Illinois State Invades Ficklen For Showdown With 2-0 Pirates

ECU fresh off road win at Cincinnati; Redbirds are rested

By Dean Buchan
ECU Associate Sports Information Director

Today was Parent's Day at East Carolina, but the spotlight tonight is on the unbeaten Pirate football team as it hosts Illinois State here at Ficklen Stadium.

ECU, 2-0 and gaining momentum, has won its last two games in opposite manners. Two weeks ago here at Ficklen, the Pirates dominated Bowling Green en route to a 41-6 victory. Last Saturday at Cincinnati, the Pirates overcame a sloppy first half performance and came from behind to beat the Bearcats 21-14.

"I was concerned going into the (Cincinnati) game that we had not been tested in the fourth quarter," ECU Head Coach Bill Lewis said. "We were certainly tested and we held our own. That can only make us a stronger team down the line."

Illinois State, 1-1, had an open date Saturday and has had two weeks to prepare for tonight's game. The Redbirds are the second of three consecutive ECU September opponents that have had two weeks to get ready. Louisiana Tech, which visits Ficklen next Saturday, has an open date today.

The Redbirds, who lost earlier to Western Kentucky, 17-12, topped Central State (Ohio) 10-9, two weeks ago. ISU returns 17 starters off of last year's young team, and

PARENT'S DAY

ECU's Lewis knows that the 1-10 Redbird record of a year ago is misleading.

"This is a new Illinois State team," Lewis said. "They were forced to play a lot of young people last year, and most of those players are back.

"They have really impressed us in the films. They have several outstanding athletes who could cause us problems tonight."

Freshman Phil Shields returned a kickoff 86 yards for ISU's winning touchdown two weeks ago against Central State, as the Redbirds overcame a 9-0 deficit.

Illinois State, a Division I-AA member of the Gateway Conference, has played well defensively. The Redbirds have not allowed a score in the second half this season.

Sophomore linebacker Wilbert Brown leads the team with 31 tackles and sophomore Tony Jones has 20 tackles.

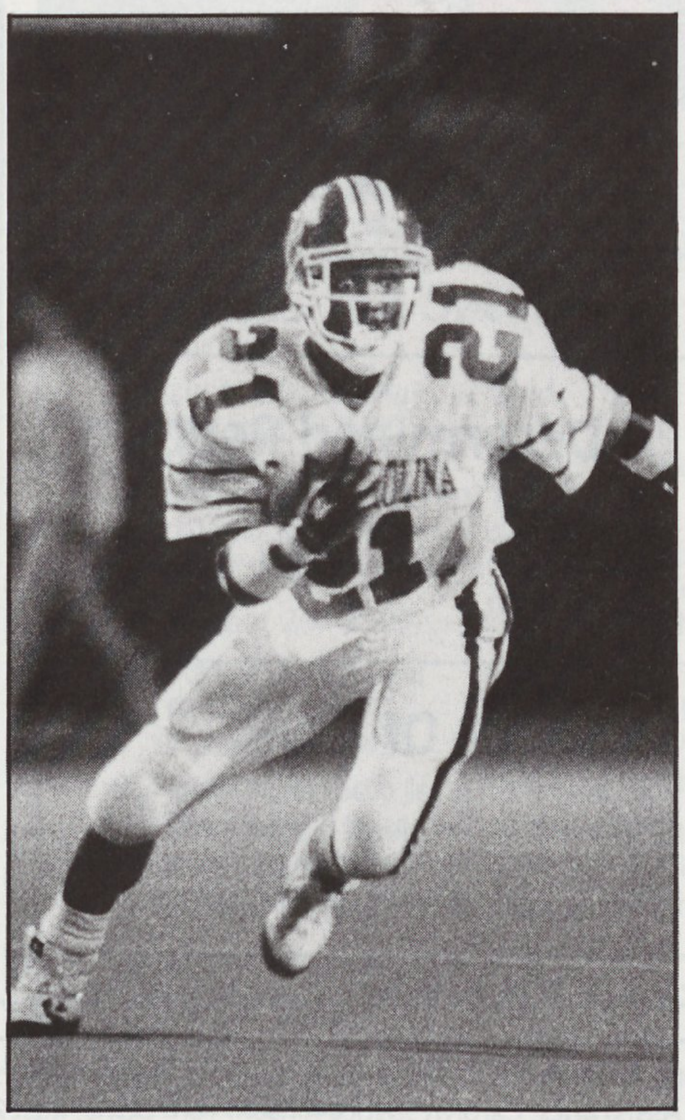

Offensively, ISU has been outscored 26-22, but junior running back Vic Northern has rushed for 115 yards on 23 attempts. Quarterbacks Brian Chaney and Adrian Wilson have thrown just one interception between them in the two games.

East Carolina had to overcome a 14-5 halftime deficit last Saturday at Nippert Stadium in Cincinnati to stay unbeaten. A tight-fisted ECU defense paved the way with two safeties, three interceptions and nine tackles for loss.

Early in the third quarter, the Pirates trailed 14-7, with their seven points coming on a 24-yard Robb Imperato field goal and the two safeties. Senior Anthony Thompson and defensive tackle Reeves Spainhour were responsible for the safeties.

Sophomore David Daniels, a hometown product from Greenville Rose High School, led the Pirate offensive attack. Daniels caught a three-yard pass from quarterback Travis Hunter in the third quarter and Imperato hit the PAT to knot the game 14-14 going into the final quarter.

With 3:23 remaining, Daniels rambled three yards and Imperato booted the PAT for what would be the winning score. Cincinnati, however, marched down to the Pirate 19-yard line behind reserve quarterback Glenn Farkus. With seconds remaining,

ECU's Ricky Torain picked off his second pass in as many games and preserved the win for the Pirates.

"East Carolina has excellent team speed and some great momentum," said ISU Head Coach Jim Heacock. "We are impressed with them on both sides of the ball.

"Coach Lewis is in his first year, so he's still solidifying his offense and defense and I don't look for change. Travis Hunter can run, scramble and find the open receiver. He also has some great tools to work with."

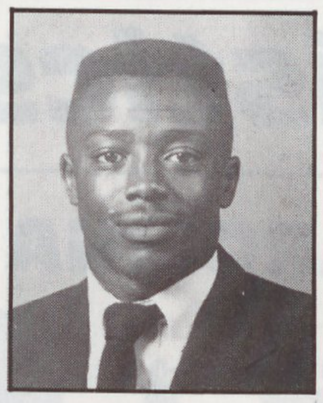

The last time ECU and Illinois State met was also the last time a Pirate defense recorded a shutout. The Pirates beat the Redbirds in Greenville, 21-0, in 1982.

Combined with a pair of wins to end the 1988 season, ECU has won four straight games, its longest streak since the 1983 team won five straight during an 8-3 season.

A handful of veteran ECU players still remain from the 1985 team that won its first two games. That team then lost nine straight games en route to a 2-9 season. No players, however, were around the last time ECU went 3-0 to begin a season back in 1977. That team won its first four games on the way to an 8-3 year.

ECU's Junior Robinson and ISU's Larry Dickinson are strong kick returners.

Tonight marks the last night game of the season for ECU, and the last time it will play an opponent that plays within a conference. The Pirates are hoping that tonight's game will not be the last game they enter as an undefeated team.

NEXT WEEK:

East Carolina plays host to the Louisiana Tech Bulldogs. Tech, 1-2, has an open date this week. The Bulldogs impressively won their season opener, 40-14, against Southwestern Louisiana. Tech will play its fourth straight road game against ECU Saturday during Hall of Fame Weekend.

Illinois State begins play in the Gateway Conference with a night game at Eastern Illinois.

"We welcome a person of Bill Lewis' abilities and character at East Carolina to lead our program into its next plateau," said Hart. "We look forward to what the future holds for the ECU program under Bill Lewis' leadership.

"He is perceived as an exceptional recruiter by all his peers and as a sound fundamentalist and teacher. He is a good motivator and demanding of his staff and his players," added Hart.

Head Coach Bill Lewis

Leading ECU football to its next plateau

Give Bill Lewis an hour of your time, and you'll be convinced that the East Carolina University football program can become as successful as any in the nation.

When the 48-year-old coaching veteran was named the Pirates' 16th head coach on Dec. 3, 1988, Lewis immediately became ECU's most zealous supporter.

"I am a very positive person," said Lewis at his first press conference. "I want to point myself and the program in that direction. We will not take a back seat to anyone in this country with the way we are going to approach this football team and this football program."

Lewis has already built a firm base from which to build a program since coming to ECU from the University of Georgia, where he was a defensive backfield coach for nine seasons during which, he was also the defensive coordinator for eight.

The Pirates had a successful recruiting season, signing 25 to grant-in-aids, including 12 prospects from the state of North Carolina. That was done with a new coaching staff who had just three months to get started.

"I believe you must begin to form the base of your recruiting in your home state," said Lewis. "We will go from the mountains to the coast line."

ECU director of athletics Dave Hart, Jr. knows that Lewis will get the Pirate program to the next

Lewis' stint at Georgia included nine bowl trips, three Southeastern Conference championships and a national championship in 1980. He has coached 23 All-SEC selections and has coached seven All-Americas, including Terry Hoage of the Philadelphia Eagles, John Little and Jeff Sanchez, all defensive backs.

Before arriving at Georgia, Lewis was the head coach at the University of Wyoming. In three years at the Laramie school, Lewis led the Cowboys to a 13-21-1 record and had offensive tackle Dennis Baker and linebacker Ken Fantetti make All-America status.

A 27-year coaching veteran, Lewis has also been an assistant coach at Arkansas (1973-76), Georgia Tech (1971-73), Wake Forest (1969-71), Pittsburgh (1966-68) and East Stroudsburg State (1963-65), his alma mater.

Lewis graduated from East Stroudsburg in 1963, earning a B.S. degree in Health and Physical Education. While attending school there, he was a Little All-America selection at quarterback and a team captain of the football and baseball teams, while lettering four years.

He left college to play in the Detroit Tigers minor league organization for two years as a pitcher before returning to his alma mater to work on his graduate degree and work as a part-time football coach.

A native of Bristol, Pa., Lewis participated in football, baseball, gymnastics and basketball at Delhaas Junior-Senior High School.

Lewis and his wife, Sandy, are the parents of three children, Mark (22), Gregg (19) and Geoff (17). Mark is a first-year law student at the University of Georgia. His wife, Wendy, is also a student at UGA. Gregg is a third class cadet at the Air Force Academy and Geoff is a high school senior.

Bill Lewis On...

The Game of Football...

"I respect the game of football. I think it is the greatest of all sports. I absolutely love the game, the competition of it and all of the intangibles that are involved in the game. I enjoy the strategies, although I sometimes think they are overplayed. It's a game that can teach all of us so many things that carry over into our daily lives — like commitment, sacrifice, learning to be persistent as you pursue victory."

Student-Athletes...

"One of the things that attracted me to this program was the commitment of Dr. [Richard] Eakin (ECU Chancellor) and Dave Hart (ECU athletic director) to excellence in academics and athletics. Both of those gentlemen and myself share the philosophy that you can have excellence in both of those areas on a college campus. It is because of that I believe in the student-athlete."

The Football Program at ECU...

"One of the things that attracted me to this position was the belief that the timing was perfect for someone to come into this program. I don't think there has been a time in ECU's recent history in which there was a more positive time for a coaching staff to come in here. We think that the future is very bright. Where do we want this program to go? We want this program, with time and hard work, to be recognized as one of the best in college football."

Coaching...

"I love and respect the coaching profession. It's the only job I ever had. I believe in the profession. What I enjoy about coaching is working with young people. The greatest thrills that I have in coaching are not the victories, it's seeing the people you have coached leave and go into their chosen professions and come back and see that they have achieved success. And feel that, in some way, you have contributed to their success in life."

Chancellor Dr. Richard Eakin

The ninth chief executive officer in ECU history

Dr. Richard R. Eakin, Chancellor of East Carolina University since March 1, 1987, has a vision of greatness for the institution.

Foreseeing that ECU is destined to become a truly distinctive university, Eakin is firmly committed to academic excellence and finding new ways of service to the state and region.

He sees ECU as the catalyst for change that will bring about a better quality of life for the people whose lives it touches.

