EAST CAROLINA CAPTAINS

Throughout the season, captains were selected by the coaching staff before each game. The season captains were voted by the squad and will serve as captains in the St. Jude Liberty Bowl. They are Junior Smith, John Krawczyk and Terry Tilghman.

EAST CAROLINA IN BOWL GAMES

The St. Jude Liberty Bowl marks the third bowl for the ECU program as a member of NCAA Division I-A. The Pirates defeated Louisiana Tech, 35-13, in the 1978 Independence Bowl and defeated N.C. State, 37-34, in the 1992 Peach Bowl. Other bowls include the 1965 Tangerine Bowl (ECU 31, Maine 0), 1964 Tangerine Bowl (ECU 14, Massachusetts 13), 1963 Eastern Bowl (ECC 27, Northeastern 6), 1954 Elks Bowl (Morris-Harvey 12, ECC 0) and 1952 Lions Bowl (Clarion 13, ECC 6).

LOGAN IN BOWL GAMES

This will be the first bowl appearance for a Steve Logan-head coached team. However, as an assistant, Logan has been to three bowl games (1985 Freedom Bowl and 1986 Bluebonnet Bowl with Colorado and 1992 Peach Bowl with ECU).

EAST CAROLINA'S UNIFORM IN THE LIBERTY BOWL

The Pirates will be the home team and will be wearing their purple jerseys and purple pants. The lettering is white and the pants have purple and gold striping on the sides. The helmets are purple with gold lettering and striping.

OFFENSE

Quarterback

Sophomore Marcus Crandell had one of the best seasons for any ECU quarterback in history. The Robersonville, N.C. native, completed 230 of 401 passes for 2,687 yards with 21 touchdowns and 15 interceptions. Crandell has also exhibited a skill for rushing the football, gaining 96 yards on 71 carries and a touchdown. His forte is the short passing game, working the receivers and running backs on short routes. The Pirate offense is very multiple and Crandell has shown he can handle the many formations the Pirates line up in. If there is any weakness for Crandell, it is throwing long, where he has, at times, overthrown open receivers. Crandell is definitely the leader of the offense and has handled his role well. Redshirt freshman Dan Gonzalez is the back-up quarterback and has seen action in only two games.

Running Backs

The biggest name at this position is the shortest player on the field - senior Junior Smith. The Fayetteville, N.C. native, has broken school marks for single-game, season and career rushing yards. This season, Smith rushed for 1,204 yards on 226 carries and nine touchdowns. Despite being only 5-6, 180 pounds, Smith is strong (370 pound bench press) and quick (4.43 in the 40 yard dash). During his career, Smith has 3,672 rushing yards. Sixteen times in his career, Smith has rushed for over 100 yards in a game, including an ECU record 282 yards on 31 carries against Tulsa in 1993.

Senior Damon Wilson starts at fullback, when the Pirates use one. Usually, it is in short-yardage and blocking situations. The Jacksonville, Fla. native, has only 18 carries this season (for 36 yards) and has caught six passes for 21 yards. Wilson is the senior leader on this squad.

Jerris McPhail backs up Smith at running back and John Peacock spells Wilson at fullback. McPhail, a junior from Clinton, N.C., is the heir apparent to Smith's role. He has tremendous speed and talent, and coaches have worked on ways to get the ball to McPhail more often. He led the team in receptions (34) during the 1993 season. Peacock, only a redshirt freshman, has only 10 carries this season, but is a fine blocker.

Wide Receivers & Tight Ends

Nine different wide receivers and tight ends caught passes this season, with two leading the pack. Redshirt freshman Jason Nichols led the team in receptions with 42 while sophomore Mitchell Galloway, playing in 9 games, caught 36 passes. Galloway sprained a knee against Auburn and missed the last two games.

Both run well after the catch, especially Galloway, who averaged 15.7 yards per reception in 1994. Galloway also returned kickoffs during the season, averaging 20.9 yards per return. Coaches like Nichols' natural skills, speed and hands.

Redshirt freshman Larry Shannon and sophomore Allen Williams have seen most of the reserve playing time behind Nichols and Galloway. Shannon, at 6-6, is a big target. He also has the best vertical leap on the team. Several times during the 1994 season Shannon has caught passes by outleaping the defender. Shannon had 17 catches this season, including a team-high 6 for touchdowns.

Williams has good hands and is especially adept at catching the long ball. He averaged 14.6 yards per catch on 21 grabs.

Junior Derrek Batson has also seen a large amount of playing time, especially in the halfback spot. The Miami, Fla. native, had 15 catches for 165 yards in 1994. Redshirt freshman Linwood DeBrew started the first four games before injuring a neck muscle against South Carolina. DeBrew came back for the last two games. He caught 10 passes for 124 yards this season.

Sophomore Perez Mattison was to have redshirted this season at quarterback. However, the Anderson, S.C. native, asked to play wide receiver in the last two games, but has no catches this season.

Offensive Line

This group allowed only nine quarterback sacks in 1994 and has been a valuable commodity for the Pirate offense. The line has also been held mostly intact during the season.

Terry Tilghman (10 at right guard, 1 at center), Ron Suddith (11 at right tackle), Jamie Gray (11 at left guard), Kevin Wiggins (7 at center) and Charles Boothe (3 at left tackle) will start in the St. Jude Liberty Bowl.

Tilghman, a senior leader, has good feet and technique. He has recouped well after suffering a season-ending shoulder injury in the third game of the 1993 season. He has also had surgery before on both knees.

Suddith, only a sophomore, is a keeper. Coaches feel he will go down as one of the best in school history when his career is over. The Miami, Fla. native, is an outstanding pass blocker. He has allowed just one sack in two seasons.

Gray, another sophomore, is steady at left guard while Wiggins and Boothe, both juniors have quick off the ball, especially for their size.

Seniors Ken Carroll and Derrick Leaphart will also see valuable playing time.

DEFENSE

Defensive Line

The interior defensive line for East Carolina has been one of the main differences in the success of 1994 and the problems of 1993.

The core of junior Walter Scott, senior John Krawczyk and sophomore Lorenzo West have been a solid nucleus for the entire season. Krawczyk and West have started every game this season, while a knee injury kept Scott from starting three games in the middle of the season.

Krawczyk is one of the strongest players on the squad, bench pressing 415 pounds. He had 63 tackles this season, with 3.5 coming behind the line of scrimmage.

Scott had 26 tackles in nine games, but was able to give the Pirates a tremendous pass rush. West was second on the squad in quarterback pressures (18) and had 51 tackles. The sophomore is somewhat undersized for his position (6-3, 243), but makes up for it in speed and agility.

Senior Dealton Cotton and true freshman Alphonso Collins see most of the backup duty on the defensive line. Cotton redshirted last season on the offensive line, and has been a valuable reserve this season on the defensive line. He started three games for the injured Scott, and had 21 tackles during the season.

Collins has been a valuable reserve on the defensive line and on special teams. He has also seen playing time at outside linebacker.

Outside Linebackers

The Pirates have an outstanding pair of outside linebackers in senior Willie Brookins and junior Morris Foreman. Both are very athletic and could be playing Sunday afternoons in the future.

Brookins, a junior college transfer who came to ECU before last season, played in only 7 games this year due to a knee injury. In those games, Brookins had 33 tackles, of which 6.5 came behind the line of scrimmage. He also had a team-best 22 quarterback pressures.

Brookins has tremendous speed and strength for the position, and is an outstanding pass rush specialist.

Foreman came to ECU as a defensive back, but has added some size for the outside linebacker position. At 6-1, 224, Foreman is still small for the spot, but has tremendous quickness and a nose for the football. He was in on eight turnovers (3 forced fumbles, 3 recovered fumbles and two interceptions) this season and 72 tackles, including 7 for losses.

Daniel Russ, a sophomore, played a huge role in the Pirate defense, backing up Brookins. He also started in four games, with Brookins' injury, and did an admirable job. The Shallotte, N.C. native, had 38 tackles on the season with 17 quarterback pressures, third on the team.

Leonard Graham, one of only four seniors on the defense, backs up Foreman at an outside linebacker position.

Inside Linebackers

ECU's two inside linebackers - Mark Libiano and B.J. Crane - lead the team in tackles.

Libiano, a junior from Easton, Pa., has 135 total stops, including 13 behind the line of scrimmage. He is a dependable run-stopper and a leader on the defensive side of the ball.

Crane, a sophomore from College Park, Ga., is the vocal leader of the defense. He started in six games (first four and last two) and had 79 total tackles, with eight behind the line of scrimmage.

Marvin Burke, who started five games at inside linebacker, spells Crane. Burke finished with 47 total tackles in nine games.

Carlos Brown and Aaron Black also play a reserve role at inside linebacker.

Defensive Backs

One of the biggest improvements on the Pirate football squad has been turned in by the secondary. ECU finished 19th in the nation in pass efficiency defense in 1994, and the success is due to the maturation process of the defensive backfield.

Dwight Henry, a Football News All-Independent choice, led the secondary in tackles with 76. He is a speed merchant and has been able to make big plays using his speed. He broke a school record this season with 12 pass deflections.

Daren Hart had another fine season from his strong safety position. Hart had 74 total stops, with 10 behind the line of scrimmage. He plays the run well and is a good open field tackler.

Daren's identical twin brother, David, has been starting at right cornerback for the injured Hank Cooper. David has 50 total tackles and four interceptions this season.

Emmanuel McDaniel began the season by picking off five passes in the first four games. Even though he did not have any more picks during the season, he played strong, with 51 tackles and six pass deflections this season. Coaches like his pass coverage abilities.

Andree Taylor and Tabari Wallace came into the Pirate program as walk-ons, but have demonstrated big-play abilities as reserves in the secondary. Wallace's interception in the final seconds of the Central Florida game was a game-winner for the Pirates.

E.J. Gunthrope and David Crumbie also play reserve roles in the Pirate secondary.

SPECIAL TEAMS

Placekicker

Chad Holcomb and Matt Levine have been splitting kicking duties this season, with Holcomb seeing the most action.

In kickoff duties, both have had 28 attempts, with Holcomb's average depth of 8.7 yard line while Levine's average depth is 8.1 yard line. Holcomb has had five touchbacks to Levine's three.

In placement kicks, Holcomb has made 26 of 27 extra points and 6 of 13 field goals, while Levine has made 5 of 7 extra-points and 2 of 3 field goals. Holcomb's long has been 42 yards while Levine's has been 41 yards.

Punting

Matt Levine finished the season ranked 15th in the nation in punting, with a 42.59 yard average. The North Potomac, Md. native, has also been adept at hitting the coffin-corner, doing it 12 times (inside the 20-yard line). Levine has 13 punts over 50 yards this season.

Return Specialists

Morris Foreman has handled most of the punt return duties this season. The junior is one of the only linebackers in the country who return punts. And, Foreman is good at it too. He is tied for 15th in the nation, averaging 10.4 yards per return.

Mitchell Galloway has been handling kickoff returns for most of the season. In the first nine games, before his knee injury, he averaged 20.9 yards per return. He also had a kickoff back 97 yards for a touchdown against South Carolina. He is expected to be back for the Liberty Bowl. Perez Mattison, who came out of a redshirt season, and Jerris McPhail also return kickoffs.

The practice fields are the classroom. Dowdy-Ficklen Stadium is the final exam. Steve Logan is the teacher.

It's the way the third-year East Carolina head coach prefers it.

"When I sat down and asked myself what I enjoyed most about coaching," said Logan, "it was the teaching that I enjoyed most and if teaching is what I enjoy then I would be teaching on Saturday as well."

If you spent time watching Logan on the sidelines, you'll get a feel how the 41-year-old coach uses Saturdays as another teaching tool.

He'll take one of his young quarterbacks on the sidelines and discuss different plans, options and ideas. It's a two-way conversation and the best way for a student-athlete to know what he's doing right and what's he doing wrong.

"He doesn't pressure you, he doesn't yell at you, but he makes sure you understand what you did wrong," said Jeff Blake, former Pirate and current New York Jets quarterback. "He makes sure you know everything about the game. He taught me how to keep my composure, how to be a leader."

The teaching and leadership roles continue also off the playing and practice fields. The Lawton, Okla. native, feels that if student-athletes are going to be the best they are going to be, it requires self-discipline, hard work and dedication.

Members of the football squad are told three things by Logan about playing football at East Carolina: 1) if you go to class and practice hard, you will play; 2) have fun playing the game of football, and; 3) play as hard as possible on every play and the wins and losses will take care of themselves.

"I like to see the responsibility for the little things fall upon the players rather than for me telling them to do it," said Logan.

"We never talk to our student-athletes about winning and losing - never," continues Logan. "We talk to them about showing up, playing every play as hard as they can play it and play to the last play of the game. We don't care who it is we're playing. We give a ton of respect to whoever that may be, home or on the road."

Logan developed much of his philosophy through the influence of several head coaches. He worked on the staff of current Ohio State coach John Cooper at Tulsa, with current Dallas Cowboys coach Jimmy Johnson at Oklahoma State, with Bill McCartney at Colorado and with Bill Lewis at ECU.

When Lewis resigned to take the head coaching position at Georgia Tech, ECU Director of Athletics Dave Hart, Jr., did not have far to look for the school's 17th head football coach.

"It became obvious to me through conversations with Steve that he was the best man for the job," said Hart.

