W&M Is Nation's Second Oldest College

The history of the College of William and Mary is interwoven with the political and cultural development of the nation. A few years after Jamestown was founded, a movement began in England and Virginia to establish a "college," but an Indian massacre in 1622 interrupted the plans, and it was not until 1693 that the dream of the early Virginia settlers was realized. In that year King William and Queen Mary of England granted a Royal Charter to the College, establishing it as a "College of Good Arts & Sciences," and it subsequently prospered until the time of the Revolution.

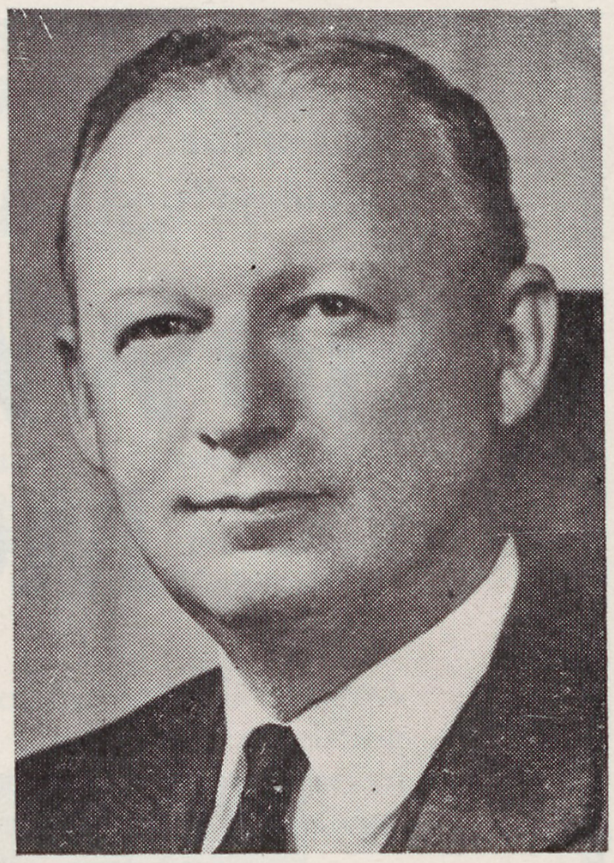
Taking an active part in Revolutionary affairs, the College produced such leaders as Thomas Jefferson, Peyton Randolph, John Marshall, James Monroe, and others who dedicated themselves to the cause of independence. Recovering quickly from the loss suffered by war, the College became an intellectual center for the South and for the nation until the War Between the States. Again, William and Mary found itself with resources depleted and its students and faculty scattered. The College did not fully recover until 1888.

In 1906, William and Mary became a state-supported institution, and in 1918 it became co-educational. Surviving three disastrous fires, the War of the Revolution, the War Between the States, two World Wars in this century, William and Mary has emerged as something more than brick and mortar. It is a spirit, vibrant in students and faculty alike, that "links the generations each to each," and looks optimistically to a future worthy of its cherished Heritage.

Its basic purpose and mission today, as in the past, is "to provide a graduate who is the educated man—one so steeped in the knowledge and values of a liberal education as to enable him to build the skills of future specialization without losing the prospective of the good life."

William and Mary graduates have distinguished them-

PRESIDENT DAVIS Y. PASCHALL



Dr. Davis Y. Paschall became the 23rd President of the College of William and Mary during the summer of 1960.

An alumnus, he earned his A.B. and M.A. degree in history and government at William and Mary in 1932 and 1937, respectively, then attained his doctorate from the University of Virginia. He served as a teacher of history and English and as principal of Victoria High School prior to World War II, during which he served with the U. S. Navy. After being discharged, Dr. Paschall was appointed to the State Department of Education and in 1957 was appointed Superintendent of Public Instruction for the Commonwealth.

selves in all fields of human endeavor. Among the names inscribed on the College's Roll of Fame are those of 3 presidents of the United States; the first president of the Continental Congress; 15 members of the Continental Congress; 4 signers of the Declaration of Independence; 1 chief justice of the United States Supreme Court; 3 associate justices of the United States Supreme Court; 13 cabinet members; 29 United States senators; 3 Speakers of the House of Representatives; 55 members of the House of Representatives; 18 foreign ministers; 21 governors of Virginia; 22 judges of the Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals; and many others.

In addition to its basic College of Arts and Sciences, William and Mary today supports a School of Education, a School of Marine Science, and the Marshall-Wythe School of Law (the oldest in the nation). Summer sessions, an Evening College and Extension programs provide for adult, part-time, and degree-earning education.

For undergraduates, concentration is possible in over twenty areas of study, with seven pre-professional programs available. The College currently offers a Master of Arts (M.A.) degree in Biology, Education, English, History, Marine Science, Mathematics, Physics, and Psychology; a Master of Education (M.Ed.) degree; a Bachelor of Civil Law (B.C.L.) degree; a Master of Law and Taxation (L.T.M.) degree; a Master of Arts in Teaching (M.A.T.) degree, and a Master of Science (M.S.) degree in Physics. A Doctor of Philosophy (Ph.D.) degree is offered in Physics and in Marine Science; a Doctorate in Education has been established and a Doctorate in History will be inaugurated in September, 1967.

The College provides an Advanced Placement Program, which permits students to pass over beginning courses in areas of demonstrated competence. Also offered is a General Honors Program, as well as departmental Honors Programs in Ancient Languages, Economics, English, Government, History, Modern Languages, Philosophy, Physics, Psychology, Sociology and Anthropology.

The 1,200 acre campus is one of the most beautiful in the country. Heart of the campus is the historic Wren Building, oldest academic structure in the United States, still in general classroom use. The magnificent edifice, along with The Brafferton and the President's House, which flank it to the north and south, have been restored to their 18th century style, and form the "ancient campus" or "Colonial Triangle."

New construction in the past five years includes a new library, housing over one million items, a Student Center Building, the William Small Physics Laboratory, the Adair Gymnasium for Women, and a Fine Arts addition to Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall. Expansion of dormitory facilities include the building of duPont Hall, for women, and Yates Hall, for men. A new bookstore has been constructed and a new dining hall is in progress. Plans have been drawn for a Life science building, and for a new men's physical education building with combination gymnasium-auditorium.

The resident college, representing as it does the southern-most campus in the Ivy League type of humanitarian education for a highly selective student body, serves Virginia and the nation today as it originally served Virginia and the Crown.

Athletic Director Les Hooker, Jr.

William and Mary athletics, in an era of prosperity, has taken bold steps forward under H. Lester Hooker, Jr., who began re-establishing W & M athletics in July 1963 when he became athletic director.

Hooker's goal—to make the Indians contenders in the Southern Conference—has taken center stage, but in the background, Hooker continues a steady program of improving present facilities, adding new ones and complementing the present sports with new ones.

Two springs ago Hooker took on the added duties of baseball coach and the Indians have become title contenders instead of cellar-dwellers.

W&M Graduate

But success at William and Mary is not limited to Hooker as an administrator alone. A native of Stuart, Virginia, Hooker, who was 46 in July, came to William and Mary first as a student in 1940, graduating in 1946 with a three year stint in the Air Force interrupting studies from 1943-46.

