A SERIOUS WORD ON BREWING FROM THE FUNNIEST BEER IN AMERICA.

The cast of characters who have helped make Miller Lite famous has brought America a lot of laughs. But the beer that stands behind them happens to be one of the most serious creations in the history of brewing.

After all, the very idea of Lite was once considered an impossibility: a truly full-flavored beer that was significantly lower in calories than regular beer.

AMERICA'S FAVORITE LIGHT BEER

Today Miller Lite is far and away the largest-selling light beer in America and the nation's second largest-selling beer of any kind.

This remarkable performance took a lot more than a good sense of humor. The brewing process that gives Lite its superior taste uses no fewer than 128 quality checks along the way to the bottle.

MORE HOPS, MORE FLAVOR

Lite's flavor is achieved by using two kinds of hops instead of just one for more hop flavor than most other light beers.
Then the flavor is meticulously balanced to a perfectly mellow, well-rounded pilsner beer containing no additives or preservatives.

The only way to achieve this much character in any beer is quality brewing every step of the way. To achieve it consistently in a beer with only 96 calories is a long way from funny. It's unprecedented.

THERE'S ONLY ONE LITE BEER. MILLER LITE.

GAMEDAY:

7th-Ranked Mountaineers Visit Ficklen For Homecoming '88

Welcome to Ficklen Stadium as East Carolina entertains seventh-ranked West Virginia this afternoon in the Pirates' 1988 Homecoming game.

East Carolina, 1-4, lost to unbeaten Southwestern Louisiana 48-36 last Saturday. The Pirates led 27-17 with 4:22 remaining in the first half and 27-24 at intermission. The Ragin' Cajuns battled back in the second half and took the lead for good at 31-27 in the third quarter on a one-yard run by Brian Mitchell.

ECU pulled to within 31-30 when Robb Imperato hit a 37-yard field goal, but that was as close as the Pirates would get. With 2:55 remaining, quarterback Charlie Libretto hit Walter Wilson with a nine-yard touchdown toss to close the gap to 41-36. The two-point conversion failed, however, and an on-side kick attempt backfired to close the door on the Pirates.

Libretto, ECU's junior quarterback, ran for three touchdowns and passed for another as the Pirate offense continued to rack up points last week. ECU has scored more than 35 points now in two consecutive games for the first time since 1980. In USL's three previous games, the Ragin' Cajun defense had given up only a combined 33 points before yielding 36 to the Pirates.

"We knew from the beginning of the Southwestern Louisiana contest that it was going to be a wild game," ECU head coach Art Baker said. "Except for a couple of breakdowns in the third quarter, I thought our offense did a great job.

"We will be facing a real challenge today in West Virginia. They are one of the top teams in the nation and we will need to give our best performance of the year."

West Virginia, 5-0 and off to its best start since 1983, overcame six turnovers last week for a 22-10 victory at Virginia Tech.

The Mountaineers are loaded with talent. Tailback Anthony Brown has put together back-to-back 100-yard rushing performances against Pittsburgh (110 yards) and Virginia Tech (191). Averaging 104.8 yards rushing per game, Brown is the nation's 17th leading rusher. Junior quarterback Major Harris completed 12 of 22 passes last week for 205 yards and is considered one of the top signal callers in the country.

Harris is featured this week as one of 10 Heisman Trophy candidates in the Sporting News. A recent feature story on Harris can be found on page 57 in today's game program.

Harris is the leader of a potent Mountaineer offense. WVU, in the most recent NCAA statistics, is ranked fourth in the nation in scoring offense (43 points per game), fourth in rushing (302.8 yards per game) and eighth in total offense (487 yards per game).

The Mountaineer defense has held its opponents to just 236 yards per game. Linebacker Renaldo Turnbull has 32 solo tackles this season including five quarterback sacks.

Neither a severely bruised foot nor the Ragin' Cajuns could stop a determined Tim James on this 22-yard touchdown run.

WVU has played in front of an average crowd of 54,822 this season, and is expected to bring a large following to Ficklen Stadium today.

The Pirates look to get back on the winning track today after four consecutive losses following their season-opening win against Tennessee Tech.

West Virginia handed ECU its most lopsided defeat last year in Morgantown, WV, when the Mountaineers rolled to a 49-0 win. WVU has won all six meetings between the two schools including a 24-21 victory here at Ficklen Stadium in 1986.

West Virginia is one of four consecutive teams on the Pirate schedule that played in a bowl game last year and are nationally ranked this season. The Mountaineers lost 35-33 to Oklahoma State in the John Hancock Sun Bowl. Florida State (Fiesta), Syracuse (Sugar) and Miami (Orange) are ECU's next three opponents and all played in New Year's Day bowl games.

"I am proud of the way our players have responded to last week's loss," Baker said. "They have practiced well this week and with a good attitude. They know that a good performance against a team like West Virginia could turn this season around."

Today's game is being televised on a tape-delayed basis by the Mountaineer Sports Network. Pirate fans can see the broadcast Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. on Home Team Sports. Next week ECU will travel to Tallahassee, Fl., for an afternoon game with Florida State. West Virginia will take next Saturday off.

Chancellor Dr. Richard Eakin

EAKIN

Dr. Richard R. Eakin became ECU's ninth chief executive officer on March 1, 1987, succeeding the retiring Chancellor John M. Howell.

Eakin, a New Castle, Pennsylvania, native, was previously vice president for planning and budgeting at Bowling Green State University, Ohio. He had been at Bowling Green since 1964, first as an assistant, then associate, professor of mathematics and statistics, before serving in a succession of administrative positions. He became a Bowling Green vice president in 1983.

Joining Eakin in Greenville is his wife, the former Jo Ann McGeehan. The couple are the parents of two children, Matthew, 22, and Maridy, 20.

The new chancellor is an alumnus of Geneva College, where he received his BA degree in mathematics and physics "summa cum laude" in 1960. He held three four-year scholarships at Geneva, including a Wolves Club academic scholarship and a basketball scholarship. He received M.A. and Ph.D. degrees in mathematics from Washington State.

Dr. Eakin has participated in the Institute for Educational Management at Harvard University and in an institute for student personnel officers sponsored by the American Council on Education. He has delivered papers at major national gatherings of education administrators and served on various committees for the Ohio Board of Regents.

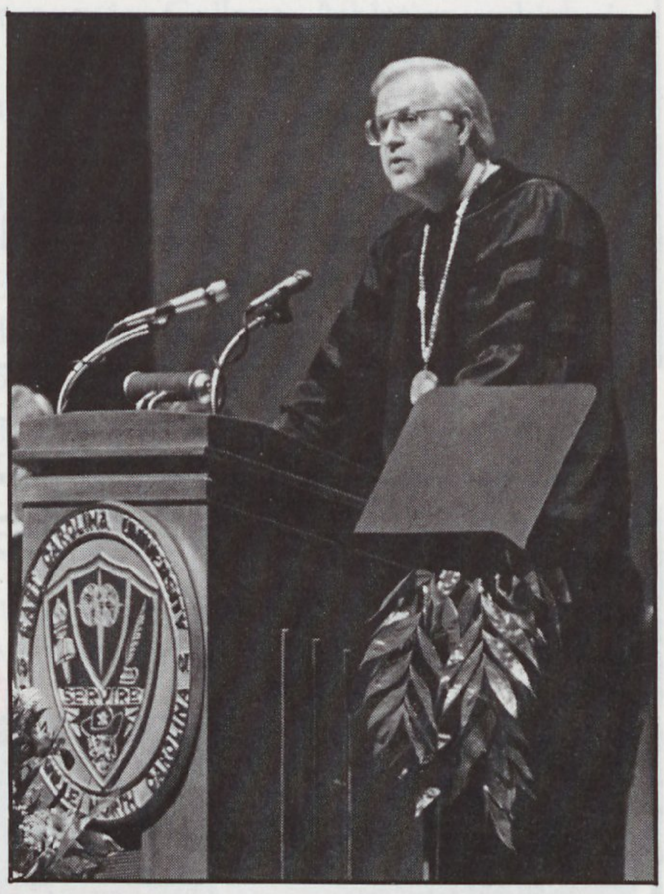

His community service has included a term as chairman of the board of directors and vice president for administration and finance for the National Hemophilia Foundation. In addition, he has been active in the Presbyterian Church as a deacon and elder and is a former chairman of the Wood County, Ohio Community Mental Health Board.

Chancellor Eakin is a 1960 graduate of Geneva College, earning his BA degree in mathematics and physics, graduating "summa cum laude."

Eakin's appointment to the ECU chancellorship was the culmination of a nationwide search conducted by a committee of trustees, faculty and student leaders, and recommendation by UNC system President C.D. Spangler, Jr. A total of 125 candidates were considered for the position.

Director of Athletics Dave Hart, Jr.

HART

Director of Athletics:

Administrator, coach, community leader, family man. Energetic, enthusiastic, compassionate, vibrant, innovative, personable.

All apply to Dave Hart before and since his arrival at East Carolina.

Hart became only the fifth athletic director to serve East Carolina on Dec. 21, 1987. He followed Dr. Ken Karr, who resigned after leading the Pirate athletic program since 1980.

Hart first joined the ECU athletic department in 1983 as an assistant athletic director for marketing. It was the first time that ECU had ever employed a full-time staff member for marketing, and it immediately brought dividends.

ECU's marketing program gained national attention for the rapid growth in crowd participation through tailgating and other promotional efforts. Hart was also responsible for implementing the "Great Pirate Purple-Gold Pigskin Pig-Out Party," which is a weekend extravaganza surrounding the spring football game.

Additionally, attendance at home football games increased greatly as evidenced by the fact that nine of the top 12 crowds in Ficklen Stadium history have entered the turnstiles since the 1983 season. Promotional ventures such as the "Ain't It Great To Tailgate" idea have added to the atmosphere at Pirate home games.

Hart was named associate director of athletics for external relations and executive director of the Pirate Club in 1985. His expanded duties included the raising of funds for athletic scholarships through the Pirate Club, as well as overseeing all external areas of the athletic department.

During his first two years in that position, the Pirate Club experienced record-setting growth as it surpassed the coveted $1 million mark in contributions for the first time ever. The 1987 campaign saw another record performance under his direction as the Club exceeded the $1.2 million level.

Hart has become a popular speaker at the national level and has authored articles for a number of national publications in the areas of marketing, promotions and fund-raising. He has made numerous speaking presentations at NCAA conventions and seminars, and during the past four NACDA (National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics) conventions, has served as an instructor at the Management Institute.

"Dave has an exceptional understanding of all aspects of athletic administration ... and possesses the leadership qualities necessary to continue to develop our athletic program and move it to new levels of achievement."

—ECU Chancellor Dr. Richard Eakin

Upon the announcement of his new appointment as athletic director, ECU Chancellor Richard Eakin made these remarks in introducing Hart.

"Dave has served the University with distinction since April 1983," Dr. Eakin said. "He has successfully led private fund-raising efforts to record levels with gift income in excess of $1 million and donor participation exceeding 4,300.

"Dave has an exceptional understanding of all aspects of athletic administration, has a strong commitment to excellence and integrity throughout the men's and women's programs, and possesses, in my judgement, the leadership qualities necessary to continue to develop our athletic program and move it to new levels of achievement."

