't generally understand how Washington is governed and why, so also do the people of the United States not understand that the disfranchisement of the negro began in Washington, was inaugurated by Congress and that the genuineness of the congressional plan exceeds the subsequently invented by any Southern State.—Charlotte Observer.

A prominent negro leader in the State, who keeps posted on all the doings of his race, says the restlessness which has been so apparent on account of the change of administration in North Carolina is fast disappearing, his people finding out that Governor Glenn is just a man. Governor Glenn's conduct since taking the oath of office has inspired confidence in the negro. For this reason there will be a very little movement of the race from North Carolina this year. There is no better place in the world for the negro than the South, and no better place in the South for him than North Carolina.—Charlotte News.

THE WORST MOSQUITOES.

Maubin, Burma, Has the Biggest and Most Virulent Known.

Unsurpassed in all the world in number, size and virulent activity are the mosquitoes of Maubin, a town of Burma, according to V. C. Scott O'Connor. He says: "One's first visit to Maubin in the mosquito season is an experience, and to see them under the bare of an electric searchlight come over the ship's side in hordes and occupy like an irresistible army every fraction of its surface, to see them hanging in swarms from the white canvas awnings, the mosquito nets, the table linen and the punka flaps and from every object on which they can secure a footing, is to have lived in hell. How to continue to live after the novelty of the spectacle has worn off is the definite problem that occupies every one's mind in Maubin. It is achieved in the main by hatching oneself within an iron fortress of fine mesh. In some houses there is a special room, a kind of inner citadel, with large windows, which is wholly of iron gauze, and within it the master of the house sits like a vanquished lion in a cage.

"To enter this fortress in advance of the enemy calls for the exercise of agility of a high order. The doors have swing latches and are made to close the instant that they are released. Outside them the light cavalry of the enemy hovers in clouds. The man without this Englishman in his strange castle, observes your approach with furtive and anxious eyes, and if you be a newcomer he begs of you to be careful in entering. Immediately you enter he falls with an expression of delight upon which the enemy may have come in to your back, in your hair, in the creases of your clothes and in an aura of cloud about your brow.

"At one end of the chief magistrate's house there used to be, when I was last at Maubin, a long room thus defended, in which he sat daily to dispense justice, and each activity in entering was expected of the prisoner under trial, the assembled witnesses and the counsel employed in each case. Many a sentence, it is whispered, has fallen with enhanced severity from judicial lips, many a prisoner has come away with a lighter punishment as the consequence of his manner of entering the court."

Hard Soap, Cold Process. Dissolve two pounds of caustic soda powder in a jar or earthen vessel in nine pints or pounds of cold water. Stir with a wooden spoon or stick while dissolving. The liquid will become very hot. Do not use it until it becomes cold. Weigh out fifteen pounds of clean grease, tallow or oil. Let it melt slowly. The temperature of the grease should not be raised higher than 120 degrees F. (oil requires no heating). Pour the caustic soda powder preparation in a small stream into the liquid grease, stirring all the time with a wooden paddle or piece of stick until the mixture is of the consistency of honey. It will take about fifteen minutes. Pour it at once into wooden boxes or pans dampened with water. Set aside in a warm place. The next day it may be cut into cakes.

Scrumbled Egg and Bacon. Lay as many pieces of sliced bacon with the rind removed as the frying pan will accommodate. Fry to a delicate brown and take up on a plate. Break four eggs in a bowl and add to them four teaspoonfuls of cold water and a little salt and pepper. Beat them a little and turn into the hot bacon fat. Lift and stir lightly until the whites are set and the mixture is thick and creamy. Turn out carefully and lay over the bacon.

Care of Copper Kettles. A furred iron or copper kettle is easily cleaned. Place it empty over a clear fire for a short time. This will loosen the chalky deposit, which can then be removed. To prevent the kettle from furring again keep a large marble in it or an oyster shell will answer the same purpose.

Homemade Bookcases. Wooden boxes such as shoes or soap reach the storekeepers in may be used for bookcases. These boxes are about three feet long by one foot deep. The boxes may be stained or painted inside and outside and placed one over another until a case of sufficient height is obtained.

Ivory Blancage. Dissolve one ounce of gelatin for ten minutes in cold milk, a sufficient quantity to cover it. Stir this into a pint of thin cream and add a small cupful of sugar, two tablespoonfuls of sherry wine, strain into molds and set away to harden. Serve with whipped cream.

Eggs and Meat. A dozen eggs are worth in nutrition the value of a pound and a half of meat, so it is wise to use eggs at all seasons, packing down in salt a supply for that season in early winter, when their prices become fabulous.

Dusting Furniture. When dusting use a slightly damp cloth, for it will gather up and hold the dust far better than a dry one. This plan, however, should not be followed in the case of black-painted furniture, as the damp cloth frequently gives it a smeared appearance.

Dainfest Invalids' Linen. A common cause for the spreading of disease is the fact that invalids' bedclothing is washed with the common laundry. It should always be dipped in a disinfectant before being sent to the laundry.

