About The Game

BY: JOHN HENDRIX

This will be the last home game of the year and although Marshall's record isn't an imposing one, it figures to be a game that features plenty of offense.

The Pirates came up with an imposing 451 yards last Saturday against Tampa as Butch Colson and Billy Wightman had outstanding games. It was Colson's best effort of the year and marked the third time that Wightman had turned in an outstanding offensive performance.

Colson looked like himself for the first time during the season in the first half as he got outstanding blocking and had a hand in all three of the Pirate touchdowns. He finished the game with 148 yards rushing and completed five of seven passes for 47 yards.

Wightman, who has now taken over total offense leadership with 612 yards, gained 147 yards rushing and completed six of 14 passes for 60 yards. He also did an outstanding job of punting with an average of 38.7 and one kick that rolled out almost on the goal line.

Two other players who had played very little this season also did outstanding jobs. David Brill, a sophomore, moved in at blocking back and besides calling his plays well, caught three passes for 18 yards and sparkled as a blocker as well.

Butch Britton, who started out far down the line as an end this season, was moved to an offensive guard slot and was loudly applauded for his efforts as a blocker.

A repeat performance this week by the offense and defense should move the Pirates to their third win of the season and put them in a position to finish the year with a .500 record. They will meet The Citadel and East Tennessee on the road to close out the schedule.

Marshall, despite not having won a game this year, has scored in all but one of their contests and in many cases, like last week, have led before going down to defeat. The Thundering Herd was on top twice early in the game against Kent State before finally taking the count.

The Herd has played a tough schedule against Mid-America Conference foes and have averaged just a little over 12 points a game. They have been shutout once in nine games and present an offense that is difficult to defense.

John Oertel, their quarterback, has completed 118 passes for 1,538 yards and flanker Jeff Ternes has caught 29 of them for 446 yards and five touchdowns.

They also have a fine running back in Danny Slusher, who stands only 5-8 and weighs 169 pounds, but he is elusive and has good speed.

Defensively, Marshall's outstanding player is left tackle Wayne Bennett, a 6-3, 224-pound senior. They also have a fine punter who has averaged more than 41 yards per kick for the season.

DR. LEO W. JENKINS
President ECU

Not too long ago, a graduate of East Carolina returned to Greenville, as he said, "to visit old ECTC."

Admittedly all emotionally prepared for a melancholy meander among the oaks on fifth street, he shed a tear for old Austin, at the time methodically falling before an onslaught of workmen, who soon would be replaced by another horde who would replace that ancient structure with another ultra-modern edifice that is giving a complete face-lifting to the old ECTC and making it one of the most talked-about subjects in North Carolina.

Before the day was over, Old Grad was caught up in a swirl of activity on campus. He went to a concert on the mall, visited the summer theater and creaked up the hill past Jones, Aycock, Scott and Belk.

There, before his eyes lay the athletic plant, rapidly gaining recognition as one of the best in the South. Workmen were scurrying about to meet a deadline for the completion of the second section of permanent seats in Ficklen Stadium. It was, Old Grad admitted, his first trip back since the day Wake Forest came to town.

What he saw, of course, made his eyes pop even more than the rest of the campus with its changed features. After all, he had been away less than six years and it really didn't seem that long.

By now he had come to the full realization that Old ECTC had shaken itself out of the doldrums and was in truth an outstanding University complex maintaining the image of the total program that Dr. Leo Jenkins envisioned when he assumed the presidency.

This experience of the old grad was far from unique. And the swell of pride over what has happened to his old school was far from unique.

Led by athletic director and head football coach Clarence Stasavich, East Carolina has an outstanding coaching staff dedicated to the purpose of providing the school with a program second to none.

Three sports, football, swimming, and baseball, have been conference powers from the very beginning of the Jenkins era. The Pirate football team has won 44 and lost 14 under Coach Stasavich, enjoyed three 9-1 seasons three bowl victories, a share in a southern conference title and last year had the Southern Conference player of the year in Butch Colson.

Swimming has won all three conference titles for which it was eligible and baseball two, missing the third by losing out in a post-season playoff.

Other sports are making rapid progress–in fact, only two failed to improve last season in the conference race.

As the level of competance in the athletic program improved, so has the scheduling of opposition. In basketball, where Coach Tom Quinn is now in the third year of a building program, the opponents included four teams last year who were in post-season tournaments. This season South Carolina and Marshall, two nationally recognized powers, have been added.

The future schedule for football includes the likes of N.C. State and West Virginia and by 1973, the Pirates will be playing every other member of the Southern Conference.

One of Athletic Director Stasavich's major problems has been lining up a representative schedule of prestegious schools. However, a number of opponents on the schedule are rapidly gaining national recognition, much in the fashion of East Carolina.

In projecting the schedule and taking immediate history into consideration, it is easy to see that the Pirates will be carrying on competition with schools respected throughout the land as athletic powers.

"I thought that slogan 'Pride of the East' was just that," he said. "But I'm really proud of this place and the whole state should be."

So he went away promising to spread the word and to come back again this fall as often as possible. "I'll have to come back more than I have been doing or I'll never be able to remember the place at all," he said.

The problem of keeping up with the changes is even a problem to those who move about the campus each day. And the only way to find out what's coming next is to invade the dreams of Dr. Jenkins.

The scope of those dreams is readily understandable to any visitor to Ficklen Stadium. At the West end of the football field sits Minges Coliseum, a multi-million dollar, multi-purpose structure that at the time of its construction gave East Carolina University unsurpassed facility.

It was here that the National Amateur Athletic Union held its swimming and diving championships in the spring. And it is here that the Eastern Carolina Classic basketball tournament will be held in December. These are just two events of national scope which are adding to the prestige of East Carolina.

A stone's throw away are Scales Field House, soon to be enlarged, football practice facilities, two baseball fields, a modern all-weather track, ample parking space for visitors and other terrain which will be converted into lacrosse and soccer fields.

The athletic program itself has matched the physical plant in growth stride-for-stride. Last school year, East Carolina's total program surpassed all other schools in the Southern Conference in effectiveness.

Break your beard in right.

Right now your beard is in the formative stage.

You can shave it with a razor blade like your father does. And each time you do your beard will grow back a little more difficult. Until one day shaving's no longer a chore. It's an agony.

Look no further than your father's face for proof.

But fortunately, you're catching your beard at an early age. You can break it in to be just as shaveable 10 and 20 years from now as it is today.

With a Remington shaver.

And if you think the kind of shave we're selling won't be close enough for you, you're wrong.

Our new blades are sharper than anything that's been in an electric shaver before. And there's a dial that lets you adjust them for your skin and beard.

What's more, you can dial a Remington electric shaver into a sideburn trimmer.

Admittedly, it costs more to buy our electric shaver than a razor and some blades.

But it's a good investment.

These next few years will determine how you and your beard will get along for the rest of your lives. SPERRY RAND

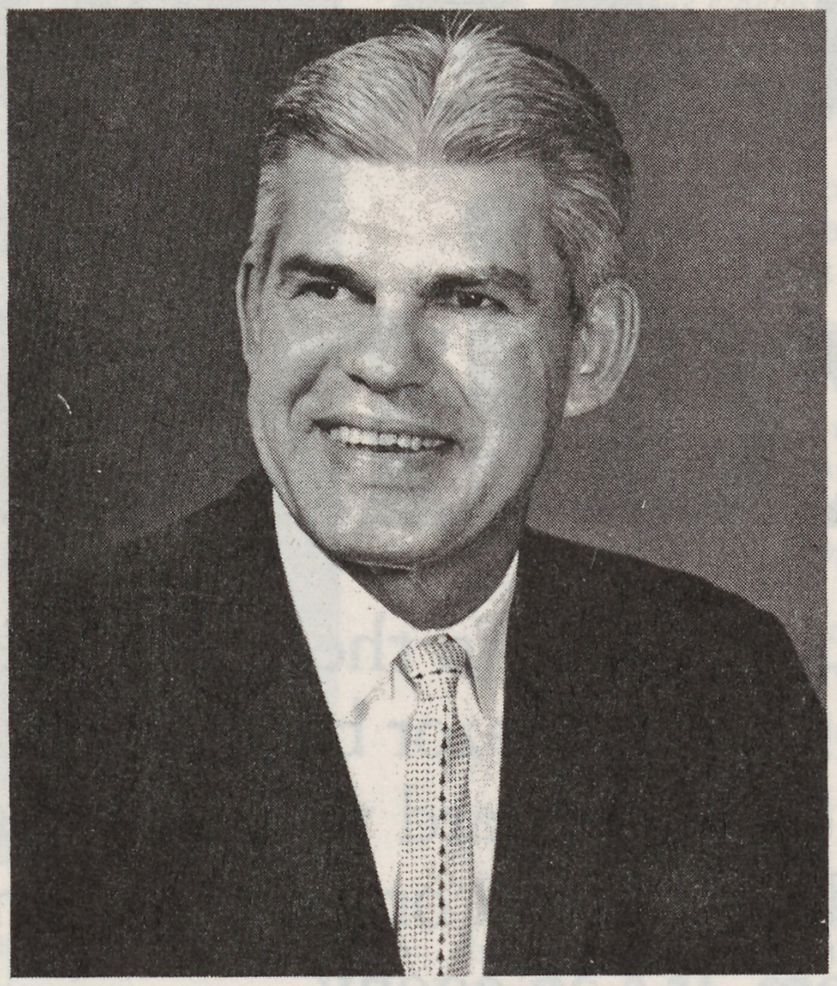
Head Football Coach



CLARENCE STASAVICH

Clarence Stasavich, the nation's leading exponent of the single wing, begins his seventh year as head football coach at East Carolina.

His lifetime record of 164-51-8 marks him as one of the winningest active coaches in the nation, and he goes into the 1968 season with a team that is expected to be a serious contender for the Southern Conference championship.

A native of Georgetown, Illinois, Stasavich first came to North Carolina as an undergraduate at Lenoir-Rhyne. He earned his A.B. degree at the Hickory College in 1935 and added his M.A. at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, in 1947.