Just one month into his new position, Hart was appointed to the NCAA's prestigious Committee on Integrity and Image in College Athletics, which is chaired by Georgia Tech director of athletics Homer Rice.

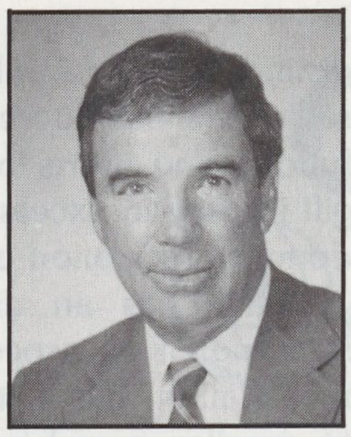

Hart received his undergraduate and graduate degrees from the University of Alabama, earning a B.S. in English/Speech in 1971 and a master's degree in 1972. He attended Alabama on a basketball scholarship and was a graduate assistant coach for the Crimson Tide program in 1972.

He is married to the former Pam Humble of Tuscaloosa, AL and they have three children—Ricky (16), Jamie Michelle (14) and Kelly Ann (11).

The Hart family: Kelly, Dave, Pam, Ricky, and Jamie.

Head Coach Art Baker

BAKER

Art Baker, one of the most respected coaches on the collegiate level, begins his fourth season as head coach of the East Carolina University program.

Baker became the Pirate head coach prior to the 1985 season as he came to ECU after serving as assistant head coach at Florida State during the 1984 season. Prior to his tenure with the Seminoles, Baker was the associate head coach here at ECU during the Pirates' fine 8-3 campaign in 1983.

Following two 2-9 seasons in 1985 and 1986 that saw the Pirates take on some of the toughest competition in the nation, Baker and his staff began to turn the corner last season as ECU posted a 5-6 record. That feat was made more impressive by the fact that the Pirates faced the nation's number one (Miami), two (Florida State), and 15th-ranked (South Carolina) teams.

ECU has faced the past two national champions (the Pirates played Penn State in 1986) and Baker's teams have competed against two Heisman Trophy winners (Auburn's Bo Jackson and Miami's Vinny Testaverde) in his first three seasons at the Pirate helm.

With 27 years of intercollegiate coaching experience, Baker owns a career head coaching record of 66-72-5 in 13 years. Stops include Southern Conference entries Furman (1973-77) and The Citadel (1978-82) prior to ECU. Baker left both Furman and The Citadel with a winning record during his tenure.

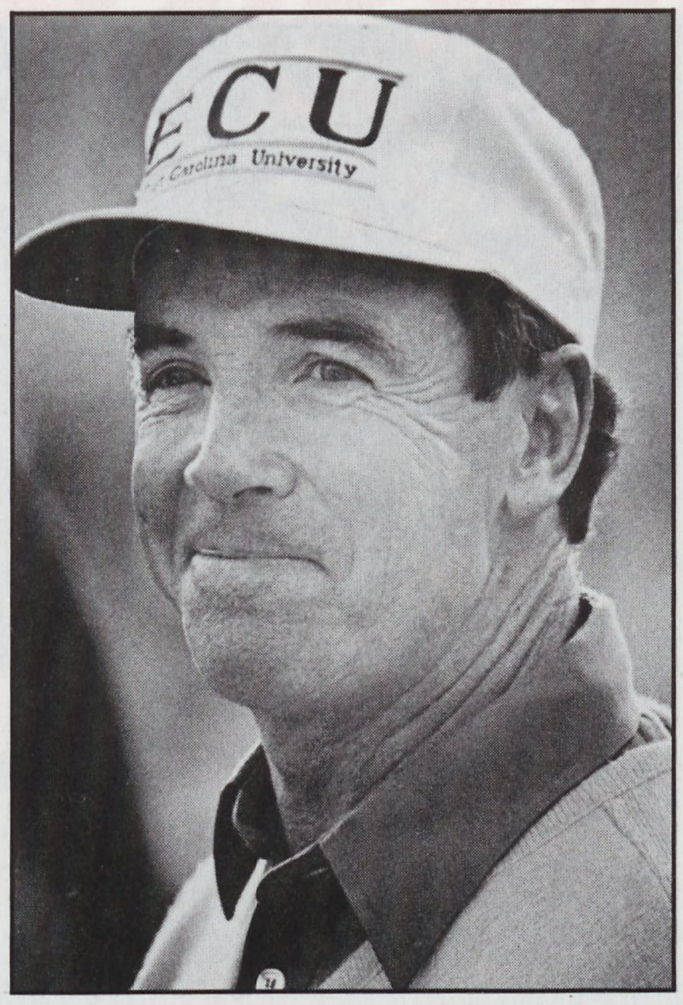

The Sumter, SC, native is considered one of college football's top offensive minds. He spent 1984 directing Florida State's high-powered offense as he was responsible for play calling and tutoring FSU's quarterbacks. He also was directly responsible for revitalizing the Seminole running game as FSU averaged 274.6 yards a game on the ground, the fifth best average in the nation and the highest in Florida State history.

It was the option under Baker in 1983 that helped lead ECU to one of its finest seasons ever. The Pirates' "Freeze Option" offense, with Baker calling the plays, ranked 16th in the nation in rushing offense (239.4 yards per game).

Before coming to ECU, Baker coached The Citadel in Charleston, SC, for five seasons, compiling a 30-24-1 mark for a .555 winning percentage, second best in the school's history. At Furman, where Baker was head coach from 1973-77, he guided the Paladins to a 27-24-4 record and shared Southern Conference Coach of the Year honors during the 1973 season. That season also saw Baker named Churchman's Coach of the Year.

The 1953 graduate of Presbyterian College (Clinton, SC) began his coaching career in the South Carolina high school ranks as he was head coach at Eastern McColl (two years), Newberry (two years) and North Columbia's Eau Claire (six years), compiling an impressive 62-37-8 record.

In 1965 Baker went to Clemson to become the head freshman coach. That season saw Clemson's freshmen post a 4-0-1 record and from 1966 through 1969 Baker coached the varsity offensive backfield. In 1970 he moved to Texas Tech of the Southwest Conference as offensive backfield coach, where he remained until becoming head coach at Furman in 1973. The Red Raiders made Sun Bowl appearances twice (1970 and 1972) during Baker's three seasons at the Lubbock, TX school.

Art Baker enters his 14th season of coaching on the Division I level.

Sports Medicine / Physical Education Building

The first major step in East Carolina's continuing efforts to upgrade facilities, the Sports Medicine/Physical Education Building, becomes a reality in the spring of 1989.

The three-story, 82,095-square foot structure is scheduled for completion in late April. The future home of ECU's athletic department, the Sports Medicine/Physical Education Building will provide the two areas with state-of-the-art technology.

"From a facilities standpoint, the new building will take us to another level," ECU director of athletics Dave Hart said. "The building is a very visible illustration of the direction our program is headed.

"While it is a source of pride for the physical education and sports medicine departments, it is a great source of pride for our athletic department."

The injury treatment and rehabilitation center of the sports medicine department will include the latest in technology, making it one of the top sports medicine programs in the country. Among the many features of the new building is a 5,000-square foot strength training center, a state-of-the-art human performance laboratory, bio-mechanics lab, classrooms and men's and women's locker rooms.

The entire coaching staffs for the football and men's and women's basketball teams will be housed on the second floor, while the entire athletic administrative staff will find their offices on the top level.

"The building will be top-notch," ECU director of sports medicine Rod Compton said. "It will put us on the cutting edge of facilities and technology in the country.

"It's a visual demonstration of the close relationship here at ECU between athletics and academics."

The building will be unique in structure. The shortest of six sides of the building will be the front of the facility and face 35,000-seat Ficklen Stadium.

The first floor will connect with Minges Coliseum via a covered walkway. Features of the first floor include:

Football – Offices for the head coach, nine assistant coaches, graduate assistants, a recruiting coordinator and secretaries. Football will also have two storage rooms, a file room, and have access to two mini-auditoriums.

Sports Medicine Training Center – Sophisticated injury treatment, evaluation and rehabilitation equipment will fill the room including touch-control whirlpools, a computerized isokinetic rehabilitation and evaluation machine, exam rooms including one dental chair, and a 7-foot deep whirlpool that will allow an injured athlete to exercise without bearing weight.

Strength Training Center – Will include 5,000-square feet of shiny new chrome and steel, with mirror-lined walls.

Locker Rooms – Both men and women.

Equipment Storage – A spacious area with equipment for 135 football players and more.

Attractions of the second floor include:

Letterman's Lounge – A perfect "recruiting room" that will overlook Ficklen Stadium. Trophy cases, retired jerseys and mementos from Pirate athletes now in the pros will line the room.

Basketball – More offices for each coach, and a meeting room for both the men's and women's staff.

Academic Counseling – Computers and tutors are available to keep the student-athlete ahead in his studies.

Classrooms

Sports Medicine Offices

The top floor will include:

Human Performance Laboratory – A sophisticated lab with the latest in human performance technology.

Biomechanics Lab

Athletic Administrative Staff – Offices will saturate the third floor from the athletic director to the business manager to the sports information director.

When completed, the Sports Medicine/Physical Education Building will be a unique structure, unlike any facility in the country.

"With the athletic department and portions of the physical education department under one roof," said Hart, "the building is a positive illustration of how athletics and academics go hand-in-hand here at East Carolina."

ECU "Big Wheels"

The road becomes a second home for those connected with collegiate athletics. Indeed, being on the road and traveling thousands of miles each year is a major part of the job.

Almost every facet of the job — recruiting, scouting competition, making public appearances, etc. — are activities that keep athletic personnel on the move.

The "wheels" that keep East Carolina's athletic program rolling are a group known as Courtesy Car Dealers, and they play a vital role in allowing the Pirate staff to meet their demands.

Far more than just a fringe benefit, these cars given by the East Carolina Courtesy Car Dealers are necessities for a growing and successful athletic program.

The entire East Carolina staff wishes to thank each dealer providing a car to this fleet of courtesy cars. We hope our fans will look to these fine people for their automotive needs at every opportunity.

