Or Our Own Convenient Charge Plan

The Humble Beginnings Of A $2.1 Billion Crop.

Tobacco provides American farmers with an income of over $2.1 billion a year. It's one of the United States' most valuable money crops.

As a major supplier of U.S. leaf to world markets, A.C. Monk is a vital link between the people who grow the tobacco and the people who buy it.

And we've always tried to work in the best overall interests of both.

But we're especially proud of our working relationship with U.S. growers.

The people who work the tobacco crops, from seedlings all the way to market.

They're the people who keep the tobacco industry going. And we never forget it. MONK

Explosive offense has been the trademark of Western Carolina football during the ten-year tenure of Coach Bob Waters, but most of the pre-season talk about the 1979 Catamounts has focused on the defensive unit.

The Cat's defensive squad will return ten starters and ten lettermen which compiled a second best total defensive ranking in the Southern Conference last season.

"Our secondary is definitely one of the strengths of this team. We have more experienced players with talent than ever before," notes Coach Waters.

The defensive secondary unit will be headed up by safeties Willie Carpenter and Thomas Gunn who both were first team all-conference selections last season. Carpenter pulled down six interceptions for the Cats last season.

Coach Waters is also elated with the linebacking corps. He feels with Randy Howard, Ricky Smith, Charlie Highes and Curtis McClellan, Western could have the best group they have ever had.

Offensively, Western plans to throw the football. Western Carolina has led the Southern Conference in passing for the past two seasons and much of the credit has to be attributed to the passing arm of quarterback Mike Pusey. The 6-0, 205 pound senior has connected for 3,945 yards and 27 touchdowns in two seasons.

The Cats will have two of their top three receivers returning. Gerald Harp, a 5-8, 155 pound junior flanker, was the nation's second ranked receiver last season when he pulled in 62 passes for 1145 yards and scored 13 touchdowns. Jeff Dean, a sophomore, appears to be the best bet to fill the split end spot vacated by Fred Meadows.

The offensive emphasis during spring drills was on strengthening a running game. Western averaged only 124 yards per game last season and over half of that yardage was gained by two players who have graduated.

The offensive line for Western was also hit hard by graduation, losing six players.

Coach Waters sums up the offensive effort in one sentence, "We will throw the football, but we must have a balanced offense to win."

"There's no doubt in my mind we face a big challenge meeting Western Carolina," said Coach Pat Dye about his six opener in Greenville. "If last year was any indication," Dye continues, "our first game against Western Carolina is going to be a very physical contest if we carry our half of the bargain. I'm sure they'll uphold their end. know they hit hard a year ago."

"Some people probably look at the score last year when we won 14-6 and think that we were looking ahead to N.C. State and North Carolina. I think we ran into a football team that had a lot of good athletes and came ready to play a football game."

Coming off a 9-3 season, the 1978 Independence Bowl champion Pirates return with 46 lettermen, 8 returning starters on offense and 6 returning starters on defense.

For Coach Dye, two areas draw the greatest concern. First is rebuilding the defense which provided the spark to the Pirates in several games last fall, and, secondly, re-establishing a "personality" on offense which can best be described as an 11-man philosophy of aggression.

LAST SEASON'S OPENING NIGHT DEFENSE

"We have a major rebuilding job on defense to be as effective as we were in 1978, but there is talent there, I think, for another outstanding defense."

The defense will be led by linebackers Mike Brewington, a pro sized 6-4, 230, and Jeffrey Warren, 5-10, 207.

Up front only tackle Vance Tingler is a returning starter. He will be joined by John Hallow at nose guard, Noah Clark at the other tackle, John Morris and Clifford Williams at the ends.

In the secondary, Charlie Carter, Willie Holley, Ruffin McNeill and Thomas McLaurin will give ECU as good a group as any around.

