Legis. overrides vetoed VAF bill

By JEANNIE WILLIAMS
 Assistant News Editor

The Student Government Association (SGA) legislature overrode President Neil Sessoms' veto to appropriate funds to the Visual Arts Forum (VAF) during the legislature meeting Monday.

A total of $5976 was appropriated for travel and accommodation expenses.

The largest amount, $3090 went to the sculpture department to attend the International Sculpture Conference in Toronto, Canada.

Other amounts went to the ceramic, design, interior design and communication arts departments.

A revision amendment of the SGA Constitution has been recommended by the Review Board.

Students will be asked to vote on the revision amendment on March 29, election day.

The revision must be ratified by 20 per cent of the student body.

The amendment reads as follows:

WHEREAS: The Constitution of the Student Government Association of East Carolina University is the primary authority in all areas of student self-government at East Carolina;

WHEREAS: The need for a revised and updated SGA Constitution has arisen from the recent university change to the semester from the quarter system; WHEREAS: The Review Board, as the supreme student constitutional authority, has studied these changes and does unanimously recommend them:

That Article 3, Section 4 be amended to read: "The term of office of each Legislator shall extend from the fifth week of fall semester until the end of spring semester."

That Article 3, Section 12 be amended to read: "The Chancellor of the University...as he deems necessary."

That Article 3, Section 13 should be amended to read: "The Chancellor...over legislative action."

That Article 4, Section 1 (B) be amended to read: "...who has successfully completed 48 semester hours of work...in attendance at East Carolina for at least two consecutive semesters."

That Article 4, Section 4 (B) be amended to read: "...who has completed 16 semester hours of work..."

Referendums proposed

By KEN TYNDALL
 Staff Writer

Tim Sullivan, candidate for Student Government Association (SGA) president, says there is a need for direct involvement between students and the SGA.

Sullivan said there should be a campus referendum before any changes are made involving increases in student fees, including car sticker prices and tuition.

Sullivan said that if there were any motions for an increase in fees, "I would ask the board of trustees to hold the vote until a campus referendum could be held."

Running mates outline platform

A rising senior, Sullivan has been involved in the SGA since his freshman year.

He was freshman class president, as well as a member of the appropriations committee and student body president his sophomore year.

During his freshman year, Sullivan organized the freshman caucus, introduced bills for WECU and FOUNTAINHEAD and introduced the self limiting hours for freshman women.

While serving as Junior Class President, a voting member of the legislature, Sullivan introduced the Marching Pirates funding bill, the departmental retreats bill, and the bill calling for publications referendum.

Also, Sullivan is currently a member of the Student Welfare Committee, and the chairperson of the Executive Council.

Sullivan served as SGA president in 1976-77. While in office, he attained a student seat on the city council, made attempt of cutting salaries for students working for the school, and doubled the transit system and the number of hours of the SGA legal service.

Sullivan, chaplain for the Sigma Nu fraternity, said he would like to increase the number of students who can get emergency loans.

Libby Lefler, who is running on a ticket with Sullivan, agrees that there should be a referendum before increasing any student fees.

Lefler is a sophomore, and a member of Gamma Beta Phi and Phi Eta Sigma, both honor fraternities.

Also, Lefler is the parliamentarian of the Kappa Delta social sorority.

Lefler served as Cotten Dorm representative from 1976-77, and was a member of the Rules and Judiciary committees from 1976-77. She served as SGA secretary from 1977-78, and served on the Executive Council from 1977-78.

Lefler also served as chairperson of the committee to select a new law firm.

Lefler said she feels that changes are needed in the visitation policy. She said that each dormitory should decide on the type of visitation policy it wants.

SGA candidates' platforms will appear in the next edition of FOUNTAINHEAD.

Look for them.

Circle K wins four awards

By STUART MORGAN
 News Editor

The Circle K Club of ECU attended the North and South Carolina District Convention held by Circle K in Charlotte, N.C. this past weekend and returned with four of the eight awards presented.

Over 40 schools from North and South Carolina attended the three day meeting.

At the meeting, students representing the various schools elected next year's officers for the North and South Carolina District. Eric Davidson, a sophomore here, was one of the six lieutenant governors elected.

Barbara Bumgarner, president of the Circle K Club here, said Davidson will be in charge of the eastern division of North Carolina.

The ECU club won the Overall Annual Achievement award, the highest award presented.

"It was given to the club that best achieved the theme, 'to embrace humanity and to be of service to the community,'" said Bumgarner. "We've been reactivated since mid-November, whereas the other schools represented at the convention have been active and working since the last convention last March. Considering that, it was quite an achievement for us to have won that award."

The Single Service Project award, the second award won by the ECU club, was presented to it for having the best project of the year.

The club here worked with the [See CIRCLE K, p. 8]

Behind closed doors

On March 18 Ann (fictitious name) left her dorm by a back door which was only a few feet from her room. She and many of her neighbors use the back door all the time. Except, it was after eight o'clock at night and a campus policeman happened to be in the general area when Ann was coming out of the building.

Ann now has to pay $10 to the dormitory, which will be deposited in a fund earmarked for social fees, and she has had to appear before the House Council.

Granted, dormitory residents want to take all precautions to ensure tighter security in dorms. Perhaps one may recall the stories of assaults in stairwells and showers last year.

But, when a student wants to leave, and the back door is maybe two steps away, no one wants to walk all the way around the dorm to leave by the front door, especially if the student's car is parked near the back door.

Most students at this university who live in dorms simply view the dorm as a place to eat and sleep, and to keep their books and stereos. Many students live in the dorms until they can get apartments, trailers, or houses.