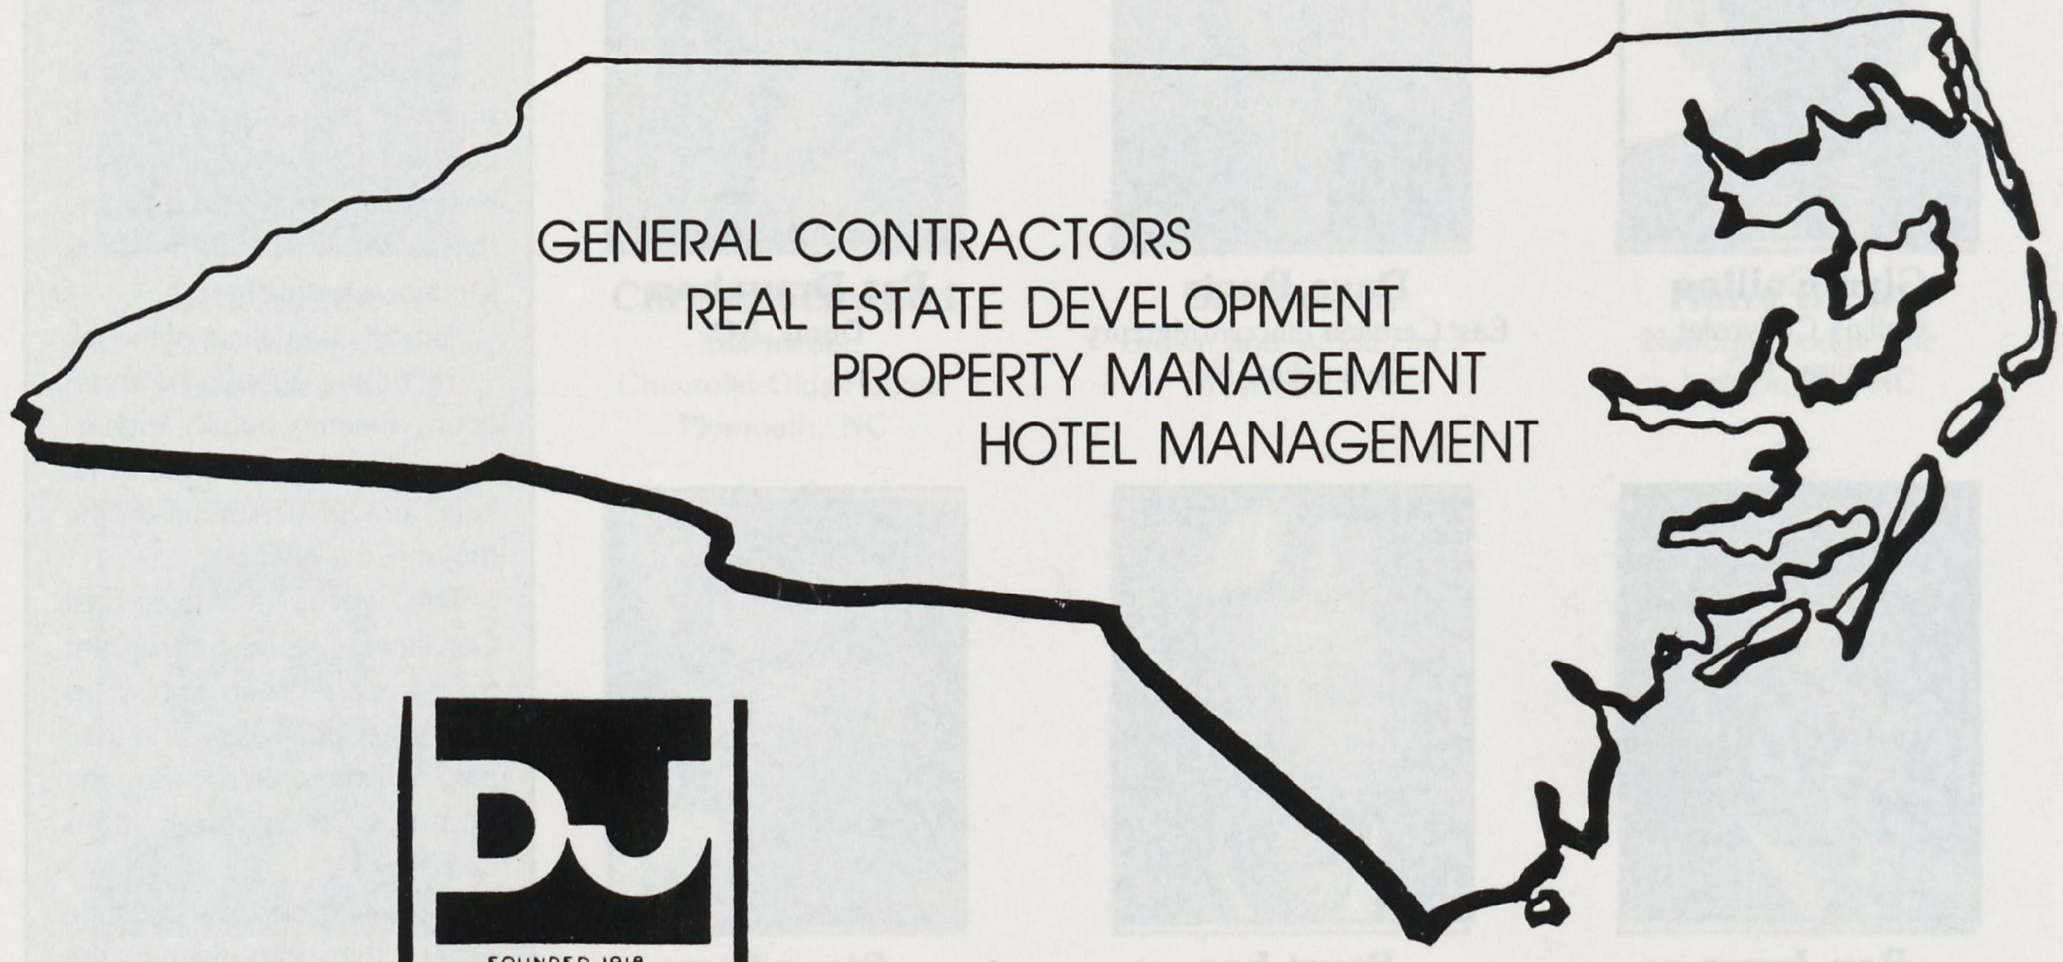

Thanks Courtesy Car Dealers! You keep the wheels of East Carolina athletics rolling.

Thanks also goes to Adam's Auto Wash of Greenville. Adam's helps keep ECU's courtesy cars looking clean.

The Marching Pirates

Nineteen-eighty-eight marks the 50th Anniversary of the Marching Pirates. Founded in 1938, this organization is now recognized as one of the most innovative college bands in the country.

The Marching Pirates have recently produced a recording as part of a fund raising effort to purchase new uniforms. Their first recording (available on disk or cassette tape) includes show music from 1986 and 1987 plus the school songs (including The Star Spangled Banner).

This year the band is again under the field leadership of Drum Major Tod Brewer. Associate Drum Major is Scott Lang of Virginia and Field Commander is John Howard of Greenville. Band Director, Dr. Thomas Goolsby, is assisted this year by Ken Bodiford.

Selections will include the Russian Master, M. Glinka's Overture to Russlan and Ludmilla, Benny Goodman's Sing, Sing, Sing, and Leonard Bernstein's Slava!

The first recording of the Marching Pirates may be purchased in the stadium or by contacting: Institutional Planning and Development, Taylor/ Slaughter Alumni Center, ECU, Greenville, NC 27858.

Here's To The Pirates

by Mitch Doub, Joe Distefano, Tom Goolsby, Phil Marnell

Here's to the Pirates of ECU!
We're going to raise our battle flag high,
We're going to sing it long,
Shout it loud;
And then they'll know
That we are Pirate Proud.
Because the battle's been fought,
And now it's won,
And everybody knows that we're Number One!
Because we're full of Pride,
We've got them bowing to our side,
Here's to ECU!

As we go to the Victory
So let's give 'em a hand
Come on folks, Let's stand!
and show 'em, we're from EC!

Noting The Pirates

It's Homecoming At Ficklen

East Carolina is 22-6 in Homecoming games since 1960. East Carolina has lost just one Homecoming game in the 1980's — 1985 vs. Miami (Fla.), 27-15. West Virginia has never been ECU's Homecoming opponent before.

Lots Of Points At Ficklen

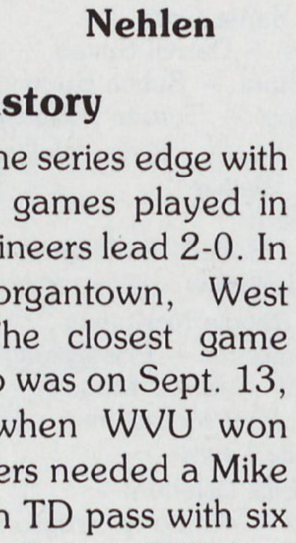

48 points scored by USL is the most scored by an ECU opponent at Ficklen Stadium since 1985 when South Carolina defeated the Pirates, 52-10.

42 points against Southern Miss and 36 against USL mark the first time since 1979-80 that the Pirates have scored over 35 points in two straight games. ECU scored 38 against William & Mary in the 1979 season finale and scored 35 vs. Duke in the 1980 season opener.

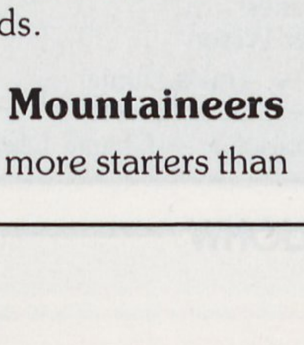

East Carolina scored 36 points against USL. It was more than USL gave up in their first three games combined (33).

Administrative Ties

ECU Chancellor Dr. Richard Eakin and West Virginia head coach Don Nehlen served at Bowling Green State University at the same time. Eakin served in several capacities including Vice President and Executive Vice Provost at BGSU from 1968 until 1987. Nehlen served as head coach at BGSU, his alma mater, from 1968 until 1976.

Series History

West Virginia holds the series edge with East Carolina, 6-0. In games played in Greenville, the Mountaineers lead 2-0. In games played in Morgantown, West Virginia leads 4-0. The closest game played between the two was on Sept. 13, 1986 in Greenville, when WVU won 24-21. The Mountaineers needed a Mike Timko-to-Harvey Smith TD pass with six seconds left to defeat the Pirates. ECU had 438 total offensive yards.

Experience Helps Mountaineers

West Virginia returns more starters than any other ECU opponent this year. The Mountaineers returned nine offensive and eight defensive starters from last year's Sun Bowl squad. The next highest is Syracuse, who returns 15 starters.

In his first start of 1988, Libretto was impressive against the Cajuns.

McKinney Over 1,000 Yard Mark

ECU senior tailback Reggie McKinney, with 29 yards against USL, has now gained 1,028 yards in his four-year career. He has gained that on 185 carries, a 5.6 average. McKinney is also approaching another milestone. He needs 380 yards to break the ECU career kickoff return yardage record set by Anthony Collins (1977-80). Collins has 1,939 career yards while McKinney has 1,560 yards. This year, McKinney is averaging 24.5 yards per kickoff return.

Libretto Leads Pirate Offense

ECU junior quarterback Charlie Libretto, in his first start of the season, completed 11 of 20 passes for 163 yards with an interception and a touchdown. He also had 17 rushing attempts for 59 yards and three touchdowns. Currently, Libretto is seventh on the ECU passing yardage chart with 1,649 yards. Travis Hunter is sixth with 1,951 yards. Libretto is also seventh in career pass completions with 125. Leander Green (1976-79) is sixth with 133 completions.

Jett Gets Off On Right Foot

ECU freshman punter John Jett is improving with every game. For the second straight contest, Jett averaged over 40 yards per kick. Two weeks ago, against Southern Miss., Jett averaged 46.7 yards on three kicks. Against USL, Jett booted three times for a 40.3 average. He has seven punts over 40 yards and has had punts stop inside the opponents 20 yard line seven times.

James Leads ECU Ground Game

ECU senior fullback Tim James, despite playing injured, had eight carries for 49 yards against USL including his first rushing touchdown of the season. James leads ECU with 255 yards on 50 carries, a 5.1 yard per carry average. He has carried for first downs on 16 plays, almost one-third of his total attempts.