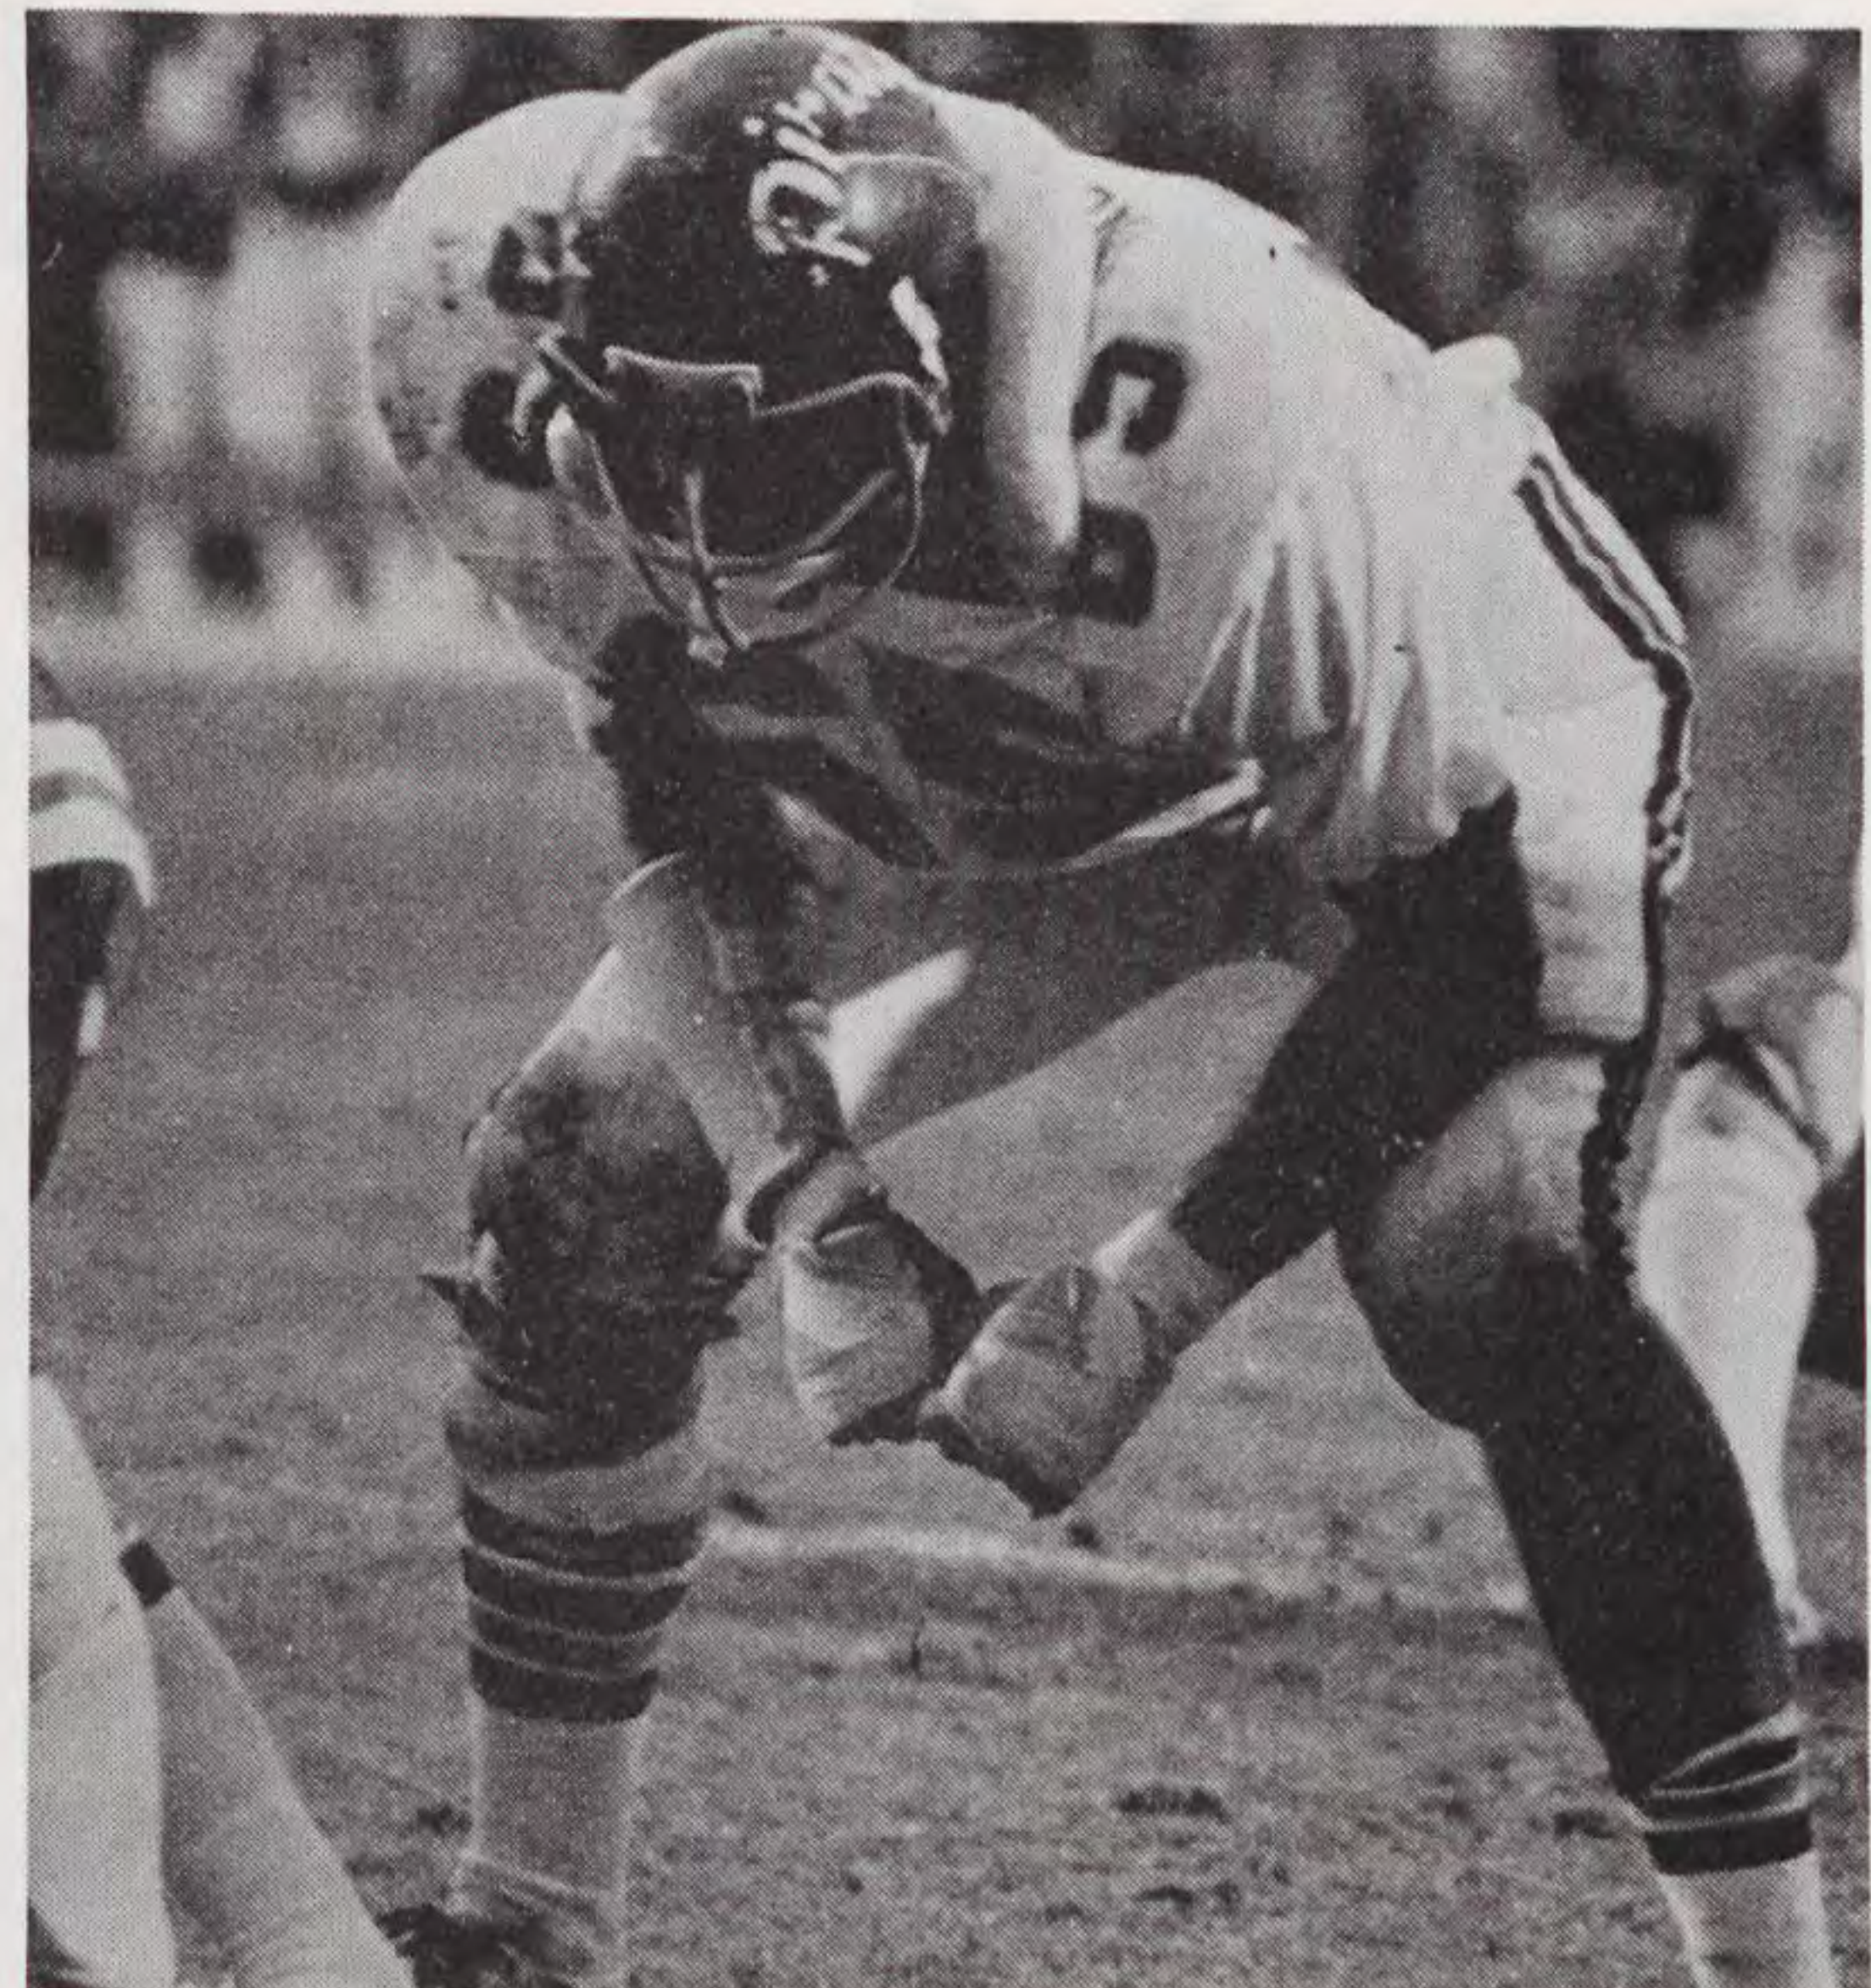

Offensively, the Pirates will be led by quarterback Leander Green. Leander passed for 838 yards and 8 touchdowns last season. He also carried the ball for 307 yards and 4 touchdowns.

The fullback position will again be filled by the past two season's leading rusher, Theodore Sutton. He will be teamed with speedy Anthony Collins, Mike Hawkins, and Sam Harrell.

The front line returns with starters from tackle to tackle with changes at the end positions. Joe Godette and Matt Mulholland will be at tackles, Wayne Inman and Mitchell Johnston will be at guards, and Jeff Hagens returns at center.

Billy Ray Washington will line up at tight end this season, moving from split end. Vern Davenport will be at split end.

Depth may be a problem as in same past years, but the front line personnel appears strong and ready to continue the success story that has been Pirate football.

ECU stresses and is proud of excellence in teaching and research, in its outreach and service programs, and in its athletic teams.

Following its motto, SERVIRE: To Serve, ECU has become one of the South's most rapidly developing institutions of higher learning.

Its development has occurred in giant steps - in the heart of a region described 25 years ago as a "sleeping giant," just then being stirred awoken. Then during the last two decades, ECU experienced spectacular growth, mushrooming from a student enrollment of approximately 1,600 in 1957 to 12,452 today.

ECU was given university status by an act of the General Assembly of North Carolina in 1967 and four years later became a constituent campus of the consolidated University of North Carolina.

Today, ECU has 18 academic departments in its College of Arts and Sciences, nine professional schools including North Carolina's newest school of medicine, the General College, the Graduate School, the Division of Continuing Education with three off-campus centers, its three technical institute programs and the on-campus University College.

Undergraduate degrees are offered in 105 bachelor's degree programs along with 72 minor program concentrations. The ECU Graduate School offers 73 master's degree program areas.

ECU's physical growth is in itself a continuing wonder. The original campus site - on which the first six buildings were constructed in 1908 - has expanded to a 411-acre campus with nearly 90 buildings. The campus physical plant is valued at nearly $100 million and is constantly being improved and beautified.

A large, modern medical school campus is being constructed on a site several miles from the main campus in Greenville.

ECU's athletic complex includes a newly enlarged stadium, expanded from 20,000 to 35,000 seats. Its press box and lighting are among the finest facilities in the South.

Cain was appointed as athletic director Nov. 1, 1975, just a week following the death of Clarence Stasavich, after serving as assistant AD since 1972. His East Carolina tenure began as an athlete.

