13 Introducing Bill Lewis

A former pro baseball player, Lewis brings a wealth of experience to the ECU football program. He spent the last nine years as an assistant coach at Georgia under Vince Dooley before coming to Greenville.

37 Noting The Pirates

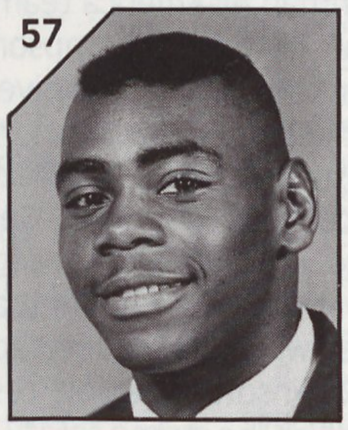

ECU is 27-25-1 in season openers heading into tonight's game versus the Falcons. The Pirates are also looking to extend their winning streak to three games. See more facts on page 37.

41 Life Without Blue

The East Carolina basketball team will have to use a balanced attack this year to offset the loss of Blue Edwards, arguably the best player to ever wear the purple and gold.

57

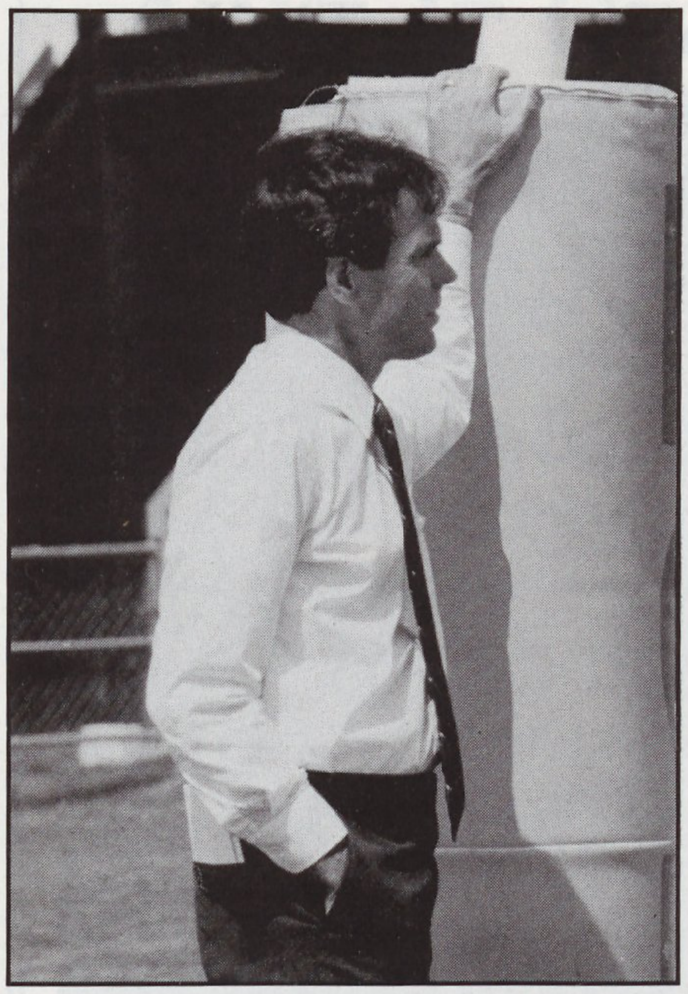

57 One High-Flying Falcon

Bowling Green wide receiver Reggie Thornton is on the verge of becoming one of the best in a long line of great receivers at the Ohio university.

90 Making The Grades

Many Pirate athletes are finding that playing sports on the college level can go hand-in-hand with scoring high in the classroom. R.L. Beeman plays football and has never made less than an A.

Pirates, Falcons Battle In Debut Of Lewis Era

ECU to unveil I-formation against Bowling Green

By Dean Buchan
Associate Sports Information Director

The Bill Lewis era officially begins tonight here at Ficklen Stadium.

East Carolina, 3-8 a year ago, hosts Bowling Green (2-8-1 last season) in Lewis' first game as the Pirate head coach. Lewis became ECU's 16th head coach on Dec. 3, 1988 after serving as an assistant coach at Georgia for the last nine seasons.

Tonight's game is also the season opener for Bowling Green.

Lewis' first ECU team will sport a new look tonight. The Pirates have ditched the Run-and-Shoot offense in favor of the I-formation, and the defense-minded Lewis will use an aggressive, attacking philosophy on defense with the Multiple Eagle.

Even the Pirate uniforms will have a new look, with a modern-type "ECU" on the helmets instead of the old Pirate script. The game jerseys and pants will also have subtle changes including larger stripes on both and "East Carolina" missing from the jersey.

While the philosophies and uniforms have changed, ECU's personnel has many familiar veteran faces returning.

Senior quarterback Travis Hunter will direct the Pirate offense. Hunter, who held off challenges from junior Chad Grier and sophomore Jeff Blake for the starting nod, threw for 828 yards and eight touchdowns last season. Hunter and the Pirates are expected to pass more often this season.

Hunter's favorite target is senior wide receiver Walter Wilson, who caught 19 passes last season including four for touchdowns. Al Whiting (17 receptions, 288 yards) will start opposite of Wilson. Juniors Charlie Tyson and Darren Bynum, and sophomore Hunter Gallimore should also see action tonight.

The Pirates suffered a blow two weeks ago when senior wide receiver BoJack Davenport went down with a shoulder injury that may force him to miss the entire season. Davenport was competing for a starting job.

Seniors Willie Lewis (287 yards, 3 TDs) and Denell Harper give ECU a solid one-two punch at the tailback position. Junior fullback Michael Rhett was one of ECU's most impressive players in fall drills, and sophomore David Daniels of Greenville (NC) is a solid back-up.

Senior Grant Lowe, a pre-season All-Independent selection, anchors the offensive line at one tackle. Seniors Stewart Southall and Todd Drugac, along with junior Chad Martin, make the offensive line one of ECU's strongest areas.

The defense returns a host of starters, but the search continues for depth.

The Pirates have a wealth of talent at the linebacker positions. Senior Brian McPhatter, who began the fall at safety, has since moved to outside linebacker and anchors the defense. Sophomore Robert Jones, who was named to The Sporting News Freshman All-America team last year, and senior Anthony Thompson are key figures for the Pirate defensive unit.

One of the biggest question marks is on the defensive line, where a lack of depth is a big concern of Lewis. Senior Mike Applewhite will play both noseguard and tackle at various times tonight, and senior Joe Holmes will start at one tackle.

Junior Robinson, a senior, resumes his starting role at the strong safety, while redshirt freshman Derrick Fields has played well enough in pre-season drills to allow McPhatter's move to linebacker. Sophomore Chris Hall and junior Ricky Torain will start at the corners.

One NCAA rule change, which will affect the kicking game, forbids the use of a kicking tee. Robb Imperato is scheduled to do the placekicking duties tonight, and true freshman Joel Blackerby is listed second on the depth chart. Sophomore John Jett has the potential to be one of the top punters in ECU history.

Moe Ankney, Bowling Green's fourth-year head coach, doesn't know what to expect tonight from the Pirates.

"I don't know what to expect because watching (ECU) game films from last year does us no good," Ankney said last week. "They have a brand new coaching staff and we know little about what they plan to do.

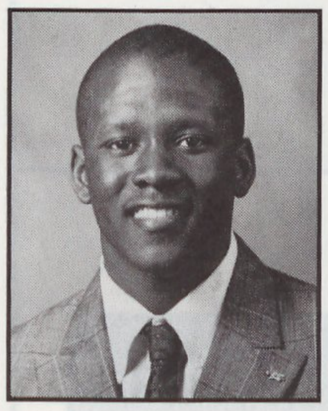

"We'll do a lot of guessing. We won't know what they're going to do until the game starts."

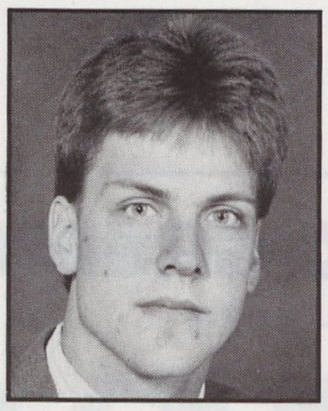

Bowling Green, a traditional power in the Mid-American Conference, returns several starters from last year's team. The Falcons' uncharacteristic 2-8-1 record of a year ago is misleading, considering Coach Ankney used a large number of young players.

"Coach Ankney did a good job last year of using some talented young people," Lewis said. "While that move didn't pay off in the win column last year, it looks like this could be the year that they really get things going."

Grant Lowe is a pre-season All-Major Independent selection at tackle.

The Falcons, who have won the MAC title 20 times in the last 43 years, are a strong passing team seemingly every year.

Senior quarterback Rich Dackin gained valuable experience last season for the Falcons. Dackin completed 73 of 155 passes (47 percent) for 775 yards despite missing six games with a broken hand. Dackin, who has just under 4,200 career passing yards to his credit, will look to a talented corps of receivers tonight.

Senior split end Reggie Thornton, who caught 41 passes for 589 yards last year, is on track to become one of the most prolific receivers in Falcon history. Senior flanker Ronald Heard was second on the team behind Thornton in receiving with 35 catches for 622 yards and three touchdowns. Kyle Hockman returns for his third year as a starter at tight end.

"Bowling Green's receivers are a big concern," Lewis said. "In fact, this could easily be the best group of receivers to come to Ficklen Stadium this year."

The Falcon offensive line returns four starters, including senior Tom Addie, a mainstay up front since 1987.

On defense, Bowling Green sees senior tackle Derrick Carr, linebacker Larry Lambright, and safety Mike Holmes as the key figures. In all, seven starters return including seven of the top nine tacklers from last year.

The Falcons also boast a strong kicking game with three-year letterwinner Jason Zeller doing the placekicking. Zeller has not missed an extra point in 43 tries. Cris Shale could be the top punter in the MAC this year.

ECU comes into tonight's game with a 27-25-1 record in season openers. Last season, the Pirates defeated Tennessee Tech, 52-13.

The Pirates and Falcons will be meeting for the third time. Bowling Green won the first meeting, 47-21 in 1971. The Pirates won 24-6 in 1974 here at Ficklen Stadium.

NEXT WEEK:

East Carolina will travel to Cincinnati to face the Bearcats at Nippert Stadium. Cincinnati, 0-0-1, tied Rutgers last week despite being considerable underdogs. The Pirates defeated Cincinnati, 49-14 last season. The ECU-UC matchup is the second of three consecutive 7 p.m. starts for the Pirates.

Bowling Green will play its home opener next week against Ball State.

Brian McPhatter anchors the ECU defense. The senior is featured on page 38.

"We welcome a person of Bill Lewis' abilities and character at East Carolina to lead our program into its next plateau," said Hart. "We look forward to what the future holds for the ECU program under Bill Lewis' leadership.

"He is perceived as an exceptional recruiter by all his peers and as a sound fundamentalist and teacher. He is a good motivator and demanding of his staff and his players," added Hart.

Head Coach Bill Lewis

Leading ECU football to its next plateau

Give Bill Lewis an hour of your time, and you'll be convinced that the East Carolina University football program can become as successful as any in the nation.

When the 48-year-old coaching veteran was named the Pirates' 16th head coach on Dec. 3, 1988, Lewis immediately became ECU's most zealous supporter.

"I am a very positive person," said Lewis at his first press conference. "I want to point myself and the program in that direction. We will not take a back seat to anyone in this country with the way we are going to approach this football team and this football program."

Lewis has already built a firm base from which to build a program since coming to ECU from the University of Georgia, where he was a defensive backfield coach for nine seasons during which, he was also the defensive co-ordinator for eight.

The Pirates had a successful recruiting season, signing 25 to grant-in-aids, including 12 prospects from the state of North Carolina. That was done with a new coaching staff who had just three months to get started.

"I believe you must begin to form the base of your recruiting in your home state," said Lewis. "We will go from the mountains to the coast line."

ECU director of athletics Dave Hart, Jr. knows that Lewis will get the Pirate program to the next

Lewis' stint at Georgia included nine bowl trips, three Southeastern Conference championships and a national championship in 1980. He has coached 23 All-SEC selections and has coached seven All-Americas, including Terry Hoage of the Philadelphia Eagles, John Little and Jeff Sanchez, all defensive backs.

Before arriving at Georgia, Lewis was the head coach at the University of Wyoming. In three years at the Laramie school, Lewis led the Cowboys to a 13-21-1 record and had offensive tackle Dennis Baker and linebacker Ken Fantetti make All-America status.

A 27-year coaching veteran, Lewis has also been an assistant coach at Arkansas (1973-76), Georgia Tech (1971-73), Wake Forest (1969-71), Pittsburgh (1966-68) and East Stroudsburg State (1963-65), his alma mater.

Lewis graduated from East Stroudsburg in 1963, earning a B.S. degree in Health and Physical Education. While attending school there, he was a Little All-America selection at quarterback and a team captain of the football and baseball teams, while lettering four years.

He left college to play in the Detroit Tigers minor league organization for two years as a pitcher before returning to his alma mater to work on his graduate degree and work as a part-time football coach.

A native of Bristol, Pa., Lewis participated in football, baseball, gymnastics and basketball at Delhaas Junior-Senior High School.

Lewis and his wife, Sandy, are the parents of three children, Mark (22), Gregg (19) and Geoff (17). Mark is a first-year law student at the University of Georgia. His wife, Wendy, is also a student at UGA. Gregg is a third class cadet at the Air Force Academy and Geoff is a high school senior.