During the winter months, dorm residents find it especially hard to find a campus policeman to let them in after hours. While the light which summons policemen to the dorms blinks continually, the students huddle near the door, blow on frozen hands and wonder whether the policeman has finished his coffee yet and if he has started on his doughnut.

If a student's room is on the ground floor and he can awaken his roommate to open the door to let him in, what harm has been done? This way the student gets in without being forced to wait for a long period of time, and the policemen don't have to leave the warmth of their cars to come let them in.

When Ann appeared before the House Council, the Council members reportedly viewed the incident as laughable and simply stated that Ann had to pay the $10. The policeman who turned Ann in to the proper authorities reportedly appeared not to believe in the rules, but was merely fulfilling a line of duty.

So long as students take care not to infringe upon the rights of others to security, people like Ann should have the right to go out the back door whatever time of the day or night that they wish.

Forum

Legislator supports Sullivan, Lefler

To FOUNTAINHEAD:

It's election time once again and we students have to make an important decision on who we feel is the best candidate. Trouble is, most students don't know either of the candidates very well.

I would just like to say that I know the two main presidential candidates personally; and as a legislator, I've worked with both in SGA. Using this knowledge, I feel that Tim Sullivan and Libby Lefler, for president and vice-president respectfully, are the best team for the students.

There are several key reasons why I chose Sullivan and Lefler. They are hard workers who don't need to be told how or what to do. They are self-motivated. And they won't bend under the administration's "influence".

But most important of all is that Tim and Libby will be open and honest to us, the students. They won't be doing things behind our backs "for our own good". From working with them, I believe that they will let us decide on all major issues that directly affect us.

There is yet another major advantage that Tim and Libby have. That's experience. With Tim being a past SGA president and Libby being the present SGA secretary, they know the ins and outs of office. That way they can start working right away without wasting half a year to get to know the office.

Sincerely,
Nicky Francais

Student backs Payne, Cartwright for SGA posts

To FOUNTAINHEAD:

Tommy Joe Payne and David Cartwright have proven themselves to be honest, sincere workers in student government. Cartwright's term as chairperson of the SGA Appropriations Committee was characterized by impartiality and objectivity in conducting the meetings.

Payne's record as speaker of the legislature is spotless, despite the attempts by his political enemies to mar it.

Students, the choice for SGA president and vice-president is obvious. No other candidate is as qualified or as deserving as Tommy Joe Payne and David Cartwright. Remember, on March 29, be sure to vote for Tommy Joe Payne for SGA president and David Cartwright for SGA vice-president.

Student endorses Sullivan, Lefler

To FOUNTAINHEAD:

I would like to let the students know about two candidates for SGA offices. They are Libby Lefler and Tim Sullivan.

Throughout this past year I have watched them fulfill their responsibilities as SGA secretary and junior class president to the fullest. These are not the type of people who begin any project halfheartedly or who lose their initial enthusiasm while halfway through.

Tim and Libby are dedicated to what they feel is their responsibility and do not hesitate to fulfill them no matter how unpleasant a task.

Knowing all of these qualifications and many more too numerous to mention, I therefore, fully and wholeheartedly endorse Tim Sullivan and Libby Lefler.

Payne, Cartwright endorsed for SGA pres., vice-pres. posts

To FOUNTAINHEAD:

With regard to the upcoming SGA elections, (March 29), I see two very good choices for president and vice-president. Tommy Joe Payne and David Cartwright are like a breath of fresh air, which is exactly what ECU student government has needed for quite a while.

What these guys have going for them is the fact that they are

Cartwright supported for vice-presidency

To FOUNTAINHEAD:

As a personal friend of David Cartwright, I feel that I have an insight into the character and background which qualifies David for the position of SGA vice-president.

I have known David to have a consistent desire to make improvements and have better SGA-Student relations. He has a willingness to work for the betterment of the whole student body, not for interest groups or factions within the SGA. For example, I think a group like the

for the most part just like any other student on this campus.

They are not really politicians, they don't go around promising to solve every problem for everybody. I think it is about time we elect some students to SGA rather than professional promise makers who never deliver.

The platform these guys offer is a pretty sound one. They know what the issues are and they offer some sensible solutions. In part-Visual Arts Forum will receive fair and equal consideration with other campus groups.

David will make no unrealistic promises. He is aware of realistic limitations in a budget. As former Appropriations Committee Chairman, he has the experience.

His desire, willingness, fairness, and experience have proven him in the past. Let him confirm them as SGA vice-president.

I pledge my support, and urge your support for David Cartwright and Tommy Joe Payne.

ECU has tradition

To FOUNTAINHEAD:

There are three things you can count on every year at ECU: long drop-add lines, roaches in the dorms, and Tim Sullivan running for SGA president. And people say ECU has no tradition!

Steve Richards

Can van be run at night?

To FOUNTAINHEAD:

Would you please print the following question?

What are the possibilities of having the van for handicapped students run at night?

Thank you,
Terry Wall

icular, the idea for a three-year adoption of textbooks. Payne and Cartwright are already working on a plan that would require professors to adopt textbooks for at least three years.

As it is now you may use a book this semester, take it back to sell it at the end of the semester and unless the professor has decided to use it again, you don't get anything for it.

That costs the students on this campus quite a bit. I think if Payne and Cartwright are elected we may very well see the end of a lot of aggravations such as the textbook situation.

Another idea that Payne and Cartwright have come up with is one for more flexible dorm contracts. It's about time somebody thought about revamping those one-sided things. Once you sign a dorm contract, you are hooked for a solid year, no ifs, ands, or buts about it.

Payne and Cartwright have come up with a pretty good idea to make dorm contracts a little more beneficial to the student. They would like to work out a contract that would be more flexible and not so ironclad that you can't get out of it. One of the alternatives they have proposed is a one-semester contract along with one-year contracts.

