Today's Game

Homecoming 1990 Brings Back Happy Memories for ECU; Pirates Look to Celebrate Fifth Straight Victory over Cincinnati

By Carolyn Justice-Hinson
ECU Assistant SID

Homecoming is a time of reminiscing and for East Carolina, today's 1990 homecoming game against the University of Cincinnati is full of happy memories about the Bearcats, four of them to be exact.

ECU leads the series 4-0 over UC including two wins here in Ficklen Stadium in 1986 and 1987.

1986 was the first meeting for the Pirates and the Bearcats, with ECU being victorious 32-19.

The next season, ECU celebrated the 1987 homecoming in front of 26,371 fans in Ficklen Stadium with a 56-28 win.

ECU's Reggie McKinney rushed for 212 yards, the second highest total in East Carolina history, to lead ECU to the win. McKinney carried the ball 20 times including a 56-yard touchdown with a school record 28-point fourth quarter.

ECU's offense recorded a Ficklen Stadium record 31 first downs as the Pirates rushed for 500 yards, including 311 in the second half for a per carry average of 8.6 yards in the final 30 minutes.

In 1988, the Pirates hosted Cincinnati in the season finale at Ficklen Stadium.

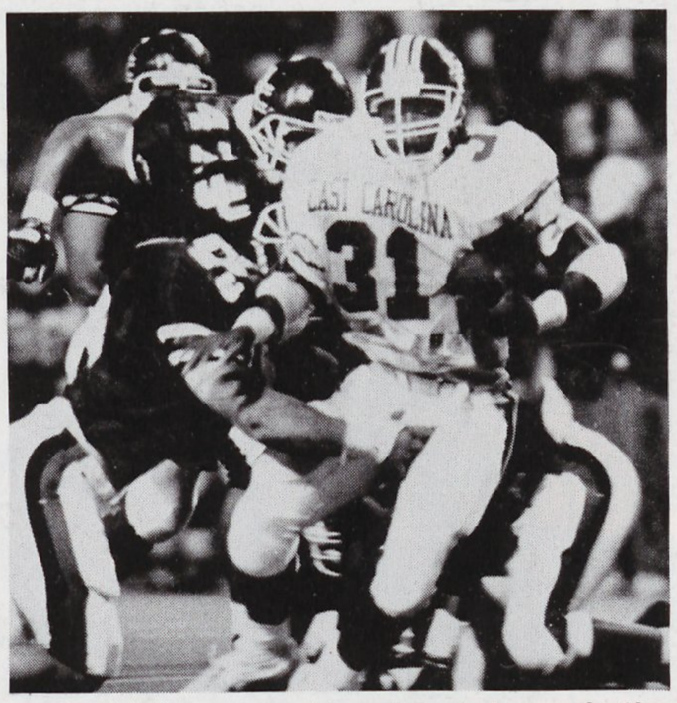

It was a cold, rainy Saturday afternoon but the Pirates heated things up on the field coming up with a 49-14 win.

Again it was McKinney, playing his final game for the Pirates, who put on a show. He scored two touchdowns in the first half as ECU carried a 21-0 lead in at halftime. Also making his final appearance was fullback Tim James. He too went out in style, rushing for 156 yards and three touchdowns.

Last season's meeting between the Pirates and Bearcats was just the beginning of an exciting 1989 season.

Dion Johnson has been a key on the Pirates' special teams, averaging 23.8 yards on kick-off returns and 8.5 yards on punt returns.

David Daniels scored two touchdowns in the second half against Cincinnati in 1989 to give ECU the 21-14 win.

It was the Pirate defense and the performance of sophomore fullback David Daniels that led ECU to a come-from-behind 21-14 victory.

The defense, led by Anthony Thompson and Reeves Spainhour, accounted for four of the Pirates' crucial points with two safeties. The first in the second quarter as ECU trailed 7-3 and the second in the third quarter as the Pirates trailed 14-5.

Thompson is also credited with setting up the final score for the Pirates as he deflected and intercepted a pass to give the Pirates a first down at the Cincinnati 18 with 5:03 left in the game.

Daniels, who in the third quarter tied the game up, 14-14, as he caught a 3-yard pass from Travis Hunter, scored his second touchdown of the game with just 3:23 remaining. The extra point by Robb Imperato, who also had a 24-yard field goal and two PATs on the day, gave ECU the 21-14 advantage and a 2-0 start on the 1989 season.

ECU comes into today's game looking to bring back some of those happy memories. The Pirates have lost three straight games including a tough 16-7 loss their last time out in Ficklen Stadium against Southern Mississippi and a 37-7 loss to South Carolina last week.

The Pirate offense has scored just three touchdowns in its last three games and looks to come alive today.

Leading the Pirates on offense is tight end Luke Fisher who has caught 26 passes for 412 yards and four touchdowns this season. Fisher, a junior, currently has a 14-game consecutive catch streak going.

Dion Johnson, who leads the Pirates averaging 23.8 yards on punt returns, started his first game at wide receiver against South Carolina and the coaching staff is hoping that his speed will be a spark for the Pirate offense.

Injuries have taken their toll on the Pirate defense now having lost three defensive linemen (Joe Bright, Ernie Logan and Shane Hubble), cornerback Darren Bynum and safety Derrick Fields. Last week, ECU had two freshmen and a junior on the defensive line including freshman Alex Henderson, who has recorded nine tackles in two games this season.

ECU's All-America candidate, linebacker Robert Jones, along with defensive ends George Koonce and Jerry Dillon have been the bright spots of the Pirate defense in the past three games.

Jones leads the squad with 99 tackles, including 21 against Southern Miss. Jones recorded only seven stops last week against South Carolina while playing with a bone spur in his upper right arm and a sprained ankle.

Koonce has 60 tackles this season and six quarterback sacks. In his last three outings,

Koonce has 51 tackles, with 12 behind the line of scrimmage. Against USC, the senior from New Bern, NC, had 13 tackles with four behind the line.

When you see the defense coming alive on the field, it's probably led by the enthusiasm of sophomore Jerry Dillon. Last week, Dillon recorded a season high 12 stops against South Carolina and now is third in tackles for the Pirates with 55.

When it comes to remembering past homecomings and victories at Ficklen Stadium, defensive line coach Cary Godette could have the most reminiscing to do today of all the Pirates.

Godette, an All-America defensive end for East Carolina celebrated four homecoming victories as a Pirate from 1973-76. Godette also served as assistant coach at Cincinnati from 1983-89.

The Pirates have a 27-8 record in homecoming games played since 1955 and in the 1980's ECU won eight of their 10 homecoming outings, including a 24-14 victory over Western Carolina at the start of the decade.

Last season, ECU celebrated a 14-0 homecoming victory over Virginia Tech in front of the largest crowd ever in Ficklen Stadium. This year, the Pirates are in the homecoming spirit, renewing the on-field rivalry with Cincinnati and looking to make a happy homecoming memory to be remembered for years to come.

Luke Fisher was the Pirates' leading receiver against the Bearcats in 1989 and leads ECU this year with 26 catches for 412 yards.

Next Week:

The Pirates travel to Temple to take on the Owls, who are hosting Virginia Tech today in Philadelphia.

ECU has won the last three meetings with Temple and leads the the series 6-2.

Last season, the two teams met in Ficklen Stadium with ECU earning a 31-24 win.

Head Coach

Bill Lewis

Give Bill Lewis an hour of your time, and you'll be convinced that the East Carolina University football program can become as successful as any in the nation.

And, if the 1989 season was any indication, Lewis has the Pirates on their way to that level. ECU finished the year with a 5-5-1 record, marking the first non-losing season for the Pirates since 1983.

The Sporting News also knows about Lewis and the East Carolina program. In a recent edition of TSN, the newspaper has the Pirate program rated among the Top 20 of the 1990s.

When the 48-year-old coaching veteran was named the Pirates' 16th head coach on Dec. 3, 1988, Lewis immediately became ECU's most zealous supporter.

"I am a very positive person," said Lewis at his first press conference. "I want to point myself and the program in that direction. We will not take a back seat to anyone in this country with the way we are going to approach this football team and this football program."

Lewis has already built a firm base from which to build a program since coming to ECU from the University of Georgia, where he was a defensive backfield coach for nine seasons during which, he was also the defensive coordinator for eight.

In his first recruiting class at ECU, he signed 25 to grant-in-aids, including 12 prospects from the state of North Carolina. That was done with a new coaching staff who had just three months to get started.

"I believe you must begin to form the base of your recruiting in your home state," said Lewis. "We will go from the mountains to the coast line."

This year's recruiting crop has brought 24 newcomers to East Carolina. It was also a banner year as recruits picked ECU over such schools as South Carolina, Georgia, Tennessee, Pittsburgh and Clemson.

ECU director of athletics Dave Hart, Jr. knows that Lewis will get the Pirate program to the next level.

"We welcome a person of Bill Lewis' abilities and character at East Carolina to lead our program into its next plateau," said Hart. "We look forward to what the future holds for the ECU program under Bill Lewis' leadership.

"He is perceived as an exceptional recruiter by all his peers and as a sound fundamentalist and teacher. He is a good motivator and demanding of his staff and his players," added Hart.

Lewis' stint at Georgia included nine bowl trips, three Southeastern Conference championships and a national championship in 1980. He has coached 23 All-SEC selections and has coached seven All-Americas, including Terry Hoage of the Philadelphia Eagles, John Little and Jeff Sanchez, all defensive backs.

Before arriving at Georgia, Lewis was the head coach at the University of Wyoming. In three years at the Laramie school, Lewis led the Cowboys to a 13-21-1 record and had offensive tackle Dennis Baker and linebacker Ken Fantetti make All-America status.

A 27-year coaching veteran, Lewis has also been an assistant coach at Arkansas (1973-76), Georgia Tech (1971-73), Wake Forest (1969-71), Pittsburgh (1966-68) and East Stroudsburg State (1963-65), his alma mater.

Lewis graduated from East Stroudsburg in 1963, earning a B.S. degree in Health and Physical Education. While attending school there, he was a Little All-America selection at quarterback and a team captain of the football and baseball teams, while lettering four years.

He left college to play in the Detroit Tigers minor league organization for two years as a pitcher before returning to his alma mater to work on his graduate degree and work as a part-time football coach. While in baseball, Lewis reached the AA level and played with much of what became the Tigers' 1968 World Series championship team.

A native of Bristol, Pa., Lewis participated in football, baseball, gymnastics and basketball at Delhaas Junior-Senior High School.

An avid jogger, Lewis takes regular four-mile runs. During pre-season testing last year with the defensive linemen, he was clocked at 6:49 in the mile.

Lewis and his wife, Sandy, are the parents of three children, Mark (23), a second-year law student at University of Georgia School of Law, Gregg (20), a junior at the U.S. Air Force Academy and Geoff (18), a freshman at the University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill. Mark's wife, Wendy, is a graduate of the University of Georgia.

ECU Director of Athletics

Dave Hart, Jr.

Dave Hart, Jr., who has gained national recognition for his innovative ideas in the field of marketing, promotions and fund-raising, enters his third year as East Carolina University's director of athletics.

Hart was appointed athletic director on December 21, 1987 by ECU Chancellor Dr. Richard Eakin.

"Dave has an exceptional understanding of all aspects of athletic administration, has a strong commitment to excellence and integrity throughout the men's and women's programs, and possesses, in my judgment, the leadership qualities necessary to develop our athletic program and move it to new levels of achievement," Eakin said.

Since that appointment, Hart has become one of the most respected athletic administrators in college athletics. Just one month into his new position, Hart was appointed to the NCAA's prestigious Committee on Integrity and Image in College Athletics, which is chaired by Georgia Tech director of athletics Homer Rice. He also chairs the Colonial Athletic Association Marketing Committee and currently serves on the Division 1-A Institutional Control Committee.

Hart is a popular speaker at the national level and has authored articles for a number of national publications in the areas of marketing, promotions and fund-raising, and effective program management. He has made numerous speaking presentations at NCAA conventions and seminars, and during the past five National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA) conventions, has served as an instructor at the Management Institute.

Since Hart has taken over as East Carolina's Athletic Director, Pirate athletic squads have been faring much better. In the spring, the Pirate baseball team won the Colonial Athletic Association tournament and participated in the NCAA tournament. The women's basketball team finished with a winning season while the golf team also won the CAA crown. The football team also had their first non-losing season since 1983.

He has also structured new programs at ECU that include Personal Development for student-athletes, NCAA rules seminars, anti-drug and alcohol programs featuring coaches and student-athletes, and a student-athlete code of conduct and manual.

Hart was named associate director of athletics for external relations and executive director of the Pirate Club in 1985. His duties included the raising of funds for athletic scholarships through the Pirate Club, as well as overseeing all external areas of the athletic department.

During his first two years in that position, the Pirate Club experienced record-setting growth as it surpassed the coveted $1 million mark in contributions for the first time ever. The 1987 campaign saw another record performance under his direction as the Club exceeded the $1.2 million level.

... Since that appointment, Hart has become one of the most respected athletic administrators in college athletics.

