Scouting Report

By BOB GENNARELLI
Sports Information Director

Today's 1 PM game with the visiting Tulsa Golden Hurricane is the last of East Carolina's first five-game home schedule since 1981. But more importantly it is the last home game for 18 seniors; their last chance to display the skills ECU fans have enjoyed for the last four or five years.

Most basked in the success of the 1983 season, one of the most successful in East Carolina football history. Most will remember that 8-3 season, narrow losses to national powers Florida State, Florida and national champion Miami-Florida and a final ranking of 20th in the Associated Press poll. However, there is one thing the 18 would like to remember more than 1983 — a victory in their final home game.

But it will not be easy.

Tulsa comes to Greenville, NC, riding a crest most teams dream of. With a first-year head coach in Don Morton and a new coaching staff, the Golden Hurricane stumbled to a 1-4 start after an impressive 35-21 victory over 1984 Southwest Conference co-champion Houston in the season-opener. But that was then.

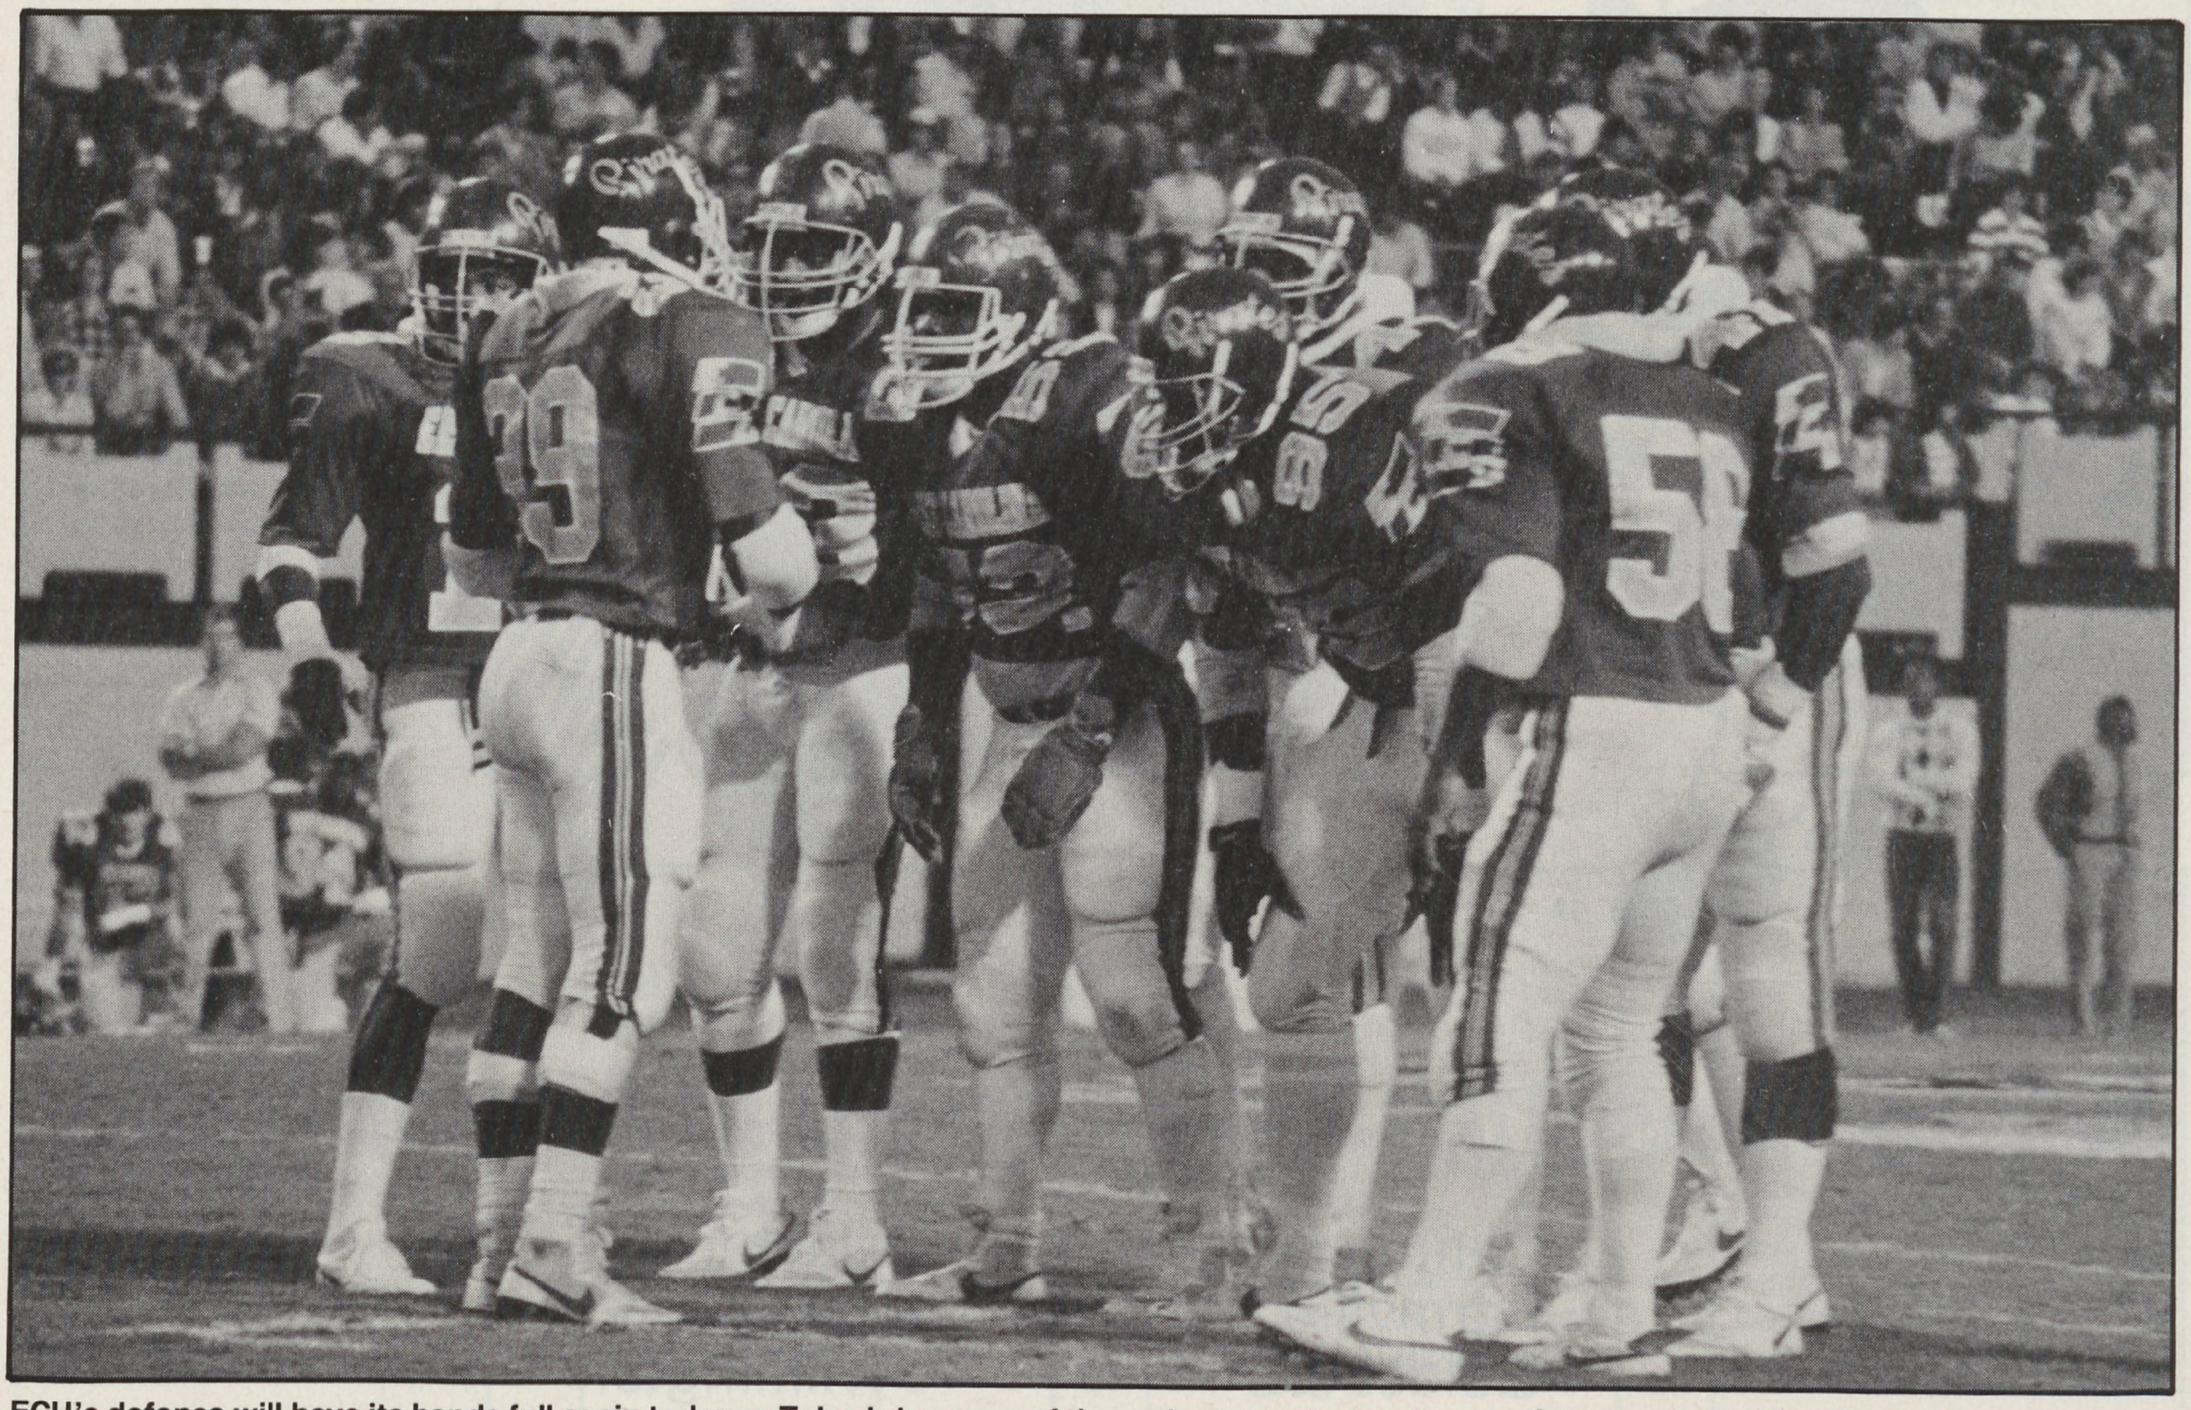

Now is a totally different story.

The Golden Hurricane comes to Ficklen Stadium with a 5-5 record, victories in four of its last five games and some very impressive offensive statistics when it comes to running the football. In fact, TU's only setback over the last five weeks was a 76-14 loss to nationally-ranked Florida State in Tallahassee, FL.

Since then, however, Tulsa has more than regrouped. A quick look at a Sunday sports section in the past five weeks is evidence of that. There was a 37-35 victory over Long Beach State, snapping a four-game losing streak. Then came Florida State but what followed were impressive victories over West Texas State (44-14), Wichita State (42-26) and Drake (45-15).

Over the last three weeks the Golden Hurricane has set school single-game rushing records twice — 536 yards against West Texas State and 554 vs. Wichita State. In TU's victory over the Shockers of Wichita State Morton watched his runningback Gordon Brown and quarterback Steve Gage rush for more than 200 yards each, the first time in NCAA history two people on the same team rushed for 200 yards in the same game.

Yet ECU head coach Art Baker knows all this. He watched his Pirates deliver another impressive showing against a national power last week, holding No. 13 Auburn to just seven first-half points before finally falling 35-10. It was just a glimpse of what ECU's defense will have its hands full again today as Tulsa brings one of the nation's most potent ground games to Ficklen Stadium.

Pirate fans have to look forward to in the future.

"I was extremely proud of the way our kids responded against Auburn," Baker said. "It is not easy to come into someone else's place on Homecoming and play the way our kids did. Our defense gave us everything it had. We, as a coaching staff, could not ask for any more.

"We struggled again offensively, but I thought we showed signs of coming around," Baker added. "But it is going to take a total effort — offensively and defensively — this week against a very good Tulsa team. Coach Morton has done a great job out there, and Saturday is a chance for them to end up with a winning season.

"But if I know our kids, they will answer the call. They have all year long, and I don't see this week being any exception."

The game should match two of college football's most exciting ground games, along with two of college football's most successful placekickers. Tulsa's Gordon Brown cracked the 1,000-yard mark a week ago against Drake and is sixth on TU's single-season rushing list and fourth on the school's all-time rushing list. A 200-yard day today would jump Brown, from neighboring Newport News, VA, into third place on that career list.

For the Pirates, senior tailback Tony Baker continues his assault on ECU's record book. The High Point, NC, native needs just 48 yards today to move into second place on ECU's career rushing list, while No. 1 is well within reach for Baker. Baker now has 2,683 career yards and needs 206 yards in the Pirates' final two games to overtake Carlester Crumpler (2,889) and become the all-time leading rusher in ECU history. Baker also needs just 191 yards to become only the fifth back in school history to rush for 1,000 yards in a season. The last was Anthony Collins, now with the NFL's New England Patriots, with 1,130 yards in 1979.