An all-around athlete, he gained his greatest recognition at Lenoir-Rhyne as a football and basketball player and in 1933 and 1934 was named to the Charlotte Observer's "Flaming Five", the top five athletes chosen annually in North and South Carolina.

Stasavich first entered the coaching profession as an assistant at Campbell College in 1935 and then returned to his Alma Mater in 1938, where he served as an assistant until entering the United States Navy in 1942.

During World War II he served as commanding officer on an LST both in the European and Pacific Theaters and in the Mediterranean. Following his discharge in 1946, he returned to Lenoir-Rhyne, where he served as football coach and athletic director until joining East Carolina in 1962.

While at Lenoir-Rhyne, his teams won nine Carolinas Conference Championships and in 1960 took the National Association of Inter-Collegiate Athletics national championship.

Among the long string of national honors Stasavich has gained are AFCA College Coach of the Year, 1964; NAIA Coach of the Year, 1959; and District Coach of the Year, 1960-61-63-64-65. He was named to the Helms Foundation Hall of Fame in 1960.

Since coming to East Carolina, Stasavich has posted a record of 44 wins, 12 losses, and one tie. Three of his teams [1963, 1964, 1965] posted 9-1 records for the season and won bowl games each year; the 1966 club shared the Southern Conference championship.

Besides an outstanding career in athletics, which has led him to write innumerable articles on single wing football and lecture frequently at national clinics, he is an accomplished after dinner speaker and always in demand on the banquet circuit.

An elder and Sunday school teacher at First Presbyterian Church in Greenville, he spends considerable time serving the Fellowship of Christian Athletes and frequently contributes his time to charitable institutions. He is a member of the board of directors of the North Carolina Cerebral Palsy Hospital, is listed in Who's Who of the Southeast and was a member of the board of directors of the North Carolina Sports Hall of Fame.

Married to the former Helen Warlick of Hickory, he is the father of two daughters, Rebecca and Mary Helen, and a son, Walter.

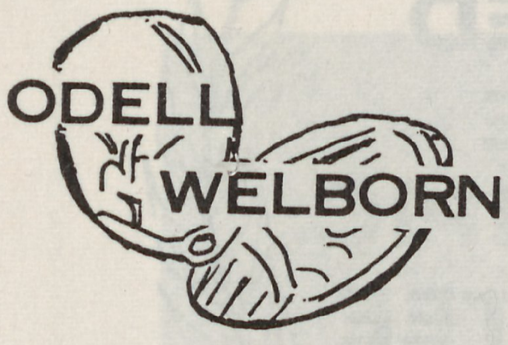
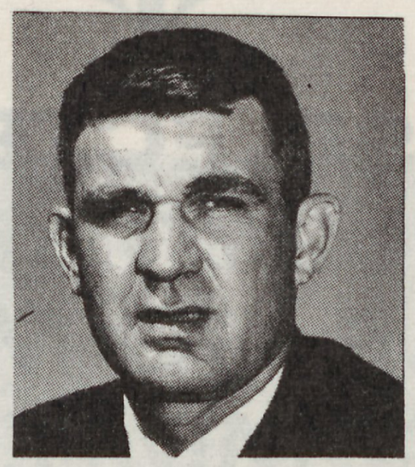
Assistant Coaches

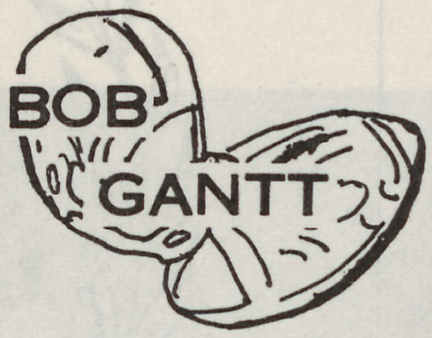


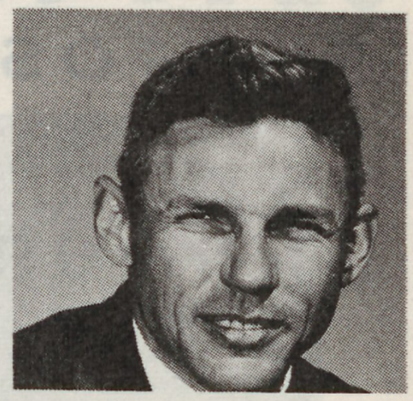


A native of Thomasville, N.C., and a graduate of Elon College, Odell Welborn is the oldest man from point of service on the East Carolina staff. At Elon, he was a tackle and end on the football team and then played and coached with an Air Force team from 1951-1954.

When head coach Clarence Stasavich was stricken with a heart attack in 1963, Welborn took over as head coach and carried the team through its six remaining games undefeated. His principal duties now involve the interior line on defense.

Welborn is married to the former Rachel Poole of Thomasville and they have two children, Jane Bennett, 7, and David, 4. His hobby is duck hunting.



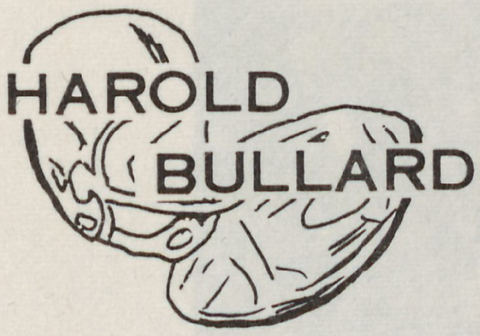


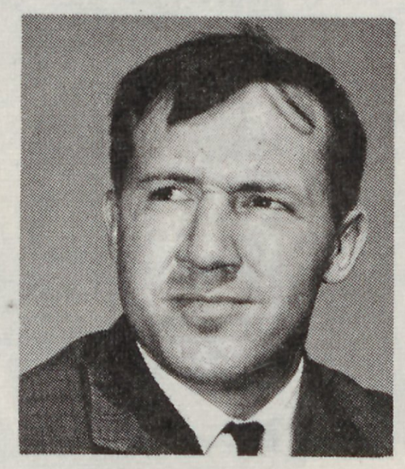
Bob Gantt brought a vast amount of single wing football knowledge with him to the East Carolina staff in 1962. Gantt, who played with the fabled Charley Justice at North Carolina, came to the Pirates after serving three seasons as head coach at Albemarle High School.

After gaining his A.B. degree from North Carolina in 1952, he entered the United States Marine Corps and served for four years, attaining the rank of captain. After discharge, he earned his masters degree and then turned to coaching.

He is married to the former Christine Williamson of Rock Ridge, N.C., and they are the parents of three children, Lynn, 10, Janet, 8, and Bobby, 6.

His hobby is studying football.



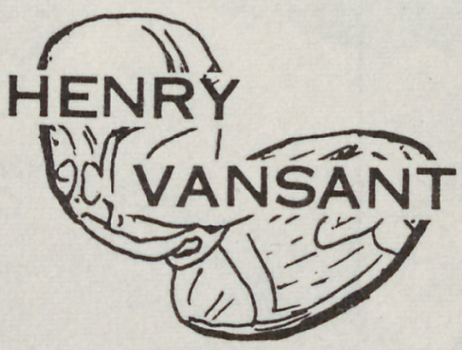


After joining the East Carolina staff as a graduate assistant in 1962, Harold Bullard earned his masters degree and was immediately appointed to the varsity staff as end coach.

An All-America back under Coach Clarence Stasavich at Lenoir-Rhyne, Bullard began his coaching career at Camden Military Academy, Camden, S.C., where he served four years.

Classed as one of his best backs by Stasavich, Bullard carries the same kind of dedication to his coaching duties that marked his playing career from 1955-57 at L-R when he was named All-America three times.

He is married to the former Margie Virginia Miller of Salisbury and they are the parents of two children, Harold Jr. 4 and Jill Harris 4.



After five years as freshman coach at East Carolina, Henry Vansant was moved to the varsity staff last year as offensive line coach. During his five years with the freshman, his teams compiled an outstanding record and his last season, 1966, they were defeated.

The only East Carolina graduate on the varsity staff, Vansant is a native of Virginia. He gained both his B.S. and M.A. degrees in 1961 at East Carolina after serving three years with the 82nd Airborne Division. He coached one year of high school football at Hopewell, Va., before joining the Pirates staff in 1962.

Vansant is married to the former Ragnhilde MacDonald of Fayetteville and they have two sons, Charles 8 and John 3.

His hobby is studying football.

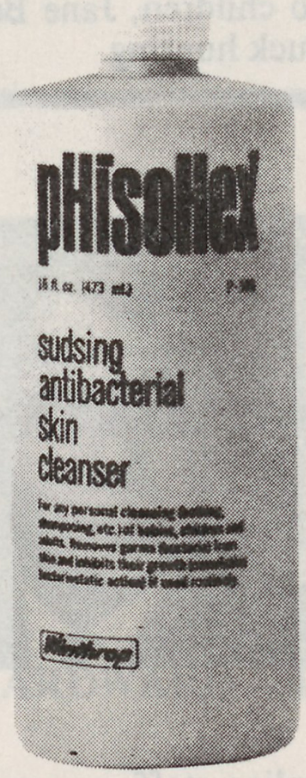
SELECTED BY THE U.S. OLYMPIC COMMITTEE

We're proud...

that pHisoHex® has been selected as the antibacterial wash to be used by the U.S. Team for the 1968 Olympic Games!



A winning athlete takes special care of his skin. Above all, he protects it against bacteria that can cause infections and lead to missed practice sessions and games.

If you've ever tried to play with an infected blister on your heel or an abscess on your finger, then you know the role of healthy skin in sports. And that's why pHisoHex is an important part of an athlete's daily health routine.

pHisoHex is America's leading liquid antibacterial skin cleanser in homes and in hospitals. Used regularly in place of soap, pHisoHex produces a superclean skin and builds up an invisible antibacterial film of hexachlorophene to protect your skin against germs between washings.