Hart first joined the ECU athletic department in 1983 as an assistant athletic director for marketing. It was the first time that ECU had ever employed a full-time staff member for marketing, and it immediately brought dividends.

ECU's marketing program gained national attention for the rapid growth in crowd participation through tailgating and other promotional efforts. Hart was also responsible for implementing the "Great Pirate Purple/Gold Pigskin Pig-Out Party," which is a weekend extravaganza surrounding the spring football game.

Additionally, attendance at home football games increased greatly as evidenced by the fact that nine of the top 12 crowds in Ficklen Stadium history have entered the turnstiles since the 1983 season. Promotional ventures such as the "Ain't It Great to Tailgate" idea have added to the atmosphere at Pirate home games.

Hart, just the fifth athletic director in ECU history, received his undergraduate and graduate degrees from the University of Alabama, earning a B.S. in English/Speech in 1971 and a master's degree in 1972. He attended Alabama on a basketball scholarship and was a graduate assistant coach for the Crimson Tide program in 1972. He won nine varsity letters in football, basketball and baseball and at Annapolis (MD) High School, where he was also an All-State basketball and football player.

He is married to the former Pam Humble of Tuscaloosa, Ala., and they have three children — Ricky (18), Jamie (16) and Kelly (13).

East Carolina University

East Carolina University is a large and diverse, fully-comprehensive institution of higher learning, which has a proud history of more than 80 years of service to its state and region.

Founded in 1907 as a small normal school for the training of teachers, East Carolina University has grown and expanded in progressive stages. Designated a university in 1967, ECU has been a constituent of the 16-campus public University of North Carolina system since 1972.

EAST CAROLINA UNIVERSITY

ECU now includes professional schools of distinction in medicine, nursing, allied health sciences, business, education, industry and technology, home economics, social work, music and art. It has a College of Arts and Sciences with 20 academic departments, a research-oriented Graduate School, a Division of Continuing Education and offers at least 30 non-credit educational programs.

ECU has gained national and international attention for its graduate program in Maritime History and Underwater Research, its Regional Development Institute, the Center for Applied Technology and its wide-ranging work in an Institute of Coastal and Marine Resources.

With an on-campus enrollment of more than 16,000 students, ECU is the third largest institution of higher education in North Carolina. The university's student body is drawn from all across North Carolina and from most of the 50 states and the District of Columbia and includes students from 35 foreign countries. Off-campus extension programs and non-credit educational offerings attract an additional 2,500 students each year.

ECU offers undergraduate degrees in 105 bachelor's degree program tracks. The Graduate School has 89 master's degree program tracks and six PhD programs in sciences basic to medicine. The MD is offered through the School of Medicine. In 1989, the university conferred 2,104 baccalaureate degrees and 657 graduate degrees including the PhD and MD.

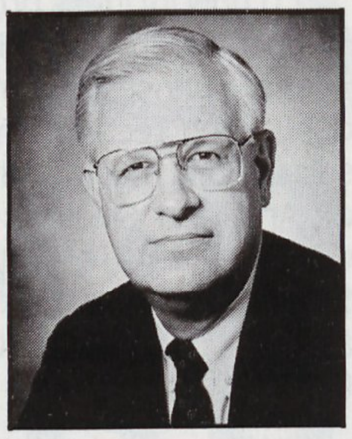

There are more than 61,900 living alumni of East Carolina University residing in all of the 50 states and 30 other countries around the world.

Among the 77 buildings on its 400 acres of Greenville campuses, ECU operates 15 residence halls with a total capacity of 5,467 students. In addition, there are nine fraternity and seven sorority houses.

ECU is a member of the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) with Division 1A programs in ten men's sports and eight women's sports. In football, ECU is an independent and most other ECU sports programs are affiliated with the Colonial Athletic Association.

Chancellor

Dr. Richard Eakin

Dr. Richard R. Eakin, the chancellor of East Carolina University, heads an administration which is preparing the University for greater prominence.

Highly respected and warmly regarded by all who deal with him, Dr. Eakin is keenly and energetically interested in all of the University's academic and athletic programs. He spends a great deal of time with the people involved in ECU's wide-ranging intellectual and outreach activities.

He is firmly committed to maintaining ECU's reputation for academic excellence and to the developing of new and better ways for the University to be of service. He sees ECU as a wellspring to bring about a better way of life in the state and region.

Personable and thoughtful, Dr. Eakin enjoys excellent rapport with ECU's 16,000 students, its faculty and staff, trustees, alumni and the entire University community, which embraces most of Eastern North Carolina.

Strategic Plans for ECU

At Dr. Eakin's direction, the University has spent two years preparing strategic plans designed to enable ECU to meet the challenges facing higher education in the 21st century.

These plans call for upgrading and streamlining of ECU's academic programs, strengthening of the undergraduate curriculum, additional doctoral level programs, concentrated research activity and increased participation in community affairs and public service.

Dr. Eakin has pushed for campus beautification, a modernization of facilities, campus improvements and expansion including a top-priority $26 million library expansion project, and programs to improve the quality of campus life.

A Distinctive University

With the third largest university enrollment in the state, Dr. Eakin wants ECU to be recognized as ranking among the three best state universities in North Carolina.

Based upon its 83-year heritage of service and excellence, in providing educational opportunity in the region, and with more than 10 years of medical school-centered health care services, East Carolina already stands as an institution of distinction and pride. In many ways, Dr. Eakin believes, ECU can and will become even more truly distinctive.

The University's level of private financial support ranks high among the nation's public, comprehensive universities. Private support adds significantly to the margin of excellence in the University's quest for quality academic programs, research and service.

Around-the-Clock Chancellor

With intense enthusiasm and the stamina of a former basketball player, Dr. Eakin looks upon being chancellor of a large, vibrant university such as ECU with around-the-clock zest and interest.

The ninth chief executive officer in the school's history, Dr. Eakin came to East Carolina University on March 1, 1987, with a strong background in higher education administration and as a professor of mathematics. He began his career in 1964 at Bowling Green State University in Ohio and served there as a vice president for budget and planning before being selected as chancellor of ECU.

A native of New Castle, Pennsylvania, Dr. Eakin earned his bachelor's degree in mathematics and physics, summa cum laude, from Geneva College in 1960. At Geneva, he was president of the Student Senate and Class Valedictorian. He was awarded a Master's Degree from Washington State University in 1962 and the doctorate in mathematics with a minor in economics from Washington State in 1964.

He is married to the former Jo Ann McGeehan. They have two children, Matthew, a graduate student at North Carolina State University, and Maridy, a student at East Carolina University.

ECU Marching Pirates

The ECU Marching Pirates have a national reputation among college and high school band directors and students as one of the most innovative college bands in the country. The group draws students from New England to Southern Florida and as far west as Oklahoma. The group is known for its high energy performances and "solid, wall of sound" contrasting with a "delicate, musical blend."

This year the band is under the field leadership of Drum Major Nick Holland and Assistant Drum Major John Howard. The Co-Captains of the Golden Girls for the 1990 season are Teresa Hollowell and Wendy Thomas, while the Color Guard instructor is Ashley Thornton. Also taking the field with the Marching Pirates for her fourth straight year, is featured twirler, Tonya Hildreth.

A Special Thanks

East Carolina University expresses appreciation to the 93 individuals, organizations and corporations whose gifts made possible the purchase of new uniforms for the Marching Pirates. Very special thanks go to the following donors whose exemplary generosity was instrumental in making the band uniform project a success:

Here's To The Pirates

by Mitch Doub, Joe Distefano, Tom Goolsby, Phil Marnell

Here's to the Pirates of ECU!
We're going to raise our battle flag high,
We're going to sing it long,
Shout it loud;
And then they'll know
That we are Pirate Proud.
Because the battle's been fought,
And now it's won,
And everybody knows that we're Number One!
Because we're full of Pride,
We've got them bowing to our side,
Here's to ECU!

ECU Pirate Cheerleading

The East Carolina University Cheerleading and Mascot Programs are an exciting part of the university atmosphere and a guaranteed way to be involved with the athletics of the university and community. The demands and responsibilities are numerous and the rewards are endless.

The Cheerleading Program is divided into two groups. The Purple Squad serves as the Varsity Squad, and appears at home and away football games and at men's basketball games. The Gold Squad serves as the Junior Varsity Squad and as an alternate to the Purple Squad. The Gold Squad cheers at home football games and women's basketball games. The Purple and Gold Squads also cheer for all East Carolina Inter-Collegiate Athletic Programs, such as soccer, volleyball, swimming, diving, baseball and softball. Both squads also represent ECU at pep rallies, sporting events, and make promotional appearances.

The requirements for tryouts vary every year due to the growth and changing needs of the squad. The Purple and Gold Squads' requirements are cheers and chants, dance ability, gymnastics ability, partner stunts, crowd involvement and enthusiasm. Specific requirements are announced at the beginning of each tryout clinic.

An important part of the cheerleading squad is the Pirate Mascot, who, in addition to football and basketball games, entertains at other Pirate athletic contests throughout the year. The Pirate also makes guest appearances at civic, social and promotional functions. Wherever he goes, The Pirate is recognized as the trademark of East Carolina University. Tryouts for the cheerleading squads and the mascot occur in both spring and fall.

The advantages, rewards, and opportunities of the Cheerleading and Mascot Programs speak for themselves and make the efforts worthwhile.

Peggy Smith, a veteran instructor of cheerleading, is the director of cheerleading and mascots at East Carolina. Smith, also experienced in dance, drill teams, and color guard, begins her third year with the ECU Cheerleading and Mascot Programs.

Smith, who cheered on the collegiate level for the University of Southwestern Louisiana, earned her master's degree in 1985. Peggy is currently a full-time faculty member for the Health and Human Performance Department at ECU. She coaches both the Purple and Gold Squads in addition to the Pirate Mascot.

ECU A Look Back in History

All sports fans experience the feeling of helplessness and frustration when things aren't going their team's way.

On Nov. 12, 1977, one East Carolina fan carried his feeling one step farther in an action that's still talked about today.

The place was the 1977 Oyster Bowl in Norfolk, Va. The teams were ECU and William & Mary and "the tackle" is what that ECU fan has became known for.

The fan listed as unidentified in the following article, has since been identified as Jim Johnson, a three sport athlete for ECU from 1933-37. Following the war, Johnson was the ECU athlete director and coached three sports. In 1978, Johnson was inducted into the ECU Athletic Hall of Fame.

The following story is a reprinted account of "the tackle" from The Daily Reflector.

Nov. 13, 1977 — The Daily Reflector

The Bowl Chase Ends In Norfolk

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

NORFOLK, Va. — William & Mary quarterback Tom Rozantz put on a superb show of passing and running to spark the underdog Tribe to a 21-17 upset of East Carolina University Saturday afternoon.

The two met in the annual Oyster Bowl, a site that has pleased the Indians over the years. In five appearances since 1948, the Tribe has come away with four victories.

The afternoon was one of frustration for the Pirates, who saw any hope for a bowl game disappear with the defeat, which dropped them to 8-3 on the year.

Rozantz hit two passes for touchdowns, hitting Gray Oliver on a 17-yarder in the first period, and Joe Manderfield for 19 yards in the second. The tricky back took the final and decisive score in himself in the third period, from the 12.

That last score came despite the efforts of an unidentified fan who appeared to make a last ditch try to stop Rozantz at the goal line.

"I couldn't believe it was happening," Rozantz said. "I knew I was going in, and he just lunged at me with a body block across the thighs. I was speechless."

The fan was the only "Pirate" anywhere close to the Indian chief as he did his war dance.

East Carolina got two touchdowns, a 95-yard romp by Eddie Hicks, and a two-yard sprint out by Jimmy Southerland. Junior Creech added two PAT kicks and a 36-yard field goal.

Hicks' run, one of the few bright spots of the day, broke the school record for the longest run from scrimmage. The old mark was a 93-yarder by Dave Alexander against Howard back in 1964.

The Indians dominated the statistics, running off 26 first downs, while picking up 384 yards in total offense, 247 on the ground and 137 through the air.

East Carolina had 344 yards, 278 on the ground and 66 through the air.

The Indians were helped in the first period, when they forced the Pirates to kick into a strong wind, giving them the ball on the ECU 25. Then, on their final touchdown drive, after the Pirates took a 17-14 lead, two key penalties moved them along.

The first, a roughing the passer call, got the Indians out of a fourth down situation, and moved the ball to midfield. The next, on the following play for a personal foul, saw Gerald Hall ejected from the game, and the ball pushed to the 38.

The official who called the foul on Hall, umpire Jesse Birchfield, said he kicked a William & Mary player. "Hall said he didn't," coach Pat Dye said in the dressing room after the game. "The same official called holding on our nose guard, and I don't know how you can do that. The same one that called those two called seven 15-yarders against us against Southern Illinois last year."

Dye blamed the loss on the Pirates being undisciplined in the game. "That's my fault, and we'll do something about that next year," he said.