The game will also feature kickers Jason Staurovsky of Tulsa, the school's all-time leading scorer and career field goal and extra point leader against ECU's Jeff Heath, the school's all-time leading scorer and career field goal and extra point leader.

Head Coach Art Baker

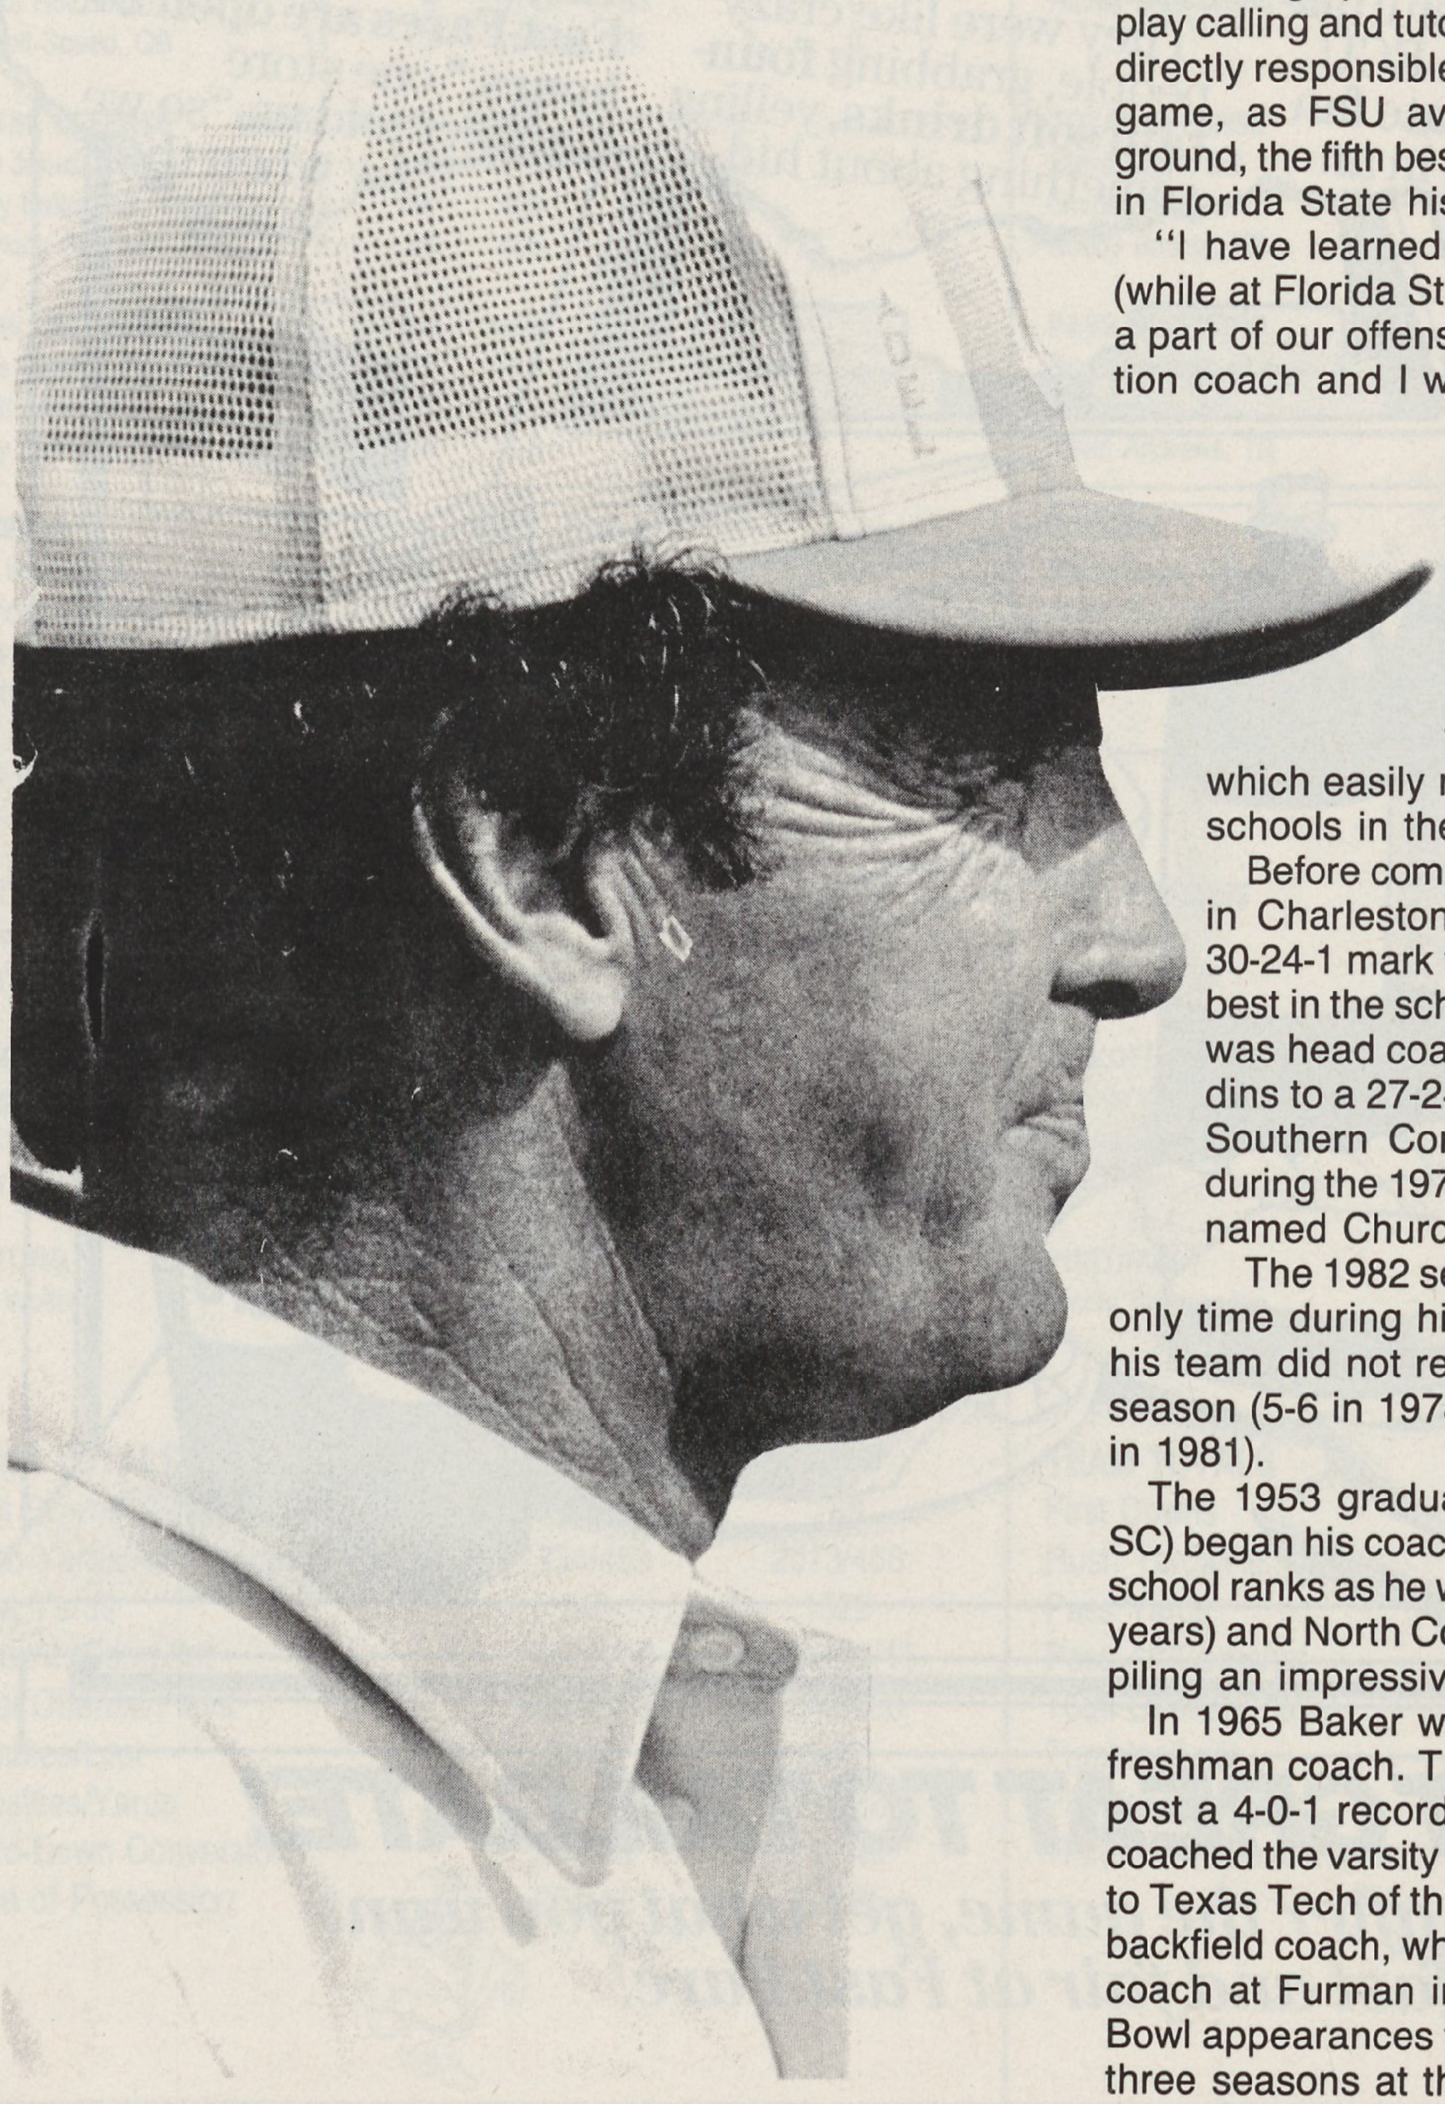

Art Baker's full circle ended on Dec. 14, 1984.

On that day Baker, former associate head coach and offensive coordinator at East Carolina in 1983 and assistant head coach at Florida State in 1984, was hired as the Pirates' 15th head football coach.

Baker, who brings 25 years of intercollegiate football experience with him, replaced Ed Emory, who was relieved of his head coaching duties Dec. 10, 1984 after five seasons. Baker brings with him a career head coaching record of 57-48-5 after stops at Southern Conference entries Furman (1973-77) and The Citadel (1978-82), where he suffered through only four losing seasons in 10.

Greenville has been one of the favorite places I've lived and the East Carolina people among the finest I've been around,'' Baker said. ''I'm just really excited about coming back here. I've always felt the Lord has a plan for all of us, and this is his plan for me.

''I set some goals for myself several years ago. Among the Division I-A schools, East Carolina was one of the few I would have considered going to,'' Baker added. ''It was the second quickest decision I've ever made.''

The Sumter, SC, native spent 1984 directing Florida State's high-powered offense as he was responsible for play calling and tutoring FSU's quarterbacks. He was also directly responsible for revitalizing the Seminole running game, as FSU averaged 274.6 yards a game on the ground, the fifth best average in the nation and the highest in Florida State history.

''I have learned a lot more about the passing game (while at Florida State) this year and I hope that it will be a part of our offense here,'' Baker said. ''But I'm an option coach and I will continue to be one.''

It was the option under Baker that helped lead ECU to one of its finest seasons ever. The Pirates' ''Freeze Option'' offense, with Baker calling the plays, ranked 16th in the nation in rushing offense (239.4 yards per game). As a unit, ECU averaged 349.5 yards of total offense for 11 Saturdays, which easily ranked among the top 40 Division I-A schools in the country.

Before coming to ECU Baker coached The Citadel in Charleston, SC, for five seasons, compiling a 30-24-1 mark for a .555 winning percentage, second best in the school's history. At Furman, where Baker was head coach from 1973-77, he guided the Paladins to a 27-24-5 record in five seasons and shared Southern Conference Coach of the Year honors during the 1973 season. That season also saw Baker named Churchman's Coach of the Year.

The 1982 season, his last at The Citadel, was the only time during his stay at the Charleston, SC, school his team did not record one less loss than the previous season (5-6 in 1978, 6-5 in 1979, 7-4 in 1980 and 7-3-1 in 1981).

The 1953 graduate of Presbyterian College (Clinton, SC) began his coaching career in the South Carolina high school ranks as he was head coach at Eastern McColl (two years) and North Columbia's Eau Claire (six years), compiling an impressive 62-37-8 record.

In 1965 Baker went to Clemson to become the head freshman coach. That season saw Clemson's freshmen post a 4-0-1 record and from 1966 through 1969 Baker coached the varsity offensive backfield. In 1970, he moved to Texas Tech of the Southwest Conference as offensive backfield coach, where he remained until becoming head coach at Furman in 1973. The Red Raiders made Sun Bowl appearances twice (1970 and 1972) during Baker's three seasons at the Lubbock school.

People who take flying seriously complain if an airline isn't performing. So you can imagine how proud Piedmont was last year when, according to Air Transport World magazine, we received fewer complaints than any other major airline.