And if you have problem skin, pHisoHex is often valuable. The antibacterial film it leaves on your face will ward off blemish-infecting bacteria. pHisoHex also helps to soften and wash away blackheads.

Use pHisoHex, the skin cleanser of winning athletes.

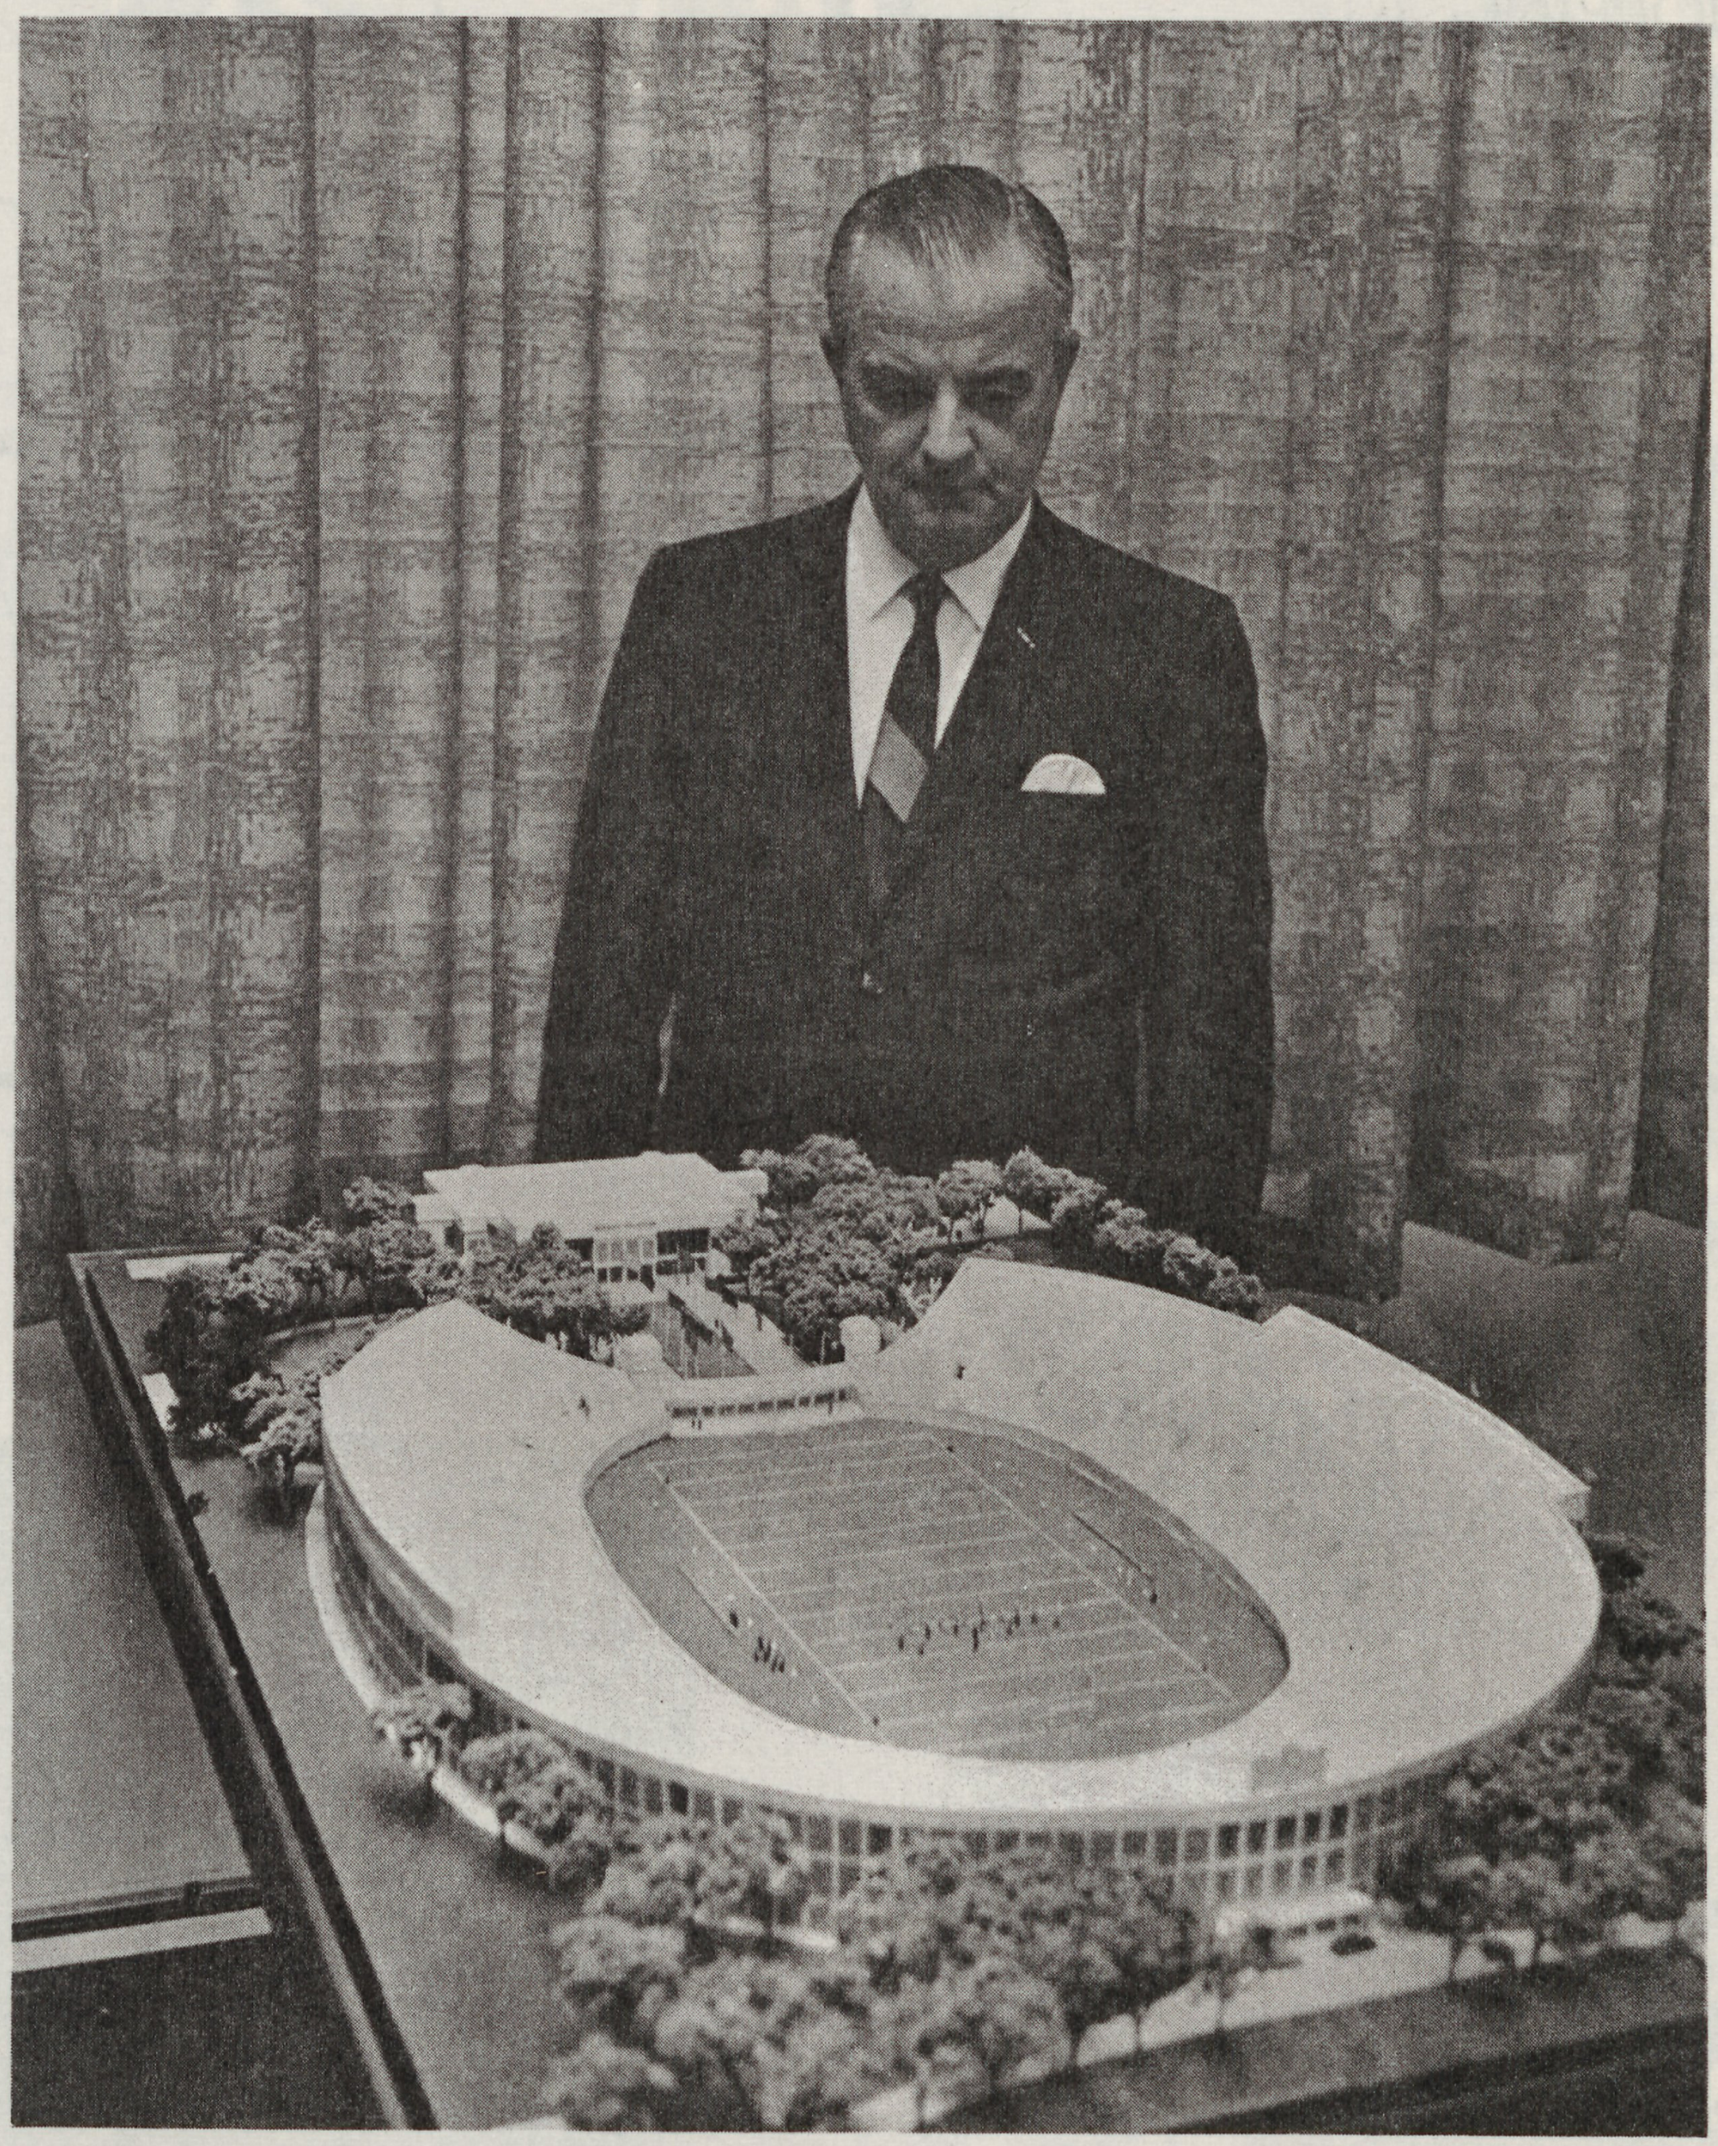
"Lets Make This Dream Come True"



Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, president of East Carolina University, views an architect's conception of what the Ficklen Stadium-Minges Coliseum complex will look like in the future. Plans call for the closing in of the East End of the stadium to make it a horseshoe. The total seating capacity then would be in the neighborhood of 47,000.

"When you consider the great advancement in our athletic program and the interest it has generated in the last six years, such a stadium is not ambitious at all," Dr. Jenkins says.

BUTCH COLSON

FRANKLIN V. [Frank] ADAMS: Linebacker, Soph., 5-11, 191, Goldsboro, N. C.

An outstanding scholar [he carried a 3.7 GPA as a freshman] Frank Adams is expected to develop into a fine football player for East Carolina. He earned varsity letters in three sports in high school, played in the North-South game as a lineman, but was a blocking back on the Pirate freshman team last season. Was returned to the line in spring practice. A business administration major, he plans to study law. During the summer he did research work with the Eastern North Carolina Development Institute on a scholarship from the Richardson Foundation.

WALTER ADAMS: Guard-Tackle, Soph., 6-0, 222, Deptford, N. J.

Voted the outstanding freshman by his teammates, he was a starter at outside tackle in the spring game and is expected to be a starter in the fall. Possesses tremendous strength and desire to be a good football player. Worked during the summer to improve agility and quickness. A physical education major who plans to teach and coach, he did construction work during the summer.

JAMES EDWIN [Jimmy] ADKINS: Offensive End, Senior, 6-1, 185, Kinston, N. C.

A regular last season, he turned in particularly outstanding performances in victories over Parsons and Furman, making crucial receptions to keep drives going. A hard worker, he is the kind of player who comes up with the big play. Worked with weights in summer to build up strength and add pounds. A PE major, he ran a swimming pool in the summer. He plans a career as coach and teacher.

JAMES MELVYN [Frosty] AUSTIN: Halfback, Soph., 5-10, 175, Charlotte, N. C.

Probably a year away from a lot of action, but might move into the picture in fall practice if he continues the progress made in spring drills. Was one of defensive stars in the Purple-Gold game, intercepting three passes. Needs to improve quickness, but is working hard. A business major with his eye on real estate or sales management, he earned seven letters in high school and intercepted nine passes in one season at Stauton Military Academy.

WILLIAM TILLMAN [Billy] BEARD III: Center-Rover, Soph., 5-11, 174, Kannapolis, N.C.

One of the fastest linemen on the team, he is regarded as one of the best tacklers on the squad, but needs to improve agility and pass coverage. A math major, he was all-conference as a junior and senior in high school and hopes to add size with weight program.

PHILLIP [Phil] BILODEAU: Guard, Junior, 6-2, 208, Manchester, N.H.

An All-State freshman for the Pirates two seasons ago, he has yet to reach his full potential with the varsity. Has been played at a number of positions on both offense and defense. Greatest asset is his strength but needs to improve agility to become a top-flight player. Counted on as a top reserve this season, but could become a starter. A physics major who plans an engineering career.

DAVID [Dave] BRILL: Blocking Back, Soph., 5-9, 198 Woodstock, Virginia

Considered as one of the best prospects from last years's freshman team, he will probably serve as blocking back and a reserve offensive tackle this season.

DONALD [Don] BRITTON: End, Soph., 6-1, 190, Chincoteague, Virginia

He has the desire to be a good end for the varsity team. Strong and tough and a hard worker.

DON TYSON

MIKE BOAZ: Halfback, Junior, 5-11, 165, Fairmont, N. C.

He surprised the entire coaching staff by earning the starting job as rover back last season and in the final analysis was regarded as likely the best defensive back on the team. He was the only player on the squad to earn "Knocker-of-the-Week" honors twice, the award which goes to the most aggressive hitter on the team in each game. Very versatile, he can play any position in the defensive backfield and play wingback on offense as well. A physical education major, he hopes to become a college football coach. An outstanding high school player, he'll start somewhere this fall.

ROGER WILLIAM [Roger] BOST: End-Tackle, Junior, 6-1, 205, Statesville, N. C.

Started one game last season and played a lot as a reserve. Showed much improvement in spring practice. He's tough durable and one of the strongest players on the team. Likes to hit, but needs to improve agility. Likes to play defense because "it means going out there and stopping people." A physical education major, he want to coach football.

JAMES MICHAEL [Mike] BRIDGES: Wingback, Senior 5-11, 190, Hichory, N. C.

Earned a letter in 1966 but was bothered by an ankle ailment last year which caused him to cease all activity. After week of spring practice, underwent surgery to correct problem and is expected to be ready to play this fall. He has excellent speed and was a sprinter on the track squad until he was sidelined with ankle problem. He won nine letters in high school, three each in football basketball and track. Majoring in accounting and plans to study law.

JAMES EDWARD [Jim] BROWN, Jr.: End, Soph., 6-3, 195, Raleigh, N. C.

Missed spring practice because of an injury. A seven letter winner in high school–three in baseball and two each in football and basketball–he is considered a good prospect at tight end. Has good hands and strength, but needs to improve on agility to reach full potential. His father, James E. Brown is a high school coach in Raleigh.

THOMAS CLIFTON [Tommy] BULLOCK: Wingback, Jr., 5-11, 170, Raleigh, N. C.

A versatile and gifted youngster, he is capable of playing either wingback on offense or defensive halfback, where he started last year as a sophomore. His best game last season probably was against Southern Illinois when he intercepted two passes that helped set up touchdowns. He played primarily on offense in the spring and had moved up to the No. 1 unit as a starter by the time the Purple-Gold game came around. A sprinter on the track team in high school, he made all-conference in two sports and prepped at Carolina Military Academy where he was a teammate of tackle Don Tyson. A Geography major, an older brother was a member of the track team at Duke.

EARL HINES [Earl] BURTON: Guard, Soph., 5-10, 190, Charlottesville, Virginia

An offensive back as a freshman, he was shifted to the line during the middle of spring practice and was impressive. A hard worker with a fine attitude, he is expected to be a top reserve in 1968 and could become a starter. Is quick and impressed coaching staff with his attitude and desire.

GEORGE WHEELER

WILLARD HORACE [Butch] COLSON, JR.: Fullback, Jr., 5-10, 200, Elizabeth City, N.C.

Player of the year in the Southern Conference as a sophomore, he had a good spring practice and showed improvement in his speed and blocking. A very strong runner with excellent balance, he set a Southern Conference record for rushing last year and is expected to be the key to the Pirate offense this fall. A hard worker, he put much attention to his blocking and passing in the spring, two areas where it was felt he could add to his assets. With two more good years could re-write school and conference rushing and scoring records. An All-America candidate of the first order.

RICHARD EUGENE [Richard] CORRADA: Wingback, Soph., 6-0, 175, Richmond, Va.

A wingback on the freshman team, he missed spring practice while playing shortstop on the baseball team which went to the District III NCAA playoffs. An end in high school, he won All-District and outstanding lineman honors. Has good speed and an unusual desire to excel.

STEVE DONELL [Steve] DAVIS: Guard, Soph., 6-1, 215, Raleigh, N. C.

Came on surprisingly fast in spring practice after average freshman season and seems ready to answer one of the problems left by graduating defensive linemen. Although lacking experience, he showed tremendous desire and will to work and is expected to be a starter this fall. An outstanding athlete in high school, he lettered in football, basketball and track.

JEFFERSON FRANKLIN [Jeff] DUDLEY: Rover Back, Sr., 6-2, 180, Swansboro, N. C.

A reserve end for two years, he was switched to rover back in the spring and probably will start at that position in the fall. Eager and aggressive, adapted to new position well and proved to be one of most pleasant surprises of spring drills. A psychology major, he is very active member of the campus Fellowship of Christian Athletes Chapter.

TERRY MANCE [Terry] EDMONDSON: Soph., 5-11, 185, Fayetteville, N. C.

Had a very good spring practice and will be the No. 2 center behind Bill Tucker. A fine snapper and effective blocker, he is expected to see considerable action. A business administration major, he participated in basketball and track besides football in high school.