The Pirates scored on their first possession, getting Creech's field goal. The drive started from the ECU 25, and took only ten plays. Willie Hawkins took a 16-yard pitch out, and Southerland raced for 22 yards on another play to key the drive. But a motion penalty helped slow down the drive after it reached the 18, and Creech kicked the 36-yarder for a 3-0 lead with 11:13 left.

The Indians came back quickly to drive in just six plays down to the 10, but a fumble at the three cost them the ball.

But the Bucs were bottled up there, and punted, with the ball being downed after only 15 yards, at the 25, as the gusty wind caught the ball.

The Indians scored in just two plays. Rozantz picked up eight yards on first down, then hit Oliver on the sidelines for the final 17.1 Libassi's kick gave the Indians a 7-3 lead with 6:27 left in the period.

Another wind-held kick gave W&M the ball at the Buc 31, but Tommy Summer intercepted at the 34, and the Bucs got off a drive that finally ended in a foul at the Indian 17.

The Bucs forced another fumble, however, and took over at the Indian 44. From the 40, Leander Green tossed to Terry Gallaher, who lateraled back to Hicks, with the play carrying to the 19. The Pirates moved 16 more yards on carries by Theodore Sutton and Hawkins, but from the three, took four plays to score, with Southerland getting over on the option from the two. Creech made it 10-7 with 8:34 left in the half.

Rozantz guided the Indians right back down the field, keyed by another flag against the Pirates. That came on fourth and three, when a Pirate didn't quite make it off the field during the exchange of substitutes before the snap. Rozantz hit Manderfield for 27 yards during the series, and finally hit him all alone in the end zone from 19 yards out. Libassi made it 14-10 with 3:04 left to play.

Midway through the third period, the Pirates appeared to be backed up on their own five after an Indian punt.

But on first down, Hicks followed Sutton into the line, broke free, and sprinted the full 95 yards to put the Pirates back into the lead, 17-14 with 7:04 left in the quarter.

But the Pirates couldn't hold. The Indians got it on their own 23, and a Rozantz pass to Manderfield got a first down at the 36. The Pirates were then hit with their two 15-yarders, and that moved the ball all the way to the ECU 28.

The Indians got a first down at the 17, and Craig Cook got five yards. Rozantz then rolled around the right side, and found himself open for a dash to the end zone.

That run was almost stopped by the ECU fan, but not quite.

The Indians led 21-17 with time left in the third period, but it was to be the last of the scoring.

East Carolina drove from its own 20 late in the game, but the drive finally petered out at the 20, and the Bucs turned it over on downs with 4:12 to go. From there on out, the Indians controlled the ball, getting a first down at midfield with less than a minute left to run out the clock.

Rozantz, selected as the game's most valuable player, ended up with 101 yards rushing on 16 carries, and hit 10 of 15 passes for 137 yards.

East Carolina is now finished for this season, while the Indians, 5-5, face Richmond in Williamsburg next week.

Reminiscing Homecomings Past Fifty-eight Years of Fun and Excitement

By Roger Krammer

Reprinted from The East Carolina Marauder

Homecoming is a most cherished and traditional occasion full of fun, remembrance and pride. Any college worth its salt is steeped in tradition and ECU is as steeped as any university alive. With this, I would like to take you back to take a look at Homecomings past!

Homecoming can be traced back to the first Founders Day, which was celebrated at East Carolina Teachers College on March 5, 1932. Many alumni returned for the occasion, including five of the original 11 faculty members. This celebration, in the form of a homecoming, took place thereafter every year on the Saturday closest to March 8, the day on which the school was founded in 1907. There were no sporting events or parades associated with these early homecomings until 1936.

The first Homecoming to include sports was celebrated at ECTC on November 20, 1936. The day began with a morning program in the old Austin auditorium, followed by a barbecue dinner under the trees of back campus. An afternoon game of football was followed by a dance in Wright Auditorium with Freddie Johnson and his UNC Orchestra. This was the pattern of the Homecoming weekends yet to come.

In the Fall of 1939, Homecoming was held off until March, 1940, in order that Governor Clyde R. Hoey could dedicate the E.G. Flanagan Building in connection with the event. A basketball game was held in Wright auditorium, after which there was an alumni dance.

The 1941 Homecoming included the addition of a parade before the game, which has become one of the highlights of the whole weekend.

ECTC didn't have a Homecoming after 1941 until the Spring of 1946, because most of the boys went to war. The Homecoming of May 4, 1946, was know as "Veterans Homecoming and May Day," to honor all the alumni of ECTC who had served in the armed services. A baseball game was scheduled for the afternoon on the Pirates' athletic field but it was cancelled because of rain. A movie was then shown in old Austin auditorium, followed by the May Day ceremonies and a dance in the Wright building...

The 1949 Homecoming football game was held in the new college stadium dedicated during the first game of the season. After the game a reception was held at the new Presidents House on Fifth Street, which was purchased during the past summer.

The 1950 Homecoming saw the first appearance of a towering paper mache Pirate called "Captain Teco," symbolic of school spirit. It was the center of attention for many festivities to come.

The highlight of the 1953 Homecoming was the crowning of the first Homecoming queen. The first queen, Mrs. Kitty Gerringer Brinson of Draper, N.C., was chosen by East Carolina students in a general campus election. Also, the Veterans Club presented a "victory bell" as a symbol of victory in East Carolina athletics. The bell was to be rung following contests won by the Pirates. The Bell was dedicated to the students in military service during World War II and the Korean Conflict. It now sits on the west side of Memorial Gym.

The 1954 Homecoming weekend was nearly ruined by Hurricane Hazel, which did extensive damage all around Greenville. The storm provided a roaring beginning to weekend, but game day was beautiful and clear and everything went on as planned.

One of the most unforgettable Homecomings was held in 1961. The theme of the weekend was "Dixie Days," to commemorate the centennial observance of the Civil War. On the Friday night before, the school allowed its first "Rock and Roll" concert on campus. On Saturday, everyone was dressed in antebellum costumes including a Confederate Officer clad, President Leo W. Jenkins. Excitement mounted as the hour long parade of Civil War floats and horses went by. Suddenly, during the parade, the Theta Chi fraternity float caught fire and burned in a huge blaze, creating one of the hottest scenes in parade history. Alert students were able to put out the fire without damage and the parade sped on.

The Homecoming of 1962 was threatened by a hurricane, included a nationally known star and was the beginning of a new era for football. The festivities of 1962 included as master of ceremonies, Frank Gorshin, the comedian and actor, later know for his portrayal as the Riddler in the Batman television series. The Homecoming game was the last to be held in the old College Stadium; it being held the next year in the new James S. Ficklen Memorial Stadium. The whole event was threatened by Hurricane Ella, which luckily held off until Sunday night, after all the celebrating ended ...

The next successive Homecoming weekends were highlighted by big named entertainers such as: The Lettermen (1963); Ray Charles (1964); The Platters (1965); The Four Seasons (1966); The Happenings (1967); Paul Anka (1968); Dionne Warwick (1969); Jethro Tull (1971); and Stevie Wonder and the Beach Boys (1972).

So many years have gone by, such good times have been a part of our College life, as each one of us lived them. As all you alumni return to Greenville, may you enjoy all the fun, excitement and tradition that old East Carolina has to offer.

KEEP IT IN THE FAMILY

By Gabriel Baker

ECU SID Student Assistant

AUTHOR'S NOTE: I recently had a chance to interview the Whitaker brothers, Jeff and Orlando, both of whom are student athletes here at East Carolina University. Jeff Whitaker is a sophomore and graces the ECU basketball team while younger brother, Orlando, is a freshman on the Pirate football team.

I went into the interview expecting a lot of athletic competitiveness between the two brothers. Once in the interview, I was literally trying to drag out their competitive sides, it got to somewhat of a challenge for me and in another way it was a game. I left the interview laughing and at the same time feeling impressed at the amount of love and respect shown for each other by these two athletes, friends and brothers.

"I was the leading passer in high school football until this guy came along," admits sophomore East Carolina basketball player, Jeff Whitaker while he sheepishly looks at his younger brother, Orlando, now a member of the ECU football team.

"So you taught him everthing he knows. Right?"

"Oh no, I'm not saying that."

Sticking up for his older brother, Orlando, a freshman, added, "Jeff was a good quarterback. He helped me when I was in ninth grade."

"So you owe everything to him. Right?"

"Oh no, I'm not saying that."

Just terrific. Two minutes into my interview and I'm at a loss. Courtesy and competitiveness? In the world of men, especially brothers, these words are not supposed to mix. I came to this interview expecting a little brotherly alliance, a lot of competition and possibly a small argument between the brothers over the "facts and stats". But what do I get? The complete opposite.

When all else fails, try, try again.

"Jeff, why did you decide to come to ECU for basketball not football?"

"I didn't think I was physically built to play football; although I am now. I've been throwing those weights up. See the ripples?"

A huge grin sweeps over Jeff's face and then he falls out laughing. Orlando joins in and adds, "Jeff is a good basketball player but I'd skin him up on the court."

Jeff turns to face Orlando.

Alright, I did it! Here it comes, the "normal" brother-like reaction — a fist fight.

Once again I'm wrong. Jeff, racked with laughter, comes back; not with a hard right, but with, "You think? Let's do it live. Let people put bets out on it."

The two brothers burst out laughing ... Again.

Just then, the lightbulb inside my head clicks on. IDEA! IDEA!

Now is my chance, I'll get them while their guards are down. This next question will definitely squelch this "brotherly love act." The answer to this question is bound to ruffle some feathers, or in Jeff's case, ripple some muscle.

"Orlando, do you think you have to be tougher to play football then you do to play basketball?"

I have them right where I want them. Now it's my turn to laugh.

Orlando answers yes then looks in his brother's direction to check out his reaction or maybe it is to get prepared for the possible blows that are often passed out by older siblings when they don't agree with their younger siblings.

Ha! The bell for round one sounds.

But before the round can begin, Jeff throws in the towel. His only retaliation is, "I think that they are both very physical sports."

O.K. that's it! No more Ms. Nice Gal. Time to bring out the heavy artillery; Jealousy and Pride.

"I know the two of you had to be very competitive in high school. Did you ever feel like you had to be better or do better than the other?"

Once again, a "loaded" question. One designed to bring out the worst in anyone. A question to elicit answers that would provoke, agitate and blow their little "act" right out of the water!

But, no agitation occurred, just family love.

"I'm excited when Orlando does well. Of course, if he messed up I'd let him know that too. Let it stay in the family is what I say," confided Jeff.

"That's it. Thank you both for taking time out to talk with me."

"No problem."

"That's it? We're done?"

"Yes, that's it. I've had, I mean I've got enough."

As the two brothers get in the elevator together. I can't resist posing one last question. (You didn't think I'd give up that easily, did you?)

"Who's the best baseball player?"

The elevator doors begin to close. They both raise their hands.

Finally, a conflict. Only ONE of them can be the BEST.

Right before the elevator doors close completely, I hear Orlando yell, "He is! He is!"

Maybe Orlando was being honest ... maybe he was being modest ... or maybe big brother Jeff had him in that ever popular, brotherly position, the head-lock and Orlando was feeling the pressure of all that brotherly love.

Mission accomplished.

I knew I'd get their competitive sides to show through.

Now to get home, after talking with Jeff and Orlando, I have this urge to hit, I mean to hug my younger sister.

They All Play for the Same Team

By Jim Chiperfield

ECU SID Student Assistant

Collegiate sports. Those two words alone bring back more memories than most five syllable combinations. They also bring visions of college athletes just getting by with courses only to play some type of college ball. But I am here to enlighten Pirate fans that not all athletic programs are created equal, especially here at East Carolina.

Pam Penland, Assistant Athletic Director for Student Development, and the Student-Athlete Advisory Council will be the first to tell you what is different at East Carolina's athletic program this year.

About a year ago, ECU's Department of Athletics started the student development program with athletes and academics in mind. Penland saw the need for all college athletes to promote and enhance the student-athlete environment on campus as well as develop communications between student-athletes and the administration.

That's where the Student-Athlete Advisory Council comes in. It consists of two athletes from each collegiate team who are nominated for the council in two ways.

First, their head coach must make a recommendation on their behalf, along with the approval of the team's existing council member. Then, the nominated council member must demonstrate student interest and leadership qualities along with strong academic standing.

This year will mark the first full calendar year for the Student-Athlete Advisory Council. Penland is the council's advisor and she patterned East Carolina's council after one she is familiar with at Penn State.

"In the area of service, one of the things that we emphasize, is giving service back to the community and back to the university through the council and that is the focus we have," Penland said.

Advisory Council members promote a positive image of the student-athletes on and off campus. Examples of their service can be seen everywhere as they work with alumni, corporate sponsors and community service projects. Each team tackles a different service project and works together as a whole for the betterment of the community.

The council has even developed their own student-athlete newsletter, "The Cannon."

It lists NCAA Scholarship programs/information, academic and athletic achievements of fellow athletes, upcoming sporting events and information like study tips.

This newsletter gives all of ECU's 375 student-athletes information in a printed form, which is also a major goal of the Student-Athlete Advisory Council.