It's one reason why Air Transport World recently named us, of all the world's airlines, the Airline Of The Year. And a reason why our record against the competition has been so good lately.

Athletic Director

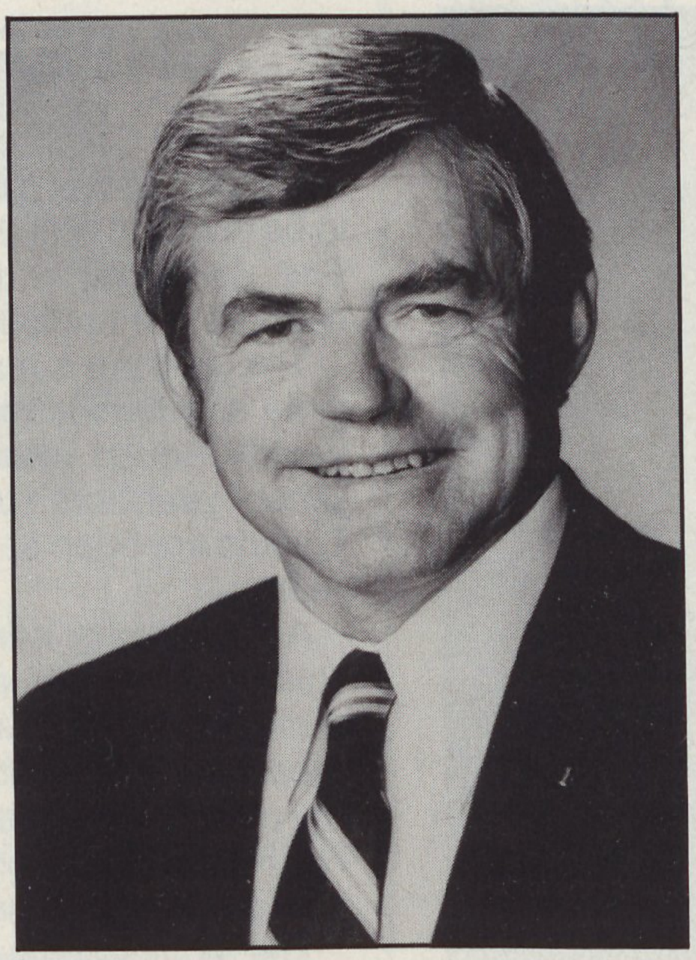

Dr. Ken Karr has been a major driving force behind East Carolina's rise to national prominence in intercollegiate athletics.

Since being named July 11, 1980 as only the fourth athletic director to serve ECU since the inception of the position on the Greenville campus in 1947, Karr has guided the program toward greater exposure and success.

He has been instrumental in upgrading the Pirate football schedule to where there are now home and away series with powers such as Florida State, Miami (FL) and Auburn, as well as facing Pittsburgh, Missouri, Florida, West Virginia, Illinois and Penn State.

Karr also played a major role in East Carolina's admission into the College Football Association (CFA) and Eastern College Athletic Conference (ECAC), which offers an authomatic bid to the NCAA championship tournament to the winner of the conference tournament. He was named treasurer of the ECAC-South in 1983. ECU became a member of the Colonial Athletic Association in June, 1985.

Karr came to ECU from San Diego State, where he served as athletic director from 1969-1979 and as chairman of the Department of Athletics in 1980.

DR. KEN KARR

While developing an excellent San Diego State athletic program, Karr also was very active on the national scene with the NCAA. In 1975, he was elected to the NCAA Division I Basketball Committee for a three-year period. His appointment to that committee was renewed for another three years to run through 1982. This is the committee which determines the schools to fill all slots in the NCAA post-season basketball tournament.

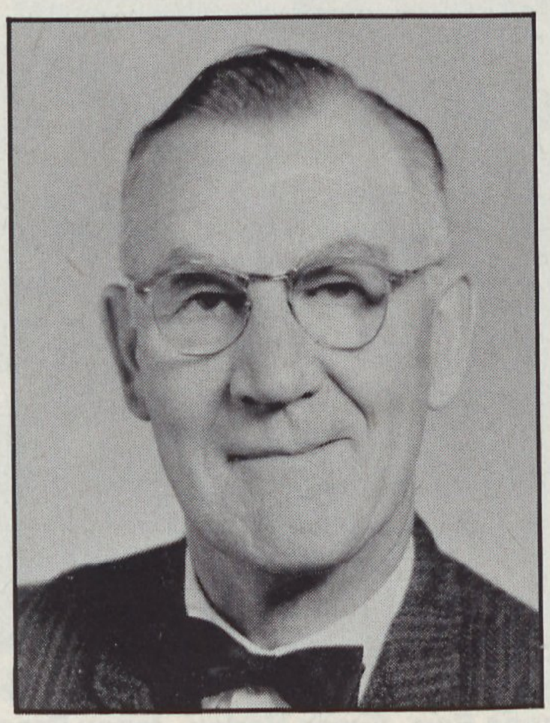

The Holiday Bowl, a post-season football game held in San Diego, was begun in 1978, with Karr playing an instrumental role in getting the game sanctioned by the NCAA. Karr served on the Board of Directors and the Executive Committee of the Holiday Bowl in 1978 and 1979.

Prior to his tenure at San Diego, Karr served as assistant director at the University of Arizona. In 1964-67, he was an assistant football coach at Wake Forest and from 1952-54, he served at three high schools and two colleges on the football staff.

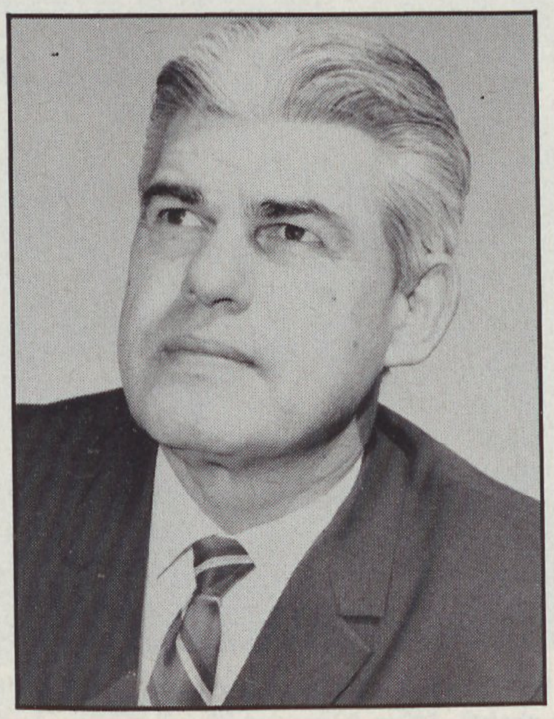

Karr holds a bachelor's degree in physical education from Illinois State University and a master's and doctoral degree in physical education and philosophy, respectively, from the University of Illinois.

Karr is married — wife's name Priscilla — and has two children.

CHEERLEADING AT ECU

The East Carolina University Cheerleading Program is an exciting part of the university atmosphere and a guaranteed way to be involved with the athletics of the university and community. The demands and responsibilities are numerous and the rewards are endless.

The program is made up of two squads, which consists of both male and female members. The Purple Squad serves as the Varsity Squad with the team selected in the Spring of each school year from students currently enrolled at East Carolina. Tryouts are open to the public and become more exciting every year.

A freshman or transfer student is eligible for the Gold Squad. This Squad serves as an alternate to the Purple Squad in case of illness, injury or dismissal from the team. The Gold Squad cheers at home football games, women's basketball games, and any other events deemed necessary by the Cheerleading Coach. The Purple Squad cheers at home and away football games and men's basketball games.

The requirements for tryouts vary every year due to the growth and changing needs of the squad. The Purple Squad requirements are to cheer, dance, show gymnastics ability, partner stunts and individual routine. The Gold Squad is expected to demonstrate the same abilities as the Purple Squad with the exception of partner stunts (although partner stunts will be required once a member of the squad). Specific requirements are announced at the beginning of each tryout practice session.

Although there are no scholarships available for the Cheerleader Program, the advantages, rewards, and opportunities speak for themselves and make the efforts worthwhile.

Auburn in Review

Freshman Berke Holtzclaw came off the bench to lead the Pirates to a touchdown against Auburn. He will be the starter today against Tulsa.

Anthony Simpson continued his hard running, totalling 41 yards on nine carries against a tough Tiger defense.

Freshman punter Tim Wolter enjoyed his finest day as a Pirate pinning the Auburn offense deep in their own territory on several occasions.

Equipment Managers

East Carolina's equipment managers have the responsibility of outfitting the Pirates for each of their 11 games as well as daily practices. Their duties range from providing clean towels to making sure helmets pass strict NCAA requirements for safety.

For the first season Ward Douglas will serve as head football student manager, with sophomores Chris Johnson and Stuart Blount serving as his assistants.

Marching Pirates

The East Carolina University Marching Band has quickly gained a reputation as a crowd pleaser at halftime ceremonies during the football season.

The Marching Pirates, with over 250 members for the 1984 season, are considered to be among the top marching band organizations in the South and on the East Coast with over one-third of its members attending ECU's School of Music. While halftime ceremonies were once reserved for trips to the concession stands, now many Pirate faithful remain in their seats to view the patented and stunning performances.

"Our aim is to entertain the crowd and I think that we've been very successful at that," says the band's director, Tom Goolsby. "We are very fortunate at East Carolina to have such an appreciative crowd during the games and that makes us want to perform that much better."

The band spends countless hours on the field practicing for the shows which culminates into a remarkable Saturday performance which East Carolina football fans have come to expect. Goolsby has evenly mixed the band's music, adding everything from today's popular hits to classical pieces.

The band works up different routines each week around the central show, which includes numbers this season such as "Pictures of Spain," "Spanish Dreams," "Free," a popular hit by the group Chicago; Earth, Wind and Fire's "Fantasy," and a special drum solo, "Mayazumi Concertino." Goolsby has promised a surprise ending to this year's shows which he is sure everyone will recognize.

Along with the large number of band members, the Pirate Color Guard, Flag, Pom Pon and Rifle teams, along with featured twirlers will fill the field with pageantry.

BAKER CONTINUES TO MOVE

Senior tailback Tony Baker, with his 69 yards rushing and one touchdown in ECU's Nov. 10 loss to No. 13 ranked Auburn, continued his quest to become ECU's all-time leading rusher.

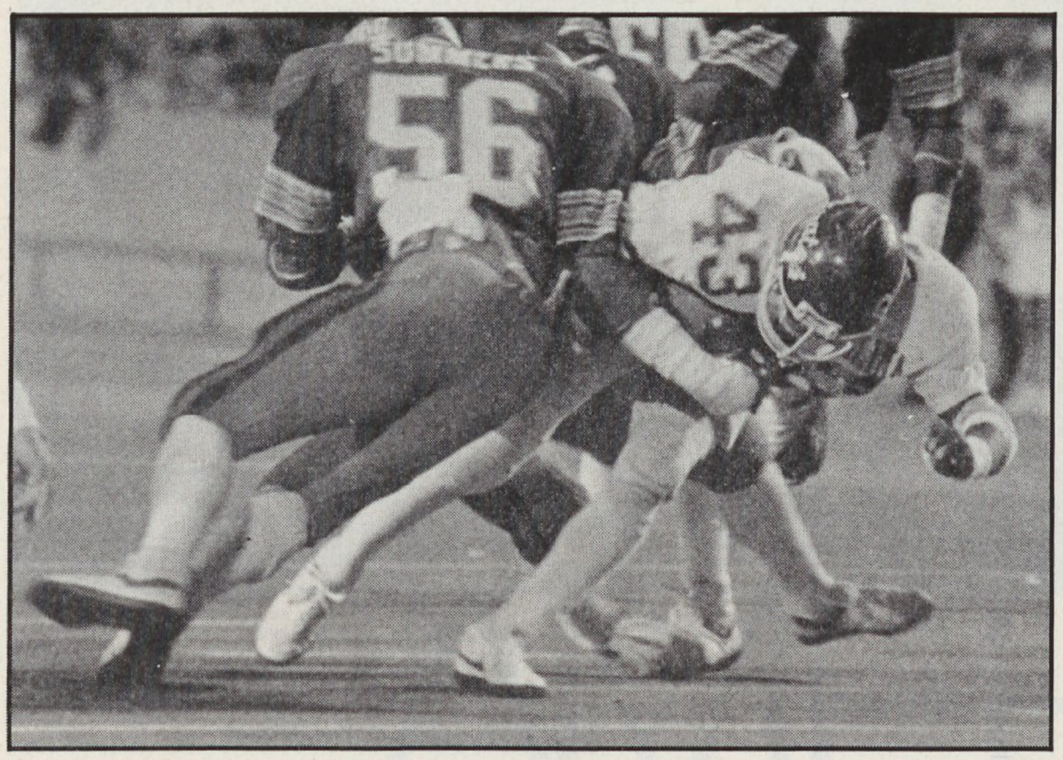

The High Point, NC, native now has 2,683 career yards and is No. 3 on the school's all-time rushing list. Baker, who began the season in the No. 9 spot with 1,874 yards, trails the school's all-time leading ground gainer — Carlester Crumpler — by 206 yards and needs to average 103.5 yards per game in ECU's last two games to overtake Crumpler. Baker's current game average through nine games is 89.9. Baker needs just 48 yards to overtake Theodore Sutton for second place on ECU's rushing list.