Hooker stayed on another year to get his Master's and then began a successful swing of high school coaching that brought him first to Smithfield, then to Danville and finally to Hopewell in 1950.

Hooker returned to his alma mater in 1951, coaching the basketball team to the State title and the baseball team to a winning record. From 1952-63 he coached the University of Richmond basketball teams, posting 157 wins in 11 years that included 33 straight wins against State teams. His teams won four State titles and were finalists in the Southern Conference tournament several times.

Hooker's hobbies are sports as he twice won the MVP award in intramural softball.

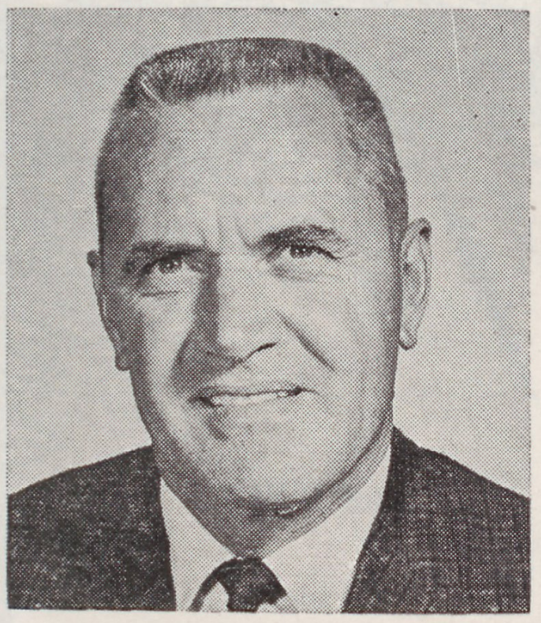
Last year Hooker served as Executive Director of the Educational Foundation, seeking to co-ordinate and increase alumni support and contributions.

A Family at W&M

The influence of William and Mary engulfs his life. His father, Judge Hooker, is a W & M graduate and a former member of the Board of Visitors. His wife, the former Patricia Dorsey, is a W & M alumna.

The Hookers have four children Tricia, a junior at William and Mary, "Bubba", the only boy and a freshman football player at William and Mary, and two little girls, Suzanne and JoAnne.

Business Manager Edmund Derringe



Ed Derringe

Now in his fourth year as Business Manager of Athletics, Ed Derringe has been at William and Mary since 1957, first as an assistant football coach.

Derringe took over for the then ill Pappy Gooch in 1964 and has handled the increasing demands of William and Mary's athletic program.

A native of Shenandoah, Pa., Ed played his collegiate ball at Georgetown before entering the Air Force as a B-29 pilot in World War II.

After service he played pro ball with Scranton in the old American Football League. Ed began his coaching career in Norfolk, piloting the Norfolk Shamrocks and then became head coach at Granby High School.

Married to the former Arlyne Peterson the Derringes have three boys and three girls.

Head Football Coach Marv Levy

drawing by Loryn Teefey

Marv Levy, a native of Chicago, became William and Mary's head football coach in January 1964, and in three years has won the Southern Conference Coach of the Year award twice, led the Indians to a share of the 1966 Southern Conference title and has compiled a 13-5-1 Southern Conference mark.

A 1950 graduate of Coe College, where he won Phi Beta Kappa scholastic honors while participating in football, basketball, and track, Levy went on to Harvard to earn his Master's Degree in History.

With the intent of coaching and teaching, Levy accepted a teaching post at St. Louis Preparatory School and coached the football and basketball teams. In 1954 he returned to Coe to be head basketball coach and assistant football coach.

In 1956 Levy went to the University of New Mexico as an assistant football coach and became head coach in 1958. His New Mexico teams were 14-6 for two years, gaining him Skyline Conference Coach of the Year honors in 1958.

His success led him to the University of California at Berkeley where his four year stay ended in 1963 with his best season (4-5-1).

When the William and Mary position opened in 1963, Levy applied and his appointment the first of the new year opened the gates to a new era of football at William and Mary.

Levy is married to the former Miss Dorothy Prout.

Levy's record at William and Mary:

1964—won 4, lost 6, tied 0
SC, won 4, lost 3, (4th)

1965—won 6, lost 4, tied 0
SC, won 5, lost 1, (2nd)

1966—won 5, lost 4, tied 1
SC, won 4, lost 1, tied 1 (1st tie)

He Needs Your Help

The William and Mary Student Athlete

On the field or in the classroom, the William and Mary athlete needs your support.

Your cheering helps. Every player will tell you it's always a little easier to stop a Garrett Ford when the crowd is behind him.

Your financial support is vital too. That's what the William and Mary Educational Foundation is all about. The Foundation is the lifeblood of intercollegiate athletics at the College, and your contributions make it possible.

The Educational Foundation helps to provide an education for deserving student-athletes, many of whom would not otherwise be able to continue their studies. Through Educational Foundation aid, hundreds have not only gained a college education, but have won academic laurels and have gone on to do post-graduate work.

The Educational Foundation helps College teams compete on a level comparable with other major colleges and universities. And aid is not confined to football and basketball alone. Educational Foundation dollars provide William and Mary with a well-rounded athletic program, assisting the baseball, track, cross country, swimming, golf and tennis teams.

Any amount is a welcome contribution. Contributors receive: an attractive membership card, invitations to all Educational Foundation socials, Newsletters periodically throughout the year ($10.00 and up); subscription to Football Yearbook ($25.00 and up); special ticket preference for all athletic events, special parking privileges and a "Tomahawk Club" windshield decal ($100.00 and up); advance information on teams; and the satisfaction of seeing tax-deductible dollars help worthy student-athletes carry on the William and Mary tradition

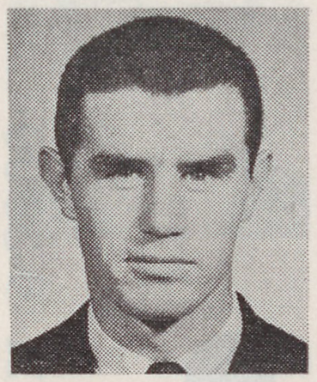
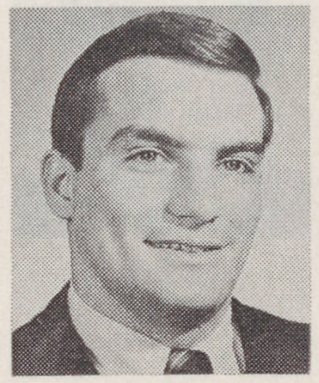
THADDEUS (TED) ZYCHOWSKI



JIM CAVENAUGH



BRAD CASHMAN

STEVE MAIER

junior, 6-2, 197, Brooklyn, N. Y.

82 "The most underrated player on the team," says Marv Levy about Ted Zychowski who as a sophomore caught 21 passes for 279 yards and three tds. Ted is a rugged, surehanded tight end who played in the shadow of Chuck Albertson who caught 67 passes and Ned Carr who snagged 10 tds, but as the only tested pass receiver he'll be the prime target of the Tribe quarterbacks. A good blocker and a smart player, Ted is from Brooklyn, played for Lincoln High School, is an accounting major and a member of Sigma Nu.