You can see that all Pirate student-athletes work on and off the field for the good of the university and community. So the next time you see a Pirate student-athlete, remember that he plays for your team too.

P^2 = Purple Pride

By Larry Smith
Director, Minority Affairs

Purple Pride, P^2, is positive self-respect that allows members of the East Carolina University community to live and work together and to celebrate our individual and collective strengths. We recognize that the strength and success of each individual contributes to the strength and success of the entire university community.

A community can be defined as either a unified body of individuals with a common interest or a group of people who live in a particular area. A university campus is a community in both respects. It is comprised of a group of individuals dedicated to the pursuit of learning who share a common space.

As a community of scholars, we are proud of East Carolina University's mission of teaching, research, and service. We are proud to support individual growth and learning. We are proud of the contributions made by members of our community.

Purple Pride is based on the equality of all members of the East Carolina University community. Equality does not mean sameness. We come from different racial, ethnic, social, and economic backgrounds. Our experience at the University is enriched by the mingling of diverse groups of people. As a result, we learn from and about each other and in the process we grow in our openness, acceptance and appreciation of the diversity found in the people and cultures of our world.

We believe there is no one cultural perspective that is superior. To believe in such superiority is to deny the rights, dignity, and humanity of others. Moreover, such a belief is inconsistent with the purpose and mission of higher education. Racism, sexism, classism, religious intolerance, and homophobia are the results of the belief in individual or group superiority.

The belief in individual or group superiority belittles the abilities and achievements of others and destroys the sense of common good and well-being of the community. This negative belief must be confronted both personally and by the University structure. If not confronted directly, it weakens the entire community. As an academic community, we must acknowledge this weakness and deal with it honestly.

Belief in and acceptance of individual or group superiority is inconsistent with Purple Pride. Purple Pride celebrates the diversity of humanity. Purple Pride encourages us to be sensitive and responsive to the needs, feelings, history, and daily experiences of community members. Purple Pride condemns all attitudes and behaviors that are the result of prejudice, stereotypes, and discrimination.

Prejudice is a preconceived judgment or opinion about a person without regard to the individual's personal qualities. Stereotypes label everyone with the same characteristics as being all alike. Discrimination is an outlook or action that treats someone differently on a basis other than individual merit. The attitudes and behaviors that are results of prejudice, stereotypes and discrimination are not acceptable at East Carolina University. Such attitudes and behavior inhibit the growth, development, and vitality of the entire community.

A strong and healthy community acknowledges prejudice, stereotypes, and discrimination and deals with them forthrightly. By recognizing the value and dignity of every community member, Purple Pride enables us to combat these problems with a positive affirmation of individual and group worth. Purple Pride respects the dignity and worth of every member of our community.

By embracing Purple Pride, we enhance our ability to create a just, tolerant, and peaceful community. The East Carolina University community, from its Board of Trustees to its proud alumni, is committed to establishing and maintaining such a community.

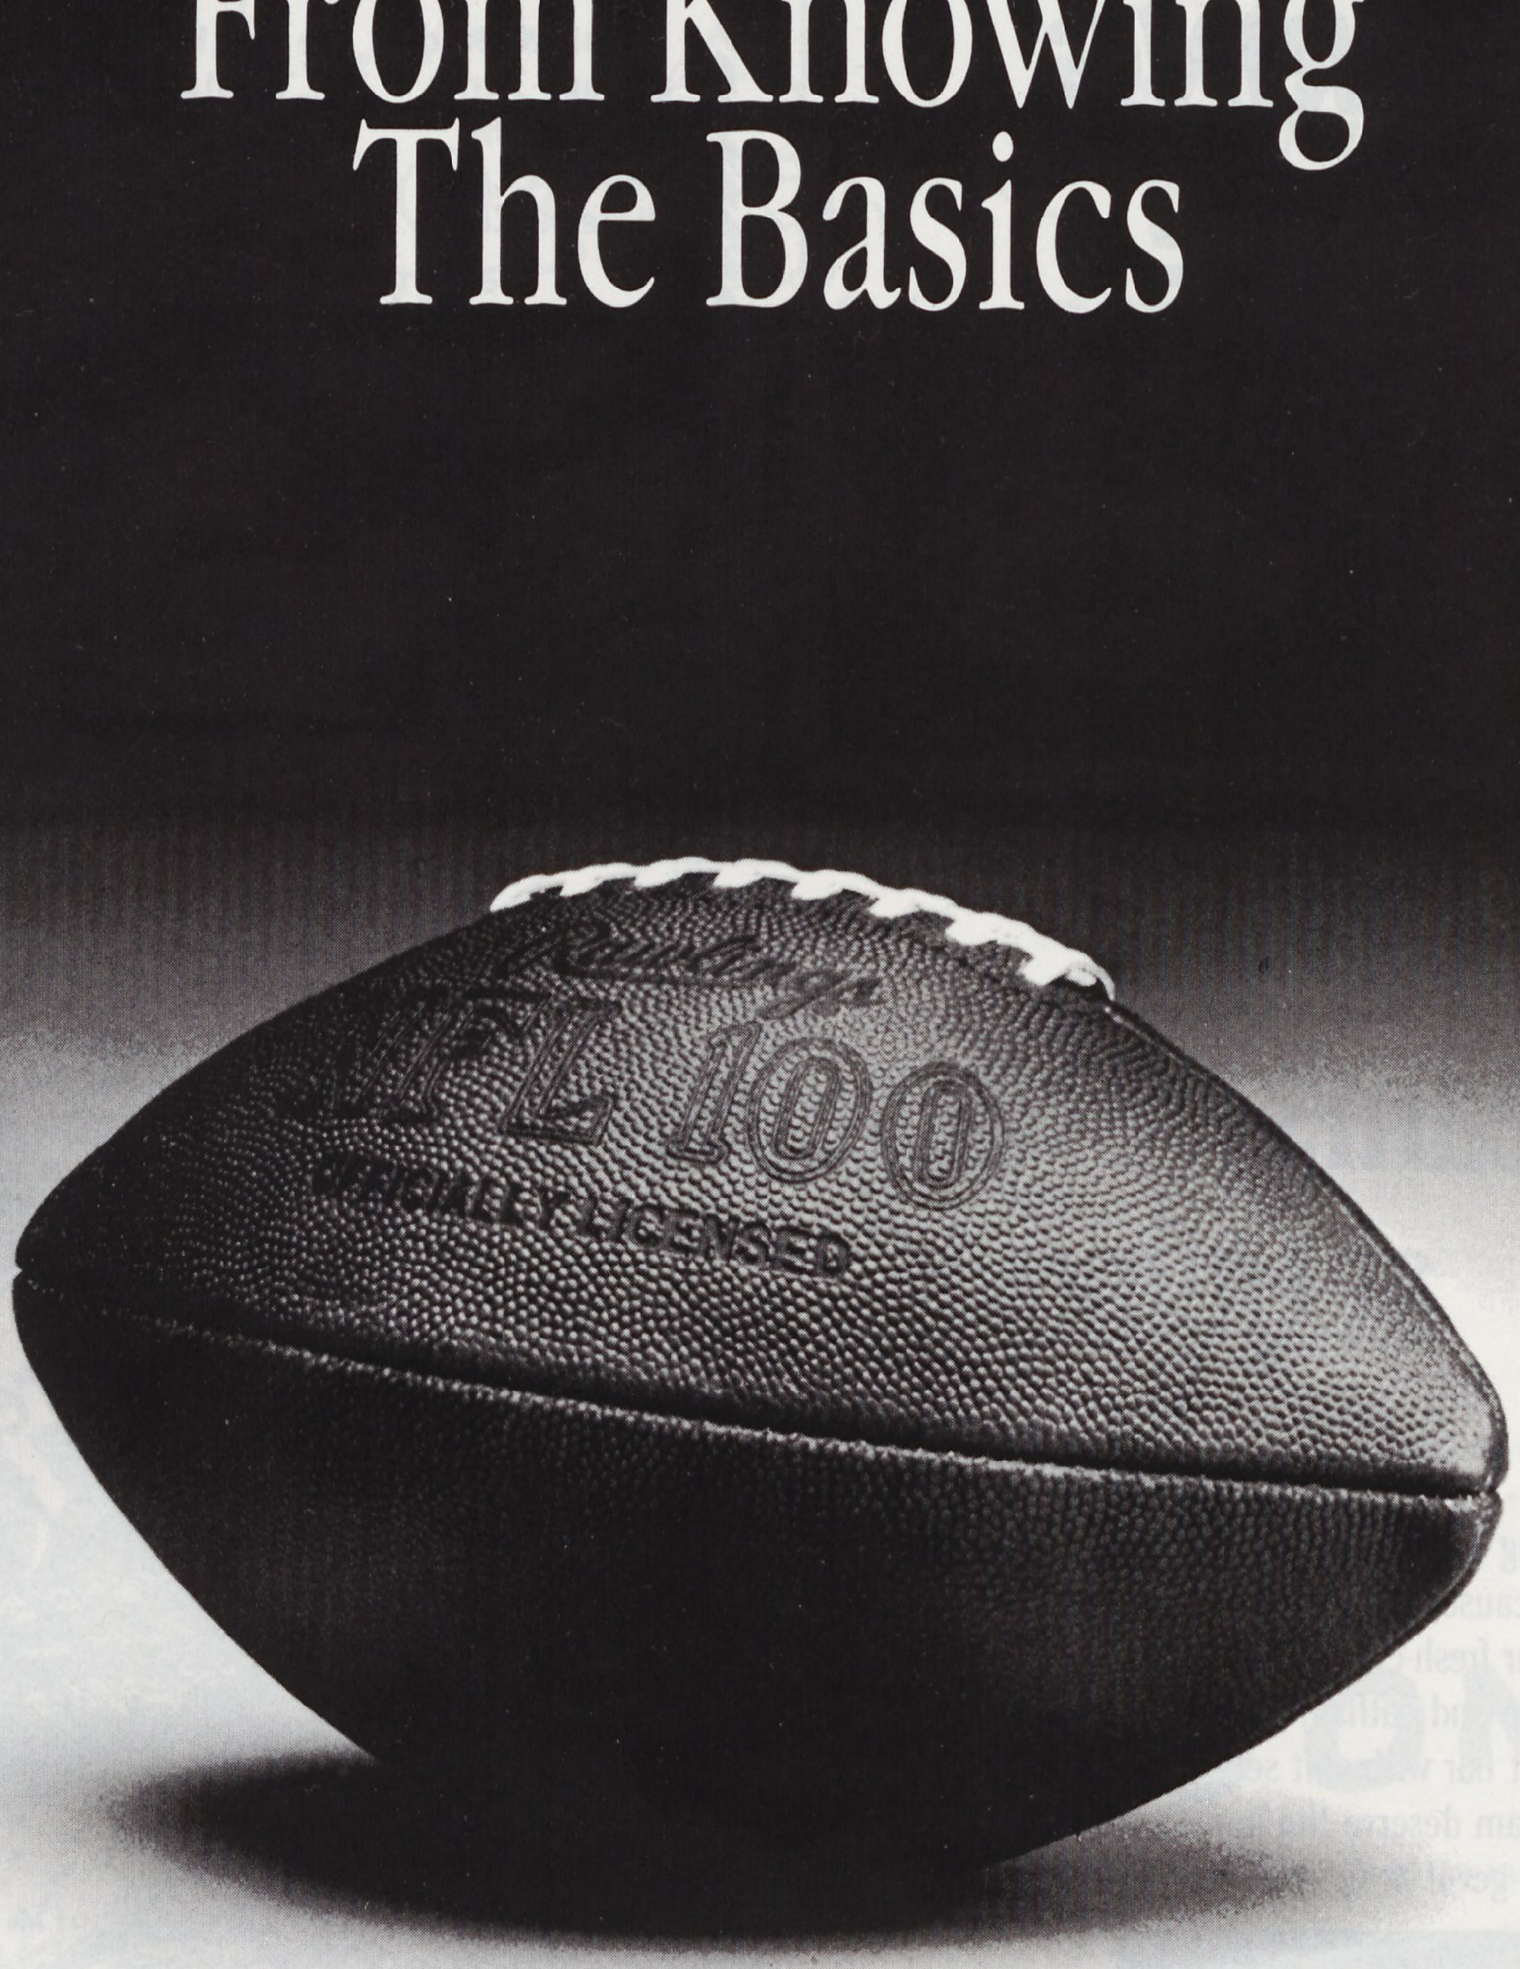

As students, faculty, and staff, we can make the most of our time together by choosing not to repeat past mistakes of our community and society. By electing to strive for the ideals embodied in Purple Pride, we are challenged to live, learn, and work together with a vision of a humane and just society. We continuously reaffirm the ideals of Purple Pride.

Purple Pride, P^2, is a way of life.

P^2 = Purple Pride. East Carolina University students put cultural, racial, ethnic and other perceived differences aside in celebration of P^2, Purple Pride, which enhances diversity and instills tolerance, acceptance and openness to diverse people, their values and lifestyles.

Ficklen Stadium

The James Skinner Ficklen Memorial Stadium was dedicated on September 21, 1963, with East Carolina defeating Wake Forest 20-10.

