Summer School Information, Procedures

Undergraduate students may schedule a maximum of seven semester hours during each summer term. In special circumstances, students may, with the permission of the Director of summer School, carry more than these limits. In scheduling hours, however, students should be aware of the number of contact hours involved in both laboratory and lecture courses per credit earned.

Unless special permission is received from the Dean of the Graduate School, a graduate student may not register for or receive credit for a total of more than twelve semester hours in Summer School through enrollment in any combination of regular session-length courses, workshops, or short courses. A student may not enroll concurrently in two or more workshops or short courses during each five or six week summer term or earn more than six semester hours in any regular five or six week summer term. A school or department has discretion to lower maximum credit hours.

Dropping and Adding Courses

During the designated days of a Summer Session term, a student may add a course or courses to his or her schedule with the approval of the adviser in the school or department in which he or she is enrolled. The change must then be recorded on a drop-add form and processed through the Office of the Registar.

During the first ten class days of a Summer Session term, an undergraduate student may, at his or her option, drop a course or courses without penalty. A student who wishes to drop a course or courses must observe the following procedure. He or she must inform the appropriate dean, departmental chairperson, or persons whom they designate, and discuss the course(s) which he or she wishes to drop. The student must obtain a drop-add form, complete it, and obtain the signature of the University official with whom he or she has conferred. The student must next secure from the instructor(s) the class enrollment card(s). The drop-add form, official class schedule, and required class enrollment card(s) must be taken by the studnt to the Registrar's Office within three class days.

After the first ten class days of a Summer Session term, an undergraduate student may drop a course or courses without penalty only with the permission of the Vice Chancellor for Acadmenic Affairs, or the person whom he or she designates, or the Director of the Division of Continuing Education, as appropriate. Permission to drop a course or courses will be given only when unforeseeable and uncontrollable circumstances pervail. If denied permission to drop, the student may appeal the decision to a faculty appeals committee. If permitted to drop, the student must deliver the required forms to the office of the Registrar within three class days. In no case, however, may a student drop a course after the last regularly scheduled class meeting prior to the final examination.

Students should pay particular attention to procedual directions printed on the forms provided by the Registrar. No course is officially dropped or adde3d until the required procedure is completed.

Significance of Course Numbers

Course number as used in this Bulletin and in the Undergraduate Catalogue and/or Graduate School Bulletin indicate the college year in which the courses should be taken. Courses numbered 1000 through 1999 are for freshmen; 2000 through 2999, for sophomores; 3000 through 3999, for juniors; 4000 through 4999, for seniors; 6000 and above, for graduate students. The 5000-level courses are taught at the graduate level primarily for graduate students; graduate students and seniors will be admitted. Qualified juniors will be admitted with the written permission of the chairperson of the department or the dean of the school in shich the course is offered. A unit may include 5000-level courses for undergraduate degree requirements.

RINGGOLD TOWERS
At The Campus • East Carolina University
We're building a special place for East Carolina University students to live — next to campus in their own private, secure, air-conditioned condominium units. Surrounded on three sides by ECU property, Ringgold Towers is closer to classrooms than some on-campus dormitories. Downtown Greenville is one block away.
Three floorplans are available, and units are completely furnished. Each unit will be individually owned either by students and their parents or by investors renting to students.
Recent changes in tax laws make ownership of this type property advantageous for both investors and parents of students. We have full information on these units including a CPA's forecasted statement of operations. We'd like to show you how Ringgold Towers can provide a special place for ECU students to live and provide you with an excellent investment requiring very little down payment.