He served as captain of the 1959 football squad, the same year he was named to the all-Carolinas Conference team for the second straight season. He was named to the league's all-rookie team in 1955, made the all-Army group in 1956 while playing for Ft. Meade, Md., and then returned for his final two years of collegiate action.

He served as athletic director, head football and track coach at Suffolk, Va. HS from 1960 through 1965, winning two conference championships and earning coach of the year honors as well.

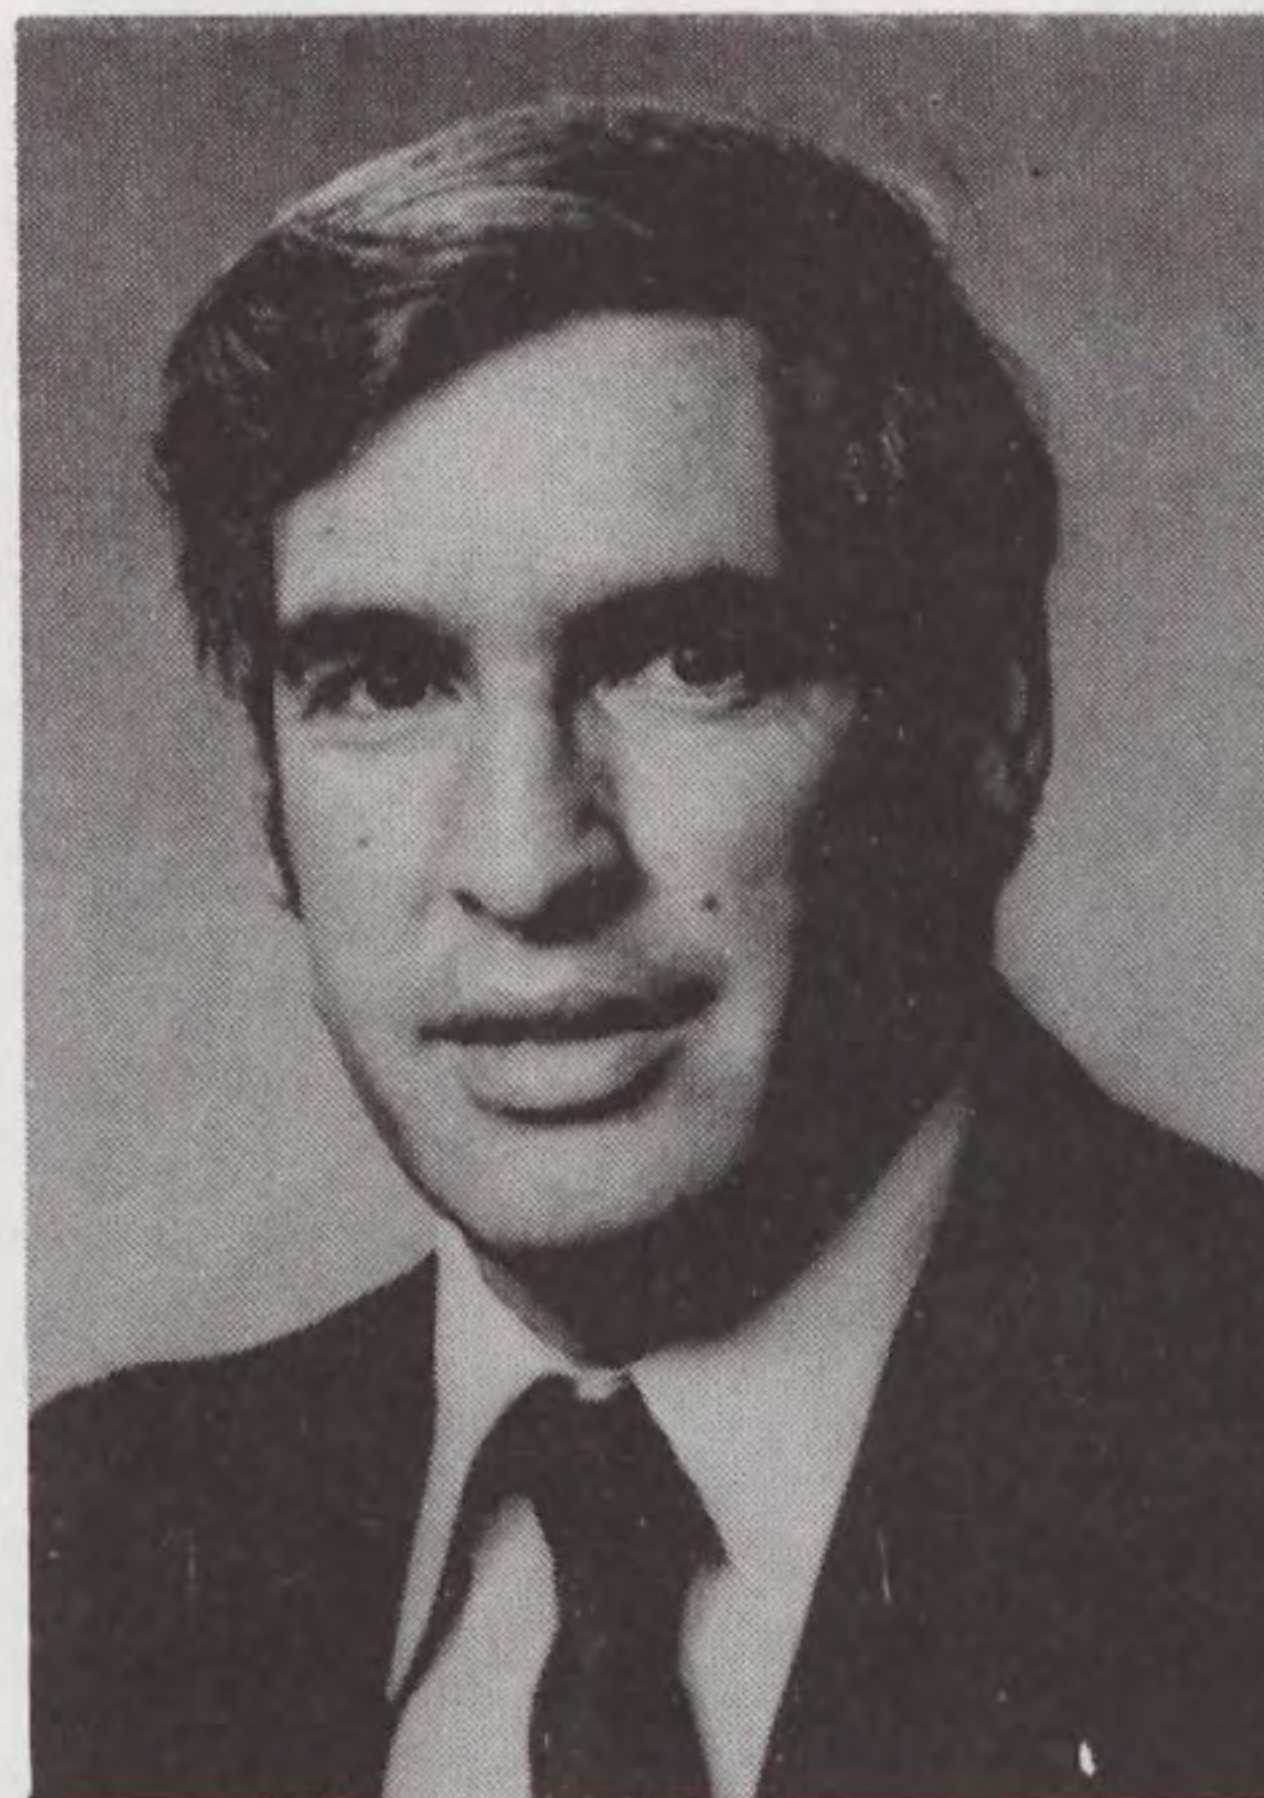

He shifted to Albemarle HS from 1965 through 1968 where he again served as athletic director, football and track coach, collecting one league crown and coach of the year honors again.

Cain returned to his alma mater as head freshman coach for the 1968 season, became athletic business manager and head of the Pirate Club the following year, and assistant athletic director in 1972. He also coached the Pirate golf teams in 1974 and 1975, gaining the runnerup spot in the Southern Conference tournament both years.

Pat Dye

Opening Night 1978

Success comes naturally to East Carolina coach Pat Dye. He has enjoyed the sweet savor of victory and achievement through his football career, both as a player and as a coach. So it should come as no surprise that he has spurred his fifth Pirate team to an 9-3 record and his first bowl championship as a head coach.

The success which comes naturally is a result of hard work and dedication, another thing which is no surprise to those who really know the drive that this former Georgia all-America and Alabama assistant has beating within his heart.

His Pirate teams have been 7-4, 8-3, 9-2, 8-3, and 9-3 in five seasons, an impressive form chart for almost any school, but Dye is continuously striving for a better record, a bigger bounty each year for East Carolina.

His personal tenacity for the game is reflected in his players, a dedicated group that fought from a 4-3 record in mid-season to an 8-3 mark and the Independence Bowl. It would have been easy to be average, but Dye is not average and his team could not be either.

In short, Pat Dye is a winner and a worker, not a dreamer.