JOHN AUSTIN [Johnny] ELROD: End, Soph., 5-11, 191, Norman, Oklahoma

Strong, tough and durable, he likes to hit and is expected to develop into a top-flight defensive end. A hard worker who needs to improve his quickness and agility, he could be a starter in the fall. A well-travelled youngster, he was born in Tennessee, has lived in Oklahoma and his parents now reside in Austin, Texas. Although he lettered in baseball in high school, he has concentrated on football at ECU.

DWIGHT JAMES [Dwight] FLANAGAN: Wingback, Jr., 5-10, 170, Edenton, N. C.

One of the quickest backs on the team, he'll likely be a defensive starter in 1968, although he could be the offensive wingback. Played a great deal last season as a defensive back and improved considerably in spring practice. Showed progress particularly in quickness and tackling ability. Earned 15 letters in high school participating in football, basketball, baseball and track. A physical education major, he plans to enter the coaching field.

STUART LEE GARRETT: Safety, Junior, 5-11, 160, Newport News, Virginia

Played some on defense last fall but missed spring practice while playing baseball. An All-State football player in high school, he earned nine letters in three sports. Has the ability to play offense or defense and is expected to bid for a starting spot on the 1968 team in pre-season practice. A chemistry major, he plans to become a dentist.

GEORGE THOMAS [George] GAY: Fullback, Senior, 5-11, 185, Charlottesville, Va.

The starting fullback in last year's opening game, he suffered a broken ankle and still had not sufficiently recovered to participate in spring practice. He is the best passer and fastest fullback on the squad and will be alternated there in the fall and at tailback. Could figure promiently at tailback when pre-season practice begins.

BENNETT J. [Ben] GRIEB: Guard, Senior, 6-0, 195, Alexandria, Virginia

The most consistent lineman on the team, he makes few mistakes and always grades high on assignments. Possesses unexhaustive desire and enthusiasm and has the quickness to make up for lack of physical size. Constantly works on perfecting finer techniques. A team leader, he is a native of California, and didn't get seriously involved in football until he reached East Carolina. Now admits he has a burning desire to excel at game and efforts are reflected in constant improvement.

JAMES F. [Jim] GUDGER, JR.: Blocking Back, Junior, 6-1, 225, Cullowhee, N. C.

Has the size and talent to be an outstanding blocking back-quarterback. A good receiver and runner, he could be a starter in 1968. Has yet to show maturity necessary to mark him as the No. 1 man in the demanding position of quarterback. Showed considerable improvement in spring in all phases of play and could make an important contribution to 1968 team. The son of Jim Gudger, Western Carolina's basketball coach, he is an active member of the campus chapter of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

ANTHONY LOUIS [Tony] GUZZO: Kicker, Soph., 5-10, 185, Norfolk, Virginia

An outstanding kicker in high school, knee injury slowed progress, but could figure as placement kicker this fall.

JAMES DAVID [Ham] HAMILTON: Tackle, Senior, 5-11, 200, Orlando, Florida

Strong and quick, he has a burning desire to excel and could be a first class football player this fall. Had a good spring practice and may be a starter on offense. A three-year letterman in high school and an All-State player, he visited East Carolina because a cousin was going to school here and was so impressed he applied for a football scholarship and was accepted.

DENNIS JOSEPH [Dennis] HEWSTON: Safety, Soph., 5-10, 180, McKeesport, Pa.

A blocking back at the beginning of spring practice, he moved to safety. Likes to hit people and is considered one of the most aggressive backs on the team. Could see a lot of action in 1968.

PERRY WAYNE [Wayne] LINEBERRY: Tackle, Sr., 6-3, 227, Wadesboro, North Carolina

Was a starting defensive tackle last year and a candidate for post-season honors this year. Had an excellent spring practice and staff considers him one of outstanding interior linemen in conference. An All-America player in high school, he is an avid hunter and hopes to play professional football when he finishes East Carolina.

JAMES RUSSELL [Jamie] LOUIS: Tackle, Junior, 5-10, 195, Blacksburg, Virginia

Won his letter last year as a member of the specialty squads and is the type of boy the coaching staff likes to have around. He works hard and is expected to play a great deal in 1968. A business major, his father is a professor at Virginia Tech. He plans a career as a commercial airlines pilot.

MIKE McCAFFERY: Guard, Junior, 5-9, 185, Richmond, Virginia

Out for football for the first time at East Carolina in the spring, he lacks experience, but showed a willingness to work and impressed the staff with his hitting. May see action as a reserve during 1968 season.

BRYAN McCLURE: Defensive Back, Junior, 5-11, 172, Charlotte, N. C.

Played as reserve tailback and defensive back last year. Before suffering an ankle injury, he was looking fairly good as a defensive back in spring drills. An aggressive tackler, he may see more action as a defensive back than as a tailback, providing he recovers sufficiently from ankle injury.

WAYNE LINEBERRY

MICHAEL GEORGE [Mike] McGUIRK: Fullback, Jr., 6-1, 180, Arlington, Va.

Starting wingback on the freshman team, he did not participate in football as a sophomore, but came back to impress the staff during spring practice this year. A hard runner, he is the best blocking fullback on the team and will see action this fall. Earned 13 letters in high school participating in football, baseball, basketball and track.

MICHAEL M. [Mike] MILLS: Halfback, Sophomore, 5-11, 180, Statesville, N. C.

Tailback on the freshman team, he worked primarily on defense in the spring and may develop into a starter here. His brother Billy won letters in football, track and wrestling at Davidson, captaining the latter two teams, and his father was an All-Southern in football and baseball at Davidson. A business major, he is interested in a career in banking, insurance or real estate.

ALEX LEN [Mole] MONROE: Tackle, Soph., 5-11, 201, Aberdeen, N. C.

A starting defensive tackle on the freshman team he needs to improve agility to become a starter. Durable and tough, he played every minute of every game for Aberdeen High his junior and senior years.

JOHN P. MORRIS, JR.: Tackle, Soph., 6-3, 215, Norfolk, Virginia

A nine-letter winner in high school, he was one of the most improved linemen on the squad in spring practice and is expected to see action this fall. Member of an athletic family, he is a biology major who plans to study medicine. Might figure as a punter. Did kicking on freshman team until injured an ankle.

CHARLES JAY [Charlie] OVERTON III: Blocking Back, Senior, 5-11, 190, Edenton, N. C.

A veteran who played in almost every game last year, expected to start at blocking back-quarterback. A good leader, he needs to improve his blocking, but is effective. An All-State high-schooler, he is a physical education major who plans to be a football coach.

A hard worker who likes to play and loves contact, he showed considerable improvement during the spring and may see action as a reserve this fall. Needs to improve blocking and agility.

THOMAS FLOYD [Tommy] PULLEY: End, Soph., 5-11, 185, Durham, N. C.

One of the fastest members of the end corps, he showed much improvement in the spring. Steady and dependable, he is capable of making the big play. Likes to hit and could develop into a fine football player.

WILLIAM LEE [Fella] RHODES: Tailback, Senior, 5-10, 160, Chesapeake, Virginia

A defensive specialist last season and the owner of the school record with an interception runback, he moved into the muddled tailback picture about mid-way spring drills and will be given serious consideration for that spot in pre-season practice. Throws well and is an elusive runner who showed tremendous improvement as an offensive player in the spring.

DAVID G. [Dave] ROBERTS: Tackle, Soph. 6-2, 198, Jacksonville, N. C.

A starter on the freshman team, he continued to improve in spring practice and will see action this fall as a reserve. A biology major who earned eight letters in high school athletics, he missed six spring practices because of illness. Brother Irwin played at East Carolina before injury ended career.

THOMAS WESLEY [Wes] ROTHROCK, JR.: Rover, Soph., 5-11, 180, Enfield, N. C.

Starting defensive back on the freshman team, he gained all-state recognition and goes into pre-season drills as the No. 2 rover on the team. He was handicapped in spring drills by a knee injury, but aggressiveness indicates he will play a lot during 1968.

WILBUR RICHARD [Wilbur] SASSER, JR.: Guard, Soph., 5-11, 215, Goldsboro, N.C.

A three sport star in high school, has the size to become a good football player. Enjoyed only a fair spring practice, but worked in summer to improve skills. A member of the track team until spring drills began, he plans to stay out for the full season next year.

WORTH SPRINGS: Tackle, Sr., 5-10, 208, Charlotte, N. C.

The best blocker on the team, he missed spring drills while concentrating on academics. A real hustler who is quick and mobile, he is outstanding as a downfield blocker and is aggressive. Potentially the best offensive lineman in recent years at East Carolina, he definitely is a candidate for post-season honors. A key figure in the offensive picture for 1968.

WILLIAM [Bill] TUCKER: Center, Junior, 6-3, 218, Albemarle, N. C.

An outstanding student, he showed tremendous improvement between the close of the 1967 season and spring drills, gaining some 30 pounds and losing none of his agility and quickness. The biggest center East Carolina has had since Coach Stasavich came and considered potentially the best since that time. A hard worker, a fighter of the first order and a leader, he's a candidate for post-season honors. He's a B-plus pre-law student majoring in history. His father played for Coach Stasavich at Lenoir-Rhyne.

TIMOTHY ODELL [Tiny Tim] TYLER: Tackle, Soph., Alexandria, Virginia

Big, strong and tough, he ran as No. 2 outside tackle in the spring, but has potential to move up. Had a good spring practice and is considered future starter.

DONALD WAYNE [Don] TYSON: Tackle, Junior, 6-0, 235, Fayetteville, N. C.

A starter as a sophomore last year, missed spring practice because of second shoulder operation in two years. He won 12 letters in high school and was the team's placement kicker last year. If second shoulder operation proves as successful as the first, he could be a great one. He worked hard during summer to get into peak condition. Started out as No. 5 tackle on freshman team because of injury, but worked his way to front and has been there ever since. A definite candidate for post-season honors.