Dr. Eakin's goals include on-going strategic planning, campus beautification and development of its physical plant, libraries and student facilities, strengthening of the undergraduate curriculum, additional doctoral level programs, research and increasing participation in community affairs and public service.

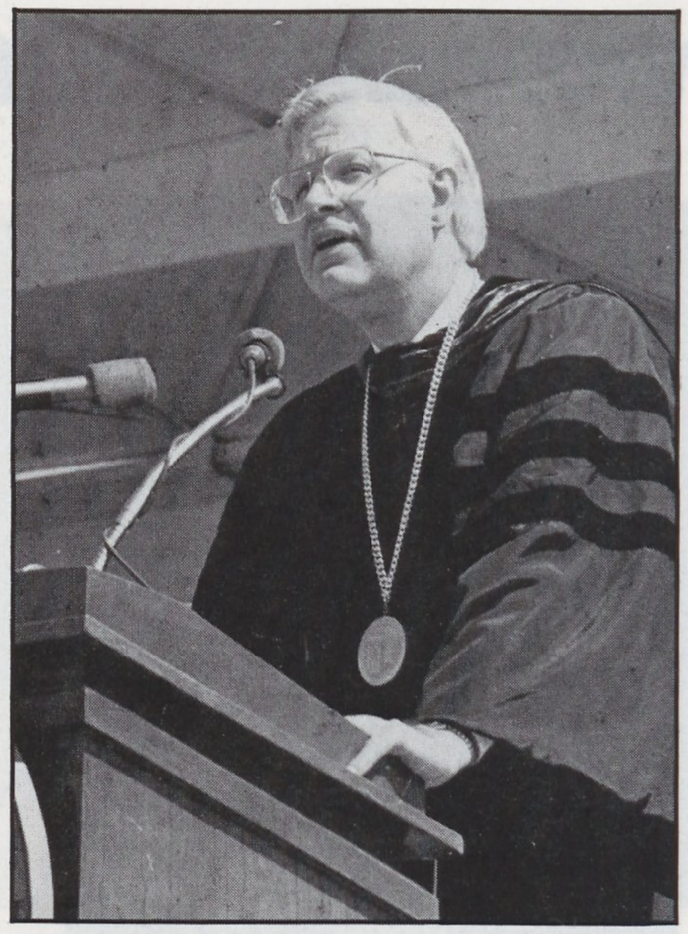

East Carolina has the third largest university enrollment in North Carolina. Eakin wants ECU to be regarded and ranked among the three best state universities in North Carolina.

Based upon its 82-year history of providing educational opportunity and excellence, East Carolina is already a university of distinction, Eakin believes. It is a product of its region, founded, nurtured and cherished by its supporters including more than 62,000 graduates.

The school's level of private financial support ranked second among the nation's public, comprehensive universities in 1987-88. With an ever-increasing private support providing the margin of excellence, Eakin foresees ECU emerging in the spotlight as a university known for quality of its teaching, research and service.

The ninth chief executive officer in the school's history, Dr. Eakin came to East Carolina University with a strong background in higher education administration and as a professor of mathematics. He began his career in 1964 at Bowling Green State University in Ohio and served as a vice president at Bowling Green before coming to ECU.

A native of New Castle, Pennsylvania, Dr. Eakin earned his bachelor's degree in mathematics and physics, summa cum laude from Geneva College in 1960. At Geneva he was class valedictorian and President of the Student Senate. He was awarded a master's degree from Washington State University in 1962 and the doctorate in mathematics with a minor in economics from Washington State University in 1964.

Eakin is committed to academic excellence and service to state and region.

He is married to the former Jo Ann McGeehan. They have two children, Matthew, a graduate student at North Carolina State University, and Maridy, a sophomore at East Carolina University.

Director of Athletics Dave Hart, Jr.

Committed to excellence, integrity within the program

Dave Hart, Jr., who has gained national recognition for his innovative ideas in the field of marketing, promotions and fund-raising, is in his second year as East Carolina University's director of athletics.

Hart was appointed athletic director on December 21, 1987 by ECU Chancellor Dr. Richard Eakin. "Dave has served the University with distinction since April 1983," said Eakin. "He has successfully led private fund-raising efforts to record levels with gift income in excess of $1 million and donor participation exceeding 4,300."

"Dave has an exceptional understanding of all aspects of athletic administration, has a strong commitment to excellence and integrity throughout the men's and women's programs, and possesses, in my judgment, the leadership qualities necessary to continue to develop our athletic program and move it to new levels of achievement."

Since that appointment, Hart has become one of the most effective athletic administrators in college athletics. Just one month into his new position, Hart was appointed to the NCAA's prestigious Committee on Integrity and Image in College Athletics, which is chaired by Georgia Tech director of athletics Homer Rice. He also chairs the Colonial Athletic Association Marketing Committee.

Hart has become a popular speaker at the national level and has authored articles for a number of national publications in the areas of marketing, promotions and fund-raising. He has made numerous speaking presentations at NCAA conventions and seminars, and during the past four National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA) conventions, has served as an instructor at the Management Institute.

Since Hart has taken over as East Carolina's Athletic Director, Pirate athletic squads have been faring better. In the spring, the Pirate baseball team won the Colonial Athletic Association tournament and participated in the NCAA tournament. The men's and women's basketball teams finished with winning seasons while the swim team also won the CAA crown.

He has also structured new programs at ECU that include Personal Development for student-athletes, NCAA rules seminars and taking the anti-drug and alcohol fight into the Greenville community with trading cards and lectures featuring coaches and student-athletes.

Hart was named associate director of athletics for external relations and executive director of the Pirate Club in 1985. His duties included the raising of funds for athletic scholarships through the Pirate Club, as well as overseeing all external areas of the athletic department.

During his first two years in that position, the Pirate Club experienced record-setting growth as it surpassed the coveted $1 million mark in contributions for the first time ever. The 1987 campaign saw another record performance under his direction as the Club exceeded the $1.2 million level.

Hart first joined the ECU athletic department in 1983 as an assistant athletic director for marketing. It was the first time that ECU had ever employed a full-time staff member for marketing, and it immediately brought dividends.

ECU's marketing program gained national attention for the rapid growth in crowd participation through tailgating and other promotional efforts. Hart was also responsible for implementing the "Great Pirate Purple/Gold Pigskin Pig-Out Party," which is a weekend extravaganza surrounding the spring football game.

Additionally, attendance at home football games increased greatly as evidenced by the fact that nine of the top 12 crowds in Ficklen Stadium history have entered the turnstiles since the 1983 season. Promotional ventures such as the "Ain't It Great to Tailgate" idea have added to the atmosphere at Pirate home games.

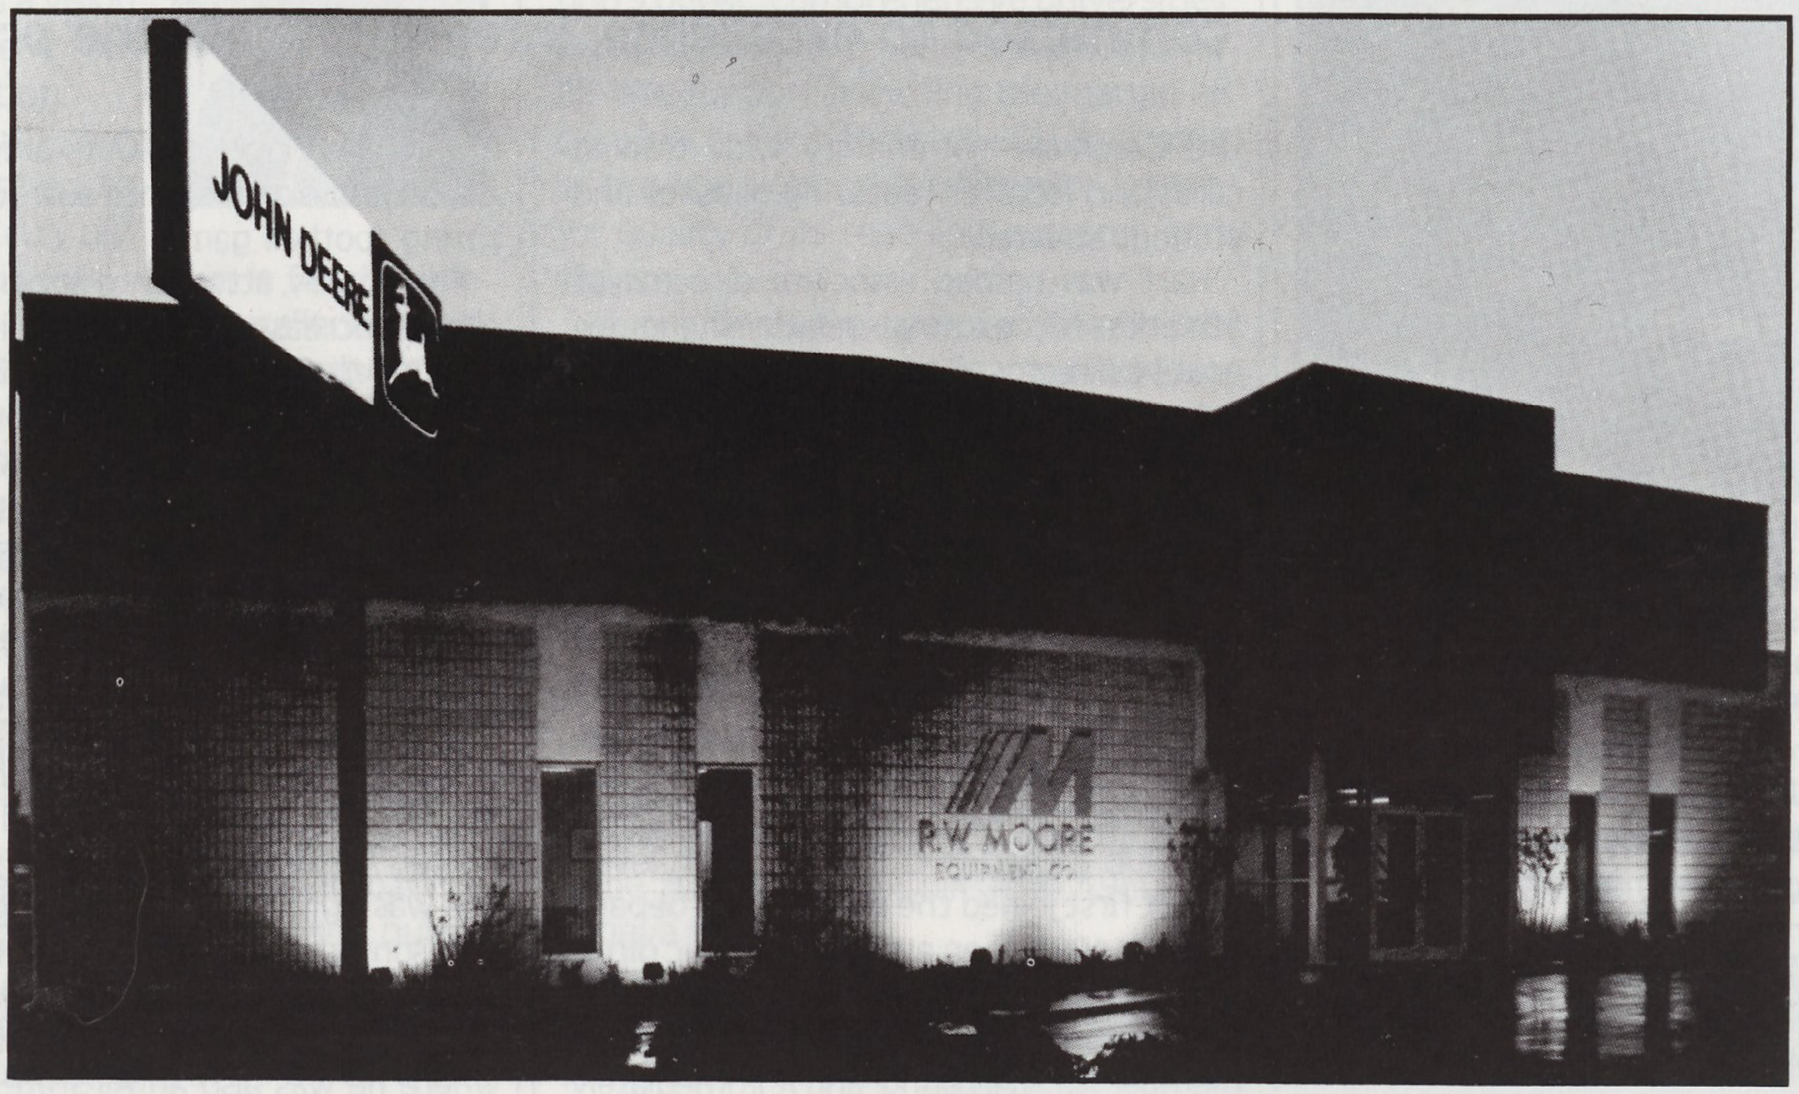

Hart, just the fifth athletic director in ECU history, received his undergraduate and graduate degrees from the University of Alabama, earning a B.S. in English/Speech in 1971 and a master's degree in 1972. He attended Alabama on a basketball scholarship and was a graduate assistant coach for the Crimson Tide program in 1972. He won nine varsity letters in football, basketball and baseball and at Annapolis (MD) High School, where he was also an All-State basketball and football player.