The dedication game was the culmination of a dream come true for then East Carolina College and all of eastern North Carolina. The original plan was announced on Oct. 7, 1961, by Dr. Leo Jenkins, Chancellor of the College, at a meeting of the Society of Buccaneers.

Within a year, $283,387 had been raised, although the goal had been only $200,000. With the funds in hand, Ficklen Stadium was built.

The original stadium consisted of the permanent stands on the south side, a small press box and the old lighting system which was removed after the 1974 season. Total cost was $300,000.

The north side permanent seating was constructed in 1968, increasing the stadium seating capacity to 20,000.

The stadium was named for the late James Skinner Ficklen, a Greenville resident, who distinguished himself as one of America's leading tobacconists. At the time of his death in 1955, Ficklen was President and Chairman of the Board of the E.B. Ficklen Tobacco Company of Greenville. He was a close friend of the College and established a financial aid foundation, the Ficklen Foundation, to aid students of the College.

The first major change in Ficklen Stadium was the lighting system, a change that occurred just before the 1975 season opened. The old inner stadium lights on six poles were removed and replaced with six towers outside the stadium. The system is a combination of metallic and incandescent lights. There are 288 fixtures of 1500 watts each on six 162-foot towers. Cost of the system was $450,000. Engineers say ECU has the best lighted stadium in the southeast.

A radical change greeted fans as the 1978 season opened. An expansion on all four corners boosted Ficklen's seating capacity from 20,000 to 35,000, the third-largest stadium in North Carolina. This expansion was made possible with 2½ million dollars through a drive in the spring of 1977.

In addition to more seats, an ultramodern press box with three levels and an elevator for access was built. The much needed press box is one of the finest in the country with space for 92 writers and an entire floor for electronic media. Also, a modern scoreboard with a lightbank message center was placed on the east end of Ficklen.

During the summer of 1983, a complete renovation took place on the playing surface. A new drainage system, a new base of gravel and sand, new treated topsoil and a new grass was installed. The new grass, Tifton 419 Hybrid Bermuda was sprigged at the rate of 600 bushels per acre.

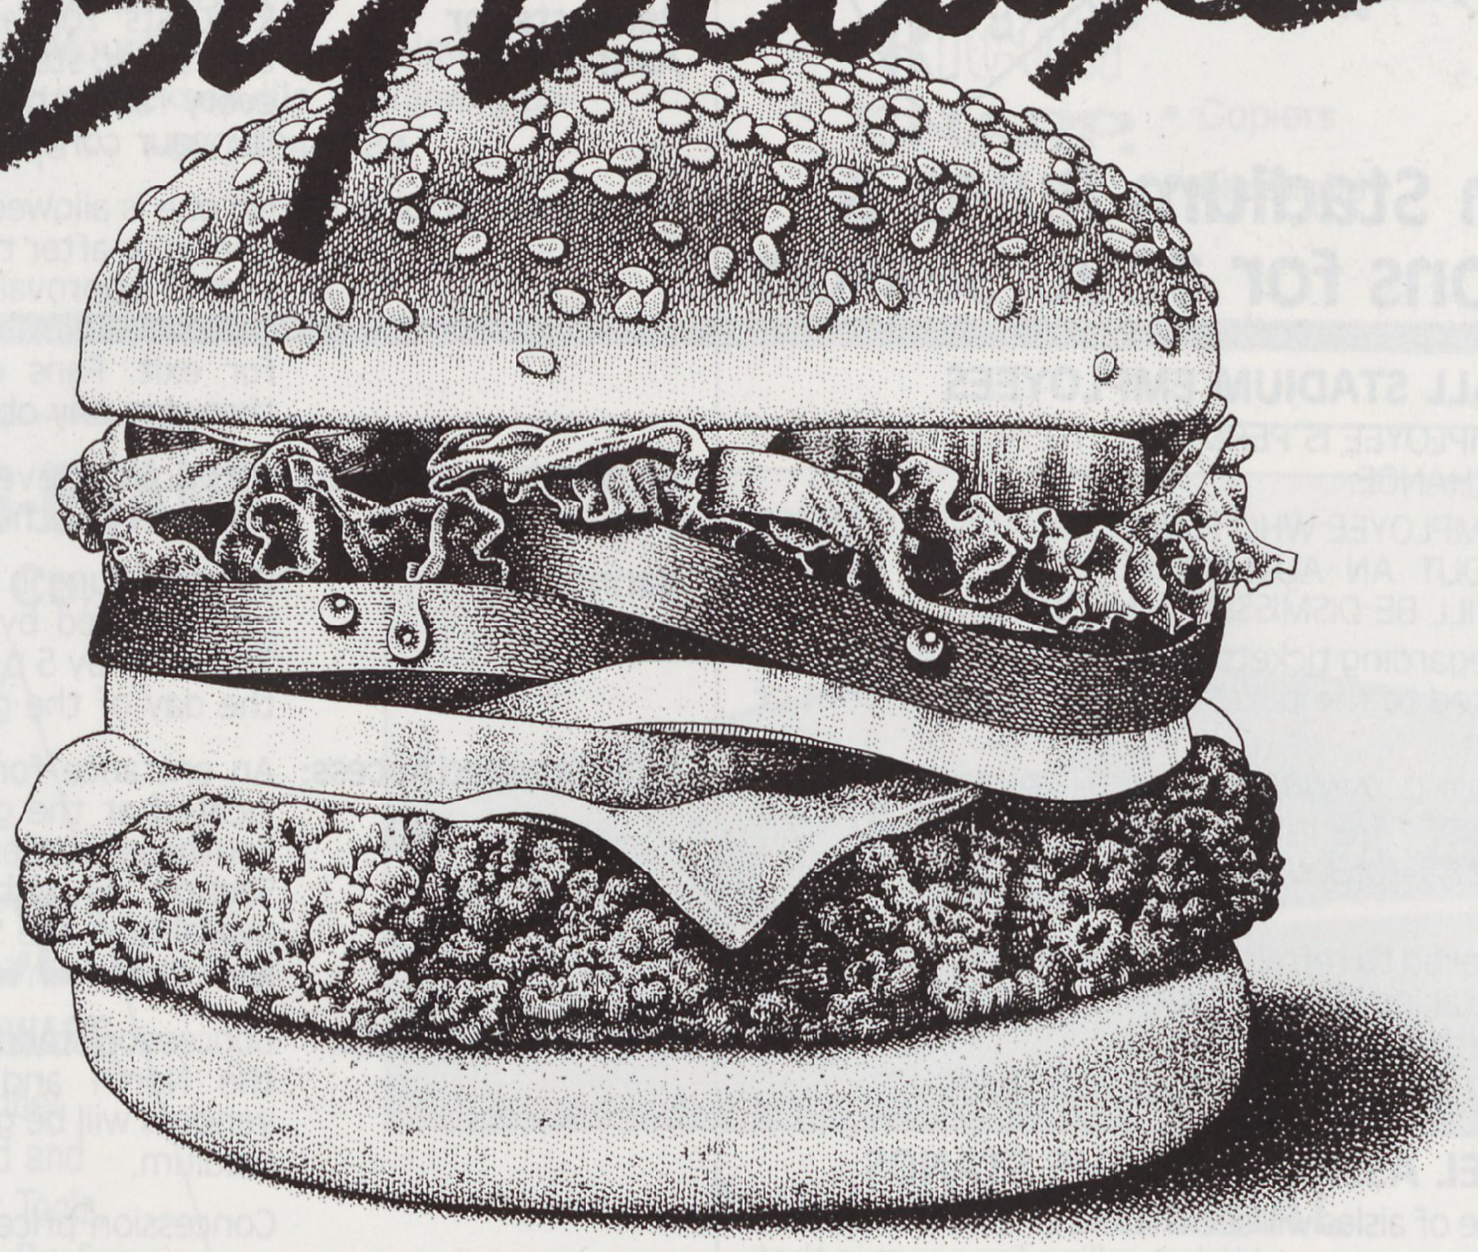

The 1988 season saw a new season attendance record in Ficklen Stadium as the Pirates drew a school-record 156,329 fans for six home games.

Pirate Sports Network

Following the Pirates

Pirate football may be heard throughout North and South Carolina as well as Virginia through the Pirate Sports Network, owned and operated fully by the East Carolina University athletic department.

All activities of the Pirate Sports Network are coordinated, produced and directed by Jeff Charles, Director of Electronic Media/ Promotions at East Carolina.

Handling color commentary on the Pirate Sports Network is Director of Administrative Services, Carlester Crumpler.

Engineer for the broadcasts is Macon Dail, sideline reporter is Tom Doyle, Chip Rutan handles the spotting and Steve Gowan is a producer-interview host. WCZI-FM (98.3) serves as the network's flagship station for the second straight year.

The 1990 season will mark the fourth year of a multi-year agreement with Capitol Radio Network to distribute the network via satellite. Capitol Radio Networks is a part of the Capitol Broadcasting Company of Raleigh, N.C., and the network provides news and sports programming for more than 150 radio stations throughout North Carolina and Virginia.

The network will have approximately 45 stations this year, the largest number in school history. In addition to the game broadcasts, a weekly coaches' show will be aired on Sundays between 6-7 p.m. The show can be heard on 100,000-watt WDLX-FM (93.3) as well as selected PSN affiliates. Also, a pre-game tailgate show and daily short segments on stations throughout the state of North Carolina.

Charles begins his third year as "Voice" of the Pirates. He came to ECU from Virginia Tech, where he served as "Voice of the Hokies" and Director of Radio/Television Affairs for five years.

Before going to Virginia Tech, the veteran sportscaster worked at WGVL Radio in Greenville, S.C., where he hosted sports shows and served as "Voice of the Furman Paladins."

The Piqua, Ohio, native previously had been sports director at WSB Radio in Atlanta, Ga., where he handled play-by-play duties for the Peach Bowl and did a nightly sports talk show on the 50,000-watt clear channel station.

The Georgia Associated Press named him the state's best play-by-play announcer and United Press International awarded him first place for the best sports coverage in the state.

Charles also worked for WITY Radio in Danville, Ill., WKAM Radio in Goshen, Ind. and WPTW, a cable television station in Piqua, Ohio. When he was at WITY, he handled play-by-play duties for the University of Illinois football and basketball teams.

He graduated from the Career Academy Broadcasting School of Columbus, Ohio, in 1971 and received a degree in speech communications from Goshen College in Indiana in 1975.

Charles and his wife, Debby, have two children, Heather (17) and Britt (15).

Anheuser-Busch returns for its 14th consecutive year as the primary network sponsor.

1990 PSN Staff: Jeff Charles, Tom Doyle, Carlester Crumpler and Steve Gowan.

The Humble Beginnings Of A $2.1 Billion Crop.

Tobacco provides American farmers with an income of over $2.1 billion a year. It's one of the United States' most valuable money crops.

As a major supplier of U.S. leaf to world markets, A.C. Monk is a vital link between the people who grow the tobacco and the people who buy it.

And we've always tried to work in the best overall interests of both.

But we're especially proud of our working relationship with U.S. growers.