Logan is mostly credited with the development of the Pirate offensive attack during the 1990-91 seasons when he was ECU's offensive coordinator. In 1991, ECU finished the season with an 11-1 record and reached a Top Ten national ranking.

During the 1990-91 seasons, Logan coached quarterback Jeff Blake. The Sanford, Fla. native broke or tied 32 school records before leaving ECU, including most passing yards in a game, season and career. He was named the 1991 ECAC Player of the Year.

Logan continues to monitor the offensive side of the football closely. He still coaches the quarterbacks but also makes his way around the practice field to observe his coaches in action.

In 1992, it was Michael Anderson's turn to rewrite ECU record books. The Decatur, Ga. native, broke or tied 12 school records, including all of the school's sophomore records.

This season, as was in 1993, Logan has another young signal-caller with outstanding potential - Marcus Crandell. The Robersonville, N.C. sophomore, suffered a broken leg in the second game of last season and had to sit out the remainder of the year.

Meanwhile, Logan has to use redshirt freshman Chris Hester for three starts and true freshman Perez Mattison for six starts last season.

Logan came to ECU in 1989 after serving as quarterback coach at Mississippi State for two seasons. During his first season at ECU, he coached the running backs.

His coaching career started in 1975 as an assistant coach at Union High School in Tulsa, Okla. He began in the collegiate coaching ranks in 1980 as a tight ends coach at Oklahoma State under current Dallas Cowboys coach Jimmy Johnson and moved to Hutchinson Junior College the following year.

"I had to pull myself up by the bootstraps in this profession," said Logan. "I've been working for this moment 18-20 years. And I'm very ready."

Preparing Logan for his first major college head coaching job was several other stops along the way.

In 1983, he became offensive coordinator at Tulsa under John Cooper, who is currently head coach at Ohio State. While at Tulsa, Logan coached Steve Gage, who played three seasons with the Washington Redskins.

Logan left Tulsa for Colorado in 1985 and coached the Buffalo running backs for two seasons before going to Mississippi State, where he coached the Bulldog quarterbacks.

The year before Logan went to Colorado as running backs coach, the Buffaloes were 1-10. In 1985, Logan's first season at CU, the Buffaloes were 7-5, playing Washington in the Freedom Bowl. The following season, Colorado went 6-6, playing Baylor in the Bluebonnet Bowl.

Many players that Logan recruited to Colorado were on the 1990 squad, which finished 11-1-1 and won a share of the national championship.

While at Hutchinson Junior College, Logan was the Jayhawk Conference Coach of the Year in 1982.

While at Tulsa, Logan did not play football and had plans to get a doctorate degree and become a college professor.

"I realized I wasn't going to the NFL," said Logan. "But, I had to teach in the public schools before going to graduate school. There (Union High School) they wanted me to coach football. I got addicted."

During the next five years, Logan became a high school assistant coach while he completed all but six hours of credits towards his masters degree.

Leaving Union High School, Logan coached tight ends at Oklahoma State for Jimmy Johnson. He became hooked on the college game.

"I loved working with the kids and having an impact on their decisions in and outside of football," said Logan. "That, and the intrigue of competitive strategy, really hooked me."

And, since he began coaching in the college ranks, Logan has wanted to be a head coach. And, on Jan. 11, 1992, his dreams were realized.

Logan, an avid tennis player, and his wife, Laura, are the proud parents of two sons - Vincent and Nathanael.

For Chancellor Richard R. Eakin, the terms "academics" and "athletics" are not mutually exclusive, but mutually reinforcing. He knows from personal experience.

As a Geneva College undergraduate, he majored in mathematics and physics while a member of the basketball team. He also served as President of the Student Senate and Class Valedictorian and was graduated in 1960 with the honor summa cum laude.

Today Dick Eakin is in his eighth year as ECU's chief executive officer and his leadership mark is evident throughout ECU, including athletics.

He has a vision of greatness for ECU and leads in the belief that the University can build upon and add to its elements of distinction and strong tradition for excellence in teaching, research, regional services and athletics.

With enthusiasm and remarkable stamina, Dr. Eakin pursues this vision around the clock and on-the-road as ECU's highly visible top ambassador.

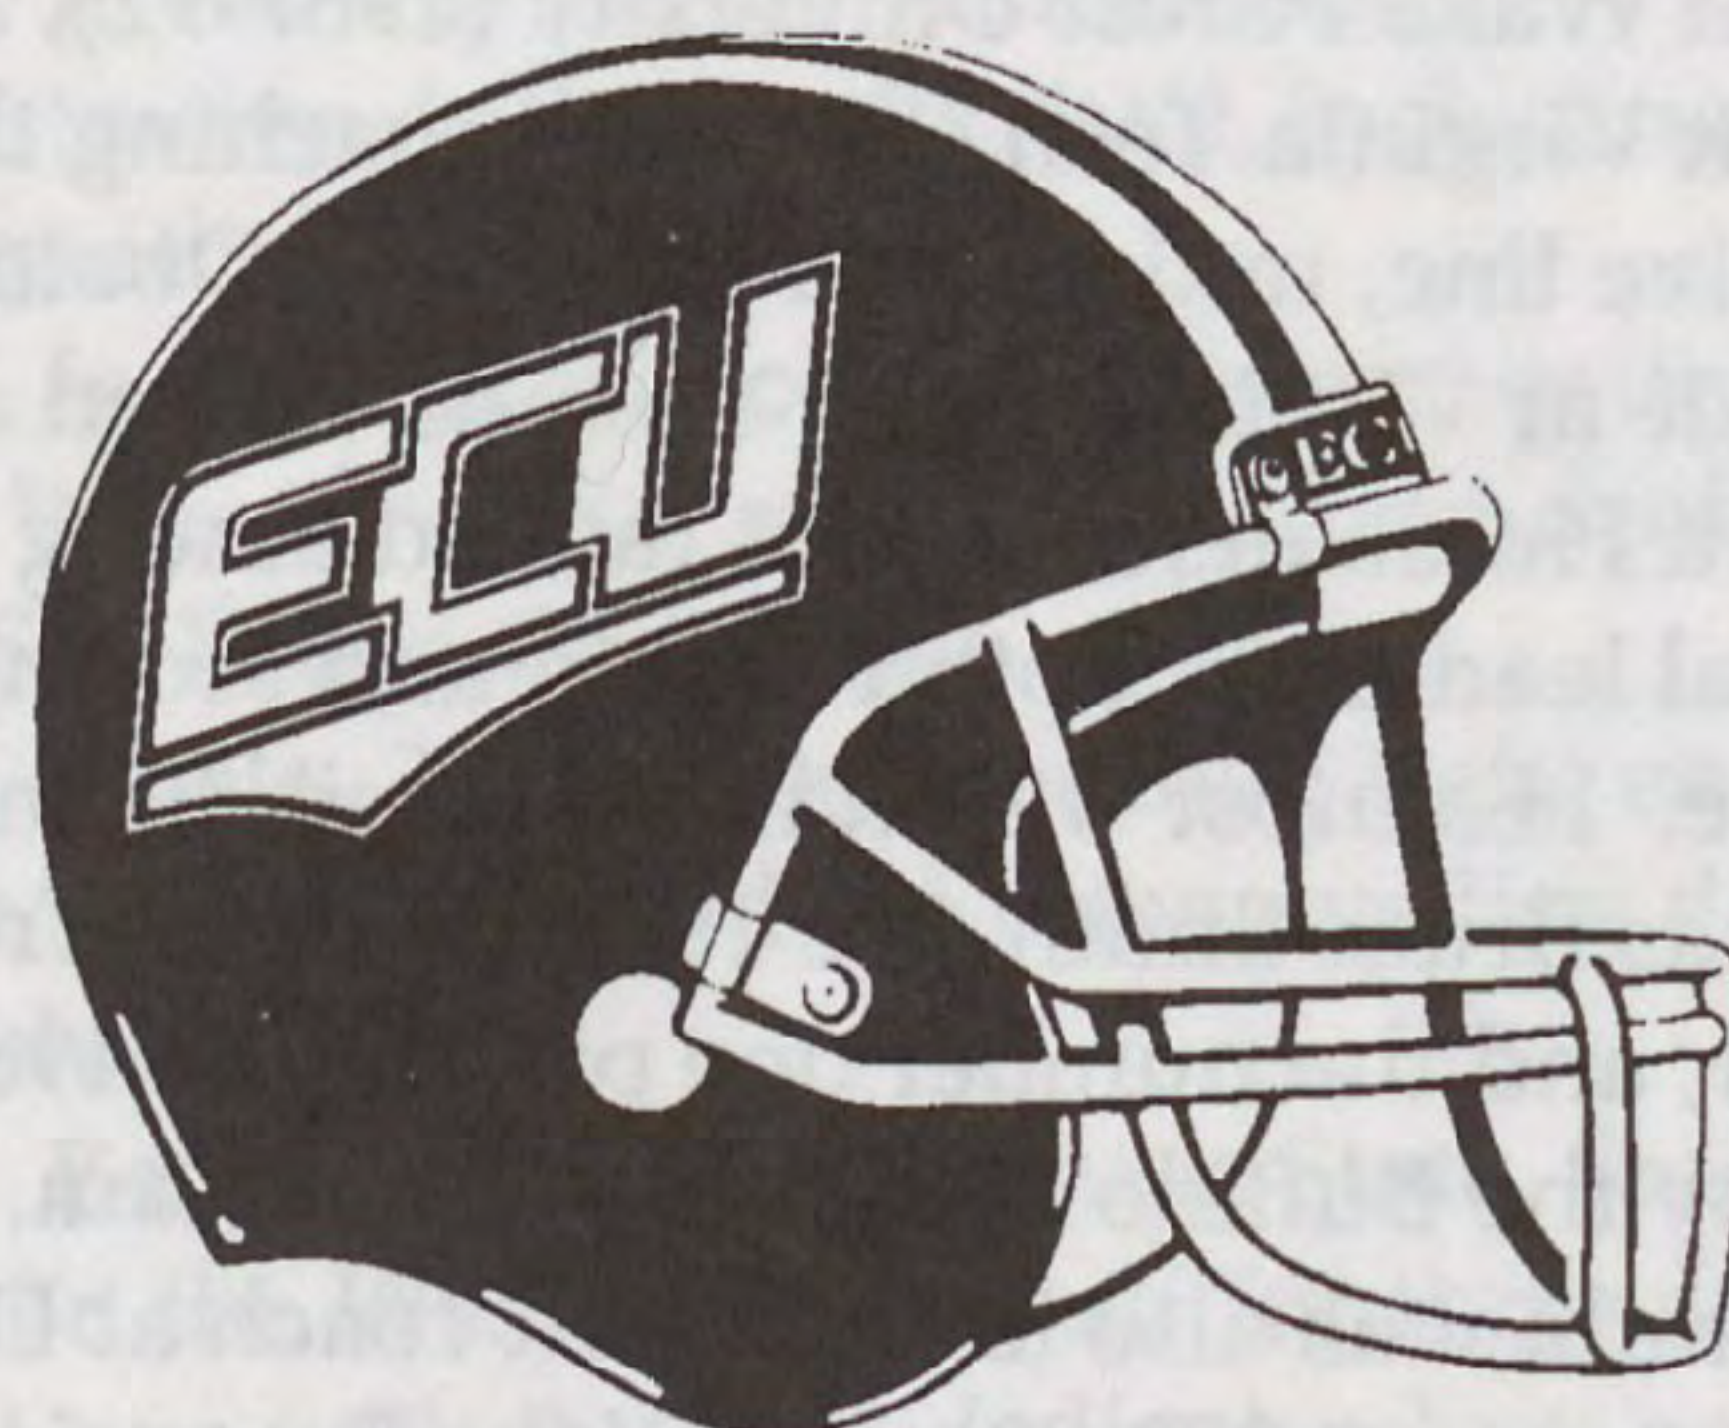

Strategic planning has been the linchpin of the Chancellor's administration. From it have evolved new degree programs, new and stronger centers for excellence, campus beautification and modernization of facilities, an emphasis on computer technology for students and faculty, and an energetic, focused fund-raising plan for academics, athletics and medicine.

Improved campus life and student services continue to be high on the Chancellor's agenda. Under his direction, the campus has a new state-of-the-art dining hall and is building a student recreation and wellness center, and a $30 million addition to the campus library. ECU's reputation as one of the leading family practice, primary care medical schools in the country is being enhanced with new centers for the treatment of cancer, diabetes, heart disease, and alcohol and drug abuse.

In pursuit of ECU's goals, Chancellor Eakin holds leadership positions with the Southern Association for Colleges and Schools (SACS) and the College Football Association (CFA), and is in the forefront of economic and community development in Greenville and throughout Eastern North Carolina. He was chairman of the CFA Board of Directors during 1993-94.

Before his ECU appointment in 1987, Dr. Eakin served for 23 years as a member of the mathematics faculty at Bowling Green State University, where he was also a vice president.

A native of New Castle, Penn., Dr. Eakin was awarded a master's degree as well as a doctorate in mathematics with a minor in economics from Washington State University. He and his wife, the former Jo Ann McGeehan, have two adult children, Matthew of Charlotte and Maridy of Raleigh.