Pirates Play Bowl Teams

West Virginia is one of five ECU opponents who went to bowl games last year. The Mountaineers played Oklahoma State in the Sun Bowl. Other ECU opponents this year who went to bowls last year were Miami, Fla. (Orange Bowl vs. Oklahoma), Florida State (Fiesta Bowl vs. Nebraska), Syracuse (Sugar Bowl vs. Auburn) and South Carolina (Gator Bowl vs. LSU).

Happy Birthday

Freshman running back Michael Rhett turns 20 years old on Saturday when the Pirates face West Virginia. Also, Walter Wilson turns 22 on Thursday of this week.

CT&T Scholarship

A full $3,500 athletic scholarship is awarded at each home East Carolina football game by Carolina Telephone and Telegraph for outstanding achievements in academics and contribution by an ECU team member to the Pirate football program.

The award has been given since 1984, but this season marks the second time that CT&T and its president, Wayne Peterson, have contributed the full scholarship amount for each home game, and it is a donation that ECU officials greatly appreciate.

"As the Pirate Club strives to expand its funding base in order to fully fund athletic scholarships and meet future goals for growth, a gesture like this one by Wayne Peterson and CT&T stands out as an illustration of corporate commitment to excellence with regard to our program," said Charlie Carr, ECU's associate director of athletics and executive director of the Pirate Club.

Previous winners include:

1984: Jeff Bolch, Tyrone Johnson, Rich Autry, Norman Quick

1985: Daniel Cole, William Carver, Jeff Heath, Robert Alexander, Robert Washington

1986: William Carver, Mike Donohue, Joe Molineaux, Willie Lewis, Compton McCurry

1987: Tod Creech, Walter Wilson, Mike Applewhite, John O'Driscoll, Ellis Dillahunt

1988: Tod Creech, Compton McCurry, Willie Lewis

R.W. Moore Scholarship

The "King of the Gridiron" scholarship is presented each home football game to the outstanding East Carolina University football player for that particular game as voted on by the media in attendance.

Mr. R.W. Moore of Raleigh, president of R.W. Moore Equipment Company, initiated the scholarship in 1977. This season marks the eleventh consecutive year for the presentations.

The scholarship carries a $1,000 value and is presented in the name of the winning player to the ECU Educational Foundation (Pirate Club). The money is then contributed to the general athletic scholarship fund.

East Carolina University extends its appreciation to Mr. Moore for this outstanding service to the University and the athletic department.

Libretto ran for 3 TDs last week to win the R.W. Moore Scholarship for the second straight week.

Optimism Surrounds ECU Camp; Steele Begins 2nd Season

STEELE

There's a great deal of optimism surrounding the East Carolina basketball program for 1988-89 after the Pirates survived a season with the odds stacked against them during coach Mike Steele's first campaign.

Steele inherited a squad that had only one returning player with any collegiate experience and he was suspended from the team for disciplinary reasons.

That left ECU with a roster of nine players before the season, including only two members who had ever played on the collegiate level and had averaged a combined total of three points. Also, no one on the roster was taller than 6-5.

"My entire coaching staff was taller than anyone on the team," Steele said. "Unfortunately, we also could beat them in some of our shooting drills. I've never heard of a situation on the Division I level like we had last season."

But despite the preseason prognosticators who predicted ECU would be lucky to win a game, the Pirates were sporting a 6-8 record and a 2-1 mark in the Colonial Athletic Association in early January.

"We were playing American in a home league game and had a free throw to win it with no time left on the clock," Steele said. "But we missed the free throw and lost in overtime and never got a break the rest of the season."

"We just didn't have anyone who could take control of a game in the final minutes because no one had ever been in any of the situations before," Steele said. "This season, a lot of that could change as we are older and wiser."

And they have Blue Edwards back.

Edwards was the Pirates' second leading scorer two years ago as a junior college transfer and was generally expected to be an all-conference selection for his senior season. But he was suspended from the team last year and returns after a year of watching from the sidelines.

The return of Edwards alone gives Steele the player he needs when the game is on the line, but ECU also added five newcomers during this past recruiting season to fill more needs. The Pirates also return a group that gained a great deal of character last winter.

"Players like Gus Hill, Reed Lose, Stanley Love and Kenny Murphy — actually all the guys on last year's roster — were forced to play before they were ready and most of them were playing out of position," Steele said. "They gave us tremendous effort and laid the groundwork for the kind of program we want to have here."

Hill emerged last season to earn first-team all-conference honors and rookie of the year honors in the Colonial after missing two full seasons following knee surgery. The 6-3 Fairfax, VA native averaged 19.3 points and 5.5 rebounds to lead the Pirates before breaking his foot near the end of the season.

Lose had played sparingly as a freshman and suddenly was thrust into the role of scoring threat as a sophomore. He responded admirably, scoring 15 points per game and averaged just over 38 minutes playing time each outing.

> "This season a lot (of that) could change as we are older and wiser."
> —Head Coach Mike Steele

Love started all 28 games last season as a 6-5 freshman center despite playing mostly forward and guard in high school. Murphy was ECU's third-leading scorer at 8.5 ppg as a walk-on. He was a member of an intramural championship team the year before.

The Pirates also return their top two point guards this season in senior Jeff Kelly and sophomore Jimmy Hinton.

The freshmen include shooting guards Jay Scherer, the 6A player of the year in the state of Alabama, and Jeff Perlich, the second leading scorer in the state of Indiana last season. Forward Casey Mote joins the Pirate frontline as a fine 6-7 shooter and 6-9, 230-pound Brooks Bryant could work into the lineup right away as center for the Pirates.

The JUCO transfer is Kevin Staples, a 6-5 swing forward from Southern J.C. in Birmingham, AL.

Gus Hill was an all-rookie choice last year.

Pierson Welcomes Six Newcomers, Expects Improvement

Six talented newcomers join four returning starters, giving East Carolina head coach Pat Pierson depth, balance and a reason to be optimistic as the Lady Pirates enter the 1988-89 season.

Assistant Coach

Perimeter shooting — or the lack of it — ultimately sent ECU to a disappointing 8-20 record a year ago. With the addition of five promising freshmen and one transfer, Pierson hopes her second ECU team has all its weaknesses in check.

"During the off-season we looked to improve on our outside shooting, rebounding and quickness," said Pierson, who enters her second year at ECU and 11th overall. "We were pleased with the group we signed. All could make an impact this year.

"We also return six players who will only improve after a year of learning my system under their belts."

Among the returning starters is 6-2 senior center Gretta O'Neal Savage, who is the leading returning scorer (10.7 per game) and rebounder (5.6 rpg.) on the team. Savage could be a candidate for the all-Colonial Athletic Association team.

Also back are senior wings Chris O'Connor (7.3 ppg.) and Pam Williams (5.6 ppg.), who last year teamed to form ECU's only three-point shot threats. At the point, 5-3 junior speedster Irish Hamilton (4.2 ppg., 3.6 assists) will battle newcomers to keep her starting assignment.

The frontcourt appears solid. Joining Savage up front will be either 6-2 senior Rose Miller, 6-1 sophomore Sarah Gray, who was red-shirted last season, or 6-1 Kim DuPree, who transferred in mid-season last year from North Carolina Central and will become eligible in December.

Senior center Gretta O'Neal Savage will help solidify ECU's frontcourt.

Six-foot-two Sandra Grace gives the Lady Pirates five players over the 6-foot mark.

The tallest of the newcomers is 5-foot-11 Kathy Allison, a Fayetteville Westover High product who could help solve some of ECU's rebounding woes this year.

"No starting job is guaranteed," Pierson said. "That will make pre-season practice a little more intense this year."

The most talented of the newcomers may be 5-9 Tonya Hargrove, who can play the big guard or either forward position. Hargrove was the Raleigh-area 4A player of the year last season.

Beefing up the perimeter shooting will be Mechelle Jones and Laura Crowder, a pair of 5-5 bookend guards from the same backcourt at Colonial Heights (Va.) High School. Both are heralded shooters and capable of running the fast break.

Toina Coley, a 5-7 wing player from nearby Goldsboro High School, can play any number of positions.

Gone from last year's team is forward Alma Bethea, who averaged 13.4 points and 8.7 rebounds per contest a year ago. While Bethea's absence will create a scoring void, the frontcourt appears to be the strength of this year's team.

DuPree led North Carolina Central in scoring and rebounding before transferring, and Gray was a member of the CAA all-rookie team two years ago. Savage, a southpaw, has a soft touch in the lane and shot nearly 49 percent from the field last season.

Hamilton and Williams overcame knee surgery to play last season, and O'Connor played well in the latter part of 1988 scoring in double figures seven out of ECU's last eight games.