Bill Lewis On...

The Game of Football...

"I respect the game of football. I think it is the greatest of all sports. I absolutely love the game, the competition of it and all of the intangibles that are involved in the game. I enjoy the strategies, although I sometimes think they are overplayed. It's a game that can teach all of us so many things that carry over into our daily lives — like commitment, sacrifice, learning to be persistent as you pursue victory."

Student-Athletes...

"One of the things that attracted me to this program was the commitment of Dr. [Richard] Eakin (ECU Chancellor) and Dave Hart (ECU athletic director) to excellence in academics and athletics. Both of those gentlemen and myself share the philosophy that you can have excellence in both of those areas on a college campus. It is because of that I believe in the student-athlete."

The Football Program at ECU...

"One of the things that attracted me to this position was the belief that the timing was perfect for someone to come into this program. I don't think there has been a time in ECU's recent history in which there was a more positive time for a coaching staff to come in here. We think that the future is very bright. Where do we want this program to go? We want this program, with time and hard work, to be recognized as one of the best in college football."

Coaching...

"I love and respect the coaching profession. It's the only job I ever had. I believe in the profession. What I enjoy about coaching is working with young people. The greatest thrills that I have in coaching are not the victories, it's seeing the people you have coached leave and go into their chosen professions and come back and see that they have achieved success. And feel that, in some way, you have contributed to their success in life."

Chancellor Dr. Richard Eakin

The ninth chief executive officer in ECU history

Dr. Richard R. Eakin, Chancellor of East Carolina University since March 1, 1987, has a vision of greatness for the institution.

Foreseeing that ECU is destined to become a truly distinctive university, Eakin is firmly committed to academic excellence and finding new ways of service to the state and region.

He sees ECU as the catalyst for change that will bring about a better quality of life for the people whose lives it touches.

Dr. Eakin's goals include on-going strategic planning, campus beautification and development of its physical plant, libraries and student facilities, strengthening of the undergraduate curriculum, additional doctoral level programs, research and increasing participation in community affairs and public service.

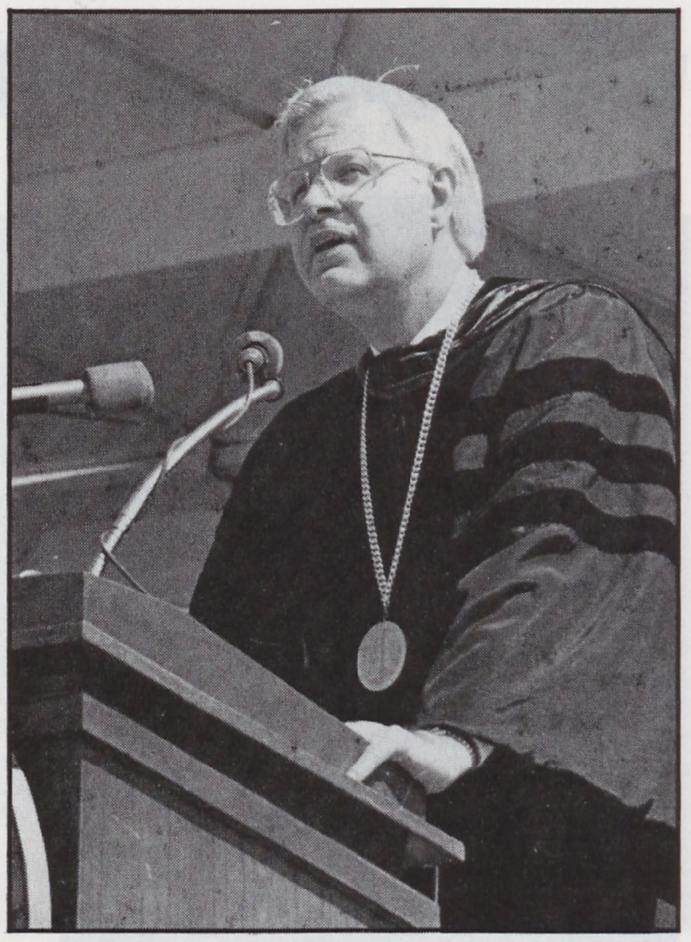

East Carolina has the third largest university enrollment in North Carolina. Eakin wants ECU to be regarded and ranked among the three best state universities in North Carolina.

Based upon its 82-year history of providing educational opportunity and excellence, East Carolina is already a university of distinction, Eakin believes. It is a product of its region, founded, nurtured and cherished by its supporters including more than 62,000 graduates.

The school's level of private financial support ranked second among the nation's public, comprehensive universities in 1987-88. With an ever-increasing private support providing the margin of excellence, Eakin foresees ECU emerging in the spotlight as a university known for quality of its teaching, research and service.

The ninth chief executive officer in the school's history, Dr. Eakin came to East Carolina University with a strong background in higher education administration and as a professor of mathematics. He began his career in 1964 at Bowling Green State University in Ohio and served as a vice president at Bowling Green before coming to ECU.

A native of New Castle, Pennsylvania, Dr. Eakin earned his bachelor's degree in mathematics and physics, summa cum laude from Geneva College in 1960. At Geneva he was class valedictorian and President of the Student Senate. He was awarded a master's degree from Washington State University in 1962 and the doctorate in mathematics with a minor in economics from Washington State University in 1964.

Eakin is committed to academic excellence and service to state and region.

He is married to the former Jo Ann McGeehan. They have two children, Matthew, a graduate student at North Carolina State University, and Maridy, a sophomore at East Carolina University.

Director of Athletics Dave Hart, Jr.

Committed to excellence, integrity within the program

Dave Hart, Jr., who has gained national recognition for his innovative ideas in the field of marketing, promotions and fund-raising, is in his second year as East Carolina University's director of athletics.

Hart was appointed athletic director on December 21, 1987 by ECU Chancellor Dr. Richard Eakin. "Dave has served the University with distinction since April 1983," said Eakin. "He has successfully led private fund-raising efforts to record levels with gift income in excess of $1 million and donor participation exceeding 4,300."

"Dave has an exceptional understanding of all aspects of athletic administration, has a strong commitment to excellence and integrity throughout the men's and women's programs, and possesses, in my judgment, the leadership qualities necessary to continue to develop our athletic program and move it to new levels of achievement."

Since that appointment, Hart has become one of the most effective athletic administrators in college athletics. Just one month into his new position, Hart was appointed to the NCAA's prestigious Committee on Integrity and Image in College Athletics, which is chaired by Georgia Tech director of athletics Homer Rice. He also chairs the Colonial Athletic Association Marketing Committee.

Hart has become a popular speaker at the national level and has authored articles for a number of national publications in the areas of marketing, promotions and fund-raising. He has made numerous speaking presentations at NCAA conventions and seminars, and during the past four National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA) conventions, has served as an instructor at the Management Institute.

Since Hart has taken over as East Carolina's Athletic Director, Pirate athletic squads have been faring better. In the spring, the Pirate baseball team won the Colonial Athletic Association tournament and participated in the NCAA tournament. The men's and women's basketball teams finished with winning seasons while the swim team also won the CAA crown.

He has also structured new programs at ECU that include Personal Development for student-athletes, NCAA rules seminars and taking the anti-drug and alcohol fight into the Greenville community with trading cards and lectures featuring coaches and student-athletes.

Hart was named associate director of athletics for external relations and executive director of the Pirate Club in 1985. His duties included the raising of funds for athletic scholarships through the Pirate Club, as well as overseeing all external areas of the athletic department.

During his first two years in that position, the Pirate Club experienced record-setting growth as it surpassed the coveted $1 million mark in contributions for the first time ever. The 1987 campaign saw another record performance under his direction as the Club exceeded the $1.2 million level.

Hart first joined the ECU athletic department in 1983 as an assistant athletic director for marketing. It was the first time that ECU had ever employed a full-time staff member for marketing, and it immediately brought dividends.

ECU's marketing program gained national attention for the rapid growth in crowd participation through tailgating and other promotional efforts. Hart was also responsible for implementing the "Great Pirate Purple/Gold Pigskin Pig-Out Party," which is a weekend extravaganza surrounding the spring football game.

Additionally, attendance at home football games increased greatly as evidenced by the fact that nine of the top 12 crowds in Ficklen Stadium history have entered the turnstiles since the 1983 season. Promotional ventures such as the "Ain't It Great to Tailgate" idea have added to the atmosphere at Pirate home games.

Hart, just the fifth athletic director in ECU history, received his undergraduate and graduate degrees from the University of Alabama, earning a B.S. in English/Speech in 1971 and a master's degree in 1972. He attended Alabama on a basketball scholarship and was a graduate assistant coach for the Crimson Tide program in 1972. He won nine varsity letters in football, basketball and baseball and at Annapolis (MD) High School, where he was also an All-State basketball and football player.

He is married to the former Pam Humble of Tuscaloosa, Ala., and they have three children — Ricky (17), Jamie (15) and Kelly (12).

Sports Medicine/ Physical Education Building

ECU proudly unveils its new athletic facility

The first major step in East Carolina's continuing efforts to upgrade facilities, the Sports Medicine/Physical Education Building, became a reality in September.

The three-story, 82,095-square foot structure, the home of ECU's athletic department, provides the two areas with state-of-the-art technology.

"From a facilities standpoint, the new building takes us to another level," ECU director of athletics Dave Hart said. "The building is a very visible illustration of the direction our program is headed.

"It is a great source of pride for our athletic department, as well as our sports medicine and physical education departments."

The injury treatment and rehabilitation center of the sports medicine department includes the latest in technology, making it one of the top sports medicine programs in the country. Among the many features of the new building is a 5,000-square foot strength training center, a state-of-the-art human performance laboratory, biomechanics lab, classrooms and men's and women's locker rooms.

The entire coaching staffs for the football and men's and women's basketball teams are housed on the second floor, while the entire athletic administrative staff find their offices on the top level.

"The building is top-notch," ECU director of sports medicine Rod Compton said. "It puts us on the cutting edge of facilities and technology in the country.

"It's a visual demonstration of the close relationship here at ECU between athletics and academics."

The building is unique in structure. The shortest of six sides of the building is the front of the facility and faces 35,000-seat Ficklen Stadium.

The first floor connects with Minges Coliseum via a covered walkway. Features of the first floor include:

Sports Medicine Training Center — Sophisticated injury treatment, evaluation and rehabilitation equipment fills the room including touch-control whirlpools, a computerized isokinetic rehabilitation and evaluation machine, exam rooms including one dental chair, and a 7-foot deep whirlpool that allows an injured athlete to exercise without bearing weight.

The training area will also boast 19 taping stations and a radio communication center which allows sports medicine officials to monitor action on the football field and basketball court simultaneously.

Strength Training Center — Includes 5,000-square feet of shiny new chrome and steel, with mirror-lined walls.

Locker Rooms — Both men and women.

Equipment Storage — A spacious area with equipment for 135 football players and more.

Attractions of the second floor include:

All-Purpose Room — An area that overlooks Ficklen Stadium. Trophy cases, retired jerseys and mementos from Pirate athletes now in the pros line the room.

Football — Offices for the head coach, nine assistant coaches, graduate assistants, a recruiting coordinator and secretaries. Football also has two storage rooms, a file room, and access to two mini-auditoriums.

Basketball — More offices for each coach, and a meeting room for both the men's and women's staff.

Academic Counseling — Computers and tutors are available to keep the student-athlete ahead in his studies.

Classrooms

Sports Medicine Offices

The top floor includes:

Human Performance Laboratory — A sophisticated lab with the latest in human performance technology.

Biomechanics Lab

Athletic Administrative Staff — Offices saturates the third floor from the athletic director to the business manager to the sports information director.

The Sports Medicine/Physical Education Building is a unique structure, unlike any facility in the country.

"With the athletic department and portions of the physical education department under one roof," said Hart, "the building is a positive illustration of how athletics and academics go hand-in-hand here at East Carolina."

ECU "Big Wheels"

The road becomes a second home for those connected with collegiate athletics. Indeed, being on the road and traveling thousands of miles each year is a major part of the job.

Almost every facet of the job — recruiting, scouting competition, making public appearances, etc. — are activities that keep athletic personnel on the move.

The "wheels" that keep East Carolina's athletic program rolling are a group known as Courtesy Car Dealers, and they play a vital role in allowing the Pirate staff to meet their demands.

Far more than just a fringe benefit, these cars given by the East Carolina Courtesy Car Dealers are necessities for a growing and successful athletic program.

The entire East Carolina staff wishes to thank each dealer providing a car to this fleet of courtesy cars. We hope our fans will look to these fine people for their automotive needs at every opportunity.

Thanks Courtesy Car Dealers! You keep the wheels of East Carolina athletics rolling.

Thanks also goes to Adam's Auto Wash of Greenville. Adam's helps keep ECU's courtesy cars looking clean.

The Marching Pirates

Innovative band displaying new uniforms

The Marching Pirates take the field in 1989 in new uniforms purchased through the generous gifts of friends, alumni, and the university community of East Carolina University. These uniforms will replace the "temporary jackets" purchased in 1980.

The ECU Marching Pirates have a national reputation among college and high school band directors and students as one of the most innovative college bands in the country. The group draws students from New England to Southern Florida and as far west as Oklahoma. The group is known for its high energy performances and "solid, wall of sound" contrasting with a "delicate, musical blend."