He is married to the former Pam Humble of Tuscaloosa, Ala., and they have three children — Ricky (17), Jamie (15) and Kelly (12).

Sports Medicine/ Physical Education Building

ECU proudly unveils its new athletic facility

The first major step in East Carolina's continuing efforts to upgrade facilities, the Sports Medicine/Physical Education Building, became a reality in September.

The three-story, 82,095-square foot structure, the home of ECU's athletic department, provides the two areas with state-of-the-art technology.

"From a facilities standpoint, the new building takes us to another level," ECU director of athletics Dave Hart said. "The building is a very visible illustration of the direction our program is headed.

"It is a great source of pride for our athletic department, as well as our sports medicine and physical education departments."

The injury treatment and rehabilitation center of the sports medicine department includes the latest in technology, making it one of the top sports medicine programs in the country. Among the many features of the new building is a 5,000-square foot strength training center, a state-of-the-art human performance laboratory, biomechanics lab, classrooms and men's and women's locker rooms.

The entire coaching staffs for the football and men's and women's basketball teams are housed on the second floor, while the entire athletic administrative staff find their offices on the top level.

"The building is top-notch," ECU director of sports medicine Rod Compton said. "It puts us on the cutting edge of facilities and technology in the country.

"It's a visual demonstration of the close relationship here at ECU between athletics and academics."

The building is unique in structure. The shortest of six sides of the building is the front of the facility and faces 35,000-seat Ficklen Stadium.

The first floor connects with Minges Coliseum via a covered walkway. Features of the first floor include:

Sports Medicine Training Center — Sophisticated injury treatment, evaluation and rehabilitation equipment fills the room including touch-control whirlpools, a computerized isokinetic rehabilitation and evaluation machine, exam rooms including one dental chair, and a 7-foot deep whirlpool that allows an injured athlete to exercise without bearing weight.

The training area will also boast 19 taping stations and a radio communication center which allows sports medicine officials to monitor action on the football field and basketball court simultaneously.

Strength Training Center — Includes 5,000-square feet of shiny new chrome and steel, with mirror-lined walls.

Locker Rooms — Both men and women.

Equipment Storage — A spacious area with equipment for 135 football players and more.

Attractions of the second floor include:

All-Purpose Room — An area that overlooks Ficklen Stadium. Trophy cases, retired jerseys and mementos from Pirate athletes now in the pros line the room.

Football — Offices for the head coach, nine assistant coaches, graduate assistants, a recruiting coordinator and secretaries. Football also has two storage rooms, a file room, and access to two mini-auditoriums.

Basketball — More offices for each coach, and a meeting room for both the men's and women's staff.

Academic Counseling — Computers and tutors are available to keep the student-athlete ahead in his studies.

Classrooms

Sports Medicine Offices

The top floor includes:

Human Performance Laboratory — A sophisticated lab with the latest in human performance technology.

Biomechanics Lab

Athletic Administrative Staff — Offices saturates the third floor from the athletic director to the business manager to the sports information director.

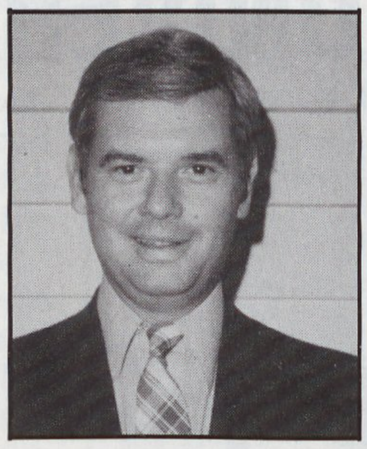

The Sports Medicine/Physical Education Building is a unique structure, unlike any facility in the country.

"With the athletic department and portions of the physical education department under one roof," said Hart, "the building is a positive illustration of how athletics and academics go hand-in-hand here at East Carolina."

ECU "Big Wheels"

The road becomes a second home for those connected with collegiate athletics. Indeed, being on the road and traveling thousands of miles each year is a major part of the job.

Almost every facet of the job — recruiting, scouting competition, making public appearances, etc. — are activities that keep athletic personnel on the move.

The "wheels" that keep East Carolina's athletic program rolling are a group known as Courtesy Car Dealers, and they play a vital role in allowing the Pirate staff to meet their demands.

Far more than just a fringe benefit, these cars given by the East Carolina Courtesy Car Dealers are necessities for a growing and successful athletic program.

The entire East Carolina staff wishes to thank each dealer providing a car to this fleet of courtesy cars. We hope our fans will look to these fine people for their automotive needs at every opportunity.

Thanks Courtesy Car Dealers! You keep the wheels of East Carolina athletics rolling.

Thanks also goes to Adam's Auto Wash of Greenville. Adam's helps keep ECU's courtesy cars looking clean.

The Marching Pirates

Innovative band displaying new uniforms

The Marching Pirates take the field in 1989 in new uniforms purchased through the generous gifts of friends, alumni, and the university community of East Carolina University. These uniforms will replace the "temporary jackets" purchased in 1980.

The ECU Marching Pirates have a national reputation among college and high school band directors and students as one of the most innovative college bands in the country. The group draws students from New England to Southern Florida and as far west as Oklahoma. The group is known for its high energy performances and "solid, wall of sound" contrasting with a "delicate, musical blend."

This year the band is under the field leadership of Drum Major Scott Lane and Assistant Drum Major Nick Holland. Field Commander is Calvin Braxton. The first recording of the Marching Pirates may be purchased at the band section in the stadium or through the office of director: Dr. Thomas W. Goolsby; School of Music; East Carolina University; Greenville, NC 27858.

A Special Thanks

East Carolina University expresses appreciation to the 93 individuals, organizations and corporations whose gifts made possible the purchase of new uniforms for the Marching Pirates. Very special thanks go to the following donors whose exemplary generosity was instrumental in making the band uniform project a success:

E.I. DuPont de Nemours & Company
Heilig-Meyers Furniture Company
Robert L. Jones

Here's to the Pirates of ECU!
We're going to raise our battle flag high,
We're going to sing it long,
Shout it loud;
And then they'll know
That we are Pirate Proud.
Because the battle's been fought,
And now it's won,
And everybody knows that we're Number One!
Because we're full of Pride,
We've got them bowing to our side,
Here's to ECU!

Come on folks, Let's stand!
and show 'em, we're from EC!

Pirate Cheerleading

Helping lead the Spirit of the East

The East Carolina University Cheerleading and Mascot Programs are an exciting part of the university atmosphere and a guaranteed way to be involved with the athletics of the university and community. The demands and responsibilities are numerous and the rewards are endless.

The Cheerleading Program is divided into two groups. The Purple Squad serves as the Varsity Squad, and appears at home and away football games and at men's basketball games. The Gold Squad serves as the Junior Varsity Squad and as an alternate to the Purple Squad. The Gold Squad cheers at home football games and women's basketball games. The Purple and Gold Squads also cheer for all East Carolina Inter-Collegiate Athletic Programs, such as soccer, volleyball, swimming, diving, baseball and softball. Both squads also represent ECU at pep rallies, sporting events, and make promotional appearances.

The requirements for tryouts vary every year due to the growth and changing needs of the squad. The Purple and Gold Squads' requirements are cheers and chants, dance ability, gymnastics ability, partner stunts, crowd involvement and enthusiasm. Specific requirements are announced at the beginning of each tryout clinic.

An important part of the cheerleading squad is the Pirate Mascot, who, in addition to football and basketball games, entertains at other Pirate athletic contests throughout the year. The Pirate also makes guest appearances at civic, social and promotional functions. Wherever he goes, The Pirate is recognized as the trademark of East Carolina University. Tryouts for the cheerleading squads and the mascot occur in both spring and fall.

The advantages, rewards, and opportunities of the Cheerleading and Mascot Programs speak for themselves and make the efforts worthwhile.

Peggy Smith, a veteran instructor of cheerleading, is the director of cheerleading and mascots at East Carolina. Smith, also experienced in dance, drill teams, and color guard, begins her second year with the ECU Cheerleading and Mascot Programs.

Smith, who cheered on the collegiate level for the University of Southwestern Louisiana, earned her master's degree in 1985. Peggy is currently a full-time faculty member for the Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Safety Department at ECU. She coaches both the Purple and Gold Squads in addition to the Mascot.

CELEBRATION!

Wins over Bowling Green and Cincinnati have the Pirates and the fans excited.

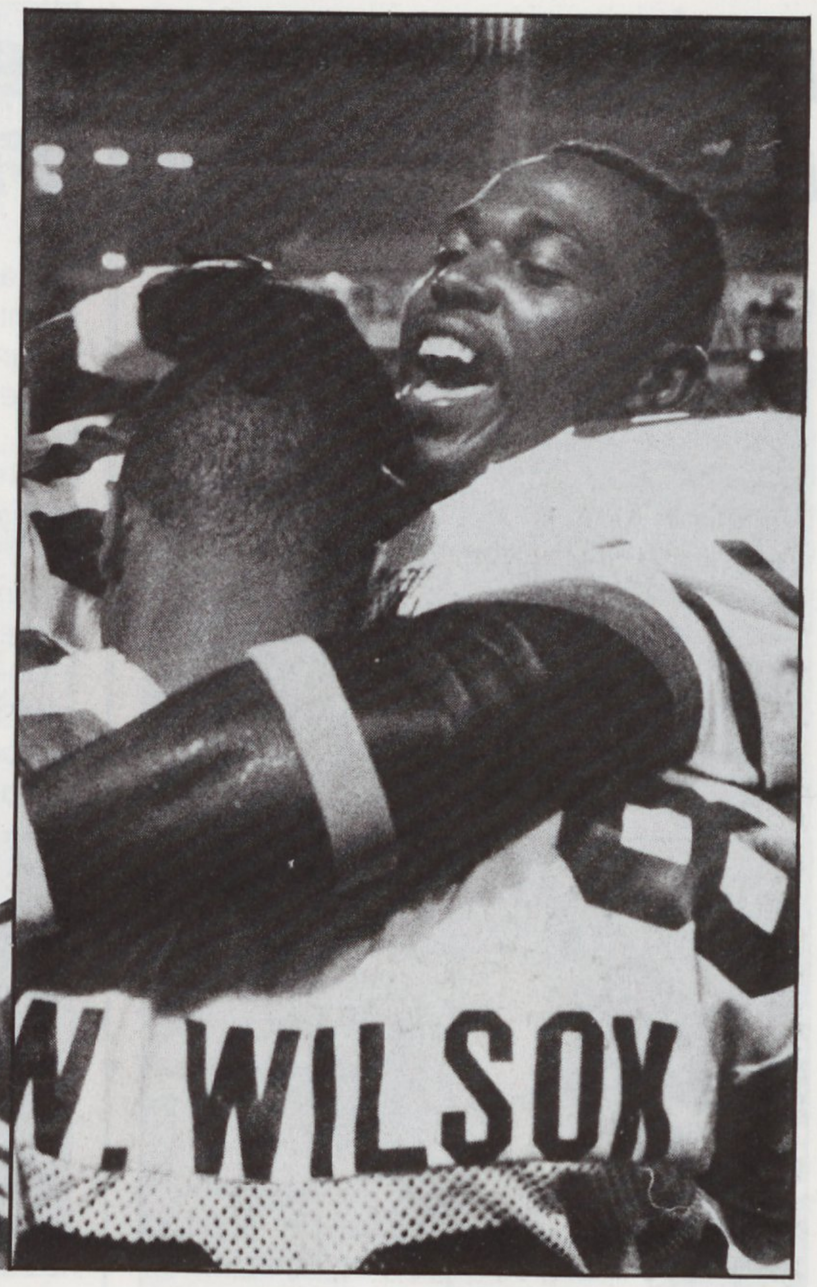

The first two weeks of the 1989 football season have given East Carolina a reason to be excited.