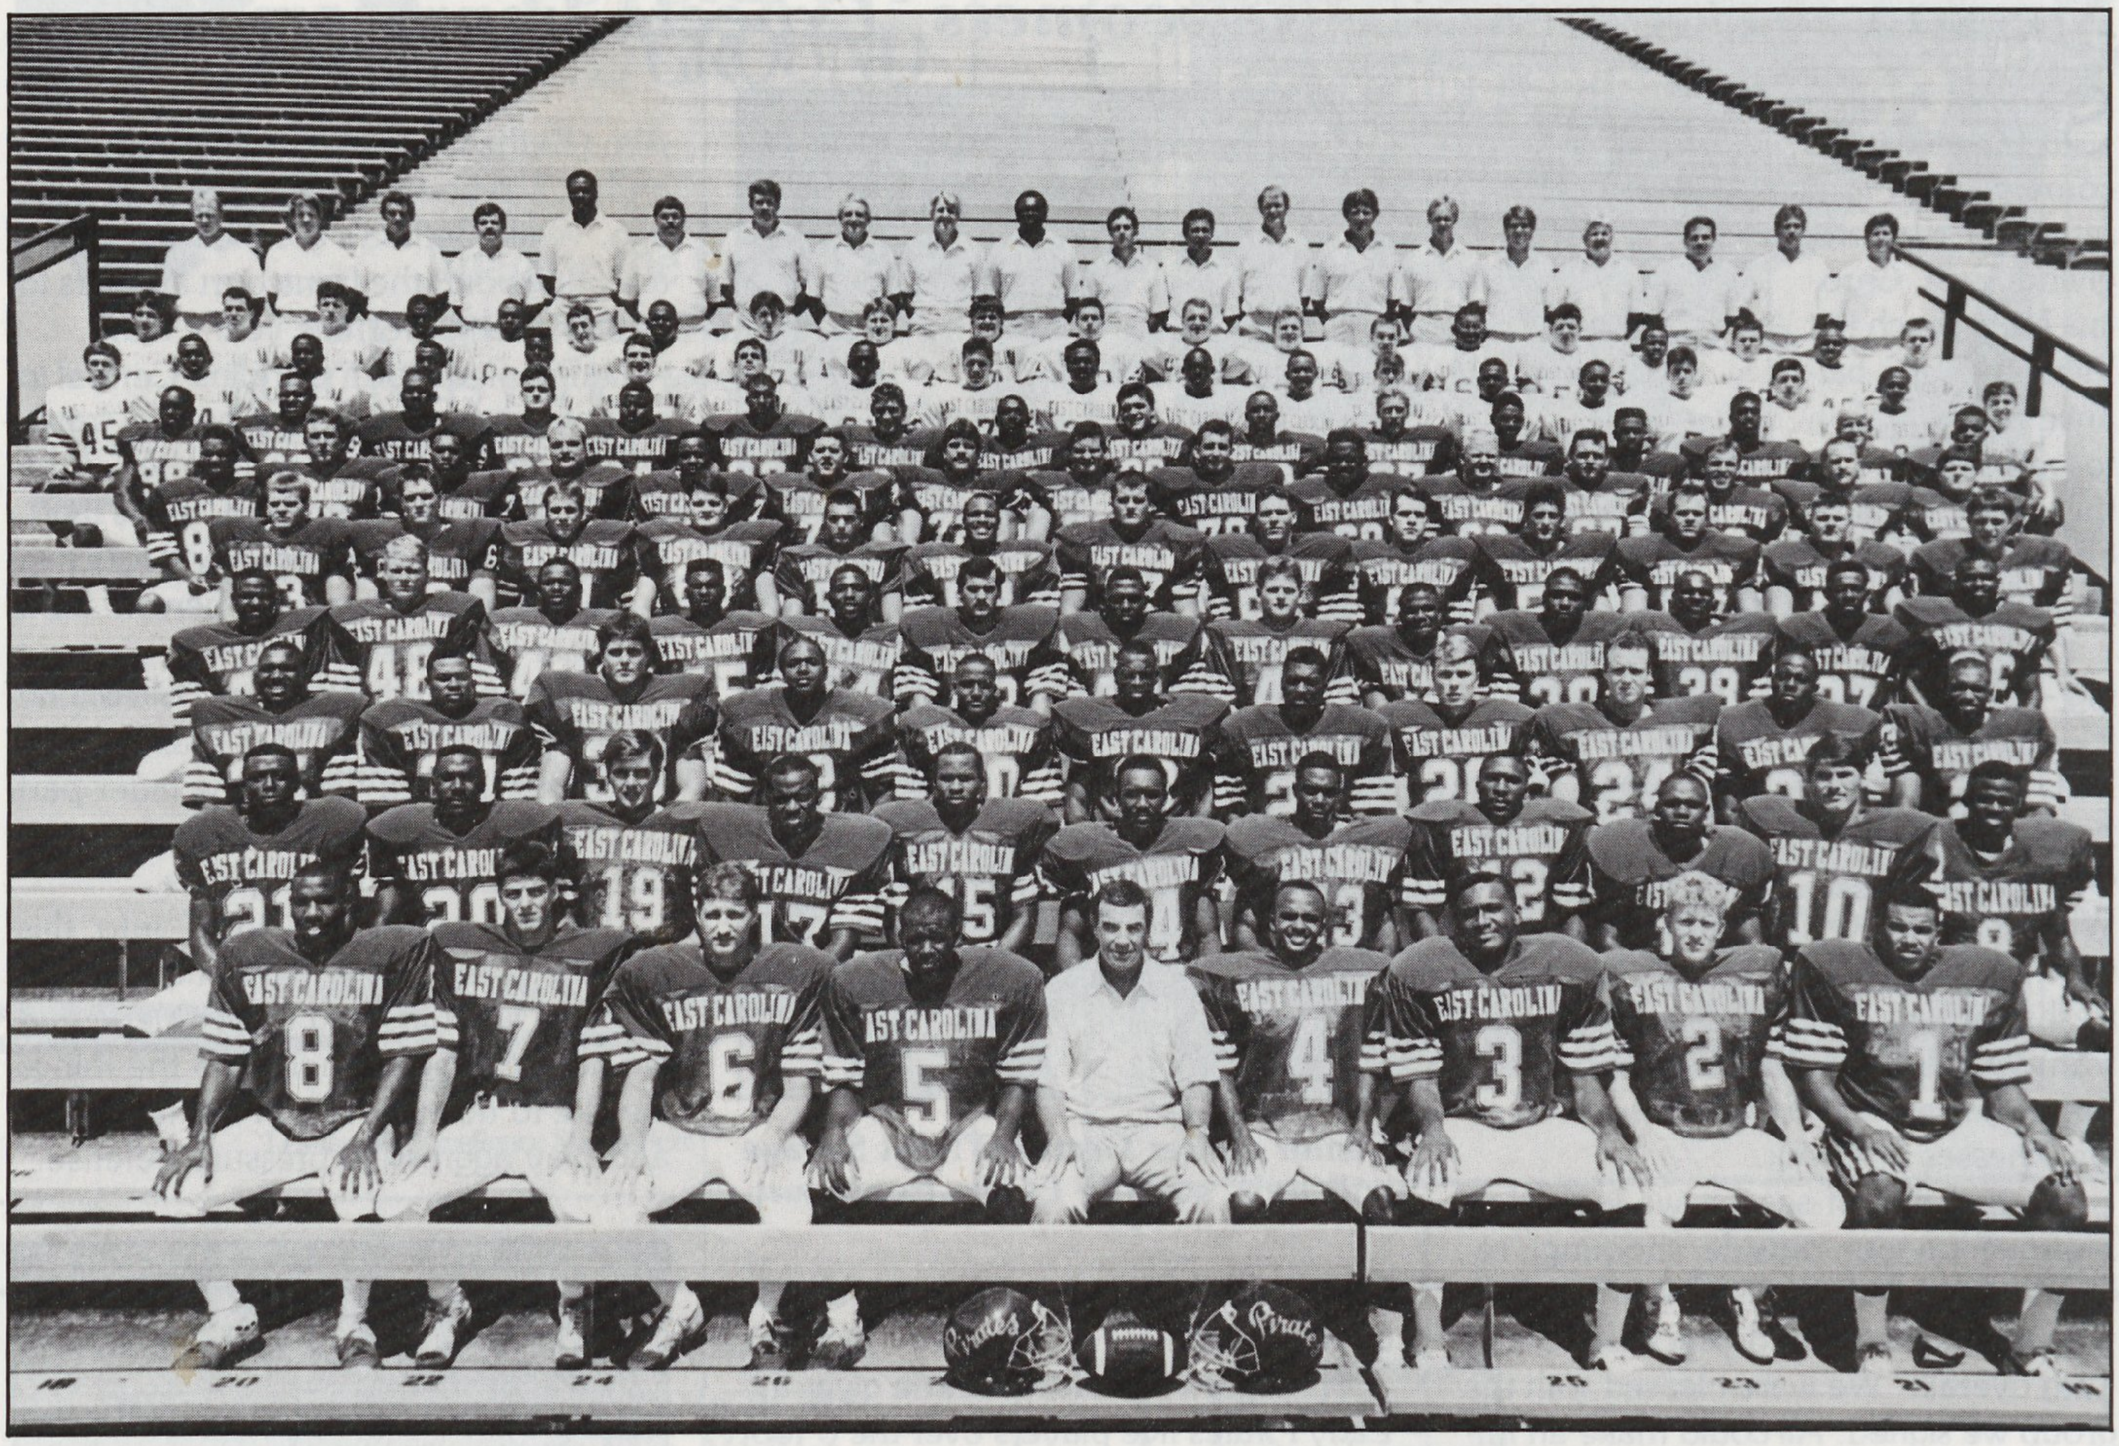

"We are confident going into this season," Pierson said. "We have a nice blend of veterans and newcomers, and we have the personnel to do the things we like to do such as run the fast break and play aggressive pressure defense."

This Is ECU

Eighty-one years of growth and advancement mark the history of East Carolina University. Since the institution began as a teachers school in 1907, East Carolina has grown along with the town of Greenville and the region.

Following its motto, SERVIRE: To Serve, East Carolina has become one of the South's most rapidly developing institutions of higher learning.

Its development has occurred in giant steps in the heart of a region described 25 years ago as a "sleeping giant," just then being stirred to awaken. Then during the last two decades especially, East Carolina experienced spectacular growth, mushrooming from a relatively small liberal arts college into a major university, the third largest in the state, with more than 15,000 students enrolled today.

East Carolina was given university status by an act of the General Assembly of North Carolina in 1967 and with it a mandate to raise and expand its programs and services. Four years later it became a constituent campus of the consolidated University of North Carolina system.

Today, East Carolina has 19 academic departments in its College of Arts and Sciences, ten professional schools including North Carolina's newest school of medicine, the General College, the Graduate School and the Division of Continuing Education.

East Carolina's professional schools are: Allied Health and Social Professions, Art, Business, Education, Home Economics, Medicine, Music, Nursing, Social Work and Technology.

East Carolina University offers undergraduate degrees in 104 program tracks, master's degrees in 87 program tracks and seven Ph.D. programs. The MD is offered through the ECU School of Medicine. The student body is drawn from every county in North Carolina, most of the 49 other states and from some 35 foreign countries. There are approximately 65,000 alumni of East Carolina University.

The doctoral programs, in basic medical sciences, were approved by the Board of Governors in the fall of 1979. This authorization represents a special milestone in the progress of the University, placing it among the six private and public institutions in North Carolina to offer Ph.D. level graduate students.

ECU is located on a 330-acre main campus in Greenville, a city of 44,000 population. There are 90 buildings on the main campus and the medical sciences campus of 42 acres in west Greenville. The university operates 15 residence halls which house more than 5,500 students.

Research grants, contracts and cooperative agreements total more than $10 million a year in support of research and related service programs at East Carolina University. The university has a total operating budget of $168 million a year. More than 88 percent of the faculty of 1,021 hold terminal degrees.

Although its growth in size and new programs has been phenomenal, East Carolina University places emphasis upon academic excellence, upon quality rather than quantity.

Remarkable growth of faculty research activity has been noted in recent years. The libraries contain collections of more than 500,000 bound volumes; 8,516 serial subscriptions; 600,000 units of microfilm; 5,201 phonodisc/tape recordings; 320 manuscript collections comprised of 500,000 items and the latest in library-loan systems. The Computer Center also has the latest in modern computer capability to serve the campus.

In all, East Carolina is fulfilling its potential as a university which is increasingly prominent as a center for educational opportunity and service.

Pirate Sports Network

The Pirate Sports Network is the official radio outlet for East Carolina University football. All activities of the Pirate Sports Network are coordinated, produced and directed by Jeff Charles, Director of Electronic Media/Promotions at East Carolina.

The 1988 season will mark the second year of a multi-year agreement with Capitol Radio Networks to distribute the network via satellite. Capitol Radio Networks is a part of the Capitol Broadcasting Company of Raleigh, N.C., and the network provides news and sports programming for more than 150 radio stations throughout North Carolina and Virginia.

This year's expanded network — the largest ever at ECU — includes new affiliates in the Charlotte and Tidewater, Va., markets, and two 100,000-watt FM affiliates (originating station WDLX 93.3 in Washington and WKTC in Tarboro anchor coverage in eastern North Carolina).

Charles begins his first season as the play-by-play "Voice of the Pirates." He comes to East Carolina from Virginia Tech where he served as the "Voice of the Hokies" and Director of Radio/Television Affairs for the past five years. Charles also has college play-by-play experience with the University of Illinois and Furman University.

The Ohio native has a major market radio background, as he was sports director of WSB in Atlanta from 1980-82, serving as the "Voice" of the Peach Bowl and a nightly sports talk show host on the 50,000-watt clear channel station.

The Georgia Associated Press named him the state's best play-by-play announcer and United Press International awarded him first place for the best sports coverage in the state.

Charles and his wife Debby have two children, Heather (15) and Britt (13).

Joining Charles in the broadcast booth will be Carlester Crumpler, one of the all-time greats in Pirate football history.