PAUL WEATHERSBEE: Linebacker, Junior, 190, 6-0, Norwood, N. C.

A reserve most of last season, he started the final game and had a good spring practice. The youngest of five children, he is a psychology major and is expected to be a starter on the 1968 team at linebacker. A brother, Stan, played freshman football at Appalachian and is a high school coach.

GEORGE WAYNE [George] WHEELER: Tackle, Jr., 6-0, 230, Buena Vista, Va.

Started four games last year as sophomore and was named Southern Conference lineman of the week for play against Richmond and Furman. Also played an outstanding game against Davidson. Injured ankle early in the spring and was hampered rest of the practice sessions. Working to improve quickness and agility and is expected to be a standout this fall. A candidate for post-season honors.

GEORGE WILLIAM [George] WHITLEY: Wingback, Soph., 5-9, 165, Huntersville, N. C.

After only a so-so freshman season, he finished spring practice classified as the most improved player on the squad. Has good speed and elusiveness and figures strongly in the picture as a possible starter in the fall.

WILLIAM C. [Bill] WIGHTMAN: Tailback, Junior, 5-0, 175, Graham, N. C.

Played more defense than anything else last season and could be a starter in the secondary in 1968 if he doesn't start at tailback. One of several players considered for the starting job at tailback, he is the fastest man on the squad, is a good open field runner and has a strong arm. Needs to improve his passing, but has the natural ability to succeed departed Neal Hughes who starred at that position last fall. Was the punter in 1967 and is expected to be again this year.

DANNY WAYNE [Danny] WILMER: End, Junior, 6-3, 224, Buena Vista, Virginia

Tremendous potential with good hands and size for tight end position. One of the hardest hitters on the team, needs to improve agility and blocking. Improvement last season was impeded because he suffered ruptured appendix and lost 36 pounds before starting recovery. An All-State player in high school, he could become a starter.

ROBERT PHILLIP WITHROW: End, Senior, 185, 6-2, Dayton, Ohio

Switched from split end to tight end in the spring he showed particular improvement in his blocking and is counted on for a good season. After a knee operation following spring of 1967, came back to see some service as a reserve. Caught three passes, two for touchdowns. Has good speed and likely will be a starter. Brother Cal earned All-America recognition at Kentucky as a center.

GERALD WAYNE WRENN: End, Soph., 6-0, 175, Danville, Virginia

An offensive end and defensive rover back, he also is a punter. Likely to see action this fall as a reserve. Has good speed. A track man, he averaged 46.7 as a punter in high school and once kicked the ball 80 yards in a game.

GREENVILLE, N. C.

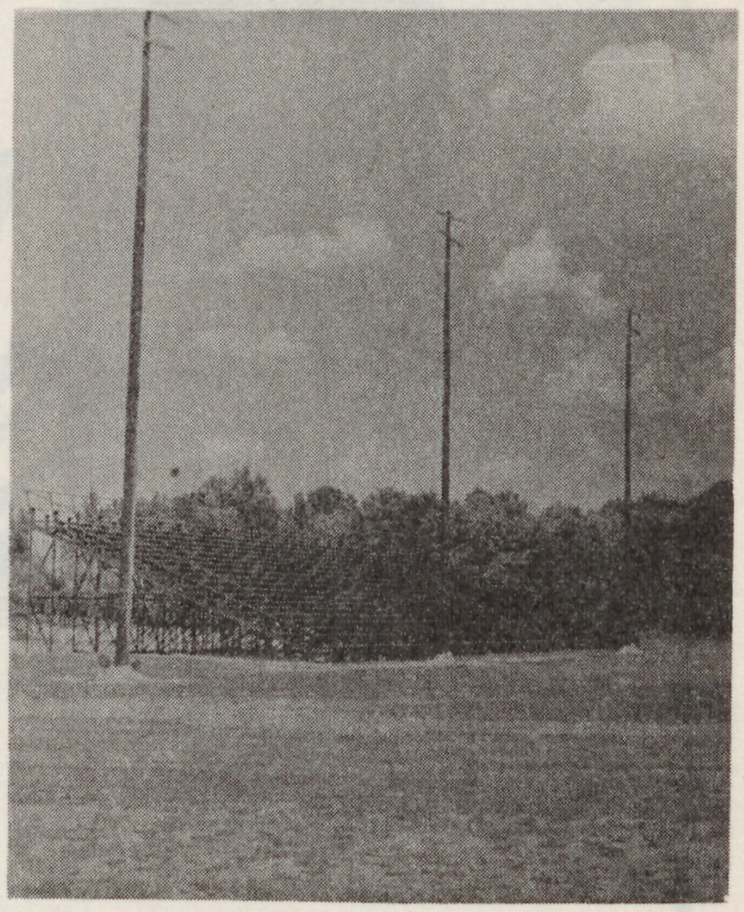
For many years the football teams of East Carolina Teachers College played ball either on an open field or in Greenville's Guy Smith Stadium. They didn't win very many games.

Then, sometime in 1948, somebody decided it was high time the Pirates were allowed the dignity of at least a stadium to play in. It was a charitable thought, especially in view of the fact that the team went winless during the two previous seasons. Their total record until then was 26 wins and 59 losses.



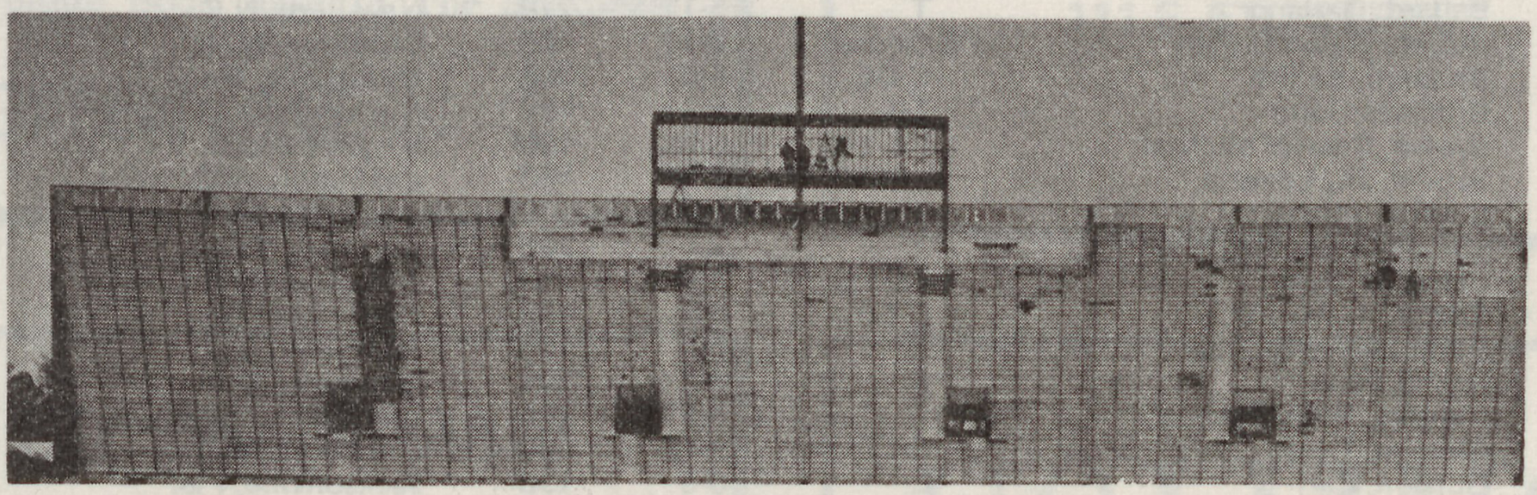
So, at a time when support for the ECTC football team should have been at its lowest ebb, a group of Greenville citizens banded together and began a fund-raising campaign. Early in 1949 Ed E. Rawl, the Greenville businessman who headed the campaign, announced the result: 1,500 individuals and 227 business firms had contributed $25,730 for a stadium in which it was probably thought the hapless Pirates would continue their winless ways.

It didn't take long. A press release on February 24, 1949, announced: "East Carolina Teachers College will soon have its new stadium and a well-lighted field for its athletic contests.

"President John D. Messick has just announced that contracts have been let and that work will begin within the next two weeks. The field is now being graded and prepared for the new equipment."

Contracts called for 1,930 permanent steel framework seats and 960 portable steel seats. Lighting was to include eight 70-foot poles with 12 lights each, which would, the release said, make the field "one of the best lighted in the state".

Some three months later another press release announced that "East Carolina Teachers College now has a stadium on its athletic field".



PROGRESS

It was simultaneously announced that a new head football coach, Bill Dole, would move to Greenville on June 1.

On September 12, it was announced: "Dedication of the new football stadium recently completed on the campus at East Carolina Teachers College will be a feature of the football game here Thursday evening at 8:00 between the local Pirates and the Cherry Point Marines."

Participating in the dedication ceremonies were Dr. Clyde A. Erwin, State Superintendent of Public Instruction and Chairman of the ECTC Board of Trustees; Greenville Mayor W.H. Stafford; Ed Rawl; President Messick; and Athletic Director Dr. N.M. Jorgensen.

The stage was set. Everything else seemed to be ready, but were the Pirates? Coach Dole had worked long and hard in preparation for his debut and that of the team in the new stadium. The Cherry Point Marines, who would be supported by a section of some 500 cheering leathernecks, were billed as a "rugged and tough foe for the Pirates." The Marines had won the previous year's battle, 13-6.

But fate, hard work by the new coach and a team inspired by an SRO crowd of the faithful in their new home combined and prevailed.

The story went like this: "The largest crowd ever to witness an East Carolina Teachers College football game, approximately 4,000, went home Thursday evening content with the 24-0 victory the Pirates handed Cherry Point Marines."

The Pirates had won their first game in the new stadium and their first game in two years. They went on to chalk up 70 wins and 62 losses in the stadium before a fund-raising project of another kind moved the Pirates to Ficklen Stadium in 1963.

But that's another story.

Bill Cain, who came to East Carolina a scrawny, unwanted freshman and went on to become captain of the football team, is the new head coach of the Pirate yearlings.