JIM CAVENAUGH
sophomore, 6-1½, 177, Massapequa, N. J.

89 Given the assignment of first team split end is quite imposing to this sophomore who must try to fill the All-America shoes of George Pearce and SC Athlete of the year Chuck Albertson who together caught 128 passes at that position in two years. Slender and graceful, Cavenaugh has sure hands, average speed, but showed that he will be an above average sophomore in the spring game when he caught two touchdown passes. Jim is from Chaminade High School.

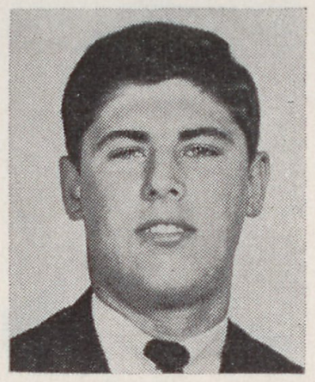
BRAD CASHMAN
senior, 5-10½, 191, Hanover, Pa.

76 Brad comes to William and Mary after starring at George Washington, making all-Southern Conference and winning the Jacobs Blocking Trophy. When the Colonials gave up football Tribe coaches went after Cashman as their prime catch for not only was he an outstanding football player but also filled in at a weak spot for W&M. "He's as good a lineman as we had on our team last year," appraised Levy.

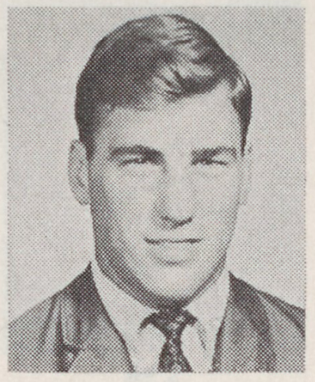
STEVE MAIER
junior, 6-3½, 217, Harrison, N. J.

71 Steve was a starter as a sophomore last year, did well at a weak position and will be manning the same spot again. At 217 he is the heaviest starter on the team.

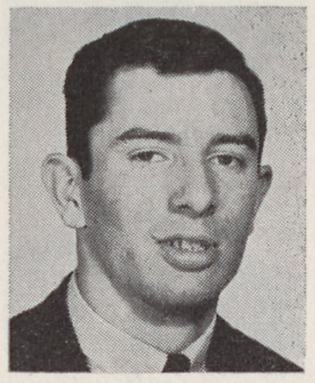
BILL (TEX) McKINNON



BOB SHAY



DICK KORNS



DAN DARRAGH

BILL (Tex) McKINNON
junior, 5-11, 203, Abilene, Texas

63 Tex was a fullback when he came to William and Mary, played defensive halfback as a freshman, but when the Tribe showed up woefully weak in the interior line, he was switched, earned a starting spot and improved considerably in one year. His speed and strength make him a solid performer for the Indians, but he is at a spot that is exceedingly weak in depth. He's put on six pounds in the year.

BOB SHAY
senior, 6-1, 196, Alexandria, Va.

52 Bob was a starter as a sophomore at end, was injured and was then converted to offensive center to fill in the hole. He did well at a new spot and a year's experience should help. A sociology major and a member of Kappa Alpha, Bob played his high school ball for Hammond High.

DICK KORNS
senior, 6-0, 203, Somerset, Pa.

55 Dick has to make the difficult transition of being out of collegiate football for four years while in the Marines. He's returned to W&M where he was a starter in 1962 eager to play. He has good size, played some while in the Marines and will get a try at offensive center, defensive tackle or wherever he can help the team.

DAN DARRAGH
senior, 6-3½, 190, Mt. Lebanon, Pa.

16 Dan had a great year in 1966 after a good sophomore year, but will still find himself battling for number one quarterback with Mike Madden, equally as dangerous to enemy defenses. Darragh held the upperhand in 1966 when Madden played defense mostly and made the most of it, passing for 1346 yards, completing 111 of 227, all season records and against VPI hit on 22 of 51, both records for completions and attempts. Dan threw 14 tds during the year and was named SC back of the week for demolishing Villanova. Dan gained 1459 yards in total offense, ranking fourth on the SC 1000 yard club. In two years he has hit on 184 of 353 passes for 2242 yards and for 22 touchdowns. He is one of the best punters around and will be the Tribe's punter for the third year in a row. A pre-med student, a well-liked leader, Dan is a Kappa Sig and one of the hardest workers on the team.

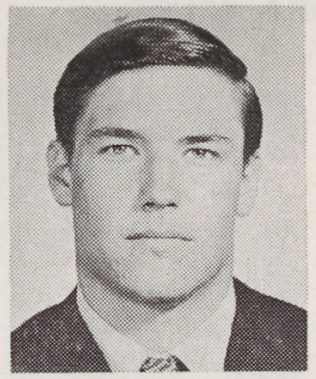
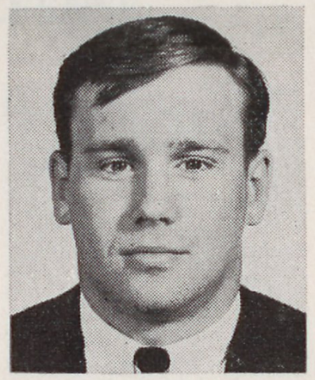
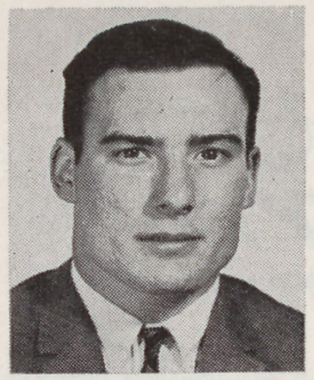
MIKE MADDEN



BOB MAHNIC



JEFF LUND



LES BEADLING

MIKE MADDEN
senior, 5-9, 173, Collingswood, N. J.

10 Versatile, dangerous and vital, Mike is the key to 1967. Elected co-captain by his mates, Madden is the man who runs 50 yards to gain five, throws 10 passes all year and three are for touchdowns, and plays wherever he is put. As a sophomore Madden was the third down quarterback, the one who could make the big play, get the first down or touchdown. He led the team in rushing, and was such a fine athlete that he was switched to safety for 1966. He played well there, but when Darragh was hurt, he moved in against VMI, threw three touchdown passes to Ned Carr, the last for 47 yards in the last minutes to bring the Indians from behind. As a defensive player he managed to have his name appear in every offensive statistic. He gained 14 yards rushing after leading the team in 1965, he completed 10 of 21 passes, he caught one pass, he punted for a 48.7 average, he returned 14 punts, one for a touchdown, he returned kickoffs, intercepted three passes and convinced Levy in the spring that he should get another crack at quarterback where Levy wants to use his breakaway talents. As a sophomore he led a 19 point comeback against VMI in the last quarter and will always be remembered by Tribe fans for his fantastic Touchdown pass against George Washington with three players holding on to his ripped jersey. A pre-law major, a member of Kappa Alpha, Madden is one of the most popular students on campus and came to William and Mary from Bordentown Military Academy.

BOB MAHNIC
sophomore, 6-2, 203, Lanham, Md.