Baker also needs just 191 yards, or an average of 95.5 yards per game, to become only the fifth ECU runner ever to gain 1,000 yards rushing in a season. The four are: Carlester Crumpler in 1972 (1,309) and 1973 (1,042), Butch Colson in 1967 (1,135), Anthony Collins in 1979 (1,130) and Dave Alexander in 1965 (1,029).

Baker also is 10th on the school's all-time total offense list with his 2,683 yards.

Career Rushing List

1. Carlester Crumpler (1971-73) 2,889
2. Theodore Sutton (1977-80) 2,730
3. TONY BAKER (1982-) 2,683
4. Butch Colson (1967-69) 2,512
5. Anthony Collins (1977-80) 2,207

HEATH SETS PAT RECORD

With his one extra point following a Tony Baker touchdown against Auburn last week, senior placekicker Jeff Heath added yet another record to his already long list. The Virginia Beach, VA, native now owns 90 career extra points, breaking the previous record of 89 set by Bill Lamm (1977-78).

That is the second record Heath has broken this season. With his 37-yard field goal against Miami-Florida back on Oct. 5, Heath became the school's all-time leading scorer, and now has 234 career points.

Heath and the ECU Record Book:

Field Goals — Season:	16, 1982
Field Goals — Career:	48, 1982-85
Career Points:	234, 1982-85

ECU IN THE MVC?

Saturday's game, although a non-conference by looks, actually will be considered a Missouri Valley Conference game for the visiting Golden Hurricanes of Tulsa.

The reason: Tulsa had only three MVC opponents scheduled for the 1985 season (West Texas State, Drake and Wichita State), so the league presidents designated two games to count in the MVC standings — Houston, which Tulsa won 35-21 to open the season, and ECU.

Tulsa currently is 4-0 in MVC play, having beaten Houston (35-21), West Texas State (44-17), Wichita State (42-26) and Drake last week (45-15). Tulsa also has won 25 straight MVC games dating back to the 1981 season. Its last loss was 36-34 to Southern Illinois during that 1981 season.

TULSA IS ON A ROLL

The Golden Hurricane of Tulsa have been enjoying a good deal of success of late. Under first-year Head Coach Don Morton, who came from 1983 Division II national Champion North Dakota State.

The Golden Hurricane have rolled to three straight victories and four in its last five games since getting off to a rocky 1-4 start. Tulsa's only setback in the last five games was a 76-14 loss to nationally-ranked Florida State in Tallahassee. In fact, in those four victories Tulsa has failed to reach the 40-point mark only once — a 37-35 victory over Long Beach State.

In the last three games Tulsa has lit the scoreboard up with 131 points (a 43.7 average) in rolling to impressive victories over Missouri Valley Conference opponents West Texas State (44-17), Wichita State (42-26) and Drake (45-15). Even with the 14-point showing against Florida State, Tulsa still is averaging 36.4 points over the last five games.

KEEPING IT ON THE GROUND

Tulsa will bring one of the nation's most potent ground games to Ficklen Stadium for Saturday's 1 PM kickoff. The Golden Hurricane is averaging 311.8 yards per game on the ground and was ranked sixth in the nation in rushing offense a week ago. Over the last three games TU has rolled up 1,393 rushing yards for a 464.3 average per game and have set school single-game rushing records twice — against West Texas State Oct. 26 (536 yards rushing) and Wichita State Nov. 2 (554 yards rushing).

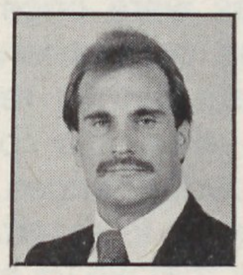

The Golden Hurricane also had two players rush for 200 yards against Wichita State, a first in NCAA history. Quarterback Steve Gage ran for 206 yards on 26 carries while runningback Gordon Brown, from Newport News, VA, added 214 yards on 23 carries.

Brown, who ran for 117 yards in last week's victory over Drake, now has 1,078 yards rushing this season and ranks sixth on TU's single-season list. He has surpassed the 100-yard mark in six of Tulsa's 10 games this season, and for his 21-game Tulsa career he owns 12 games of 100 or more yards. Brown, who transferred from Hutchinson Junior College in 1984, now has 2,073 career yards and is fourth on TU's career rushing list. He would need 200 yards vs. ECU to jump into the No. 3 spot. For the 1985 season Brown is averaging 7.2 yards per carry while his career yards per carry average sits at 6.7. For the season, Tulsa has scored 30 touchdowns, with 26 of those rushing.

Seventy-eight years of growth and advancement mark the history of East Carolina University. Since the institution began as a teachers school in 1907, East Carolina has grown along with the town of Greenville and the region.

Following its motto, SERVIRE, East Carolina has become one of the South's most rapidly developing institutions of higher learning.

Its development has occurred in giant steps in the heart of a region described 25 years ago as a "sleeping giant," just then being stirred to awaken. Then during the last two decades especially, East Carolina experienced spectacular growth, mushrooming from a relatively small liberal arts college into a major university, the third largest in the state, with more than 13,000 students enrolled today.

East Carolina was given university status by an act of the General Assembly of North Carolina in 1967 and with it a mandate to raise and expand its programs and services. Four years later it became a constituent campus of the consolidated University of North Carolina system.

Today, East Carolina has 18 academic departments in its College of Arts and Sciences, nine professional schools including North Carolina's newest school of medicine, the General College, the Graduate School and the Division of Continuing Education.

East Carolina's professional schools are: Allied Health and Social Professions, Art, Business, Education, Home Economics, Medicine, Music, Nursing and Technology.

Undergraduate degrees are offered in 105 bachelor's degree programs along with 107 minor program concentrations. The Graduate School offers 73 master's degree program areas, six sixth-year progarms and five programs granting doctoral degrees.

The doctoral programs, in basic medical sciences, were approved by the Board of Governors in the fall of 1979. This authorization represents a special milestone in the progress of the University, placing it among the six private and public institutions in North Carolina to offer Ph.D. level graduate students.

The School of Medicine offers four-year professional MD degrees.

Although its growth in size and new progarms has been phenomenal, East Carolina University places emphasis upon academic excellence, upon quality rather than quantity.

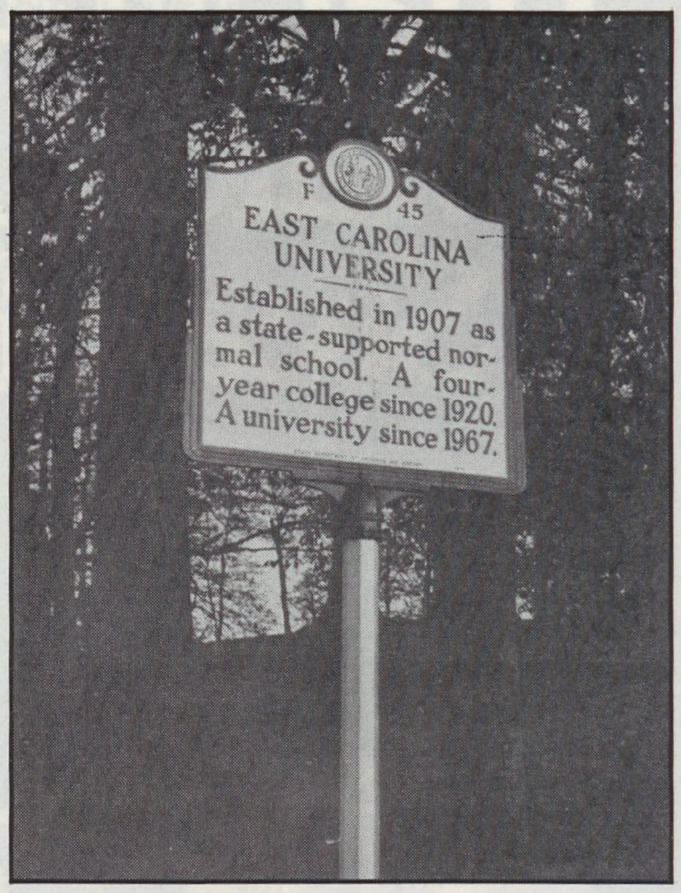

East Carolina's physical growth is, in itself, a continuing wonder.

The original campus site — on which the first six buildings were constructed in 1908 — has expanded to a 411-acre campus with 64 buildings. The campus physical plant is valued at nearly $100 million and is constantly being improved and beautified.

A large, modern medical school campus is being constructed on a site several miles west of the main campus in Greenville.

The athletic complex includes a newly-enlarged football stadium, expanded from 20,000 to more than 35,000 seats in 1978. Its press box and lighting are regarded as the finest facilities in the South.

Located in the mild, sunny climate of the Carolinas' coastal plain, East Carolina attracts the bulk of its student body from the 50 or so counties in the eastern tier of North Carolina and southeast Virginia, and from along the eastern seaboard as far north as New York and New England.

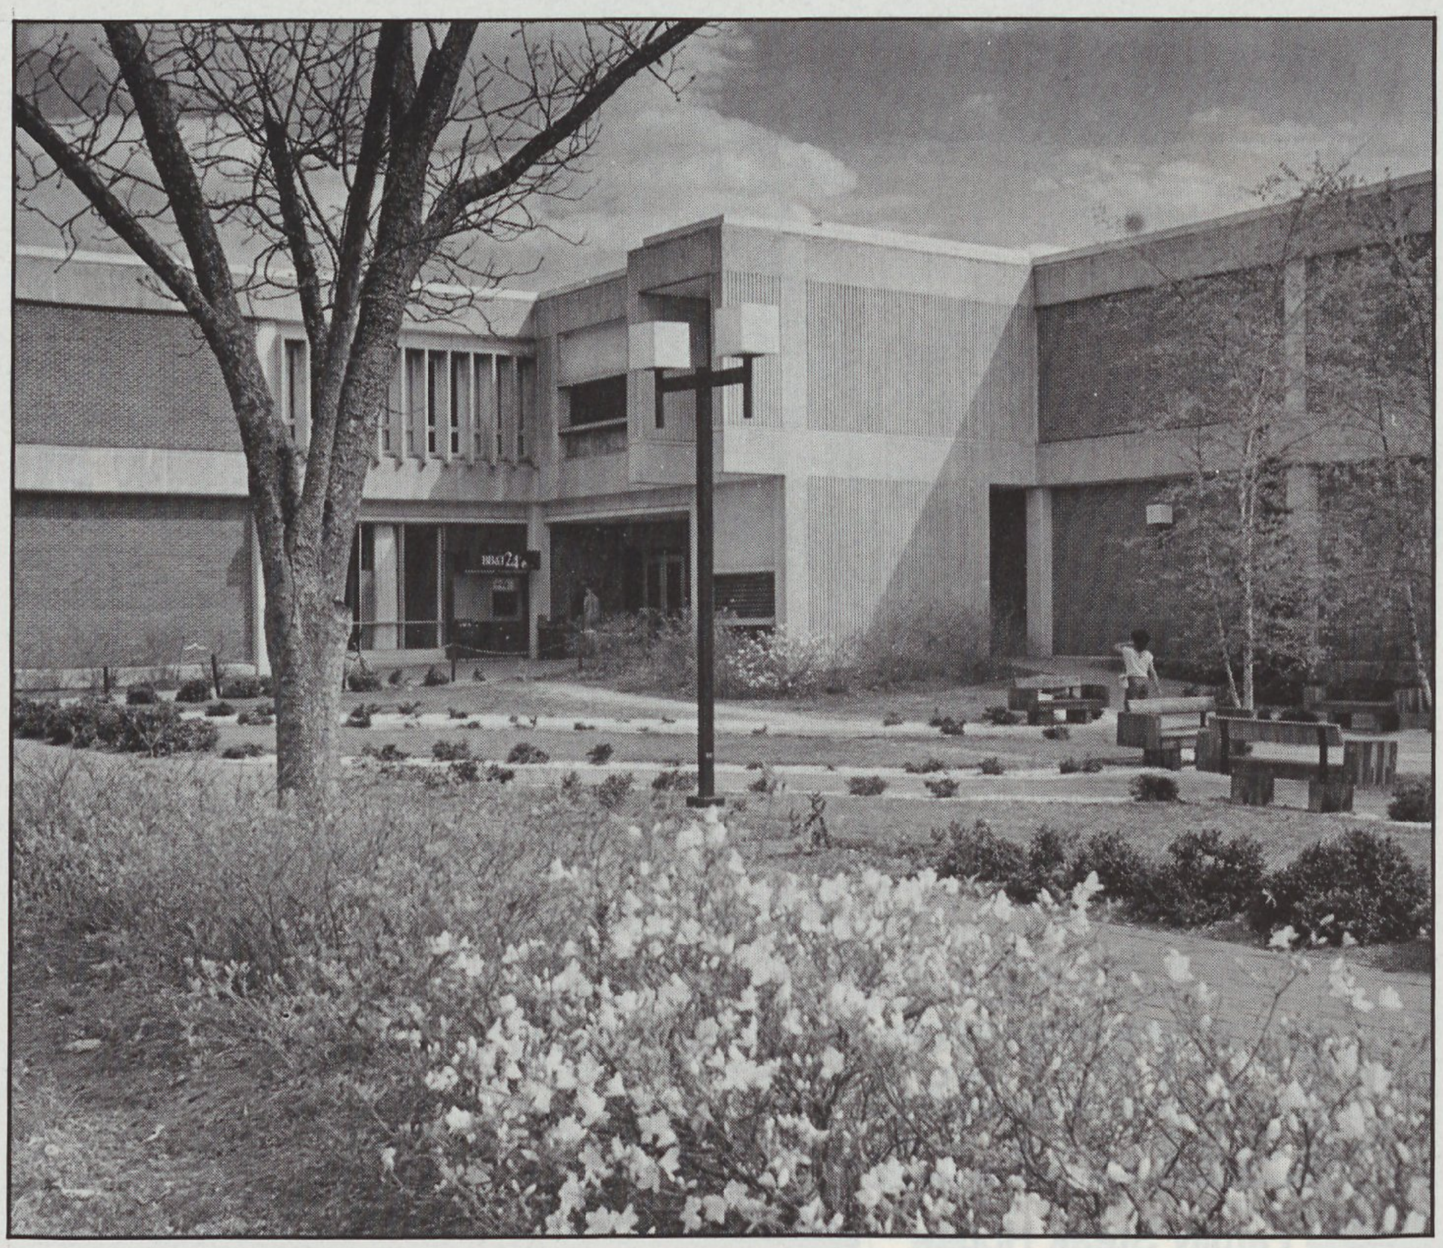

Greenville, N.C., itself is a pleasant, pretty city of some 40,000 population located in a rich agricultural region which is the world's leading producer of bright, flue-cured tobacco, and also a leader in production of peanuts, soybeans, cucumbers and other fruits and vegetables. Greenville is less than two hours drive from the famed Outer Banks of North Carolina and the beaches, seafood and recreation-rich Pamlico and Albemarle Sounds and other Atlantic coastal estuaries.

