The Academic Procession

For the benefit of our visitors the following information, digested from "An Academic Costume Code and Ceremony Guide" prepared by the American Council on Education, may prove helpful in identifying the costumes you will see in the Commencement Procession.

In the procession, first come the speakers, trustees, administrative officers, candidates for honorary degrees and other members of the platform party, then the faculty; and finally the candidates for degrees arranged in the order in which the degrees are to be conferred.

The history of academic dress reaches far back into the earliest days of the oldest universities. A statute of 1321 required that all "Doctors, Licentiates, and Bachelors" of the University of Coimbra wear gowns. In England, in the second half of the 14th century, the statutes of certain colleges prescribed the wearing of a long gown. When American colleges and universities desired to adopt some suitable system of academic apparel, a conference held at Columbia University in 1895, made up of representatives from various institutions drew up a "By-law, Regulation, or Statute" for the establishment of a suitable code of academic dress for colleges and universities in the United States. This code, with modifications made in 1959 by The Committee on Academic Costumes and Ceremonies of The American Council on Education, is still in force; the costumes and colors, trimmings, and patterns you will see are all traditional, and interpret both the degree and field of learning. The bachelor's gown, designed to be worn closed, has pointed sleeves, the master's gown, which may be worn open or closed, has an oblong sleeve open at the wrist which hangs down in the traditional manner. The rear part of its oblong shape is square cut and the front part has the arc cut away. The doctor's gown has bell-shaped sleeves. It may be worn open or closed.

Black is the recommended color for all academic gowns. Bachelor's and master's gowns are untrimmed. Doctor's gowns are faced with black velvet, with three bars across the sleeves; or the color of the velvet may be that which is distinctive to the degree, agreeing with that of the edging of the hood. The colors you will see in the hoods and gowns of our faculty represent the various fields in which the degrees were taken:

Apricot ..... Nursing
Brown ..... Fine Arts
Citron ..... Social Work
Crimson ..... Journalism
Dark Blue ..... Philosophy
Golden Yellow ..... Science
Green ..... Medicine
Lemon-Yellow ..... Library Science
Light Blue ..... Education
Lilac ..... Dentistry
Maroon ..... Home Economics
Olive-Green ..... Pharmacy
Orange ..... Engineering
Pink ..... Music
Purple ..... Law
Sage Green .... Physical Education
Salmon Pink ..... Public Health
Scarlet ..... Theology
Yellow-Brown ..... Commerce, Business, Accountancy
White ... Arts, Letters, Humanities

The hoods, differing in length for the three degrees, bachelor's, master's, and doctor's, are lined with the official colors of the university or college conferring the degree, usually with one color forming a chevron pattern over the other. Hoods are edged and bound with velvet of the color appropriate for the degree. You will see in our procession many edged with the dark blue, for doctor of philosophy.

Mortar boards are the approved headgear. The tassel, worn on the left side of the cap, may be of gold if the holder has a doctor's degree.

Commencement Speaker

Dr. Billy Taylor

From humble beginnings in the rural eastern North Carolina town of Greenville, Billy Taylor landed in Harlem in 1942 and within a short time had become a noted jazz musician. His early years in New York found him working in various bands and orchestras, including the Don Redman Orchestra, which was the first American jazz band to tour Europe following World War II. He played on Broadway in Billy Rose's "The Seven Lively Arts," opened for Billie Holliday in "Holliday on Broadway," and played in the pit band for "Blue Holiday."

Taylor played solo performances throughout the northeast and in 1949 began a two-year stint as the house pianist at the legendary Birdland jazz club. During this period he played with the leading jazz performers in the nation – Charlie Parker, Dizzy Gillespie, Miles Davis, Oscar Petiford, Art Blakey, Milt Jackson, Zoot Sims, Roy Haynes, and Kenny Dorman among others. He often played opposite such bands as Duke Ellington, Count Basie, Stan Kenton, and Lennie Tristano; his tenure at Birdland was one of his greatest learning experiences.