Within intercollegiate athletics circles, Dave Hart, Jr., has earned an outstanding reputation as one of the country's most respected athletics administrators. Hart has gained national recognition for his skills in the areas of athletics management, public relations, marketing and fundraising.

Since being appointed Director of Athletics at East Carolina University on December 21, 1987, Hart has lead ECU Athletics to new levels of achievement. Under his leadership, ECU Athletics has gained the respect of its peers for the commitment to excellence and integrity exhibited throughout the athletics program.

In making the appointment of Hart, Chancellor Richard Eakin stated, "Dave has an exceptional understanding of all aspects of athletics administration."

While enhancing the image and reputation of ECU athletics, Hart has structured several programs of significance within the Department. The most notable might be ECU's comprehensive Student Development Program for all student-athletes. Two years ago, the Department of Athletics received a half-million dollar gift, from Bob and Margaret Ward of Burlington, N.C., towards the endowment of the Student Development Program. ECU has recently been selected as one of five advisory schools within the NCAA's Life Skills Pilot Program targeted for all 106 Division I-A programs. Forty-one of the 106 I-A programs have volunteered for the Pilot Program, which will focus on the total development of student-athletes. Hart serves as Vice Chairman for the Missions and Values Committee of the I-A Athletics Director's Association which proposed the Life Skills Program, called CHAMPS, at the I-A level, in conjunction with the NCAA Foundation.

ECU also participated in the NCAA's Pilot Certification Program in 1991-92, as one of thirty-five Pilot schools. Athletics Certification has since been adopted for all of Division I. When the University completed its Southern Association of Colleges and Schools accreditation program in 1992, the Athletics Department received one of four commendations from the SACS review team for the manner in which the Department of Athletics is managed at ECU.

Women's athletics have made great strides during Hart's tenure as Athletics Director. Indoor Track and Soccer have been added as Lady Pirate sports while the budget for women's athletics has tripled. In addition, scholarship support for women's athletics at ECU has tripled in the last five years. In 1990, ECU initiated a "Ladies First" fund-raising concept with a goal of raising one million dollars to help endow additional scholarships for student-athletes participating on Lady Pirate teams.

Revenue growth has been one of Hart's continuing goals. Since 1989, ECU's athletics budget has more than doubled to a current level of $8.5 million. During that same period of time, the athletics endowment fund has grown from $300,000 to over $2 million while the Department's fund balance has gone from a meager $65,000 to nearly $2 million.

Facility enhancement is tangibly evident during Hart's tenure. He has planned, overseen and spearheaded tremendous growth in facilities within the athletics complex totaling nearly $30 million. Renovations to Scales Field House, which houses ECU's non-revenue sports, Baseball's Harrington Field, and the Lady Pirate Softball Field, are among "facelift" projects which have been ongoing during Hart's tenure. He helped plan and coordinated the transition into the Ward Sports Medicine Building, a $6.5 million project, which is one of the finest facilities of its kind in the nation. This winter, Williams Arena will open in Minges Coliseum following an $11.4 million renovation. The renovation includes chairback seating, air conditioning, a new playing surface, new concession stands and new locker rooms for the men's and women's basketball programs. Targeted for 1996 is a $9 million expansion to newly named Dowdy-Ficklen Stadium to include a state of the art press box facility and club level seating. Also, targeted for 1996 is a new $1.5 million, two story multipurpose Pirate Club Building to house Ticket Office staff, Pirate Club functions and staff, and a 300 seat banquet hall with easy access to the Coliseum and Stadium.

Pirate athletics continue to gain exposure and credibility under Hart's guidance. In the past four years, ECU football enjoyed seven telecast appearances while finishing 11-1 and ranked ninth in the nation in 1991 and a St. Jude Liberty Bowl bid in 1994. The men's basketball program has also reached new levels of success and exposure, winning the CAA Championship in 1993 and making their first NCAA appearance since 1972. Pirate Baseball has made five trips to the NCAA Tournament since 1988 and the Pirate Golf team has captured the last five CAA golf crowns.

Lady Pirate softball and men's and women's Swimming have excelled during that same time frame with the Softball team posting a school record 42 wins in 1992. Pirate Track and Cross Country athletes have set numerous school records during the last three years illustrating the positive growth taking place throughout the program.

Hart has served on several committees during his tenure as Director of Athletics. He was appointed in January to the prestigious NCAA Council. He also serves on the NCAA's Special Events/Post-Season Bowls Committee. He chairs the Colonial Athletic Association's Marketing Committee and serves on the CAA Gender Equity Committee.

Hart was named Associate Director of Athletics for External Relations and Executive Director of the Pirate Club in 1985. His duties included the raising of funds for athletic scholarships through the Pirate Club, as well as overseeing all external areas of the athletics department.

During his first two years in that position, the Pirate Club experienced record-setting growth as it surpassed the coveted $1 million mark in contributions for the first time ever. The 1987 campaign saw another record performance under his direction as the Club exceeded the $1.2 million level.

Hart first joined the ECU athletics department in 1983 as an Assistant Athletics Director for Marketing. It was the first time that ECU had ever employed a full-time staff member for marketing, and it immediately brought dividends.

ECU's marketing program gained national attention for the rapid growth in crowd participation through tailgating and other promotional efforts. Hart was also responsible for implementing the "Great Pirate Purple/Gold Pigskin Pig-Out Party," which is a weekend extravaganza surrounding the spring football game.

Additionally, attendance at home football games increased greatly as evidenced by the fact that 11 of the top 12 crowds in Ficklen Stadium history have entered the turnstiles since the 1983 season. Promotional ventures such as the "Ain't It Great to Tailgate" idea have added to the atmosphere at Pirate home games.

Hart is a popular speaker at the national level and has authored articles for a number of national publications. He has made numerous speaking presentation at conventions and seminars on program management, marketing, fundraising, and personnel transition. For the past seven years he has been an instructor at the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics' Management Institute.

Hart, just the fifth athletics director in ECU history, received his undergraduate and graduate degrees from the University of Alabama, earning a B.S. in English/Speech in 1971 and a master's degree in 1972. He attended Alabama on a basketball scholarship and was a graduate assistant coach for the Crimson Tide program in 1972. He won nine varsity letters in football, basketball and baseball at Annapolis (MD) High School where he was also an All-State basketball and football player.

He is married to the former Pam Humble of Tuscaloosa, Ala., and they have three children - Ricky (22), Jamie (20) and Kelly (17).

East Carolina University, a diverse, comprehensive university, is known for the quality and breadth of its academic programs and for its pursuit of excellence in a variety of activities.

With an enrollment of nearly 18,000 students, ECU is the third-largest institution of the 16-campus University of North Carolina system. It has a work force of more than 3,500, a faculty numbering more than 1,100 and a budget of almost $290 million.

The campus today is alive not only with the activities of its students and faculty but also with the whirl and clatter of construction crews. More than 20 percent of the campus is under construction or renovation or will be in the next few months. Among the prominent projects are the Student Recreation Center, which will be completed in the fall of 1995, and the additions and renovations to Joyner Library, which will be under way for four years.

ECU students come from all 100 of North Carolina's counties, 45 states and 38 nations. Of the students, 57 percent are women, 83 percent are undergraduates and 13 percent are minorities.

The university offers 106 undergraduate degree tracks and 92 graduate degree tracks. It conferred 3,416 degrees during the 1992-93 academic year, and it has close to 70,000 living alumni.

Here is a selection of other distinctions of ECU:

In the 1990s, the Pirates are 30-26, a 53.6 winning percentage, and averages six wins per season.

LIBERTY BOWL ALLIANCE

Five NCAA Division I-A Independents, including East Carolina, have formed an alliance of schools that will compete for a berth in the St. Jude Liberty Bowl this season. ECU, along with Tulane, Southern Mississippi, Memphis and Cincinnati, battled for a spot in the Dec. 31, 1994 bowl game. The best overall NCAA Division I-A record between the schools will qualify the school for the berth. ECU played one NCAA Division I-AA school this season (def. Central Florida, 23-20, on Nov. 12) and played every school in the alliance with the exception of Tulane. The final standings are below:

School	W-L	Pct.	Last Game
ECU	7-4	.636	def. Memphis, 30-6
Memphis	6-5	.545	lost to ECU, 6-30
Southern Miss	6-5	.545	OPEN
Cincinnati	2-8-1	.227	def. Tulsa, 28-13
Tulane	1-10	.091	lost to LSU, 24-49

During the 1994 season, the Pirates have scored 104 of their 303 points off of turnovers, 34.3 percent. Last season, ECU had only 34 points off turnovers.

ONE OF THE MOST IMPROVED

During the college football season, East Carolina is showing to be one of the most improved teams in the country over last season. Below is a chart of the top seven improved programs based on last year's total wins and this year's wins thus far:

+5 - Duke (3-8 to 8-3), East Carolina (2-9 to 7-4), Colorado State (5-6 to 10-1),

+4 - Mississippi State (3-6-2 to 7-3), Southern Miss (2-8-1 to 6-5), Central Michigan (5-6 to 9-2), Oregon (5-6 to 9-3).

THREE-AND-OUTS

In the opponents' 155 drives this season, 59 have been three plays or less without giving up a score, a 38.1 percent success rate. Opponents have been stopped three-downs-and-out 40 times. In 19 other times, opponents have turned the ball over in the first three plays of a drive.

TRUE FRESHMAN LEARNING YOUNG

This season, six true freshmen have seen action for the Pirates. They are punter Matt Levine (North Potomac, Md.), linebacker Alphonso Collins (Thompson, Ga.), long-snapper Jason Shell (China Grove, N.C.) defensive tackle Roberto Santiago (Hackensack, N.J.), wide receiver Mike Sellers (Covington, Ga.) and linebacker Matt Semenza (Haslet, N.J.).

FORMER HIGH SCHOOL QUARTERBACKS

There are seven former high school quarterbacks that are playing different positions at East Carolina. They are listed below:

Name	New Position
Hank Cooper	DB
Ed Crabtree	P/H
Morris Foreman*	OLB
Matt Levine*	P/K
Jason Nichols*	WR
Scott Richards	TE
Perez Mattison	WR/RS

* - starters at respective positions.

IT'S A YOUNG TEAM AFTER ALL

There were only eight seniors on East Carolina's depth chart for the Memphis game, and five of them are projected starters. On offense, senior starters are right guard Terry Tilghman (Mesquite, Texas), full-back Damon Wilson (Jacksonville, Fla.) and running back Junior Smith (Fayetteville, N.C.). On defense, nose guard John Krawczyk (Oglesby, Ill.) and outside linebacker Willie Brookins (West Palm Beach, Fla.) are starters. 11 of ECU's 23 positions started were either freshmen or sophomores against Memphis.

PIRATES HONORED BY CFA

For the first time, East Carolina's football program received special mention by the College Football Association for its graduation rates. ECU received honorable mention status from the CFA for having a graduation rate of 70 percent or higher in the 1988 recruiting class.

OFFENSIVE LINE PROTECTING CRANDELL

This season, ECU quarterbacks were sacked just nine times for minus 63 yards. Marcus Crandell has been sacked just three times in the last 22 quarters. The ECU offensive line did not give up a sack against Duke, Southern Miss, Tulsa, Cincinnati and Memphis. The starting offensive line has consisted of left tackle Ken Carroll/Charles Boothe (started last two games), left guard Jamie Gray, center Kevin Wiggins/Derrick Leaphart, right guard Terry Tilghman and right tackle Ron Suddith.

INDIVIDUAL HEADLINERSSMITH BREAKS ECU CAREER RUSHING MARK

ECU senior running back Junior Smith is now the school's career rushing leader with 3,672 yards on 729 attempts, a 5.04 yard per carry average. The All-America candidate surpassed Carlester Crumpler's (1971-73) career mark of 2,889 yards in the Oct. 1 Southern Miss contest. Last season, the 5-6, 180 pounder broke the school single-season rushing mark with 1,352 yards (6th in the nation) and the single-game rushing mark (282 yards vs. Tulsa). He is the first Pirate running back to have three straight 1,000 yard rushing seasons. Smith has 1,204 rushing yards this season. Smith holds the school mark for running backs in the vertical jump (38 inches), squat (630 pounds), flex exercise (9.0) and overall testing (103 points), which is the highest score for any football player ever at ECU. His 4.43 in the 40 is tied for second fastest on the team and Smith bench presses 370 pounds.

CRANDELL BREAKS INTO TOP 10 CAREER PASSING LIST

Sophomore quarterback Marcus Crandell is now 3rd in school history in career passing yardage with 2,940 yards. Crandell has done that in just 13 games. No other Pirate quarterback has reached the 1,000 yard plateau quicker.

This season, Crandell is second in school history in single-season passing yardage, with 2,687 yards. Jeff Blake holds the school mark with 3,073 passing yards in 1991.

Crandell is 8th in the nation in total offense, averaging 253.0 yards per game. Against South Carolina, he threw four touchdown passes, which tied for the most ever thrown against the Gamecocks. Said USC head coach Brad Scott after the game, "Marcus Crandell is the best offensive player I've seen since (Georgia quarterback) Eric Zeier."

Against Virginia Tech, Crandell completed 30 of 50 passes, while throwing for 332 yards with two touchdowns and an interception.

Crandell drew raves from Auburn head coach Terry Bowden. "That quarterback (Crandell) can play for anybody in America and be a great quarterback," said Bowden.