Cain returns to East Carolina after a successful tenure at Albemarle High, which also was the last stopping place for defensive backfield coach Bob Gantt before he joined the Pirate staff.

Cain greeted 52 youngesters from eight states, the District of Columbia and Canada when freshman practice began. The group generally is considered the best ever recruited at East Carolina.

The Baby Bucs will play a five-game schedule with the opener at home Sept. 27 against Davidson. Also at home will be N.C. State on Oct. 11 and Chowan on Oct. 25. The two road games are Nov. 1 at Richmond and Nov. 8 at The Citadel.

Cain and Henry Vansant of the varsity staff were teammates at East Carolina and Harold Bullard, another member of the varsity staff, was a teammate of the new freshman coach at Rockingham High.

"It's a great opportunity to be able to work with Coach Stasavich and his fine staff and I hope I can be able to contribute something to the program," Cain says.

Assisting Coach Cain with the freshman team will be Nelson Gravatt, Paul Schnurr, Bill Prince and Paul Hutchins, all stars for the Pirates last season.

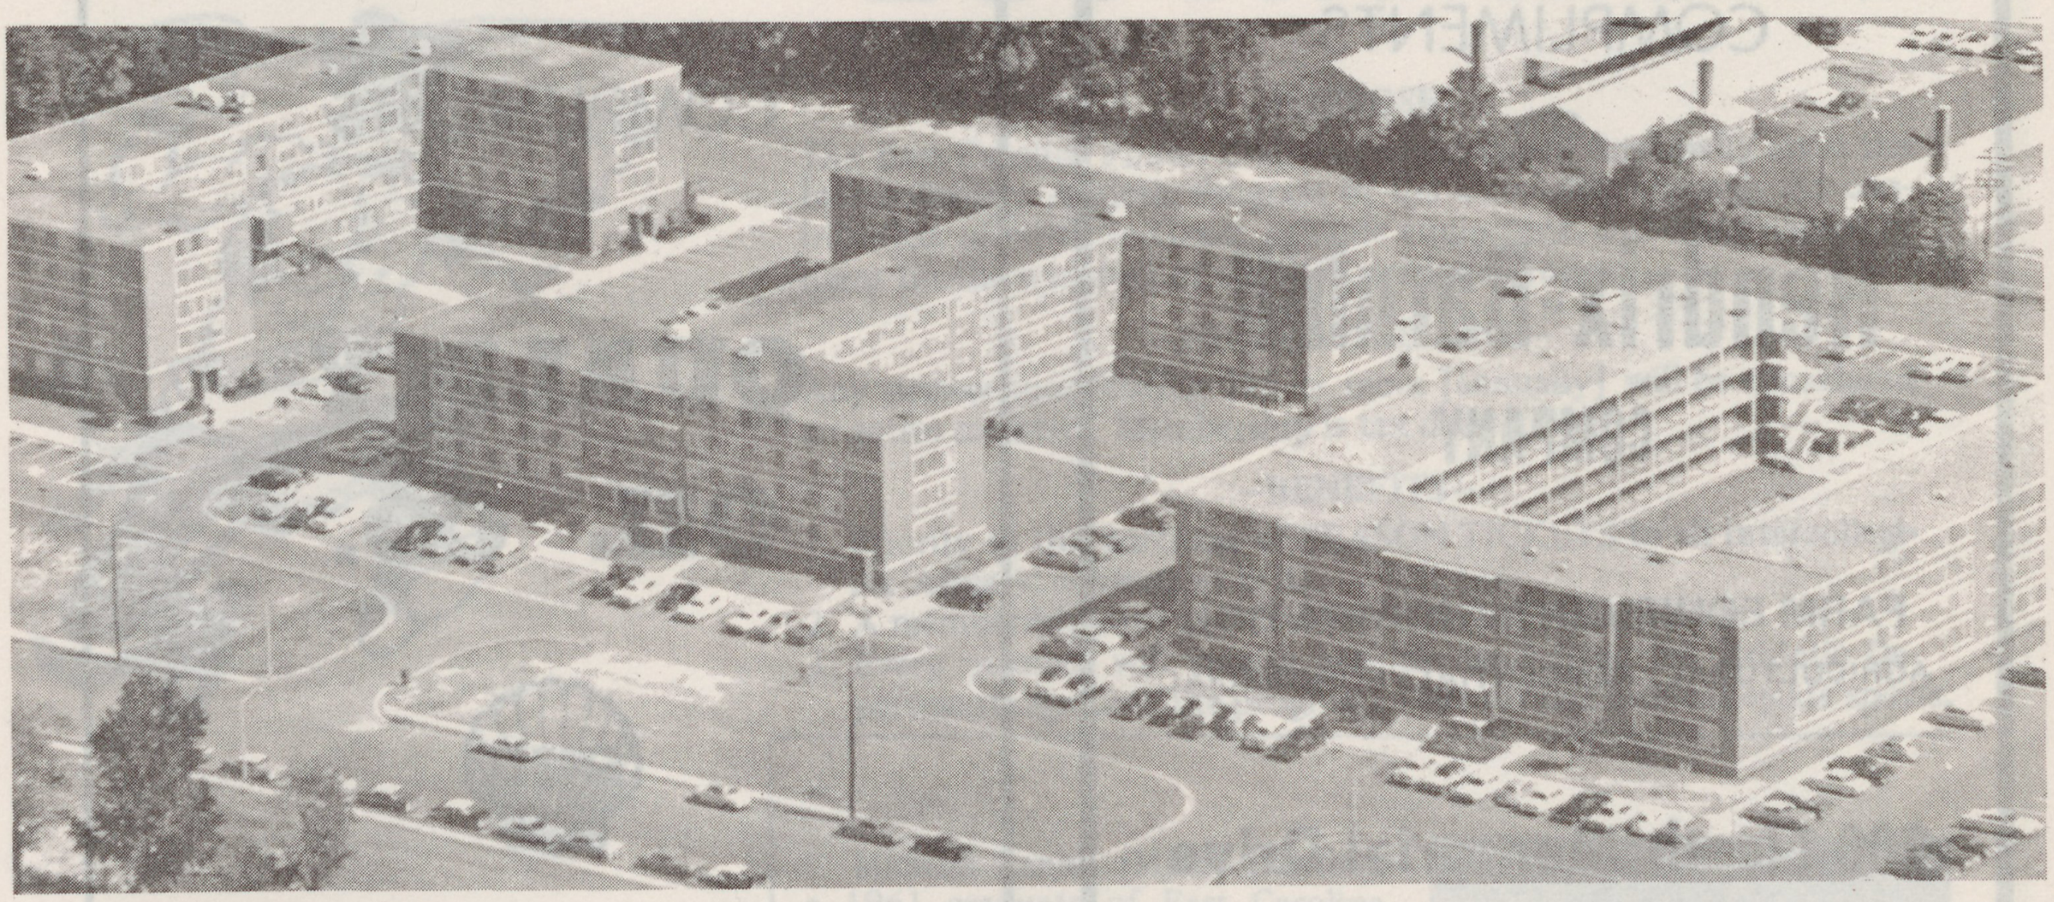
ECU Aim - To Be A Winner



I think you can see in the Pirates of Clarence Stasavich a picture of a main philosophy of East Carolina University -- a healthy desire to win.

In recent years there has been much emphasis at East Carolina on excelling, on making the best of available resources, on winning. There are good reasons for this. The people of North Carolina who support the University with their taxes certainly deserve no less than a winning effort. And anyone who pursues the American ideal must realize the necessity of setting goals of excellence and of striving to achieve them.

President Leo W. Jenkins, who has spearheaded the emphasis on excellence at ECU since 1960, has said it many times in many ways: "We don't want to be as good as someone else, we want to be better." "Not only do we emphasize athletics or art or business or this program or that program. We emphasize everything we do–because, whatever it is, it it's worthy of a place on this campus, it's worth our best effort." "We make no apology for playing to win. Not playing to win would be like teaching our business majors how to go bankrupt."

The value in setting high goals is apparent at East Carolina. In athletics, ECU teams have won a long list of championships and honors. Academically the University is gaining stature more rapidly than ever before. The ECU construction program is adding physical facilities at a rate unprecedented here. New programs to meet new needs are being organized on a scale not dreamed of a decade ago.

East Carolina now has a campus of some 300 acres and when presently authorized construction is completed the campus will be valued at more than $60 million. The enrollment now exceeds 10,000 and includes undergraduate and graduate students in a wide range of disciplines. With a staff of about 1,350–including some 500 faculty members–the university has an annual budget of about $15 million.

The university's motto, TO SERVE, is taken seriously. Within the framework of the belief that a university must always "seek the truth, teach the truth and preserve the truth," East Carolina strives to render the best possible educational services to the people of North Carolina and mankind in general. President Jenkins has said, "As long as there are qualified students seeking an education, we shall continue to stretch our resources to the limit to fullfill their desires."

Henry B. Howard
Director of Public Relations

The ECU Seal

The official seal of East Carolina University is a six-cornered shield encircled by the name, location and founding date of the University.

The shield carries the motto "Servire" or "To Serve" and is divided into four parts. The open book of knowledge lighted by the blazing torch symbolizes education. Symbols of the scribes, the ink pot and quill, represent the creative arts and contributions by the students to the world of business. The crusty Pirate mascot reminds that through athletics students build strong bodies for keen minds and learn the lessons of fair play and competition.

East Carolina is no longer a local college. It has the destiny to produce graduates that will serve to the four corners of the world. This idea is expressed in the central motif of the design. A shield within the shield displays Polaris, the guiding star, behind the two half globes that make up the world.

Michael Lanier [Mike] Bunting, a 1961 graduate of East Carolina University, is being honored during the 1968-69 athletic seasons as 'Pirate of the Year'.

The Pirates Club, an organization of alumni and friends, will make the award annually to the member who has made an outstanding contribution to the advancement of its cause.

