

Handwritten text, likely a signature or name, written in cursive script.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a personal letter or diary entry, written on aged paper. The text is written in a single column, starting from the top right and moving downwards. The ink is dark, and the paper shows signs of wear and discoloration.