ROBERT W. SCOTT
GOVERNOR

Greetings,

It is my pleasure to welcome visitors to our state today who have come to see another of East Carolina University's outstanding athletic events.

Intercollegiate athletics are an important part of our state's development. Some of North Carolina's most famous sons achieved their success on the gridiron.

A fine example of this kind of athlete is Mike McGee, now the Head Football Coach at East Carolina University. Mike grew up in Elizabeth City, went to Duke University where he became an All-American, then became a fine professional player with the St. Louis Cardinals before entering the coaching field. His fame and that of others like him has reflected favorably on our state. Many people from all parts of the nation have come to North Carolina to see these athletes in action.

More important, intercollegiate athletics fosters the spirit of healthy competition. The dedication of these men you see play in Ficklen Stadium today provides a lesson for all of us because determination to reach a goal is the very life blood of our great country.

Best wishes for another successful year of college football.

Come back to North Carolina often.

Cordially,

The Pirates Club

In line with the "new look" in football, East Carolina University has consolidated all of its athletic booster groups into one, cohesive organization - The Pirates Club. Its purpose is to raise funds, through contribution from the alumni, friends and students, to support the entire athletic program which includes 13 intercollegiate sports -- football, basketball, baseball, swimming, wrestling, tennis, outdoor and indoor track, cross country, soccer, golf, lacrosse and crew. The University needs substantial assistance from friends and alumni to develop a complete and wholesome program. The Pirates Club is a division of the ECU Education Foundation, Inc. Accurate records are kept and audited annually. Funds are budgeted to each individual sport by the Athletic Director and Athletic Council. Basic membership is $100 annually. However, there is no maximum or minimum that an individual may give in support of the program. Pirates Club contributions are tax deductible. Club members enjoy many benefits such as priority in season ticket purchases, special parking at home games, use of Century Building, complimentary brochures and a monthly newsletter [weekly during football and basketball seasons], theater-type seats in Ficklen Stadium and cushion seats in Minges and the satisfaction of a working relationship with an imaginative, growing major college athletic program.

By JOHN MONTAGUE
Director of Sports Information

Given their first taste of victory, Coach Mike McGee's East Carolina Pirates want more.

Strong West Virginia comes into Ficklen Stadium this afternoon and the Pirates, fresh from a 7-0 upset of Furman last weekend, have their sights set on an even bigger upset against the Mountaineers.

The Pirates snapped a 10-game losing streak with their thrilling victory in the rain at Furman last weekend. Tailback Les Strayhorn plunged over from two yards out in the fourth quarter for the game's only touchdown. Then the ECU defense held off a dramatic Furman offensive in the final minute of the game, Pirate safety Mike Mills breaking up a fourth-down pass in the end zone to protect the 7-0 victory.

Coach McGee had great praise for his defense in the game. Furman had been averaging over 200 yards per game rushing and the Pirates, led by tackle Rich Peeler and middle linebacker Ralph Betesh, limited the Paladins to only 73 yards on the ground. Furman, which saw a four-game winning streak and chances of a Southern Conference championship go down the drain, also managed only 85 yards passing and a total of five first downs — none in the first half.

The victory was ECU's first of the year after seven defeats. It also was the Pirates' first win since a 24-21 triumph over Furman on November 1, 1969. The Pirates seem to hold a jinx on the Paladins, having beaten them the last five years in a row.

West Virginia presents a much bigger challenge. The Mountaineers of Coach Bobby Bowden are eager to rebound from a 42-8 loss to strong Penn State last Saturday. This loss dropped West Virginia's record to 5-3.

"They'll be the best team we'll see all season," said ECU assistant Al Ferguson who scouted the West Virginia-Penn State game. "They are much stronger than their record shows. Their middle linebacker (Dale Farley) is a real bear. He's 6-3 and weighs 242 and is a great one."

"And those West Virginia running backs are out of sight," continued Ferguson. "They have so many good ones they're able to use Jim Braxton, one of the top rushers in the country last year, as a tight end much of the time."

"Against Penn State their backs were slipping a lot because it was pouring rain and the West Virginia team was playing its first game of the season on natural grass and just weren't used to it. Also, Penn State played a great game."

| Nov.  | 28 | Davidson [at Norfolk]                    | 1:30 p.m.  |

The statistics show how strong the Mountaineer running game can be. Halfback Bob Gresham has carried 91 times for 641 yards (7.0 per carry) and seven TDs so far, while fullbacks Pete Wood and Ed Williams are not far behind. Wood has carried 107 times for 598 yards (5.6 average) and five TDs, Williams 98 times for 421 yards and five touchdowns also. Braxton, when he's been used in the backfield, has responded with 291 yards in 40 carries — a super 7.3 average.