This year the band is under the field leadership of Drum Major Scott Lane and Assistant Drum Major Nick Holland. Field Commander is Calvin Braxton. The first recording of the Marching Pirates may be purchased at the band section in the stadium or through the office of director: Dr. Thomas W. Goolsby; School of Music; East Carolina University; Greenville, NC 27858.

A Special Thanks

East Carolina University expresses appreciation to the 93 individuals, organizations and corporations whose gifts made possible the purchase of new uniforms for the Marching Pirates. Very special thanks go to the following donors whose exemplary generosity was instrumental in making the band uniform project a success:

E.I. DuPont de Nemours & Company
Heilig-Meyers Furniture Company
Robert L. Jones

The ECU Marching Pirates are known throughout the nation as one of the most innovative college bands in the country.

Here's To The Pirates

by Mitch Doub, Joe Distefano, Tom Goolsby, Phil Marnell

Here's to the Pirates of ECU!
We're going to raise our battle flag high,
We're going to sing it long,
Shout it loud;
And then they'll know
That we are Pirate Proud.
Because the battle's been fought,
And now it's won,
And everybody knows that we're Number One!
Because we're full of Pride,
We've got them bowing to our side,
Here's to ECU!

Traditional

by Ron Jacobs

We're from East Carolina
the Purple and Gold;
The Pirates of the country
No others quite as bold.

— GO PIRATES —

Stand up for the Pirates
As we go to the Victory
So let's give 'em a hand
Come on folks, Let's stand!
and show 'em, we're from EC!

Pirate Cheerleading

Helping lead the Spirit of the East

The East Carolina University Cheerleading and Mascot Programs are an exciting part of the university atmosphere and a guaranteed way to be involved with the athletics of the university and community. The demands and responsibilities are numerous and the rewards are endless.

The Cheerleading Program is divided into two groups. The Purple Squad serves as the Varsity Squad, and appears at home and away football games and at men's basketball games. The Gold Squad serves as the Junior Varsity Squad and as an alternate to the Purple Squad. The Gold Squad cheers at home football games and women's basketball games. The Purple and Gold Squads also cheer for all East Carolina Inter-Collegiate Athletic Programs, such as soccer, volleyball, swimming, diving, baseball and softball. Both squads also represent ECU at pep rallies, sporting events, and make promotional appearances.

The requirements for tryouts vary every year due to the growth and changing needs of the squad. The Purple and Gold Squads' requirements are cheers and chants, dance ability, gymnastics ability, partner stunts, crowd involvement and enthusiasm. Specific requirements are announced at the beginning of each tryout clinic.

An important part of the cheerleading squad is the Pirate Mascot, who, in addition to football and basketball games, entertains at other Pirate athletic contests throughout the year. The Pirate also makes guest appearances at civic, social and promotional functions. Wherever he goes, The Pirate is recognized as the trademark of East Carolina University. Tryouts for the cheerleading squads and the mascot occur in both spring and fall.

The advantages, rewards, and opportunities of the Cheerleading and Mascot Programs speak for themselves and make the efforts worthwhile.

Peggy Smith, a veteran instructor of cheerleading, is the director of cheerleading and mascots at East Carolina. Smith, also experienced in dance, drill teams, and color guard, begins her second year with the ECU Cheerleading and Mascot Programs.

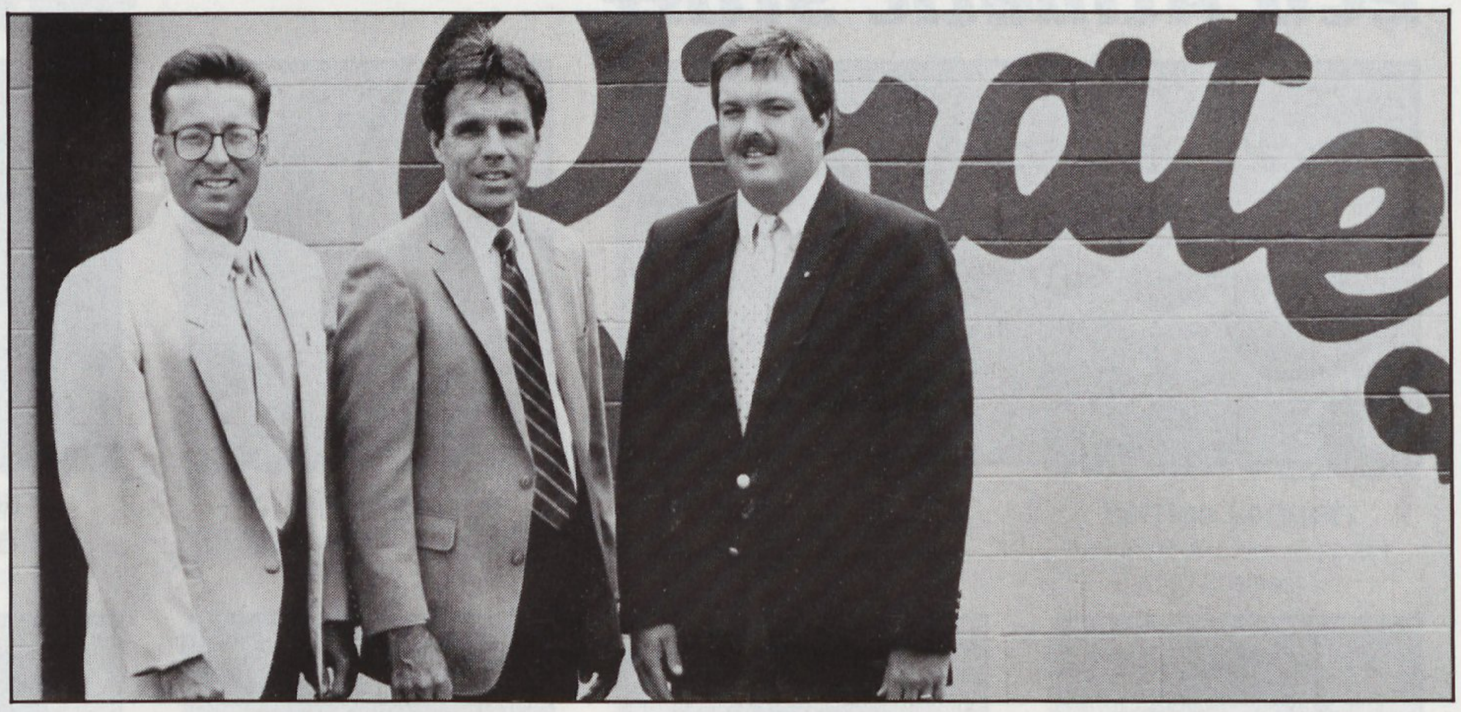

Smith, who cheered on the collegiate level for the University of Southwestern Louisiana, earned her master's degree in 1985. Peggy is currently a full-time faculty member for the Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Safety Department at ECU. She coaches both the Purple and Gold Squads in addition to the Mascot.

Noting The Pirates

The last three head football coaches at East Carolina have won their opening games. Pat Dye's squad defeated Bowling Green on Sept. 14, 1974 (24-6), Ed Emory's team beat Duke in Durham on Sept. 6, 1980 (35-10) and Art Baker's squad won at N.C. State (33-14) on Sept. 7, 1985. Sonny Randle's Pirates lost to Toledo (0-45) on Sept. 11, 1971. Pirate football coaches are 6-9 in their debuts at ECU.

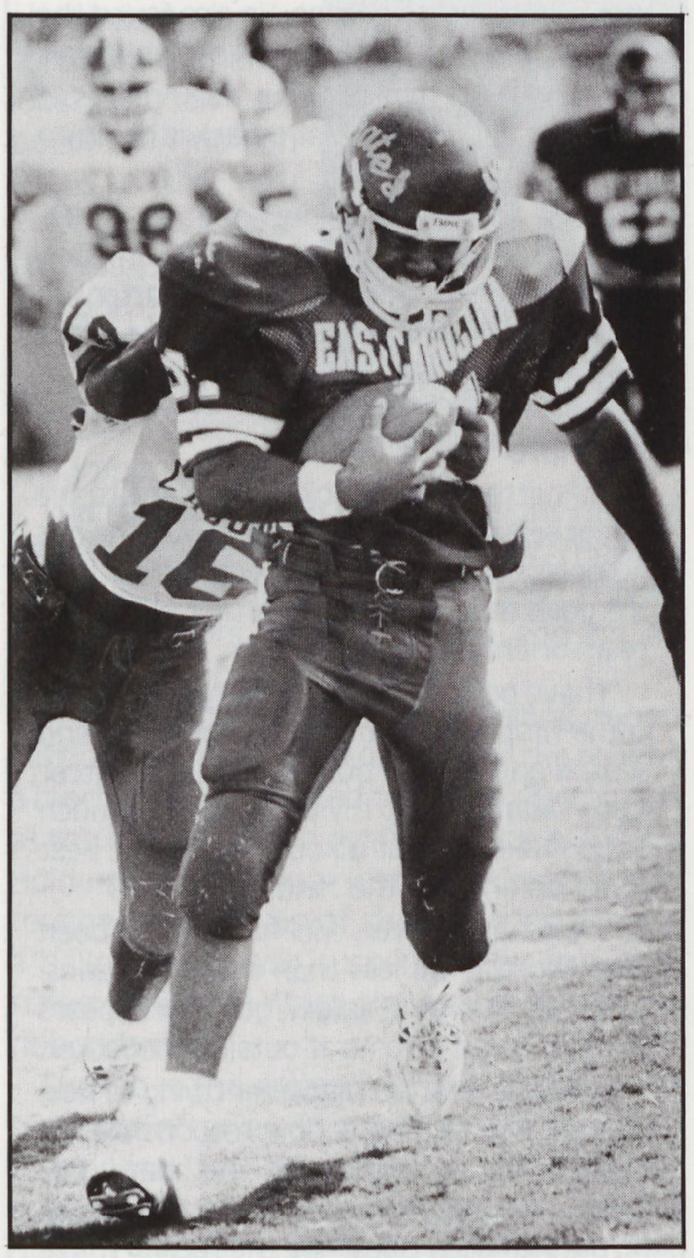

★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★

Sept. 9 marks the latest season opener for the Pirates since Sept. 11, 1982, when ECU lost at N.C. State (26-33). Since the Pirates started football in 1932, season openers have been earlier in the season. In 1932, ECU started its season on Oct. 29, the latest opener in school annals. Since then, it has made a downward trek.

★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★

The Pirates have played two games on Sept. 9 in school history. In 1972 on that date, ECU defeated VMI, 30-3. And, in 1978 on that date, the Pirates lost to N.C. State, 13-29.

ECU's Top Opening Day Performances

Les Strayhorn owns the top individual opening day rushing performance in ECU history. On Sept. 12, 1970, Strayhorn rushed for 170 yards on 17 carries as the Pirates lost to Toledo, 2-35. Since that date, eight Pirate runningbacks have carried for over 100 yards on opening day. The last Pirate to run for over 100 yards on opening day was Kevin Ingram, who carried 13 times for 124 yards against Florida State on Sept. 3, 1984.

Junior Robinson had a night to remember last year in the season opener against Tennessee Tech. The speedster returned a kickoff 98 yards for a touchdown and was named the coaches' special teams player of the week and the ECAC Defensive Player of the Week.

★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★

Only a late fumble kept ECU from winning its season opener in 1983 against Florida State in Tallahassee. The Pirates trailed 47-46 with less than four minutes left and had the ball at their own 30-yard line. Ingram carried for a 48-yard gain and appeared to have ECU in good field position at the FSU 22-yard line. However, Ingram was hit from behind and fumbled, giving FSU the ball and the clock. Ingram also threw for 138 yards in that contest, on eight-of-14 passing.

Zack Valentine provided the heroics in ECU's 1977 season opener against N.C. State in Raleigh. The linebacker intercepted a Johnny Evans pass and returned it 60 yards for a touchdown in ECU's 28-23 win. ECU had 346 yards rushing for the game while holding NCSU to 131 yards on the ground.

There were some familiar faces around the last time BGSU and East Carolina met on the playing field. The head coach of the Falcons that season was Don Nehlen, who is now the mentor at West Virginia, an ECU opponent last season. On his staff was Dale Strahm, currently the head coach at Western Carolina and a former assistant at Georgia with Bill Lewis.

★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★

In that 1974 game, young Mike Weaver, only a sophomore, rushed for a game-high 85 yards on 12 carries. Not bad for a quarterback. However, the Pirates had no passing yards that game and rushed for 337 yards as a team. The "Wild Dog" defense held true and allowed just a late touchdown. Linebacker Danny Kepley was the key with eight tackles, one pass break up and one fumble recovery. Said Coach Pat Dye after the game, "I can't say enough about Kepley I don't know how well he did play ... definitely an All-American."

★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★

The offense for the Pirates seem to be in high gear for season openers. ECU has been shut out just three times since 1940 in season openers. The last time was Sept. 11, 1971 when Toledo beat the Pirates 45-0. This decade, the Pirates have scored an average of 32.5 points per game on opening night. ECU is 5-4 in season openers this decade.

★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★

ECU is 6-3 against teams from the state of Ohio, including 1-1 vs. Bowling Green, 2-2 vs. Toledo, and 3-0 vs. Cincinnati. There are no Ohioans on the ECU roster and there are no players from North Carolina on the Bowling Green roster.

★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★

ECU will be trying to win its third game in a row and would be the longest win streak by the Pirates since 1983. That season, Ed Emory's squad finished 8-3 and won five in a row. The Pirates won their last two games last season against Temple (34-17) and Cincinnati (49-14).