A great many of the more than 36,000 living alumni who have come to East Carolina from other states have chosen to stay in eastern North Carolina to live and work, and have become successful, prosperous and happy citizens of this growing region. There are many other alumni who were attracted to the school and its educational opportunities while serving in the armed forces at such nearby bases as the Camp Lejeune and Cherry Point Marine bases, Seymour-Johnson Air Force Base, or at Fort Bragg, N.C.

East Carolina's faculty of 750 highly-trained professors and academicians engages in research activity supported by some $5 million in annual funding. Remarkable growth of faculty research activity has been noted in recent years. The libraries contain collections of more than 500,000 bound volumes, 8,516 serial subscriptions, 600,000 units of microfilm, 5,201 phonodisc/tape recordings, 320 manuscripts collections comprised of 500,000 items and the latest in library-loan systems. The Computer Center also has the latest in modern computer capability to serve the campus.

In all, East Carolina is fulfilling its potential as a university which is increasingly prominent as a center for educational opportunity and service.

Pirate Sports Network

The Pirate Sports Network is the official radio outlet for East Carolina University football. All activities are coordinated, produced and directed through the office of Ken Smith, Assistant Athletic Director for Electronic Media.

All of Eastern North Carolina, the Triad and parts of South Carolina will be covered by the 25-plus lineup of radio stations for 1985.

Ken Smith will return as play-by-play voice. A veteran of 16 years in sports broadcasting, Smith has served as Executive Producer of the network for eight seasons.

Smith will be joined by Dave Hart, Jr. as color analyst on the Pirate Sports Network. Hart is an Associate Athletic Director at East Carolina. His broadcasting background started in Kentucky with various state-wide radio networks as a color analyst.

The Pirate Sports Network is a wholly owned and operated facility of the East Carolina University athletic department.

Organization and primary feed outlet for the Pirate Sports Network is WDLX-FM, a 100,000 watt station in Washington, N.C., located at 93.3 on the dial. WDLX-FM is entering its fifth season as the originating station for Pirate athletics.

The primary regional sponsor for Pirate football is Budweiser, a part of the Pirate broadcast team since 1976.

Airtime for the Pirate Sports Network during the 1985 football season will be 30 minutes before scheduled kickoff. The show opens with a new feature this year, "The Airborne Express Pirate Pre-Game Show."

Working Hard Makes Jason Tick — And Kick

By Shelley Snow
Student Assistant

If four years ago, someone had said Jason Staurovsky would become the all-time leading scorer in Tulsa football history, people would have laughed. After all, he was just a team manager back then.

Now, such a possibility is true. Jason stopped in as a walkon placekicker for the injured Stu Crum in 1981, and now is Golden Hurricane history. If he had known earlier that he would be doing this well, he says he would have tried harder to learn about the kicking situation.

"I was so naive my first three years," Jason says. "I didn't understand what it took to be a top placekicker." He says he might have been able to learn faster if he had had an idea of what might lie ahead. But, Jason says, he has always worked hard, no matter what the situation presented.

In his first two years as TU's placekicker, he learned through trial and error, from Stu Crum, and from his past experience. His past experience includes playing soccer and football at Tulsa's Bishop Kelley high school. His family has a history of playing soccer — his sister Jamie is now at Xavier University on a soccer scholarship — but football was a new venture for Jason. He watched his high school friends kick, and he wanted to do it. He approached Kelley's football coach, at that time, Jim Sposato, and earned a spot as a kicker on Kelley's football team.

"Coach Sposato was great. He let me practice with the football team for 30-45 minutes then let me go play soccer," Jason remembers. "If he would have said, 'Jason I don't want you to play soccer,' I probably would have said well, then I don't want to play football." But he did play football and he earned all-conference and all-district honors at Kelley.

When it came time to attend college, Jason approached former Tulsa head coach John Cooper in much the same way he had Coach Sposato. Jason was a talented young man, confident in his abilities. Cooper offered him a job as team manager, and the rest is history. When Stu Crum left, Jason took over. Now he's broken Crum's all-time scoring record of 266; and he has become Tulsa's career field goal record holder.

"I'm going with my 'last kick' idea," Jason says. "I walk out there and act like this is the last one I'll kick for the rest of the year. I have to make it. And if I get to kick another one, well, I've got to make it, too."

He recalls two years ago when he was close to breaking Crum's record for most consecutive point-after-touchdown conversions. Jason was nearing a school and Missouri Valley Conference record of 67 consecutive PAT's until a miss against Drake in 1983 ended his streak at 61. He says he was more worried about the record than the game. This time, he says, he's got a good attitude, and if he doesn't make it, then it just wasn't meant to be.

Jason is quick to credit the Lord with the breaks he's gotten so far, and adds he'll never slack off in his hard work. He says he faces every field goal attempt with the intention of glorifying the Lord, and that makes him that much happier when it goes. But he also faces every facet of his life with this intention and also with the knowledge he'll do the best he can.

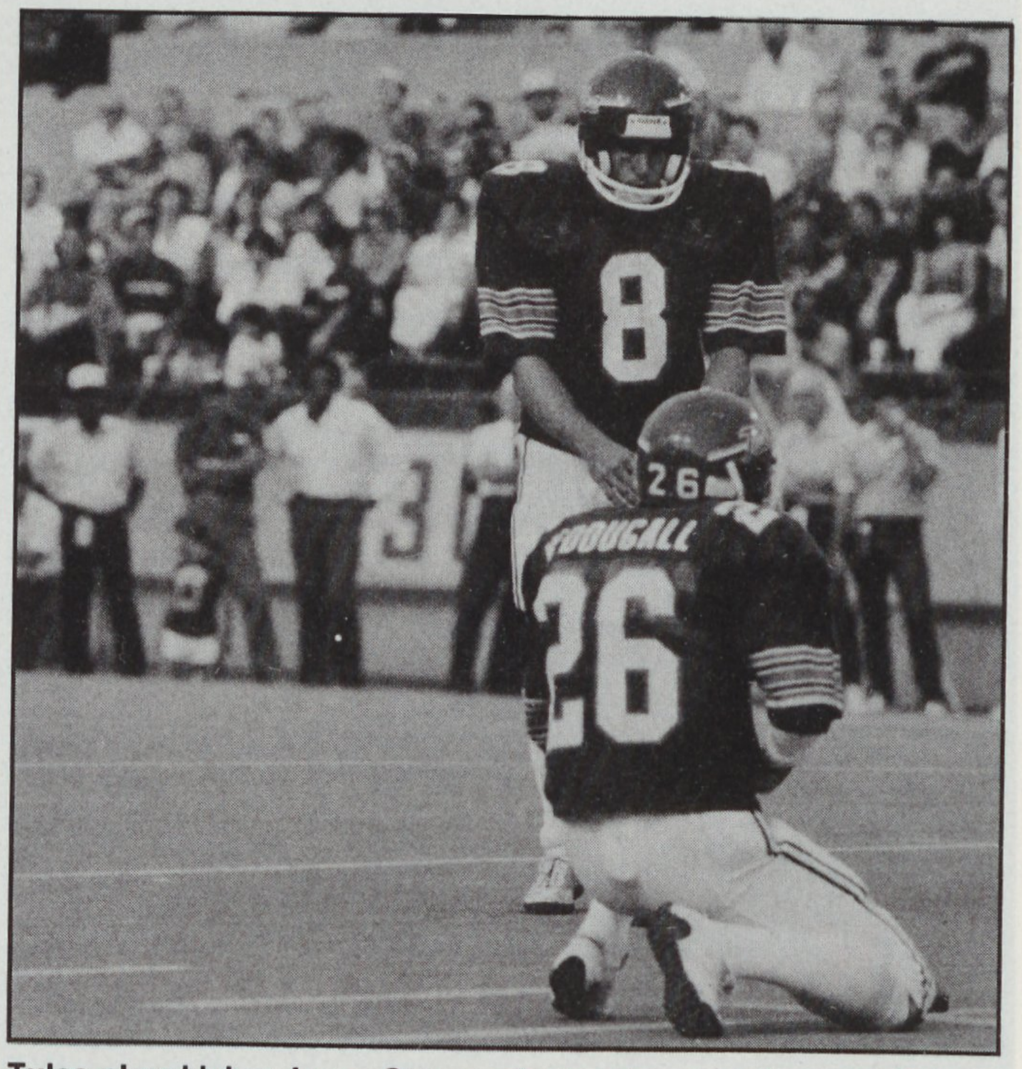

Jason is a favorite on the team and to the fans. He was voted TU's most popular player last year. However, that doesn't exempt him from being harrassed, especially when teammates bring up his former position as team manager.

"They (TU players) understand the kind of job I have in a game situation — the mental pressures," Jason says. He tells about times when fellow players want to kick with him for fun and competition. Jason says there probably isn't a player out there who didn't kick in high school.

"Everybody has 'dream goals,'" Jason says. "I'd like to be all-conference, All-American, and play pro ball. I think I have the ability and I'd really like to play pro ball. These are my 'dream goals,' but they might come true."

Another goal might come true tonight, too. Whether it's in the form of a field goal or a point-after-attempt, Jason Staurovsky — the one who four years ago was the scrawny team manager — has become Tulsa's all-time leading scorer. And would he give himself any credit?

"You know, I just work hard at everything. If it happens, I'll be more than overjoyed. I'll know in any case I gave it my best shot."

Tulsa placekicker Jason Staurovsky has become the new Golden Hurricane all-time career scoring leader.

Howard Porter: Head basketball coach 1947-59. Coached most games and mosts wins in school history (183-101). His 1953-54 team best in school history with 23-2 record and trip to national championship in NAIA. Never had a losing season.

J.C. Thomas: Basketball player 1952-56 with team's combined record of 75-18. Played on three conference championship teams and two that made national championship tournaments. Four-year starter, captains and all-conference. Called by Howard Porter the finest overall player in ECU history.

Bill Hill: Wrestler, 1971-74. Fifth in NCAA's in 1974 and named all-America; only wrestler ever at ECU named all-America. Had 122-15-1 record with four Southern Conference titles and four North Carolina Collegiate championships.

Dick Cherry: Football, 1952-56. One of the finest quarterbacks ever. Three times all-conference, while all-state and honorable mention all-America in 1953. Set school record of four TD passes in a single game and 16 TD passes in single season, both in 1953. At time of induction, both records still stood.

1984 INDUCTEE

Lawrence "Cotton" Clayton: Basketball and baseball 1959-61. During his two years of athletic participation, Clayton was named All-America in both baseball and basketball as well as all-North State Conference and all-district. Perhaps baseball was his top sport. He led the 1961 Pirate team to the NAIA national championship as the team's leading hitter playing both the outfield and third base. Following graduation he played in the Baltimore organization for seven years.

Pirate Sports Medicine

East Carolina University's sports medicine department has earned the reputation of being one of the nation's leaders in the dual capacity of on-the-job experience and classroom training.

Under the direction of Rod Compton, who is entering his 16th season with the Pirates, the ECU program offers the best possible prevention, immediate treatment, and rehabilitation of injuries for its athletes.

Compton, a certified athletic trainer and a member of the National Athletic Trainers Association (NATA) and the American Orthopaedic Society for Sports Medicine, earned degrees from Ohio University and Bowling Green State and served as Editor in Chief of the NATA Journal for more than six years. He also directs the ECU Sports Medicine Conference which is held annually in late April on the East Carolina campus.

Compton is assisted by acting team physician, Dr. James H. McCallum, who is the Director of the ECU Student Health Services Center, and two assistant trainers for the 1985 season, Karen Baker and Greg Beres. Both Baker and Beres are certified athletic trainers by the NATA.