Head Coach Bill Lewis' first ECU team strolled to a 41-6 victory here in Ficklen Stadium on Sept. 9, then came from behind to top a stubborn Cincinnati team last Saturday, 21-14.

The 2-0 start is ECU's best start since 1985. The Pirates are looking to go 3-0 tonight for the first time since 1977.

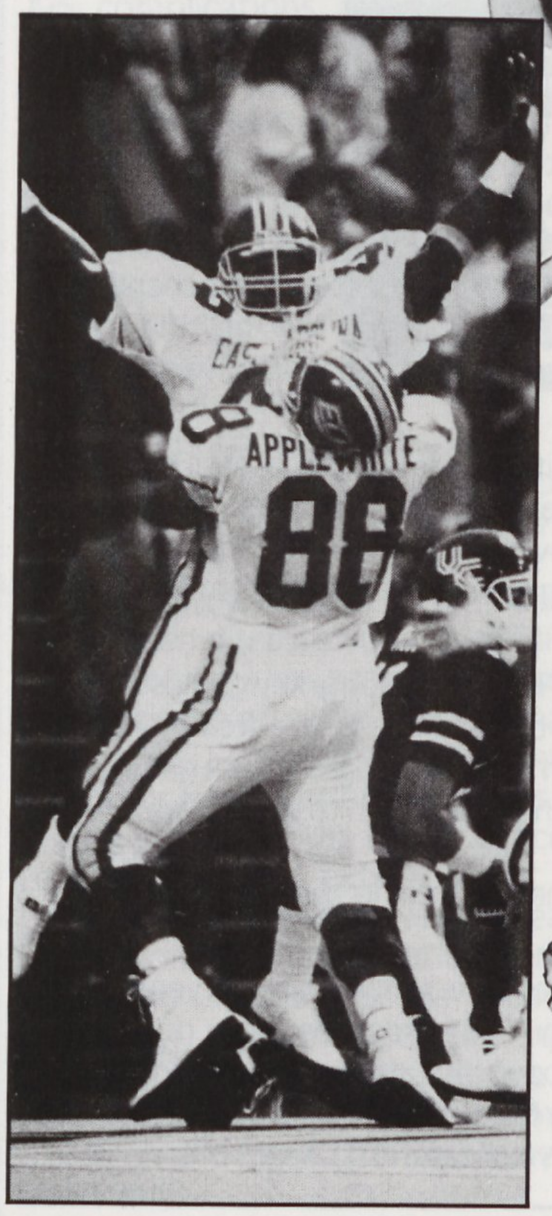

These photos, taken by photographer Cliff Hollis, are an indication that the Spirit of the East is alive and kicking.

Pirate Heroes

Denell Harper (34) and Charlie Tyson (17) celebrate Harper's 26-yard touchdown run (left) in ECU's season-opening victory against Bowling Green. Above, Anthony Thompson gives Walter Wilson a congratulatory rub on the head after the Pirates tied Cincinnati 14-14 in the third quarter last Saturday. Thompson (bottom left) jumps into the arms of Mike Applewhite after tackling Cincinnati in its own end zone for a safety. Below, part of the 33,412 on hand for ECU's season opener against Bowling Green. The crowd was the largest home-opening crowd in school history.

Hunter Has Earned Label Of East Carolina's 'Field General'

By Chris Siegel

ECU Sports Information Student Assistant

The quarterback of a football team is often referred to as the "field general." He must have confidence in his own ability and the skill to lead his team to victory, something East Carolina's Travis Hunter has shown throughout his career.

After being red-shirted his freshman year, Hunter never lost confidence in his ability and continued his pursuit of the starting job.

"I believed I could be the starting quarterback here," Hunter said. "I'm not the kind of person who thinks they don't have the ability to do what they are capable of."

THE CLASS OF '89

Senior Profiles

The self-confidence that Hunter exudes allowed him to work his way into the starting lineup his sophomore year. He started three games in 1986 and accumulated 682 total yards for the Pirates.

Hunter took that experience and built on it. He started 11 games in 1987 and nine in 1988. During those two seasons, Hunter ran and threw for impressive numbers.

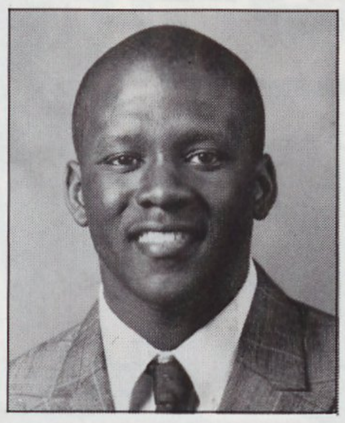

He currently has 2,657 career yards—second-most in school history. He is third on the all-time pass completions list with 178, and fourth in total offense. But Hunter hasn't let his assault on the record book effect him.

"The records don't make any difference," Hunter said. "Records are meant to be broken. All I am worried about is going out and performing up to the level I know I'm capable of."

Hunter and his teammates are concerned more with how many wins they can get this year. He knows that he can't do it by himself and has confidence in the players behind him.

"I've got a strong line in front of me and guys like Willie (Lewis) and Denell (Harper) behind me," Hunter said. "I know I'm not out there alone. They give me a lot of confidence."

One player that has benefited from Hunter being named starting quarterback was fellow-senior Walter Wilson. Hunter feels that Wilson, a wide receiver, is responsible for much of his success.

HUNTER

"Walt and I work well as a team. I know if it's a clutch situation that he will be there and give a great effort," Hunter said. "I know that it doesn't always have to be a perfect throw for him to come up with the reception."

Hunter is the type of player that will be remembered when his career at ECU is over.

"I want to be remembered as one who never believed what the critics said," Hunter said. "I never let them dictate my actions and tried to help my teammates whenever I could."

It is the field general's job to be there for his team and to be a motivator. Hunter has earned his rank and has done just what a quarterback is supposed to do—show leadership both on and off the field.

Compton McCurry

Q. What would you do if you were not playing football at ECU?

A. Water skiing with my brothers or playing volleyball on the beach.

★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★

Compton comes from a football family. His father, Olin, played at Newberry (SC) College, where he started four years. Brother, Tom, played at Clemson. Compton received his diploma from ECU in the spring.

BoJack Davenport

BoJack lists the five hardest hitters on the team:

1. Anthony Thompson
2. Mike Applewhite
3. Grant Lowe
4. Michael Rhett
5. David Daniels

BoJack Davenport is one senior who very well could be featured on this same page next year. Davenport's senior season came to a sudden end prior to ECU's season opener against Bowling Green with a shoulder injury.

The Fayetteville, NC, native has the option of returning next year if he chooses.

Denell Harper Gives Pirate Tailbacks A One-Two Punch

By Rusty Smith

ECU Sports Information Student Assistant

HARPER

Senior tailback Denell Harper has been a major contributor to the successful 2-0 start for the Pirates this year. The Chesapeake, Va. native carried 13 times for 61 yards in the 21-14 win over Cincinnati last week.

Harper and senior Willie Lewis share time at the tailback spot and it has been successful thus far. The tandem has rushed for 262 yards and two touchdowns in the first two games.

"Willie and I are good friends and do not mind sharing time. Both of us stay fresh and more durable during the entire game," Harper said. Harper is also seeing more playing time than he did a year ago.

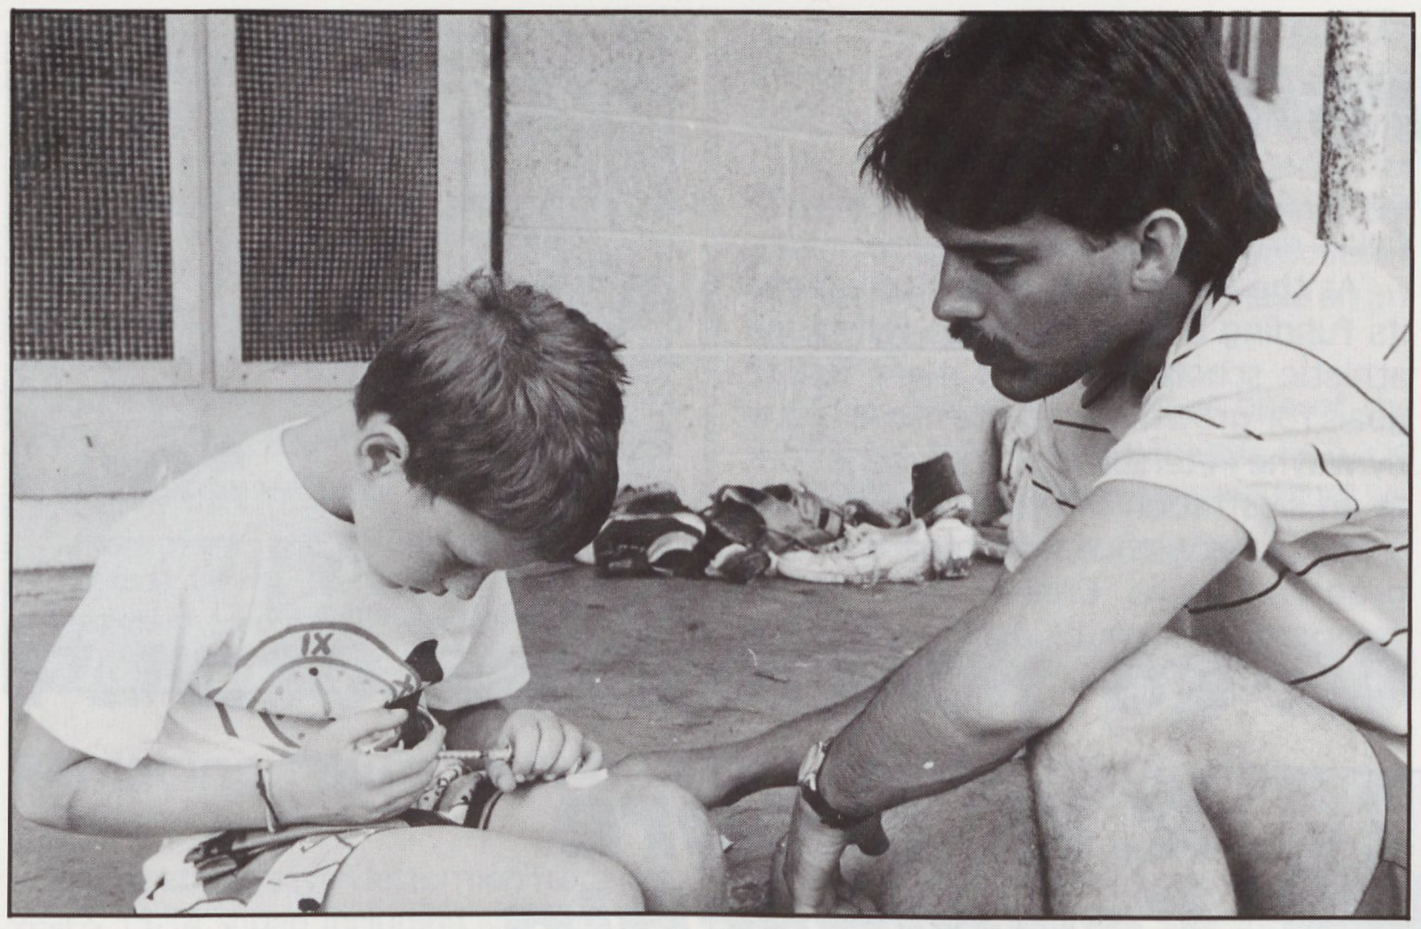

Last season Harper played in 10 games. He rushed for a total of 76 yards with his best game coming against Southern Mississippi (3 carries for 29 yards). He caught 10 passes for 166 yards including a 40-yard pass against Florida State.