Against Memphis, Crandell set a school record with 35 completions (51 attempts) and also threw for 322 yards. He also ran six times for 46 yards and caught a pass from Junior Smith (3 yards).

Crandell suffered a broken leg in the second game of the 1993 season against Central Florida. It's been a long road back, but the Robersonville, N.C. native, is ready to play. This season, he has completed 230 of 401 passes for 2,687 yards with 21 touchdowns and 15 interceptions.

The healing of his leg has been remarkable. During the spring, he was timed at 4.67 in the 40-yard dash, which is faster than the 4.69 he was tied before the injury. In only six quarters last season, he completed 19 of 40 passes for 253 yards with three touchdowns and an interception.

He has had two interception-less streaks already this season. Earlier this year, he attempted 100 straight passes without an interception. He threw 77 straight passes before being intercepted in the second quarter of the Auburn game.

Crandell's Top Five Passing Games (Yardage Only)

1. 344 yards (19 of 28) vs. South Carolina (Oct. 8, 1994)
2. 332 yards (30 of 50) vs. Virginia Tech (Oct. 15, 1994)
3. 322 yards (35 of 51) vs. Memphis (Nov. 19, 1994)
4. 280 yards (21 of 43) vs. Syracuse (Sept. 24, 1994)
5. 270 yards (27 of 46) vs. Auburn (Nov. 5, 1994)

TILGHMAN, WIGGINS VERSATILE LINEMEN

Senior Terry Tilghman and junior Kevin Wiggins are some of the most versatile offensive linemen in the country. Tilghman, a native of Mesquite, Texas, can play all five offensive line positions and has done it in games (not at one time). This season, he has started at center (Duke) and right guard (last 10 games). He has also played right tackle this season. Tilghman is married (wife, Jennifer) and has two children (Jordan, Terry, Jr.) to keep him busy at home as well. Wiggins, a native of Pink Hill, N.C., has played fullback, center, tight end and guard. He has not carried the pigskin yet, but he does enjoy being a lead blocker on rushing plays. Wiggins had started six straight games at center until Derrick Leaphart started against Central Florida. Leaphart, a senior, started his final home game against the Knights. Wiggins started at center against Memphis.

LIBIANO LEADS TEAM IN TACKLES

Junior inside linebacker Mark Libiano (Easton, Pa.) leads the Pirates in total tackles with 135, including 13 behind the line of scrimmage for minus 40 yards. Libiano had 15 stops (7 solos) against South Carolina, 14 tackles (6 solos) against Virginia Tech, a career best 21 stops against Tulsa, 13 stops against Cincinnati and 18 tackles against Auburn. A true junior, Libiano has recorded 276 total tackles in 25 career games, an average of 11.0 stops per game. He has double figure tackles in 15 career games.

In the Tulsa game, Libiano batted down a Tulsa pass on 4th-and-2 with less than two minutes left in the game to preserve the Pirate win.

Libiano's Top Five Tackle Games

1. 21 vs. Tulsa (Oct. 22, 1994)
2. 18 vs. Auburn (Nov. 5, 1994)
3. 17 vs. Syracuse (Sept. 9, 1993)
4. 16 vs. Virginia Tech (Oct. 30, 1993)
5. 15 vs. South Carolina (Oct. 8, 1994)

DEFENSIVE BACKS DAREN AND DAVID HART - IDENTICAL TWINS

Both Daren and David Hart had interceptions against Tulsa, which may be the first time identical twin brothers have made interceptions in the same game. The Harts are mainstays in the Pirate defensive secondary. Both are sophomores from Winston-Salem, N.C. Daren was a second-team Freshman All-America (Football News) last season, recording 97 tackles, with 9.5 behind the line of scrimmage. This season, Daren has 74 tackles and three interceptions while David has 50 tackles and three interceptions.

Both started in the last three games, David at right corner and Daren at strong safety. Daren had two interceptions and two tackles for losses against Memphis.

HENRY NAMED SPORTING NEWS NATIONAL DEFENSIVE PLAYER OF THE WEEK

Sophomore safety Dwight Henry was named defensive player of the week for Oct. 1 by The Sporting News and the Liberty Bowl Alliance. Against Southern Miss, Henry returned an interception 42 yards for a touchdown and recorded 14 stops. Henry is one of the fastest players on the team, if not the fastest. He is a member of ECU's 4x400 meter relay team and last season, was the Colonial Athletic Association 400 meter champion. As a true freshman last season, Henry started in seven games (played all 11) and had 41 tackles. This season, he is third on the team in tackles (76) and leads the team in pass deflections (12).

OUTSIDE LINEBACKER FOREMAN ALSO RETURNS PUNTS

Junior outside linebacker Morris Foreman (Farmville, N.C.) is one of the most athletic defenders on the Pirate squad. Morris returns punts, making him one of the few, if any, linebackers in the country returning punts. He has had a 28 yard return against Memphis and a 25-yard return against Southern Miss and South Carolina. During his freshman season, he also returned kicks and punts. In 1994, Foreman has 72 total tackles with two interceptions, two forced fumbles, three fumble recoveries and seven stops behind the line of scrimmage. He also averages 10.4 yards per punt return (19 attempts), 16th in the nation.

LEVINE ALSO VERSATILE PIRATE

Against South Carolina, true freshman punter/kicker Matt Levine (North Potomac, Md.) completed two passes on fake field goal and punt attempts for 41 yards and a touchdown. Levine hit Scott Richards with a 25 yard scoring pass on a fake field goal in the third quarter and a 16-yard pass to Richards in the first quarter. Levine is also 14th in the nation in punting, averaging 42.7 yards per attempt. Of his 58 punts, 37 have been for over 40 yards with 13 over 50 yards. In 28 kickoffs, he averages the 8.1 yard line and has three touchbacks.

Game #1 - Duke 13, Pirates 10

September 10, 1994 • Wallace-Wade Stadium • Durham, N.C. (36,420)

Duke placekicker Tom Cochran hit a 28-yard field goal with 6:14 left in the game to give the Blue Devils a 13-10 win over East Carolina in the Pirates' season opener. The score was set up on an errant snap on a punt that gave Duke the pigskin first-and-10 at the ECU 15 yard line. After gaining five yards on three plays, the Blue Devils settled for the winning field goal. Later in the game, East Carolina drove down to the Duke 29 yard line but failed to convert on a fourth-and-1 with 39 seconds left in the game. East Carolina outgained Duke (328-253), had more first downs (18-12) and more time of possession (32:35-27:25). The Pirates never led in the game, but tied the margin 3-3 on a 25-yard field goal by Chad Holcomb and 10-10 on a 34-yard fleaflipper pass from Jason Nichols to Allen Williams.

Bowl Win Over Pack Caps 11-1 Season

By Mike Grizzard, Daily Reflector Sports Editor

The perfect script now has the perfect ending.

And a team that always believed it could did something truly unbelievable.

It was done with thrills and chills, suspense to the very end. But what did you expect?

Down 34-17 with 8:41 to go and its never-say-die fans chanting "We believe" East Carolina mustered an incredible rally Wednesday to overcome N.C. State 37-34 in the 24th annual Peach Bowl. The fitting end to a story-book season leaves the Pirates 11-1.

"When we were behind 17 points you couldn't help but hear the people dressed in purple chanting that they believe," ECU head coach Bill Lewis said. "I think we've added a special meaning to 'I believe' or 'We believe' or however you want to say it because I think that we truly captured the spirit of that."

The frenzied bowl-record crowd of 59,322 and the final Peach Bowl to be played in Atlanta-Fulton County Stadium (the bowl moves to the Georgia Dome next year) nearly settled for a tie, but Damon Hartman's 49-yard field goal attempt as time expired was short and wide right.

College football's Cinderella had beat the clock again.

"We've been called a Cinderella story all year," ECU senior center Keith Arnold said. "Cinderella went to a ball tonight and got married. She's queen now."

"The feeling's unbelievable ... now I guess we know who's the best in North Carolina."

East Carolina, with its second-straight win in a series that was discontinued in 1987, can make that claim. But for three-plus quarters, the Wolfpack were better.

Muscle and speed in the running game enabled the Pack to do what it wanted coming in — keep the ball out of the hands of Pirate quarterback Jeff Blake and put a lot of points on the board.

Anthony Barbour was a danger on the corners and finished with 90 yards on 23 carries. Greg Manior and Gary Downs banged inside and combined for 117 more yards. The Pack ran the ball 56 times for 186 yards.

But when time was an ally and first downs were critical, ECU's defense got tough and State wilted.

"I thought we were the better team there for a while," N.C. State head coach Dick Sheridan said. "But we didn't get the job done either offensively, defensively or the kicking game."

State's collapse down the stretch included a shanked punt that gave the Pirates a shot in the arm.

The Wolfpack also could find no solution to a red-hot Blake, who completed 31 of 51 passes for 378 yards, threw four touchdowns and was intercepted three times.

Blake was particularly uncanny in the fourth quarter, hitting on 17 of 26 passes, 15 of 21 for 148 yards on the final three scoring drives in which the Pirates unveiled a shotgun formation.

Tight end Luke Fisher was unstoppable, catching a bowl-record 12 passes for 144 yards. Fisher had six catches for 63 yards in the fourth period, including the game-winner with 1:32 left.

The Wolfpack fumbled with just over a minute to go then lost on a last-second field goal to Maryland two years ago. The Cavs routed State 42-10 this season.

The Wolfpack appeared to have the Pirates primed for the kill after Shad Santee recovered Dion Johnson's fumble of a punt and Ledel George hit Charles Davenport with a 52-yard TD pass two plays later to make it 34-17.

Mike Reid picked off a Blake pass at the Wolfpack five on the next series, but ECU got the ball back at State's 32 after Kilpatrick's 10-yard muffed punt with 8:41 to go.

Then Blake too over.

From the 32, the Pirates needed seven plays and just 1:15 to get in the end zone. Blake got the score, slipping in from the two on a third-down option to the left.

Kilpatrick got off a 50-yard punt into the end zone after the Wolfpack failed to pick up a first down on the next series. Blake promptly marched ECU 80 yards in 11 plays, hitting 8 of 10 passes and burning just 2:06, to get within 34-30.

Blake hit Dion Johnson with a 17-yard pass for the score at the 4:18 mark. The Pirates opted to go for a two-point conversion, but Tyler Lawrence pressured Blake and forced a fumble.

State, still clinging to the lead, took over again and was in immediate trouble when Jerry Dillon disrupted an end around and dropped Davenport for a 9-yard loss.

The Pack was forced to punt and Johnson shot up the middle for 27 yards to give the Pirates the ball at the 41.

Near disaster came when Fisher fumbled after snaring a Blake pass, but Cedric Van Buren recovered. Blake hit Fisher again for 8 yards then 22 for the TD.

Terry Jordan quickly moved the Wolfpack, which still had all three of its timeouts, to the ECU 36 with 26 seconds left. That's when Zaim Cumulaj burst through to sack Jordan for an 18-yard loss.

After Jordan hit Robert Hinton for 23 yards, the Pack went for the tie.

Barbour, Manior and Downs were workhorses as State drove 68 yards in 13 series on its first possession for a 7-0 lead. Downs scored on a 2-yard dive over the top.

ECU tied it when Blake flipped a 5-yard pass to Van Buren, but State cashed in a Sebastian Savage interception in the second period for a 14-7. Jordan threw a 4-yard pass to Todd Harrison for the TD.

Anthony Brenner's 27-yard field goal put ECU within 14-10, then Blake fired a 55-yard strike to Hunter Gallimore 1:39 before the half for a 17-14 lead.

Brenner missed a 46-yard field goal attempt after an interception by Jones, then the Wolfpack extended its lead to 27-17 with an 8-play, 71-yard drive.

Three passes to Davenport highlighted the drive. Manior got the score on a 1-yard plunge.

Davenport burned Walker after Johnson's fumble to put State up 34-17.

Pirates In Pursuit Of Liberty

By JOHN ROTH

When East Carolina's football players heard the news at a team meeting, they cheered. Win seven games this season, they were told, and it may be time to go bowling again.

That's because a new bowl coalition emerged in college football last week, and East Carolina is one of the participants.

The new alliance is not as complicated or as lucrative as the more publicized coalition of major conferences, and it won't play a part in determining the national champion. But it offers a very real promise of postseason play to five independent universities that otherwise could find themselves on the outside looking in when bowl invitations are extended at season's end.

Completing a deal that had been in the works all summer, the St. Jude Liberty Bowl confirmed at an Aug. 25 press conference in Memphis that it is aligning with five schools to produce one of its contestants in each of the next two years.

East Carolina is one of the five, along with Cincinnati, Memphis, Southern Mississippi and Tulane. The school with the most victories against Division I-A opponents will earn a Liberty Bowl berth, opposite an at-large team selected by the bowl, provided it has also met NCAA bowl requirements by posting at least six Division I-A wins.

The 1994 St. Jude Liberty Bowl is set for the afternoon of Dec. 31 in Memphis and will be televised by ESPN. The payoff is a minimum of $750,000 per school.

"I can promise you there is some genuine excitement in eastern North Carolina for the opportunity to participate in this alliance," ECU athletics director Dave Hart said at the announcement press conference. Much of that excitement was evident on Hart's home campus when the ECU players were informed a few days beforehand that the alliance had been finalized.