Also assisting in the effort of preventative medicine are 16 excellent community-based professionals who lend valuable time to the program and 30 to 35 undergraduate students majoring in East Carolina's heralded athletic training curriculum.

East Carolina's Sports Medicine Center, located directly behind Ficklen Stadium, is a modern and functional training facility. Contained within its air-conditioned and adequate space are equipment for rehabilitation and immediate treatment, and equipment for preventative development of the body such as isokinetics (Orthotron and Fitron), and isotonics (free-style weights). Also included in the facility are whirlpools, treatment tables, and other modern equipment such as ultrasound for the necessary consistent treatment and care for Pirate athletes.

The "Sports Paramedics," as Compton refers to his staff, are in attendance at every athletic event that involves ECU athletes. Radio communication from the practice field to the center is a must and a sports medicine vehicle provides instant transportation for injured athletes to the center.

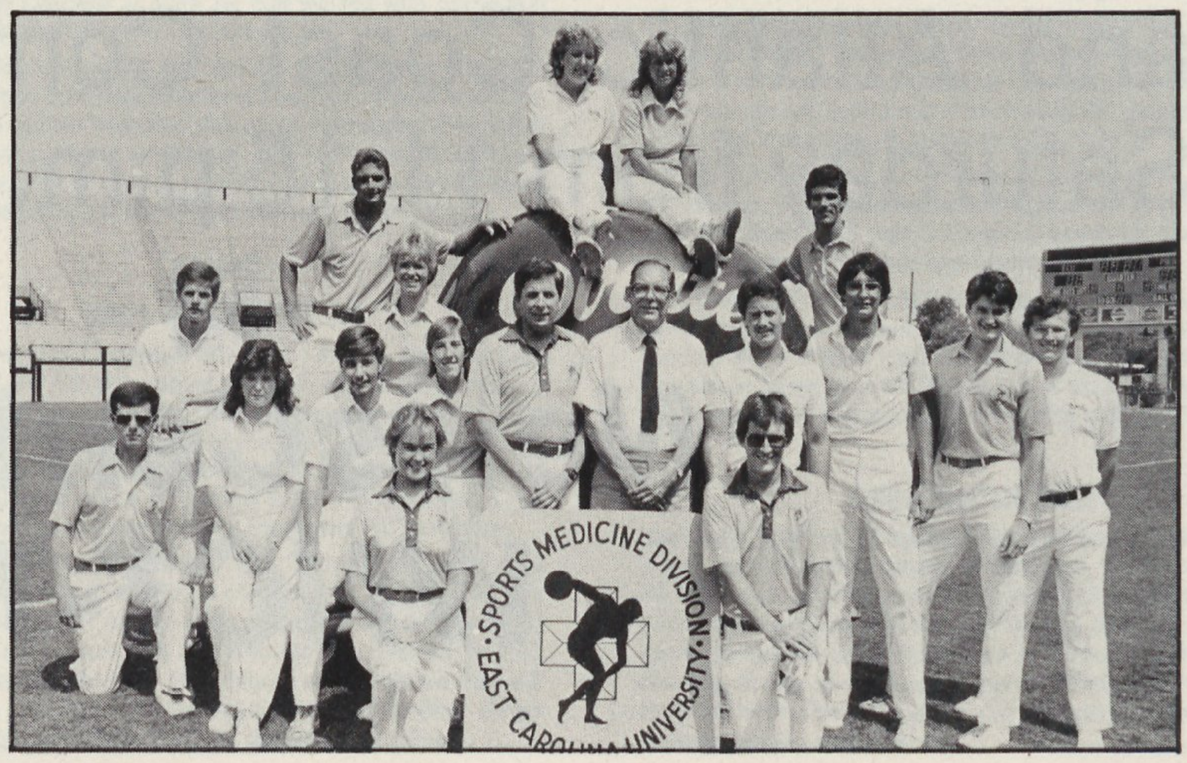

The Sports Medicine Curriculum, a part of the Health, Physical Education, and Recreation Department at East Carolina, is the only undergraduate athletic training program approved by the NATA in eastern North Carolina and one of only three in the state.

A student of the program can receive as much as 2,500 hours of on-field training experience over a four-year span, as well as, the requirements in the classroom to emerge with possibly the most overall experience of any program in the country.

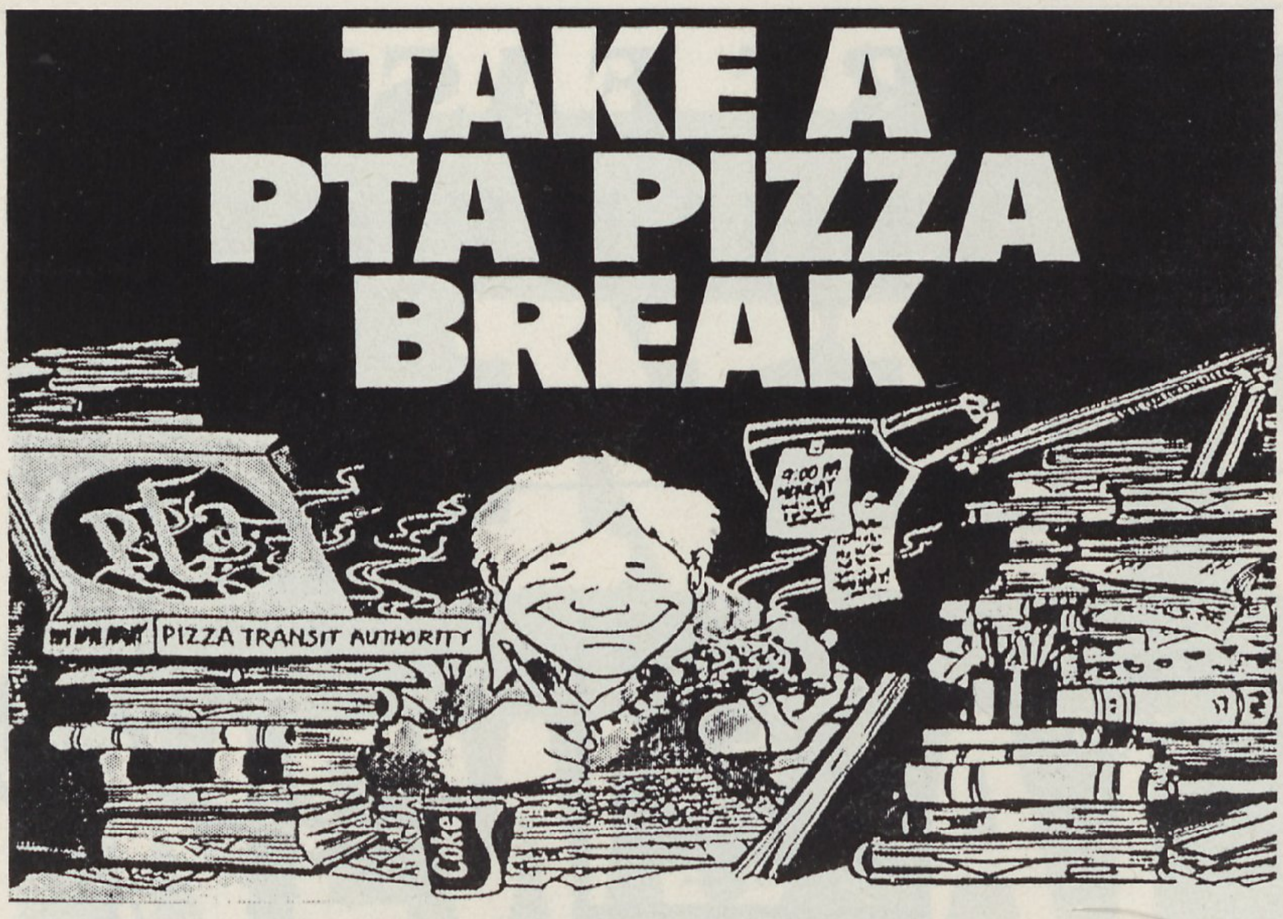

A number of sports medicine graduates have continued to work in the field. They include: Ronnie Barnes (N.Y. Giants); Craig Sink (N.C. State); Byron Schulken (UAB); Keith Luxton (Davidson), Tommy Craig (Toronto Blue Jays organization); Jon Woodworth (Kinston Eagles); Johnny Blake (S. Durham HS); Kirby Patterson (Richmond County HS); Jamie Reed (U.S. Naval Academy); Florence Cottrell (Kansas St.); Karen Rauss (Winthrop College); Jim Keating (Southern Sports Medicine Center in Marietta, GA); Scott Applegate (Miami, OH); Sue Evanko (Georgia); and Tony Sutton (Florida).

"A person interested in becoming an athletic trainer," said Compton, "should have certain basic characteristics, two of which are a strong love of being involved with sports and a strong interest in helping others."

The road becomes a second home for those connected with collegiate athletics, particularly coaches. Indeed, being on the road and traveling thousands of miles each year is a major part of the job.

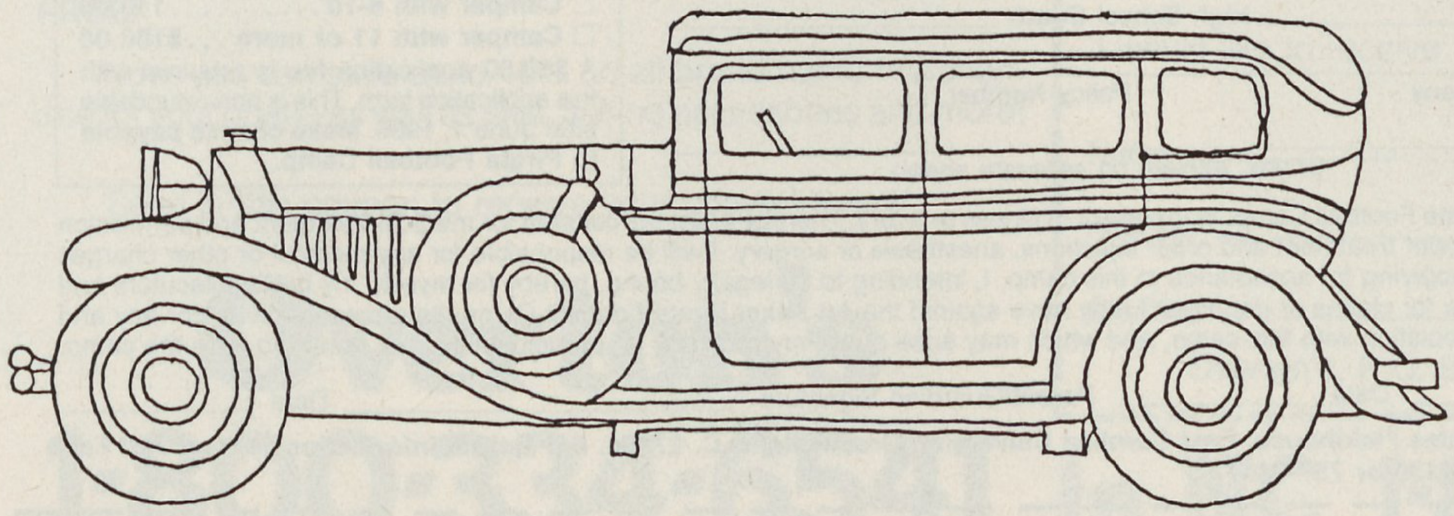

Almost every facet of the job — recruiting, scouting competition, making public appearances, etc. — are activities that keep athletic personnel on the move.

The "wheels" that keep East Carolina's athletic program rolling are a group known as Courtesy Car Dealers, and they play a vital role in allowing the Pirate staff to meet their demands.

Far more than just a fringe benefit, these cars given by the East Carolina Courtesy Car Dealers are necessities for a growing and successful athletic program. Without their support, recruiting could not be done. Competition could not be scouted and public appearances would not be made.

The entire East Carolina staff wishes to thank each dealer providing a car to this fleet of courtesy cars. Each doing so is noted on these two pages.