As a player, he lettered three years in football and two years in track at Richmond Academy, Augusta, GA. Later at the University of Georgia, Pat lettered three years in football (1958-60) and served as alternate co-captain with Fran Tarkenton. Also while at Georgia, Coach Dye earned such honors as All-American in 1960, Most Valuable Lineman in Southeastern Conference in 1960, Academic All-America in 1959 and 1960, and played in the Blud-Gray Classic, Senior Bowl, and Coaches All-America game. Pat has recently been named to Georgia's all-time team.

Coach Dye played two years with the Edmonton Eskimos of the Canadian Football League as outside linebacker.

While serving in the Army, Dye was named All-Army for two years in 1963 and 1964, voted player of the year for all armed forces in 1964 and received the "Timmy Award" from the Washington, D.C. Touchdown Club.

As an assistant coach for nine seasons (1965-1973) at Alabama under legendary Bear Bryant, he was an integral part of Coach Bryant's staff in charge of linebackers and recruiting. Dye coached four All-America linebackers, helped Alabama to 3 national titles, 3 unbeaten seasons, and 5 SEC titles.

His record is dotted with championships and outstanding achievements, a true reflection of his personal dedication to the game he loves so much.

Over the last five years the Pirates have established themselves nationally in both offensive and defensive statistics. This year the Pirates finished second in the nation in both total defense and pass defense. During Dye's rein, the Pirate's defensive unit has produced such All Americans as Danny Kepley, Jimmy Bolding, Cary Godette, Harold Randolph, and Zack Valentine. The Pirates wishbone offense is ranked in the top 10 nationally in rushing offense during this period, and averaging over 270 yards per game total offense. The offensive unit has produced such stars as Mike Weaver, Kenny Strayhorn, Wayne Bolt, Terry Gallaher, and Eddie Hicks. These players along with others have made East Carolina the nation's 14th winningest team over the past five years.

"The wishbone does as much for our defense as it does for our offense, believe it or not," Dye said of the formation he first encountered in the 1970 Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl when Alabama played Oklahoma.

"To be a successful team you must be able to run the football and I don't think there can be any doubt that the wishbone is the best running formation. Everyone on the offense must be a complete football player, able to block and run and be physically tough."

"Teams win playing tough, physical defense, too, and working against the wishbone as we do all spring makes our defense work hard."

The Pat Dye Family
Pat, Jr., Brett, Sue, Wanda, Pat, Missy

"The wishbone is a more difficult offense than most to coach, but at the same time I think it's more fun to coach, too. We have been running it for several years now and are beginning to get more sophisticated with it. We can mix in other things effectively now, but make no mistake the wishbone is our bread and butter."

Pat is married to the former Sue Ward of Augusta, GA. with four children, sons Pat, Jr. 16, and Brett 12; daughters Missy 15, and Wanda 8.

Dye looks for a challenge every day and reaches for any opportunity to improve East Carolina football, something he achieves with regularity. As good as his record is, he strives daily to face the challenge of meeting and beating the best teams, playing regularly on television and receiving a bowl invitation.

For Pat Dye and the Pirates there is no substitute for winning - he loves it, works hard for it, and thrives on it.

flags of fear

Almost every Pirate captain had his own distinctive flag. The flags were meant to strike mortal terror in the hearts of the Pirate's intended victims and also to flatter the vanity of the captain and his crew. No one knows the origin of the term "Jolly Roger". It may have originated from the French term joli rouge (pretty red). The "skull and crossbones" design was most often used in flag designs. When at a distance from their victim the Pirates would usually fly "false colors", but once they were within cannonshot, up would go their own dreaded Pirate colors.

East Carolina Basketball has a whole new look of excitement and enthusiasm for the upcoming 1979-80 season. New coaches, players, attitudes and a sense of development merge together with hopes of building programs that are competitive nationally.

The Lady Pirates are again led by second year head coach Cathy Andruzzi. The energetic native of Staten Island, N.Y., is a graduate and former player of Staten Island Community College. Her efforts brought her acclaim as Outstanding Woman Athlete at SICC in 1971. Cathy later went on to Queen's College and played on teams that won the New York State title twice. While at Queen's, Cathy was honored with the alumni association's award for outstanding contribution to the life of the college in 1972 and was named honorable mention to the Outstanding College Athletes of America Hall of Fame in 1974. Coach Andruzzi comes to ECU from Wagner College where she was head coach.

Cathy will be assisted by second year coach Marcia Richards. Marcia comes to ECU from the high school coaching ranks in Tucson, Arizona. She led the high school team to a 17-2 record and the city championship in the first year that the school played basketball.

Marcia Richards
Assistant Coach

Minges Coliseum

A 1976 graduate of Arizona, Richards was a three-sport star for the Wildcats in basketball, volleyball and softball.

The 25 year old is a native of Biloxi, Mississippi.

Coach Andruzzi's background beliefs reflect in her coaching outlook on Lady Pirate Basketball. "We want to be the best we can and lay the groundwork for what future East Carolina teams can be. We want to play to the limit of our individual potential and be a really scrappy team."

With an exciting schedule and the return of such a great player as Rosie Thompson, the Lady Pirates will return this winter with a hustling, aggressive outfit, matching Coach Andruzzi's philosophy of the game.

Women's basketball is on the upswing nationally and ECU is planning to be a part of it.

The men's basketball program has a whole new look this season. Coach Dave Odom begins his first year at the Pirate helm. A Goldsboro native, Dave comes to ECU from Wake Forest University where he served as an associate coach for three seasons.

An outstanding athlete at Goldsboro HS, Dave played three years of football, basketball, and baseball, serving as captain of all three as a senior. A 1965 graduate of Guilford College, Coach Odom played basketball all four years and football for three years. Dave served as basketball captain as a senior and was named Best Undergraduate Athlete in 1965. In 1969 Odom received his Masters in Physical Education from ECU. Coach Odom has a strong high school coaching background. Dave coached basketball at Goldsboro HS (1968-69) and at Durham HS (1970-76). His work gained him such honors as coach of the year in 1973, 1975, and 1976.

Coach Odom will be assisted by George Felton and Eddie Payne.

George, a 1975 graduate of South Carolina where he played under Frank McGuire, joins East Carolina from North Carolina A & T State. An assistant with the Aggies the past two seasons, he previously served as a graduate assistant at Appalachian State.

A native of the Bronx, N.Y., he attended All Hallows High School where he gained all-city honors in basketball. At South Carolina he lettered two seasons and was an honor roll student.

George Felton
Assistant Coach

Eddie Payne
Assistant Coach

Following graduation with a degree in elementary education and psychology, he began a master's degree program at the South Carolina school. He plans to complete his master's in special education with concentration in mental retardation and emotional disturbance.

He is 26 and single.

Eddie, a former Wake Forest basketball most valuable player, joins the staff after serving last year as the head coach at Truett-McConnell Junior College in Cleveland, Ga.

A native of Charlotte, he was initially a walk-on with the Deacons, but earned a starting spot on the freshman team and a scholarship as a sophomore. He was the assist leader as a senior when he averaged 15.5 points per game, second on the team.

He was chosen to the all-Big Four and ACC tournament teams as a player and was accorded the Arnold Palmer Award, recognizing Wake Forest's athlete-of-the-year covering all sports.

He played professionally in France during the 1974 season and earned his degree in speech communications and theater arts at Wake Forest in 1975. He worked the 1976 seasons at Clemson as a graduate assistant.

He is 27 and single.

WOULD YOU RECOGNIZE A PIRATE SHIP?

A Privateer was a war ship that was owned privately by persons licensed by a government to cruise and raid against the enemy in wartime. Privateers were allowed to sell their booty (treasures) and keep a large percentage of the proceeds.

A Brigantine was a vessel most used by the most adventurous pirates. The "brig" was a two-masted, square-rigged ship.

Man of War, usually frigates, were warships of a recognized navy, outfitted for active fighting.

Merchantmen or trading vessels were used to carry goods and passengers.

PIRATE RULES OF CONDUCT

Signed by the crew of Capt. John Phillip's ship "Revenge".

1. Every man will obey all rules. Disobedience will be harshly rewarded.
2. Any member of the crew attempting to run away, or keep a secret from the other members, will be marooned on a desert island with only a bottle of water.
3. Any member of the crew stealing from another member of the crew or gambling beyond his ability to pay, will be either marooned or shot, depending on the good mercy of the captain.
4. Any member of the crew striking another will receive "Moses' Law" (40 Lashes minus one).
5. Any member of the crew who snaps a pistol, smokes an uncovered pipe or carries an unprotected candle below decks will receive 30 lashes.
6. Any member of the crew not keeping his weapon clean and ready, or who neglects to perform his shipboard duties, will forfeit his share of any loot acquired.
7. Any member of the crew subject to the first six rules shall also be subject to any other punishment thought fit by the captain and his shipmates.

"A PLACE WHICH RECEIVES PIRATES, RUNAWAYS AND ILLEGAL TRADERS"

This was the way North Carolina was described in a report to England by Edmund Randolph in 1700.