He became a recording artist during the early 1950s including starting his own music publishing company, Duane Music, Inc. His recordings include working with such well-known artists as Quincy Jones and Dinah Washington. During this same period he began writing about jazz and giving lectures to music teachers interested in teaching jazz. In 1958 he was named musical director of the first televised series produced about jazz, "The Subject is Jazz" for NET. Guests included

Willie "The Lion" Smith, Duke Ellington, Langston Hughes, Jimmy Rushing, Bill Evans and Aaron Copeland. During the 60s he hosted his own daily radio show, did guest hosts on TV shows and recorded for Capitol Records.

In the early 1970s, he was musical director for The David Frost Show, a popular daily television show. Several years later he returned to his own show on WLIB building the largest jazz audience in New York City. During this period he enrolled in the doctoral program at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst earning his combined master's and doctorate in music education in 1975. He was appointed by President Nixon to the National Council for the Arts and became an ardent advocate for the arts in America.

He missed performing and composing music during this period, so he made his return in various ways, including composing "Suite for Jazz Piano and Orchestra," "Make a Joyful Noise," "For Rachel" and "Impromptu." He composed the musical score and lyrics for an off-Broadway production of Wole Soyinka's "The Lion and the Jewel" and some dance music for the original production of "Your Arms Are Too Short to Box with God." To date Taylor has over 350 songs to his credit, including the popular, "I Wish I Knew How It Would Feel To Be Free," which has been recorded by various artists and served as an anthem for the civil rights movement. All the while Taylor continued his work in broadcasting as host of NPR's most listened to jazz program of its time, "Jazz Alive."

In the early 1980s he was tapped by fellow North Carolinian, Charles Kuralt, to become arts correspondent for the nationally televised, "CBS Sunday Morning." He received an Emmy for his profile on CBS Sunday Morning of Quincy Jones. He remains a correspondent for this show. During the 80s he started his own recording company, Taylor Made. Always content as a performer, he continued his work on the bandstand and television and radio. He hosted his own jazz show for Bravo and two different NPR radio series, "Dizzy's Diamond," and "Taylor Made Piano," the latter winning a Peabody Award and generated more requests for tapes than any previous NPR program. He continued his popular recordings as well and his recording of "Homage" received a Grammy nomination in 1996.

Active throughout the 90s, Dr. Taylor was named artistic advisor for jazz to the Kennedy Center in Washington, D.C. Since 1994 Jazz at the Kennedy Center has developed one acclaimed concert series after another and has included his nationally broadcast NPR series, "Billy Taylor's Jazz at the Kennedy Center." He continues performing with his current trio and with long time friend, pianist Ramsey Lewis. When he's not touring, composing or recording, he can be found in classrooms across the country conducting master classes, workshops and lectures. He served as the Robert L. Jones Distinguished Visiting Professor of Music at East Carolina University in his hometown of Greenville during the 2002-03 academic year.

The Thomas Jordan Jarvis Medal

The Thomas Jordan Jarvis Medal is the highest award given by the University. The medal is presented in recognition of extraordinary service to the University or to society as exemplified by the life and work of Governor Jarvis.

Thomas Jordan Jarvis, a native North Carolinian, served his region, the state, and the nation in a most extraordinary fashion. A graduate of Randolph-Macon College in 1860, he received the MA the following year. He began his professional career as a teacher in Pasquotank County. Soon after the start of the War Between the States, he began service in the 8th North Carolina Regiment (CSA) rising to the rank of captain. He began his career of public career in 1868 when he was elected to the General Assembly from Tyrell County. He rose to the position of Speaker of the North Carolina House of Representatives, and was later elected Lieutenant Governor and Governor of the State of North Carolina. He served his nation as Minister to Brazil, having been appointed by President Grover Cleveland. He was also appointed to fill an unexpired term in the United States Senate. Governor Jarvis was also a strong church leader, having served the Methodist Episcopal Church (South) as a member of the Board of Trustees of Trinity College and as a representative to the General Conference of the church.

An ardent education advocate, he used his strong political and personal skills for the establishment of the East Carolina Teachers Training School for the purpose of training teachers for the schools of eastern North Carolina.

The award is named in honor of Governor Jarvis, the recognized founding father of East Carolina University. It is most fitting that the University's highest award for service be named in honor of the person who worked tirelessly for the establishment of the university and helped oversee its inaugural days as the chairman of its trustees and whose entire life was committed to local, national and international service.