"They definitely sat on the edge of their seats and took notice. They understood what the announcement meant," head coach Steve Logan said. "It's the first concrete thing we've had happen since I've been here that gives you a real sense of purpose."

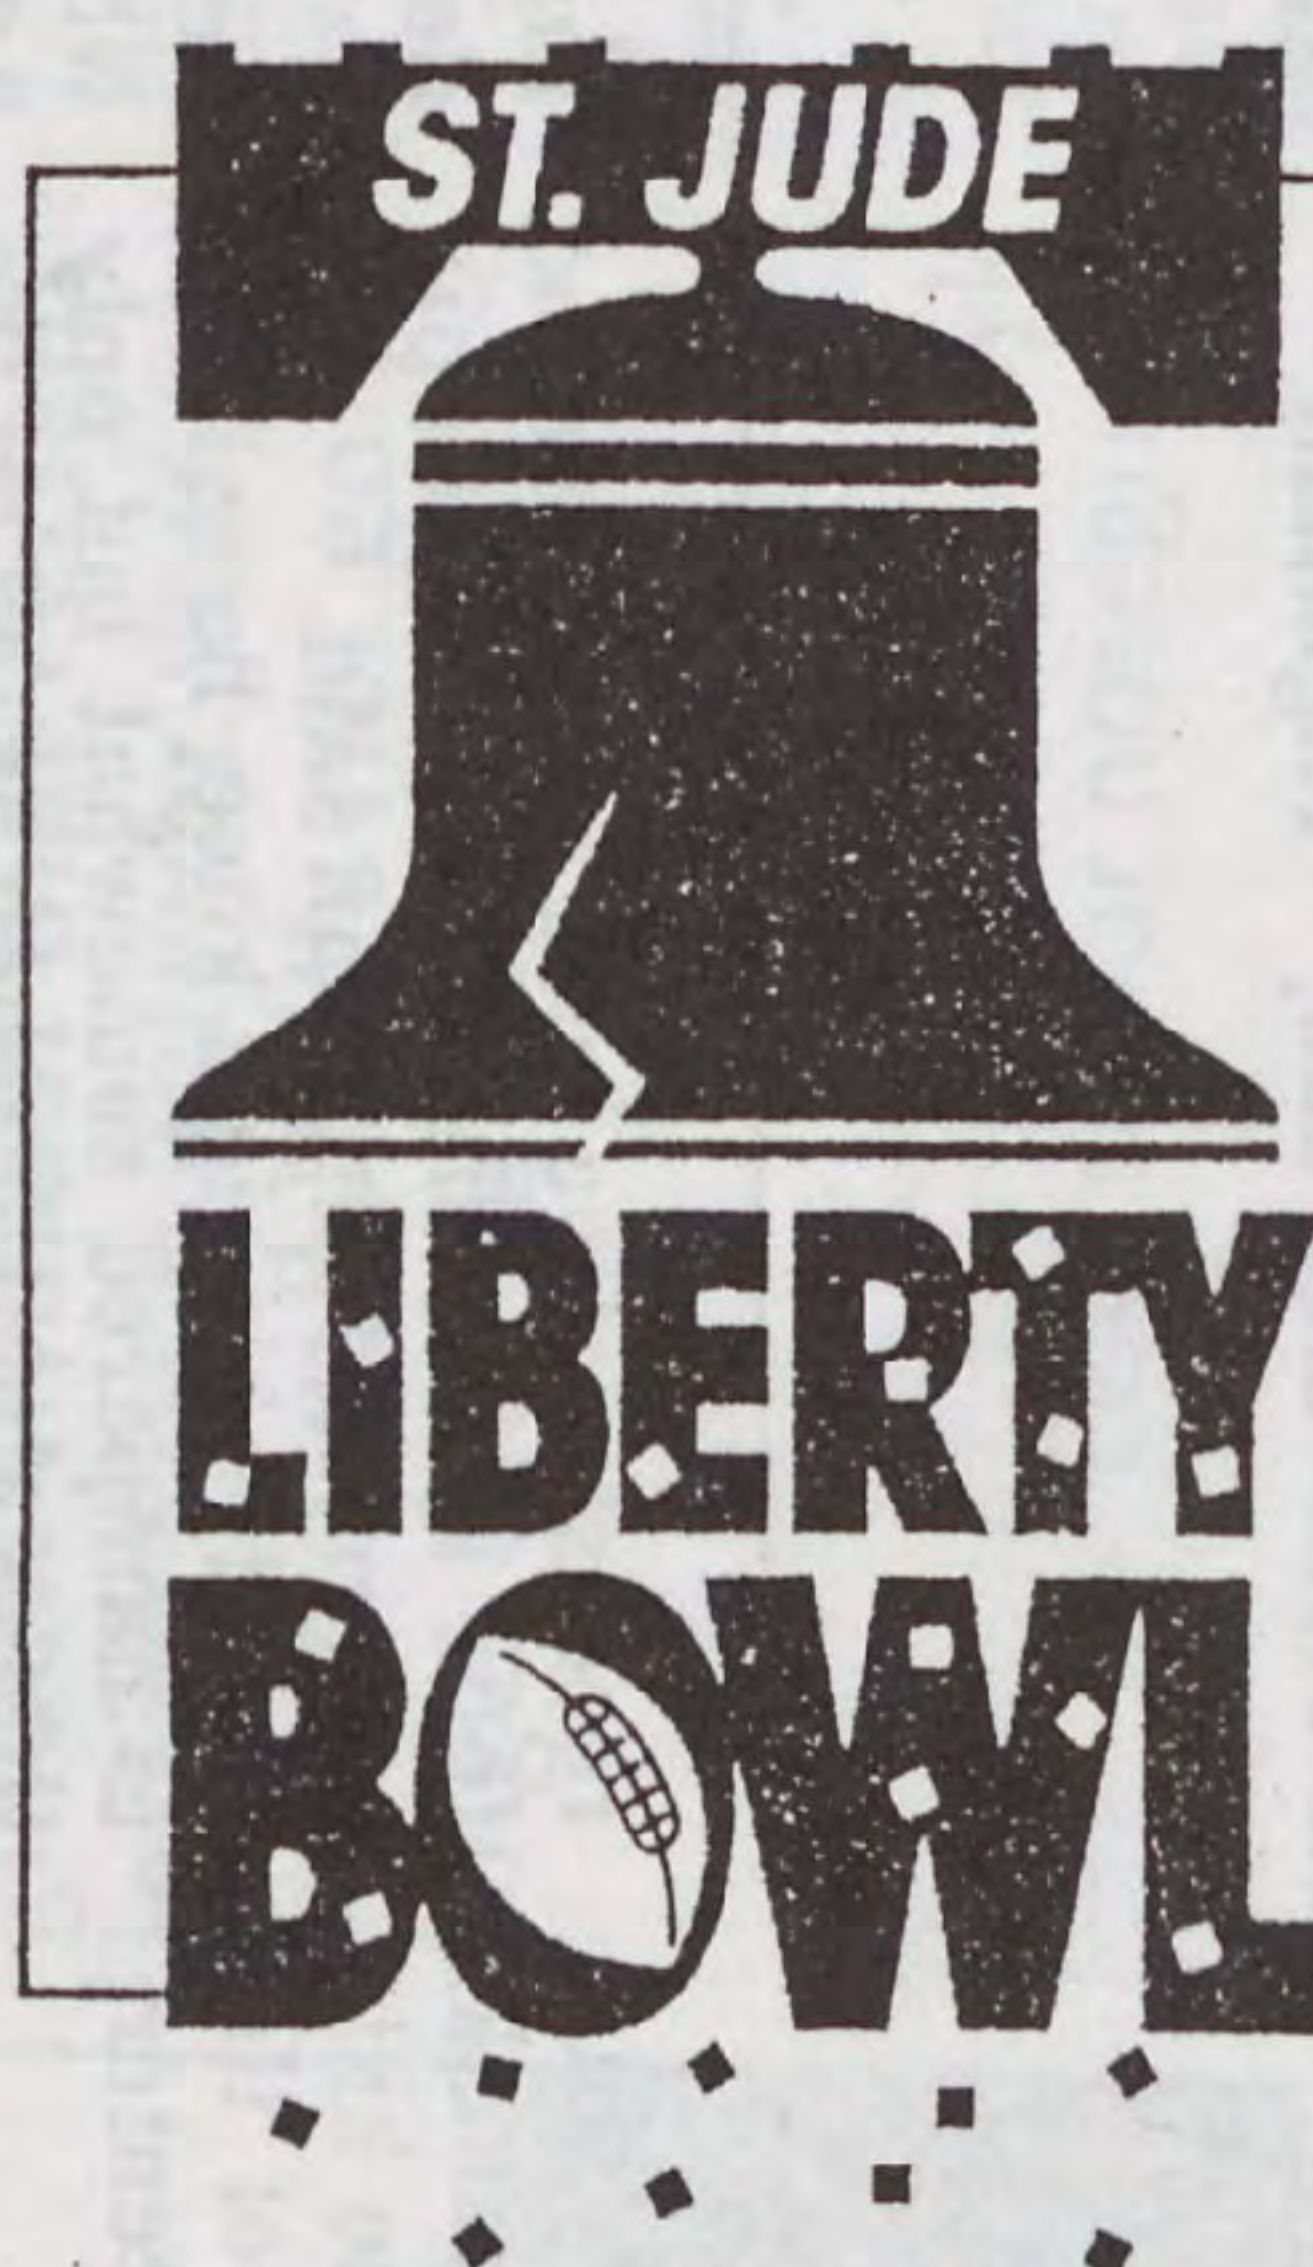

"We go out every Saturday and try to win every game, but now there will be some games this season that mean more than others. Some will be almost like two games—you win a game, and you take one away from the other guy."

Logan thinks the incentive factor can help the team the entire season. "You can lose a game on Saturday, and you're still into it the next Saturday," he said. "This can help you stay competitive from Saturday to Saturday and carry you through the dog days of November."

The race for the bowl bid will be determined by total Division I-A wins, hence ECU's late-season game with Central Florida will not be a factor because that school is Division I-AA. If two or more schools have the same number of wins, a series of tiebreakers will be used, including head-to-head results and best record among common opponents.

If teams remain even through all tiebreaker procedures, the bowl selection committee reserves the right to make the pick, said Liberty Bowl managing partner Steve Ehrhardt.

Had the alliance been in effect last year, Cincinnati would have claimed the bid with its 8-3 record. The Bearcats, despite having their best season in decades, were not invited to a bowl game. Memphis, at 6-5, was the only other alliance team with a winning record last season.

Memphis is the only school that plays every alliance member this season. ECU plays all but Tulane, and Southern Miss plays all but Cincinnati. Tulane and Cincinnati play only two alliance teams.

Tulane is the only alliance member to have previously played in the Liberty Bowl, losing to Penn State in 1979 and defeating Colorado in 1970. Louisville defeated Michigan State in last year's game.

East Carolina's last bowl appearance was the 1991 Peach Bowl, a dramatic victory over N.C. State that gave the Pirates an 11-1 record, a shot in the arm financially and tremendous visibility beyond the football field.

Logan says the new coalition can provide similar benefits if his team earns the bid, from exposure and recruiting to the player development that takes place during the extra practice periods permitted bowl teams.

"I really believe we can do a good job of being a good football program here," Logan said. "That (11-1 season) was not an accident, it was the proof. Success is a reachable, attainable goal and that's the proof. Don't tell me it can't be done."

The five coalition schools are among the prime players in plans for a new football conference that would begin play in 1996, after this alliance agreement expires. The schools are involved in football expansion plans by the Metro and Great Midwest conferences, or a possible merger of the two.

Liberty Bowl Through The Years

1959: The first Liberty Bowl was played in Philadelphia, with Penn State defeating Alabama 7-0.

1962: In a 8-0 victory over Villanova, Oregon State's Terry Baker had a 99-yard run from scrimmage, the longest run from scrimmage ever in a bowl game.

1964: The Liberty Bowl introduced indoor football to the world in the days before domed stadiums, when the game was played in the Convention Center in Atlantic City, N.J., a year before its move to Memphis. Utah beat West Virginia 32-6.

1971: Tennessee defeated Arkansas 14-13 thanks to a controversial fumble in the fourth quarter.

1975: Southern Cal coach John McKay led his team to a 20-0 win over Texas A&M in his last appearance as the Trojans' head coach.

1982: Alabama coach Bear Bryant, who guided the Crimson Tide in the first Liberty Bowl in '59, closed out his storied coaching career with a 21-15 victory over Illinois, then died six weeks into retirement.

1989: Air Force began a four-year run in the Liberty Bowl with a 42-29 loss to Ole Miss. The bowl had an agreement to invite the winningest service academy team, and Air Force got the nod four straight seasons.

1993: Louisville defeated Michigan State 18-7 before a crowd of 21,097, with weather conditions featuring a freezing rain.

Adversity hasn't stopped Tilghman

By Mike Grizzard

THE DAILY REFLECTOR 8-15-94

When Terry Tilghman has been down, someone always seems to be there to pick him up.

After a major knee injury during his senior year in high school, his coaches and parents assured him that his future in football wasn't dead. Once considered one of the top 20 players in Texas, now he was only wanted by a few.

East Carolina was willing to gamble and Tilghman accepted.