Head Coach Bill Lewis and his staff have brought some changes in the way of conducting practice and preparation for games this year. "The new staff has made this year more positive with a great deal of confidence. This year's team is much more intense and determined than last year. The coaches are getting the maximum out of each player," says Harper.

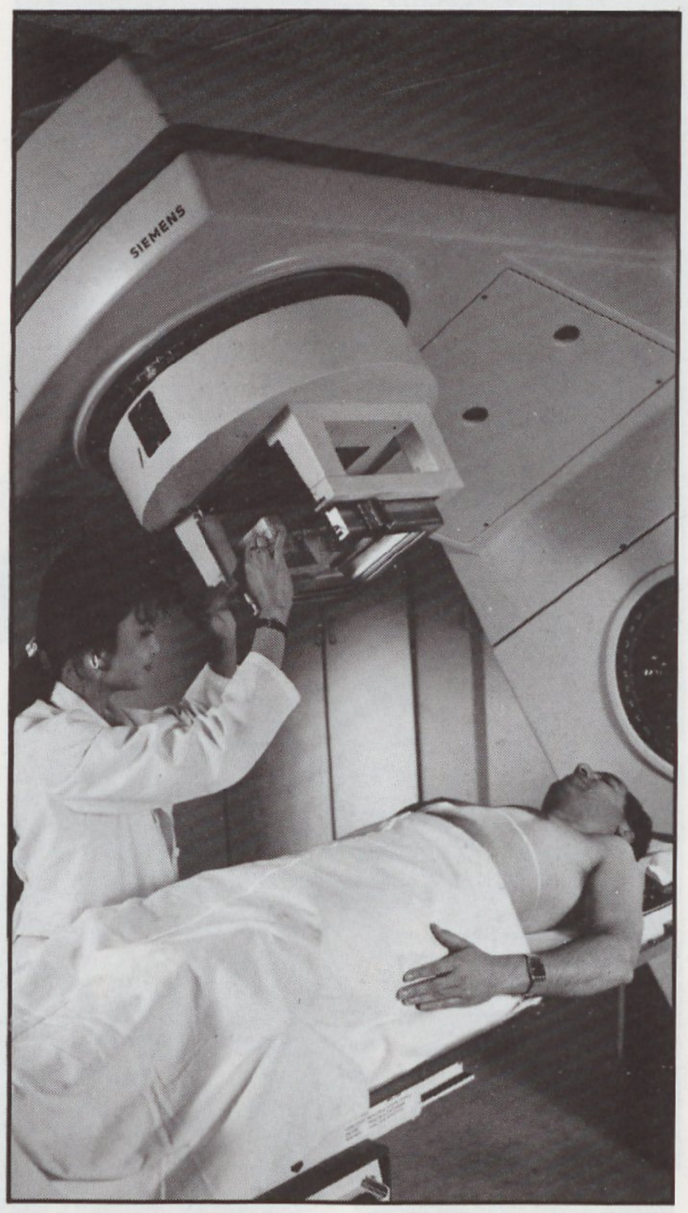

Conditioning is another aspect that has been very important this year. "We have gone over a lot of drills that deal with winning games in the fourth quarter," Harper says.

The Pirates lost some key games in the fourth quarter last year. "We hope that being in good shape late in each game can cause the other team to wear down," says Harper. Last week the Pirates showed that they can win in the late stages of a game.

Harper's personal goal this year is to rush for 800 yards. The team goal is to get a bowl invitation. Harper adds that, "with a few breaks and big plays, we could be very successful."

Two facets of devastating disease—cancer and diabetes. A youthful diabetes patient prepares an insulin injection under the watchful eyes of an ECU medical student at diabetes camp (left), and a cancer patient undergoes radiation therapy at ECU Radiation Oncology Center (below).

Centers For Cancer, Diabetes Established At Medical School

By Tom Fortner

ECU School of Medicine
Director of Information and Publications

For sheer impact on its victims and their families, few diseases are more devastating than cancer and diabetes, and that's particularly true in eastern North Carolina.

In the counties east of Interstate 95, complications related to diabetes claim the lives of 18 out of every 100,000 people, three more than the national average and four more than the state's death rate for the disease. And although the incidence of cancer is about average here, it is often diagnosed at a later stage when it is more difficult and expensive to treat.

UNIVERSITY FEATURE

EAST CAROLINA UNIVERSITY

The status of cancer and diabetes as more than diseases but as pervasive health care problems has prompted East Carolina University to establish two regional centers at the ECU School of Medicine devoted exclusively to cancer and diabetes.

The essence of the center concept is the concentration of extensive but far-flung resources in patient care, research and education in an organizational framework revolving around a single broad disease category. The arrangement results in, among other things, clinical care and education that is better informed by current research and research that is more clinically relevant.

Dr. James A. Hallock, dean of the School of Medicine, sees the initiatives as a natural step in the fulfillment of the medical school's mission.

"One of our missions is to provide the best care we can to the people of eastern North Carolina," he said. "In terms of the quality of our faculty and facilities, we have reached a critical mass in our ability to deliver rather complete care for cancer and diabetes. These centers pull all of this capacity together, enhancing our ability to provide care that is as current and effective as possible."

Neither of the centers will immediately entail any major new buildings on campus. Planning has begun, however, for the inclusion of cancer center clinics and offices in a second-floor addition to the ECU Radiation Oncology Center. When work is completed, the cancer center will bear the name of Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, the former ECU chancellor who died of cancer in January 1989.

The cancer center will facilitate the interaction of approximately 20 clinical faculty members in radiation oncology, medical and pediatric oncology, surgery and gynecology. Their work in patient care and clinical research will be coordinated with the efforts of a half-dozen basic scientists who devote all their time to cancer research and at least 15 others whose work relates to cancer in some way.

Patient care should benefit primarily from a more integrated use of the three basic tools that cancer specialists now have at their disposal, according to Dr. Albert Wiley Jr., interim director of the center and chairman of radiation oncology at ECU.

"Most of the successes with cancer have come about from multidisciplinary approaches involving a combination of surgery, chemotherapy and radiation therapy," explained Wiley. "We recognize that no one specialist has all the answers. Each modality has its own forte, but it also has its limitations, so we have to work hand-in-hand.

The diabetes center, on the other hand, will build on the foundation already established by the five-year, $2.55 million diabetes research grant awarded to the medical school in 1987 by the National Institutes of Health. The grant involves the work of more than a dozen scientists and clinicians from several disciplines in a study of the cause of Type I diabetes, the most common form of the disease.

"The diabetes center will be dedicated to research into the cause and cure of diabetes, to diabetes education and training for patients and health care professionals, and to the development of a model patient care program for diabetics," said Dr. Jose Caro, director of the center and principal investigator for the NIH grant.

Other benefits of the diabetes center include a centralized location for patient care and research activities related to the disease and an official foundation that will make the medical school more competitive in the procurement of research funding.

CT&T Scholarship

A full $3,500 athletic scholarship is awarded at each home East Carolina football game by Carolina Telephone and Telegraph for outstanding achievements in academics and contribution by an ECU team member to the Pirate football program.

The award has been given since 1984, but this season marks the second time that CT&T and its president, Wayne Peterson, have contributed the full scholarship amount for each home game, and it is a donation that ECU officials greatly appreciate.

"As the Pirate Club strives to expand its funding base in order to fully fund athletic scholarships and meet future goals for growth, a gesture like this one by Wayne Peterson and CT&T stands out as an illustration of corporate commitment to excellence with regard to our program," said Charlie Carr, ECU's associate director of athletics and executive director of the Pirate Club.

Pirate Basketball '89-90

Replacing "Blue" will be ECU's biggest challenge

When East Carolina head coach Mike Steele looks down his bench for a substitute during the waning moments of a close ball game, he'll have plenty of faces to pick from. What he won't have is someone the calibre of Theodore "Blue" Edwards.

That, pretty much, sums up the 1989-90 outlook for the Pirates. And, it's not as tough as you might think even with the loss of the Colonial Athletic Association Player of the Year in 1988-89.

Steele returns seven lettermen from last year's 15-14 squad including starters Gus Hill, Reed Lose and Stanley Love. Also, the coaching staff inked seven newcomers to national letters-of-intent. With those numbers, there will definitely be more quality in the quantity.

Hill, a 6-3 senior guard, was the CAA Rookie of the Year in 1987-88 after scoring 19.3 points and 5.5 rebounds per game. Last season, with the emergence of Edwards, Hill slowed to 10.7 points per game. Hill will have to be more productive this season for the Pirates to make an impact in the league.

Lose, a 6-4 senior guard, is one of the scrappiest players in the league. He'll add leadership and hustle to the squad that will have five freshmen, five sophomores, two juniors and two seniors. Last season, Lose averaged 7.7 points and 3.4 rebounds per game.

Love, a 6-5 junior center, started to develop a shooting touch late in the season. If he can carry that over to 1989-90, he'll be a force to contend with among CAA centers. Last year, he averaged 5.2 points and 3.7 rebounds per game and had 15 points in ECU's CAA tournament opening round win against American.

Sophomores Brooks Bryant, Robin House, Casey Mote and Jeff Perlich should continue to improve and make an impact this season. Bryant, a 6-9 center, and Mote, a 6-7 center, should give the Pirates additional inside height. House, a 6-1 guard, and Perlich, a 6-2 guard, are good shooters who should see more playing time this season.

Of the seven newcomers inked by ECU, six hail from the state of North Carolina. Only Steve Richardson, a 6-3 freshman guard, comes from out-of-state, by way of Terre Haute (Ind.) South High School. As a senior last year, Richardson averaged 19.5 points, seven rebounds and four assists per game.

Three junior college talents should help the Pirates out right away. Tim Brown, a 6-7 forward/center from Louisburg Junior College, Taro Knight, a 6-3 guard from Chowan Junior College, and Darrell Overton, a 6-6 forward/center from Craven Community College signed with ECU.

Brown, who averaged 17 points and nine rebounds per game last season, should provide immediate help in the middle. Knight, who will have three years of eligibility remaining, could break into the starting lineup at point guard. Overton is a force on the boards, averaging 14 points and 12 rebounds per game last season.

Stanley Love and six other returnees will be looked to more often this season.

Also, three North Carolina prepsters signed with ECU. Paul Childress, a 5-10 guard from Albemarle High School, averaged 18 points, four rebounds and five assists per game last season. He'll make a solid contribution in his first season.

Ike Copeland, a 6-8 center from Rocky Mount Senior High School, will add height and depth in the middle. Last season, he averaged 14.5 points and 11.0 rebounds per game.

D.J. Morgan, a 6-6 forward from Athens Drive High School, could see plenty of action this season. Last year, he averaged 15 points and 14 rebounds per game.

The Pirate basketball schedule gets tougher with road visits to Duke, New Mexico, TCU, and a visit to Hawaii for the Chaminade Invitational. ECU will also host Mississippi State. There is also the regular CAA schedule, which includes Richmond, George Mason, American, James Madison, UNC-Wilmington, Navy and William and Mary.

ECU's home games will start at 7 p.m. this season.

Lady Pirate Basketball

Task at hand: Replacing four key veterans

After leading the Lady Pirates to a 15-3 record and a third-place finish in the Colonial Athletic Association, third-year head coach Pat Pierson must now face the task of replacing four key seniors as ECU heads into the 1989-90 season.

"We're expecting to be in a learning process," said Pierson, who enters her 11th year of coaching on the collegiate level with a 189-122 record. "We have some strong players returning, despite our loss at graduation."

The Lady Pirates graduated Gretta Savage, 1988-89 Lady Pirate Co-MVP and Pitt County Player of the Year; Chris O'Connor, who earned the team's best free throw percentage last season; Pam Williams, ECU Best Defensive Award recipient; and Rose Miller, who received the ECU Most Improved and Coaches Award for 1988-89.

One of the bright points this season will be the return of 1988-89 Lady Pirate Co-MVP, Sarah Gray. The 6-0 junior forward returned to ECU last season after missing all of 1987-88 following knee surgery. Upon returning, she led ECU in scoring and rebounding throughout the season, averaging 14.4 points and 9.0 rebounds per game, respectively.