The Mid-American Conference has had its share of quality players and teams. Bowling Green's Phil Villapiano had a successful NFL career with the Oakland Raiders and Buffalo Bills (1971-83). Also, successful coaches such as Ara Parseghian (Notre Dame), Bill Mallory (Indiana) and Bo Schembechler (Michigan) are products of the MAC. All three attended Miami (Ohio). Speaking of the Redskins, they pulled off one of the biggest upsets of the decade. Miami defeated LSU, 21-12, on Sept. 20, 1986 in Tiger Stadium. That season, LSU went to the Sugar Bowl.

Eight of ECU's opponents opened their seasons on Sept. 2. Three — Bowling Green, Syracuse and Miami (Fla.) open their campaigns today.

Lowe Pondering A Career As A Professional Boxer

By Carolyn Justice-Hinson

ECU Sports Information Student Assistant

Watch out Mike Tyson, East Carolina's Grant Lowe could be your next opponent.

Lowe, a senior offensive lineman, says if professional football passes him by, he would turn to his next love — boxing.

Introduced to boxing by his father, Al Lowe, a former professional boxer, the younger Lowe boxed when he was young and still loves the sport. His father is currently a nationally recognized coach of boxing.

THE CLASS OF '89

Senior Profiles

"My dad is a good teacher and through him I have some connections to get me started," Lowe said. "There's a lot of money to be made in boxing and I'd like to give it a try."

Lowe's size of 270 pounds would put him in the heavyweight class, a division whose title holders are synonymous with boxing: Tyson, Muhammad Ali, Joe Frazier, just to name a few. Could Lowe be next? At 6-foot-4, even Iron Mike would have to look up at Lowe.

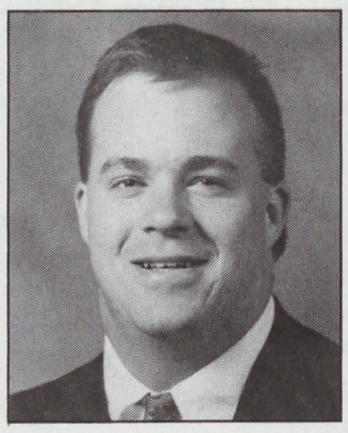

Professional football is a definite possibility for Lowe. Beginning his senior season, he's in the best condition of his career, according to the ECU coaching staff.

Getting into this fantastic shape, Lowe spent the summer dedicating himself to conditioning, working out and ... gaining weight!? Yes, gaining weight!

Lowe used a special diet to add pounds to his frame. A diet most would love to have, Lowe ate between 8,000-10,000 calories a day.

"I ate a lot of carbohydrates and lots of fruits and vegetables. Pastas and trailmix (raisins, M&M's and peanuts) were my favorite things," Lowe said.

Lowe, a three-year Pirate starter, is looking forward to the 1989 season.

LOWE

"Coach Lewis is a good motivator," Lowe says. "He has created a lot of excitement and has our blood pumping. We're looking forward to the '89 season."

The Pirates must stay confident, says Lowe, and always keep in the back of their minds what losing's all about.

"The last two games of the 1988 season, we played great and finally got a taste of winning. That taste is carrying over but we can't forget what it's like to lose," Lowe says.

Whether Lowe's future is in professional football or professional boxing, you can bet that he's looking to have a "knock-out" of a season.

Todd Drugac

Q. Since coming to ECU, which of your teammates have you become best friends with?

A. "Stewart Southall, my 'left-hand' man at right guard, and Carl Carney, my roommate since 1985."

At 6-foot-1, 267 pounds, Todd Drugac does not fit into the mold of a place-kicker. Yet the Pirate senior offensive lineman once booted a field goal at Boonton (NJ) High School, helping his team win.

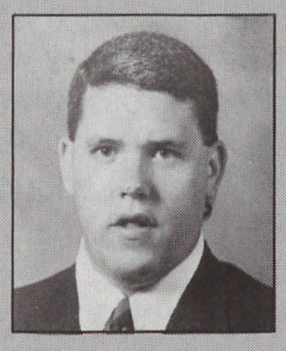

The Boonton native has always been like that — doing anything possible to help the team win. In four years at ECU, some said he was too small to play the offensive line, yet he has been one of the Pirates' most consistent players in the trenches.

Drugac's parents, Harold and Denise, knew that Todd was special when, at two years old, he could throw a football and dive off the "high" diving board.

Carl Carney

Carl lists his three most dreaded classes:

1. Accounting
2. Statistics
3. Trigonometry

Carl lists his three most rugged practice drills:

1. Gassers
2. Oklahoma
3. Machine Gun

Carl Carney's senior season did not begin on a positive note. He re-injured a shoulder and could miss his entire final year.

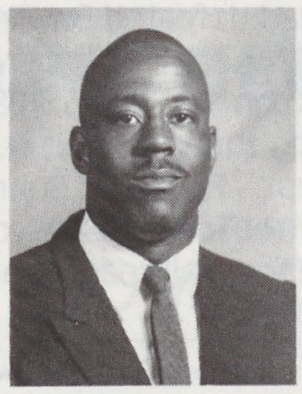

The 6-0, 245-pound lineman, is a Pirate veteran from Columbia, SC. At Columbia's Brookland Cayce High School, Carney was all-everything. From all-conference to all-region to all-state.

Despite being plagued with the injury, Carney never misses a practice, although physically he has not been able to work out.

Former Pirate Running Back Welcomed Change To The Defensive

By Chris Siegel

ECU Sports Information Student Assistant

McPHATTER

Most running backs often dream about what it would be like to dish out some of the punishment they receive. The constant pounding by opposing tacklers and the never-ending barrage of bumps and bruises makes some backs wish they had a chance to return the favor.

Brian McPhatter has had that opportunity, and he has found that it's better to hit than to be hit.

McPhatter came to ECU in 1986 as a highly-touted tailback. He spent his freshman season seeing limited action, gaining 49 yards while scoring two touchdowns. But as most backs find, the punishment of opposing tacklers often spelled injury.

"Coming in and playing tailback was something I looked forward to doing," McPhatter said. "But when I saw I was kind of injury prone, I moved to defense and it has worked for me."

Worked it has. McPhatter moved to the defensive side of scrimmage and found the move an awarding change. He also found the transition not as difficult as one might think.

"Being a former running back makes it easier to anticipate what a back is going to do," McPhatter said.

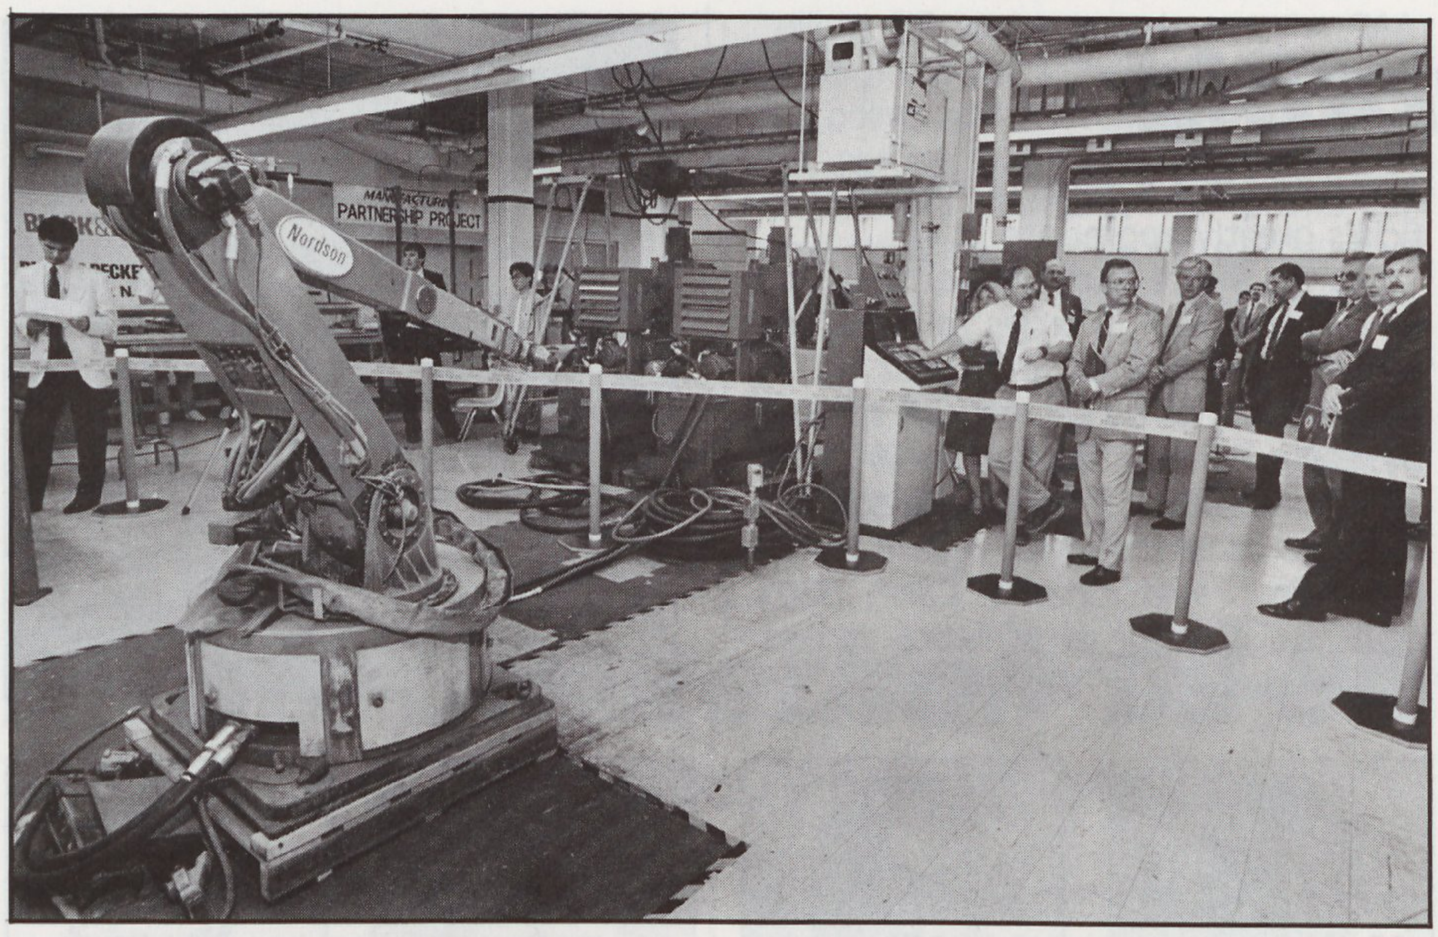

Since moving to defense in 1987, McPhatter has made a considerable impact. In his two seasons on defense, McPhatter has amassed 94 tackles, six of which for a loss of yardage. He was second on the team in tackles in 1988 and was twice selected Defensive Player of the Week.

McPhatter now is looking forward to his senior season. Like all football players, he has his personal goals, but he makes it clear that the goals that are most important to him are team-oriented.

"I have personal goals, but my team goals come first. I want to see us have a winning season and go to a bowl game," McPhatter said. "I want to help my teammates as much as possible and just go out and do the best I can, on and off the field."

A versatile player, McPhatter has been asked to play no less than three positions. He began the fall at safety, but now appears to have found a home at outside linebacker.

McPhatter started his career trying to help his team score, and is now responsible for keeping the opposition off the board. But McPhatter has enjoyed the change and, as he puts it, "I can't describe the feeling I have when I play defense. It is just unbelievable."

ECU Robotics Lab...

It slices, dices, cuts ribbons and more

By George A. Threewitts

UNIVERSITY FEATURE

EAST CAROLINA UNIVERSITY

Visit a laboratory for robots and you might see an industrious troupe of mechanical creatures scurrying about doing an assortment of menial jobs. But don't expect to find an R2D2 in the new Robotics Laboratory at East Carolina University. The robots in this lab don't talk or walk but their function is still important.

The robots are the kind you might find on an assembly line in a modern factory. They are robot arms, mostly, with steel and rubber suction fingers that slice, dice and do an assortment of intricate tasks.

When the lab held its grand opening ribbon cutting ceremony last April, one of the robots, a mechanical arm bolted to a table, functioned as the official ribbon cutter for the occasion. Holding a soldering iron, the robot arm touched the hot tip of the soldering against a balloon that was suspended by two long strips of ribbon. When the balloon burst the ribbon broke.

The lab is the creation of the Department of Manufacturing in the ECU School of Industry and Technology and is the result of equipment donations by companies including Black & Decker, Consolidated Diesel, Procter and Gamble and Nordson Corporation.

It is located in Flanagan Building in one of the large rooms at the rear of the building. Outfitted with conveyor lines and five robots, the lab closely resembles the inside of an industrial manufacturing plant.

"We're still in transition, taking out old equipment and moving in new machinery," said Dr. Darryl Davis, chairman of the Department of Manufacturing. "But the lab is able to function."

One of its functions is the operation of the new ECU/Black & Decker Manufacturing Research and Development Work Cell. The work cell, a scaled down version of a manufacturing assembly line, is part of a Manufacturing Partnership Project between ECU and the Black & Decker Company.

"It's used for education and research," said Davis.

Manufacturing students operate the facility's two robots and assembly line equipment to develop the most efficient assembly line procedures for new products. They also experiment with design changes on products being considered for production by the company.

