

January 11th. 1897.

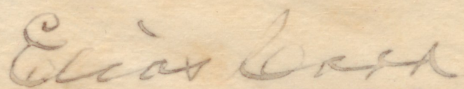

Messrs. Scotten, Daniel & Co,
Detroit, Mich.

Dear Sir:-

I respectfully commend to you Mr. W. P. McGehee of this city as a gentleman of the highest standing and a man of excellent business capacity. No young man in this city stands higher in the estimation of our citizens than Mr. McGehee. He is now in the tobacco business and during the next season will want to do some business with your Company from this State. I cannot commend him too highly and am satisfied if you can give him some of your orders, they will be promptly attended to and filled according to agreement.

Mr. McGehee is in every way worthy of your confidence and esteem.

Very respectfully,

Governor of North Carolina.