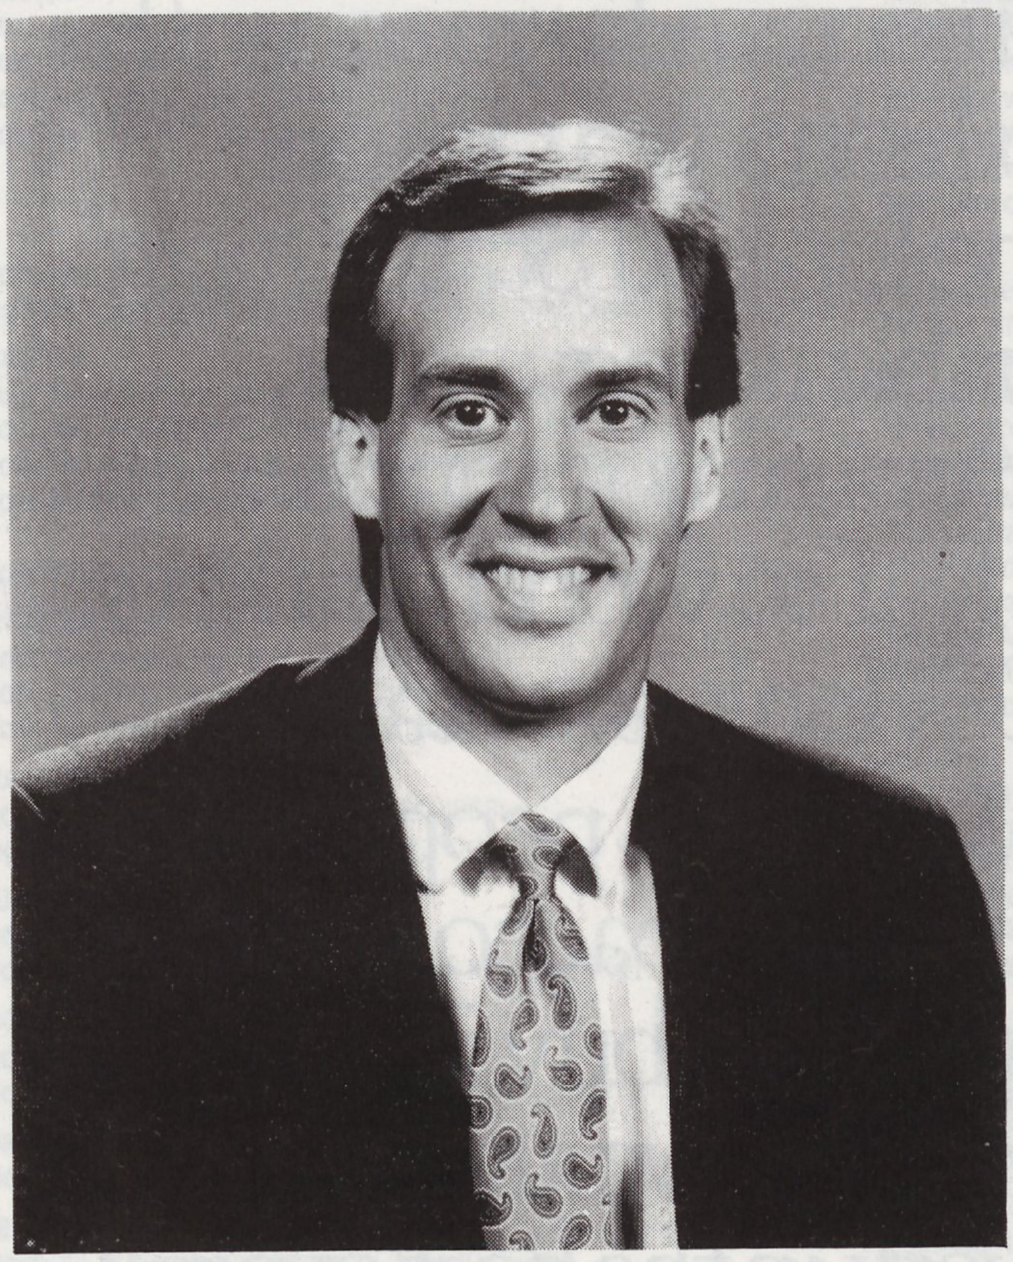

The people who work the tobacco crops, from seedlings all the way to market.

They're the people who keep the tobacco industry going. And we never forget it. MONK

Jones Gets An Early Start In NFL

By John Bianco
UC Assistant SID

At some point in their career, most collegians dream of one day becoming a professional athlete. But unlike his counterparts, UC punter Jeff Jones has already kicked with a National Football League franchise.

Jones has spent endless hours at the Cleveland Browns' preseason training camp in Lakeland, Ohio, for the past two years grasping every bit of advice he could get from Browns' veteran special team coach Paul Lanham and punter Bryan Wagner.

"I was a security guard at the Browns' training camp for the past two summers," the Bearcats' senior punter said. "My boss was a great guy. He would always say, 'Go over there with the kickers and learn something.'"

A Browns fan all of his life, Jones has always fantasized of earning a spot in the NFL and due to his physical size restraints chose to set his sights on kicking.

"I always wanted to play football, but I knew my body wasn't made to play most of the positions," Jones recalled. "When I was about five years old, I can remember going out and kicking the ball around when everyone else was throwing it."

From that point on, Jones was committed to becoming a good kicker. He would study kicking techniques, watch films, and practice . . . anytime and anywhere.

"I used to shovel a path on the grass after snow storms," the native of the Northeast Ohio "snow belt" explained. "I remember shoveling as much as four or five inches of snow to make a path. I was willing to do whatever it took to become a good kicker."

That desire helped Jones develop into a place kicking/punting star at Berea High School (a suburb of Cleveland), where he earned All-Ohio honorable mention honors as a senior. That year "Jonesee" hit three field goals to help Berea to a 15-9 triple overtime win in the state playoffs, a game he still refers to as his greatest football thrill.

On the advice of former UC punting star Shaun Burdick, Jones chose to continue his career at Cincinnati. His hard work ethic and constant desire to improve have helped him become a fundamentally sound punter and boost his punting average every season, including his current mark of 40.0 yards per punt.

"Mechanically, Jeff is one of the best punters I've ever worked with," says second-year Bearcat head coach Tim Murphy. "He works as hard at it as any kid I've been around."

That drive to excel prompted Jones to make an adjustment this spring which may have been the most important move of his career.

Jeff Jones has landed four punts inside the opponent's six-yard line this season.

Jones went from a three-step to a two-step approach, allowing him to get the ball off quicker.

"Coach Murphy has always wanted me to become a two-step kicker, but I didn't have enough time to change before last season. I spent two-to-three hours a day this summer working on it, and it has made a difference."

Jones had plenty of teachers to help him learn the new technique. Bearcat assistant John Harbaugh spent much of the spring working with Jones while Browns' kicker Wagner and Coach Lanham spent the summer working with the UC booter.

As exemplified by his four punts spotted inside the opponents' six-yard line and long of 58 years this year, the new approach has made Jones a more consistent and explosive punter.

"I can't imagine kicking off of three steps now, it feels awkward to me," Jones explained.

The senior says his job is made easier with the support of four-year teammate and long snapper Mick Schell. Jones and Schell have been a tandem since the UC punter's very first kick in the season opener against Rutgers in 1987.

"We were backed into the endzone and Mick hit me with a perfect snap and I got off a 47-yarder," Jones recalled. "Ever since then Mick and I have been a team. I don't know how he does it. I tell him where I want the snap and it's there every time."

Jones and Schell have evolved their techniques to a science. In three games, the tandem has yet to have a punt blocked or even a snap bobbled. As a matter of fact, in 25 punts the duo has been virtually flawless.

The three-time Metro Conference Commissioner's list honoree (3.0 grade point or better) has been just as successful in the classroom as on the football field. He is on schedule to graduate this spring with a degree in criminal justice.

Despite his busy schedule, the four-year starter is no stranger to having a little fun, as many of his teammates would testify after a stunt Jones pulled on opening day of preseason drills this year.

To the amazement of the staff and players, he and his kicking teammates Chad Volland and David Rowe showed up in a chauffeured limousine.

"Shaun (Burdick) did that his senior year and I told him I was going to maintain the tradition," Jones said.

For now, Jones hopes to continue his banner senior season. And, if all goes well, he aspires to continue his professional football career next season . . . but, strictly as a full-time punter this time around.

These lists are of contributors making their contribution before June 25, 1990.

The East Carolina University Athletic Department would like to extend its appreciation to Carolina Telephone and Telegraph for its support of the incentive program to encourage continued academic excellence by ECU's student/athletes.

All ECU student/athletes receiving academic honors (honor roll, Dean's list or Chancellor's list) during the year will receive a t-shirt with the custom designed logo "Academics, Athletics, Partners in Excellence."

CT&T is also the sponsor of the CT&T scholarship awarded at each home football game for outstanding achievement in academics and contribution by an ECU team member to the Pirate football program.

The incentive program was initiated by the ECU Student/Athlete Advisory Council, an advisory organization for the office of Student Development and the Department of Athletics.

The Council is comprised of two members from each inter-collegiate athletic squad and junior Keith Arnold and redshirt-freshman Derrick Pasley are representatives from the 1990 football squad.

ECU Sports Medicine

The East Carolina University sports medicine division and curriculum, reputed to be one of the finest in the Southeast, affords every Pirate athlete the best available care and treatment of injuries.

Headed by ECU's sports medicine director Rod Compton, who is a Certified Athletic Trainer and a member of the National Athletic Trainers Association (NATA), and the American Orthopedic Society for Sports Medicine, the East Carolina sports medicine program offers the best possible prevention, immediate treatment, and rehabilitation of injuries.

Compton, who earned degrees from Ohio University and Bowling Green State and served as Editor-in-Chief of the NATA Journal for six-and-one-half years, is also the director of the ECU Sports Medicine Conference, which is held annually in April on the East Carolina campus.

Compton (entering his 21st season) is assisted by team physician Dr. James McCallum, and NATA Certified Athletic Trainers Karen Baker and Mike Hanley. All serve on the staff of the Sports Medicine Conference and as faculty for the Sports Medicine Curriculum within the Department of Health and Human Performance.

They are assisted by more than a dozen fine community-based professionals who lend valuable time to the program and 30 to 35 undergraduate students majoring in East Carolina University's sports medicine curriculum.

The Sports Medicine Division has been in operation since 1971. The new Sports Medicine Center, located in the Sports Medicine Building, is equipped with all new state-of-the-art equipment, and will be better able to provide services to student athletic trainers and student-athletes.

The "Sports Paramedics," as Compton refers to his staff, are in attendance at every athletic event that involves East Carolina University athletes. Radio communication from practice field to the center is a must and a sports medicine vehicle provides instant transportation for injured athletes to the center. Prevention, evaluation, treatment, and rehabilitation are the main objectives of the Sports Medicine Division and when an injury does occur, Compton and his staff provide on-the-spot treatment to make certain the injury does not become more serious.

The Sports Medicine Curriculum, a part of the Department of Health and Human Performance at East Carolina, is the only undergraduate athletic training program approved by the NATA in eastern North Carolina and one of only two in the state.

Dedication, sincere sensitivity, and individual attention are the basic motivators which distinguish East Carolina University's "Sports Paramedics" from any others. People helping people in a first-class setting. That's East Carolina Sports Medicine!

ECU Athletic Hall of Fame

The East Carolina Athletic Hall of Fame was initiated in 1974 as an organization to honor those individuals who have, by direct participation in East Carolina University intercollegiate athletics, brought outstanding recognition to themselves and to the University.

The first honorees were inducted during Homecoming festivities at halftime of the East Carolina-The Citadel football game in 1974. Ten members were selected for the first year. Five years passed between Lawrence "Cotton" Clayton and the induction of the 1989 class. This year, ECU honors Ronnie Barnes, Dr. Ray Minges and Rosie Thompson as its inductees.

To be selected, a committee of nine persons must vote with two-thirds of those giving their approval. Those five shall be the official selection committee. To be eligible for selection, a person must not have been connected with the University in the capacity to which the nominee is being elected for a minimum of ten academic years.

'Men of Steele' Take on Challenging Schedule

East Carolina basketball coach Mike Steele likes to talk about how much his squad improved during last season.

With five starters returning from that squad, Steele should see even more development.

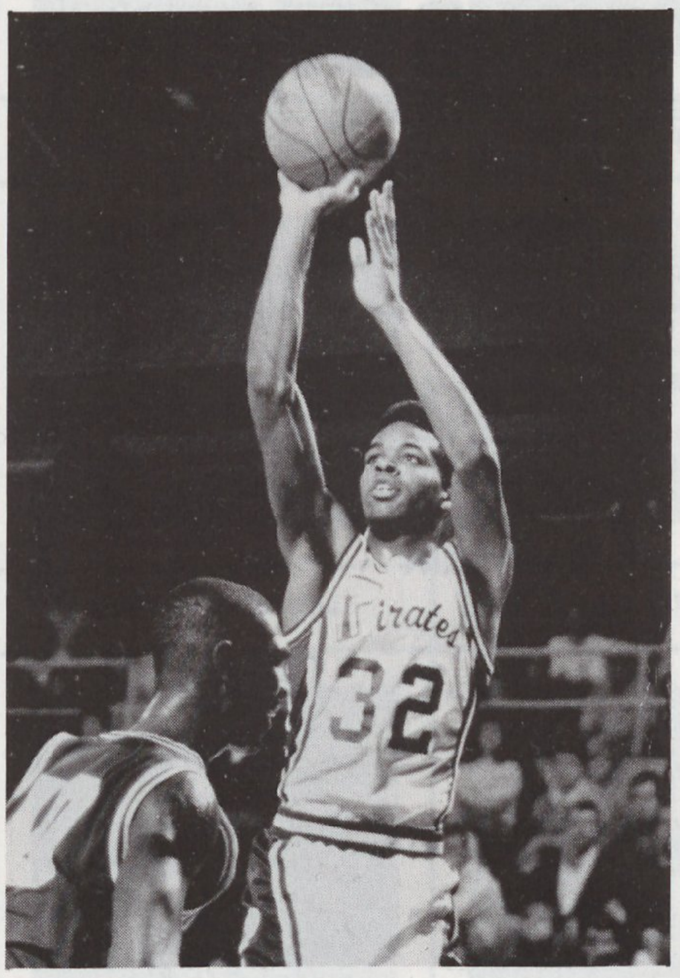

Among the starters returning are seniors Tim Brown, Stanley Love and Jeffrey Whitaker and sophomores Paul Childress and Ike Copeland.

Also a strong bench of sophomore Steve Richardson, senior Darrell Overton and juniors Robin House, Casey Mote and Jeff Perlich should see more action.

Last season, the Pirates finished 13-18 overall, but had big victories over UNC Wilmington, breaking a 10-game losing streak to the Seahawks, NCAA-bound Richmond and American. Many times last season, ECU used a starting lineup of four first-year players.