A Blood Purifier. The simplest blood purifier is a sliced lemon, two tablespoonfuls of black currant preserve and ten red sage leaves to a quart of boiling water. Strain to taste and it is not disagreeable.

ALL OVER THE HOUSE.

Home Treatment For Colds, Wounds, Burns and Bruises.

Camphor is one of the good old time remedies which is fine where there are children. A flannel wet with it and bound on a sore throat at night will generally effect a cure if there are no diphtheritic conditions. In case white patches appear, a gargle of potash with a little murate tincture of iron added is most effective. Add water to dilute the potash. The quantity isn't material, as the water will dissolve only a certain amount of the potash anyway. About one teaspoonful of iron to a three ounce bottle of the potash gargle is the correct quantity. Gargle with this preparation every hour or two.

A flannel saturated with turpentine and grease is also good for sore throat. Turpentine also acts as an antiseptic in case of a wound from a dog bite, a nail, a splinter or a knife cut. Cleanse the wound thoroughly with warm water and pour on turpentine. It will hurt for a time, but is a healing and effective remedy. Turpentine rubbed on the chest of a child at night will cure a croupy cough. Keep a 20 per cent solution of carbolic acid in the machine closet. For external use, such as healing bruises, burns, an abscess or a nasty wound of any sort, it is wonderfully effective.

Apur an Efficacious and Simple Cure For Diphtheria.

Sulphur is one of the most efficacious and simple cures for diphtheria. All that is needed is a little of sulphur and a quart, and with these, it is said, one celebrated physician cured every patient without exception. He put a teaspoonful of flour of sulphur into a wineglass of water and stirred it with his finger instead of a spoon, the sulphur not readily amalgamating with water. When the sulphur was well mixed, the physician gave this as a grain, and in ten minutes the patient was out of danger. Sulphur kills every species of fungus in a man, beast and plant in a few minutes. Instead of spitting out the phlegm, the swallowing of it is recommended. In extreme cases in which the above specialist had been called in the nick of time, when the fungus was too much closing to allow the gargling, he blew the sulphur through a quill into the throat and after the fungus had shrunk to allow of it then gave the gargle.

Simple Disinfectants. Those who object to odors of many of the disinfectants used at the present day will find charcoal unobjectionable on this account, and it is said to absorb gases in a surprising way. Pieces can be laid on plates and put out of sight in a sickroom. The following is another refreshing disinfectant for a sickroom or any room that has an unpleasant aroma pervading it: Put some fresh ground coffee in a sifter, and in the center place a small piece of camphor gum, which light with a match. As the gum burns allow sufficient coffee to consume with it. The perfume is very pleasant and healthful.

Breadcrumbs. Fried breadcrumbs make a most attractive garnish when scattered over a rib roast or fried fish. To have them as they should be—crisp, golden brown and absolutely free from grease—the crumbs should be thoroughly dried, then rolled and sifted through a coarse sieve, to remove the finer ones, that may be saved for breading or other purposes. Melt a tablespoonful of butter in the spider or use the same amount of olive oil, and when smoking hot put in the crumbs that remain in the sieve. Stir and shake continually over the fire, and as soon as they color take them up.

Hot Saw. This is a good way to cook cabbage when a change is needed: Cut a firm, medium sized cabbage in half and cut half of it into thin strips, and the other half in slices. If you have not a regular slicer, season it with salt and pepper and sprinkle lightly with flour. Put half a tablespoonful each of butter and bacon fat into a saucepan, put in the cabbage and cook for ten minutes, stirring constantly to prevent burning. When done, remove to the back of the range, break in an egg and beat it well. Add vinegar to taste and serve very hot.

Mending Broken China. Here is a good way for mending china which has stood the test of long time. The House Beautiful recommends: The best article to be used is firmly together and boil in slum milk for an hour. The finest china, being hard throughout, will not join, but the softer pastes will mend perfectly. This is mended may be washed in hot water.

Soap and Candles. Candles burn better and more slowly if they have been stored in a dry place six or seven weeks before being used. Soap will go twice as far if dissolved in hot water. It should be cut into small blocks and these arranged in tiers with spaces between to allow them to dry.

Painter on Trailing. Before ironing turn a lagoon rind flesh side up on a board and place a large clean cloth near it. Every time an iron is taken from the fire rub the bottom and edges on it and then on the cloth and there will never be a smut on the most delicate garment.

Whooping Cough Remedy. For whooping cough make a palatable syrup by slicing onions fine and after sprinkling plentifully with brown sugar allow the onions to stand between hot plates under a press until all the juice is forced out.

Lime in the Jam Closet. Lime sprinkled on the shelves will keep pickles and jams in the refrigerator from becoming moldy. The lime must be renewed occasionally, as it loses its power.

Beef Soup For Invalids. This is a plain rich beef stock and stir into it a cupful of rice, a cupful of two cups of water, a half a cupful of cream. Thicken with cooked pearl sago.