WALKING THE PLANK

The most famous saying in Pirate terms may have been mostly heresay, at least no records were kept to bear them out. If a pirate wished to dispose of a victim it was much easier to simply chuck him over the side without ceremony.

MAROONED

Marooned on a desert isle, a condemned man awaited death with only a bottle of water. This form of punishment was a reality and dreaded by many a sailor. Sometimes at the mercy of the captain, the condemned man was given one shot to be used at his discretion.

THE "WEAKER" SEX

Piracy was not only a man's game. Many captains took their wives to sea with them. Some women also served as crew members, such as Anne Bonny and Mary Read.

THE FIERCEST PIRATE OF THEM ALL

Not actually born in the colony, Edward Teach is thought to be North Carolina's own pirate. Known as Blackbeard and sailing the "Queen Anne's Revenge," he was a tall well built man with a bushy black beard which he would plait into little pigtales before going into battle. In the belt around his waist, Blackbeard would carry pistols, daggers and a cutlass. Across his chest he wore a bandolier in which he would place six primed pistols ready to fire.

HENRY EVERY

Every was one of the most famous Pirates. In 1695 Every was considered a hero to every unemployed seaman in England and in the Colonies.

EDWARD ENGLAND

Driven from the Caribbean in 1718 by the British Navy, England took root in African waters. A good natured person, which led to his downfall, England was removed after freeing a captured victim. He died a beggar.

STEDE BONNET

Bonnet was a retired army major who was clean shaven and wore a gentleman powdered wig. In 1718, Blackbeard tricked Bonnet and ousted him from his ship.

pirate poop

CHARLES VANE

In 1718, Vane was voted out of his captaincy for cowardice by his crew after retreating from a more heavily armed ship. He was later caught and hung.

JOHN RACKAM

Wearing bright cotton clothing, Rackam was known as Calico Jack. He replaced Charles Vane as captain on Vane's ship in his conquest of the West Indies. He was captured in 1720. Rackam had a great romance with Lady Pirate Anne Bonny.

BARTHOLOMEW ROBERTS

Roberts became one of the greatest pirates of his day because of his splendid seamanship. He began his career in 1720 for no other reason than a change of pace.

HOWELL DAVIS

Davis often posed as a merchant or pirate hunter to help size up his victims. Before his death in 1720, Davis was considered among the most cunning pirates of this day.

sports medicine

One of the most important parts of East Carolina's rise in athletic prominence has been its Sports Medicine Division, headed by Rod Compton, Director; Dr. James Bowman, Team Physician; Jim Keating and Liz White, Assistant Directors.

Compton is in his tenth year as Director of the program, while Dr. Bowman, in his ninth season, heads up a list of more than a dozen fine community-based professionals who lend valuable time to the program.

A Sports Medicine Curriculum has been added to the Health and Physical Education Department at East Carolina with Bowman, three associate team physicians from the campus infirmary, a team dentist and ten medical consultants in specialized fields all teaching in addition to Compton, Keating and White.

TEAM PHYSICIAN

ROD COMPTON
DIRECTOR/HEAD TRAINER

The "Sports Paramedics", as Compton refers to this staff, are in attendance at every athletic event that ECU is involved in, whether at home or on the road. As Compton describes his program, "The East Carolina Sports Medicine Division specializes in the best prevention, immediate treatment and rehabilitation of injuries possible."

Prevention, treatment, and rehabilitation are the three main objectives of the Sports Medicine Division. Prevention of injuries is the main goal at East Carolina. As evidence of the Sports Medicine preventative practices, the 1976 Pirate football team had no injuries requiring surgery and the 1977 squad had only one knee injury requiring surgery.

When injuries do occur, Compton's staff gives quick on the spot treatment to make certain the injury does not become more serious.

The rehabilitation process of the Sports Medicine Division is near perfect, with players coming back off of injuries several games ahead of players from other schools.

The Sports Medicine Staff operates from an ultramodern center adjacent to Ficklen Stadium in addition to immediate treatment in Scales Fieldhouse and Minges Coliseum.

ECU's Sports Medicine Program is the only undergraduate athletic training program approved by the National Athletic Trainers Association (NATA) in eastern North Carolina and one of only two in the state. Compton, Keating and White are all Certified Athletic Trainers, as designated by the NATA.

BY GEORGE THREEWITTS
 ECU NEWS BUREAU

The pirate, a symbol of East Carolina University and its athletics teams, was adopted from the legend and lore of coastal North Carolina and was a natural choice for a nickname when intercollegiate athletics began at the school in the 1930's.

Pirates, fierce and colorful, were prominent in North Carolina's colonial period. The state's Outer Banks which jut far out into the Atlantic were ideal hideouts for these legendary gangsters of the high seas. Many had homes and families in the small villages along the coast.

Edward Teach, best known as "Blackbeard" was a resident of Eastern North Carolina. He had a house at Ocracoke on the Outer Banks and an inland home at Bath on the Pamlico River.

pirate sports network

This year the Pirate Sports Network takes on a whole new look. The Network is the official radio voice of Pirate football and basketball. The official voice of live play-by-play coverage of ECU athletics includes more than 20 radio stations, blanketing eastern North Carolina. The population in the coverage area for Pirate football includes well over two million people.

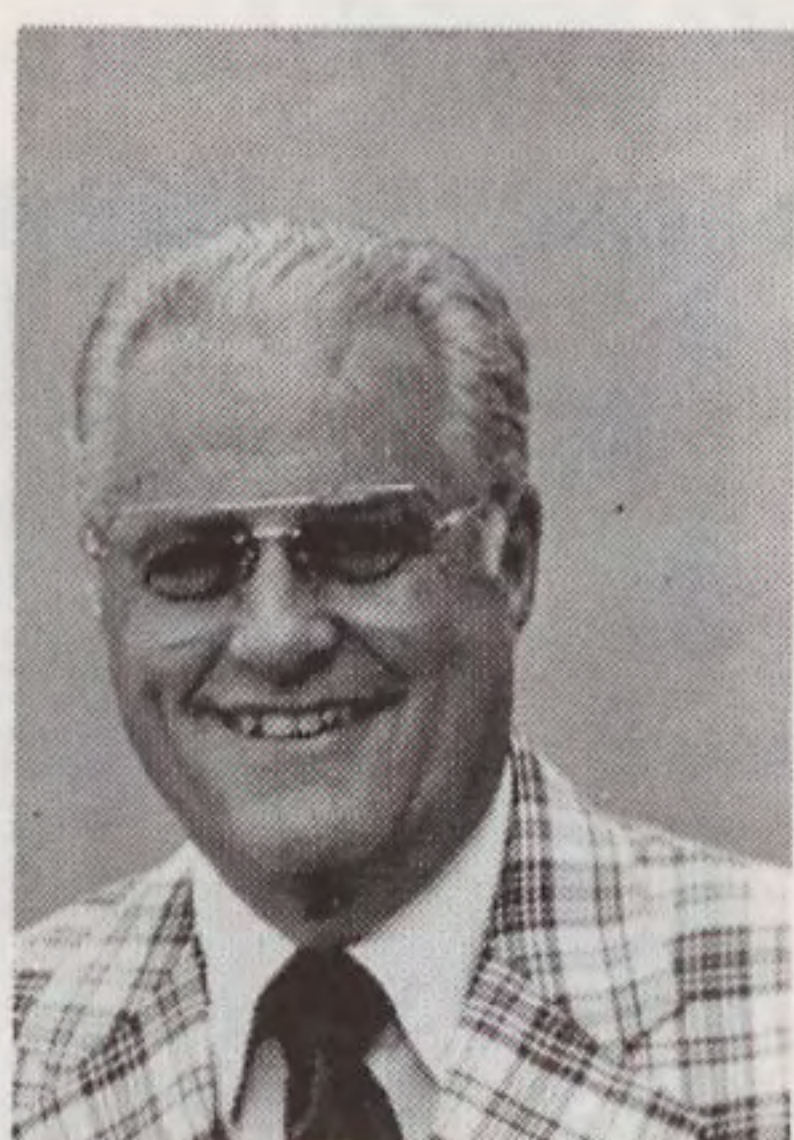

But, this year's production will have a whole new format, style and flair. Under the direction of new network coordinator Wayne Newnam, the network hopes to reach more people than ever before with one of the most interesting programs ever produced.

Henry Hinton will be a new addition to the broadcasts along with Pirate Sports Network veterans Lee Moore and Jim Woods. Henry, with a solid background in radio and present host on the Carolina Today show on WNCT-TV, will head up the production and direction of the broadcast, injection colorful comments and interviews.

Lee Moore, no stranger to Pirate fans, heads into his sixth season on the network. The colorful sports director of WCTI-TV in New Bern will add his vast knowledge of sports with candid interviews, play-by-play and interesting comments during the broadcast.

HENRY HINTON
PRODUCER/DIRECTOR

Jim Woods, also familiar to Pirate and sports fans alike, is beginning his eleventh season with Pirate sports. As the sports director of WNCT-TV in Greenville, Jim's background of almost thirty years of broadcasting and sportscasting makes him a natural for the network. With his awareness of the world of sports, Jim's interesting comments, interviews and play-by-play will be a big plus this season.