Davis said products produced at ECU will not be sold but will be sent to company headquarters in Towson, Md., and to Underwriters Laboratories for safety and life expectancy testing.

The school's close association with the Black & Decker manufacturing plant in Tarboro contributed to the development of the partnership project and to donations of equipment by the company. The Tarboro plant makes electrical tools.

The ECU Black & Decker Work Cell is currently working on a battery-powered drill that was produced for the European Market. The drill may someday be sold in the United States but a few minor design problems must be corrected first. ECU students are using computer analysis and construction changes to correct the flaws.

Two other Black & Decker projects involving a portable halogen lamp and a power cord have also served as manufacturing problem solving projects for ECU.

"It has given us an effective research component," said Dr. Barry DuVall, an ECU manufacturing engineer and the developer of the work cell project.

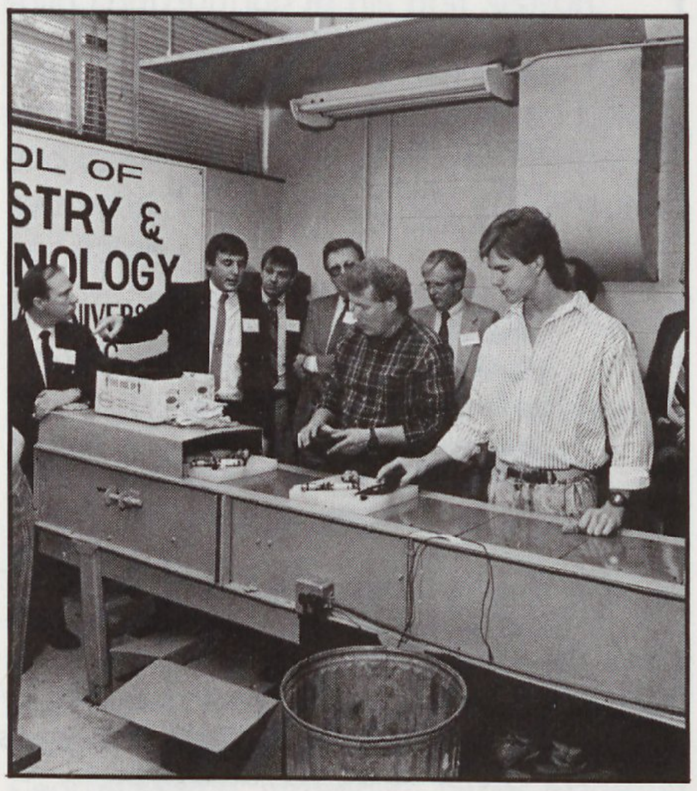

"We can now do things such as running prototypes of products and we can actually be involved in refining the product. We get the bugs out in terms of performance of the product and the bugs out in terms of how it can be produced most efficiently," he said.

DuVall said the long term goal of the lab is to be able to not only showcase the emerging technology but also to showcase how the technology is managed. He said the lab will become part of a larger computer center that will eventually enable students to learn how to manage and follow what happens on a production floor through computers.

Dr. Trenton G. Davis, acting dean of the School of Industry and Technology, said the support by Black & Decker and other manufacturing industries represents more than $1 million in equipment, scholarships and internship programs.

"ECU's partnership with these industries," Davis said, "has made us better equipped for teaching the technology associated with manufacturing.

"It has enabled us to offer our students insights and problem solving experiences that will enhance their skills and will help them become more efficient managers and supervisors," he said.

CT&T Scholarship

A full $3,500 athletic scholarship is awarded at each home East Carolina football game by Carolina Telephone and Telegraph for outstanding achievements in academics and contribution by an ECU team member to the Pirate football program.

The award has been given since 1984, but this season marks the second time that CT&T and its president, Wayne Peterson, have contributed the full scholarship amount for each home game, and it is a donation that ECU officials greatly appreciate.

"As the Pirate Club strives to expand its funding base in order to fully fund athletic scholarships and meet future goals for growth, a gesture like this one by Wayne Peterson and CT&T stands out as an illustration of corporate commitment to excellence with regard to our program," said Charlie Carr, ECU's associate director of athletics and executive director of the Pirate Club.

R.W. Moore Scholarship

The "King of the Gridiron" scholarship is presented each home football game to the outstanding East Carolina University football player for that particular game as voted on by the media in attendance.

Mr. R.W. Moore of Raleigh, president of R.W. Moore Equipment Company, initiated the scholarship in 1977. This season marks the 13th consecutive year for the presentations.

The scholarship carries a $1,000 value and is presented in the name of the winning player to the ECU Educational Foundation (Pirate Club). The money is then contributed to the general athletic scholarship fund.

East Carolina University extends its appreciation to Mr. Moore for this outstanding service to the University and the athletic department.

1989 To be named

When East Carolina head coach Mike Steele looks down his bench for a substitute during the waning moments of a close ball game, he'll have plenty of faces to pick from. What he won't have is someone the calibre of Theodore "Blue" Edwards.

That, pretty much, sums up the 1989-90 outlook for the Pirates. And, it's not as tough as you might think even with the loss of the Colonial Athletic Association Player of the Year in 1988-89.

Pirate Basketball '89-90

Replacing "Blue" will be ECU's biggest challenge

Steele returns seven lettermen from last year's 15-14 squad including starters Gus Hill, Reed Lose and Stanley Love. Also, the coaching staff inked seven newcomers to national letters-of-intent. With those numbers, there will definitely be more quality in the quantity.

Hill, a 6-3 senior guard, was the CAA Rookie of the Year in 1987-88 after scoring 19.3 points and 5.5 rebounds per game. Last season, with the emergence of Edwards, Hill slowed to 10.7 points per game. Hill will have to be more productive this season for the Pirates to make an impact in the league.

Lose, a 6-4 senior guard, is one of the scrappiest players in the league. He'll add leadership and hustle to the squad that will have five freshmen, five sophomores, two juniors and two seniors. Last season, Lose averaged 7.7 points and 3.4 rebounds per game.

Love, a 6-5 junior center, started to develop a shooting touch late in the season. If he can carry that over to 1989-90, he'll be a force to contend with among CAA centers. Last year, he averaged 5.2 points and 3.7 rebounds per game and had 15 points in ECU's CAA tournament opening round win against American.

Sophomores Brooks Bryant, Robin House, Casey Mote and Jeff Perlich should continue to improve and make an impact this season. Bryant, a 6-9 center, and Mote, a 6-7 center, should give the Pirates additional inside height. House, a 6-1 guard, and Perlich, a 6-2 guard, are good shooters who should see more playing time this season.

Of the seven newcomers inked by ECU, six hail from the state of North Carolina. Only Steve Richardson, a 6-3 freshman guard, comes from out-of-state, by way of Terre Haute (Ind.) South High School. As a senior last year, Richardson averaged 19.5 points, seven rebounds and four assists per game.

Three junior college talents should help the Pirates out right away. Tim Brown, a 6-7 forward/center from Louisburg Junior College, Taro Knight, a 6-3 guard from Chowan Junior College, and Darrell Overton, a 6-6 forward/center from Craven Community College signed with ECU.

Brown, who averaged 17 points and nine rebounds per game last season, should provide immediate help in the middle. Knight, who will have three years of eligibility remaining, could break into the starting lineup at point guard. Overton is a force on the boards, averaging 14 points and 12 rebounds per game last season.

Stanley Love and six other returnees will be looked to more often this season.

Also, three North Carolina prepsters signed with ECU. Paul Childress, a 5-10 guard from Albemarle High School, averaged 18 points, four rebounds and five assists per game last season. He'll make a solid contribution in his first season.

Ike Copeland, a 6-8 center from Rocky Mount Senior High School, will add height and depth in the middle. Last season, he averaged 14.5 points and 11.0 rebounds per game.

D.J. Morgan, a 6-6 forward from Athens Drive High School, could see plenty of action this season. Last year, he averaged 15 points and 14 rebounds per game.

The Pirate basketball schedule gets tougher with road visits to Duke, New Mexico, TCU, and a visit to Hawaii for the Chaminade Invitational. ECU will also host Mississippi State. There is also the regular CAA schedule, which includes Richmond, George Mason, American, James Madison, UNC-Wilmington, Navy and William and Mary.

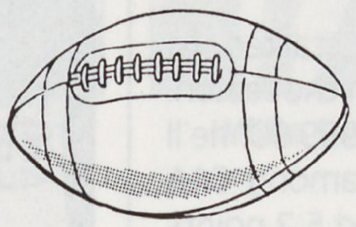

ECU's home games will start at 7 p.m. this season.

Lady Pirate Basketball

Task at hand: Replacing four key veterans

After leading the Lady Pirates to a 15-3 record and a third-place finish in the Colonial Athletic Association, third-year head coach Pat Pierson must now face the task of replacing four key seniors as ECU heads into the 1989-90 season.

"We're expecting to be in a learning process," said Pierson, who enters her 11th year of coaching on the collegiate level with a 189-122 record. "We have some strong players returning, despite our loss at graduation."

The Lady Pirates graduated Gretta Savage, 1988-89 Lady Pirate Co-MVP and Pitt County Player of the Year; Chris O'Connor, who earned the team's best free throw percentage last season; Pam Williams, ECU Best Defensive Award recipient; and Rose Miller, who received the ECU Most Improved and Coaches Award for 1988-89.

One of the bright points this season will be the return of 1988-89 Lady Pirate Co-MVP, Sarah Gray. The 6-0 junior forward returned to ECU last season after missing all of 1987-88 following knee surgery. Upon returning, she led ECU in scoring and rebounding throughout the season, averaging 14.4 points and 9.0 rebounds per game, respectively.

"Last season Sarah had an excellent season for someone who was out for a year," Pierson said. "This year, we're working with her to be more aggressive on both ends of the court, especially in rebounding. She will carry a lot of the responsibility for us, especially in scoring."

ECU will look for the leadership from lone senior, Irish Hamilton. The a 5-4 guard led ECU in assists last season with 138. "Irish is stepping into her senior leadership role well prepared," Pierson said. "She has been working hard and we see no problem with her handling this role."

To lessen the loss of height and hustle, Pierson will look to 6-1 junior forward Kim Dupree and 5-9 sophomore forward Tonya Hargrove to fill the demand.

"Kim will be back in full force this season," Pierson said. "She sat out part of last season after transferring. She can make a major contribution to this year's team with her size and scoring ability. Depending on how hard she works in the off-season and preseason, will depend on how good a season she has and what role she will fill for us."

Hargrove comes off an excellent freshman year where she was a spark off the bench. "Tonya will provide us with a lot of athletic ability. Making the All-Rookie team gave her a lot of incentive. She runs the floor well and she is as good as she wants to be," Pierson said.

In the height department, Pierson will also look to 6-2 junior forward Sandra Grace, who played in 25 games last season. "Sandra is working into her role for the Lady Pirates. When she saw playing time last year, she made things happen. She is a natural rebounder. We'll need her and depend on her with Gretta's (Savage) loss."

Along with Grace, sophomore Kathy Addison will also contribute in the height department. Addison, a 5-11 forward, will be seeing time on the inside and the perimeter. Sophomore guard Toina Coley will also be depended on for help on the perimeter. Coley, a 5-7 guard, gained valuable experience last season, playing in 27 of the Lady Pirates' 28 games.

One of East Carolina's strengths this season will be depth in the backcourt. Sophomores Laura Crowder and Mechelle Jones, former teammates at Colonial Heights (VA) High School, will help provide this depth.

"Laura and Mechelle each have the ability to see a lot of playing time. With their hustle and last year's experience, they give us the ability to play a three-guard offense."

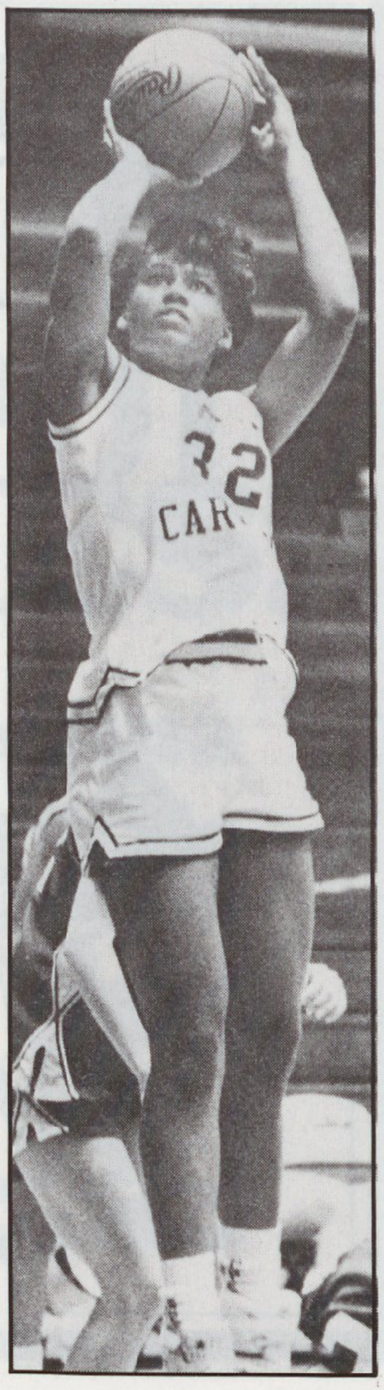

Pierson and her coaching staff are pleased with their returning players as well as the four recruits that will be joining this year's team.