Bunting a native of Greensboro, took over the dormant chapter in his home town in early June, and put on a campaign that resulted in more than 40 new memberships for

"Mike has displayed the kind of enthusiasm for our organization that we must have if we are to maintain our pace of advancement in the athletic program at East Carolina," Maurice Allen, Secretary of the Pirates Club said in making the announcement.

Vice President and secretary of the Carolina Gasket and Rubber Company, which he co-founded, Bunting says his immediate goal for the Greensboro chapter is 100 members. "And this is only a small percentage of the number of alumni we have in this area," he said. It's a shame that with the large number of alumni we have from East Carolina that we have no more members of the Pirates Club than we do. "I personally feel that a large number of our graduates are unaware of the really outstanding University and athletic program we have in Greenville now and that we must get out and spread the word. "We must have a good solid membership in the Pirates Club if we are to continue to upgrade our athletic programs. Unlike our University curriculum, athletics aren't supported by state funds. We must not only contribute to the support organizations like the Pirates Club and Century Club, but get into the full spirit of things by attending as many events on campus as we can."

Bunting, who attended Greensboro City Schools and Wilmington College before attending ECU, taught United States History at New Hanover High in Wilmington two years before going into business in 1962. He then assumed his current position with CG and R.

Married to the former Ellen Victoria Stewart of Greensboro, they are the parents of a daughter, Heidi. Bunting lists as his outside interests in order: East Carolina University and Golf.

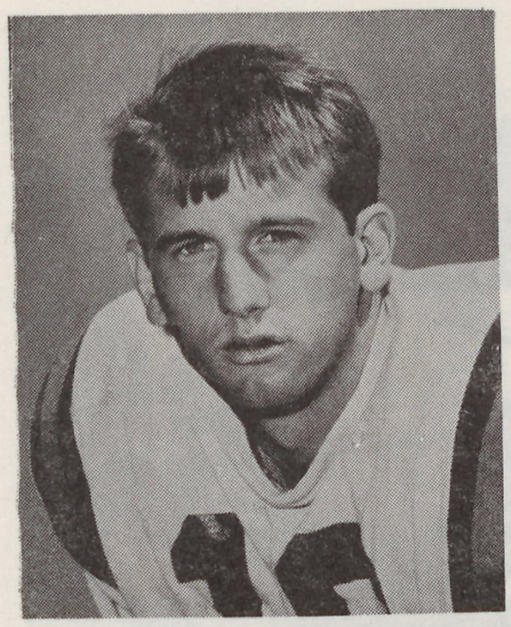
ROBERT K. FARIS



NORMAN SWINDELL

For two consecutive years tragic death struck East Carolina's football team. First, in the winter of 1966, Co-Captain Norman Swindell lost his life in a hunting accident. Then, on the day prior to the beginning of practice in 1967, Robert K. Faris died in an automobile accident.

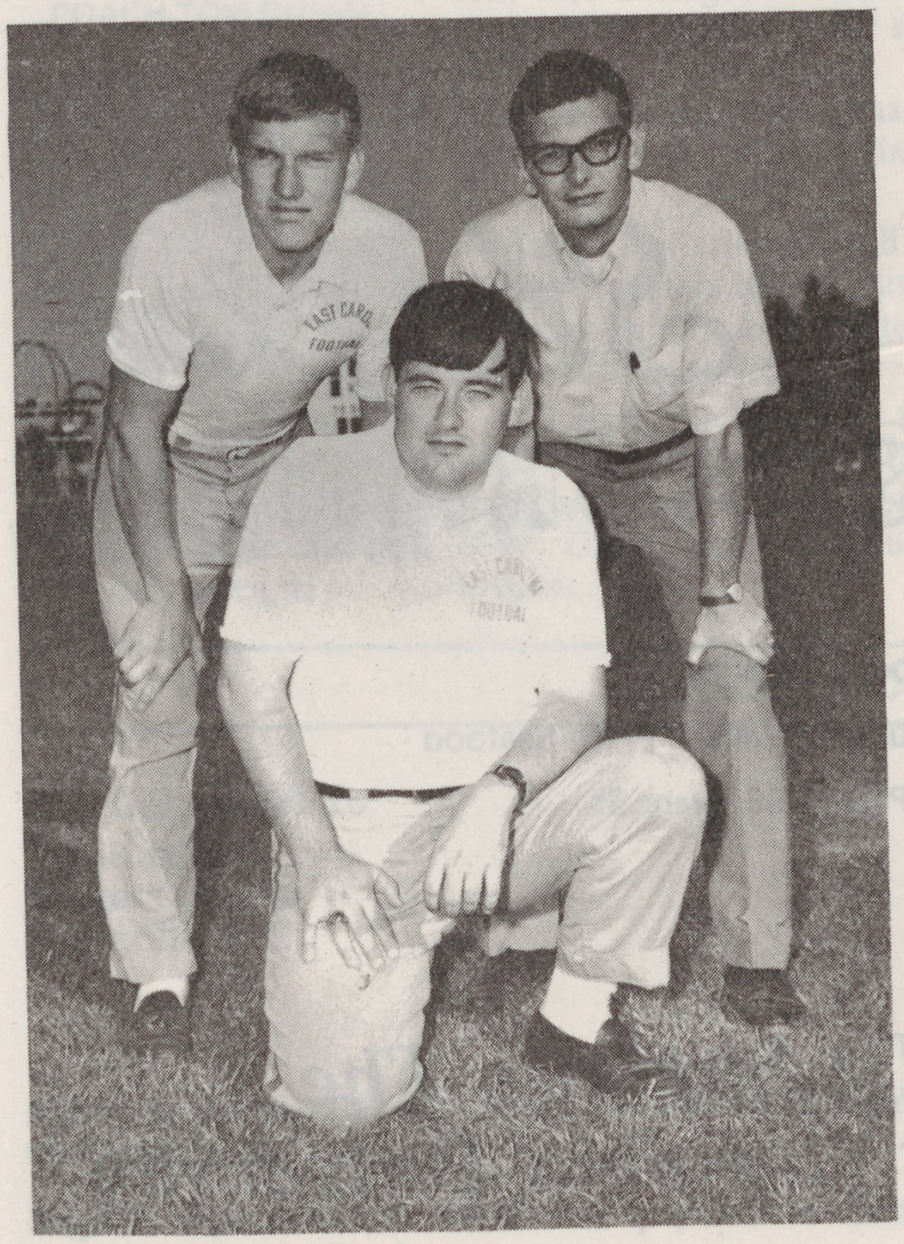
Both these young men set fine examples for their teammates, besides being outstanding football players, Swindell, a product of New Bern, played blocking back and outside linebacker in high school, but when he came to East Carolina the club was in dire need of a center.

Approached about playing center the summer prior to his sophomore season, Swindell accepted the challenge and became one of the outstanding players at that position.

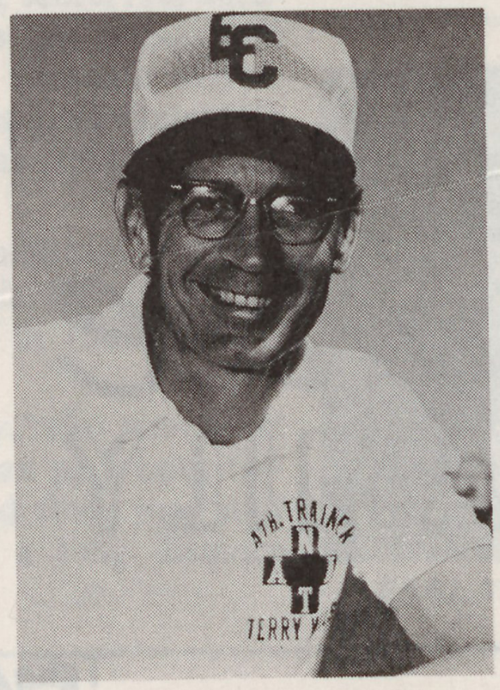
As a junior, he returned to blocking back where he was outstanding and was named to receive the Southern Conference Jacobs Blocking Trophy the first year the Pirates were eligible for such an honor.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard T. Swindell of New Bern.

Faris, a native of McLean, Virginia, was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert K. Faris. His father is athletic director of George Washington University. A one-year letterman with the Pirates, he kicked 17 extra points and one field goal during the 1966 season and was expected to make an outstanding contribution to the team in 1967.



KEN KELLUM - VERNON TAYLOR - ED JOHNSON



TERRY WILLS

One of the most dedicated men in the athletic department at East Carolina University is Terry Wills who became the schools's full-time trainer in 1966. Wills earned his bachelor's degree at East Carolina in 1966 and besides serving as trainer was a varsity track man.

Currently working on his Masters Degree, Wills is writing a thesis on the handling of athletic injuries and conducting research in the various means of effectively treating trauma.

He is married to the former Nancy Scott and they have a son Kyle 10.

FOLLOW PIRATE BASKETBALL

COACH TOM QUINN

Coach Tom Quinn, as he begins his third season as head basketball coach at East Carolina University, is predicting no championship for the Pirates.

But, he is looking forward to the year with much anticipation.

"We are young and eager, but I believe this group will add a bit of luster to the basketball picture at East Carolina," Quinn said.

Gone from last year's team that came on strong at the end are Most Valuable Player Vince Colbert and leading rebounder Charles Alford, but three starters are back. They are Earl Thompson, who averaged 16.8 points to be the leading scorer; forward-center Jim Modlin, who sparkled several times last season and playmaker Tom Miller. Also returning are alternate starter Richard Keir and letterman Bob Lindfelt. This gives Quinn his first seasoned nucleus since he took over the reins at East Carolina.

Additional strength will be gained from the addition of junior college transfers Rick Collins, 6-9, Aubrey Willials, 6-4 and Richie Williams, who was a starter here as a freshman in 1962, returns from military service.

Up from the freshman team are Jim Gregory, who won most valuable player honors with the yearlings and can play both forward and center; Bob McKillop, who is a good floor man and Mike Dunn, who has outstanding ability as a long distance shooter.
