Letter from the Editor

Graduates of Spring 2019,

Congratulations! The dedication and hard work you have put forth during your time at East Carolina has finally paid off. You deserve acknowledgment for your accomplishments here at ECU and recognition for the opportunities that your future may hold. Your time at here has been marked by success, and sometimes very tough hardships, but you made it! The obstacles that you have overcome and the triumphs that you have enjoyed have better equipped you for the life that is to come. The path that awaits you is filled with opportunity and you are more prepared than ever to follow your dreams wholeheartedly. As you walk away from ECU, your legacy and impact will remain for many years to come, so we appreciate you for being such a significant part of the Pirate community.

We know many may question our choice of spelling in regards to our publication title. We intentionally chose to exchange the traditional “aweigh” with “away” as a lighthearted play on words. Plus, “Anchors Aweigh” is typically reserved for naval and military purposes. In our eyes, it is now time for ECU graduates to sail “away” and begin chasing their horizons.

With that being said, it is my pleasure to welcome you to the very first issue of Anchors Away, ECU’s graduation magazine produced by the students at Pirate Media I. This publication would not be possible without you graduates, so I extend my gratitude to the thousands of you. Being distributed at fall and spring commencement ceremonies, this publication will act as a keepsake highlighting your time at ECU. Within this magazine, you will find your name, along with a few memories that we felt best highlighted your time here. Our highest hope is that you will keep this magazine as you move forward into the next chapter of your lives, and use it to reflect on the many memories had here at East Carolina. I hope you enjoy the first edition of Anchors Away as much as my staff and I enjoyed creating it!

Cheers to all of your accomplishments and future endeavors!

Go Pirates,

Brett Pennington, Editor-in-Chief

Pirates together, Pirates forever

Dear ECU graduate:

The Commencement events you've experienced today created a memory you will never forget, just like many other special moments you've enjoyed at ECU. Your attention turns now to whatever comes next: a job, a job search, graduate school, or maybe some time off to ponder your future. Whatever is ahead, I extend congratulations to you upon reaching this major milestone. I know it will always rank among the most important moments in your life.

You now join more than 175,000 ECU alumni who have shared your voyage and are making a difference across our region, state, nation and world. Each of them has made ECU part of their identity for life, and I know you'll proudly serve as another of our thousands of ECU "brand ambassadors." As you share your ECU story, remember that this university opens doors to an enormous range of careers, with a variety of choices that rivals any other institution in North Carolina. That emphasis on careers will continue, preparing our students to become the very best teachers, doctors, dentists, nurses, allied health professionals, engineers, business leaders, artists, performers and even such specialized professionals as marine archaeologists.

ECU enrollment has grown by more than 21 percent over the last decade, and its powerful impact is felt far and wide. Your university contributes $3 billion a year to the regional economy, confers more than 5,800 degrees annually, and employs a work force of 5,700, including 1,792 full-time faculty. It operates with a budget of almost a billion dollars and over $40 million in extramural funding in support of research, service, and instruction.

You have graduated from a great national university, and you have a wonderful story to tell. We hope you'll stay engaged through regular visits back to campus and through alumni communications, our website and ongoing advertising and news coverage. We hope to make you very proud.

Until your next visit, remember that we are Pirates Together, Pirates Forever!

Go Pirates!

The mission toward success

ECU Community,

We often say around here that “it’s a great day to be a Pirate.” Well, this academic year we’ve had 365 of those great days, and they add up to no less than one great year to be a Pirate! It’s so nice when an institution proclaims its mission and then actually lives it. We are, after all, authentic Pirates, and these are indeed great days.

Our mission places clear focus on student success and regional transformation. Those are in no way isolated dimensions. In fact, some of the most exciting advances at ECU this past year have occurred at the intersection of student and regional success. ECU’s rapidly emerging emphases on innovation and entrepreneurship place students in the midst of applying what they learn in the classroom to economic development. Students are catching on very quickly that it takes a team to succeed when it comes to bringing new ideas, new services, and products to the market.

I think we’ll look back at the 2018-19 academic year as a watershed year in which we formalized our approaches to innovation and entrepreneurship with the help of the Honors College, the Miller School of Entrepreneurship, the Division of Research, Economic Development and Engagement, and leaders from every corner of our campus. Make no mistake, this effort will only grow because students are driving the change. Our culture, five years out, will be a positive reflection of the seeds that were sown this year.