Juniors Michelle Marsh and Keeneya Wilson transferred to ECU from Roane State Community College (TN), the winner of the Region VII Junior College title. Marsh, a 6-0 forward, averaged 14 points and eight rebounds last season and was selected to the All-Region VII team. Wilson is a 5-8 guard and an excellent perimeter shooter who will be an asset to the Lady Pirates in all aspects of the court.

Also on the recruit list are Toni Thurman and Gaynor O'Donnell. Thurman, a freshman from Hallboro, NC, has all the makings of a good college player. O'Donnell, a native of Liverpool, England, played her high school basketball at Southern Wayne and was selected as the Mid-Eastern 4-A Player of the Year.

"Our returning players and our recruits are all young and need time to gel," Pierson said. "We have good talent on the perimeter, but our inside must be more aggressive. Once we come together, we have the nucleus for a winning team."

The schedule is highlighted by two tournaments—the Lady Pirate Classic and Furman Christmas Classic—and ECU will host nationally ranked North Carolina State. The CAA race will be as interesting as ever with several teams contending — it could be anyone's ball game.

Sandra Grace will be looked on to score more often in '89-90. (Photo by Elbert Kennard)

East Carolina University

A rising star in the higher education heavens

The school that was to become East Carolina University opened its doors to students for the first time in 1909. It was a newly-founded state normal school to train teachers.

Eighty years is a relatively short time among the hallowed institutions of higher learning to develop a heritage of academic richness and tradition, for ivy to cover the stone and old brick walls and walkways of the campus. East Carolina is still a relatively young institution insofar as the Yales, William and Marys and the University of Virginias are concerned, but the ivy is growing at ECU.

Its heritage is that of a small normal school, then a teachers college, still known with affection and nostalgia as E-C-T-C, East Carolina Teachers College, and later as a liberal arts college, ECC. It took 22 years after the close of World War II for the college to reach the stage of development and organization, size and diversity, to become a university.

ECU has, semester after semester, enrolled the third largest number of students of any college or university in the state of North Carolina, with an estimated enrollment of 1989-90 of 16,000 students.

It became East Carolina University by an act of the General Assembly of North Carolina in 1967 and four years later was made a constituent institution of the 16-campus University of North Carolina system.

Today East Carolina University is a vibrant, pulsing comprehensive university that already possesses tradition and is on the way to becoming a truly distinctive institution of higher learning.

ECU offers strong undergraduate degree programs in more than 100 tracks of study and graduate programs leading to master's degrees in nearly 90 fields in the liberal arts and sciences and in nine of its 10 professional schools — Allied Health Sciences, Art, Business, Education, Home Economics, Music, Nursing, Social Work and Industry and Technology. It offers research-grounded PhD programs in basic medical sciences and ECU's School of Medicine, the state's newest, has graduated more than 450 doctors of medicine (MDs) in just 10 years.

EAST CAROLINA UNIVERSITY

ECU has built a tradition of striving for excellence — and attaining it in many areas — of determination, of fierce pride and loyalty and of a mission of service related to its role of providing quality educational opportunity. It is a tradition that already sets East Carolina University apart.

To those who love East Carolina University it is and always has been a truly distinctive university.

It is a rising star in the higher education heavens.

ECU has, semester after semester, enrolled the third largest number of students of any college or university in the state of North Carolina, with an estimated enrollment of 1989-90 of 16,000 students.

Private support plays an important part in making the ECU ivy grow. In 1987-88, the level of private financial support of ECU's academics, medical education and research and athletics ranked second in the nation among more than 150 public comprehensive universities, totaling $5.9 million.

This private support provides dollars for a margin of excellence in ECU's programs of teaching, research and public service. Together with substantial state appropriations making up an annual operating budget of $170 million, funds enrich the instructional offerings and provide facilities, laboratories and scholarships.

Some of the buildings on the busy main campus in Greenville and all of those on the medical sciences campus in west Greenville are large, new and modern. The university has top priority plans for a $27 million expansion of its library facilities, the heart of an academic community. Adjacent to Ficklen Stadium and Minges Coliseum on the athletic complex is a new three-story Sports Medicine and Physical Education building which will house ECU's growing athletic department.

Even here, as all over the sprawling campus, if one looks closely, the ivy is growing at East Carolina University.

Thornton May Be Soarin' To New Heights At BGSU

Falcon receiver will test ECU secondary tonight

By Chris Sherk
BGSU Sports Information Director

He's being compared with some of the best pass receivers in the history of Bowling Green State University and the Mid-American Conference.

That puts Bowling Green's Reggie Thornton in some pretty exclusive company. Former BG Falcons Stan Hunter and Jeff Groth rank first and second on the school and conference charts for career receiving yards. Their marks may be challenged by the 5-11, 175-pound native of Detroit, Michigan this fall.

TODAY'S OPPONENT PROFILE

Thornton enters his senior season with 1,586 yards receiving. Hunter's all-time MAC record is 2,679 yards; Groth's second place mark is 2,268.

Thornton's yardage has come on 108 receptions of passes thrown mostly by quarterback Rich Dackin. Now a senior with more than 4,200 yards passing to his credit, Dackin is back in '89. So is senior flanker Ronald Heard, who has caught 88 passes for 1,575 yards the last three years. Also back for the '89 season are four offensive linemen and a tight end who were starters a year ago.

With that kind of experience returning for the Falcons on offense, Thornton and his teammates hope to pick up where they left off tonight against East Carolina in the season opener for both teams. Thornton needs 682 yards to reach Groth's second-place mark, a figure he topped as a sophomore in 1987 with 698 yards.

The last three seasons, the 5-11, 175-pound construction management major has averaged 36 catches for 529 yards and three touchdowns. The MAC coaches placed him on the all-conference team the last two years after he ranked third in pass receiving and sixth in all-purpose yards. (He holds four school records as a kick-off return specialist.)

His 4.4 speed in the 40-yard dash and his ability to make the catch on a precise sideline route for a drive-sustaining first down are assets. Heard is an equally talented wide-out opposite Thornton. Together, they have combined for almost 200 receptions and 3,000 yards since 1986.

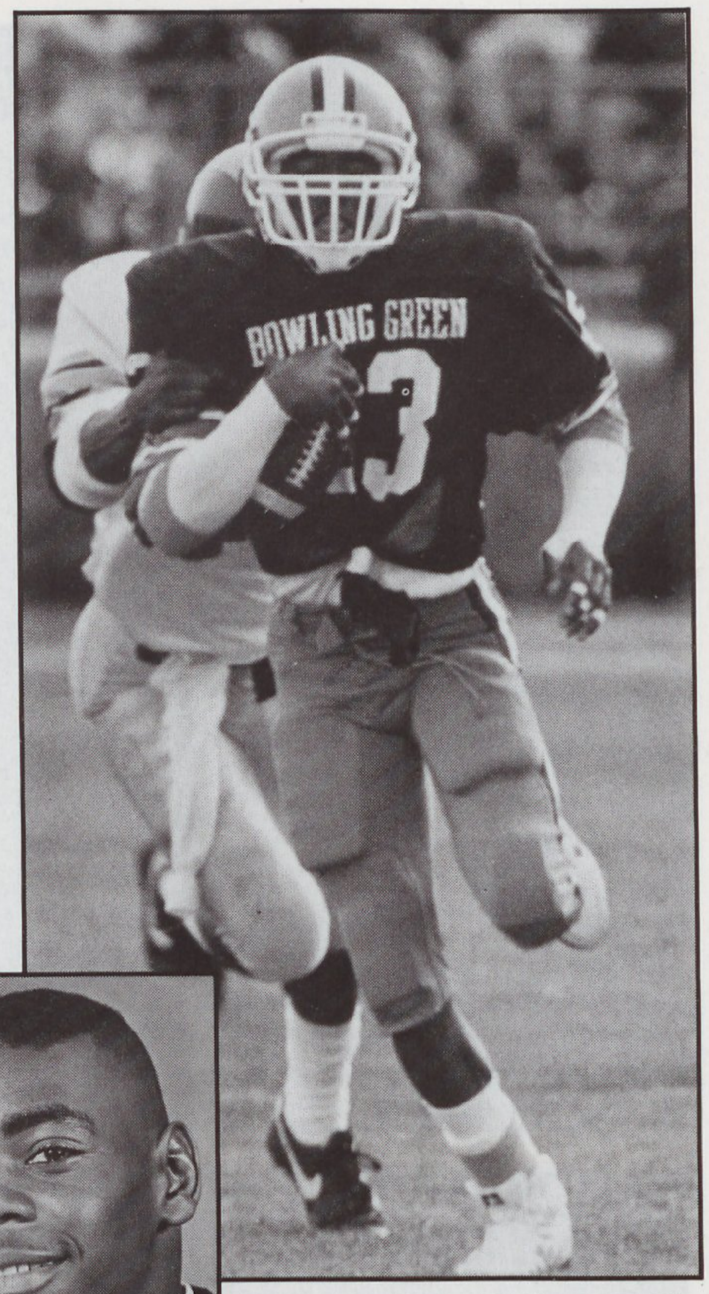

Bowling Green Coach Moe Ankney calls them "two of the premier receivers in the MAC."

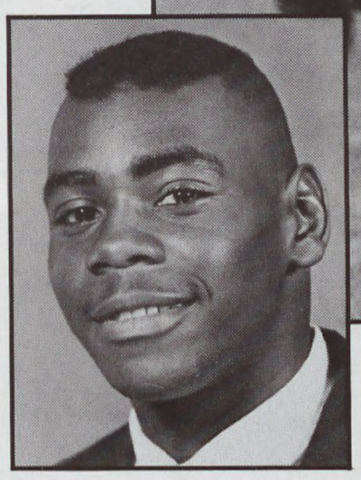

Thornton feels his game has been helped by Heard's presence.

"When I see Ron do something good, I say to myself, 'Hey, Reggie, you've got to beat Ron.' He feels the same way, so we help each other improve," Thornton said. "You can't double cover both of us. When you do, we have a tight end, Kyle Hockman, who's been with us for two years. He's a good tight end, so defenses have to respect him, too."

Thornton says opposing defenses will have to respect Bowling Green's running backs, as well in 1989. Tailback Charles Edgerton (105 carries, 427 yards) and fullback Ron Viscounte (22 carries, 103 yards) both are seniors who are coming off their most productive seasons.

There is room for improvement, however. The Falcons ranked second in the Mid-Am in passing offense (214.3 yards per game) last year. They were last in the league when it came to running the ball (91.8 YPG). A better balance of run and pass in '89 could be just the ticket for Thornton and company to penetrate enemy lines.

"Bowling Green had great receivers when I got here ... I learned from them. That gave me a big advantage."

— BGSU's Reggie Thornton

That Thornton is on the verge of greatness at Bowling Green is something of a surprise. While a student at Detroit MacKenzie High School, he didn't go out for the football team until his senior year. Before then, his only running was done on the track. But encouraged by his friends to go out for the football team as a senior, Thornton soon was catching both footballs and the eyes of college recruiters in the fall of 1984.

He chose to attend Bowling Green because of its academics and its football reputation for passing the ball.

"Bowling Green had great receivers when I got here," he says. "I learned from them. That gave me a big advantage. With only one year of high school football, I didn't think I'd make it this far, first team All-MAC.

"My main goal is to improve every year. My personal goals for this year are to be an effective leader and help my teammates out as much as I can."

That means helping the Falcons bounce back from a disappointing 2-8-1 season in 1988. BG finished eighth in the MAC after two straight second-place finishes in 1986 and 1987. Thornton was redshirted in 1985 when the Falcons went 11-0, won the MAC and played in the California Bowl.

"This year, all the seniors got together and talked," he said. "We don't want a repeat of last year. We want to prove everybody wrong. Most of the polls have us picked last or second-to-last (in the MAC). We're better than that, and we're going to prove it."

We're Proud To Support 1989 Pirate Football!

The East Carolina Sports Hall of Fame was initiated in 1974 as an organization to honor those individuals who have, by direct participation in East Carolina University intercollegiate athletics, brought outstanding recognition to themselves and to the University.

The first honorees were inducted during Homecoming festivities at halftime of the East Carolina-The Citadel football game in 1974. Ten members were selected for the first year. No more than four members may be selected for any one year in the future.

To be selected, a committee of five persons must vote with 80 percent of those giving their approval. Those five shall be the official selection committee. To be eligible for selection, a person must not have been connected with the University in the capacity to which the nominee is being elected for a minimum of five academic years.

Ficklen Stadium

The Home of the Pirates

The James Skinner Ficklen Memorial Stadium was dedicated on September 21, 1963, with East Carolina defeating Wake Forest 20-10.

The dedication game was the culmination of a dream come true for then East Carolina College and all of eastern North Carolina. The original plan was announced on Oct. 7, 1961, by Dr. Leo Jenkins, Chancellor of the College, at a meeting of the Society of Buccaneers.

Within a year, $283,387 had been raised, although the goal had been only $200,000. With the funds in hand, Ficklen Stadium was built.

The original stadium consisted of the permanent stands on the south side, a small press box and the old lighting system which was removed after the 1974 season. Total cost was $300,000.

The north side permanent seating was constructed in 1968, increasing the stadium seating capacity to 20,000.

The stadium was named for the late James Skinner Ficklen, a Greenville resident, who distinguished himself as one of America's leading tobacconists. At the time of his death in 1955, Ficklen was President and Chairman of the Board of the E.B. Ficklen Tobacco Company of Greenville. He was a close friend of the College and established a financial aid foundation, the Ficklen Foundation, to aid students of the College.

