

Randolph Umberger's

STRIKE at the WIND!

an outdoor drama of Henry Berry Lowrie
and the Lumbee Indians

WORLD PREMIER SEASON
JULY 1 — AUGUST 14, 1976

Thursday, Friday & Saturday Nights 8:30 p.m. EDT

ADVANCE RESERVATIONS RECOMMENDED

For tickets write or call: "STRIKE AT THE WIND!"

P.O. Box 1059
Pembroke, N.C. 28372
(919) 521-2401

Or, tickets may be purchased at the Ticket Office 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. on evenings of performance.

LAKESIDE AMPHITHEATRE
RIVERSIDE COUNTRY CLUB
PEMBROKE, N.C.

ADMISSION PRICES

Preferred Seating .....	$4.00
General Seating .....	$3.50

Adults 65 and over: less 10%
Children under 12: ½ price
Babes in arms: free

(Discounts apply only to general seating)

GROUP RATES

Special group arrangements are available for schools, industry, conventions and other parties. Write or call for details.

design by third century artist jackie taylor speck

Randolph Umberger's

STRIKE at the WIND!

an outdoor drama of Henry Berry Lowrie
and the Lumbee Indians

Randolph Umberger's

STRIKE at the WIND!

an outdoor drama of Henry Berry Lowrie
and the Lumbee Indians

STRIKE at the WIND!

A musical adventure about Henry Berry Lowrie
and the Lumbee Indians.

The spirit of Henry Berry Lowrie rides again in Randolph Umberger's outdoor musical drama "STRIKE AT THE WIND!" Follow the Lumbee Indian leader, who became a legend in his own time, to the scenic banks of the Lumbee River which he knew so well over 100 years ago.

Not until you have thrilled to the sounds of the chase through the swamps, reveled in the dancing and singing at a family gathering, shed tears over the injustices inflicted, and rejoice in the love of a man for a woman, can you label Henry Berry Lowrie a saint or a sinner.

His exploits were so daring that the young outlaw Jesse James adopted his name, yet his actions prompted the North Carolina legislature to extend voting rights to all citizens and thereby made possible a new era of peace and progress.

MEMBER
NATIONAL BICENTENNIAL
ETHNIC RACIAL ALLIANCE