Another hallmark of undergraduate student success at ECU is the level of engagement that students take advantage of. High Impact Practices (HIP) include undergraduate research, study abroad, service-learning, internships, and other forms of experiential learning. I am so proud that 78 percent of ECU students have engaged in at least two HIPs during their ECU stay. This is well above the national norm (54%) and speaks loudly of the character of our students and the opportunities provided by faculty and staff. ECU students know how to team up to solve problems and they engage enthusiastically.

The future is so bright at ECU and we are building for it to continue to be just that. We have major investments in athletics, student life, and academics; this balance of investments is intentional. We will enjoy a beautifully renovated football stadium next season, and with that, the Saturday spectacle will only get better. We opened two new student centers (East and West campuses) to make sure that students have inviting spaces to live and learn. This summer, we will break ground on a new Life Sciences and Biotechnology Building: 140,000 square feet of state-of-the-art research/teaching facility, where students learn the excitement of team science to solve problems facing health, the environment, and manufacturing.

It’s a great time to be a Pirate, to celebrate the past year, and to look forward to the next. Glad we can share it all together. Arghhhhh!!

Regards,
Ron M, Provost

The timeless voyage of a Pirate

Congratulations Class of 2019!

Graduation marks the distance of what you once were and who you are now becoming. While graduation indicates the end of your undergraduate education at ECU, it also signifies the beginning of a lifetime of pride, achievement, memories and commitment to your alma mater. As you venture beyond ECU, the path before you is yours to clear and build. May your journey lead you down an amazing path of adventure and success.

During your undergraduate years, your experiences were many and varied. You engaged in scholarly events, enhanced your leadership skills and served the community. In addition, you had a little fun along the way, and you had the honor of being the first graduating class to experience the new main campus student center.

As you depart the comfort you came to know at ECU I want to remind you to always dream. If you want to control the direction of your journey, you must control your thoughts. What we think we become. Dream big and chase those dreams with vigor and passion. Things may not always go as planned, but dreams serve as your focus and will steer you back to the path envisioned.

I am confident you have acquired what you need to seize the most exciting opportunities and address the world's challenges. As ECU students you each have the potential for leadership in your chosen area. At ECU you became an engaged global citizen. You are equipped to understand our diverse world, and you will change it still.

You are now an alumnus. East Carolina University has prepared you to lead, to transform your passion into action. Use your voice to influence, inspire and empower positive change wherever you go. The future is upon you but take a moment to remember your undergraduate experiences and appreciate them. Most importantly, remember you are forever a Pirate (so please do give back with your time, talent, treasure). The continued involvement of our alumni strengthens ECU and Pirate Nation!

Be proud of what you have accomplished and remember those who have supported you to reach this milestone. I wish you every success and encourage you to stay connected to ECU.

Virginia D. Hardy, PhD, Vice Chancellor of Student Affairs

A voice for every Pirate

Graduates of the spring class of 2019,

Let me be the first to say congratulations! Your years of hard work, sweat, tears, and countless 'purple & gold' chants have come to fruition. It has been my pleasure to serve you all this past year as your Student Body President and as a fellow upcoming graduate. I was elected to serve with my platform as 'A Voice for Every Pirate,' and I hope to continue to provide this voice alongside you all, no matter where the future may take us. As May 3rd quickly approaches, I have a few pieces of advice for anyone who reads this. Allow me a second to don the hat of an armchair psychiatrist, and give you some parting advice.

Firstly, we must realize that we are all joining a unique group in society as college educated individuals. This is a luxury that unfortunately many people in our country never get to explore due to various reasons and factors. As such, we must never let this privilege go to waste in our service to others. We must take up causes and use our positions in society to fight for those who may not have a voice. Whatever mantra that you subscribe to, there is always an avenue or an opportunity to serve others. Our news is ripe with stories of people who are self-serving or use their positions to take advantage of others; I implore each of you to change the cycle. A simple act of kindness or a mission of advocacy can change the lives of countless people.

