

2

The people. I feel under obligation to all who contributed in the least, to the defeat of this measure.

Relative to the matter, ^{tax} exemption.
While I would have readily receded from my position in this matter to have saved the property from the hungry hand, had it been necessary that controversy did not arise, and I am yet as clear in my convictions that I am right, and determined in my efforts as ever, to succeed the Roach's exemption from Taxation. I fail to see the logic of your argument, that because