Crumpler returned to his alma mater this past July as Director of Administrative Services for the department of athletics. The all-time leading rusher in ECU history was a 1980 inductee into the East Carolina Sports Hall of Fame.

Crumpler, who will serve as color analyst for all 11 Pirate games this season, gained broadcasting experience as the sportscaster on WNCT-TV in Greenville from 1979-81, and was sports director of a Wilson radio station for two years in the mid-70's.

This year's expanded network — the largest ever at ECU — includes new affiliates in the Charlotte and Tidewater, Va. markets, and two 100,000-watt FM affiliates.

The 37-year-old Wilson, NC, native completed his career at ECU with a school-record 2,889 rushing yards including a school record 1,309 yards in 1972. Crumpler went on to play professionally with the Buffalo Bills and Washington Redskins of the NFL and the Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian Football League.

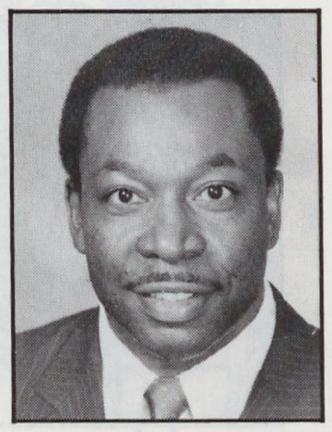

A 1974 graduate of ECU, Crumpler and his wife have three children.

The Pirate Sports Network is a wholly-owned and operated facility of the East Carolina University athletic department.

Anheuser-Busch returns for its 12th consecutive year as the primary network sponsor.

MAJOR:

West Virginia's Junior QB Has The Mountaineers Climbing

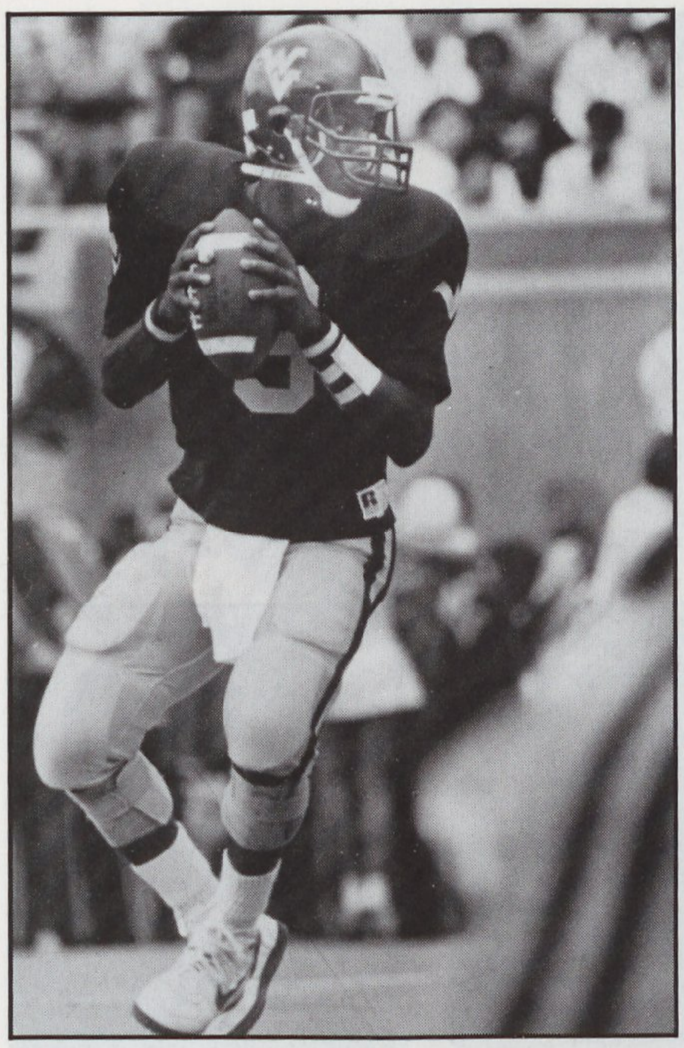

By Shelly Poe
WVU Sports Information Director

There may be only one image that describes the life Major Harris has been asked to lead lately — the calm inside the storm.

In the heat of battle on the football field, while the veteran offensive line fends off charging defenders, under the sweaty glare of television lights or the unflinching accuracy of a tape recorder, Harris never blinks.

If he's caught in the middle of a broken play, he swerves and makes up the yardage himself. If he's accosted by a fan posing pictures outside the Facilities Building, he smiles. And if he's edging close to meeting time and an interview is running long, he politely finishes. And when he's asked for his autograph for the umpteenth time, he signs. It takes a lot to shake the unflappable Major Harris.

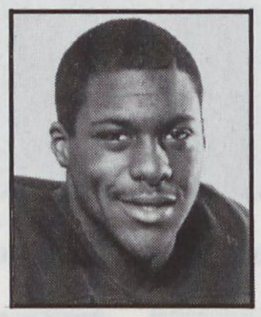

Which is not exactly what his reputation is built upon — that glamorous image of the boy quarterback with the helter-skelter jitterbug moves that have transformed him and his marquee name into a persona of major proportions.

Harris is a legend in West Virginia, where youngsters sport No. 9 apparel.

He is a legend within the Mountain State, where youngsters sport No. 9 apparel and mimic his every move. He is a hometown hero in Pittsburgh, where his schoolboy smile and gravel-voiced tones appear weekly on the evening news. And across America, college football fans talk increasingly of the young man who came of age last season in West Virginia bringing a football team full of Mountaineers along with him in the process.

If ever Major Harris was tested, it was last September 12 when, with just one college game behind him, he walked out in front of 88,272 fans in Ohio Stadium and suffered within an inch of his freshman life at the hands of the ominous Buckeye defense.

Major Harris

"I guess you could say that championship stuff is possible, but first we just have to go out and play football."
— HARRIS

On that night Harris the prodigy performed like the precocious player he was and thus a legend began.

With 266 yards total offense, he matched Heisman Trophy runner-up Don McPherson play for play. Scoring two touchdowns himself, he engineered a contest many rated the greatest in the collegiate ranks last year, and, except for a single point, a game that could have been one of West Virginia's greatest wins ever. With poise and precision, Harris piloted the Mountaineers almost past the undefeated Orange and into a rewarding berth in the John Hancock Sun Bowl on Christmas Day.

So it was a bowl game and a trip west and an unfamiliar opponent in Oklahoma State for a freshman, even Major Harris, those can be pretty unsettling things. So if a young man would say a few brash things or make a bad play or two or just get cold because of all the snow, well, that was understandable. And if the Cowboys did slip through the flurries to score two more points than our side, well, those things happen.

It was okay anyway, because Harris directed the Mountaineers through a snowstorm on national television to 33 points against a top-ranked team. And like a gift-wrapped bicycle that you can't wait to ride once the weather breaks, Major's Christmas outing was a promise of better things to come.

And they have. In terms of recognition, rankings and returning lettermen, good things keep happening for the Mountaineers. A hysteria of sorts has swept the legions of the faithful with a tidal wave that has increasingly one name — Major.

Major college football, major excitement, major magazines, major polls, major bowls — it's what you hear — and much of it translates back to you-know-who.

Since the spring semester let out in May, West Virginia's sports communications office has received 127 calls about one subject: Major Harris.

Broken down by subject, 48 of them were background for national preview stories while 22 led to newspaper interviews. He's done 29 television interviews, nine radio spots, a recent cover photo on WVU's football program and a rap segment on ESPN, his third in two years. There were 14 photo requests and two stations searching for highlight footage. And the last call was a request for a color slide of Harris express mail to CBS Sports for a "computer disc we're preparing for our Heisman file."

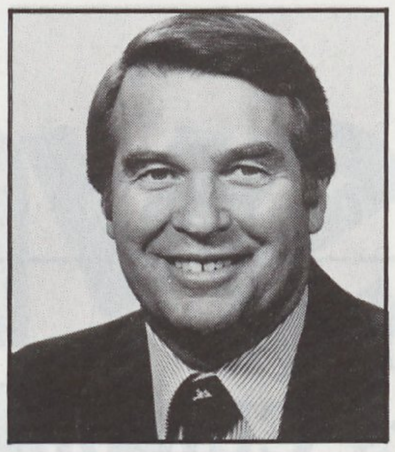

Harris leads a life inside a bubble, a tough task to ask a 20-year-old college student to undertake. But as the questions are asked over and over, he is increasingly comfortable and confident in his answers. And he's become another dynamite spokesman for Mountaineer football.

The questions he gets most often? How is the team handling the national rankings? Do you think you can win the national championship? What's it like to be a black quarterback? Why did you come to West Virginia?

His answers come almost by rote memory, a recitation punctuated with a smile. "I think all this publicity is good because it shows that people have respect for the West Virginia program. I hope it will give us confidence as a team to know that people think we're going to be good. We just have to go out and play football.

"Before the season everybody has a chance to be there, and of course our goal is to go 11-0. But it started with Bowling Green and then Fullerton and on from there. So I guess you could say that all that championship stuff is possible, but first we just have to go out and play football."

Pirate Cheerleaders

The East Carolina University Cheerleading Program is an exciting part of the university atmosphere and a guaranteed way to be involved with the athletics of the university and community. The demands and responsibilities are numerous and the rewards are endless.

The program is made up of two squads, which consists of both male and female members. The Purple Squad serves as the Varsity Squad with the team selected in the Spring of each school year from students currently enrolled at East Carolina. Tryouts are open to the public and become more exciting each year.

A freshman or transfer student is eligible for the Gold Squad. This Squad serves as an alternate to the Purple Squad in case of illness, injury or dismissal from the team. The Gold Squad cheers at home football games, women's basketball games, and any other events deemed necessary by the cheerleading squad. The Purple Squad cheers at home and away football games and men's basketball games.

The requirements for tryouts vary every year due to the growth and changing needs of the squad. The Purple Squad requirements are to cheer, dance, show gymnnastics ability, partner stunts and individual routine. The Gold Squad is expected to demonstrate the same abilities as the Purple Squad with the exception of partner stunts (although partner stunts will be required once a member of the squad). Specific requirements are announced at the beginning of each tryout practice session.

Although there are no scholarships available for the Cheerleader Program, the advantages, rewards, and opportunities speak for themselves and make the efforts worthwhile.

Peggy Smith, a veteran instructor of cheerleading, is the new director of cheerleading at East Carolina. Smith, also experienced in dance and drill teams, replaced Teresa Ward in July.

Smith, who cheered on the college level at Southwestern Louisiana, gained her bachelor's degree in 1983. She will coach both the varsity and junior varsity squads.

ALMA MATER

Praise to your name so fair,
Dear old East Carolina.
Your joys we'll all share
And your friends we'll ever be.
We pledge our loyalty
And our heart's devotion.
To Thee, our Alma Mater
Love and Praise.

A Sound Financial Game Plan Can Make You A Winner. We Can Help.

Today, more than ever, you never know exactly what to expect. Even the best of us can be thrown for a loss. But we can best gain ground and stay ahead of the game by carefully developing a financial plan that allows for shifts in both offense and defense in these rapidly changing times.

To help you establish and reach financial goals for your family and business today, you need a team of trained and dedicated professionals like the associates of our Greenville Regional Agency of Jefferson-Pilot Life pictured here.