"Last season Sarah had an excellent season for someone who was out for a year," Pierson said. "This year, we're working with her to be more aggressive on both ends of the court, especially in rebounding. She will carry a lot of the responsibility for us, especially in scoring."

ECU will look for the leadership from lone senior, Irish Hamilton. The a 5-4 guard led ECU in assists last season with 138. "Irish is stepping into her senior leadership role well prepared," Pierson said. "She has been working hard and we see no problem with her handling this role."

To lessen the loss of height and hustle, Pierson will look to 6-1 junior forward Kim Dupree and 5-9 sophomore forward Tonya Hargrove to fill the demand.

"Kim will be back in full force this season," Pierson said. "She sat out part of last season after transferring. She can make a major contribution to this year's team with her size and scoring ability. Depending on how hard she works in the off-season and preseason, will depend on how good a season she has and what role she will fill for us."

Hargrove comes off an excellent freshman year where she was a spark off the bench. "Tonya will provide us with a lot of athletic ability. Making the All-Rookie team gave her a lot of incentive. She runs the floor well and she is as good as she wants to be," Pierson said.

In the height department, Pierson will also look to 6-2 junior forward Sandra Grace, who played in 25 games last season. "Sandra is working into her role for the Lady Pirates. When she saw playing time last year, she made things happen. She is a natural rebounder. We'll need her and depend on her with Gretta's (Savage) loss."

Along with Grace, sophomore Kathy Addison will also contribute in the height department. Addison, a 5-11 forward, will be seeing time on the inside and the perimeter. Sophomore guard Toina Coley will also be depended on for help on the perimeter. Coley, a 5-7 guard, gained valuable experience last season, playing in 27 of the Lady Pirates' 28 games.

One of East Carolina's strengths this season will be depth in the backcourt. Sophomores Laura Crowder and Mechelle Jones, former teammates at Colonial Heights (VA) High School, will help provide this depth.

"Laura and Mechelle each have the ability to see a lot of playing time. With their hustle and last year's experience, they give us the ability to play a three-guard offense."

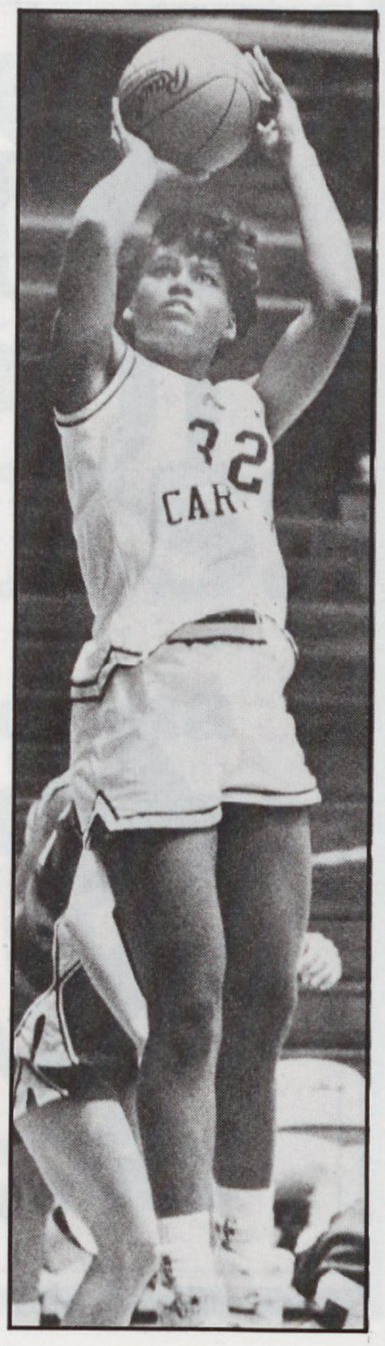

Pierson and her coaching staff are pleased with their returning players as well as the four recruits that will be joining this year's team.

Juniors Michelle Marsh and Keeneya Wilson transferred to ECU from Roane State Community College (TN), the winner of the Region VII Junior College title. Marsh, a 6-0 forward, averaged 14 points and eight rebounds last season and was selected to the All-Region VII team. Wilson is a 5-8 guard and an excellent perimeter shooter who will be an asset to the Lady Pirates in all aspects of the court.

Also on the recruit list are Toni Thurman and Gaynor O'Donnell. Thurman, a freshman from Hallboro, NC, has all the makings of a good college player. O'Donnell, a native of Liverpool, England, played her high school basketball at Southern Wayne and was selected as the Mid-Eastern 4-A Player of the Year.

"Our returning players and our recruits are all young and need time to gel," Pierson said. "We have good talent on the perimeter, but our inside must be more aggressive. Once we come together, we have the nucleus for a winning team."

The schedule is highlighted by two tournaments—the Lady Pirate Classic and Furman Christmas Classic—and ECU will host nationally ranked North Carolina State. The CAA race will be as interesting as ever with several teams contending — it could be anyone's ball game.

East Carolina University

A rising star in the higher education heavens

The school that was to become East Carolina University opened its doors to students for the first time in 1909. It was a newly-founded state normal school to train teachers.

Eighty years is a relatively short time among the hallowed institutions of higher learning to develop a heritage of academic richness and tradition, for ivy to cover the stone and old brick walls and walkways of the campus. East Carolina is still a relatively young institution insofar as the Yales, William and Marys and the University of Virginias are concerned, but the ivy is growing at ECU.

Its heritage is that of a small normal school, then a teachers college, still known with affection and nostalgia as E-C-T-C, East Carolina Teachers College, and later as a liberal arts college, ECC. It took 22 years after the close of World War II for the college to reach the stage of development and organization, size and diversity, to become a university.

ECU has, semester after semester, enrolled the third largest number of students of any college or university in the state of North Carolina, with an estimated enrollment of 1989-90 of 16,000 students.

It became East Carolina University by an act of the General Assembly of North Carolina in 1967 and four years later was made a constituent institution of the 16-campus University of North Carolina system.

Today East Carolina University is a vibrant, pulsing comprehensive university that already possesses tradition and is on the way to becoming a truly distinctive institution of higher learning.

ECU offers strong undergraduate degree programs in more than 100 tracks of study and graduate programs leading to master's degrees in nearly 90 fields in the liberal arts and sciences and in nine of its 10 professional schools — Allied Health Sciences, Art, Business, Education, Home Economics, Music, Nursing, Social Work and Industry and Technology. It offers research-grounded PhD programs in basic medical sciences and ECU's School of Medicine, the state's newest, has graduated more than 450 doctors of medicine (MDs) in just 10 years.

EAST CAROLINA UNIVERSITY

ECU has built a tradition of striving for excellence — and attaining it in many areas — of determination, of fierce pride and loyalty and of a mission of service related to its role of providing quality educational opportunity. It is a tradition that already sets East Carolina University apart.

To those who love East Carolina University it is and always has been a truly distinctive university.

It is a rising star in the higher education heavens.

ECU has, semester after semester, enrolled the third largest number of students of any college or university in the state of North Carolina, with an estimated enrollment of 1989-90 of 16,000 students.

Private support plays an important part in making the ECU ivy grow. In 1987-88, the level of private financial support of ECU's academics, medical education and research and athletics ranked second in the nation among more than 150 public comprehensive universities, totaling $5.9 million.

This private support provides dollars for a margin of excellence in ECU's programs of teaching, research and public service. Together with substantial state appropriations making up an annual operating budget of $170 million, funds enrich the instructional offerings and provide facilities, laboratories and scholarships.

Some of the buildings on the busy main campus in Greenville and all of those on the medical sciences campus in west Greenville are large, new and modern. The university has top priority plans for a $27 million expansion of its library facilities, the heart of an academic community. Adjacent to Ficklen Stadium and Minges Coliseum on the athletic complex is a new three-story Sports Medicine and Physical Education building which will house ECU's growing athletic department.

Even here, as all over the sprawling campus, if one looks closely, the ivy is growing at East Carolina University.

Pirate football may be heard throughout North and South Carolina as well as Virginia through the Pirate Sports Network, owned and operated fully by the East Carolina University athletic department.

All activities of the Pirate Sports Network are coordinated, produced and directed by Jeff Charles, Director of Electronic Media/Promotions at East Carolina.

Handling color commentary on the Pirate Sports Network is Director of Administrative Services, Carlester Crumpler.

Engineer for the broadcasts is Macon Dail and producer-sideline reporter is Tom Doyle while Chip Rutan handles the spotting and Jimmy Roberts does statistics.

The 1989 season will mark the third year of a multi-year agreement with Capitol Radio Networks to distribute the network via satellite. Capitol Radio Networks is a part of the Capitol Broadcasting Company of Raleigh, N.C., and the network provides news and sports programming for more than 150 radio stations throughout North Carolina and Virginia.

The network will have approximately 40 stations this year, the largest number in school history. In addition to the game broadcasts, a weekly coaches' show will be aired on Fridays between 7-8 p.m. The show can be heard on 50,000-watt WPTF-AM (680) as well as selected PSN affiliates. The Pirate Report features daily interviews with players and coaches and can be heard throughout the state.

Charles begins his second year as "Voice of the Pirates." He came to ECU from Virginia Tech, where he served as "Voice of the Hokies" and Director of Radio/Television Affairs for five years.

Before going to Virginia Tech, the veteran sportscaster worked at WGVL Radio in Greenville, S.C., where he hosted sports shows and served as "Voice of the Furman Paladins."

The Piqua, Ohio, native previously had been sports director at WSB Radio in Atlanta, Ga., where he handled play-by-play duties for the Peach Bowl and did a nightly sports talk show on the 50,000-watt clear channel station.

The Georgia Associated Press named him the state's best play-by-play announcer and United Press International awarded him first place for the best sports coverage in the state.

Charles also worked for WITY Radio in Danville, Ill., WKAM Radio in Goshen, Ind. and WPTW, a cable television station in Piqua, Ohio. When he was at WITY, he handled play-by-play duties for the University of Illinois football and basketball teams.

He graduated from the Career Academy Broadcasting School of Columbus, Ohio, in 1971 and received a degree in speech communications from Goshen College in Indiana in 1975.

Charles and his wife, Debby, have two children, Heather (16) and Britt (14).

Anheuser-Busch returns for its 13th consecutive year as the primary network sponsor.

Commitment Is Redbird Lineman's Underlying Success Source

By Tom Manning

ISU Assistant Sports Information Director

Often times an injury suffered on or off the playing field puts a damper on a potentially promising athletic career, but there also are expectations and sometimes an accident can turn into a positive experience.

Coming off a junior year in high school in which his team took second place in the Illinois High School Association 4A football playoffs, current Illinois State University defensive lineman Scott Underwood was looking forward to his senior year at Washington. Until a car accident that shattered his left leg, collapsed both his lungs and knocked out two front teeth almost ended his football career at a time when things were on the upswing for Underwood.

"The doctors thought I would never be able to play football again after the accident," Underwood remembers. "I even had doubts about stepping on the field. The timing of the accident was terrible because I was just beginning to be recruited to play in college."

Some people may not have the desire to come back after such an accident, but Underwood looked for alternatives to overcome his setback.

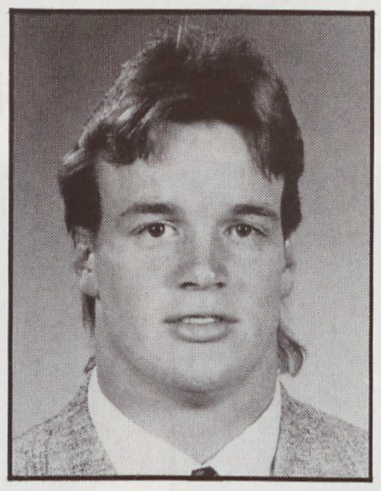

"After talking with my coach, John Venturi, at Washington, I found out that I could redshirt a year of high school football because I was young enough to still be eligible to play after sitting out a season," Underwood recalls. "As it turned out former ISU quarterback Brad Fuller also had to miss the season and he joined me as a redshirt. At the time we were only two of three Illinois high school athletes that had ever redshirted."

The success Washington had in 1985 helped ease the pain Underwood felt from missing a year of football. "We won the 4A title my senior year and being in the playoffs gave me some extra playing experience I had missed the season before," Underwood says.

After finishing his high school football playing days, Underwood received a scholarship to play for the Redbirds and enrolled in classes at ISU in the spring semester of 1986.