After three years, more injuries hit. He blew out the same knee last summer but amazingly returned by the season-opener. A shoulder injury against Washington three games into the year ended his season, but not his career.

A medical redshirt gave Tilghman an opportunity to play one more year.

"One thing I've definitely done is learn how to deal with adversity," said Tilghman, a 6-6, 276-pound offensive lineman from Mesquite, Tx.

But injuries are only part of the story.

Tilghman is also a student and a family man. He and his wife, Jennifer, have two children, a son born just after the Peach Bowl in 1991 and a daughter born in June.

Time, it seems, is never enough.

"I'm a busy man," Tilghman said. "You can definitely say I'm a busy man but I'm surrounded by such understanding people and that makes it a lot easier."

"The coaching staff gives me some slack and allows me to do things I need to do. My wife is the most understanding in the fact that she knows the next two or three months are football and I probably won't be around too much."

The flexibility by the coaching staff especially helps.

"If it was a dictatorship where I had to be at every team function then I would probably end up sending Jennifer home to stay with mom and dad," Tilghman said. "But they understand my situation and are willing to work with me."

Packing up his family and leaving still has been an option. Often he wondered if the investment of sweat and pain was really worth it. Some friendly advice convinced him it was.

"There were times when I said it was not worth it but Jennifer said 'You've come too far and done too much'." Tilghman said. "Every time I wanted to quit and turn away she says 'No, you can't throw away a college education.' If it wasn't for Jennifer and the understanding of the coaching staff, I probably wouldn't be (See TILGHMAN, B-3) here."

Offensive line coach Jeff Jagodzinski is among those who are glad Tilghman's back. The fifth-year senior gives East Carolina versatility on a line that has nine players with game experience. Tilghman has played primarily guard, but could see a lot of time at center this year.

"We're glad we had a redshirt year for the guy," Jagodzinski said. "He's a leader and the kids listen to him. That's one of the reasons we moved him to center, to anchor that thing down."

"He'll be able to make all the calls and get everybody going in the right direction. I wish I had five of him."

Tilghman said he has recovered fully from shoulder surgery.

"The shoulder injury was a piece of cake after what I had been through, two major reconstructive knee surgeries and four or five arthroscopic surgeries," Tilghman said.

As for his right knee, he said he is hampered somewhat but only thinks about it when asked by the media

"Anytime you have an injury like that it's going to bother you but you've got to be mentally tough and figure out a way to play with the pain," Tilghman said. "I don't even think about it - other than that seven- or eight-pound knee brace that reminds me. But I don't let it bother me."

What does bother Tilghman is last year's record. But he believes what was sacrificed during that 2-9 season will pay off this year.

"We had a horrible season last year," Tilghman said. "We had a lot of young players that had to play a lot of downs. That was bad last year but now this year we've got a lot of young kids with playing experience. We are going to reap the benefits of having those players on the field."

Lifting a passion for Krawczyk

ED-1-94

By Mike Grizzard
THE DAILY REFLECTOR

Lifting weights kind of came natural for John Krawczyk.

His father, Mitchell Sr., now age 55, has been lifting for 35 years. His three brothers, Mitchell Jr., Matthew and Andrew, all lift.

Andrew, in fact, still lifts competitively, winning the title of Mr. Illinois along with several other competitions.

All the kids also played football, starting in youth league with Mitch Sr. as their coach. Matthew and John continued to play through school and into college. John, now a senior at East Carolina, has taken his football the farthest.

"I started them all out down in the basement," said Mitch Sr., who also has a daughter. "I never pushed any of them but I stressed to them that if you lift a lot of weights you make a lot of tackles."

John's initial interest in weight lifting was as a hobby, something to do to pass the time between football and baseball seasons. A weight-lifting club at St. Bede Academy in his hometown of Oglesby, Ill., provided a little competition, if only within the group.

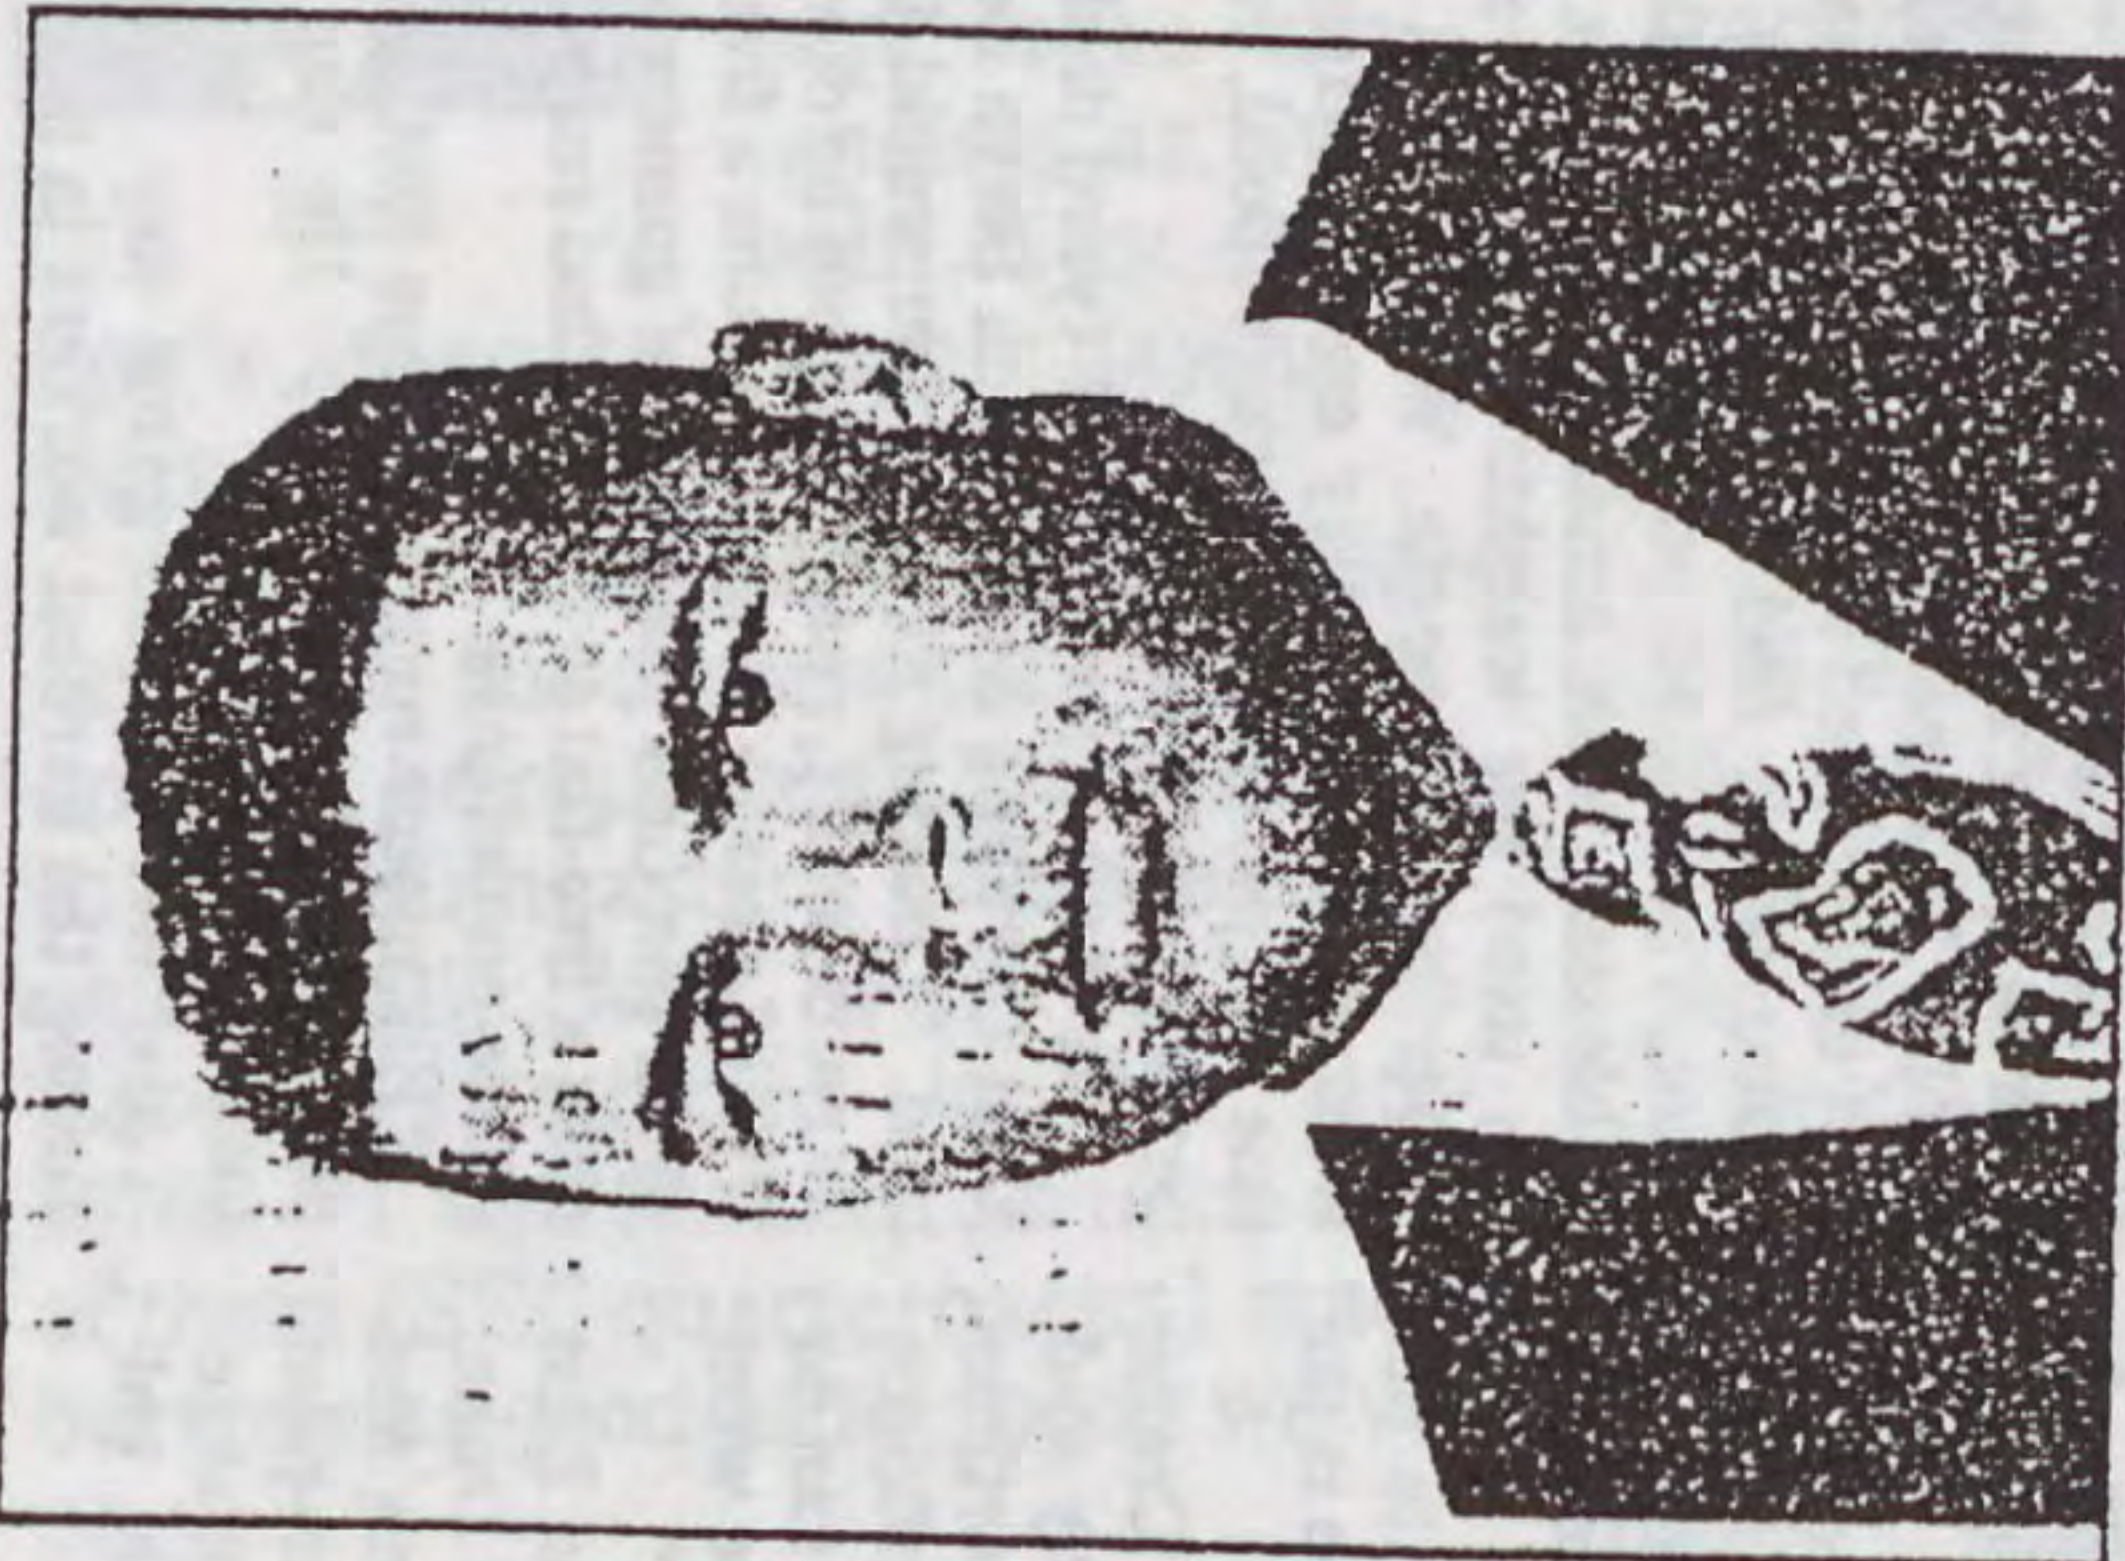

But at some point, lifting became almost an addiction. The results — bulging biceps, broad shoulders and a strapping chest — only fueled his interest. As a senior he was both the school's weightlifter of the year and the football team's most valuable player.