Quarterback Mike Sherwood, who owns practically every Mountaineer passing mark, has completed 70 of 114 passes for 838 yards and six TDs. His two favorite targets have been split end Chris Potts, 24 grabs for 257 yards and one touchdown, and tight end Braxton, 17 catches for 351 yards and five TDs.

So the key West Virginia players to watch today are quarterback Sherwood (No. 14), running backs Gresham (No. 33), Wood (No. 40), and Williams (No. 42) and tight end Braxton (No. 44) on offense and middle linebacker Farley (No. 50) on defense.

The Mountaineers came out of the Penn State game without any major injuries. However, the Pirates weren't so fortunate. Added to the growing ECU casualty list were punter Tony Maglione (leg), linebacker Don Mollenhauer (leg) and linebacker Grover Truslow (arm). Both Maglione and Mollenhauer are questionable for today's game — which presents a real problem for the punting game since No. 2 punter Gerald Wrenn already is lost for the season with a broken collarbone. This leaves the Pirates without an experienced punter.

Seven other Pirates are ailing — four of them like Wrenn are out for the season and a sixth definitely out of the West Virginia game. Those out for the year are linebacker Ron Konrady, offensive tackle Paul Haug, split end Tim Dameron and middle linebacker David Glosson. Defensive end Ted Salmon has not dressed for the last two games and will again be sidelined today due to a foot injury.

Also, defensive tackle Rich Peeler has a bad case of tonsillitis and center Jimmy Creech a bad ankle. Peeler was hospitalized Wednesday, Thursday and Friday last week, but was released at 5 a.m. last Saturday, just in time to drive all the way down to Greenville, S.C., and play one of the best games of his career against Furman. How long Peeler, who is the heart of the ECU defense, can keep this up is unknown.

"Peeler's play against Furman was one of the most courageous I've ever seen," said McGee, "and also one of the best. Without Rich Peeler, our defense could very easily have fallen apart and we'd still be looking for that first win."

Getting the first victory of his head coaching career was a big thrill for McGee. But it's no secret that beating West Virginia would be a bigger thrill.

"We catch West Virginia at a good time," said McGee. "They played Penn State last week and have Syracuse the week after us. They'd better not be looking ahead to Syracuse, because I can promise you we'll be ready to play football this Saturday, no matter how many injuries we have."

Following today's battle with West Virginia, the Pirates have only two games left — against Marshall here next Saturday and against Davidson at Davidson on Nov. 28. The Davidson game, originally scheduled for Norfolk, Va., was switched back to Davidson by the Wildcats because of a contract dispute.

Pirates' record-breaking passer John Casazza lets one fly against Southern Illinois. A week later Casazza set records for pass attempts (43), completions (21) and yardage (270) against Richmond. He ranks among top 25 passers in nation.

East Carolina Sports Network

Jim Woods, "the Voice of the Pirates" for the past three years, will be at the microphone for the play-by-play of all 11 East Carolina University football games again this fall.

Joining Woods on the network this season will be former East Carolina star tailback Neal Hughes, who will handle the color commentary. Hughes' knowledge of the game and his close association with many Pirate players and coaches make him a big addition to the broadcasts.

WNCT in Greenville will be the originating station for the East Carolina Sports Network. It will use both its AM and FM facilities to bring five ECU night games and six afternoon contests into homes all across Eastern North Carolina.

Other stations on the network include WRMT in Rocky Mount and WGTM in Wilson. WOBR in Wanchese will air all Pirate day games, while selected games will be carried by WGAI in Elizabeth City, WFAI in Fayetteville, and WEEB in Southern Pines WKVO in Havelock and WCDJ in Edenton.

Prior to each game this fall Pirate fans can hear the 15-minute Mike McGee Pre-Game Show and Woods also will host a post-game wrap-up show with ECU coaches as his guests.

Woods, a 15-year veteran in sportscasting, is one of the most respected men in the business. The New Jersey native has twice been named Tar Heel Sportscaster of the Year by the Associated Press. His nightly sports show over WNCT-TV is watched by thousands of Eastern North Carolina sports fans.

Woods will also handle the play-by-play for all East Carolina basketball games this season for the fourth straight year.

EAST CAROLINA UNIVERSITY

Founded in 1907 as East Carolina Teachers Training School, ECU has grown from an enrollment of 123 in 1909 to 9,997 in 1970. Students come from 97 different counties in North Carolina, 40 states and 15 foreign countries. Coeds outnumber the male students 5,094 to 4,703.