At JP, we develop ideas that work not only today but also have the flexibility to work tomorrow. For over 85 years, we've relied on innovative, positive thinking to build insurance and financial products our clients need and want. And it works. With over $40 billion of insurance in force and 6¼ million policyowners coast to coast, JP is keeping pace with changing times. These associates of our Greenville Regional Agency, all alumni of East Carolina University, can help you do the same.

Ficklen Stadium

The James Skinner Ficklen Memorial Stadium was dedicated on September 21, 1963, with East Carolina defeating Wake Forest 20-10.

The dedication game was the culmination of a dream come true for the then East Carolina College and all of eastern North Carolina. The original plan was announced on Oct. 7, 1961, by Dr. Leo Jenkins, Chancellor of the College, at a meeting of the Society of Buccaneers.

Within a year, $283,387 had been raised, although the goal had been only $200,000. With the funds in hand, Ficklen Stadium was built.

The original stadium consisted of the permanent stands on the south side, a small press box and the old lighting system that was removed after the 1974 season. Total cost was $300,000.

The north side permanent seating was constructed in 1968, increasing the stadium seating capacity to 20,000.

The stadium was named for the late James Skinner Ficklen, a Greenville resident, who distinguished himself as one of America's leading tobacconists. At the time of his death in 1955, Ficklen was President and Chairman of the Board of the E.B. Ficklen Tobacco Company of Greenville. He was a close friend of the College and established a financial aid foundation, the Ficklen Foundation, to aid students of the College.

The first major change in Ficklen Stadium was the lighting systems, a change that occurred just before the 1975 season opened. The old inner stadium lights on six poles were removed and replaced with six towers outside the stadium. The system is a combination of metallic and incandescent lights. There are 288 fixtures of 1500 watts each on six 162-foot towers. Cost of the system was $450,000. Engineers say ECU has the best lighted stadium in the southeast.

A radical change greeted fans as the 1978 season opened. An expansion on all four corners boosted Ficklen's seating capacity from 20,000 to 35,000, the third largest stadium in North Carolina. This expansion was made possible with 2½ million dollars through a drive in the spring of 1977.

In addition to more seats, an ultramodern press box with three levels and an elevator for access was built. The much needed press box is one of the finest in the country with space for 92 writers and an entire floor for electronic media. Also, a modern scoreboard with a lightbank message center was placed on the east end of Ficklen.

The 1985 season saw all-time and single-game attendance records fall in Ficklen Stadium as the Pirates drew a school-record 153,182 fans and saw the stadium's first sell-out at 35,000 — 35,047 versus the University of South Carolina on Oct. 26, 1985, while 1987 saw two additions to the top 12 Ficklen crowds.

History Of ECU Athletics

Compiled by Bill Shires and Henry VanSant

East Carolina University has carved a rich history and tradition in college athletics despite the fact that the institution is a relative neophyte in the area of sports endeavors.

Following is a chronological history of athletic highlights at East Carolina:

1909 – A student committee established Old Gold and Royal Purple as the official school colors.

1910 – The first sport team was established in baseball at East Carolina Teachers Training School, as the institution was then named. Professor Claude Wilson was the manager of the first athletic team. The first teams for women were established on an intramural level in the sports of basketball, tennis and volleyball.

1920 – The first athletic facilities were developed on the Greenville campus. The first facilities included an outdoor basketball "ground" and six tennis courts.

1932 – On January 12 the first intercollegiate basketball game was played as East Carolina defeated Campbell College. This first basketball team went on to record 10 wins and 10 losses. In 1932 the first football team was organized at East Carolina Teachers College. Ken Beatty of Greenville served on a volunteer basis as the institution's first football coach. This first football team did not win a game, in fact, did not score a point. There were a total of seventy-five male students at ECTC of which twenty-five participated on the football team.

1933 – On November 11 the football team made history by recording its first victory over Campbell College. "Crack" Rogerson scored the first East Carolina football touchdown in the first victory.

1934 – The nickname "Pirates" was adopted.

1941 – While the Japanese were preparing to bomb Pearl Harbor the Pirates were making sports history in Greenville, N.C. Coach John Christenberry coached the Pirates to a perfect 7-0 record in football.

1947 – East Carolina Teachers College joined the North State Conference, which included: Appalachian, Atlantic Christian College, Lenoir-Rhyne College, Elon College, High Point College and Western Carolina.

The "Pirate" became ECU's official nickname in 1934, replacing "Teachers"

1957 – Dr. Ray Martinez's swim team won the NAIA National Championship.

1961 – Coach Jim Mallory led the Pirate baseballers to an NAIA National Championship. East Carolina College was accepted into NCAA membership.

1962 – Clarence Stasavich, highly successful football coach at Lenoir-Rhyne College, was hired as football coach at East Carolina.

1963 – Ficklen Stadium, a 17,000 seat facility, is dedicated in a football game against Wake Forest University as the Pirates defeat the Demon Deacons by a score of 20-10.

1964 – East Carolina is admitted to the Southern Conference (The Citadel, Furman, Davidson College, Richmond, George Washington University and William and Mary) on probationary status.

1966 – East Carolina becomes full member of Southern Conference and attains tie from football championship in first year of full membership.

1975 – Ficklen Stadium is enlarged to seat 35,000 and the East Carolina University football team defeats the University of North Carolina by a score of 38-17.

1976 – East Carolina withdraws from the Southern Conference after winning the Commissioner's Cup, symbolic of the most successful overall athletic program in the conference, five times in an 11 year membership period. East Carolina chose to drop out of the Southern Conference due to NCAA realignment which placed the conference in NCAA Division I-AA. ECU chose to be a Division I-A school and pursue a course of major college competition.

1985 – ECU joins the Colonial Athletic Association (American University, US Naval Academy, James Madison University, UNC-Wilmington, William and Mary, George Mason University, and Richmond) in sports other than football. In football ECU has chosen to compete as a Southern Independent.

East Carolina today competes in all sports at the major level and is enjoying success. The Pirate baseball program has enjoyed 37 winning seasons in the past 38 years. Since leaving the Southern Conference the Pirate football schedule has included: North Carolina, Duke University, South Carolina, Wake Forest, The University of Miami, Missouri, Florida State, West Virginia, Pittsburgh, Penn State, Auburn, LSU, and Illinois.

PIRATE SPORTS HALL OF FAME

The East Carolina Sports Hall of Fame was initiated in 1974 as an organization to honor those individuals who have, by their direct participation in East Carolina University intercollegiate athletics, brought outstanding recognition to themselves and to the University.

The first honorees were inducted during Homecoming festivities at halftime of the East Carolina—The Citadel game in 1974. Ten members were selected for the first year. No more than four members may be selected for any one year in the future.

To be selected, a committee of five persons must vote with 80% of those giving their approval. Those five shall be the official selection committee.

To be eligible for selection, a person must not have been connected with the University in the capacity to which the nominee is being elected for a minimum of five academic years.

East Carolina University

There's Something Truly Special...

By William A. Shires, ECU News Bureau

There's something truly special — compelling — about East Carolina University.

There's a certain quality — an almost mystic aura about this lovely campus in the heart of the flat, green, pine-scented coastal plain, not far from the sea, a place of sparkling sunshine, fresh air and clean water.

The magic of East Carolina University transcends even the fairyland beauty of the campus when dogwoods bloom and azaleas burst into flaming color in the spring. In April and May, ECU is one of the most beautiful places in America.

Above all, there's a spirit of pride that endears East Carolina University to those who live here, or who come to get a good college education grounded in academic excellence, or for a visit, to attend the famous Summer Theatre or a concert or an art show, for medical care, or to attend college football or basketball games.

Belongs To the People

One is aware that here is a rare, public institution of higher education that is of the people, that belongs to the people and is cherished by the region it serves. It is a university that is a child of the region, nurtured by the people of the small towns, the farms and fields and crossroads of the historic and picturesque East.

An editorial writer of the Raleigh, N.C., News and Observer observed this:

"It has won the hearts and loyalties of its constituents, who feel that nothing is too fine for East Carolina and that no job is too tough for ECU to tackle with every chance of success...

"That feeling in the hearts of the people it serves is one of the things a truly great institution of higher learning must have, and it is wonderful that East Carolina has that deserved measure of devotion."

It is an institution of bricks and mortar, of glass and steel, of streets and sidewalks and wooded paths, of classrooms and laboratories, and books and computers and microscopes. It is a place of philosophers and scholars, of learned professors and brilliant scientists, of writers and poets and of 15,000 students, but mostly it is of the people themselves, their sons and daughters.

It is a child bestowed with love, care and possessiveness by generations of those sons and daughters of the East who watched it grow from humble beginnings into the full-fledged comprehensive university and medical center that it is today.

Inspires Love and Loyalty

There is something about ECU that inspires loyalty and admiration and tugs at the heartstrings.

You can feel it when the ECU team takes the field at football games; the band is playing, flags are flying and a fan clad in purple and gold says hoarsely, "Here come the Pirates!"

No matter what the odds, how tough the opponent, the Pirates will play galantly, giving it their best because of pride, because of the loyalty of their fans, the reputation of their school and the tradition that Pirate teams always are exciting, well-coached and sportsmanlike.

A former president of ECU, the legendary leader Dr. Leo Jenkins, said the greatest achievement of East Carolina University was "instilling a sense of pride in the people here in the East.

"People walk a little taller because of ECU, and they take a greater pride in themselves."

Facts About ECU

• The Academic Division includes the College of Arts and Sciences with 19 departments, Aerospace Studies, Biology, Chemistry, Economics, English, Foreign Languages and Literatures, Geography and Planning, Geology, Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Safety, History, Library and Information Studies, Mathematics, Philosophy, Physics, Political Science, Psychology, Sciences Education, Sociology and Anthropology and Theatre Arts.

"It has won the hearts and loyalties of its constituents, who feel that nothing is too fine for East Carolina and that no job is too tough for ECU to tackle with every chance of success...

"That feeling in the hearts of the people it serves is one of the things a truly great institution of higher learning must have, and it is wonderful that East Carolina has that deserved measure of devotion."

—News & Observer

• There are seven professional schools in the Academic Division: Art, Business, Education, Home Economics, Music, Social Work and Industry and Technology.

• The Health Sciences Division includes the Schools of Medicine, Allied Health Sciences and Nursing for a university total of 10 top-ranked, nationally-recognized professional schools.

• ECU's graduate program in Maritime History and Underwater Archaeology, in the Department of History, is world-famous. Its schools of Music, Art and Education are ranked among the best in the South.

• ECU students may also choose educational programs in the General College, Institute for Coastal and Marine Resources, Office of Cooperative Education, the BB&T Center for Leadership Development. For specialized service projects, ECU has established the Regional Development Institute, Center for Applied Technology and Small Business and Technology Development Center. The University College and off-campus extension programs are operated by the Division of Continuing Education.

• Research is very much a part of ECU. During 1986-87, 225 grants, contracts and cooperative agreements totaling $10,232,197 were awarded to the university for research, instructional programs and public service projects.

• Of the more than 1,000 members of the university's faculty, nearly 900 hold a terminal degree (the highest academic degree awarded in their field).

• The university has experienced record-breaking enrollments for each semester and summer session for the past 12 years, with projections indicating steady growth in the student body. The average SAT scores are 856 for in-state students and 921 for out-of-state.