His desire to keep playing football and try life on his own took him to North Park College in Chicago, a Division III program in its infancy. He left there after a year and moved in with Andrew.

"All I did for a year was lift and eat," John said.

He gave football another try after a year off, returning to Oglesby to play at Illinois Valley Community College. He played one season before signing with East Carolina.

"I kind of took a crooked path to get here," John said. "I should have gone straight to junior college right out of high school. It was a bad idea then but it's turned out good so I'm not really dwelling on that."

When Krawczyk arrived on the East Carolina campus his physique immediately turned heads — even those of his new teammates. Big, strong defensive lineman were a rare breed.

A year later he's even more impressive.

"When John got here he had some extensive experience in strength training but he had been training like a body builder," said Jeff Connors, ECU's director of strength and conditioning. "He was not focusing on his lower extremities. Over the past year we've really made great strides with him."

Krawczyk, a noseguard, holds school records for the power clean (370 pounds) and incline press (350). He has also boosted his squats about 150 pounds up to 738, and his bench press is up to 475.

The 6-3, 270-pounder also has a 30-inch vertical leap and runs the 40-yard dash in 4.75 seconds.

"You have got to have the right frame of mind to play this game. If you're going to go at it without that certain instinct or whatever you want to call it, it's not going to get the job the done."

-John Krawczyk
ECU senior noseguard

"He has extremely strong physical attributes," Connors said. "He's close to possessing as high a level as anybody we've had. Robert Jones had great physical attributes and John is along those same lines."

Krawczyk said his passion for lifting weights developed at an early age.

"As far back as I remember I've always been messing around with the weights but seriously I started in high school," he said. "When you get into lifting it almost becomes an addiction."

"You've got to go at it hard. The harder you lift, the bigger and stronger athlete you're going to be. You have to really enjoy it to get anything out of it. You can't go in there just to get it done. You've got to go in there and make sure get something out of it."

With the help of Connors, Krawczyk worked intensely in the weight room after the conclusion of last season. He broadened his knowledge as well as his strength last summer.

"I took a lot of pride during the off-season," Krawczyk said. "I give Coach Connors 100 percent credit for that. He worked me harder than I've ever worked before. I've never had someone besides my own self to push me."

The results have been evident on the field.

Krawczyk is third on the team in tackles with 27, including two for a loss. He played in 11 games last year, finishing with 47 tackles.

"He's a hard worker with good work ethic," Connors said. "The thing about him that is favorable is not only is he strong but he possesses great explosiveness. He's tough and he likes to hit."

Krawczyk said he takes the intensity to the field that he takes the weight room.

"You have got to have the right frame of mind to play this game," he said. "If you're going to go at it without that certain instinct or whatever you want to call it, it's not going to get the job the done."

"You have to be relentless every play. You have to have great mental toughness. It's not like other positions. You're getting contact every play by two or three or however many guys."

Krawczyk has been part of East Carolina's push to establish a tradition on defense. The Pirates ranked 105th in the nation two years ago and improved to 47th last year. They stand 36th after three games this year.

"We've got the skill at every position to be an excellent defense," Krawczyk said. "We show that at certain times in the games but we've got to play consistent for four quarters."

"Everybody has got to be mentally focused every play and play as hard and as aggressive as they can."

A shutout would be the ultimate statement. The Pirates haven't held an opponent scoreless since 1982, a string of 129 games.

"I definitely see a shutout in our future," Krawczyk said. "Everybody has got that attitude now. We're definitely going for that shutout."

"That's a personal goal of mine and I know I can speak for everybody on the team."

Saturdays are showtime for West

By Mike Grizzard
THE DAILY REFLECTOR

Lorenzo West likes a little quiet time before each game. He sits at his locker and tries to tune out everything around him, concentrating solely on what he has to do for the next three hours or so.

After kickoff, the silence stops. West, soft-spoken and a little on the shy side, slips into an alternate personality. He becomes relentless, intense and a bit of a showman.

Big plays, particularly those that involve getting his hands on the quarterback, excite the sophomore at East Carolina. He occasionally likes to share his thrill, perhaps with a little dance and some pointing to the crowd. It's all in fun, he says.

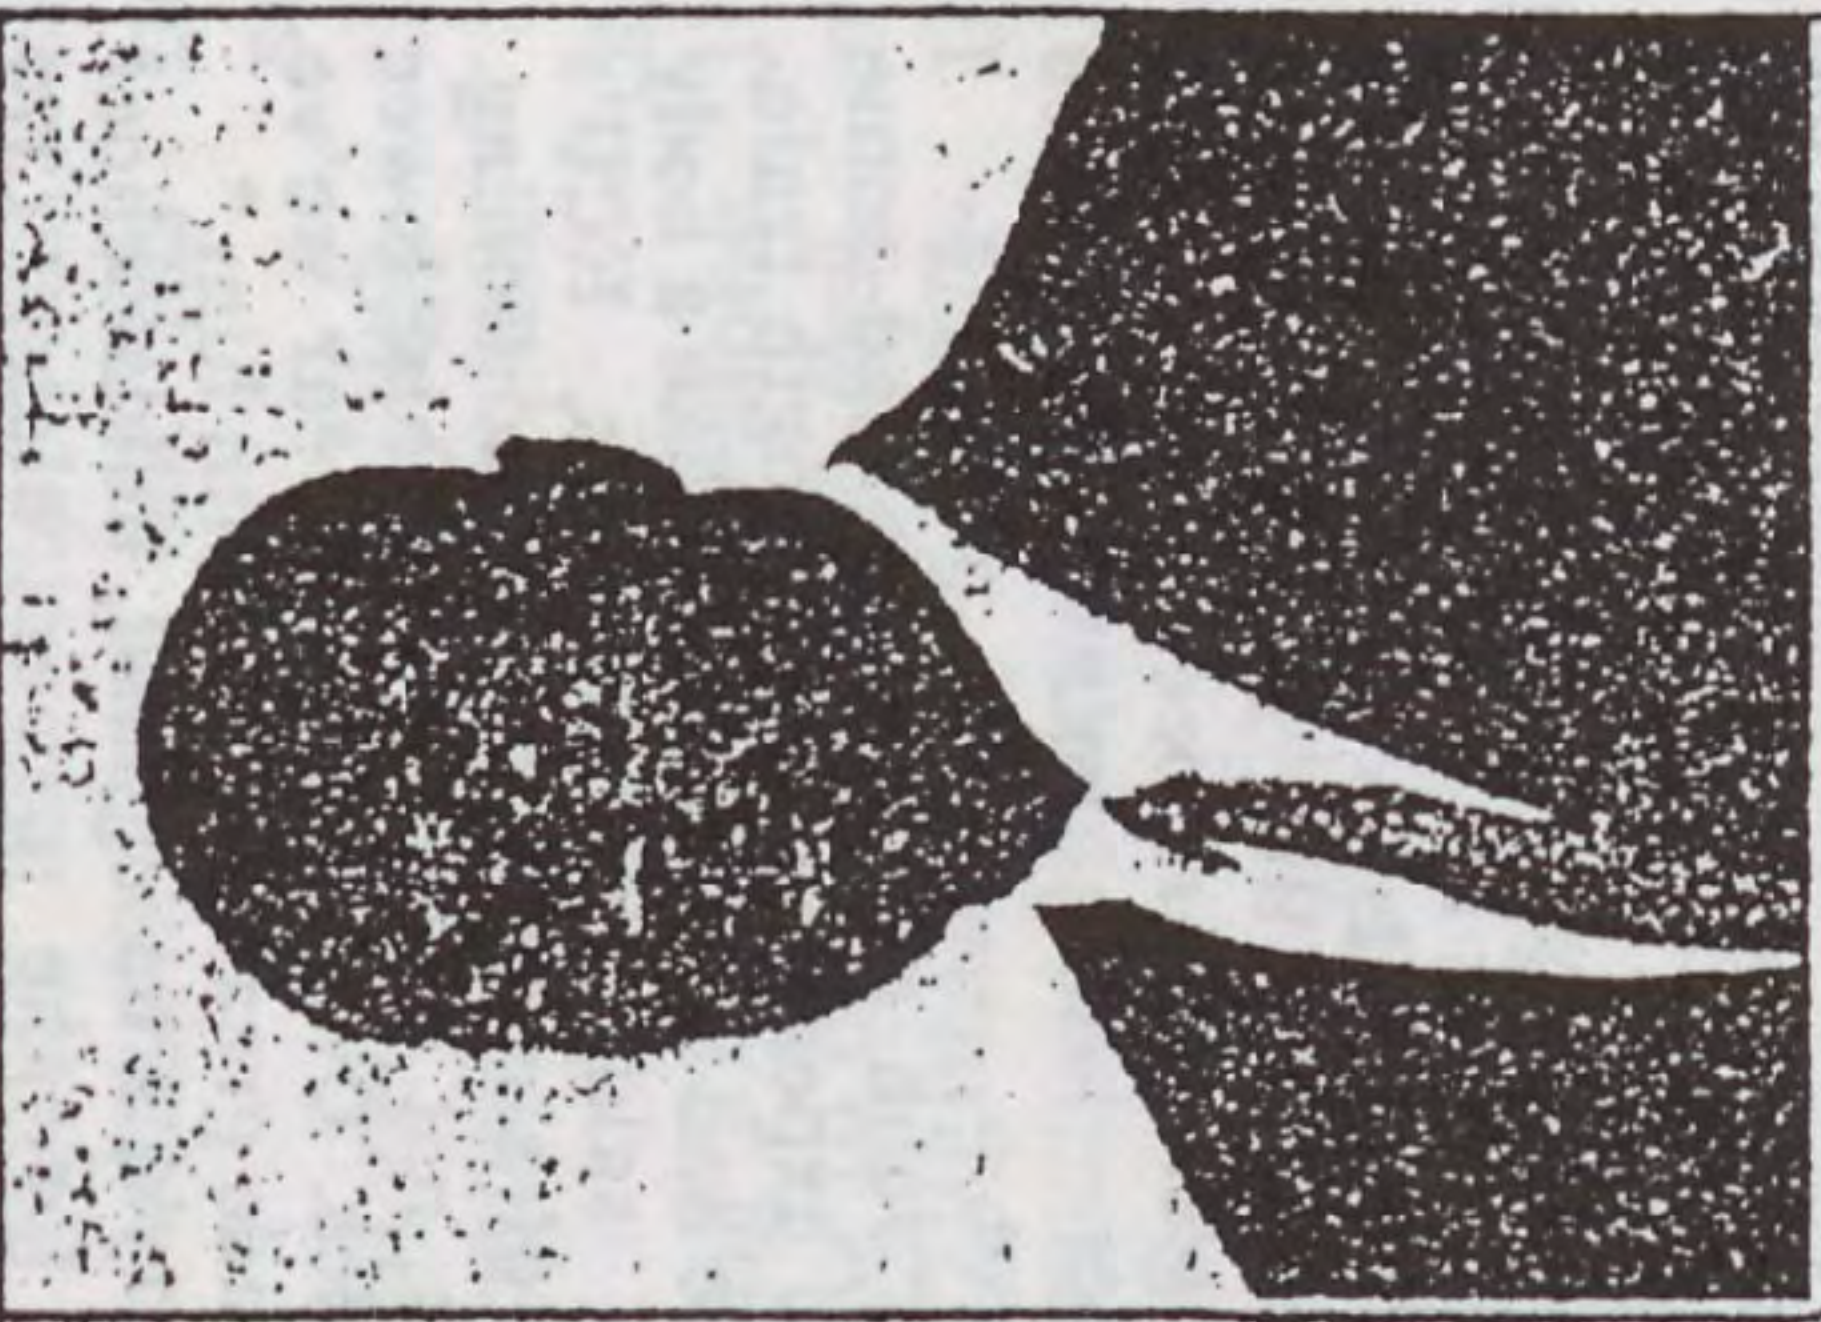

"I like to show my emotions," West said. "If I show my emotions I feel I can play good through the whole game. When I'm quiet I don't play my best ball. I like to express my emotions to the fans, the coaches and my teammates."

B.J. Crane has seen both the quiet and exuberant sides of West.