Payne and Cartwright are offering positive workable ideas that directly affect and will benefit the student body. It is refreshing to hear candidates talk about real problems and real answers.

Payne and Cartwright aren't wasting their time ranting and raving about things that don't concern the students, and that is what makes them different. It is pretty obvious that they will work toward helping students with problems rather than bickering and power mongering.

This election is the chance for the student body to elect a president and vice-president who care about them and better yet will try to help them. Payne and Cartwright don't profess to have all the answers, but the ideas they do have sound like workable ones that we can all appreciate.

Susan Paris

Reader confirms dorm contract letter

To FOUNTAINHEAD:

I am writing to confirm everything June Schafford and Janet Hoepfel states in their letter to FOUNTAINHEAD about dorm contracts and the Housing Appeals Committee.

I am a senior transfer student, accepted late in August. I was hesitant to sign the contract, but did so after I was lead to believe by the Housing Office that I would not find another place to live in Greenville.

I appealed to the Housing Appeals Committee in December. Two of the many reasons I used to support my appeal were that the Visitation policy and the Supervision policy were never mentioned in the contract. I found out about them when I moved.

I appeared before the Committee, and was questioned about many personal matters unrelated to the issue. They told me I would have to wait a day for their decision, but I already knew it. The lawyer present told me as I was leaving, "We don't care where you live as long as we get our money."

I moved out of the dorm, but I still pay for the room. I agree, students should be aware that the contract favors the school, and is nearly impossible to break. I also agree that the Housing Appeals Committee is a farce.

Deidre Delahunty

Legislator favors Payne, Cartwright

To FOUNTAINHEAD:

For the past year, I have been involved in the student's government. In my association with the student legislature, I have seen the best and worst in student leaders.

It seems both factions are well represented in this year's SGA elections.

I feel strongly that only the best should be elected. The best is without question the Tommy Joe Payne and David Cartwright team.

In my association with all the candidates involved, both Payne and Cartwright are the only candidates who have overwhelming experience and unquestioned character.

I believe that their platform is one which all students can identify with. Their opponents, on the other hand, represent special interests and not the student body as a whole.

Both Payne and Cartwright have worked long and hard all year for all students.

Their voting record speaks for itself.

I believe that their record of excellence should be continued. As a dorm legislator, and more importantly, as a student, I support the only team representing honesty and integrity: Tommy Joe Payne, for SGA president, and David Cartwright, for SGA vice-president.

Med school studies mental disorders

ECU News Bureau

Representatives of the ECU School of Medicine and Cherry Hospital in Goldsboro are formulating plans to combine their resources to further education and research in the area of mental and emotional disorders.

Dr. James Mathis, chairman of the ECU department of psychiatry, says he is working with Cherry Hospital officials to develop a training program in psychiatry which will "unify and expand the educational resources at the two facilities and strengthen the programs available at both."

State mental hospitals without associated programs in education and research traditionally have a difficult time recruiting and retaining qualified mental health professionals.

In turn, medical school officials are often unable to provide suitable psychiatric clinical experience and supervision for residents and medical students without the cooperation of state facilities.

"By pooling our resources -- our faculties, facilities and programs -- the School of Medicine and Cherry Hospital will be able to upgrade the quality of psychiatric education being offered to medical students, residents and working professionals in eastern North Carolina," Dr. Mathis said.

ACEI holds organizational meeting, fall plans made

By JULIE EVERETTE
Assistant News Editor

The first meeting of the ECU Association of Childhood Education International (ACEI) club was held Monday with plans to get underway in the fall.

Guest speaker was Emalynn Colardo, publicity chairperson for the Greenville chapter of ACEI.

According to Elaine Cook, temporary president, any student who is interested in early childhood education and development is eligible to join.

Students in nursing, home economics, child development, social work, speech, language and auditory pathology (SLAP), intermediate early childhood, and special education are especially encouraged to join.

Cook said the purpose of the club is to increase knowledge and understanding of children and to gain practical experience through working with them.

"We hope to get out in the field, visit schools, and hold workshops," Cook said.

"Our main goal is working with children successfully."

Temporary officers are: Elaine Cook, president; Andy Hagler, vice president; Kathy Kilmartin, Secretary; and Jackie Terrell, treasurer.

Anita Brehm is faculty advisor.

According to Cook, the membership fee is $9 if the student wishes to receive the ACEI magazine, and the associate member fee is $4.50, excluding the magazine.

Cook said the club hopes to form three committees: membership, program, and publicity.

An organizational committee which will set up the program for next year will meet March 29, at 7:30 p.m.

According to Cook, a membership drive will be held on registration next fall.

Cook said money for the club will come from membership dues and fund raising projects.

For more information, contact Elaine Cook at 752-8357 or Andy Hagler at 752-5480.

Even if you've never programmed before.

For the student who requires slide-rule functions, the TI-57 delivers an exceptional combination of advanced mathematical and statistical capabilities. From functions such as trig, logs, powers, roots and reciprocals... to mean, variance, standard deviation and much more.

And as long as you're in the market for a super slide-rule calculator, why not buy one that can also put the power, speed and convenience of programming at your disposal?

Programming a calculator simply means giving it a logical set of instructions for accomplishing what you want it to do. Programming enables you to solve lengthy and repetitive problems quickly by substituting new variables into the set of instructions which you have already entered into the machine.

The end result is more efficient use of your time in problem-solving.

All this and more is explained in our unique, illustrated, easy-to-follow guidebook, "Making Tracks Into Programming." This 200-page book comes with the TI-57. Eight coastline films scheduled

By DOUG WHITE
News Editor

Eight documentary films about the coastlines of the United States and North Carolina will be shown Tues. and Wed. March 28-29 at 7:30 p.m. in room 103 Rawl.