Secondly, forgive me for the cliché, but do not ever forget your roots. As you rise and ascend through the ranks of whatever profession or path that you choose, never neglect those below you. The chances are very high that you will achieve great things based on a combination of your own initiative and drive coupled with the help of those above you. You would be doing yourself and society a disservice to forget this and not bring others up with you. A leader is only as successful as their weakest link. Shore up the 'links' around you through promoting cultures of positivity and productivity rather than tearing others down to build yourself up. Too often do we see successful people become so enthralled with their own lives, that they let those around them struggle and drown.

Finally, do not let others define success for you. Many people spend their whole lives chasing a larger paycheck or more material items. While this might spell success for you, realize that it can take many other forms. The bible tells us that 'money is the root of all evil,' and regardless of your religious beliefs, I think this can be wholly applicable. As our nation and our world continually pursue greater and greater financial status, we neglect our mental and physical wellbeing. When everything is all said and done and our final day arrives, no one will remember the size of your bank account. What truly transcends time is the impact that you made on those around you. Dedicate yourself to this, and you will truly have lived a complete life.

So, 2019 graduates of ECU, there you have it, my brief thoughts on what leads to a successful life, post-graduation. Whatever you choose to take away from this, rest easy knowing that ECU has given each of us the tools and skills to go forth in to the world and do great things while changing society for the better. And as you walk across the stage, remember the saying "Once a Pirate, Always a Pirate."

Loyal and Bold,

Jordan A. Koonts, 2018-2019 Student Body President

Congratulations

Set sail to new horizons

Rachel,

Words can't express how proud we are to have had a front seat to witness you "finding yourself" during your college career. Through all the changes, we may have not always agreed on which way you should turn, but rest assured, we will always be here to assist with whatever you need to help you reach your goals. You've grown into a beautiful, intelligent and ambitious young woman, and we can't wait to see all of the great things you'll do!

Love,

Mom, Dad and Jessie ('17)

CONGRATS MATT

Things did not always come easy for Matthew, he had to work hard and he did. His work and dedication to excellence, fairness, honesty and kindness are qualities for which we all should aspire. His award winning articles for The East Carolinian and subsequently becoming editor of the newspaper make me exceptionally proud of my son, a boy, now a man, who has always been the best person I have ever known.

I love you more than words could ever say.
-Mom

Congratulations to our Maryland girl, Samantha Walsh! We are so proud of you!

Mom and Dad

Dear Kayla,

We're so full of love and pride watching you reach this great milestone in life. Be proud of yourself you deserve it for all that you've accomplished at ECU. Continue with the same determination and dedication and you will have a successful future. Always remember to stay true to yourself, be kind and never give up.

Congratulations! You did it!

We love you so very much,
Mom and Dad. xoxoxoxo

Lauren,

It's been a long journey, and now you are entering an exciting new beginning. You can always count on me to be there for you. I am so proud of you, and I know that is your Mom is too!

Congratulations, and I love you!

Dad

Ze'Ondre,

Congrats to my grandson! You always make me and your grandpa very proud of you. Continue to always strive for the most.

Love always,

Romona and Cornelio Johnson

SEPTEMBER 2018

East Carolina University closed at 12:00 p.m. on September 11, 2018, and asked students to leave town ahead of Hurricane Florence's projected impact on eastern North Carolina. Florence was originally projected to make direct landfall in North Carolina and head straight for Greenville, but changed course at the last moment, sparing Greenville from a direct hit. Scott Curtis, a meteorology professor at ECU said his biggest area of concern was the hurricane stalling out over eastern North Carolina and dropping heavy amounts of rainfall in the area.

OCTOBER 2018

East Carolina University celebrated Homecoming with its annual traditions of a Saturday football game, skit night, a banner competition, parade and food drive. During Saturday's football game, seniors Rebecca Parada and Phys Collins were named Homecoming Queen and King. During the Homecoming food drive, ECU collected 22,388 pounds of food. The football team lost on Homecoming weekend 37-10 to University of Central Florida.

NOVEMBER 2018

Ahead of the midterm elections, East Carolina University and the ECU Center for Leadership and Civic Engagement worked to help students register to vote and get to voting locations to participate in the election. ECU provided transportation to voting locations for students who needed help getting to the polls. The CLCE also helped students register to vote and learn where to vote depending on where they lived.

DECEMBER 2018

More than 2,200 students graduated from East Carolina University in the fall semester. On Dec. 14, 2018, 1,655 bachelor, 585 graduate and 38 doctoral degrees were conferred. ECU Board of Trustees member Fielding Miller encouraged students to use their new degrees to go out and succeed in life.