Ambassadors

The University is deeply grateful to the Student Ambassadors who provide valuable assistance during commencement and at numerous other activities throughout the year.

Standard Bearers

Special thanks to the Army ROTC volunteers who served as standard bearers for the academic units.

Of Special Note

Student members of the ECU chapter of Phi Kappa Phi marching today are wearing braided purple and gold honor cords with similarly colored tassels.
Phi Kappa Phi is the nation's oldest, largest, and most selective collegiate honor society that inducts top baccalaureate and higher degree candidates in all disciplines.
Initiates of Phi Kappa Phi must rank in the top ten percent of their graduating class.

The Commencement Program is printed prior to administering final examinations. Therefore, the inclusion of names of degree candidates in this program is not certification that degree requirements have been satisfactorily completed.

6,500 copies of this public document were printed at a cost of $6,695.04 or $1.03 per copy.

East Carolina University's Mace, Logo, and Seal

The mace, a medieval weapon, has become through the centuries an insignia of university authority. In this instance it represents the continuity of the institutional governing body.

Some forty-three inches long and weighing approximately fourteen pounds, the East Carolina University mace is constructed of sterling silver. It features a unique purple fluorite crystal cluster contained within a gold-plated cage. The shaft of the mace has a hammered texture and is divided in the center by a pierced band. The pierced design is repeated at the mace boss (symbolic head) and terminus. The terminus is a representation of the historical weapon head which has diminished in size as the mace has changed from a weapon to a symbol. The same representation of symbolic use has increased the size and importance of the boss or mace head. The mace bears the inscription East Carolina University 1907.

This handsome mace was designed and executed by the late John Satterfield of the Design Department of the East Carolina University School of Art, who commented on the design concept: "In designing the East Carolina University mace I have attempted to maintain the visual integrity of a traditional mace and at the same time create a contemporary symbol which is unique to this institution."

The East Carolina University logo uses historic arches to unite the University's heritage and its future over the words East Carolina University. The logo, which will be used on all University publications and stationery, was adopted in 1989 after a year-long study by the Image Task Force to develop an integrated and consistent visual identity system for the University.

Old Austin, East Carolina's first auditorium, classroom, and office building, introduced arched doorways to the first entering class in 1909. The motif dominates Wright Auditorium and continues in the striking entrance to the General Classroom Building. The concept can also be seen throughout the campus in doorway and window treatments.

The logo is not a picture of a particular arch. Rather it is stylized to capture the University's contemporary and historic elements in order to suggest a timeless quality and the distinctive character of East Carolina University.

Arches have been used in architecture for centuries to symbolize buildings of prominence, stature, and dignity. Arches also suggest doorways or entryways. For East Carolina University, the arch suggests not only the academic stature and strength of the University but also the doorway to education that East Carolina has been and will continue to be for future generations of students.

The official East Carolina University seal is a six-cornered shield encased in a circular border containing the name, location, and founding date of the University. It appears on the diploma. The shield represents the "shield of trust," as was used in the Crusades.

The motto servire, meaning to serve, is emblazoned on the scroll. The blazing torch and the open Book of Knowledge symbolize education and the service rendered to the students by the University. The ink pot and quill, symbols of scribes, represent the creative arts and the contributions of the students to the world of business. The pirate is the school mascot.

The central motif of the design—a shield within the shield with Polaris, the guiding star, behind the two half globes that make up the world—expresses the idea that East Carolina University has the mission to educate graduates who will serve to the four corners of the world.

The National Anthem

Oh! say, can you see, by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming?
Whose broad stripes and bright stars, thro' the perilous fight,
O'er the ramparts we watched were so gallantly streaming?
And the rocket's red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof thro' the night that our flag was still there.
Oh! say, does that star-spangled banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave?

– Francis Scott Key

Alma Mater

Praise to your name so fair,
dear old East Carolina
Your joys we'll all share,
and your friends we'll ever be.
We pledge our loyalty
and our heart's devotion
To thee, our alma mater, love and praise.