The showing is sponsored by University of North Carolina Seagrant, a state and federally funded research organization which works through the UNC system.

Four films will be shown each night.

The following films will be shown Tuesday night: Estuary, a film dealing with the bays, lagoons, and other sources of North American waterways, which provide a large percentage of seafood. These estuaries also have many industrial and recreational uses. The need for planning the use of these resources is stressed in the film.

The Great American Fish Story is a history of the American fishing industry.

Hurricane Decision promotes hurricane awareness and preparedness. The film points out the dangers of wind and inland flooding caused by hurricanes.

It's Your Coast deals with coastal zone management problems throughout the United States.

Wednesday's films are: Waterbound, a history of physical changes on North Carolina's Outer Banks.

Stormtide-the Islanders and the Elements is a history of the inhabitants of the Outer Banks who have populated the island for the last three centuries.

The Currituck Film covers the people, land use, and planning in a typical North Carolina coastal county.

An Act to Protect explores the problems which brought about the Coastal Area Management Act and describes how the act proposes to manage these problems.

These showings are open to the public free of charge.

We also have some great looks in suits and sport coats and lightweight jackets. We have dress and sport shirts by Gant and LaCoste Knit shirts. Hospital horror story

'Uncertain realm of half truths and divine mystery' is explored

By DAVID WHITSON
Staff Writer

Uncertainty is the stuff from which horror is made. The constant fear of the half-revealed, the unknown and the unusual has been with the human race throughout its development. It is the experience of encountering the half-known which shocks man into the realization of his ignorance, and which makes his well-laid foundation of rationalism tumble away.

The field of medicine is today a matter of half-truths, of varying shades of gray rather than absolutes of black or white. That the same professionals who are trained to care for human individuals can one moment save the life of an auto accident victim who has been nearly destroyed, while at the next moment flush an aborted fetus down a toilet is a stunning, and very unsettling paradox. Physicians no longer merely strive to maintain life; they are now called upon to decide who can most expediently be allowed to live.

We live in a world where people make it their business to "look after our best interests." The policeman, jailer, judge and legislator earn their bread and butter by deciding how you will live your life: where you can legally be born (hospitalization of pregnant mothers is required in some states); where you eat; where you can expel wastes; where, how, and with whom you can physically express love; who, why, and when you will be allowed to kill; how you will be buried (embalming is required by N.C. State law, thanks to the funeral business lobbyists). There is no aspect of our lives which is left to our own control without the benevolent burden of taxation, regulation, or restriction. And now we place our very lives in the hands of a hospital's efficient staff, content in the knowledge that they will do what is best for us.

The modern hospital is no longer a mere place of healing. It is a legal battleground, a field upon which the struggle to decide the difficult questions which face modern man, questions concerning abortion, euthanasia, and genetic predetermination, are being evaded daily. It is a marketplace for some, a place where dealings in goods, services and spare body parts place profit above concern for human life. conflicting interests, half-truths, and divine mystery, comes director Michael Crichton's film, Coma.

As you probably already know, the plot of the movie is the discovery by a young doctor (Dr. Wheeler, as played laudably by Genevieve Bujold) of a human junkyard, where comatose patients are disassembled and sold to the highest bidder.

DEFIANCE OF SOCIETY

Dr. Wheeler's defiance of this intolerable system stands as a monument to the human spirit. This defiance of society by the outraged individual has become a modern literary motif, expressed cinemagraphically in such diverse films as "Network" with its battle cry of "I'm mad as hell and I'm not going to take it anymore!"; "Death Wish," as expressed by Charles Bronson's defiant vigilanteism; and Andy Warhol's "Bad" exemplified by the would-be assassin's rejection of a Kudos to author Robin Cook, for this timely and necessary novel, and to director Michael Crichton, for his masterful ability to blend such diverse themes in one spell-binding movie.

'Vulnerability is at the heart of love'

Mason's 'lot in life' in 'The Goodbye Girl'

By STEVE BACHNER

There is hardly any activity, any enterprise, which is started with such tremendous hopes and expectations, and yet which fails so regularly as love.

MARSHA MASON AND Richard Dreyfuss in a scene from Neil Simon's "The Goodbye Girl."

So it seems that this is Paula McFadden's (Marsha Mason) lot in life in Neil Simon's The Goodbye Girl.

It is only natural that after receiving a "dear Paula" letter from her current boyfriend who has left their love nest to make a movie in Italy that she be a little cautious...with her love life.

"I don't want to get dumped on again," she tells Richard Dreyfuss in one scene.

Romantic comedies are in vogue this season but unlike Woody Allen's Annie Hall, which turned its focus to real life, The Goodbye Girl concerns itself almost too heavily with the pomp and circumstance of one-liners and romantic resolutions.

Paula McFadden does find happiness and this makes the viewer feel good, but it is much easier, painfully so, to identify with the Woody Allen character that he so heartbreakingly portrays in Annie Hall. One reason might be that the role is quite obviously autobiographical.

But Simon's idealism makes for good escapist fare and this film was destined to be a runaway hit from the moment the first literary chord was struck on the typewriter.

Casting makes this Best Picture nominee a joy to behold.

Quinn Cummings, a ten-year old bitch goddess, plays the wordly daughter who helps draw Mason and Dreyfuss, who happen to be living together anyway, together.

In his first romantic role, Dreyfuss is incapable of a false note. He turns the film's many one-liners into pure poetry with perfect comic timing and a dedication to his craft that soaks right through the celluloid. His rendition of a gay Richard III would probably please Shakespeare.