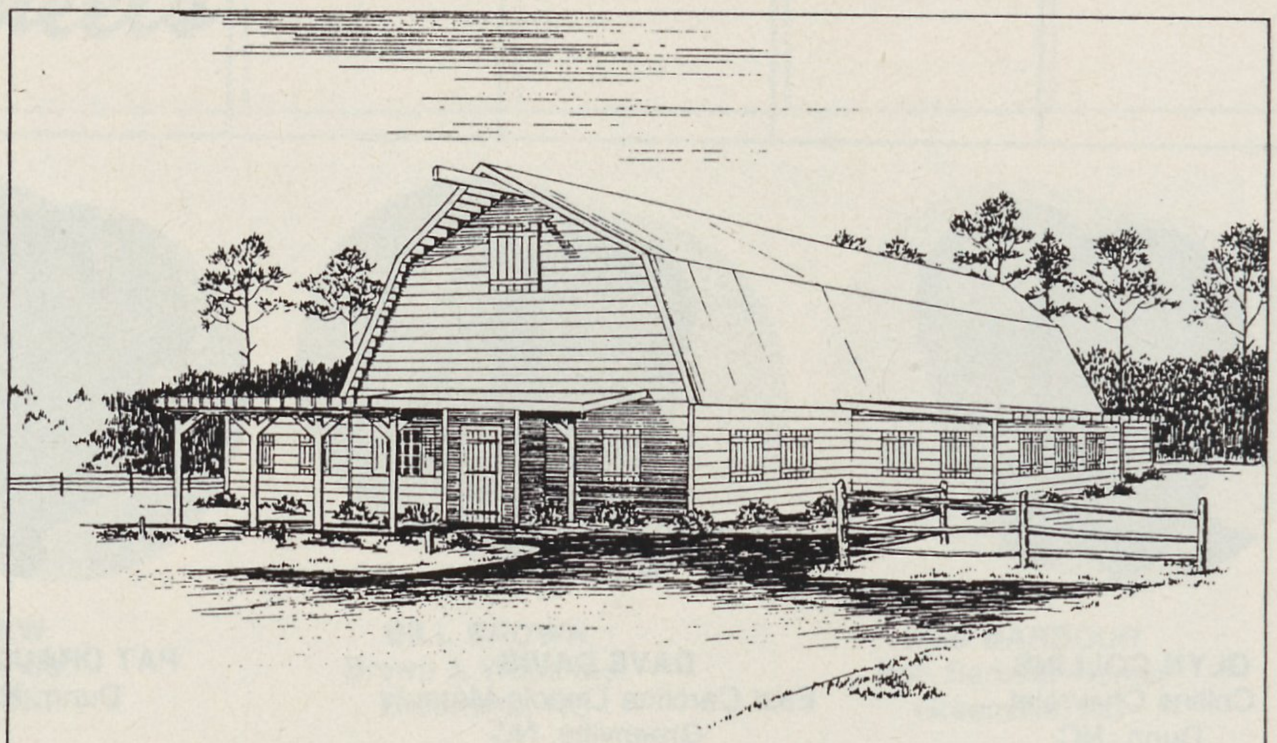

Thanks Courtesy Car Dealers! You keep the wheels of East Carolina athletics rolling.

Four Special Years

By Stuart Gantt

To call Walter Payton the heart of the Chicago Bears is perhaps an understatement. Touted by many experts as the game's premier player, Payton is the NFL's definitive multi-talented superstar. No doubt his absence would leave those Chicago Bears heartless.

South of Chicago in Eastern North Carolina are two individuals who make up a large portion of the heart of the East Carolina Pirate football team. Seniors Tony Baker and Jeff Heath have made their presence known over the past four years. On and off the field these two stalwarts exemplify leadership, loyalty and hard work.

A fleet footed tailback, Tony Baker has been pounding out yards for the Pirate offense for some time now. With 809 yards rushing after nine games this season, Baker needs just 206 yards in the final two games to become East Carolina's all-time leading rusher.

Tony Baker needs just 206 yards to become East Carolina's all-time leading rusher.

If Baker reaches this mark he also will become only the fifth player in ECU history to surpass the 1,000 yard rushing mark in a single season. "I feel great approaching the career rushing leader goal," said Baker. "But it is the type of record you cannot worry about. You just have to take it one game at a time."

A graduate of T. Wingate Andrews High School in High Point, North Carolina, Baker was forced to make a quick transition from prep stardom to major college football. The young running back was cast in the starting role as a freshman after injuries sidelined the Pirate tailback position. Baker responded to what many felt was a difficult situation for a rookie with 827 yards during that first season.

"Everybody thought there was pressure on me because I was a freshman but I did not really feel any," said Baker. "To me it was just getting the opportunity to play college football and I took advantage of it."

No doubt Tony Baker's success as a running back must be attributed to his work habits. At 5-10, 180 Baker is not your average size college tailback. But size, or the lack of it, has never been a problem for Baker — just ask opposing tacklers. No player works harder to become better than does Baker.

ECU Head Coach Art Baker praises Baker for his leadership and hard work adding, "Tony is sometimes his own worst enemy. He tries so hard to get his pads down and get forward, positive yards that sometimes he loses his balance and goes down."

With only two games remaining Baker reflects back on the two wins at North Carolina State as the most satisfying for him. And the one that got away, this year's struggle against number one ranked 9-0 Penn State. "I'd love to have that one back," said Baker.

To look to the future, a professional football career is a realistic goal for an athlete with Baker's talents. He would love to have a chance at playing in the NFL. "I won't feel satisfied unless I have a chance (in the pros)."

"He is an unusually good kicker, perhaps one of the best kickers in the country this year." That from ECU Head Coach Art Baker concerning the Pirates' star placekicker.

Jeff Heath has been booting field goals in the pressure packed role of a college football placekicker for four seasons now. He has helped lead the Pirates to many victories always posing a scoring threat to the opposition.

As a freshman Heath helped lead the Pirates to a 7-4 record connecting on 16 of 23 field goal attempts, amassing a total of 75 points. During that 1982 season the Virginia Beach, Virginia product tied and set several records but that was just a hint of things to come in his, and East Carolina's, future.

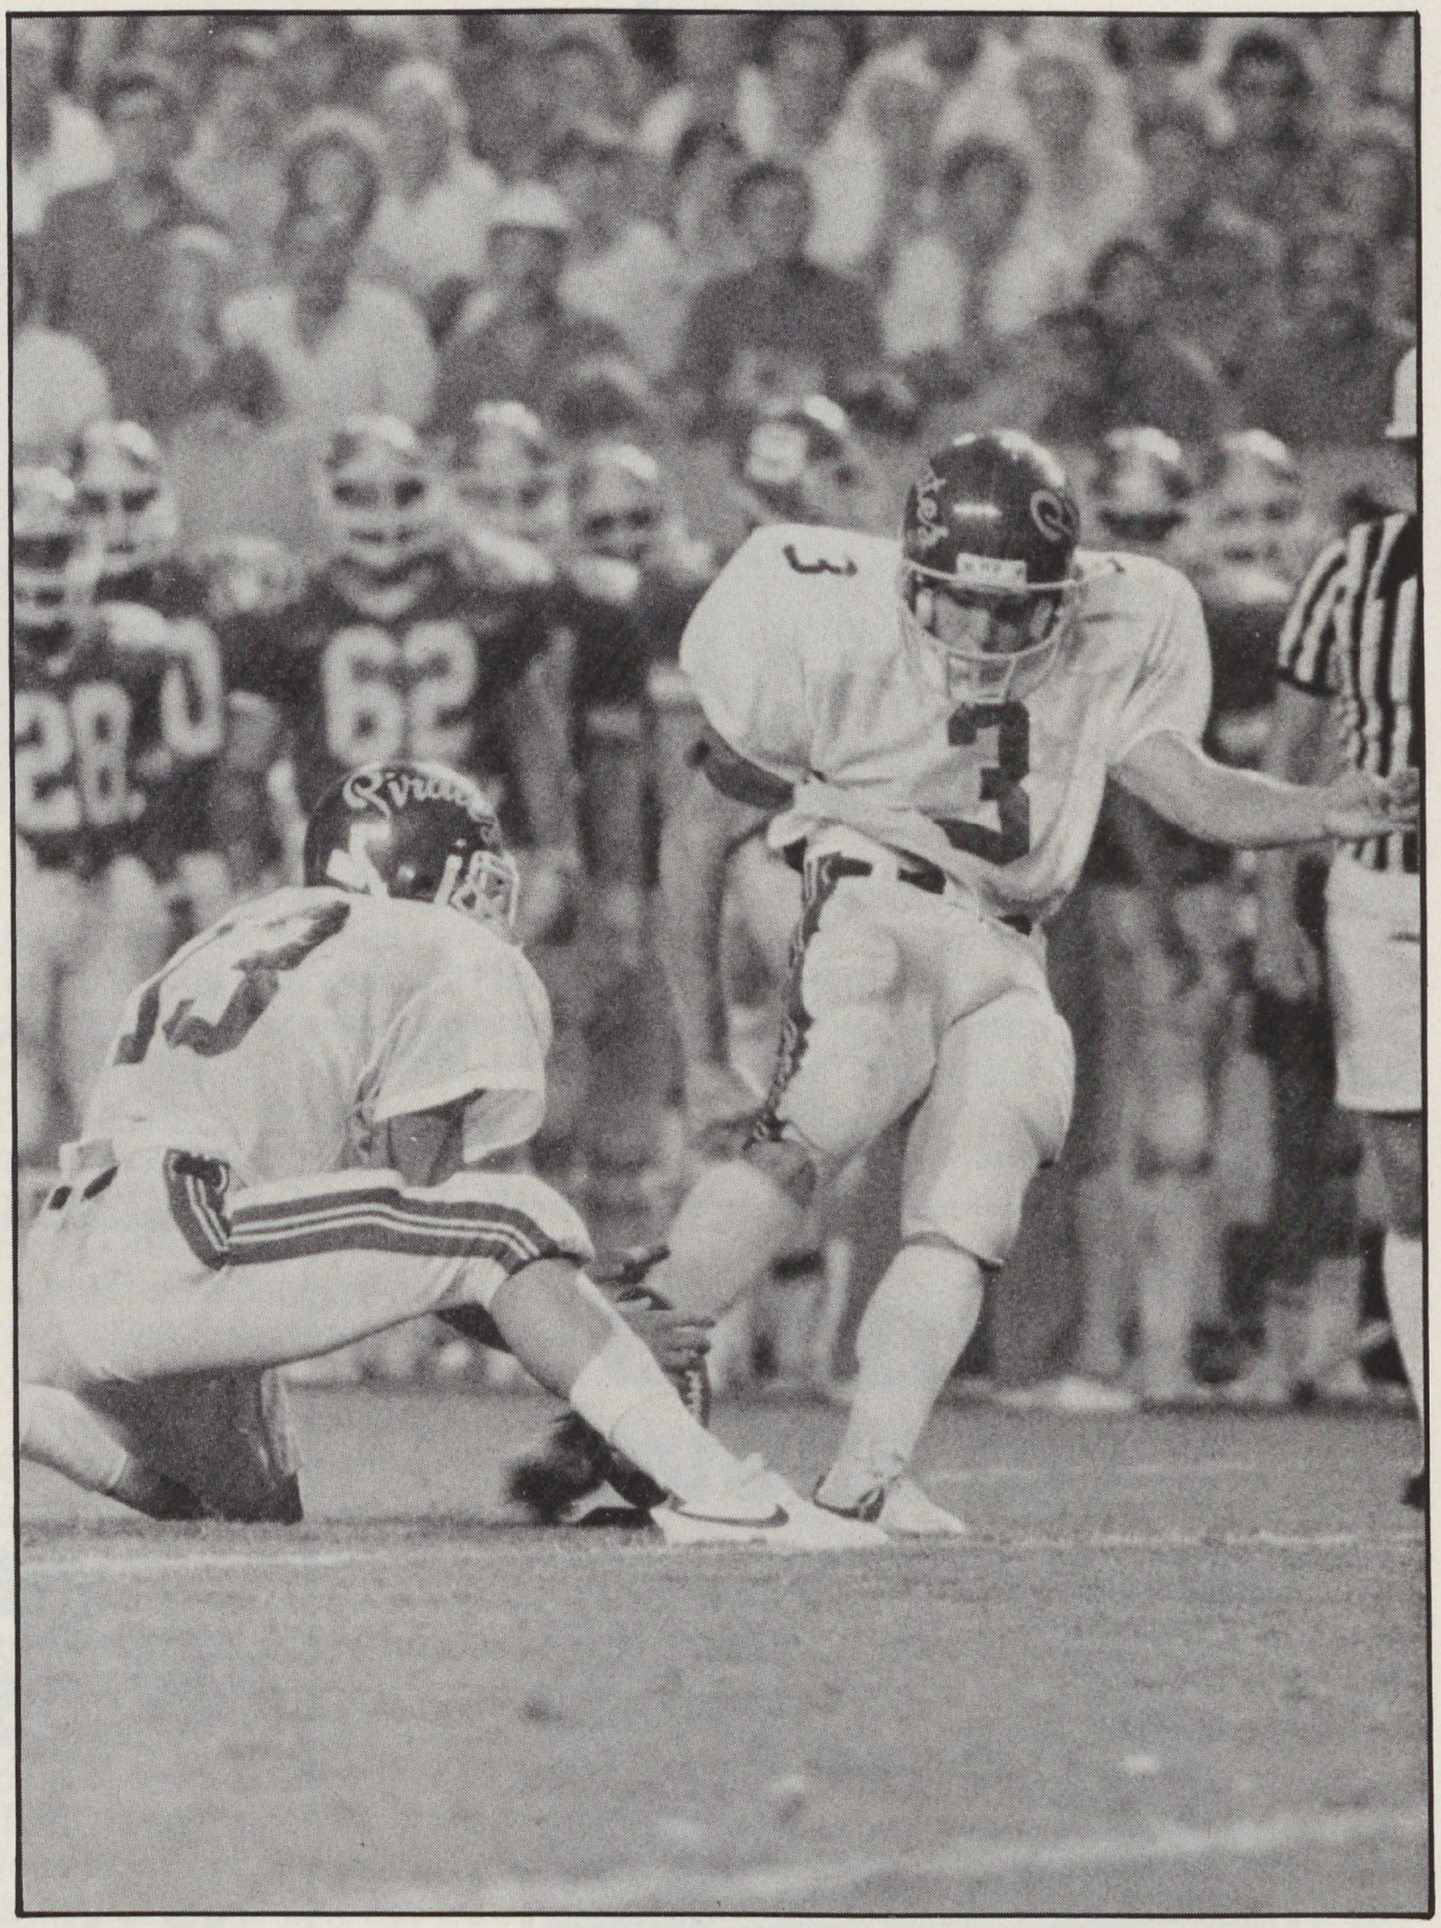

After struggling through a difficult sophomore year, Heath came back determined in 1984. He hit on 13 of 16 field goal attempts and was perfect on all 23 extra point attempts to give him a team leading 62 points and a shot at setting the ECU career scoring record during his senior year.