Sports Medicine

The East Carolina University sports medicine division and curriculum, reputed to be one of the finest in the Southeast, affords every Pirate athlete the best available care and treatment of injuries.

Headed by ECU's sports medicine director Rod Compton, who is a Certified Athletic Trainer and a member of the National Athletic Trainers Association (NATA), and the American Orthopedic Society for Sports Medicine, the East Carolina sports medicine program offers the best possible prevention, immediate treatment, and rehabilitation of injuries.

Compton, who earned degrees from Ohio University and Bowling Green State and served as Editor-in-Chief of the NATA Journal for six-and-one-half years, is also the director of the ECU Sports Medicine Conference, which is held annually in April on the East Carolina campus.

Compton (entering his 19th season) is assisted by team physician Dr. James McCallum, Greg Beres, Certified Athletic Trainer, and Karen Baker, Certified Athletic Trainer, as designated by the NATA. All serve on the staff of the Sports Medicine Conference and as faculty for the Sports Medicine Curriculum within the Department of Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Safety.

They are assisted by more than a dozen fine community-based professionals who lend valuable time to the program and 30 to 35 undergraduate students majoring in East Carolina University's sports medicine program.

East Carolina's current Sports Medicine Center, which has been in operation since 1971, is housed directly behind Ficklen Stadium. The Center contains equipment for the prevention, evaluation, immediate care and rehabilitation of athletic injuries. The staff, students and consultants are eagerly looking forward to the continuing expansion of the program and facilities with the move into the Sports Medicine/Physical Education Building, in mid-1989, and the upcoming graduate curriculum in "Sports Medicine/Athletic Training."

The "Sports Paramedics," as Compton refers to his staff, are in attendance at every athletic event that involves East Carolina University athletes. Radio communication from practice field to the center is a must and a sports medicine vehicle provides instant transportation for injured athletes to the center. Prevention, evaluation, treatment, and rehabilitation are the main objectives of the Sports Medicine Division and when an injury does occur, Compton and his staff provide on-the-spot treatment to make certain the injury does not become more serious.

The Sports Medicine Curriculum, a part of the Health and Physical Education Department at East Carolina, is the only undergraduate athletic training program approved by the NATA in eastern North Carolina and one of only two in the state.

Dedication, sincere sensitivity, and individual attention are the basic motivators which distinguish East Carolina University's "Sports Paramedics" from any others. People helping people in a first-class setting. That's East Carolina Sports Medicine!

How not to lose your shirt on a $29.00 investment

Finally, there's a dress shirt you can buy with complete confidence. Because Gant, the famous shirtmaker, now backs their shirts with a full one-year limited warranty. To do this, Gant had to make its already classic button-down even better. So we did.

Our new classic button-down oxfords start with a revolutionary two-ply material. Softer to the touch. Yet virtually wrinkle free. Then each and every Gant shirt is tailored impeccably, with closer stitching on buttonholes, collars, placket and cuffs. And cross-stitched buttons for durability.

Now there are lots more features in a Gant shirt. But you really have to wear one to know how great it is. There's nothing to lose. Because our warranty won't let you.

PRECIOUS TIME

Eighty-hour work weeks leave little time for ECU assistant coaches

By Charles Bloom
Sports Information Director

Imagine working seven days-a-week, 12 hours per day and absolutely loving every minute of it. Sounds crazy, doesn't it?

Well, to members of the East Carolina football coaching staff, they wouldn't trade their jobs for any other.

"There is nothing I'd rather do," said offensive line coach Steve Shankweiler. "Someday, I may be forced to do something else because of the nature of the profession but I can't imagine anything being more fun than this."

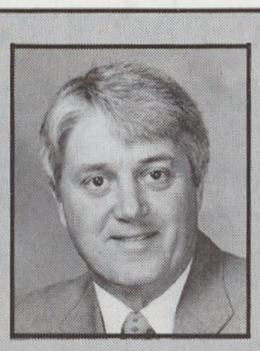

To someone working an average 40-hour week job, it would be refreshing to love their job. It sounds difficult to comprehend that someone who works over 80 hours per week could love their job when we find ourselves complaining every night.

An average coach's day begins at 6:30 a.m. when he arrives at his office ready to prepare for the day ahead. He brings his breakfast and lunch with him and eats while watching film of the week's opponent or his own team. He does get a break to go home and eat supper with his family and comes back to watch more films. Finally, at 10:30 p.m., it's off to home to be with his family.

"I don't think people have an awareness of the time and commitment that it takes to be a football coach," said offensive coordinator Kevin Gilbride. "We're here Sundays until 11 p.m. We'll come in the mornings, look at film, break for church and lunch, and come right back to look at more films and be in meetings."

With that much time spent in the office, in practice and on the road, it's very seldom that a coach finds enough time with his family.

"Fortunately, as all coaches must have, I've got a wife who's very supportive," said defensive coordinator Richard Bell. "She loves my profession and loves to touch the lives of the young people. I make a great effort to spend quality time with my children. When I'm home, I put all things aside to concentrate on my children."

Coaches not only have a family at home, but also a family of fellow coaches and players. It is this family that makes the rewards more than financial or wins on a Saturday afternoon.

"Rewards will not be on the scoreboard," said Bell, who has been in the coaching profession for 17 years. "If that was the case, I would have gotten out of it long ago. Touching young people's lives will be the reward."

That seems to be the ultimate reward for an assistant coach. Taking a youngster, 17-18 years old, watching him go through the recruiting process, and then taking him in and teaching him about football and life. After his four years are done, the achievements of the athlete are the biggest reward.

"I don't think people go into the coaching profession for the money, even though some head coaches have made it rather prosperous," said wide receivers coach Ken Matous. "I'm in it for the joy of being around the kids. I love to work with them. That's the rewarding part of the profession, watching them grow both on and off the field."

It's not all roses, however. Depending on how good his teams are, is how long a coach stays employed. And, it could get frustrating. Assistant coaches stay in one job an average of 2-3 years.

"It's frustrating at times because, as full-time assistants, we work early in the morning until late at night and everything we do depends on 18-19 year olds who are worrying about that Monday morning Algebra test or who's sitting in the stands with their girlfriends," said offensive backfield coach Chuck Driesbach.

Coaches are in the profession for the rewards of working with young athletes and working in a sport that they love so much. But, with all of the good that comes out of football, there is also the time that most coaches hate the most.

It's the losing season and all of the complaining that goes along with it. The boo-birds can be heard during the losing season along with the fans and media harping on a mistake or two.

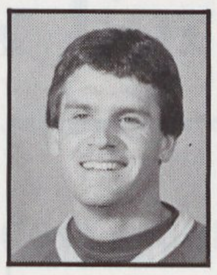

"People don't realize that the kids are people too and sometimes they make mistakes. We don't coach them to make mistakes, it just happens," said fullback coach Jeff Fela. "We're (coaches) great when we win, but if we lose, the fans,

ECU's Own October Classic

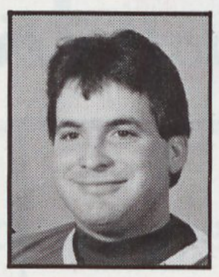

First Annual Pirate Old-Timer's Baseball Classic Set For Oct. 22

As baseball takes center stage in the world of sports this month, East Carolina will hold an October baseball "Classic" of its own Oct. 22.

Two weeks from today, just prior to the East Carolina-Syracuse football game here in Ficklen Stadium, the first annual Pirate Old Timer's Baseball Classic will take place at 10 a.m. at ECU's Harrington Field.

The game will highlight a weekend of activity for former East Carolina baseball players and coaches. Following the baseball game, the ex-Pirates and their families will be the guests of ECU at the Syracuse game. Later that night they will be treated to an old-fashioned eastern North Carolina pig-picking at the Pirate Club.

"We are excited about bringing back many of the players here that helped make our baseball program so successful," ECU Director of Athletics Dave Hart, Jr. said. "It should be an enjoyable day, not only for the former players and coaches, but for the fans too.

"The fans have a chance to watch many of our great baseball players and coaches from the past, then watch an exciting afternoon of football in Ficklen Stadium."

East Carolina baseball has enjoyed a great deal of success. Pirate teams have had just one losing season since 1950, and have appeared in the NCAA Tournament 10 times. ECU has also won an NAIA national championship in 1961, an NAIA third-place finish in 1963, won six Southern Conference championships, three ECAC-South titles and one Colonial Athletic Association crown.

Players from teams representing the 1960's will be Earl Boykin (1961-62), who played for the Pirates' national championship team in 1961.

From the 1970's will be Butch Davis (1978-80), who is tied with ECU assistant coach Billy Best (1977-80) in the ECU record book for the lead in career triples (10). Davis is also second on the all-time ECU list for home runs.

Davis, who played a small role in the summer hit movie "Bull Durham," finished the 1988 season as an outfielder with the Baltimore Orioles.

Best, who will begin his fifth season as ECU's assistant coach to head coach Gary Overton, is one of the all-time great hitters in Pirate history. Best played professionally for five years before returning to his alma mater.

The 1980's, of course, will be the most represented decade. Many players off the 1986 team that set a school record with 40 victories will be on hand.

Headlining that team is Winfred Johnson (1983-86), the most prolific slugger in ECU history and one of the top players during his day in college baseball. Johnson established an NCAA record by hitting 70 career home runs and pitching his way to 35 career mound victories.

Johnson and other members of the 1986 team will play in the Old-Timer's Classic, but will have to miss the Syracuse-ECU football game to take part in Mont Carter's (1985-86) wedding that afternoon.

Tony Guzzo, a former assistant coach at ECU and presently the head coach at Virginia Commonwealth, has committed to play. Other possibilities include former Pirate pitchers Bob Patterson, Mike Christopher and Bob Davidson. Patterson pitched on the AAA level this spring, while Christopher and Davidson were teammates on the New York Yankees' AA club.

Many others have also committed to play in the Classic.

"We are very excited about hosting the Classic and want to make it an annual event," said Overton, who became ECU's head coach in 1985. "I think you will see a lot of talent out there, but you will also see a great deal of laughs, and that's what it's all about."

The Ramada Inn of Greenville will sponsor the Classic and is the official headquarters of all "old timers" in Greenville that weekend.

Pirate teams have appeared in the NCAA Tournament 10 times. The 1987 team, above, won the Colonial championship.

alumni are always going to criticize you. Even on family outings, relatives are armchair quarterbacks, but they don't know that all decisions made out on the field are thoroughly thought through."

Still, some coaches wouldn't trade their jobs for anything. And that's what makes your job worthwhile, isn't it?

Show Your Support For East Carolina University

..... Look For The Official Label

Chances are, if you are a student, alumnus, booster, faculty member or fan, you own something bearing the East Carolina University name or logo. These familiar insignias, shown on this page, can actually bring extra revenue to the University. How so, you ask? The demand by Pirate fans and friends for products depicting ECU symbols, logos, or trademarks has reached new heights. The number of manufacturers who wish to provide these products has also grown. ECU has created a licensing program to insure that the public properly identify and associate its logos and products bearing its name and marks.

The Licensing Program, which began in 1984 at the University, protects the use of the East Carolina name and insignias. It was created for two reasons:

1. Trademark Protection

2. Royalty Income

Officially licensed souvenirs return royalties to East Carolina. Every time you buy an officially licensed product, a portion of the money supports the University for the use of the names and symbols that identify the University. So before you buy, look for the official label.