ECU leads the South in the preparation of teachers. In 1920 the school was authorized to offer four-year teacher education degrees and to grant the bachelor of arts degree. A year later by an act of the General Assembly, the school name was changed to East Carolina Teachers College. The president at this time was Dr. Robert H. Wright, who headed East Carolina from the date of the first class in 1909 until his death in 1934. Under his leadership the school had grown to an enrollment of over 1,000 and was now offering a masters of arts degree.

During the period from 1934 to 1960 the school continued to grow, though not as spectacularly in terms of enrollment. A curriculum leading to a bachelor of science degree was authorized in 1941 as the college expanded to meet needs for occupations other than teaching. By 1951 undergraduate majors were offered in 17 areas and graduate programs in 10 areas. It was in that year that an act of the General Assembly changed the name to East Carolina College.

It was also during this period that intercollegiate athletics found a place in the East Carolina way of life. The first football team was fielded in 1932 under Coach Kenneth Beatty, though Pirate fans would just as soon forget that inaugural season since the team lost all five games and didn't score a point.

A major turning point for East Carolina came in 1960 when Dr. Leo W. Jenkins was inaugurated as the school's sixth president. Under the guiding hand of this dynamic man, East Carolina College became East Carolina University [in 1967] and enrollment more than doubled in a 10-year period.

Today undergraduate majors are offered in 26 fields and graduate programs in 21 areas. Besides the College of Arts and Sciences and the Graduate School, there are seven professional schools: Allied Health Professions, Art, Business, Education, Home Economics, Music and Nursing.

The face of the University is always changing. Twenty years ago there were 17 buildings on a 98-acre campus with a total physical plant value of $5 million. Today there are 52 buildings, 300 acres and a valuation in excess of $44 million.

The athletic complex alone takes up 79 acres. It consists of Minges Natatorium and Coliseum, Scales Field House, Ficklen Stadium, the Century Club Building, University Field, an all-weather track and all-weather tennis courts. Eleven intercollegiate sports have ECU varsity teams – football, basketball, baseball, cross country, soccer, wrestling, indoor track, swimming, golf, tennis, outdoor track, crew and lacrosse. The golf team plays on the Greenville Country Club course and the crew rows on the Tar River which flows through the middle of Greenville.

Greenville itself is a town of 30,000, located approximately halfway between Raleigh [the state capital] and the Atlantic Ocean. The beautiful coastal plains of Eastern North Carolina represent some of the richest, unspoiled farming country you will find anywhere in the United States. Pitt County, of which Greenville is the county seat, leads the nation in the production of leaf tobacco. However, the presence of East Carolina University has made Greenville something of a cosmopolitan cultural center in the heart of this agricultural area.

A Tale Of Two Brothers

By SONNY LEA
Sports Information Assistant

Football for Wes Rothrock is not a game or a pastime, but a way of life.

As long as the East Carolina University senior defensive end can remember he has had a football in his hands.

The big reason for this was his father. He put a football in his young son's hands as soon as he was big enough to hold it and when Wes got to junior high he had his big chance to start playing.

He couldn't play in recreation leagues around his hometown because in Enfield (population around 3,000), there just weren't any.

But, his father, H. W. (Skinny) Rothrock, didn't let that worry him. He already had big dreams about Wes going on to play college football just like he had done some years before at Wake Forest.

So, Wes started playing football in junior high and by the time he made it to high school he was pretty good. He was so good, in fact, he made All-Conference for three seasons and the Raleigh News & Observer's All-East team as a running back his senior year.

By his senior year, Rothrock was a household word around Enfield. Besides the fact that everybody knew everybody else in Enfield, high school hero Wes also had a younger brother named Sammy, who was just starting his football career at Enfield high.

Wes was a halfback on both offense and defense during his first three years of high school ball. In his senior year he was given the nod at quarterback. He started the first game, but in the second contest a little skinny ninth-grader named Sammy Rothrock took the job away from him and kept it for the rest of the season.

Wes didn't mind. Sammy was his brother and he preferred playing halfback anyway. So with a backfield half composed of kids named Rothrock, Enfield went on to a 7-2 season, the best in some years in the small Eastern North Carolina town.

A Tale Of Two Brothers

Wes came to East Carolina after a year at Hargrave Military Academy as a defensive halfback. When he arrived in Greenville, he was first tried at fullback in the Stasavich single-wing, but later found a home in the defensive backfield.

All this time, his brother Sammy was drawing all sorts of raves back home in Enfield, not as a quarterback but as a halfback just like his older brother. He, too, made All-Conference for three seasons and the Raleigh News and Observer's All-East team his senior year.