No longer the energetic adolescent, Dreyfuss has the priceless ingredients of surge and charm necessary to be believable in a part like this. He seems to love the work at hand and the world in general.

The Goodbye Girl has given birth to a major star.

MASON AND DREYFUSS square off at an auto show in "The Goodbye Girl."

SU Artist Series hosts Norman Luboff Choir

By RENE DIXON
Staff Writer

The Norman Luboff Choir will appear in Wright Auditorium on Wednesday, March 22 at 8 p.m. This outstanding vocal group exhibits the rare ability to perform a variety of musical styles well.

Their programs include anything from a classical choral masterpiece to a Beatles tune.

Luboff views music as a universal language, and he communicates with the audience through an incredible variety of expressions. He believes that "every composer speaks to us in his own very personal way, and if he has genius, he will move us."

VERSATILE PROGRAMMING

As a director, Luboff advocates versatile programming not only for the audience's enjoyment, but to preserve the freshness of the singers. The choir prepares several programs, each displaying their unparalleled artistic range, to counteract the draining repetition of performing 100 to 120 concerts a season.

Norman Luboff attended the University of Chicago and did his graduate work in orchestration and composing with composer Leo Sowerby. He began his career by singing and arranging for radio and recordings. His arrangements were soon in demand by the most prominent Chicago programs. Later, Luboff worked in New York where he gave up singing and dedicated himself to arranging full time.

CHOIR'S FAME SPREADS

As Luboff's fame spread to television and motion pictures, the demand for his compositions became so great that he decided to establish his own recording choir in Hollywood. By the late 50's the choir was recognized as one of the most outstanding in the world.

In answer to the insistent demands of the public, Luboff began touring the choir in live concerts in 1963. Since that time the choir has toured all over the world, delighting audiences with their enthusiastic performances of Renaissance motets, Bach chorales, Beethoven Halleluias, folk songs, pop tunes, contemporary experiments, and many more -- each with unequalled musicality.

Tickets for the concert are available at the Central Ticket Office in Mendenhall. Student tickets are $1.50 and public $4.00. All tickets at the door are $4.00.

All members previously played in other bands prior to forming Tenth Avenue.

The band first began rehearsing at the Kappa Sigma House and first played at a club downtown. They have since done concerts on the mall, an outdoor Halloween concert, and have played with Epic recording artists Mother's Finest. The band also performed in nightclubs from Virginia to Alabama, as well as Ohio and Kentucky.

The music generated is funk rock, yet not all of their music is high energy. They perform a mixture of ballads and middle of the road.

In the future, Tenth Avenue would like to get out of the regional club circuit and when they have put together enough original material, go on concert tour.

Pirates go 1-2 for week

By CHRIS HOLLOMAN
Sports Editor

The up and down ECU Pirate baseball team continued to be inconsistent last week.

On Wednesday the Pirates lost to Richmond and then on Saturday the Bucs had a double header split with Campbell.

Speaking of the Richmond game the Spiders were the first to score in that game with a run in the second inning.

In the top of the third the Pirates took the lead with three runs. The first was set up by a single by Tommy Warrick. The second was a set up by a walk to Jerry Carraway. The first and second runs were scored off of a triple by Eddie Gates as the Spider right fielder lost sight of the ball in the sun. The third run was scored off a sacrifice fly by Pete Paradossi.

In the fourth inning two hits, two Pirate errors and a sacrifice fly helped Richmond to three fourth inning runs.

In the sixth inning the Pirates rounded out their scoring as Macon Moye singled home a run.

Richmond added three more in the bottom of the sixth and two more in the eight to finish for the day with a 9 to 4 victory over the Pirates.

The losing pitcher was Pete Conaty.

Saturday against the Campbell Camels the Pirates were able to control the first game but Campbell erupted in the second game for an early lead that they never gave up.

In the first game Campbell opened up the scoring first. The first two runs were set up by a pop fly double. Max Man, a 5'-10" monster, then scored for Campbell.

It wasn't until the fifth inning that ECU was able to score. The Pirates added three runs to take the lead. A walk went to Max Rainer, then Mike Sage made it to base on an error.

Robert Brinkley was pinch runner for Max Rainer.

Jerry Carraway hit into a force play and Brinkley was able to score.

It was at this point that Eddie Gates deposited a Campbell fast ball over the left field fence for another run.

The final score was ECU 4 Campbell 3. The winning pitcher was Mickey Britt who is now 3-0 on the year.

In the second game ECU was out of the game almost before it started. Campbell scored five runs in the first inning before the Pirates were able to get a man out.

Rick Ramey was pulled from the game at this point.

ECU scored twice in the top of the third to tighten up the game somewhat.

Gates reached base on an error. Best singled, Paradossi singled and Gates then scored. Best later scored on a wild pitch.

Campbell then got three runs off one hit in the bottom of the third as ECU committed three straight errors.

The fourth inning was Campbell's time to score again as Max Man belted a solo homer over the fence.

The Pirates rounded out their scoring when Pete Paradossi hit a three run homer in the fifth inning.

The final score was Campbell 9 to 5.

This week the Pirates have no time to rest.

Tonight at 7:30 the Pirates take on Division III power Eastern Connecticut. Eastern Connecticut defeated the Pirates last year 7 to 3 and participated in the NCAA Division III playoffs.

Then on Wednesday at 7:30 and Thursday at 3:00 the Pirates will take on the pride of the Atlantic Coast Conference: Clemson.

Last year the Tigers were 42 and 10 and earned an at large berth to the NCAA South Regionals where they were defeated by Miami of Florida.

The game promises to be exciting and hopefully a game for the Pirates to jell into the team they were expected to be.