"I came into ISU at semester break and that turned out to be a beneficial experience for me because I was able to meet all the players and participate in spring drills," Underwood explained. "Instead of going through freshman orientation in the summer, I was able to adjust to the college atmosphere and get ahead of the other recruits during the spring semester. When the next season started, I was considered as a veteran by the coaches. It also helped me in the classroom because I will be graduating on time."

The Washington, Ill., native never cracked the starting lineup his freshman year, but played in every game and finished the season with 10 tackles and one sack. As a sophomore he began to start some games and finished his second year with eight solo tackles and 16 assists while playing on a defensive line that showed him the ropes of college football.

Scott Underwood

"John Kropke, a two-time all-Gateway defensive lineman, and the other veterans helped me on the field and taught me a lot, which made it easier for me to do my job on the field," Underwood says. "I was the youngest one of the group and I learned about what it takes to be competitive on the college football field from the upperclassmen."

Last year, he put what he had learned to use and compiled 52 tackles, including six for a loss, three sacks and one fumble recovery while starting the majority of the games.

Even though Underwood was improving his statistics each season, ISU defensive line coach Thaddeus Buggs realized something was preventing Underwood from becoming a dominant defensive lineman.

"After the spring workouts I sat down with Scott and set some goals that he had to meet to make himself a better football player for the upcoming season," Buggs said. "Scott reported to me and he had fulfilled everything that I had asked him to improve on; he gained weight (20 pounds), increased his strength (by 60 pounds in the bench press) and maintained his quickness."

Buggs believes the physical development of Underwood will enable Scott to be more effective on the field this season.

"Last year, Scott was outmanned by the opposition because he was going up against guys who were 30-40 pounds heavier," Buggs explains. "His increased weight and strength should make him more of a force on the defensive line in 1989 and will allow him to defeat an offensive lineman's block."

"I want to be as good as I can and would like to be All-Gateway and All-American," a determined Underwood says. "I have set my goals high and have been working toward them during the off-season. Basically, I don't want to be beat this season. I am bigger and stronger than ever and I see no reason why I should be defeated on the field."

The improvement of Underwood as a player will have a direct relationship to the success of the 1989 Redbirds. On a defense that is loaded with underclassmen, Underwood is only one of three seniors listed on the first-team depth chart. His leadership as a veteran is vital to the development of the younger players.

"I have completed the cycle at ISU because I started my career as the rookie on the defensive line and now I am the veteran," Underwood says. "I hope to help the younger guys adjust to game situations because I have been in their shoes. I also want to be a leader because I feel it has been lacking."

"I want to be as good as I can and would like to be All-Gateway and All-American."

— Scott Underwood

Buggs shares the same feelings as Underwood when he analyzes the 1989 Redbird defense.

"A vital role for Scott is to assume the leadership responsibility on a young defensive line," Buggs says. "He has to be a leader by example so the rest of the guys will follow his lead. By committing himself to being a better player during the off-season, he has established a trend for the other players to follow."

Underwood has made another commitment in his life as he plans to marry Illinois State volleyball player Donna Zajeski next June. Underwood met her his freshman year and they have been together ever since.

A criminal justice major, Underwood wants to work for the Illinois State police for a few years and enjoys the law enforcement aspect over any type of correctional related work.

Underwood has overcome a serious car accident in the past and prepared for his future plans in life, but there is something he would like to accomplish during the upcoming football season.

"The 1-10 record last season and not winning a conference game the past two seasons has put a fire under all the players and is something we plan to rectify," an anxious Underwood says. "I think last year's record has become a stepping stone for the 1989 team. Our effort put a dent in all the guys' pride and is something we won't let happen again."

We're Proud To Support 1989 Pirate Football!

The East Carolina Sports Hall of Fame was initiated in 1974 as an organization to honor those individuals who have, by direct participation in East Carolina University intercollegiate athletics, brought outstanding recognition to themselves and to the University.

The first honorees were inducted during Homecoming festivities at halftime of the East Carolina-The Citadel football game in 1974. Ten members were selected for the first year. No more than four members may be selected for any one year in the future.

To be selected, a committee of five persons must vote with 80 percent of those giving their approval. Those five shall be the official selection committee. To be eligible for selection, a person must not have been connected with the University in the capacity to which the nominee is being elected for a minimum of five academic years.

Ficklen Stadium

The Home of the Pirates

The James Skinner Ficklen Memorial Stadium was dedicated on September 21, 1963, with East Carolina defeating Wake Forest 20-10.

The dedication game was the culmination of a dream come true for then East Carolina College and all of eastern North Carolina. The original plan was announced on Oct. 7, 1961, by Dr. Leo Jenkins, Chancellor of the College, at a meeting of the Society of Buccaneers.

Within a year, $283,387 had been raised, although the goal had been only $200,000. With the funds in hand, Ficklen Stadium was built.

The original stadium consisted of the permanent stands on the south side, a small press box and the old lighting system which was removed after the 1974 season. Total cost was $300,000.

The north side permanent seating was constructed in 1968, increasing the stadium seating capacity to 20,000.

The stadium was named for the late James Skinner Ficklen, a Greenville resident, who distinguished himself as one of America's leading tobacconists. At the time of his death in 1955, Ficklen was President and Chairman of the Board of the E.B. Ficklen Tobacco Company of Greenville. He was a close friend of the College and established a financial aid foundation, the Ficklen Foundation, to aid students of the College.

The first major change in Ficklen Stadium was the lighting systems, a change that occurred just before the 1975 season opened. The old inner stadium lights on six poles were removed and replaced with six towers outside the stadium. The system is a combination of metallic and incandescent lights. There are 288 fixtures of 1500 watts each on six 162-foot towers. Cost of the system was $450,000. Engineers say ECU has the best lighted stadium in the southeast.

A radical change greeted fans as the 1978 season opened. An expansion on all four corners boosted Ficklen's seating capacity from 20,000 to 35,000, the third-largest stadium in North Carolina. This expansion was made possible with 2½ million dollars through a drive in the spring of 1977.

In addition to more seats, an ultramodern press box with three levels and an elevator for access was built. The much needed press box is one of the finest in the country with space for 92 writers and an entire floor for electronic media. Also, a modern scoreboard with a lightbank message center was placed on the east end of Ficklen.

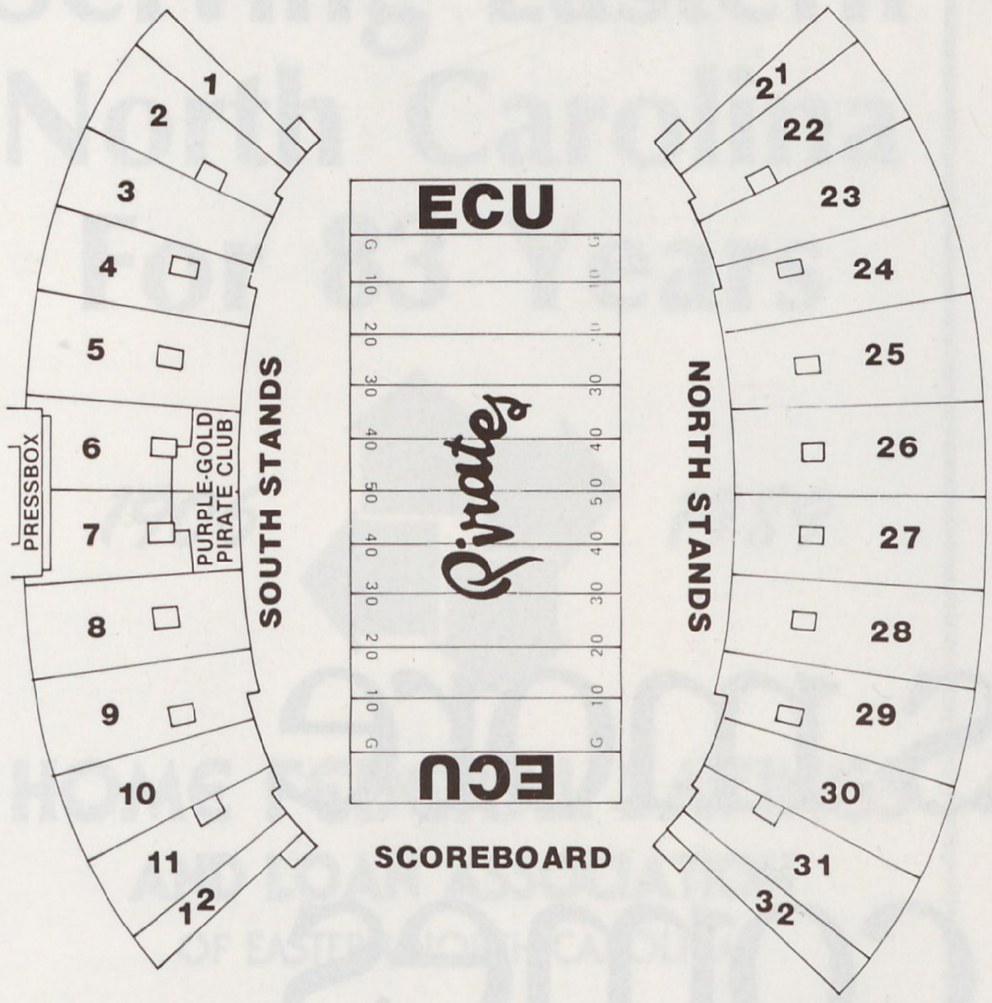

During the summer of 1982, a complete renovation took place on the playing surface. A new drainage system, a new base of gravel and sand, new treated topsoil and a new grass was installed. The new grass, Tifton 419 Hybrid Bermuda was sprigged at the rate of 600 bushels per acre.

The 1988 season saw the season attendance record fall in Ficklen Stadium as the Pirates drew a school-record 156,329 fans for six home games.

Sports Medicine

Providing care, treatment for Pirates

The East Carolina University sports medicine division and curriculum, reputed to be one of the finest in the Southeast, affords every Pirate athlete the best available care and treatment of injuries.

Headed by ECU's sports medicine director Rod Compton, who is a Certified Athletic Trainer and a member of the National Athletic Trainers Association (NATA), and the American Orthopedic Society for Sports Medicine, the East Carolina sports medicine program offers the best possible prevention, immediate treatment, and rehabilitation of injuries.

Compton, who earned degrees from Ohio University and Bowling Green State and served as Editor-in-Chief of the NATA Journal for six-and-one-half years, is also the director of the ECU Sports Medicine Conference, which is held annually in April on the East Carolina campus.

Compton (entering his 20th season) is assisted by team physician Dr. James McCallum, Greg Beres, Certified Athletic Trainer, and Karen Baker, Certified Athletic Trainer, as designated by the NATA. All serve on the staff of the Sports Medicine Conference and as faculty for the Sports Medicine Curriculum within the Department of Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Safety.

They are assisted by more than a dozen fine community-based professionals who lend valuable time to the program and 30 to 35 undergraduate students majoring in East Carolina University's sports medicine program.

The Sports Medicine Center is in the new Sports Medicine/Physical Education Building. The Center, which has been in operation since 1971, will now be able to better serve all student-athletes and further assist sports medicine majors in the curriculum.

The "Sports Paramedics," as Compton refers to his staff, are in attendance at every athletic event that involves East Carolina University athletes. Radio communication from practice field to the center is a must and a sports medicine vehicle provides instant transportation for injured athletes to the center. Prevention, evaluation, treatment, and rehabilitation are the main objectives of the Sports Medicine Division and when an injury does occur, Compton and his staff provide on-the-spot treatment to make certain the injury does not become more serious.

The Sports Medicine Curriculum, a part of the Health and Physical Education Department at East Carolina, is the only undergraduate athletic training program approved by the NATA in eastern North Carolina and one of only two in the state.

Dedication, sincere sensitivity, and individual attention are the basic motivators which distinguish East Carolina University's "Sports Paramedics" from any others. People helping people in a first-class setting. That's East Carolina Sports Medicine!

Parents' Emotions Vary While Watching Sons Play

It's Parent's Day at East Carolina—a special time for all those involved. It's the chance for students and their parents to share a weekend of ECU festivities together.

PARENT'S DAY

For the parents who have sons playing football tonight, Parent's Day takes on added meaning.