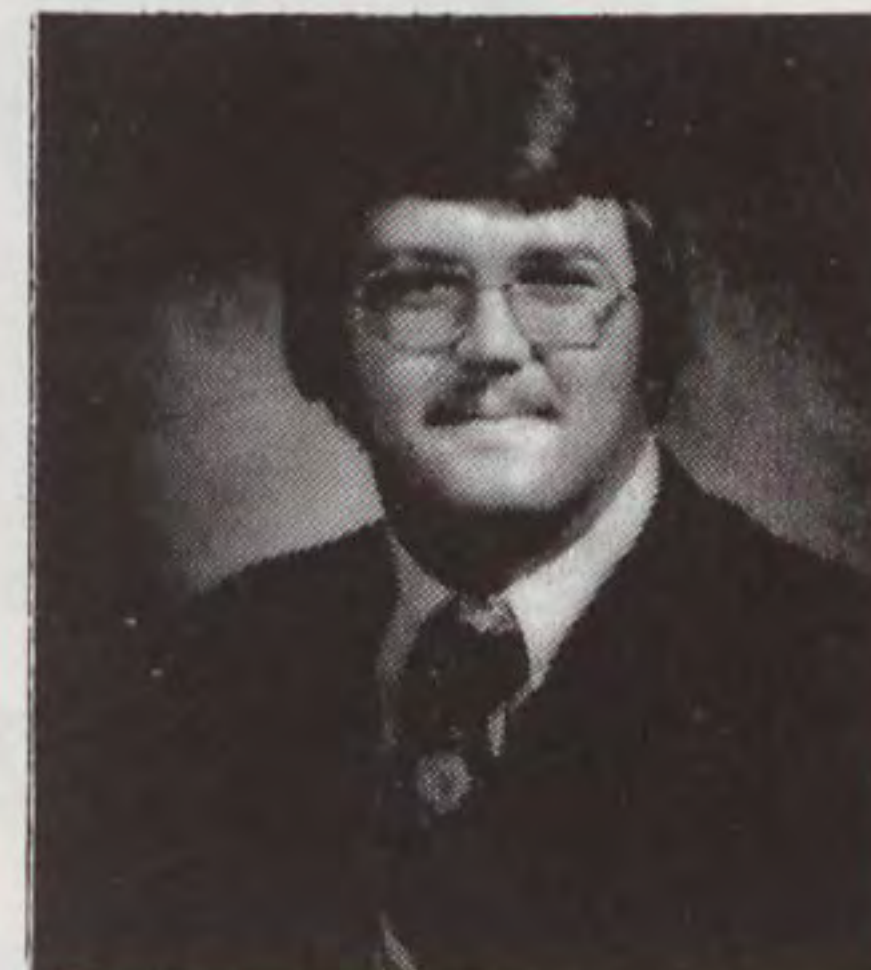

The Pirate Sports Network originates through the facilities of WKTC-FM in Tarboro under the management of Robert L. Harper, President. WKTC-FM is a 100,000 watt station that covers eastern North Carolina.

We are again happy to announce the regional sponsor of the Pirate Sports Network will be Anheuser-Busch, Inc. who are now beginning their fourth year of sponsorship. Their support has enabled our network to be the state's third largest collegiate network, and has also allowed us to grow continuously each season.

The East Carolina University Educational Foundation, better known as the Pirate Club, is the athletic scholarship fund-raising organization for the University. All monies raised are used exclusively for scholarships for Pirate Athletics and therefore, all gifts are tax deductible.

Beginning with the basic contribution of $30, up through the life membership of $2000, a point system is in effect, taking into consideration the annual as well as the total gift record, thus establishing priority rating for such things as games tickets.

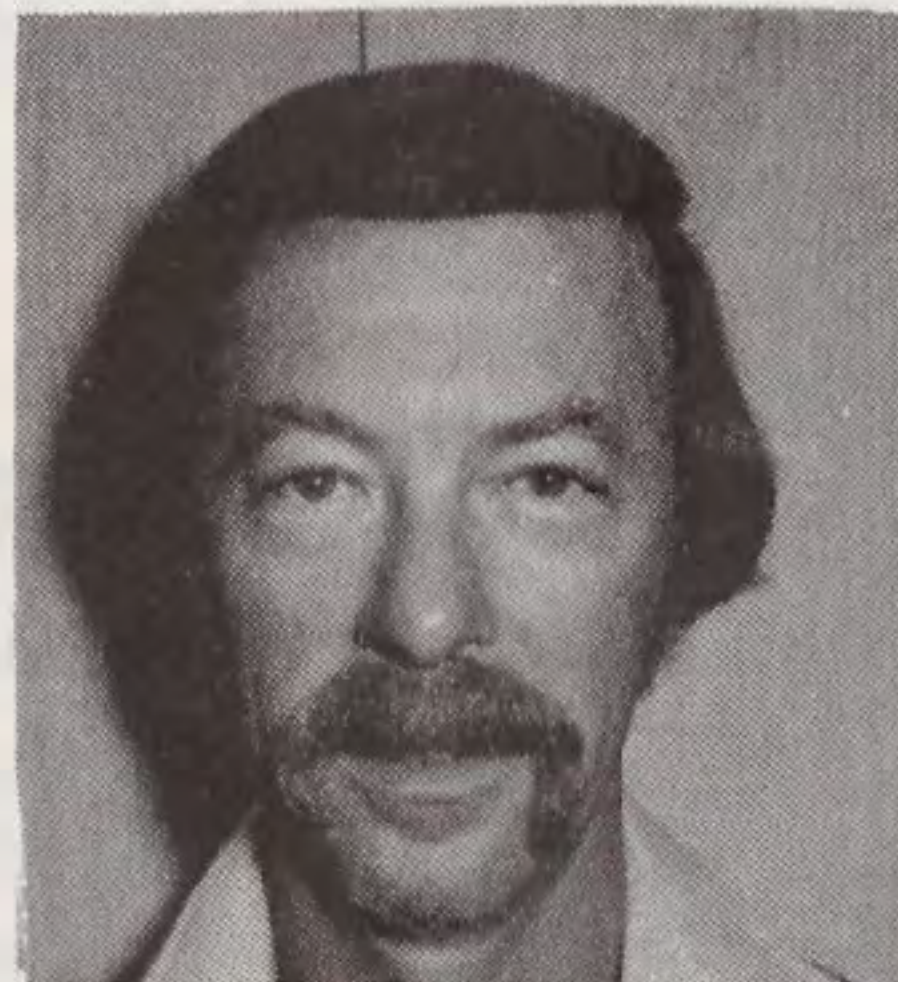

Club members enjoy several benefits from their opportunities to give, including an option on priority season tickets, special parking for home games, use of the Pirate Club building and newsletters to keep abreast of Pirate Club and East Carolina athletic news.

Gus Andrews, Jr. serves as the Executive Director. The 35 year old Tarboro native assumed his current role in 1976 after serving as assistant division manager for Russell National Sports Socks. He is a graduate of Tarboro HS and N.C. State University where he was a football letterman from 1963 through 1965 and earned his B.S. in recreation and physical education. He played in the 1963 Liberty Bowl and was on three Atlantic Coast Conference championship teams.

Work load

This is more than just another load of logs.

What you're looking at is a whole truckload of jobs for North Carolina

Jobs for the guys in the woods who run the chain saws. Truck drivers and road building crews. Workers at the sort yards and in the sawmills, plywood plants and pulp mill.

Jobs for forest managers and marketing specialists. Assistants and secretaries.

Jobs for planting crews. Workers at tree nurseries and seed orchards. And a whole bunch of highly trained specialists in biology, physiology, ecology and soils.

That's 4,200 jobs for people in North Carolina.

People who are working very hard to keep us all supplied with the wood products we need.

And to make sure all these people can keep working, Weyerhaeuser has been constantly changing. Adding new technologies in the mills. Updating the ways we work in the woods.

Our long-range plan is to grow trees in endless cycles. Year after year, forever.

And with that kind of planning you can count on our being around for a long time to come.

ECU MARCHING PIRATES

ECU POM POM SQUAD

Halftime means "SHOWTIME" on Football Saturdays in Ficklen Stadium. That's when "The Marching Pirates" have their chance to perform, and perform they do. It has gotten to the point now the people who used to go out for refreshments stay in their seats to see what's going to happen.

The Band goes out to put on a good show and takes a lot of pride in what they do. It requires a lot of hard work by a lot of individuals.

"The Marching Pirates" play enough current music for the younger generation, and also include some traditional marches for other fans. Also the band combines precision drills, pageantry, huge productions and a little bit of everything in each performance. Of course, the most important thing is the sound. The band along with the School of Music has always been known for the quality of their sound. They perfect it first and add the other thing. Anyone who has heard "The Marching Pirates" production of the National Anthem can verify that fact.