Golf team finishes highest ever at Pinehurst

By CHRIS HOLLOMAN
Sports Editor

Mac McLendon's ECU Pirate golf team made a very impressive showing last week in the Pinehurst Invitational Golf Tournament.

Playing in a field of twenty teams the Pirates finished 7th, the highest finish ever for an ECU golf team in the invitational.

First place went to Oklahoma State at 1105. Second was UNC-Ch. Third place was Wake Forest and fourth place went to Georgia Southern. Oral Roberts University grabbed fifth position and N.C. State and ECU rounded out the top seven.

Individual scores for ECU were, Keith Hiller with a 249, Mike Buchmaster at 231, Donnie Owens 241, David Brogan 230, Tim Parkin 248, and Steve Jones with a total of 236.

This week the Pirates will be participating in the Iron Duke Golf Tournament.

Baseball team basks in the sunlight, tramples James Madison 16-6 in a fifteen hitter

The Pirates are making their head coach, Monte Little, seem like a prophet. During the cold spell of last week, ECU was not hitting the ball well. Coach Little said that as soon as the weather warmed, so would the Pirate bats. Saturday, against James Madison, the weather warmed. So did the team bats. ECU won the game 16-6, getting 15 hits in the process.

East Carolina's prize rookie from last season, Mickey Britt, seems to be picking up where he left off last year in his pitching. In 1977, Britt was 9-1, the only loss being in the NCAA Atlantic Regionals. So far in 1978, Britt is 3-0, and has not allowed an earned run in 21 innings pitched. In a total of 101 innings pitched at ECU, Britt has allowed but 15 earned runs. That is a 1.33

E.R.A.

In the 16-6 win over James Madison, ECU shortstop Bobby Supel had two triples in three at bats. The most triples ever in one season at ECU is three, and has been accomplished by nine players.

Eddie Gates has stolen three bases this season to raise his career total to 26. That is only four shy of the record of 30 held Geoff Beaston. Billy Best is not far behind Gates, though. Best has recorded 20 career stolen bases.

The Pirates seem to be hitting the long ball with more frequency than in the past. ECU has hit seven home runs in the eight games played. Pete Paradossi, Bobby Supel and Raymie Styons are tied for the team lead with two each. Macon Moye has the other home run.

East Carolina has encountered more bad weather in the early season than usual. Last season, only one ECU game was rained out. Just last week, the Pirates had two games cancelled due to weather conditions.

The 1978 ECU baseball team could play its own version of the name game. For instance, there is

Mack - Honorable Mention All-American

By STEVE BYERS
Assistant Sports Editor

Oliver Mack, perhaps the most exciting basketball player in East Carolina history, has been named Honorable Mention All-American by the Associated Press International.

The sensational junior has also won accolades from the Basketball Writers Association, being named to the all district team along with Phil Ford, Rod Griffin, Mike Giminski, etc. There are eight districts in the country and ten players chosen from each district.

Basketball weekly has also tabbed Mack as an All-Atlantic Honorable Mention All-American.

ECU Assistant Coach Herb Dillon was not surprised at the honors.

"He's a super player and he's had a great year," added Dillon. "He had 13 games where he scored over 30 points, and two when he scored over 40."

"He finished as the fourth leading scorer in the nation with a 28 point average," Dillon continued.

"Two of the players in front of him were seniors and the other was Larry Bird, a phenomenal player. Mack also played 938 minutes which is remarkable."

To find Mack's credentials

one must only look as far as the ECU record book where he holds the high marks in scoring in one game, in one season, most field goals attempted, made in both single game and season, and the list goes on.

"He was fantastic," said Dillon, but I know he would trade all those points and records for a winning record and a chance at post season tournament."

The official comment of late on the team as a whole is "no comment", and it seems as though a sleeping giant is brewing in the dark dungeons of Minges Coliseum as preparation for next year begins. Look for Mack to be a part of that giant Oliver Mack's school records set to date.

Most points in a game - 47 vs. USC-Aiken.

Most points in a season 699. Scoring average (year) 28.0. Most field goals in one game 19 vs. USC-Aiken. Most field goals attempted in one game 36 vs. Maryland. Most field goals attempted in a season 554. Most field goals made over a season 292.

Mack scored 47 points versus the University of South Carolina at Aiken to break a long standing record of Jim Modin along with being second on the team in assists.

Softballers split doubleheader

By PAM WALLACE
Staff Writer

East Carolina played a doubleheader in softball Friday against Shaw University and UNC. They took Shaw with a score of 16-5 and fell to Carolina 3-2.

Leigh Sellars pitched the Bucs to their win over Shaw, and Donna LaVictoire and Lisa Ellis led the hitting with two each.

Four runs in the first inning and five added during the second put East Carolina very much in command.

Shaw scored only one run in the second inning. Both teams scored two runs in the third inning. East Carolina scored five more times allowing Shaw only two runs during remainder of the game.

In the second game Carolina took the lead in the third inning with two runs. They held East Carolina scoreless until the sixth and seventh inning. Robin Faggart hit a homer in the seventh inning, and led ECU hitting with 2.

After the games Friday East Carolina has a 3-1 record. The team travels to Campbell Wednesday.

Coach Dye optimistic as 14 starters return

East Carolina University football has produced 50 wins and but 16 losses over the last six years, ranking the Pirates as one of the nation's 15 winningest Division I teams over that period. There is very little reason to believe that this should change for the worse during the 1978 season.

Fourteen Pirate starters return from 1977, eight on defense and six on offense, along with the starting punter and snapper of last year. From an experience standpoint, this is the best situation Pay Dye and staff have had in five years with the Pirates.

"I'm personally very excited about this football team," said Dye. "We are all looking forward to this year. I think the attitude, enthusiasm and other such surrounding factors are all very positive."