22 Bob, one of the most heralded newcomers to W&M football has a bright future at William and Mary either at tailback, fullback or middle linebacker, a spot he manned with fierce competitiveness as a freshman. A bull of a runner, he fills in at a spot that just about everyone played last year. Mahnic will split the running duties with Marty Fuller, taking some of the load off the strong running fullback. Bob was a fullback in high school, playing at Arch Bishop Carroll in Washington, D. C.

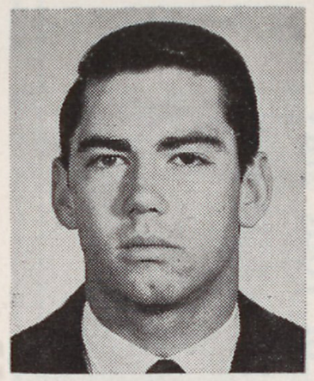
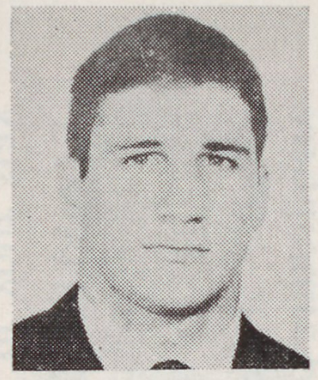
junior, 5-9, 180, New Rochelle, N. Y.

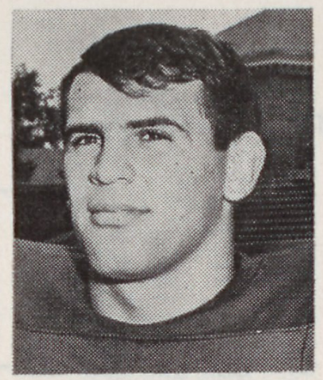
41 Jeff came to W&M as a quarterback, did well as a freshman, is a good breakaway threat, a squirmy type runner, but has been plagued by injuries as a tailback. He started the Navy game, was the Tribe's leading rusher for the game and rushed for 118 yards for the season, second best on the team with Terry Morton, who also was injured. An English major with a solid B average, Jeff is a member KA and came to W&M from Iona Prep.



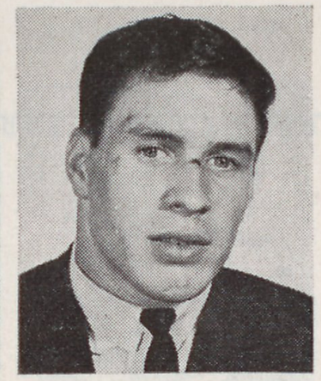
TERRY MORTON



STEVE SLOTNICK



JOE PILCH



BOB GADKOWSKI

LES BEADLING
senior, 5-7, 169, Elizabeth, Pa.

31 Underrated and sometimes overlooked because of his size, Les has been a capable performer for two years, starting several games at fullback and tailback. A good blocker who gets the job done, Les will be an experienced backup man at either fullback or tailback. Les gained 78 yards last year and 83 as a sophomore. A Chemistry major he is a Dean's List student and played for Elizabeth Forward High School.

TERRY MORTON
junior, 5-11½, 192, Scotch Plains, N. J.

45 A real dominate figure in Spring drills as a rising soph, Terry nailed down the number one tailback slot in the fall and was on his way to a good season when he broke his collarbone in the West Virginia game. He has been moved to wingback where he'll get a chance to catch some passes also. A Biology major, Terry is a member of Kappa Alpha.

STEVE SLOTNICK
senior, 5-7½, 164, Irwin, Pa.

43 Steve will get a crack on offense again as a tailback. As a sophomore he caught three touchdown passes out of five, but played defense last year. Steve played his high school ball at Norwin.

JOE PILCH
sophomore, 6-0½, 202, East Brunswick, N. J.

40 Although listed as a fullback, the strong soph will play somewhere due to his ability. Pilch played his high school ball at East Brunswick High School.

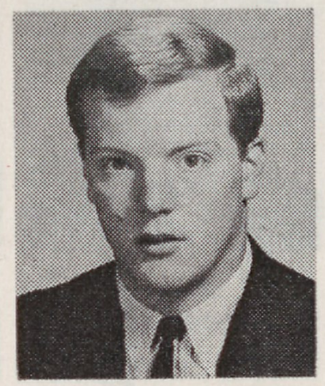
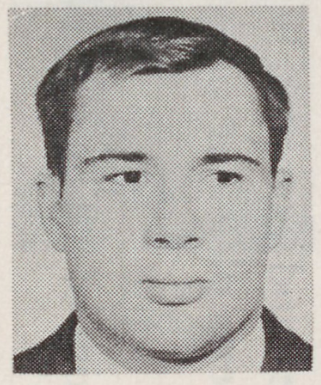
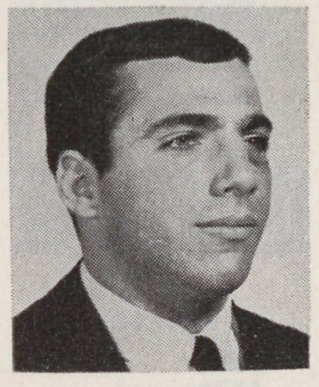
GORDON (BUCK) BUCHANAN



RALPH BEATTY



BURT WAITE



TERRY O'TOOLE

BOB GADKOWSKI
senior, 5-10, 216, Chatham, N. J.

87 Two-time pre-season All-South and twice All-Southern Conference, Gadkowski has stood out as a fullback, linebacker and defensive end, which he will play his senior year, a position where his rugged, 216 pound, fast body should make him once again one of the best in the area. Gadkowski could have had a better season last year, but was superlative once he shed some weight he thought would help. A business major, Bob is a member of Sigma Nu fraternity.

GORDON (Buck) BUCHANAN
senior, 5-8½, 194, Roanoke, Va.

85 One of the most pleasant success stories around, Buck has earned his way to stardom, by the proper attitude, hard work and preserverance. Pegged as too small for many positions, Buck is a hard-hitter, and has been a consistent defensive end for the Indians since starting midway in his sophomore year.

RALPH BEATTY
junior, 6-1, 218, Barrington, N. J.

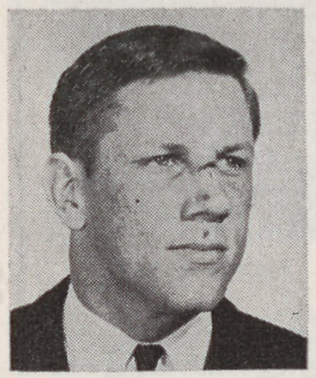
70 Ralph came to William and Mary after George Washington gave up football and fills in at a spot the Indians need help, the front four. At 218 he is the biggest player on the trim varsity, has impressed the coaches and could be a starter in the fall.

BURT WAITE
junior, 5-10, 203, Chambersburg, Pa.