The parents of senior players have watched and supported their sons through their careers at ECU and today's game, like most games, stirs many emotions among the parents.

"I feel all fired up watching Comp play," says Olin J. McCurry, father of senior linebacker Compton McCurry.

For many parents, like Charlie and Paula Libretto, they would sacrifice anything to spend a Saturday watching their son, senior quarterback Charlie Libretto, and teammates play.

"Even though we get up in the wee hours of the morning, drive nine hours, watch the game on pins and needles and drive back home the next day, we haven't missed a home game and very few away games since he was a freshman. It is worth every sacrifice to watch him play."

Senior linebacker Joe Holmes and his father share the love for the game and Randell says watching Joe play is rewarding. He too played for East Carolina from 1956-58 and is very proud that Joe is following in his footsteps.

There's a certain amount of worrying that the parents encounter during a game, according to Al and Margie Lowe, parents of senior offensive lineman Grant Lowe.

"It's hard to watch Grant and follow the play, so I switch from one to the other, but my heart stops when there is someone hurt and I can't find him on the field."

All the parents watch with pride. Harold and Danise Drugac, parents of offensive lineman Todd Drugac, are no different.

"We are just so proud and excited and feel like we are on top of the world. We always say a prayer to keep all of them safe."

Pirate Baseball Carries Momentum Into The 1990s

ECU has won Colonial Tournament two out of the last three years

East Carolina's baseball team has earned 11 trips to the prestigious NCAA Tournament in the last 25 years. The Pirates will carry a strong tradition into the next decade.

Sixth-year ECU Head Coach Gary Overton, whose teams have captured the Colonial Athletic Association crown twice in the last three years, is excited about what the 1990s may bring.

"The tradition here at East Carolina began before I ever came on the scene," said Overton, a 1973 ECU graduate. "Coach (Jack) Boone, Coach (James) Mallory, and Coach (Earl) Smith started the tradition here.

"I would like to see that tradition continue, and I think it will. Our program continues to grow."

Gary Overton

No one can argue with the success East Carolina baseball teams have enjoyed over the years. They've won a national tournament (1961 NAIA national champions) and most recently, they've earned berths to the NCAA Tournament four times since 1980.

Want more proof? Consider these facts:

- ECU has won at least 30 games in five of the last six years.
- The Pirates have won conference championships in the Southern Conference, the ECAC-South, and their present league, the CAA.
- ECU has won NCAA bids while representing those three different conferences, and as an independent.
- In 1986 the team was denied an NCAA at-large bid, but finished with a school-record 40 wins during a 40-10 season.
- As many as 60 former ECU players in the last 30 years have gone on to sign professional baseball contracts.
- Two former players—Bob Patterson (Pittsburgh) and Butch Davis (Baltimore)—are playing in the major leagues today.
- Last year's club was among the top ten teams in the nation in earned run average for much of the year, and only one of those hurlers will be missing off the 1990 staff.

While Overton modestly downplays any personal contributions to ECU's success, he has in fact played a major role in the program's growth.

Overton began his career at ECU in the early 1970s as a graduate assistant coach. Later, he served as a full-time assistant for eight years before replacing Hal Baird in 1984 as head coach. In five years, the Ahoskie, NC, native has compiled a 168-66 (.720 win percentage) and reached the 150-win plateau faster than any Pirate coach in history.

Overton's first team in 1985 went 32-14, followed by the sterling 40-10 mark in 1986. The 1987 team of overachievers battled its way through the CAA Tournament in Richmond to capture the league crown. In 1988, the Pirates finished 32-14, followed by last season's 37-11 mark, including the CAA championship and another trip to the NCAA Tournament.

When last year's club exited the NCAA East Regional, it came home disappointed. The Pirates lost 11-6 to nationally ranked Florida in a regionally televised game. The Gators were playing at home in front of a partisan crowd of nearly 5,000.

The fact that ECU felt disappointed to lose that game—and not happy just to be in the national 48-team tournament—may say something about just how far the program has come.

While Overton is cautious about what the distant future may bring to the ECU program, he is enthusiastic about the 1990 edition of the Pirates.

"On paper, we should have a solid club," Overton said. "We return a strong nucleus from last year, and I'm excited about our potential."

The Pirates' biggest task in 1990 is replacing some key figures up the middle. Gone is three-year starter John Thomas in center field, David Ritchie at shortstop, Mike Andrews at second base, and Chris Cauble at catcher. Also gone is pitcher Jake Jacobs, who tossed two consecutive no-hitters last season.

One unexpected and major loss to the Pirates is assistant coach Billy Best, who resigned to take a similar position with former ECU Head Coach Hal Baird at Auburn.

Still, this year's ECU team will have plenty of familiar faces, such as senior pitcher Jonathan Jenkins (12-3), first baseman Calvin Brown (.340, 11 HRs), outfielder John Adams and catcher Tommy Eason—all four were all-conference selections in 1989.

"Our pitchers did a remarkable job last year for us and I'm hoping that they'll attain that level this year," Overton said. "I look at our lineup and I do feel that we'll be capable of scoring runs."

And so the baseball tradition continues in Greenville.

ECU Coaching Staff: Diverse, Experienced Group

By Tom Doyle
ECU SID Student Assistant

They came from all over the United States. Nine men being asked to come and do a job; the job of rebuilding the East Carolina football program.

It is off to a good beginning. The Pirates are 2-0 and shooting for win number three tonight against Illinois State. The men making this success happen are head coach Bill Lewis' assistant coaches.

ECU's assistants are indeed a diverse group. They came from schools like Murray State, Austin Peay, LSU, Florida State, South Carolina and Boise State. Some came in December when coach Lewis was hired, some as late as the middle of spring practice. Nonetheless, these nine men have helped Lewis guide the Pirates to wins over Bowling Green and Cincinnati.

Eight of the nine had the extra task of getting settled into Greenville. Only offensive line coach Steve Shankweiler remains from Art Baker's staff in '88. Therefore, eight different adjustments had to be made.

Runningback coach Steve Logan comes to ECU from Mississippi State in Starkville, Miss. and says moving is tough on family life.

"...One of the toughest things about making a coaching move is what happens to you personally and at the same time trying not to miss a beat professionally," Logan said.

Invariably, there's a story of how a head coach convinced an assistant to join his staff. In the case of defensive line coach Tim Kelly, it was an easy sell.

"I was on the road recruiting in California," Kelly said. "He (Lewis) called me and we had been in contact with each other and he said, 'I think I'm going to take the East Carolina job, would you be interested?' And that fact, having a chance to work with him again (the two coached together in Georgia) and the chance to come home and be with my family (Kelly is from New Bern) gave me a great opportunity. I'm very happy at East Carolina."

Coach Tom McMahon came five hours north from South Carolina to work on coach Lewis' staff as defensive coordinator. He and Lewis are no strangers. McMahon was defensive backfield coach under Lewis at Wyoming in 1979. For him, it has been "go, go, go" from the moment he and his family hit town.

"I haven't had a whole lot of time to make any adjustments. Things started right from the git-go and we've been going full speed ahead, so I haven't had much time to do anything but get my family settled and go to work."

For married men, making a move creates problems singles don't have to worry with. For the single Jeff Jagodzinski, tight end and assistant offensive line coach, moving was easy.

"It's been real easy for me," Jagodzinski said. "I talked to a couple of married guys on our staff, and making a move across the country with your whole family is a little bit more difficult than doing it by yourself ... I didn't have any furniture or anything when I moved up here, so I just moved my clothes and it was just one box!"

As with any move, finding your way around is always one of the biggest parts of the adjustment. Coach Ron Cooper, who handles the inside linebackers, says it wasn't too difficult though.

"Basically, I guess my biggest adjustment was finding my way around a new area and getting used to living in a new area. It's been an easy adjustment. We haven't had much time for anything outside of football."

ECU Coaching Staff

The nine assistants under Head Coach Bill Lewis have been hard at work since December of last year. Below is the ECU coaching staff and their previous places of work:

A Week In The Life Of A Coach

Steve Shankweiler works seven days a week and as many as 16 hours a day during football season. The day begins early and ends late for an assistant football coach. He wears many hats: from field coach, to recruiter, to counselor, and always a family man.

It's a difficult job. But for Shankweiler and others like him, it's a labor of love.

Following ECU's 41-6 win over Bowling Green here two weeks ago, Shankweiler kept a daily diary. Take a look at a week in the life of an assistant coach:

Harriers To Host Meet Saturday

East Carolina's cross country teams have this weekend off in preparation for a rare home meet next week against Lynchburg.

The race will be the first meet hosted by ECU in 13 years.

WELCH

At the Seahawk Invitational last week, the Lady Pirates welcomed the return of injured sophomore Ann Marie Welch. Last year Welch had three first-place finishes and paced the Lady Pirates to their best finish ever in the Colonial Athletic Association. ECU finished sixth in the women's division among a field of 12 strong teams at Wilmington.

Lady Pirates Off To A Good Start

The Lady Pirate volleyball team is off to a good start in the 1989 campaign. With a match against N.C. Wesleyan today, the Lady Pirates are 4-3 overall.

ECU finished second in the ECU Invitational volleyball tournament last weekend, losing to Baptist in five games for the championship. "It was a shame someone had to lose," said coach Judy Kirkpatrick. "Both teams played great volleyball."

The Lady Pirates are led by four seniors, with Jemma Holley from Teachey, N.C. leading in several statistical categories. The Lady Pirates will be home again Tuesday night, with a match against UNC-Wilmington at 7 p.m. in Minges Coliseum.

Soccer Team Preps For CAA Foes

East Carolina's soccer team enters a full week of competition starting with today's game at Colonial Athletic Association foe American. The Pirates will then travel to Annapolis, MD Sunday to face a tough Navy squad.

Following the two road contests, ECU will return to Greenville for two non-conference games. On Sept. 27, they will square off against Richmond. Then on Saturday, Sept. 30, the Pirates will take the field against Atlantic Christian. ECU, 0-6-1 overall and 0-3 in the CAA, is still searching for its first win.

Most recently, the Pirates dropped a pair to Longwood (0-3) and Hampden-Sydney (0-1) in the Longwood Tournament Sept. 16-17.

Swim Team Opens On Oct. 5

East Carolina's 1989-90 men's and women's swimming and diving teams will face a difficult dual meet schedule highlighted by meets at Duke, Old Dominion, and UNC Charlotte. A dual meet with North Carolina highlights the home schedule.

The Pirate men's team, defending champions of the Colonial Athletic Association, will also face the always-tough round-robin swing through the CAA.

Both the men's and women's teams will dive into action on October 5, in their annual intrasquad Pentathlon at Minges Aquatic Center.

Volleyball Standout McIntosh A Complete Player

The East Carolina Lady Pirate volleyball team is off to a good start in 1989. The team sports a 4-3 record and finished second in the ECU Invitational last weekend. One of the leaders of the team is senior Michelle McIntosh from Morehead City, N.C.

The 5'7" outside hitter is having an outstanding season so far this year and is one of four seniors that have sparked the squad.

McINTOSH

"Mac is playing probably her best volleyball ever," said coach Judy Kirkpatrick. "Her play has helped get the team where they are now."

Last season, McIntosh finished ninth in the nation in the volleyball statistic dig percentage. This season, however, she has become a more well-rounded player.

"I worked hard in the summer to be in shape for this season," said McIntosh. "I knew we would be better as a team and I wanted to be better as a player."

McIntosh is one of the Pirate leaders in several statistical categories. She feels that the team will continue to improve.

"The team has gotten better and coach Kirkpatrick is a super coach. I think we can win more matches this year."

If McIntosh and the three other seniors on this year's squad (Jemma Holley, Debbie Tate and Kerry Weisbord) perform like they have to date, this could be the year that the Lady Pirates make a move in the Colonial Athletic Association.

Full-fledged help for part-time farmers

Got limited time to get your work done? Then don't settle for a tractor that has limited capability. Or limited features that make even simple tasks awkward. Or limited convenience that makes every hour seem like two. Or worst of all, limited reliability that threatens even your limited time.

In short, part-time farmers need full fledged help that they can count on full time. And that means John Deere. All John Deere tractors between 30 and 55 horsepower are built to handle your wide range of tasks simply, conveniently and economically. When every hour counts, count on John Deere.