"It is not secret that myself, our coaches and our players were very disappointed with the way the season ended last year (8-3, and a season ending loss to William and Mary in the Oyster Bowl). By the standards we have tried to establish and reach at East Carolina, 8-3 is not the type season we want."

Offensively, three of the four leading ground gainers of 1977 return to bolster Dye's wishbone attack. Junior fullback Theodore Sutton (5-9, 200) led the way last year with 706 yards, junior quarterback Leander Green (5-8, 175) had 546 yards in a shared role as signal caller, and senior all-America candidate Eddie Hicks (6-2, 210) had 393 yards in a year that the running backs saw the ball very little. However, one must consider Hicks' entire career which shows 1586 yards in 229 carries for a phenomenal 6.9 yards per carry over three years!

"We should have the best running backs yet," said Dye. "As for our quarterback situation, Leander is a sure winner."

We hope that someone else will also establish himself as a winner at quarterback. I would very much like to have a shared role as we did last year so successfully with Leander and Jimmy Southerland. Also, we need some depth at fullback to go with Sutton."

The top candidates for the other running back position are Doug Banks (Soph., 6-0, 203), a transfer from North Carolina that sat out last year; speedstar Anthony Collins (Soph., 6-0, 200), winner of the Outstanding Freshman Award; and Sam Harrell (Sr., 6-2, 210), a strong reserve the last two years that could really break it open in 1978.