The first major change in Ficklen Stadium was the lighting systems, a change that occurred just before the 1975 season opened. The old inner stadium lights on six poles were removed and replaced with six towers outside the stadium. The system is a combination of metallic and incandescent lights. There are 288 fixtures of 1500 watts each on six 162-foot towers. Cost of the system was $450,000. Engineers say ECU has the best lighted stadium in the southeast.

A radical change greeted fans as the 1978 season opened. An expansion on all four corners boosted Ficklen's seating capacity from 20,000 to 35,000, the third-largest stadium in North Carolina. This expansion was made possible with 2½ million dollars through a drive in the spring of 1977.

In addition to more seats, an ultramodern press box with three levels and an elevator for access was built. The much needed press box is one of the finest in the country with space for 92 writers and an entire floor for electronic media. Also, a modern scoreboard with a lightbank message center was placed on the east end of Ficklen.

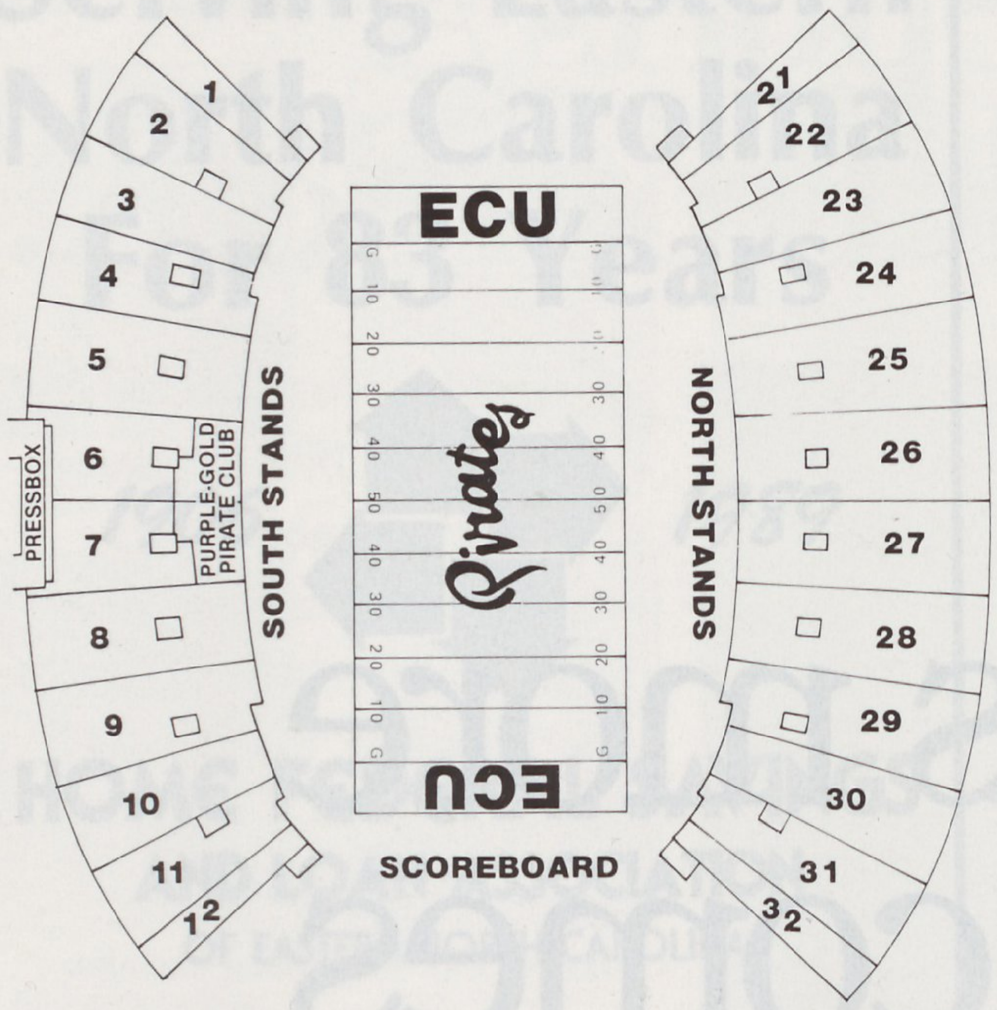

During the summer of 1982, a complete renovation took place on the playing surface. A new drainage system, a new base of gravel and sand, new treated topsoil and a new grass was installed. The new grass, Tifton 419 Hybrid Bermuda was sprigged at the rate of 600 bushels per acre.

The 1988 season saw the season attendance record fall in Ficklen Stadium as the Pirates drew a school-record 156,329 fans for six home games.

It means more when it comes from the coach.

The Domino's Pizza/AFCA "Coaches' Choice" Award honors the best collegiate football player in each of the four divisions of the American Football Coaches Association.

Established in 1988, it is quickly becoming one of the country's premier college football awards because the winners are selected by those who recruit, train and prepare student athletes.

The Domino's Pizza/AFCA "Coaches' Choice" Award. It's the voice of the experts – the coaches.

Bill Lewis Sports A Winning Look From S&K.

East Carolina University Football Coach Bill Lewis has a strategy for just about every situation—including how to get the most for his clothing dollar.

"It's simple. Just shop at S&K."

S&K sells names like Botany 500, Bill Blass, Adolfo, Robert Stock, Bert Pulitzer, Deansgate, Halston and many more. And we sell them at 30% off and more. Every day.

We also offer expert in-store alterations and a money back guarantee.

But don't take our word for it. Ask Bill Lewis. Better still, come see for yourself.

Sports Medicine

Providing care, treatment for Pirates

The East Carolina University sports medicine division and curriculum, reputed to be one of the finest in the Southeast, affords every Pirate athlete the best available care and treatment of injuries.

Headed by ECU's sports medicine director Rod Compton, who is a Certified Athletic Trainer and a member of the National Athletic Trainers Association (NATA), and the American Orthopedic Society for Sports Medicine, the East Carolina sports medicine program offers the best possible prevention, immediate treatment, and rehabilitation of injuries.

Compton, who earned degrees from Ohio University and Bowling Green State and served as Editor-in-Chief of the NATA Journal for six-and-one-half years, is also the director of the ECU Sports Medicine Conference, which is held annually in April on the East Carolina campus.

Compton (entering his 20th season) is assisted by team physician Dr. James McCallum, Greg Beres, Certified Athletic Trainer, and Karen Baker, Certified Athletic Trainer, as designated by the NATA. All serve on the staff of the Sports Medicine Conference and as faculty for the Sports Medicine Curriculum within the Department of Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Safety.

They are assisted by more than a dozen fine community-based professionals who lend valuable time to the program and 30 to 35 undergraduate students majoring in East Carolina University's sports medicine program.

The Sports Medicine Center is in the new Sports Medicine/Physical Education Building. The Center, which has been in operation since 1971, will now be able to better serve all student-athletes and further assist sports medicine majors in the curriculum.

The "Sports Paramedics," as Compton refers to his staff, are in attendance at every athletic event that involves East Carolina University athletes. Radio communication from practice field to the center is a must and a sports medicine vehicle provides instant transportation for injured athletes to the center. Prevention, evaluation, treatment, and rehabilitation are the main objectives of the Sports Medicine Division and when an injury does occur, Compton and his staff provide on-the-spot treatment to make certain the injury does not become more serious.

The Sports Medicine Curriculum, a part of the Health and Physical Education Department at East Carolina, is the only undergraduate athletic training program approved by the NATA in eastern North Carolina and one of only two in the state.

Dedication, sincere sensitivity, and individual attention are the basic motivators which distinguish East Carolina University's "Sports Paramedics" from any others. People helping people in a first-class setting. That's East Carolina Sports Medicine!

Pirate Athletes Scoring TD's In The Classroom

By Dean Buchan
Associate Sports Information Director

R.L. Beeman reads poetry as well as he reads a multiple offensive formation. The Pirate junior tackles trigonometry problems with the same aggressiveness that he tackles ball carriers.

Beeman, wearing No. 12 in purple tonight for ECU, can balance books in one hand and a football in the other with the skill of a juggler. When it comes to hitting the books, Beeman has never dropped the ball.

For three straight years — six consecutive semesters — Beeman has maintained a perfect 4.0 grade-point average. That's all A's folks. No B's, no C's, and don't even think about a D in three years of college.

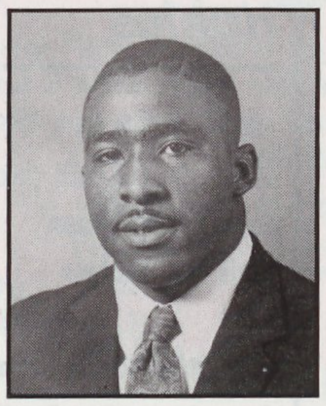

"If you're going to attempt something, whether it be football or studying or whatever, you go at it 100 percent," said Beeman, an industrial technology major. "You have to budget your time and discipline yourself."

The discipline part Beeman may have learned in the United States Army. Beeman went directly into the army after graduating from Robert E. Lee High School in Montgomery, Ala., before enrolling at ECU without an athletic scholarship. Still, he had his mind set on becoming a Pirate, much like the 1983 Pirates he read about in the newspaper back in the army barracks.

There was no guarantee that he would make the team. He tried out for the team as a walk-on, like many others do, and displayed the same aggressiveness on the field as he does in the classroom. He soon earned a spot on the Pirate roster and is now a valuable part of the ECU defense.

And he has been a model student.

"It is hard to maintain good grades," Beeman said. "But it's hard to maintain them whether you play football or not. You just have to apply yourself."

R.L. Beeman (left) has a perfect 4.0 GPA in three years at ECU.

Beeman may have to apply himself for years to come. He is considering attending law school upon graduating from ECU in the spring.

Beeman, 25, is a prime example of how athletics and academics go hand-in-hand at ECU. The cumulative grade point averages for ECU athletes have risen higher and higher each season over the last four years.

The football team, for example, has followed Beeman's lead in the classroom recently.

Twenty-one football players, or roughly one-fifth of the team, earned a GPA of 3.0 or better during the spring semester. That includes eight that made the Dean's List or Chancellor's List, the latter in recognition of 4.0 GPA's.

Beeman should receive part of that credit. He often volunteers his time to tutor other student-athletes and is even a late-night consultant in the area of electronics and mathematics.

"Each year our athletes have improved academically," said Pam Penland, ECU's Assistant Athletic Director for Academic Counseling. "That covers all sports, not just football. That does not mean that we can sit back and relax now and be satisfied. It's important for us to continue this trend."

While Penland and the ECU Counseling Center deserve a great deal of credit for the success, the coaches have played a major role too. During the recruiting process, Pirate coaches take a prospect's grades into as much consideration as the prospect's athletic prowess. Proposition 48, the NCAA legislation that forbids non-qualifying student-athletes to participate, has not effected one ECU athlete in any of the last three years.

Prop 48, which requires a student to score at least a 700 on the Scholastic Aptitude Test and maintain at least a 2.0 GPA in core-curriculum classes, came into effect in 1986. That year, four Pirate football players were effected. They sat out their freshmen seasons, yet all four have upped their grades and all four may start this fall.

One of those Prop 48 victims was senior wide receiver BoJack Davenport. After sitting out the 1986 season and losing that year of eligibility, Davenport has improved his academic standing so much that he is now an honor roll student.

Virtually every one of the 16 varsity sports teams have improved academically over the last four years:

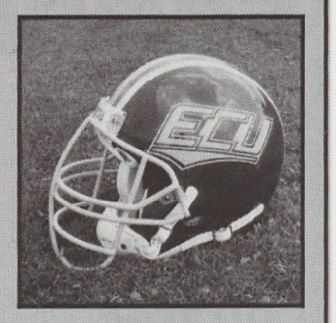

- The women's cross country team saw two-thirds of its roster earn a 3.0 or better GPA in the spring. In fact, the cumulative team GPA last semester was a sterling 3.06, and overall it is 2.88.
- The volleyball team also had 67 percent of its squad earn a 3.0 or better in the spring. Their cumulative team GPA is 2.93.
- Every member of the softball team maintained a 2.0 or better in the spring and 50 percent of the Lady Pirates earned a 3.0 or better. In fact, their cumulative GPA in the spring was a 2.98.
- The women's swim team had a 3.0 GPA or better in the spring among 38 percent of its team members.

Individually, four Pirate athletes have never received less than an A during their entire careers. Beeman, ECU swimmer Marc Cook, golfer Doug Hoey, and cross country runner Vincent Wilson all have perfect cumulative 4.0 GPA's.

In many cases, it appears that athletics helps, not hinders, the studying process. Participating in college sports forces one to learn to budget time, and it teaches discipline as well as teamwork. An athlete who allows their grades to fall seemingly lets down an entire team.

So tonight should be a breeze for Beeman. Hitting a few Bowling Green Falcon receivers and ball carriers is a welcome change for the poetry reading junior. After all, he's been hitting the books all week.

Uniforms Differ In Style From Last Year

The East Carolina football uniforms have taken on a whole new look in 1989, with changes made from helmet to toe.

"We wanted a good-looking uniform," said Bill Lewis, ECU's head coach. "I think appearance is important and we designed the uniform to look good in terms of what I like to see on a football team."

The biggest change is on the helmet, where a modern-type "ECU" is in and the old "Pirates" script is out. Three stripes have also been added to the helmet.