Two of those rookie performers, Steve Richardson and Ike Copeland, were named to the Colonial Athletic Association All-Freshman squad. Richardson, a 6-3 guard from Terre Haute, Ind., averaged 8.5 points, 1.5 rebounds and one assist per game. He broke all of ECU's three-point field goal records, including hitting eight against Navy.

Copeland, a 6-8 center from Rocky Mount, N.C., averaged 8.9 points and 6.3 rebounds per game. He finished the season tied for the team lead in rebounding with Tim Brown. He led the Pirates in rebounding 13 times and was also ECU's best field goal shooter, hitting 49.8 percent.

Brown was another one of those first-year players. However, he came to ECU with two years of basketball experience from Louisburg Junior College. The 6-7 forward from Raleigh averaged 9.7 points and 6.3 rebounds per game. He also led the team with 36 steals. In one game against James Madison, Brown scored 13 points and had 14 rebounds—a team high last season.

Stanley Love returns for his senior season at ECU. The 6-5 forward from Decatur, Ala., averaged 5.5 points and 3.9 rebounds per game last season. However, he is known for his defensive ability and his three-pointer with no time left in regulation against Richmond at Minges Coliseum that sent the game into overtime, where ECU won it, 81-78.

Jeffrey Whitaker, a 6-2 guard from Battleboro, N.C., started 14 games at point guard last season and adds a shooting touch to that position. He averaged 5.1 points, 2.1 rebounds and 3.9 assists per game last season.

Darrell Overton, a 6-6 center/forward from Edenton, N.C., started just two games but was a big contributor underneath the basket. He averaged 3.8 points and 3.9 rebounds last season and led the Pirates in blocked shots with 21.

Paul Childress, a 5-10 sophomore from Misenheimer, N.C., also returns to battle with Whitaker at the point guard spot. Childress started 18 games there last year and averaged two points, 1.6 rebounds and 3.5 assists per game.

Robin House, a 6-1 guard from Greenville, Casey Mote, a 6-7 center from Demorest, Ga. and Jeff Perlich, a 6-2 guard from Churubusco, Ind., return to give ECU more depth.

Steele and Co. had a fine recruiting year, bringing in four new players for the 1990-91 season.

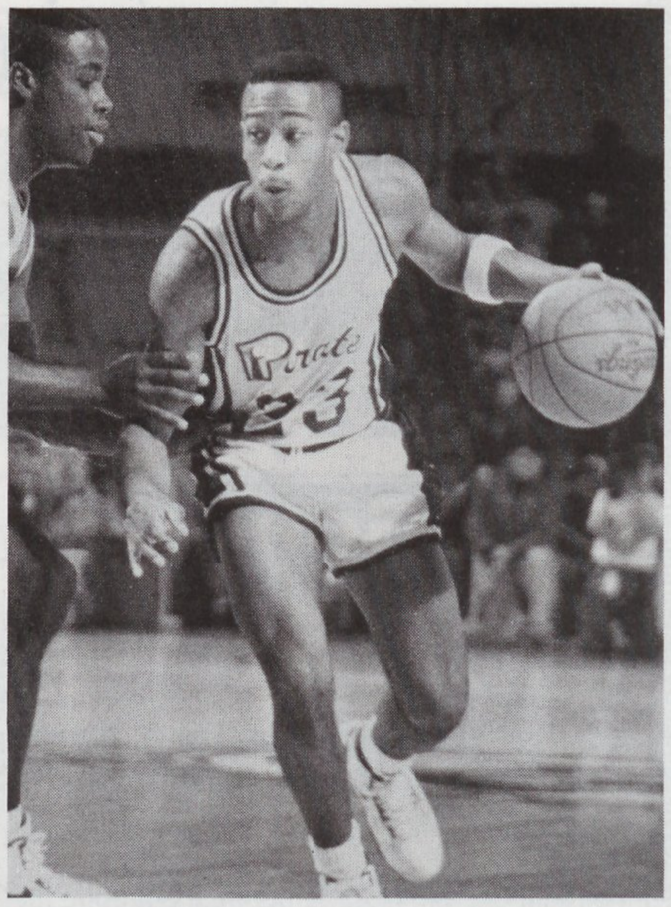

Kevin Armstrong, a 6-5 forward from Gastonia, N.C.'s Hunter Huss High School, averaged 15.6 points and 12.1 rebounds per game last season in helping lead his school to a second-place finish in Western North Carolina AAAA.

Joe Brightwell, a 6-7½ center/forward from Bronx, N.Y., comes to ECU with big numbers. Last season at Springfield (Mass.) Technical Community College, he averaged 28 points and 16.6 rebounds per game. He also shot 69.2 percent from the floor.

Anton Gill, a 6-6 forward from Raleigh, averaged 26.5 points and 12.6 rebounds per game for Millbrook High School. He was a first-team All-AAAA East pick as a senior and was named the Wake County AAAA Player of the Year.

Lester Lyons, a 6-2 guard from Windsor's Bertie Senior High, averaged 26.3 points and four rebounds per game last season. He led the Colonial Conference in scoring and was a first-team All-AAA East pick.

The Pirates, again, face a challenging schedule, which includes James Madison, an NIT team from last year, and Richmond, an NCAA team from last season.

Steve Richardson provides the 'Men of Steele' with a constant three-point threat.

ECU Lady Pirate Basketball

Lady Pirates Count on Experience in '90-'91

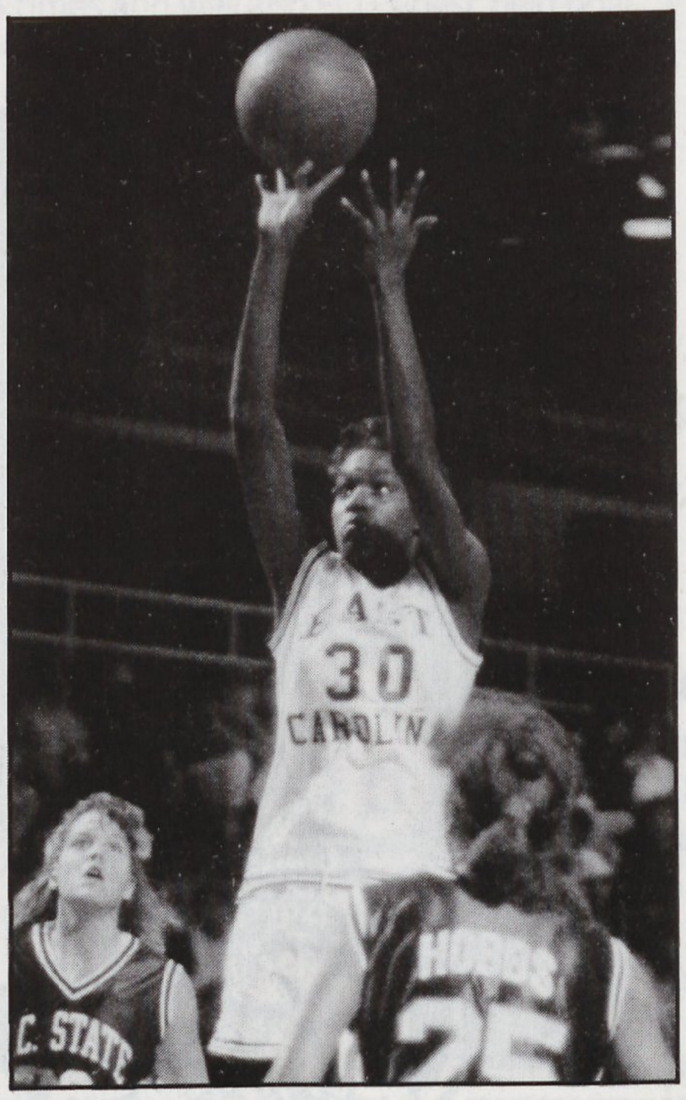

East Carolina head coach Pat Pierson feels pretty good about her 1990-91 Lady Pirates. ECU lost only one starter, returns two first team All-Conference players, and brings in two recruits 6-0 or taller.

Pierson, in her fourth season with the Lady Pirates, finished last season with an 18-10 record and tied for second place in the Colonial Athletic Association. Her teams have shown a steady improvement since coming to ECU in 1987-88. Her first season, ECU finished 8-20. Her second season, the Lady Pirates improved to 15-13 and a third place CAA finish. Last season's 18-10 record/second place CAA finish let ECU fans know that Lady Pirate basketball was once again headed to the top of the CAA.

"This season will be challenging, as always, but I feel we can have a really great season," Pierson said. "We are working in a very comfortable environment. Rosie (Thompson) and I have been working together going on four years and we know the players very well and they know us. Our system is beginning to work really well and show results."

One noticeable void to this season's team is the loss of Irish Hamilton, a four-year starting guard for the Lady Pirates. Hamilton made her presence known last season as she earned CAA All-Defense honors, worked her way to the top of career assists and steals and added a scoring boost of 9.1 points a game.

Two of the brightest spots to this season's team are the return of senior Sarah Gray and junior Tonya Hargrove. Both first-team All-CAA selections in 1989-90, Gray and Hargrove paced the Lady Pirates, as well as the CAA, in scoring and rebounding.

Two-time ECU MVP Sarah Gray looks to lead the Lady Pirates and the CAA this season.

Gray (6-0, Sr., Washington, NC) led ECU in scoring and rebounding for the second straight year. Averaging 17.1 points a game, Gray was the third leading scorer in the CAA. Pulling down 9.2 rebounds a game, she held down second place in the CAA. A two-time ECU MVP with a nagging knee injury, Gray looks to make her senior season her best yet.

"Sarah has big goals for herself this season," Pierson said. "She knows she has the motions down, so she is working on her mental toughness and concentration that will give her an extra edge."

Hargrove (5-9, Jr., Raleigh, NC) exploded on the court last season, leading the Pirates in the early season after a Gray injury. Hargrove earned CAA Player of the Week honors twice, and was selected as the MVP of the Lady Pirate Classic. Averaging 15.1 points a game, Hargrove was sixth in the conference in scoring while finishing fourth in field goal accuracy, shooting over 52 percent.

Hargrove, who plays more like she's six-feet tall according to Pierson, was in the top-ten of CAA rebounding, averaging 7.1 rebounds a game.

Sophomore Gaynor O'Donnell (5-6, So., Liverpool, England), who earned CAA All-Rookie honors last season, will return to the point guard position for ECU. O'Donnell started in every game last season and was quick to become a leader on the court. She averaged 5.9 assists a game, finishing the season with 160 assists.

Always looking to make things happen on the court, O'Donnell should come into the 1990-91 season very confident and more experienced according to Pierson. O'Donnell is playing with her England National team this summer for the second straight year. This, combined with off-season work on her outside shooting, should make her an even bigger threat at the perimeter.

Four seniors, plus Gray, give the Lady Pirates one of the most experienced teams in the league.

Forward Kim Dupree (6-1, Sr., Greenville, NC) was a key reserve for the Lady Pirates last season. A team player who looks to contribute in any way, Dupree will be looked to for experience this year.

Center Sandra Grace (6-2, Sr., High Point, NC) ended the '89-'90 season on a strong note, improving her offensive game. If Grace plays consistently this season, it will give the Lady Pirates a key advantage on their inside game.

Forward Michelle Marsh (6-0, Sr., Greenback, TN) may be seeing more time on the perimeter this year, as she is improving on her outside shot. With a step up on defensive intensity, Marsh will give ECU added strength on both ends of the court.

ECU suffered a loss in the semi-finals of the CAA tournament as starter, forward Kenneya Wilson (5-8, Sr., Kingston, TN) went down with a knee injury. After surgery, Wilson's rehabilitation is coming along but her status for the '90-'91 season is unknown. Last season, Wilson started in 27 games, averaging 7.2 points a game. A consistent defensive threat, Wilson's condition will be evaluated in pre-season.

Three juniors continue to boost ECU's level of experience this season. Challenging for starting roles are guards Mechelle Jones and Toina Coley.

Jones (5-5, Jr., Colonial Heights, VA) played in every game last season. A defense oriented player, Jones' quickness was a key spark on several occasions for the Lady Pirates.

Coley (5-7, Jr., Goldsboro, NC) showed much all-around improvement last season. Averaging four points a game and 3.5 rebounds, Coley also became one of the top defensive players in the conference, finishing the season with 49 steals.

Kathy Addison (5-11, Jr., Fayetteville, NC) and Toni Thurman (5-11, So., Hallsboro, NC) both saw playing time last season and will give ECU depth at the forward positions. Both have the ability to be an outside threat with improved perimeter shooting.

Height was the key in this season's recruiting class. The Lady Pirates bring in Janet Rodgerson (6-2, Fr., Bear Brass, NC) and Connie Small (6-0, Jr., Durham, NC). Small, who is a proven outside shooter, having earned two years experience at Peace College, will make an immediate impact for ECU while Rodgerson will be looking to make the transition into a Division I program.