"He's a different guy in and out of public," said Crane, a sophomore inside linebacker who is West's roommate. "In public he's going to be laid back and not going to say much but in private when it's one on one and he's talking to his friends he's going to be just like he is on the field."

"It's showtime on Saturday," Crane said. "That's Lorenzo's philosophy and he shows it. It's going to be showtime every Saturday. He's a very confident player. He's confident in what he can do and what the defense can do. He went out there and did it on Saturday."

West certainly put on a show in East Carolina's season-opener against Duke. He was credited with 10 tackles and batted down two Spence Fischer pass attempts at the line of scrimmage. Crane had quite a night himself, collecting a team-high 17 tackles.

"When I'm quiet I don't play my best ball. I like to express my emotions to the fans, the coaches and my teammates."

like in no man's land.
"Last year was like a learning experience. This year I knew what I had to do. Now I know how to play my position."

Though confusing at first, the move from linebacker to defensive end has suited West just fine. Defending the pass never was quite his bag.

"As a linebacker your primary responsibility is to defend against the run but you have to be conscience of the pass," West said. "When I came here to play linebacker I really didn't want to play the pass part of it so the change they made was good for me from my perspective. In high school all I wanted to do was rush the passer anyway."

West was one of the top players in Georgia as a senior at Decatur High School. He was a first-team All-State selection and the Atlanta area Defensive Player of the Year.

The recruiting battle boiled down to hometown Georgia Tech and East Carolina. Bob Babich, then an assistant coach with ECU, helped convince West to sign with the Pirates.

"Lorenzo West was a big-time signee for us," Logan said. "We beat Georgia Tech head-up. Georgia Tech wanted that kid. He grew up right down the block from them."

West said several factors influenced his decision.

"First of all, I don't play well on (artificial) turf," West said. "I didn't want to go to a college that primarily plays on turf."

"I also felt like East Carolina really cared about me and Tech was just out to get me and play for me. I didn't feel like they were player's coaches. Tech was also too close to home."

The opportunity to play immediately didn't hurt. And play he will.

"There's a kid that is going to play in 44 straight football games for East Carolina, barring injury," Logan said. "He's a good player. I wish we had more like him."

"He's one of these guys that fortunately can run all day and it doesn't seem to affect him," defensive line coach Cliff Yoshida said. "I know during conditioning stuff he's right up there."

West's athletic ability earned him a chance to play as a true freshman last year when injuries depleted East Carolina's depth on the defensive side. He saw action in every game, starting the last two when Bernard Carter was moved from defensive end to outside linebacker.

With Carter now gone, the job is West's.

"I think Lorenzo felt like he could do it last year," Crane said. "The only thing that stopped him was Bernard Carter."

Although he would have liked to play more last year, West realizes he may not have been quite ready. This year he is bigger, stronger and more wise to what's going on.

"The difference for me primarily is I know my position now," West said. "Last year and all through high school I played linebacker. When I got to ECU they moved me to defensive end so I was backs. And even though the Tigers will get a break from the tough SEC grind on Saturday, Hall figures his task is as challenging as ever, with East Carolina's Marcus Crandell paying a visit.

"We've faced some good quarterbacks, but from what I've seen on tape, he could play for anybody in the Southeastern Conference," said Hall, who was an East Carolina assistant in the late 1970s. "I don't want to make any of them [SEC quarterbacks] mad, but he's as good as anybody we've played."

Crandell has completed 55.3 percent of his passes for 1,857 yards and 14 touchdowns with eight interceptions while leading the Pirates to a 5-3 record. He's also gotten good protection from his offensive line, which has surrendered only seven sacks, and that will be a big key Saturday.

wise)," Hall said. "To run an offense like that, you have to have a quarterback who can consistently make the right decisions, and he does that. He's a tremendous player.

"All their receivers catch the ball extremely well, and they have a great little tailback. Junior Smith reminds me of Lionel James, a great tailback we had here. He's quick, a really strong guy."

Third-ranked Auburn also is quick and strong, and the Tigers simply beat everybody. The winning streak has reached 19 games, longest in the nation.

The Tigers rank 13th nationally in total defense, having held opponents to 287 yards per game, just 91 rushing. Simply put, they wreak havoc. Make a mistake, and they make you pay. Their defense has scored seven touchdowns, intercepted 16 passes and recovered 10 fumbles.

"We've got a lot of kids playing hard, they play extremely hard," Hall said.

But will the Tigers be revved up and roaring about playing East Carolina, an opponent they have met only twice?

"All they have to do is watch the films ... and they'll see how scary this team is," Hall said. "The biggest thing, [East Carolina has] done a good job scoring against every team.

"I understand the East Carolina mentality. I know how they feel. I was there, and we felt we could beat anybody in the country then. I'm sure this team feels the same way."

Crandell is talented, and the Pirates are pumped. But if they beat Hall's bunch, the victory would be considered the Mother of All Upsets in college football this year.

Pirates ponder wins that got away

GREENVILLE — East Carolina is a young football team with a 3-3 record and mixed emotions.

The Pirates still lament losing three games to top 25 teams by a combined margin of 13 points — a handful of plays. But they also are upbeat about the possibility of earning a Liberty Bowl berth.

"We realize we could be 6-0, but we're not," quarterback Marcus Crandell said before a recent workout. "Even though it's frustrating us a lot, we realize we are a good team."

"When I'm lying around, I think of the outcome. We'd be on an emotional high if we had won those games. [But] we know what we have to do as a team. Our main focus is on the Liberty Bowl. We can't be so discouraged."

Devils' winning field goal.

Against once-beaten Syracuse, ECU lost 21-18, losing a fumble deep in Orangemen territory while driving toward a possible 14-0 lead.

Then, in Saturday's 27-20 loss to 19th-ranked Virginia Tech, two plays helped turn the tide. The Hokies picked up an early Pirates fumble and ran 60 yards for a touchdown. And late in the game, an ECU pass completion to the Tech 11 was nullified by a holding penalty.

If East Carolina had won those three games, the Pirates likely would be ranked in the top 15 and thinking of a bowl bigger than the Liberty. If . . .

"We're so close," said Jamie Gray, who has been a pleasant surprise in the offensive line. "Everybody knows we should be 6-0. It's hard to swallow."

Memphis (4-2) is the only coalition team with a better record.

The Pirates, with only six senior starters, likely will be favored in all of their remaining games except against Auburn, which has an 18-game winning streak under Terry Bowden. While that game poses a colossal challenge, it also provides ECU with its only remaining opportunity during regular season to gain national recognition.

"I'm hoping by the time they play us they will sort of overlook us," Crandell said. "But I'm trying not to look at the big picture now. I'm just trying to focus on Tulsa."

Later that afternoon, there was plenty of pep in the Pirates' practice. During one segment, Crandell hit receivers consistently in a two-minute drill and coaches moved around enthusiastically.

"We've got everything in the world to play for," Coach Steve Logan said. "If we can't play hard, then we need to bring the kids in for therapy."

Gray says he lies awake some at night, thinking about what could have been. But he adds that the Pirates are still motivated and that he's planning on playing in the Liberty Bowl at Memphis on New Year's Eve.

"We're dealing with it pretty well," defensive tackle Lorenzo West added. "We felt we could play with anybody on our schedule, and we are living up to that. It's given us confidence for the next game."

East Carolina travels to Tulsa this Saturday, is host to Cincinnati on Oct. 29, goes to Auburn on Nov. 5, entertains Division I-AA Central Florida on Nov. 12 and journeys to Memphis on Nov. 19 in what could settle the bowl issue.

The Pirates must win a minimum of six games against Division I-A opponents and post a better record than the other coalition teams to get a postseason bid.

ECU's Smith a big talent in small package

The E.E. Smith graduate helps the Pirates open the football season Saturday at Duke.

GREENVILLE — After consecutive 1,000-yard rushing seasons, East Carolina's Junior Smith was disappointed by a lack of preseason notice from the national media.

"At first, I thought there should have been a little more recognition," Smith said. "At the beginning of summer, I talked to my dad and we agreed that I was being selfish."

At 5-foot-6, the running back has battled being overlooked his entire life. But don't think Smith represents a statue of limitations. To the Fayetteville native and former E.E. Smith High School standout,

The senior All-American candidate has never been limited athletically — not at E.E. Smith, when he ran for 2,454 yards (the second-highest total in state prep history) as a senior — and certainly not now.

Smith runs a 4.43-second 40-yard dash, second best on the East Carolina squad. He bench presses 370 pounds and owns Pirate records for running backs in the vertical jump (38 inches), the squat (630 pounds), flex exercise (9.0) and overall testing (103 points).

Throw in a killer work ethic and you can understand how he climbed to fourth on ECU's career rushing list with 2,541 yards. He needs 346 more to pass former All-American Chester Crumpler as the school's all-time leader.

Smith

Smith's final chance to step into the national limelight as a collegian begins Saturday at 7 p.m. as the Pirates open their season with a visit to Duke. The Blue Devils (1-0) routed ECU 45-14 in the last meeting between the teams two years ago.

"We've got to get out of the chute fast at Duke, and we need to go into each game with a winning attitude," Smith said. "I just want to have the best game of my career at Duke."

"I expect another 1,000 yards out of the guy," said East Carolina head coach Steve Logan. "I think he is a legitimate big-time running back. He is a special guy, on and off the field. I would like to have 100 like him."

Smith said his immediate goal upon arrival at the ECU campus four years ago was not to be redshirted. He made the club as a freshman.

"My goal as a sophomore was to gain 1,000 yards," Smith said. Again, pencil it in.

As a junior, he set Pirate single-season and -game marks with 1,352 yards rushing in 11 contests and a 282-yard effort against Tulsa. He's the second-leading returning rusher in the NCAA, trailing only Wisconsin's Brent Moss.

But Smith's individual successes as a junior were tempered by a 2-9 season during which ECU's pass-happy offense sputtered. The Pirates lost first- and second-string quarterbacks to injuries, were held to single-digit scoring in four games and notched over 20 points only three times.

"I gained a lot of yards, but last year our offense was not that productive with respect to putting points on the board," Smith said, adding that he'll take wins over yards any time.

"My goal for this season is to help out the team as much as I can," he added. "I'd like to go for 1,000 again, but at the beginning of the season I try not to look at those things."

Pirates bowl-bound!

Memphis 30-6

THE DAILY REFLECTOR

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — The Pirates weren't on the guest list for a new conference, but they do have a date for New Year's Eve.

After being shunned by a new 10-team all-sports conference last week, East Carolina reserved a spot in the Dec. 31 St. Jude Liberty Bowl by whipping Memphis 30-6 Saturday. The Pirates (7-4) will face Illinois, the fifth-place team from the Big 10.

While ECU players celebrated the school's second bowl berth in four years, head coach Steve Logan admitted the conference rejection still stung.

"We've been told no, no, no, no by everybody," said Logan, whose ire was raised moments earlier by a Gatorade shower. "Everybody has told us we couldn't do it.

"We're going to get it done. We're going to get it done at East Carolina, with a conference, without a conference. I don't care. We're going to get it done."

ECU was included when the five-team Liberty Bowl Alliance formed in August. But the Pirates were omitted from last week's conference formation, which joined teams from the Metro and Great Midwest Conference along with Houston from the Southwest Conference. ECU was the only Liberty Bowl Alliance team left out.

"It's going to be us against the world from now on," Logan said. "We are going to develop a healthy chip on our shoulder and it's going to stay there."

For some players, like sophomore linebacker B.J. Crane, it's already there.

"We've beaten every team in the Liberty Bowl Alliance and here we are in the Liberty Bowl, but yet we're not good enough to be in the conference," Crane said.

ECU is 3-0 against LBA teams this year with wins over Southern Miss, Cincinnati and Memphis. The Pirates did not face Tulane.

"My feelings are they don't want us in the conference because they don't want us to dominate," junior center Kevin Wiggins said. "They're afraid of getting beat every year. We want to play 'em all and we're going to keep beating 'em. I'd love to be in the ACC myself."

Some fans had hoped the Pirates might face an ACC opponent in the Liberty Bowl, but an Independence Bowl deal last week claimed the last available Atlantic Coast Conference team.

ECU faced N.C. State in the Peach Bowl in Atlanta in 1991, a game which drew a sellout crowd. Athletics Director Dave Hart Jr. hopes Pirate fans flock to Memphis.

"I think there's probably some doubters out there in terms of last time it was N.C. State and it was an easy drive," Hart said. "It's kind of a let's see what they do now attitude. I'm convinced our fans will respond."

ECU would like another shot at Illinois. The Pirates' only loss in an 11-1 season in 1991 was in Champaign.

The Pirates could have a home-field edge this time around, if Liberty Bowl director Steve Ehrhart is on target.

"I think everybody is really excited about it," Ehrhart said. "Now that East Carolina is the host team, I think all the fans here are going to be very ready to adopt them."

The Liberty Bowl has struggled with attendance recently, part of the reason the alliance was formed.

Pirate supporters at Saturday's game say ECU will return with its share of fans in December.

Matt Howard, a 1992 ECU grad who lives in Nashville, wouldn't miss it. It will only be the third time this year he's had a chance to see his alma mater in action.

Charlie Wilson, who's been to nine of 11 games this season to watch son Damon, a senior full-back, said he'd make reservations before leaving Memphis.

"It's our first trip here," he said, "but we plan to enjoy it when we come back. It's going to be a more festive occasion."