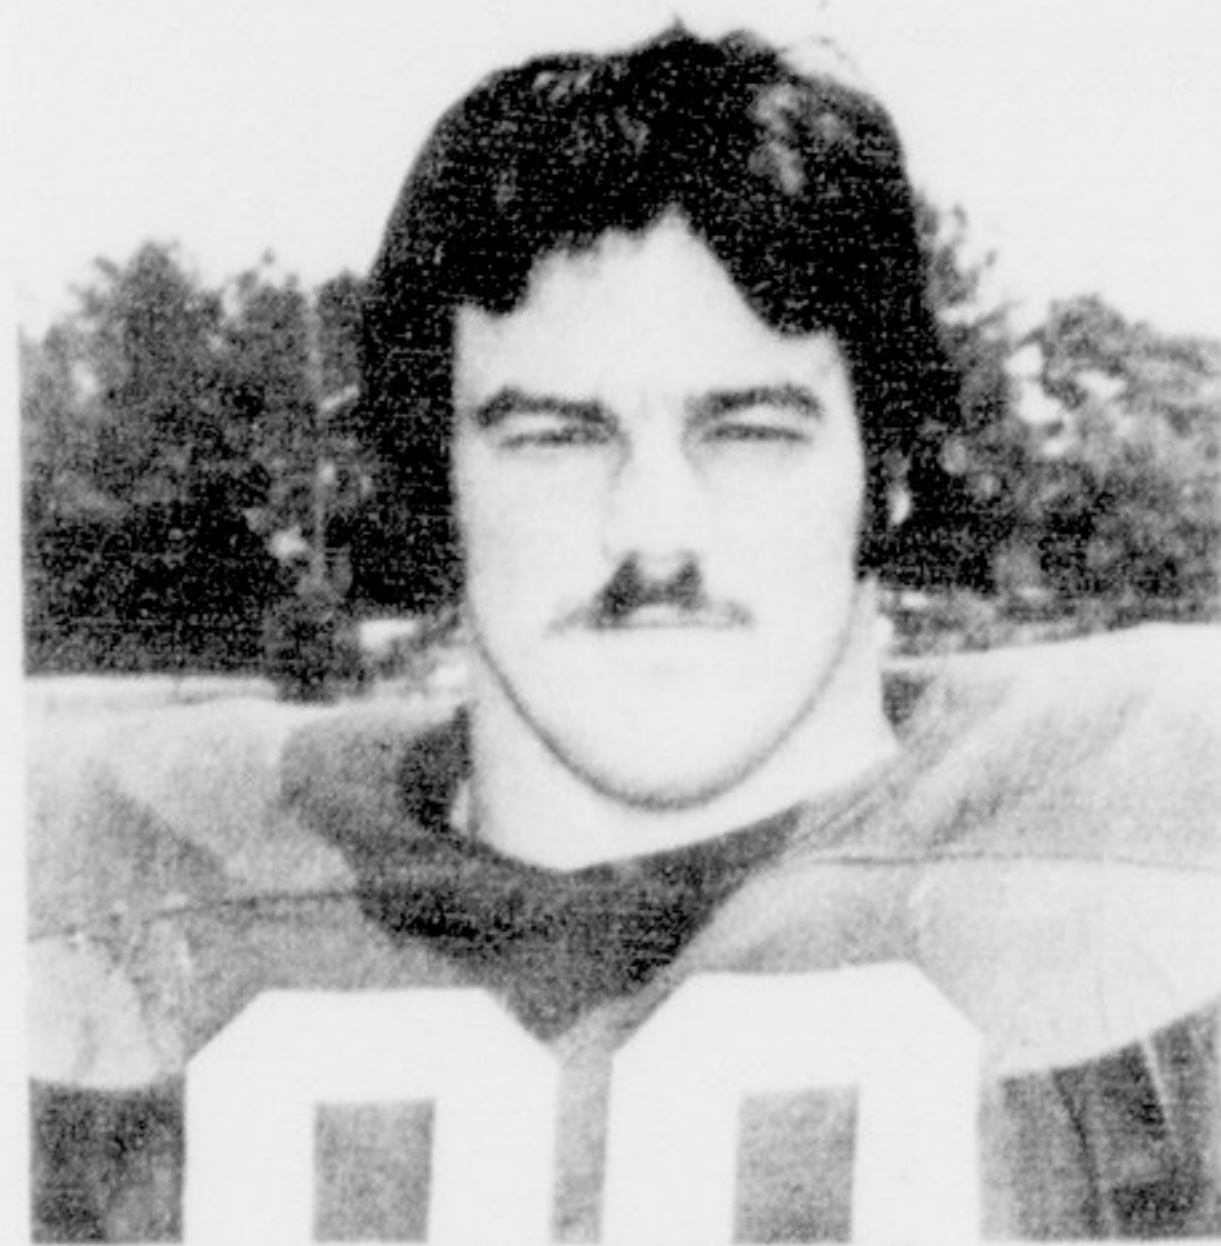

The offensive line will be the biggest ever under Dye, as size has never been an asset up front before. Senior tackle Mitchell Smith (6-3, 250) and senior guard Nelson Smith (6-1, 240) will be the leading forces. Reserves Mike Heywood (Sr., 6-3, 235), Mitchell Johnston (Sr., 6-3, 245), Matt Mulholland (Sr., 6-0, 250), Wayne Inman (Jr., 6-4, 240) and James "Tootie" Robbins (Soph., 6-5, 240) will battle for the other starting tackle and guard positions.

"Up front in the interior we have experience except at center," noted Dye. "Our major problems on offense will be finding winners at center, split end and tight end. We have the material, so it is just a matter of their developing as we hope for."

Jeff Hagans is the man at center. The 6-1, 235 junior native of Greenville, played center in a reserve role last year. He's the biggest prospect Dye has had for the center spot since coming to East Carolina. With refined work, Hagans could prove a solid man.

Others that could form a stronger nucleus at center are Ron Headley (Soph., 6-3, 235) and walkon Matt Jones (Soph., 6-3, 225).

With split end Terry Gallaher, who broke virtually every ECU passing mark, and tight end Barry Johnson graduated, the Pirates will not have veterans to turn to this year in those vital blocking positions of the wishbone.

Billy Ray Washington (Jr., 6-1, 195) will be moved from reserve tight end to split end (4.4 speed), while Joe Godette (Jr., 6-3, 215) who started most of last year at offense tackle, will move to tight end. Split end help will come from Vern Davenport (Jr., 6-3, 200) and Mike Hawkins (Soph., 5-9, 180), a running back last year, being moved to split end.

Defensively, only three changes will occur due to graduation. Both linebackers, all-America Harold Randolph and Harold Fort, along with free safety Steve Hale, are gone. Otherwise, one can look across a depth chart from last year and count the remainder of the starters as status quo. Actually, a starter could be put in every position, as at some point in the 1977 season, two other linebackers and another free safety did start.

"We have the opportunity to have a fine defensive club in 1978," said Dye.

"There's more experience back than ever before. But I never thought we were a good defensive team at any time last year, so we do have considerable work to do."

MATT MULHOLLAND

Three defensive ends, senior all-America candidate Zack Valentine (6-2, 210), junior John Morris (6-1, 195); and senior Fred Chavis (6-2, 200) have all started over the last two years and proven strong.

Junior Woodrow Stevenson (6-5, 230), senior Wayne Poole (5-11, 240), and junior Noah Clark (6-2, 225) have all started during the last two seasons at defensive tackle. Clark, however, is being moved to nose guard this season in order to get all three of the big men in the game at one time.

Senior Oliver Felton (5-9, 215), a two-year starter at nose guard returns, but will be battling with Clark for the starting nod.

In the secondary, senior all-America candidate and two-year starter Gerald Hall, an excellent free and strong safety and punt return specialist, heads a list of three returning starters. Cornerbacks Willie Holley (Jr., 5-11, 185) and Charlie Carter (Jr., 5-10, 180) are the other two.

A replacement must be found for graduated Steve Hale at free safety. Hall likely will play at free safety, with junior Ruffin McNeil (5-11, 190) the most likely candidate for the strong safety position. Others to consider in the secondary plans are James Freer (Jr., 5-8, 175) and Thomas McLaurin (Jr., 5-11, 175), both reserves in the secondary like McNeil last season, along with Wayne Perry (Soph., 6-1, 185) and Bill Pinkney (Soph., 5-10, 195).

For the first time since the arrival of Pat Dye, the linebacker position will not be projected as a major strength. However, that is not to say it will be a weakness. Junior Mike Brewington (6-4, 230) and senior Tommy Summer (6-1, 205) will move to starting roles, replacing the graduated Harold Randolph and Harold Fort. Both Brewington and Summer have played extensively over the previous two years and have at times been starters. Experience, therefore, does exist at linebacker. Depth could be a problem.

The kicking game will find senior Rodney Allen (6-1, 195) punting again, after averaging 37.3 last year. Junior snapper Gene Winters also returns.

Pirates to play six straight home contests pitcher (Rick) Ramey throwing to catcher Raymie (Styons). Then there is the name Davis. ECU has two, Butch and Bill; and the name Hardison, there is Tim and Clarence. As for an unpronounceable name, how about Chip Giannettino?

Raymie Styons currently is working on a five-game hitting streak, the longest of the early season. Only one game this year has Styons failed to get a hit in.

This week, ECU has a six game home stand that could be the most important of the season. Monday and Tuesday, Eastern Connecticut State comes to Harrington Field. Following those games, Clemson University will be in Greenville for two games, Wednesday March 22 and Thursday March 23.

Monte Little says it is a different feeling being an independent this year. "Each game is so important," he said. "At the start of the season, I was taking the losses too personally, and it was affecting the team. I think I've learned my lesson, though, so I'll try to stay cool for the rest of the season."

Monte Little has now compiled a 35-15 record over the past season-plus. That is a .700 winning percentage.