Just five games into this season, Heath eclipsed Carlester Crumpler's career mark of 222 points with a third quarter field goal against the Miami Hurricanes in front of the ECU home crowd.

"It was a privilege and an honor to finally get a hold of it (the record)," said Heath. "It was a great thrill."

While breaking the record was a tremendous honor, Heath remains a team player seeking a team victory first and foremost. He pointed to the 33-14 victory over NC State this year along with a 1983 besting of Big Eight foe Missouri as two of his biggest career thrills.

Unlike any other position on a football field, the role of a placekicker is unique. It is especially difficult to enter as a freshman, as Heath did, and experience the ups and downs associated with being the kicker. But the adjustment was made easier for Heath through the help of the late Jack Boone. A former head coach of the Pirates from 1952-61, Boone tutored Heath during the 1982-83 seasons as the Pirates' special teams coach. "Coach Boone helped me a lot and he was a great man," said Heath.

Jeff Heath is now ECU's all-time leading scorer.

When asked what he would most remember about East Carolina, Heath was quick to mention the people of Greenville and ECU. "I've met a tremendous amount of down to earth, all-around good people who have been really friendly and sincere," said Heath. "I really appreciate that."

Like Tony Baker, Heath will not be satisfied unless he gets a chance at a spot on a professional team. But with only a limited number of kicking jobs available Heath is prepared for a future without pro ball.

"Jeff is a young man who has his head on straight and he has kept his educational goals in line," said Coach Baker. "He is a great young man and his teammates have great respect for him because he always works hard to improve."

Hard work and desire to excel breed success and the Pirates owe much of their accomplishments over the past four years to this senior class and the leadership of these two athletes. Pirate fans owe a debt of gratitude and much respect to these fine young men who truly epitomize an East Carolina scholar-athlete.

Ficklen Stadium

The James Skinner Ficklen Memorial Stadium was dedicated on September 21, 1963, with East Carolina defeating Wake Forest 20-10.

The dedication game was the culmination of a dream come true for the then East Carolina College and all of eastern North Carolina. The original plan was announced on October 7, 1961, by Dr. Leo Jenkins, Chancellor of the College, at a meeting of the Society of Buccaneers.

Within a year, $283,387 had been raised, although the goal had been only $200,000. With the funds in hand, Ficklen Stadium was built.

The original stadium consisted of the permanent stands on the south side, a small press box and the old lighting system that was removed after the 1974 season. Total cost was $300,000.

The north side permanent seating was constructed in 1968, increasing the stadium seating capacity to 20,000.

The stadium was named for the late James Skinner Ficklen, a Greenville resident, who distinguished himself as one of America's leading tobacconists. At the time of his death in 1955, Ficklen was President and Chairman of the Board of the E.B. Ficklen Tobacco Company of Greenville. He was a close friend of the College and established a financial aid foundation, the Ficklen Foundation, to aid students of the College.

The first major change in Ficklen Stadium was the lighting systems, a change that occurred just before the 1975 season opened. The old inner stadium lights on six poles were removed and replaced with six towers outside the stadium. The system is a combination of metallic and incandescent lighting. There are 288 fixtures of 1500 watts each on six 162-foot towers. Cost of the system was $450,000. Engineers say ECU has the best lighted stadium in the southeast.

A radical change greeted fans as the 1978 season opened. An expansion on all four corners boosted Ficklen's seating capacity from 20,000 to 35,000, the third largest stadium in North Carolina. This expansion was made possible with 2½ million dollars through a drive in the spring of 1977.

In addition to more seats, an ultra-modern press box with three levels and an elevator for access was built. The much needed press box is one of the finest in the country with space for 92 writers and an entire floor for electronic media. Also, a modern scoreboard with a lightbank message center was placed on the east end of Ficklen.

During the summer of 1983, a complete renovation took place on the playing surface. A new drainage system, a new base of gravel and sand, new treated topsoil and a new grass was installed. The new grass, Tifton 419 Hybrid Bermuda, was sprigged at the rate of 600 bushels per acre. The playing field is approximately two acres.

Buccaneer Babes

The Buccaneer Babes began in 1979 as volunteers to assist the football office with the many functions surrounding the Pirate program.

In addition to helping coaches with correspondence to prospective athletes, the Babes serve as hostesses to parents, athletes and visitors of East Carolina football.

The Babes promote Pirate Pride by decorating the locker rooms and preparing "snack bags" before each game. During home games, the Babes welcome recruits and their parents to Pirate Country by answering questions about the team and East Carolina University. The Babes also staff the press box and give visiting media and coaches a taste of true southern hospitality.

The Humble Beginnings Of A $2.1 Billion Crop.

Tobacco provides American farmers with an income of over $2.1 billion a year. It's one of the United States' most valuable money crops.

As a major supplier of U.S. leaf to world markets, A.C. Monk is a vital link between the people who grow the tobacco and the people who buy it.

And we've always tried to work in the best overall interests of both.

But we're especially proud of our working relationship with U.S. growers.

The people who work the tobacco crops, from seedlings all the way to market.

They're the people who keep the tobacco industry going. And we never forget it. MONK

Licensing: A New Source of Income

Seventy-eight years of growth and advancement mark the history of East Carolina University. Following its motto — SERVIRE: TO SERVE — East Carolina has become one of the South's most rapidly developing institutions of higher learning and a major force in college athletics with loyal, active alumni worldwide.

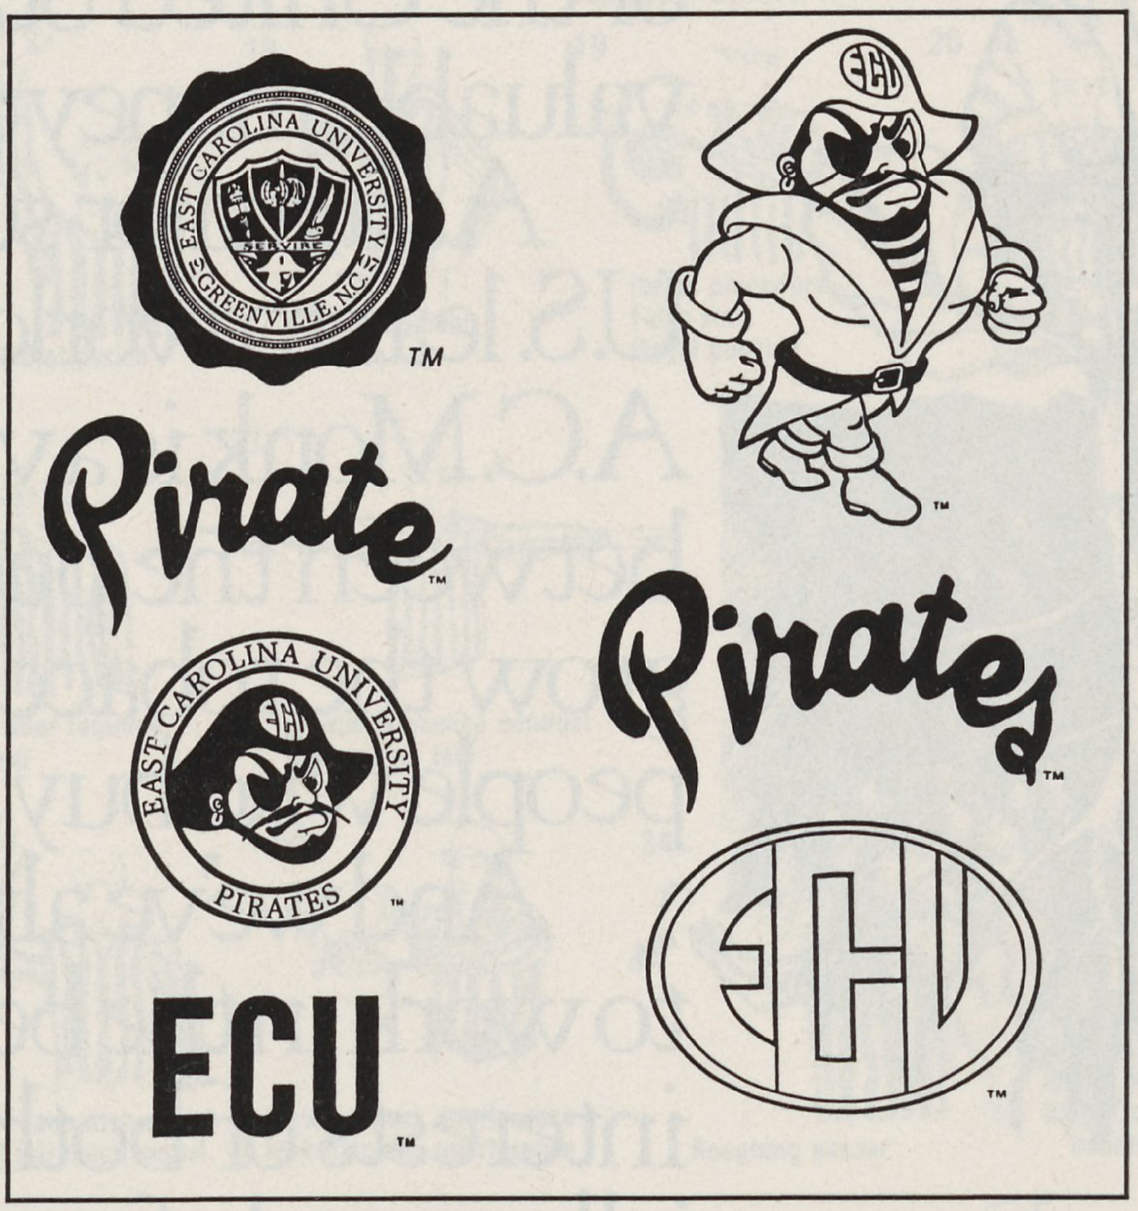

The demand by university students, alumni and friends for products depicting a University trademark, logo or symbol has reached new heights. The number of manufacturers who wish to provide these products also has grown. East Carolina has created a licensing program to ensure that the public properly identify and associate University logos on products bearing the institution's marks.

East Carolina's licensing program is designed to protect the use of the University's name and insignias. To accomplish this, the University has established formal licensing procedures that also will enable the institution to share in the benefits derived from the commercial use of both its name and symbols.

The licensing program also is designed to establish a cooperative relationship with licensees to assist in the further development of a market for "officially licensed products of East Carolina University." In this way the consumer may be attracted to products that support the University. The licensing program promotes a relationship by which both the University and its licensees will benefit.

It has created uniformity in the utilization of logos and has given us another avenue for potential revenue," said Associate Athletic Director Dave Hart, Jr., who oversees the licensing program at ECU. "And every indication I have is that the program is doing well and we are on schedule.

"We considered a five-year plan to get where we wanted to go with the licensing program," Hart added, indicating the program was put into effect with the start of the 1983 football season. "If people want to go out and buy items depicting ECU logos, we would encourage them to purchase licensed products because in that way they are assisting the University in yet another form."

Collegiate Concepts, based in Atlanta, GA, is the licensing agent for East Carolina, Hart said, "and it polices the program for us."

Below are some commonly asked questions and answers that will provide a brief explanation of ECU's licensing program.

What qualifies as a Trademark, Logo or Symbol? A trademark is any mark, word, letters or symbol associated with its owner that can be distinguished from its competitors.

Why have a Licensing Program? In announcing the formation of the licensing program Dr. Ken Karr, director of athletics, said "We felt it was necessary for the protection and enhancement of the University's image to standardize a single logo and establish a formal process for approval for the varied products marketed with East Carolina University symbols."

What happens to any income received? East Carolina University views this program as an alternative source of funding for the University.

Do other universities have licensing programs? Before starting the program, East Carolina did extensive research and found that over 50 major institutions were operating successful licensing programs. Some of these are: UCLA, USC, Texas, Ohio State, Georgia, Florida, North Carolina State, LSU, Michigan and North Carolina.

What are examples of ECU Trademarks? ECU trademarks may be any artwork or logographic work relating to the presentation of the following: East Carolina University, East Carolina, ECU Pirates, the "Strutting Pirate," the athletic seal, the official University seal and any other design, symbol, art, seal, word or groups of words that have come to be associated with the University.

What kind of products may be licensed? Any product will be considered by the University, however, no product will be licensed by ECU until it has been approved by the University's Licensing Program Approval Committee.

What happens if a trademark is used without a license? It is in the best interest of the University to legally protect its marks and the image of the institution through this program.

Students Supporting Student/Athletes

The Student Athletic Board (SAB) works closely with the University and its athletic programs for the purpose of evoking awareness and Pirate Pride for East Carolina University. The SAB has provided valuable services to ECU and the Greenville community through assisting in such projects as Special Olympics, Senior Games, The Great Pirate Purple-Gold Pigskin Pigout Party, and game day activities for various athletic teams. Membership in the SAB is open to all students. The SAB is currently conducting a membership drive and is always open to ideas concerning projects to take on in 1985/86.

For more information concerning the SAB call 757-6491.
