

3
 Both sides are trying to convince the people that it must be done or it will be done
 All the educated men, who own, and often run the mills, teach the people in the New England operators' class, they will have to have trouble, possibly in a greater degree - The Bureau does not pretend to be in the interest of the owner but the help, and has already done much work in making the people understand that the state has not only the right but the