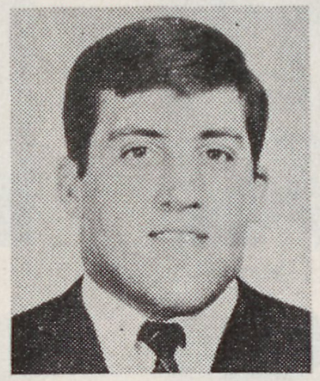
61 An offensive guard at first, Burt, a former All-33 in Pennsylvania, has been moved to middle linebacker, the center of the defense, indicative of the confidence the coaches have in him. A standout as a defensive lineman last year, Burt was so outstanding a linebacker in the spring that it was possible to move Terry O'Toole to a corner linebacking post. Waite will be flanked by All-SC Adin Brown and O'Toole, which makes Levy confident that he has the best three linebackers in the SC. Burt gained All-33 honors at Chambersburg High School.

TERRY O'TOOLE
senior, 5-8½, 181, Monessen, Pa.

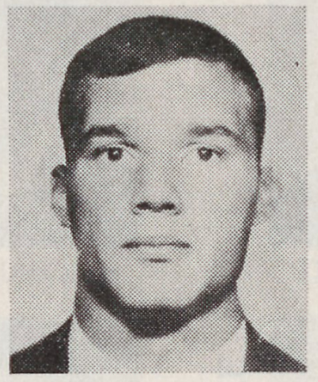
65 Disappointed over his performance in 1966 after a standout sophomore season, Terry was named the SC lineman of the week after the Richmond game, which atoned for the off form, but seems to have regained his confidence after a fine spring. A trim 181 pounds the former All-33 Monessen High School star, seems destined for a big year at W&M following in the footsteps of his brother Dennis. A good student, Terry is a member of Sigma Nu.



ADIN BROWN



DICK SIKORSKI



CHARLIE JACKSON

JIMMY BARTON

ADIN (The Hammer) BROWN
senior, 6-3, 201, El Paso, Texas

67 Co-captain Adin Brown, named the hammer because he nails down the opposition from his corner linebacking spot, is an All-America candidate if there ever was one. Lanky, agile, mobile and vital to the W&M cause, Adin roams the football field in search of the enemy and it is not unusual to see him make the tackle on the opposite corner. A fullback by trade, Adin played both offense and defense his sophomore year, gaining 138 yards on part-time employment, but stuck with defense alone in 1966, gaining All-Southern honors for playing 10 consistently good games. Adin clearly established himself as the man who is in the right place and his quiet leadership off the field and fierce competitiveness on the field will be a key factor in any Tribe success this fall. A geology major from El Paso, Adin played high school ball in New Jersey at Admiral Farragut. Adin is a member of Sigma Nu fraternity.

DICK SIKORSKI
senior, 6-0, 191, Stratford, Conn.

66 Dick is a capable backup man for either Brown or O'Toole, has some playing experience, but really shines on kickoff returns consistently making the tackle, a little specialty, but a vital one. Dick played high school ball at Bunnell.

CHARLIE JACKSON
junior, 6-1½, 183, Arlington, Va.

56 A hard-nosed football player with more desire than talent, Charlie was an off and on starter at linebacker last year and will give good depth to an already solid position. There will be a place other than the bench for this player with so much enthusiasm, drive and determination. Charlie is a business major and a member of Kappa Alpha.

JIMMY BARTON
junior, 5-7, 154, Landover, Md.

26 One of three GW transfers, Jimmy is a solid football player with lots of speed and will be a standout defensive back who will also be an exceptional punt return under the new kicking rule. Small as football players go, Jimmy more than makes up for physical deficiencies with dedication and drive that impressed everyone in spring drills. Like Cashman and Beatty, Jim has made the transfer well and should be a big boost to the 1967 W&M football team.

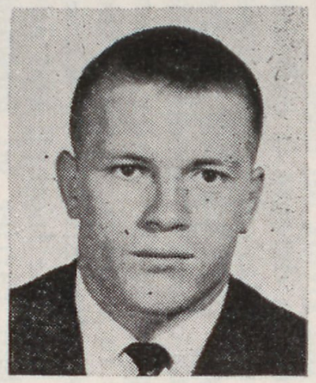
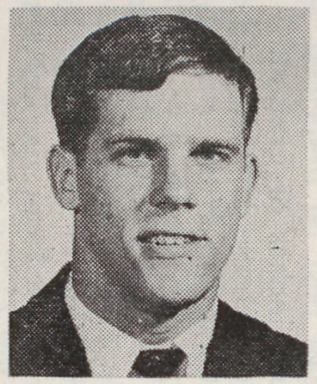
CHIP YOUNG



EDDIE HERRING



JIMMY LAYCOCK

CHUCK HOOD

CHIP YOUNG
senior, 5-9, 166, Freeport, Pa.

44 A two-year starter, Chip is now a standout safety, but will probably be remembered best for his 95-yard punt return against East Carolina that helped the Indians gain a share of the SC Title. Chip was a standout halfback for the frosh, is one of the fastest on the team and may get an occasional ball-carrying assignment. Chip intercepted 5 passes during the season for 118 yards, returned 11 punts for 206 yards. A business major, Chip played prep ball at Freeport High and is a member of Kappa Alpha fraternity.

EDDIE HERRING
senior, 5-9½, 174, Charlottesville, Va.

20 Eddie has continually improved to the point where he may be the best in the SC as a safety. Eddie returned kickoffs last year 12 times for 226 yards, 5 punts for 33 yards and intercepted two passes. A business major and a member of Kappa Sig, Eddie is a former Albemarle High School standout who ran the 440 and held the state record in the Mile Relay.

sophomore, 6-0½, 175, Hamilton, Va.

15 One of the top freshman quarterbacks, Jimmy may see action in the defensive secondary. Jim played for Loudoun County High School before coming to William and Mary and will be one of many who will be vying for the quarterback spot in 1968 when Madden and Darragh graduate.

CHARLES (Chuck) HOOD
sophomore, 6-0, 175, Westfield, N. J.

47 A star in the spring game, Chuck is definitely a fixture in the defensive secondary as a sophomore and may be one of the stars of the future. He's rugged, has good speed and could make this a solid spot with the veterans Young and Herring.

The Coaches Speak Out

You Be the Quarterback

By Bobby Ross, W&M Assistant Football Coach

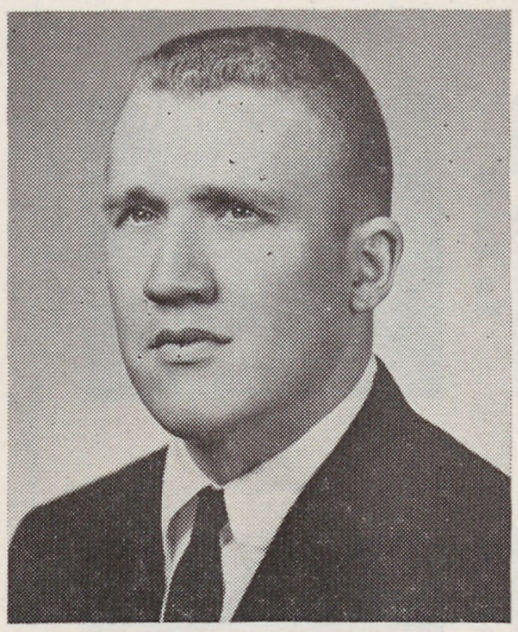
The average fan pays little attention to the down and distance situations that the offensive team is confronted with. But by being a little more conscious of these situations he may be able to predict the upcoming play, and thus, play a far more active role in the ball game.