Year in Review

MARCH 2019

On March 18, 2019, Chancellor Cecil Staton resigned as the 11th chancellor of East Carolina University. Staton said he did not initiate the conversations leading to his resignation, but confirmed the discussions had been ongoing for several months. Staton could not address some questions about what led to his resignation though due to a non-disparagement agreement he signed with the University of North Carolina Board of Governors.

FEBRUARY 2019

Long time eastern North Carolina congressman Walter B. Jones passed away on Feb. 10, 2019 at the age of 76. Jones was the representative of North Carolina's 3rd Congressional District in the House of Representatives. He held that office since 1995. Officials from across the state and country celebrated Jones' life and spoke highly of the eastern North Carolina resident.

JANUARY 2019

After years of construction, East Carolina University opened its new Main Campus Student Center on Jan. 7, 2019. The 220,000 square foot building was meant to serve as the new "living room" for students, according to university officials. The new center welcomed new restaurants for students, a new Dowdy Student Store and offices for many student and campus organizations.

HOMECOMING

From the lucky pair who gets crowned at the homecoming football game to the neverending concert line which winds around the perimeter of Bate Building, homecoming week is a decade-long tradition no Pirate takes for granted.

“Homecoming is a time that captures the true essence of our campus as a whole,” Christina Chiha, ECU’s 2019 Homecoming chair, said. “In addition to having a lineup of engaging events for students to partake in, this week also serves as a form of nostalgia to our alumni, who have made countless contributions to our campus post-graduation.”

For an entire week, festivities of all kinds are on display for ECU students to enjoy and even compete in, from the traditional skit competition held in Minges Coliseum to the annual homecoming football game, which draws alumni and current students in the stands of Dowdy-Ficklen to root for the victory of purple and gold.

“Fall is my favorite season for a reason and besides the weather, homecoming serves as the other half of that reason,” Matthew Jones, a senior computer science and physics double major, said. “At least when I graduate, ECU will always be a place I can look to for that.”

HALLOWEEN

The most haunted day of the year has made East Carolina University a namesake in the social scene, as young adults from all across the Tar Heel state often come to Greenville year after year to make their Oct. 31 one to remember.

“Halloween is a time where you can be your messiest and spookiest self,” Rachel Dwight, senior nursing major, said. “It’s a time that can only be defined as ‘memorable’ if you spend it in Greenville, of course.”

When the sky darkens, Uptown Greenville morphs into a crowded catwalk of drunken laughter and Halloween attire, as students from all walks of life make their way about the cityscape dressed as figures of fiction, fact or fantasy.

DOGGIE JAMS

Every April, hundreds of attendees gather to feel the memorable buzz that spreads throughout the parking lot of 213 E. 5th St — all thanks to the live sounds of feel-good music and the contents of a 17-ounce ombre cup.

Doggie Jams is an annual music event and local tradition which started in 2010. What began as an outdoor jam session with a 25-person crowd has rapidly blossomed into a mainstream music event, a feat which exposed Sup Dogs to many tourists and has solidified their namesake to those from out-of-state.

“I just love putting on an event for students and alumni, where people are able to come together with their friends and listen to music just as the semester is about to end,” Bret Oliverio, the owner of Sup Dogs, said in an interview with The East Carolinian. “We just want this to be a really fun, high energy and safe event for everyone.”

Former Doggie Jamz headliners include Lil Jon, Brody Jenner and DJ Pauly D of the MTV hit show “Jersey Shore.” This year, Doggie Jams rang in its 10th year with headliner DJ Esco, alongside rock cover band Just The Tip and Madds, a Los Angeles based producer whose previously appeared at Coachella and the Electric Daisy Carnival (EDC).

Self-styled as “The COOLest DJ in the World,” DJ Esco is best known for his work and collaborative efforts with Grammy-winning rapper Future. From hits such as “Mask Off” and “Stick Talk,” the crowd shouted lyrics into the air, vibing with each beat drop Esco delivered with ease.

“Doggie Jams will forever be a favorite ECU memory of mine,” Lauren Smith, a senior hospitality management major, said. “It’s too bittersweet to think that I’ll have to leave it behind once I’ll graduate, but I plan to make plenty of comebacks whenever April rolls back around.”