These excellent live performances do not develop without a great deal of practice, of course. As soon as the students report for classes in the fall, band practice begins, too. The group works diligently all season, perfecting old renditions and creating new ones. This year the "Marching Pirates" will be directed by Thomas Goolsby. Goolsby is in his first year at East Carolina coming here from the University of Georgia.

One of the popular additions made to the band's performance in recent years is the Pom Pom Squad. This group of twenty young ladies is a major attraction at halftimes of Football and Basketball games. The girls on the squad are chosen from tryouts held in Minges Coliseum. They are judged in their dance ability, skill in performing high chorus line kicks, coordination, rhythm, personality, attractiveness, and school spirit.

Working at least twelve hours a week practicing and an hour or two the day of the game, the squad tries hard to maintain the band's reputation as the "best in the South". The squad also supports themselves with each girl purchasing her own uniform, shoes, and boots.

Behind it all is a ceaseless spirit that has become an accepted quality of the "Marching Pirate Band" to do everything they can to support ECU and the Pirates.

USEFUL INFORMATION

- RESTROOMS: Men's and Women's restrooms are located at each end and the center on both sides of the stadium.
- FIRST AID: There will be a First Aid Room with a nurse on duty located under Section 30 at the Northeast corner of the stadium. Service will also be provided by the Greenville Rescue Squad with a unit at the East end of the stadium.
- P.A. SYSTEM: In case of an emergency, to be determined by the Sport Promotion Office, announcements should be given to the guard on duty at the pressbox elevator to be relayed to the P.A. Booth.