Certainly there will be numerous critical situations confronting the quarterback of the offensive team during the course of a Saturday afternoon on the gridiron. We will now discuss some of these situations and give you some incite as to what to look for in regard to the quarterback's play selection. The first of these is:



1. 2nd Down and long yardage—It is 7 yards or over to go for a first down. In this situation you can normally look for something from the passing game. It will be a pattern whereby the receiver will run his pattern short. More than likely it will be a sideline route. The basic running play that the quarterback will go to will be an option. In this particular play the quarterback will run laterally down the line of scrimmage (perhaps after faking to another back) with the ball and either pitch it out to his trailing back or keep it, depending on what the defensive end does. Other running plays you may look for would be a quick trap or a draw of some sort. In each case the offense is trying to influence the defense to rush hard, and then with a particular blocking scheme run inside this rush.

2. 3rd Down and long yardage—It is now over six yards to go for a first down. It is a more definite passing situation than the previous one. Since the defense knows you will probably pass the QB will not try to conceal his pass with some type of fake. He will either drop straight back or sprint out, having the receiver run a pattern which will get him the necessary yardage. Also, you may look for a screen pass which is a delayed throw to the side after first trying to influence the defensive line to rush hard. A blocking wall is formed to the side, and it is a very dangerous play looking at it from a defensive point of view. Your running attack will consist almost exclusively of a draw, or some trick play whereby you fake one thing and give the ball to a back on a quick reverse.

3. 2nd Down and short yardage—You now have three yards or less to go for a first down. There are two methods of attack for the offense on this down. The QB may go for the long bomb, by calling some play action pass, or he may go ahead and go for the first down with a line plunge of some sort. The offense definitely has the advantage in this situation. If the QB chooses the former method look for a fake of some type to a running back, and then a long pass. The offensive viewpoint is you may fake the defense and then break some one in behind the secondary. This would be for a long pass and an easy TD. If it is not successful you still have another down to make your first down.

4. 3rd Down and short yardage—You are again confronted with three or less yards to go for a first down, but you now have one less down to make the necessary yardage. A QB will be more conservative in this situation and in most cases you will see the QB go to his power running play. There are certain QB's who may be the ones to make the big gamble that will call a play action pass, but it is not nearly as likely as the previous situation.

5. Two minute offense—In this situation you are behind, and you have two minutes left in the game. A definite passing situation exists. You will see no play action faking of any sort since it takes time. The routes of the receivers will be near the sideline in order that they may step out of bounds after catching the ball to stop the clock.

In conclusion as a fan, pay particular attention to these various situations just discussed, make your selection, and then follow closely the selection of the offensive team. The results??? You will definitely be more than a casual fan; you will be an active participant!

Sprint Out Pass

By Larry Peccatiello, W&M Assistant Football Coach

The sprint out pass is without doubt one of the most exciting plays in offensive football. I will briefly explain what our basic philosophy is behind the execution of this pass.

Since we operate behind the theory that the sprint out pass is a run first and a pass second, it is essential that the QB be a capable runner. This means that we expect our QB to be able to threaten the flanks every time he comes away from the center so that if the corner appears to be denuded of defenders he should be able to tuck the football and go. This keeps the dual pressure of pass or run continually against the defenders. We feel that if the QB is capable of doing this we force the defense into three choices:

1. The defense can force off of the corner and leave our split receiver in a single coverage (one defender against one split receiver). If this is done the percentages are weighted in our favor for a pass completion.

2. The defense can defend against the pass by loosening a defensive player from the line to help protect against the pass. Now we feel the QB can effectively run the ball against this loosened corner.

3. The defense can over compensate their personnel in the direction of our split receiver. Now we feel we must take advantage of this by using another play towards the side to which they have weakened themselves. They cannot overbalance in one direction without being weaker in the other.

Two other principles which we apply to our sprint out game are:

1. Maximum protection for the QB. This means that we limit the number of receivers that we send out to afford the QB as many blockers as needed to pick up stunting LB's or stacking defenses.

2. Complimenting plays. It is necessary to have plays which resemble the sprint out pass so that we can take advantage of defenses which over adjust against us, or react their secondary in one direction when the ball is snapped.

Goal Line Defense–William & Mary Style

By Augie Tammariello, W&M Assistant Football Coach

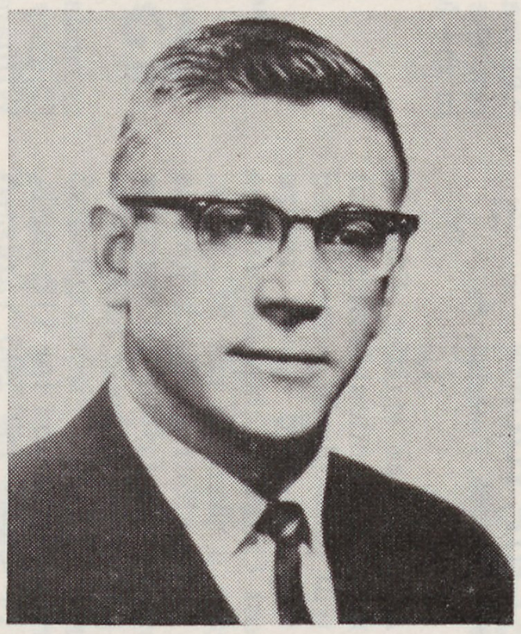
William and Mary goal line defense can best be described as "eleven maniacs fighting not to give up six inches of ground."

The technical theory behind the Indian's defense is to have the front six men prevent the opponent's offensive line from establishing any movement at the line of scrimmage and for the five other linemen to make sure that the opponent's ball carriers do not hurdle the line of scrimmage by going over the front six linemen who are not giving an inch.



The Indian defense is called a 6-5 defense. Basically, the front six linemen line up on all the opponent's offensive linemen with the exception of the center. Then we place in strategic position the other five defensive men whose job is to find the football and not let the ball carrier go forward but always backward.

We believe so strongly in the importance of goal line defense that we practice it every day in spring practice and three out of the four practice days during the weeks of the football season.

As far as we are concerned, goal line defense is the single most important aspect of the game because very simply "they can't win if they don't score."

'68 Chevrolets

Dramatic! Distinctive! Daringly new!

Expect a lot of never-befores and nice-to-haves from Chevrolet for 1968. You can count on nothing being newer. Formal and fastback roof lines. Elegant new interiors with exciting colors, fabrics, and easy-to-reach instruments. Concealed headlights, Hide-A-Way windshield wipers, and refreshing Astro Ventilation, available on many models.

NEW SILENT RIDE.

More effective body and engine mounts, quieter exhaust systems, and further improved shock absorbers. The result? Every new Chevrolet rides incredibly smooth and silent.

NEW MODELS, TOO.

Like the elegant Impala Custom Coupe and rugged new Chevelle Nomad Station Wagons. For the serious sports fan, there's the completely re-styled Corvette Sting Ray, and the Chevelle SS 396 with long-hood short-deck styling and a wider wheel stance to make it cling to the road better. Camaro, "The Hugger," features Astro Ventilation, and special hood on all SS models. What's more, there's a larger 307-cubic-inch V8 standard on Chevrolet, Chevelle and Chevy II models for '68. On most automatic transmission models, there's even a built-in heater that warms air en route to the carburetor and increases engine efficiency during cold weather. The new GM exhaust emission control is standard.

