

labor legislation, but probably will have just the opposite effect, as it will create a healthy public feeling that will prevent wrongs or injustices creeping in before they excite public feeling and have stringent laws enacted.
Our people should avoid the mistakes of New England and not follow their way of causing a necessity for state interference.
They should also realize that the Bureau is here to stay and has behind it, not only the wage earners, but the great army of those engaged in educational