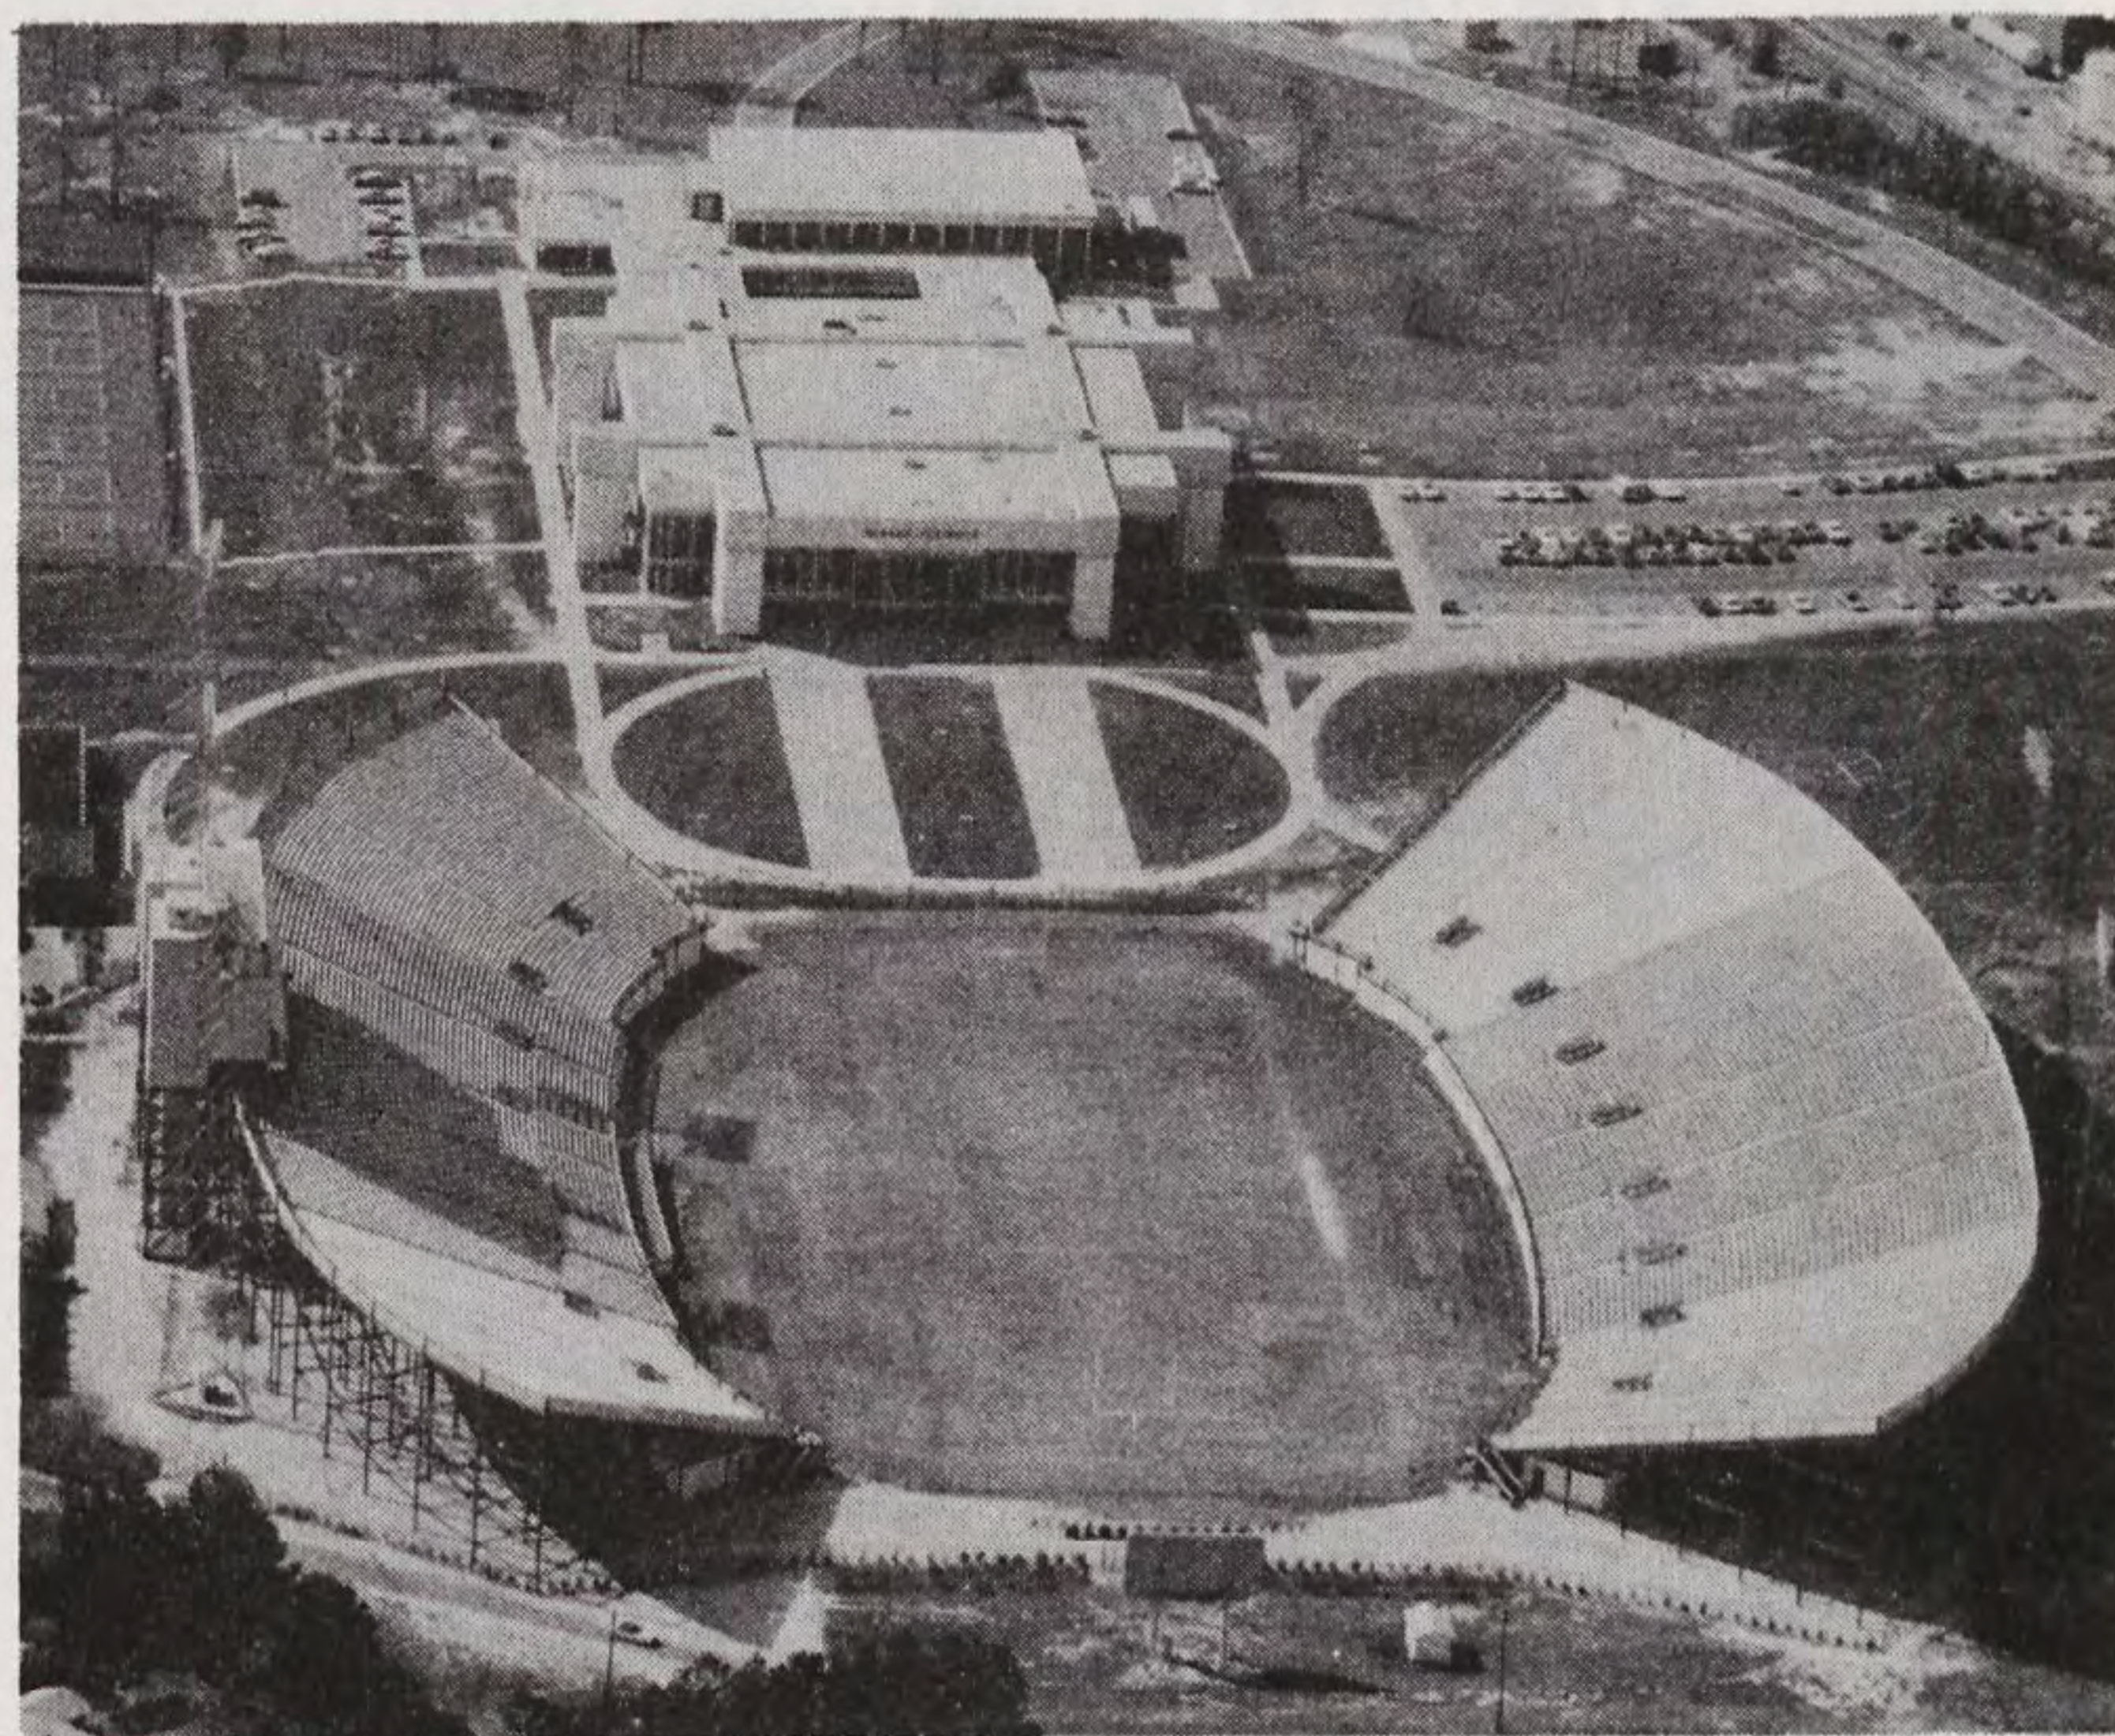

Ficklen Memorial Stadium was dedicated Sept. 21, 1963, the same day East Carolina defeated Wake Forest, 20-10.

The dedication game was the culmination of a dream come true for the then East Carolina College and all of eastern North Carolina. The original plan was announced on Oct. 7, 1961, by Dr. Leo Jenkins, Chancellor of the College, at a meeting of the Society of Buccaneers.

Within a year, $283,387 had been raised, although the goal had been only $200,000. With the funds in hand, Ficklen Stadium was built.

The original stadium consisted of the permanent stands on the south side, a small press box and the old lighting system that was removed after the 1974 season. Total cost was $300,000.

The north side permanent seating was constructed in 1968, increasing the stadium seating capacity to 20,000.

35,000 SEAT FICKLEN STADIUM

The stadium was named for the late James Skinner Ficklen, a Greenville resident, who distinguished himself as one of America's leading tobacconists. At the time of his death in 1955, Ficklen was President and Chairman of the Board of the E.B. Ficklen Tobacco Company of Greenville. He was a close friend of the College and established a financial aid foundation, the Ficklen Foundation, to aid students of the College.

The current lights are a combination of metallic and incandescent lights. There are 384 fixtures of 1500 watts each on the six 162-foot towers. The cost of the new system was $450,000. Engineers say Ficklen is the best lighted stadium in the Southeast.

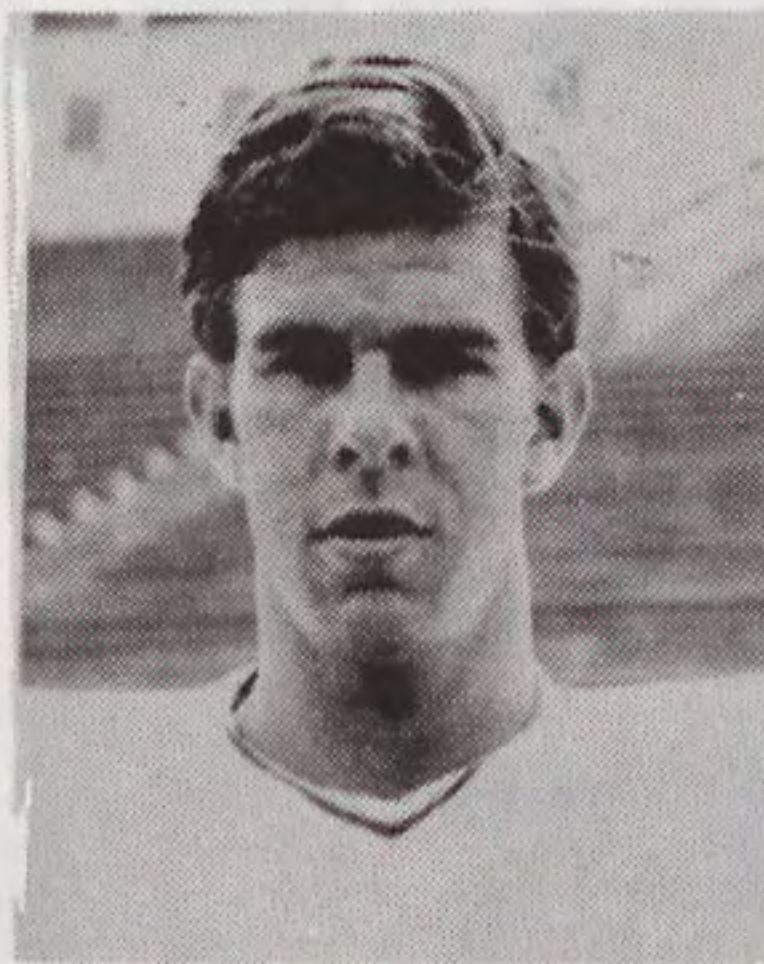

A fund drive for 2½ million dollars was begun in March of 1977 to expand the stadium to 35,000 seats. This expansion was completed prior to the 1978 season.

Also assisting in a more workable facility is a new three level press box and a 20' x 40' computerized scoreboard.

The backfield will be led by Sam Woolevine at full back, Jeff Washington, Butch Hostettler, and Floyd Allen at tailback.

Defensively, the Keydets could start ten seniors. Jeff Morgan will start at nose guard, with Pat McCarthy and Tommy Earle at tackles, and Tim Cox and Tony Zoetis at linebackers.

Brick will reduce your heating and air conditioning costs substantially. Your savings will be even greater with brick cavity walls containing as little as 1" of insulation. Not just on heating and cooling, but on insurance, too. Sanford brick can even make money for you. That's because your resale value is higher and brick homes sell faster.

What a combination! The unduplicated beauty of Sanford Handcraft faces and the money saving assets of our quality brick. Before you build, take a close look. You'll see why Sanford makes the difference. For more information on our Handcraft faces and brick cavity construction, write or call us at P.O. Drawer 458, Sanford, NC 27330, (919) 775-2121.