The game jerseys (purple for home games and white for away) will boast six-inch numbers on the sleeve and large numbers on the front and back to allow for easier visibility. The home jerseys will no longer have "East Carolina" on the chest.

The pants, made of an all-weather glossy, have two purple stripes with a large center stripe on each leg. White pants will be worn for both home and away games.

Corporate Sponsors Help Ease Athletics' Budget Crunch

Pirate home football games have sponsors this fall

By Tom Doyle
ECU Sports Information Student Assistant

There's a budget crunch in college athletics these days. Colleges and universities are searching for new ways to fund athletic programs and East Carolina is developing an innovative way of raising those much-needed funds: corporate sponsorship of home football games.

"We are looking for a way to increase revenue and the concept of corporate sponsorship of college athletics is a new trend that is gaining momentum nationwide," said Jim Bass, ECU's Assistant Athletic Director for Marketing.

The trend in corporate sponsorship may have started on the professional level, most noticeably in golf, tennis, and track. In the eighties, sponsors began to develop an affiliation with college bowl games. The last of the major bowls to sign a contract was the Orange Bowl, now affiliated with Federal Express. Entering the picture now is the idea of corporate sponsorship of individual events within a college season.

In 1988, San Diego State University turned a $1 million deficit into a surplus by raising $1.2 million in sponsorships. ECU's initial goal is not quite that ambitious, but Bass says the University should see a benefit.

"The gain that ECU gets is really twofold," Bass said. "First, is the association with the sponsor. ECU has a quality football program which is staffed by quality people and has quality facilities.

"What we need now is an increase in the amount of quality funding. That's where the second gain comes from: added revenues for not only the football program, but the entire athletic department as well."

A corporate sponsor for ECU's home games receives numerous benefits. A sponsor package includes banners at the stadium entrances, messages on the Pirate message board on Hwy. 264 and Charles St. and on the stadium scoreboard on gameday. Plus, each sponsor can entertain and reward employees by attending an ECU home football game. The sponsor receives a block of 50 game tickets, 10 reserved area parking spaces and a VIP tent with catering for the company's pre-game celebration.

"The main thing the companies get out of the sponsorship is exposure," Bass said. "There are few places where companies can get as much exposure to as many people at one time, like they can with an ECU game sponsorship."

Companies will sponsor a specific game for name affiliation. For example, tonight's game versus Bowling Green is "Kentucky Fried Chicken Night," as KFC is the Pirates' first corporate sponsor. The Illinois State game on Sept. 23 will be co-sponsored by Pizza Hut and Pepsi.

"The money raised by these sponsorships goes right into the general athletic budget," Bass said. "It's not earmarked just for any one sport, but is a shared wealth. As our football team becomes more successful, the entire athletic department will benefit through increased exposure and most importantly, through increased revenue."

The trend doesn't stop with football. According to Bass there are plans to sell advertising panels along press row for Pirate basketball games, and other ECU sports such as baseball may get into the act in the near future.

The need for corporate sponsorship rises out of a trend nationwide that sees traditional forms of funding athletics not keeping pace with inflation. The sponsorship provides a way for athletic departments to increase revenue without overtaxing current revenue sources.

A growing number of colleges and universities are moving toward this trend and East Carolina is leading the way with its involvement in corporate sponsorships.

Looking around Ficklen Stadium tonight, support groups for ECU football are highly visible. There are the cheerleaders, the Golden Girls, the Marching Pirates, and others.

But there's another group, one not quite so visible, that plays an important role in Pirate football, specifically in the area of recruiting.

The Pirate's Crew is in its second season at ECU. This busy group of female and male students work behind the scenes in making Pirate recruits feel right at home.

"The Crew gives the recruits and their parents an opportunity to get the flavor of ECU," said Kathy Richt, Director of the Pirate's Crew and wife of Pirate offensive coordinator Mark Richt. "We try to make a recruit's visit to Greenville a smooth one.

"As soon as they arrive on campus we try to make things a little easier, even helping them find the correct seats in Ficklen Stadium for the game."

The Pirate's Crew began their efforts early this morning decorating the lockerroom and recruiting rooms. After putting together information packets, the Crew joins the recruits for lunch.

Following pre-game festivities, the Crew makes sure that the recruits and their parents find their seats in 35,000-seat Ficklen Stadium. When the game is over, they'll send recruits to the right places, making sure they never feel lost.

"We are here to help recruits and do what they and their parents want us to do inside the framework of the NCAA regulations," Richt said. "We have a group of 16 students working this year but would eventually like to grow to 45."

The Crew's efforts do not stop when football season ends. There are off-season recruiting weekends and other work to be done in the spring.

Richt is assisted by Kim Cooper, wife of ECU inside linebacker coach Ron Cooper, and Carlester Crumpler, ECU's Director of Administrative Services. They regulate the group and make sure they keep within the NCAA boundaries.

Anyone interested in joining the Pirate's Crew should contact Richt at (919) 757-6330. Students must hold a 2.2 grade point average or better and be willing to give up part of their weekends.

Pirate Booters Host JMU Sunday

East Carolina's young soccer team, which played well defensively in a loss at Richmond last week, will host James Madison tomorrow (Sunday) at ECU Field in a Colonial Athletic Association game.

Lust

The Pirates, 0-1 (not including a pair of games earlier this week), are looking for some scoring punch. ECU was shutout in an exhibition game against Mount Olive on Aug. 28 and failed to score in their last two games of the 1988 season.

"We've played well defensively at times, we just haven't found a way to get the ball in the net," ECU head coach Bob Lust said. "We have a difficult schedule ahead and I'm confident that our offense will come around."

Against a strong Richmond team, the Pirates only had three shots on goal and one corner kick. The Spiders had 19 shots and goalie Todd Aspden made seven saves for ECU.

The Pirates will host Christopher Newport in a non-conference game on Wednesday, then travel to Longwood, Va. for the Longwood Tournament. The Pirates will play Longwood on Saturday and Hampden-Sydney on Sunday.

James Madison will pose a threat for the Pirates tomorrow. The Dukes return juniors Ricky Englefried and John Stroud, two players that made the all-CAA team last season.

Cross Country Teams Making Strides

The East Carolina cross country teams showed signs of an up and coming program last week in their opening meet at the Methodist College Relays in Fayetteville.

The Pirate men's and women's teams ran earlier today at the Pembroke State Invitational.

At the Methodist Relays, both teams finished second in the uniquely scored meet that counts runners in teams of two. The men's team made their best showing in some time, and the women finished second despite the absence of two of their top runners in Ann Marie Welch and Kim Griffiths.

For the women, Denise Wehrenberg and Terry Lynch of ECU took home first-place honors. Matt Schweitzer and Ricky Chann teamed to take sixth-place in the men's race.

Both teams will be at Wilmington next Saturday for the Seahawk Invitational.

Volleyball Team Playing Parent's Day

East Carolina's football team will host Illinois State two weeks from tonight on Parent's Day here at ECU. The Lady Pirate volleyball team will be in action that afternoon in Minges Coliseum against North Carolina Wesleyan.

The volleyball match will begin at 5 p.m., and kick-off for the Pirate-Redbird football game is set for 7 p.m.

The Lady Pirates began their season this week at N.C. State, and are in action today at the Carolina Invitational in Chapel Hill. Next weekend ECU will host its own invitational. Baptist, Davidson and Greensboro College will be on hand for that round-robin event.

McNeill Brothers Shooting For 1992 Olympic Games

Last year at this time, the East Carolina football team was getting ready for Tennessee Tech and a number of ECU graduates were in Seoul, South Korea for the Olympics. Seems like yesterday, doesn't it?

One of those Olympians and a hopeful are in training now for a shot at the 1992 Olympics in Barcelona, Spain.

Lee McNeill is running with the Atlantic Coast Track Club and ran in Europe over the summer. McNeill was an All-American for coach Bill Carson's ECU track team and says the summer in Europe gave him some problems.

"The weather over there was cold and I had leg trouble which kept me from running well," McNeill said. "I'm going to take two weeks off and rest and then begin training for the indoor season."

Lee says he believes he could run better in the 200 meter dash than the 100, so he plans to train more for that distance in hopes of gaining another Olympic bid. Ironically, the 200 is the specialty of his brother, Eugene, who is also aiming to spend the summer of '92 in Spain.

"Right now, I'm working out with the ECU track team in the afternoons," said Eugene, who was also an All-American for the Pirates. "I'm going to join Lee in the Atlantic Coast Track Club and we'll run some meets together."

Both men will train at Bunting Field on the ECU campus and who knows, come the summer of '92, the McNeill brothers could be battling each other for the gold.

Full-fledged help for part-time farmers

Got limited time to get your work done? Then don't settle for a tractor that has limited capability. Or limited features that make even simple tasks awkward. Or limited convenience that makes every hour seem like two. Or worst of all, limited reliability that threatens even your limited time.

In short, part-time farmers need full fledged help that they can count on full time. And that means John Deere. All John Deere tractors between 30 and 55 horsepower are built to handle your wide range of tasks simply, conveniently and economically. When every hour counts, count on John Deere.

LEADERSHIP YOU CAN COUNT ON®

JOHN DEERE

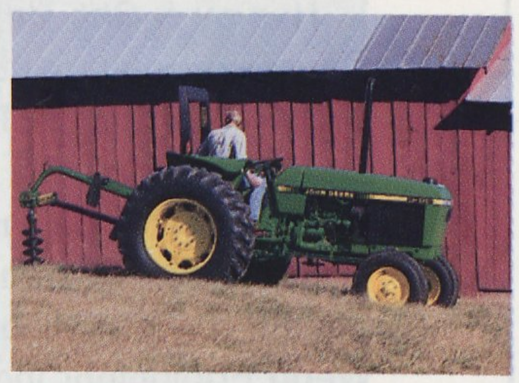

The mid-mounted mower on this 30-PTO-hp 970 doesn't have to be removed to mount a loader.

This 35-PTO-hp 1070 has front-wheel drive and a synchronized shuttle-shift transmission.

A quick-starting fuel-efficient John Deere diesel pumps out mountains of torque in the 45-PTO-hp 2155.

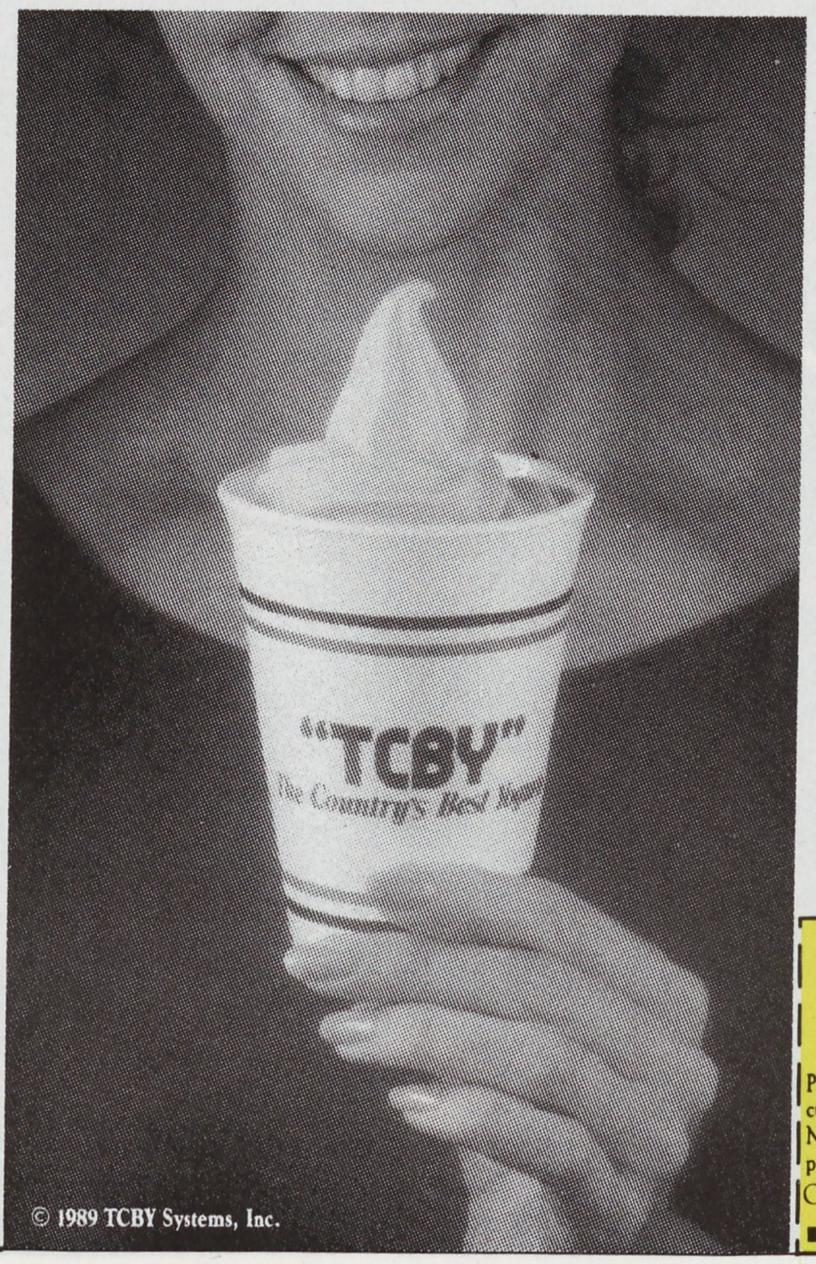

The 2355 is an extremely-smooth and versatile performer with 55 PTO horsepower on tap.