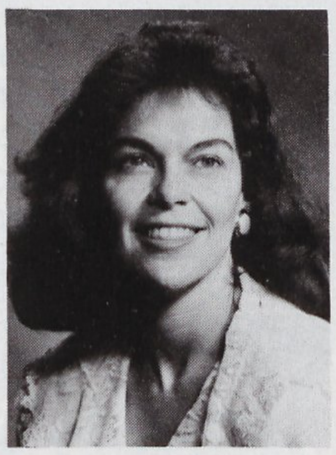

The Lady Pirates' schedule for this season will be a challenge, especially in conference play. Every CAA team returns experience, with very few losses for their line-ups. Additions to the '90-'91 schedule are Northwestern State and Nicholls State, which ECU will visit in Louisiana during December. Southeast Conference member, Florida, will come to Greenville in January for only the third meeting with ECU and for the second straight year, ECU and North Carolina State continue in-state play, with the Lady Pirates traveling to Raleigh in late February.

CT&T Scholarship

Chad Grier

Today, East Carolina honors Chad Grier as its CT&T scholarship winner for his outstanding achievements in academics and contribution to the Pirate football program.

Grier, a senior quarterback, is from Charlotte, NC, and is majoring in Communications with his concentration in Journalism.

The award, a full $3,500 athletic scholarship, is given in his name by Carolina Telephone and Telegraph and has been awarded to a player at each home game since 1984. This season marks the fourth season that CT&T and its president, Wayne Peterson, have contributed the full scholarship for each home game, and it is a donation that ECU officials greatly appreciate.

"As the Pirate Club strives to expand its funding base in order to fully fund athletic scholarships and meet future goals for growth, a gesture like this one by Wayne Peterson and CT&T stands out as an illustration of corporate commitment to excellence with regard to our program," said Charlie Carr, ECU's associate director of athletics and executive director of the Pirate Club.

R.W. Moore Scholarship

Robert Jones

The "King of the Gridiron" scholarship is presented each home football game to the outstanding East Carolina University football player for that particular game as voted on by the media in attendance.

Junior All-America candidate Robert Jones earned the "King of the Gridiron" award against Southern Mississippi. Against the Golden Eagles, Jones, an inside linebacker, recorded 21 tackles, 14 solos, recovered one fumble and returned an interception for 27 yards.

Mr. R.W. Moore of Raleigh, president of R.W. Moore Equipment Company, initiated the scholarship in 1977. This season marks the 14th consecutive year for the presentations.

The scholarship carries a $1,000 value and is presented in the name of the winning player to the ECU Educational Foundation (Pirate Club). The money is then contributed to the general athletic scholarship fund.

East Carolina University extends its appreciation to Mr. Moore for this outstanding service to the University and the athletic department.

CHAD GRIER: On The "Person"-al Side

By Gabriel Baker
ECU SID Student Assistant

East Carolina senior, Chad Grier knows the value and importance of teamwork and as of late he has been interviewed, quoted and re-interviewed on the subject of teamwork. As understudy to first string quarterback, Jeff Blake, Grier has learned and, along the way, showed teammates how to be a team player.

Unfortunately, an important side of Chad Grier has not been interviewed, quoted and re-interviewed—the personal side. There is much more to Grier than just the quarterback side. Grier has taken his knowledge and belief in teamwork and shared it with a variety of people in a variety of areas. Chad Grier is a team player, but not just on the football field.

This past summer, Grier worked as an intern in the ECU Sports Information office.

"I worked there to find out about sports information and public relations because I'm interested in those fields," said Grier."I was basically an 'assignment man'."

Grier's ability to be a part of a team helped him a great deal while he was working in sports information.

"Charles [Charles Bloom, ECU Sports Information Director] helped me a lot. He showed me how important cooperation and responsibility are in producing quality."

Bloom said of Grier, "Chad is the epitome of the student-athlete. He works hard in the classroom and on the field. Chad will be a success in whatever he does."

Grier is not selfish with this knowledge of teamwork. Even with all his other responsibilities, he makes time to coach basketball at Elm St. Gym in Greenville.

"There are usually two to four games a week," said Grier. This is not only on the weekends. "I give about four nights a week to my teams," continued Grier.

His teams range from eighth graders to high school students. Not only do these kids get technique and strategy from Grier, they are taught about the importance of working together as a team by a man who practices what he preaches.

"I get a lot of enjoyment from coaching," admitted Grier, whose coaching is on a volunteer basis. "Because of NCAA rules, I can't get paid but that's O.K., I just enjoy doing it."

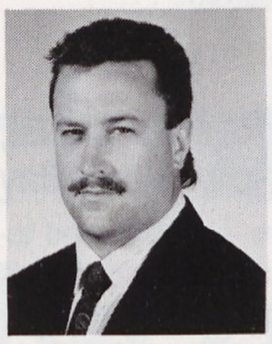

Grier's ability to see and do what is best for the team has made him a much respected coach and person.

Grier's abilities and achievements have not gone unnoticed. Last year he was runner-up for the Texasgulf Scholar-Athlete Award. Fittingly, his last year here, Chad Grier made it to the "first string," today the CT&T scholarship will be presented in his name. This scholarship honors Grier's academic and athletic abilities.

Chad Grier is not only passing the "BIG TEAM, little me" message on to his teammates. By working in other fields, such as sports information, Grier is showing—not just telling—others the benefits of cooperation. Still greater is his contribution to our future. By coaching young athletes, Grier is impressing upon them his skills at being a team player and that might be just what this world needs, a few more team players like East Carolina's Chad Grier.

WALT HAMMETT: Getting The Most Out Of Life

By Lisa Spiridopoulos
ECU SID Student Assistant

"You get out of life what you put into it," is a familiar saying that is known to everyone, but for offensive guard Walt Hammett, it is a philosophy that he stands by in football and in life, and it's one that he feels has made a difference in everything he has done.

Hammett, now a senior at East Carolina has played sparingly in his stint as a Pirate, but is satisfied with the two years spent at ECU.

"I've been pleased with my time at ECU, and I've worked really hard to improve," said Hammett. "I never thought I'd get a Division I scholarship but then it turns out I get to play against some of the best players in the country."

Hammett came to the Pirates after spending two seasons playing at Wenatchee Valley Junior College In Wenatchee, Washington. There he earned honorable mention honors his first year and second team all-league as a sophomore.

"I was drawn to North Carolina by my mom, who basically recruited me. I had thought I was going to UNC or NC State, and I ended up getting a scholarship from ECU first. It was a tough adjustment coming out here," he said.

Hammett, who grew up in Yakima, Washington, played football, basketball and track in high school, but never thought of himself as a good athlete or Division I material.

"I've always considered myself a hard worker, I never thought I was a good athlete. I was a lot smaller in high school, but I've worked very hard to get to where I am today," he said.

Hammett remembers the 1989 loss to Syracuse as being the most memorable at ECU. "It was definitely the most emotional game," he said. "We played so hard only to lose it."

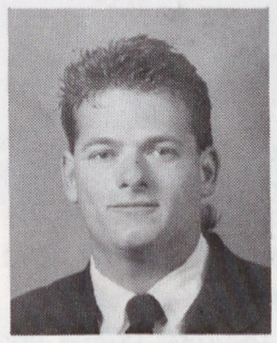

Besides playing football Hammett loves to hunt and fish, and twice a year he is able to visit his old home in Yakima.

He plans to graduate in May with a major in communications and minor in merchandising. He hopes to go to graduate school and earn his masters in advertising.

Hammett will continue working hard on and off the field to "get the most out of life and have fun while contributing."

ROBB IMPERATO: ECU's "On-the-Spot" Performer

By Jim Chiperfield
ECU SID Student Assistant

Being a place kicker is a position that requires a player to be able to handle on-the-spot pressure. Senior Robb Imperato has filled that position very well since 1988.

With a personal best of 45 yards, he is East Carolina's starting place kicker ... with a catch. Imperato kicks extra points and field goals with cleats, while using his bare-feet at the kick off.

He says that kicking bare-footed gives him greater distance, but less control.

"I always kick it a lot farther, about five to six yards, and higher barefooted, "Imperato said. "But with the shoe I have a lot more control and I feel comfortable from 50-55 yards in certain conditions."

Robb has started off the season strong, making two of the three field goals against Louisiana Tech and also completing three out of three PTA (point after conversion) that same game.

Going into ECU's game with South Carolina, Imperato was ECU's leading scorer with 32 points and had successfully kicked seven of eight field goals, including three of 40 yards or more.

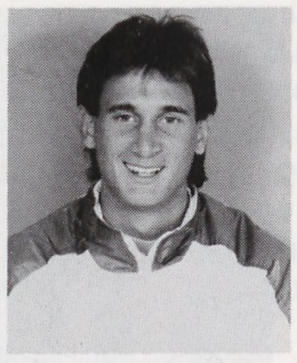

Despite some inconsistency on his field goal kicking before his senior season, Imperato has overcome that and has also remained solid on his PTA performances. Imperato is 11 of 13 in PTAs this season and going into ECU's game with Virginia Tech in September, Imperato had kicked 42 straight PTAs until the VT defense blocked his kick.

Imperato's streak started in the 1989 season after he missed his first extra point and then made 34 straight going into the 1990 season.

ECU head coach Bill Lewis emphasizes the need for strong performances on the Pirates kicking game every week and with Imperato, East Carolina fans can look for a solid performance from this man in his final year.

Pirates Host CAA Collegiate Tennis Invitational Through Sunday

Jon McLamb

East Carolina men's tennis team is hosting Colonial Athletic Association opponents in non-conference action this weekend, in the ECU/CAA Collegiate Invitational.

The tournament, which started on Friday, will run through Sunday and is being played at both the ECU tennis courts by Minges Coliseum and at Riverbirch Tennis Complex on Arlington Blvd.

The tournament is one of the two hosted by the men's team this fall. The Pirate Fall Tennis Classic on Nov. 16-18 is the next.

The Pirates have had a successful fall season with good showings at the Old Southern Conference, Tar Heel, Old Dominion and Wake Forest Invitationals.

Sammi Tounsi and Jon McLamb both have won singles titles this fall with Tounsi winning at the Old Southern Conference Invitational and McLamb at the ODU Invitational.

Last week, two of ECU's doubles teams advanced to the finals of the Wake Forest Collegiate Tournament only to meet each other. The team of Tommy McDonald and Camille Huisman meet up with McLamb and John Hudson in a match that was decided this week in Greenville.

Cross Country Takes the Weekend Off; Welch Breaks Win Streak

ECU's Cross Country teams have today off, but are preparing for next Saturday's meet at the Seahawk All-Comers race in Wilmington, NC.

Last week, junior Ann Marie Welch finished second in the North Carolina Cross Country championships, breaking a five-meet win streak.

The runner from Washington, NC, is currently ECU's all-time leading female runner, holding the 5-K record of 18:29.

Welch, who finished ninth at last year's Colonial Athletic Association championships, is a contender for this year's title. The meet for both the men's and women's team will be held in Williamsburg, Va. on Nov. 3.

Lady Spikers On the Road Today in CAA Play

East Carolina's volleyball team is on the road today in Colonial Athletic Association action against William & Mary and James Madison.

The Lady Pirates, 0-2 in the CAA play, hosted American University and George Mason last week and fell 15-9, 10-15, 6-15, 15-5, 4-15 to the Lady Patriots of GMU and 9-15, 12-15, 17-15, 15-17 to American.

On Tuesday, ECU will host UNC Wilmington at Minges Coliseum in its last regular-season conference play.

Sophomore hitter Wendy Schultz has led ECU in the past few weeks with strong performances both offensively and defensively.

Pirate Booters on the Road at UM-ES; Host Final Home Game on Wednesday

East Carolina's soccer team is on the road today, taking on the University of Maryland-Eastern Shore. Coming off a tough three-game road trip last weekend, the Pirates are looking for a win before returning for their final home game of the season.

On Wednesday, the Pirates will take on North Carolina Wesleyan at the ECU soccer field at 3 p.m.

The Pirates are beginning preparations for this year's Colonial Athletic Association tournament to be held Nov. 1-4 at Richmond. Despite having won four games this season, the Pirates are 0-7 in CAA play.

Tennis Pirate Juan Alverez Brings New Meaning To Out-of-State

When most students say they are from out-of-state, visions of Virginia, Maryland or New Jersey come to mind. But when Juan Alverez says he is from out-of-state, maybe it would be more appropriate for him to say out-of-the-country.

Alverez, a 6-0, 170-pounder from San Domingo, Dominican Republic, is a senior this year on the ECU men's tennis team.

Last season, Alverez was the Pirates' number-one seed and compiled an 8-13 record with wins over some of the top players in the region.

Alverez also teamed up with Sammy Tounsi for an 8-8 doubles record. The number-one seed duo took second place at last season's Colonial Athletic Association, losing in the finals.

Men's tennis Coach Bill Moore says, "Juan is a solid all court player that has a serve as his strong point."

Even though the men's tennis season has not officially opened, Alverez has been practicing last summer and this fall. Right now he is playing with ECU's tennis team in collegiate tournaments.

Coach Moore is relying on Alverez's seniority to help push our tennis program in a new direction. You will be hearing more about this man as the spring tennis season approaches.