PROVED SAFETY FEATURES.

The famous proved GM-developed energy absorbing steering column and many other popular safety items are back again. Plus new features like energy absorbing front seat backs, safety armrests that shield door handles, side marker lights, and seat belts for all passenger positions. Be smart. Be sure. MAJ. FRANK P. MARCUS

Head Coach: Major Frank P. Marcus (Florida State). 1st year as coach at Quantico. Assistant Coach: Lieutenant Woody Gilliland (West Texas State). Others to be appointed.

Football Coach's phone: AC 703—Marines Corps School, extension 2-8777.

Athletic Director: Lt. Al Braley; Conference: Independent; Colors: Scarlet and Gold; Enrollment: 6,500; Location: Quantico, Va.; Stadium: Butler; Capacity: 15,000; Captains: picked at each game.

Sports Information Director: Lt. Al Braley, Office phone: (AC 703) MCS ext. 2-0731.

QUANTICO MARINES 1967 PROSPECTS: With the late appointment of a head coach, no spring drills and only six members of a 46-man squad returning, it is hard to predict what kind of team the Quantico Marines will field this fall.

However these problems are not unsurmountable as the Marines have proved in previous seasons. Annually the coaching staff must build from scratch and hope the collection of former collegiate players with their various backgrounds will mold into a cohesive unit. As you might expect, the world situation has hit the Marines hard in the player department. Only two regulars return from the 22 starters, and the majority of those lost are now serving in Vietnam.

THE SERIES
1-1-0
1925....13-0
1927....14-20

Offensive guard Cliff Yoshida (5-8, 205) is the lone line regular returning, but a good one he is. The former Little All-American at Cal Poly (Pomona) missed very little action last year.

The other returning regular is Al Richards (5-10, 225) who started five games at flanker last season. The former Oregon freshman star is normally a fullback and will probably run at that position this fall.

George Cheek (5-11, 190) saw action as the reserve quarterback and in the defensive backfield last season and will be in the picture again. Kicking specialist Tim Pyle is expected back and will give the Marines strength in this department. The other squad members returning are ends Herb Brooks and Bill Hardey.

CLARENCE STASAVICH

Head Football Coach: Clarence Stasavich (Lenoir Rhyne 1935). Assistants: Odell Wellborn (Elon 1959), Bob Gantt (North Carolina 1957), Henry Vansant (ECC 1961), Harold Bullard (Lenoir Rhyne 1957).

Football Coach's phone: (AC 919) 758-3426, ext. 316.

Athletic Director: Clarence Stasavich. Ticket Manager: Jack Wall. Conference: Southern. Colors: Purple and Gold. Enrollment: 9,000. Location: Greenville, N. C. Stadium: Ficklen, (16,000).

Sports Information Director: Earl Aiken, office phone (AC 919) 758-3426, ext. 316.

EAST CAROLINA 1967 PROSPECTS: Lettermen will be available except at offensive center, defensive tackles and at safety, twenty-two returning from last year's squad. The experienced personnel includes 14 seniors and eight juniors. Thirty sophomores from last year's undefeated freshman squad can be expected to bolster the chances of finding good replacements and depth.

1966.... 7-7

The questionable spot in the backfield will be the tailback spot. Dennis Young, who played well last year at this position until he was injured during the Southern Illinois game, will be back but still must blossom as a regular.

The other backfield posts will have experienced men back from last year's team. If some of the sophomores come through, the 1967 offensive backfield could develop surprising depth.

Offensive team should be as good as last year's and possibly better because of improved end play and experienced fullbacks and blocking back.

Defense was too weak in 1966 and must be better this year in order to insure a winning season. Safety could be a problem, but other positions should be as strong or stronger than in '66.

Overall, 1967 will be better; but the ten-game schedule will be just as tough as the 1966 slate.

Southern Mississippi, Northeast Louisiana and George Washington University have been replaced by Parsons College, West Texas State University, and Marshall University, all toughies.

VIRGINIA TECH'S 1967 FOOTBALL PROSPECTS: Virginia Tech, 29-11-1 during the last four seasons, including a strong Liberty Bowl showing, could have its best-ever team in 1967.

Tech had few significant losses from its '66 defensive unit which wound up fifth in the nation in rushing defense and 11th in total defense. Heading the '67 unit are All-America safetyman Frank Loria and end George Foussekis (2nd team, AP). Among other fine veterans on the unit are end Dan Mooney, tackles Waddy Harvey and Jeff Haynes, guard Don Thacker, linebackers Clarence Culpepper and Pete Wrenn and halfbacks Jimmy Richards and Ron Davidson.

The entire starting backfield from '66 is gone, and there are some question marks in the interior offensive line, but Tech has personnel talent capable of ironing out its problems.

In toto, from the '66 varsity Tech lost 18 lettermen. There are 25 returning lettermen (22 from last year's monogram winners). Biggest question marks are offensive depth, particularly tackle and quarterback. But what Tech will have going for it will be an already rugged defense, and offense improved in personnel talent and weighted more to a throwing game, a well-schooled kicking game.

BILL PACE

Football Coach's Phone: (AC 615) 291-1444.

Athletic Director: Jess Neely. Business Manager: Pete Naylor. Conference: Southeastern. Colors: Black and Gold. Enrollment: 5,000. Location: Nashville, Tennessee. Stadium: Dudley Field; Capacity: 34,000. Captains: To be named.

Sports Information Director: Bill Stewart, office phone (AC 615) 291-1444.

VANDERBILT UNIVERSITY'S 1967 PROSPECTS: The loss of 17 lettermen has been offset by a new coaching staff, a new offensive set and a new enthusiasm, all of which add up to a brighter season for the Commodores. Twenty-four lettermen return to run the "I" formation of new Head Coach Bill Pace. Quartersbacks Gary Davis and Roger May took to the new system quickly and will run the club with Jim Whiteside and Dan Lipperman doing most of the ball lugging. The front line is tackle Dan Cundiff and a standout sophomore Bob Asher. Bob Goodridge is a fine pass receiver who will make a fine target for Davis or May.

The defense is expected to be quicker and more mobile with several sophomores tabbed for duty. The headliner of the defensive unit is linebacker Chip Healy, a 215 pound wrecker who was named to the All SEC team last year as a sophomore. Healy is an All American prospect and the keystone of the Commodore defense. Tackle Sid Ransom is a fine football player and one of the leaders of the Commodore field play.

Sports Information Director: E. Pat Joyce, office phone (AC 703) 463-5370.

VMI 1967 PROSPECTS: With fewer injuries and better "breaks," the VMI Keydets should enjoy a better season in 1967 than last year. The znal 2-8 record did not indicate the team's actual overall performance, as a breakdown of some individual statistics indicate.

For instance, rising junior Bob Habasevich was the team leading rusher with 317 yards in 80 carries—yet he played only the first four games of the season plus a few plays in the fifth outing. With a "whole" Habasevich throughout, the offense would have told a different story.

For 1967, however, the "whole" Habasevich is back, along with a handful of first-rate veterans and some promising sophomores—all of whom hope to make Coach Vito Ragazzo's second season an enjoyable one.

On defense, the leader has to be two-time first-team All-Southern Conference linebacker Bob Schmalzriedt.

In the defensive line, the anchor will be a 5-9, 200-pounder from Roanoke, Don Taylor.

BILL HESS

Head Football Coach Bill Hess (Ohio University, 1947). 9th year at Ohio: 51-35-2. Assistants: Frank Richey (Ohio Wesleyan), Bob Kappes (Miami of Ohio), Cliff Heffelfinger (Ohio State), Joe Dean (Ohio University), Frank Ellwood (Ohio State), Dave Wagner (Ohio University).

Football Coach's Phone: (AC 614) 594-5082.

Athletic Director: William D. Rohr. Ticket Manager: Dale Schumacher. Conference: Mid-American. Colors: Green and White. Enrollment: 16,315. Location: Athens, Ohio. Stadium: Pedem; Capacity: 17,550. Captains: Bob Beach and Frank Spolrich.

Sports Information Directors: Frank Morgan and Dave Kempton, office phone (AC 614) 594-5485.

OHIO UNIVERSITY'S 1967 PROSPECTS: With 18 of the first 22 players from last year returning, plus Ohio's outstanding undefeated freshman squad of a year ago, there is optimism in the Bobcat camp for 1967. Coach Bill Hess says "We anticipate and hope for a real fine season and we hope and think we can challenge for the Mid-American Conference championship."

Returning players in the outstanding star category" include 6-4, 230 offensive tackle Ken Carmon (the only sophomore to make the '66 All MAC team); tailback Dick Conley, who in one game netted 275 yards for the best single day's rushing in major college football last fall and scored four times to set a flock of school and conference records; Bob Houmard, who at 6-3, 215 is a bruising, hard-to-bring-down runner who netted 641 yards in 189 tries for a 3.3 average his first varsity year although hampered most of the season by injuries; Frank Spolrich, who at 6-0, 201 is a fine offensive guard and leader and co-captains the '67 team along with Bob Beach, who although smallish for an end at 5-10, 185, is a tough customer and a smart one and also a fine leader and top student (All-MAC and National Academic team last year).

THE SERIES
First Meeting

Ohio will have some talent in some offensive posts as pin-pointed above which in Hess' words, "will make us more explosive and more dynamic than in the past few years. We have some outstanding running backs and a sound passing game. We'll have a veteran offensive line which should do a capable job.

BILL ELIAS

Football Coach's Phone: (AC 301) 268-7711, ext. 2262.

Athletic Director: Captain Alan Cameron, USN. Ticket Manager: George Deininger. Conference: Independent. Colors: Navy Blue and Gold. Enrollment: 4,100: Location: Annapolis, Maryland. Stadium: Navy-Marine Corps Memorial; Capacity: 28,135. Captain: Bill Dow.

Sports Information Director: Budd Thalman, office phone (AC 301) 268-7711, ext. 2376.

NAVY'S 1967 PROSPECTS: Navy hasn't had a winning football season since 1963. Bill Elias thinks the Midshipmen can end that distasteful string this fall.

Among the 21 lettermen who reported to Elias, in his third season as head coach at the Academy, on the opening day of spring practice (March 2) were 15 starters from last year's 4-6 club—nine on offense and six on defense.

The most serious loss of the 12 lettermen who will not return next fall appears to be linebacker Don Downing, the 1966 captain from Lorain, Ohio. Downing was mentioned on a number of All-East and All-American lists.

Elias looks for the best Navy attack in three seasons this fall, thanks principally to the return of three record-setting offensive performers — quarterback John Cartwright, split end Rob Taylor, and halfback Terry Murray.

Defensively, the Midshipmen may have a problem at linebacker but appear well staffed on the front five and in the secondary. Captain Bill Dow, a first team All-East and honorable mention All-American choice last fall, is Navy's top candidate for post-season honors.

Sports Information Director: Bill Hallman, office phone (AC 803) 722-4397.

THE CITADEL'S 1967 PROSPECTS: The 1967 Citadel Bulldogs will be a little larger, stronger and faster than the 1966 Team. Success in '67 will again ride with the sophomores. "While we will have lettermen at every position," says Red Parker, "we must again depend on our sophomores to push our lettermen to their full potential if we are to be successful. Offensively, we will be much improved because of more experience, more speed at the flanks and good depth at quarterback.

"Our passing attack will definitely be improved with Junior quarterback Jay Goolsby having gained valuable experience. Senior quarterback Jim Leitner, injured most of last season, appears to be ready and the addition of two top sophomore quarterbacks in Jim Friedl and Tony Passander—this combination of talent should make The Citadel strong in the signal calling department for the next several years."

Top Offensive Coach Bob Gatling says the increased speed and experience should produce a much improved offensive attack. Junior Jim McMillian returns at tailback while Seniors Tim Corcoran and Gene Moorehead will also return as halfbacks.

We lost heavily in the defensive ends and backs. All Conference Back Cal McCombs will be hard to replace and defensive safety man Bill Ogburn was probably the best in the Conference.

Sports Information Director: Roger Ruhl, office phone: (AC 304) 293-2821.

WEST VIRGINIA'S 1967 PROSPECTS: The 1967 outlook for West Virginia football is rosier because the squad with 22 lettermen has a year's grounding in the radically different style of Coach Jim Carlen.

Any offense with Garrett Ford and a fair amount of seasoning must be reckoned with, and the defense looks better.

But losses number 20 lettermen, leaving big holes at fullback, wingback, tight end, one defensive tackle and in kicking.

West Virginia employs the I formation with a wingback and gets the ball to Ford often. Last year he carried 236 times for 1,068 yards (4.5 average) to rank sixth nationally, a remarkable feat considering that he was a marked man behind a weak line.

In diametric contrast to last year, there will be experienced quarterbacking. Juniors Pete Secret and Tom Digon are duelling for the job. Secret runs the option brilliantly. Digon is more of a passer.

The Mountaineer offense will "flip flop" completely to take advantage of mobility on the wide side and strength on the tight side.

Defensively, John Mallory will stay at the free safety position after a brief trial at wingback. He is one of the nation's top secondary and runback men. Baker Brown, Ron Yuss and Carl Crennel appear to give West Virginia the best linebacking corps it has had in years.

RICHMOND'S 1967 PROSPECTS: Frank Jones, beginning his second season as the University of Richmond's football coach, expects an improved team next Fall. The Spiders will be quicker, faster and more aggressive but less experienced. It'll be a young team dominated by rising sophomores and several junior college transfers. Jones is only in the first stages of rebuilding the Spiders' football.

The Spiders lost all of the offensive line except Guard Terry Crum (236), who has been switched to tackle, and Split End Dennis Wiley.

Heading the list of 18 returning lettermen is Buster O'Brien, 6-1, 189-pound junior quarterback who established new school passing (99 completions in 200 attempts for 1,221 yards and 8 TDs and total offense (1,301 yards) marks in his first season; All-Southern Middle Guard Dave Delgado (218), a senior; Mike Bragg, senior kicker who averaged 42.8 yards on 58 punts last season.