Several schools recruited Sammy, including ECU, but he finally decided on his father's alma mater, Wake Forest. He had a fair freshman season when he started at defensive cornerback for the Baby Deacons just as Wes had done for the Baby Pirates. But, in Wake Forest's spring game this past April, the younger Rothrock reached the limelight when he returned a punt for a touchdown and intercepted two passes.

As a sophomore, Sammy is playing a vital role in the Deacons' hopes. Backing up both the safety and the cornerback posts, he intercepted a pass against Virginia Tech, but it was nullified because of a penalty. His parents were there watching Wake Forest roll over the Gobblers and after the game the whole family got together and went to Raleigh to watch Wes play against N. C. State.

With all those relatives in the Carter Stadium stands, Wes knew he had to play well. And he did. He had his best game of the season against the Wolfpack--a game the Pirates lost 23-6.

With both the Rothrocks playing major college football in the "Big Five", Enfield has something to brag about. Not many high schools with an enrollment of only 150--with about 65 of that being boys--produce college football players but Enfield has two--and both have the same last name.

Every Saturday afternoon this fall, Mr. and Mrs. Rothrock have been driving around North Carolina--either to Groves Stadium in Winston-Salem to watch Sammy or to Ficklen Stadium in Greenville to watch Wes.

They are in the stands today watching Wes and the Pirates battle the Mountaineers because they have been watching their son play for 11 years now. This will be the last year they have a chance to watch both their sons play college ball. Wes will graduate this spring with a degree in physical education and with hopes of going on to take a high school coaching job.

But, Wes will be back next season watching from the stands, something he hasn't done since before junior high school. He'll even have the chance to watch his little brother on the college gridiron.

Steer-a-Year Program

If this 1,000-pound steer looks a little skeptical about Coach McGee's "Steer-a-Year" Program, he has good reason to be. McGee originated the idea here in Eastern North Carolina whereby area cattle raisers donate a steer each year to the Pirate football program. The beef would be cut up into steaks for the football players' training table. First to join in was Texas Gulf Sulphur Company of Aurora, which donated the steer pictured above. With Coach McGee are Texas Gulf Sulphur farm manager Hays Gregory [holding the steer] and Aurora plant manager Dave Edmiston.

Meet Mike McGee

A New Era Of Purple Pride

The entire East Carolina football program took on a youthful look last December with the hiring of 31-year-old Michael Burnette McGee to be the Pirates' 11th head football coach since 1932.

This Elizabeth City native is already one of the most respected, most dynamic young coaches in college football today. Otto Graham, for one, is so impressed with McGee that he asked Mike to help coach the College All-Stars in their game against the Super Bowl Champion Kansas City Chiefs in Chicago this summer.

Coaching the All-Stars in Soldiers Field was a nostalgic experience for McGee. For just 10 years ago he captained the 1960 Stars against the Baltimore Colts. Considered by many as the greatest Duke lineman of all time, McGee had capped a brilliant three-year career as a Blue Devil in the fall of 1959 by winning consensus first team All-America honors at offensive guard and receiving the Outland Trophy as the best college lineman in the United States.

Today that Outland plaque hangs above the fire place in the McGee home in Brook Valley, a popular new subdivision of Greenville. Mike bought the home because he wants to feel settled in Greenville. Having been raised in Eastern North Carolina, he loves this part of the state. He also believes in East Carolina University and its future as a major power in college football. He is dedicated to this goal, but he knows it won't be reached overnight.

McGee didn't become the capable football coach he is overnight, either.

Following his graduation from Duke in 1960 with a B.A. in business administration, Mike played three seasons for the St. Louis Cardinals in the NFL. His rookie season [1960] he was voted the Cardinal's most valuable rookie and finished third in NFL voting for Rookie of the Year. Unfortunately, a neck injury cut short Mike's very promising pro career in 1962.

McGee returned to his alma mater in 1963, joining Bill Murray's staff as offensive line coach. At the same time he enrolled in graduate school at the University of North Carolina and received his Masters in education in 1965.

After working under Murray for three seasons [1963-65], McGee moved to the University of Wisconsin where he coached the offensive line under Head Coach Milt Bruhn in 1966. The following season Murray Warmath convinced Mike to come to the University of Minnesota. So Mike spent the next three years in Minneapolis, coaching the Gophers' offensive line. In 1967 Minnesota won the Big Ten title.

Under these three men -- Murray, Bruhn and Warmath -- McGee gained experience that will be invaluable to him as a head coach. With these seven years of preparation under his belt, not to mention 10 years of playing at Elizabeth City High, Duke and in the NFL, Mike was ready last December when ECU reached out to pick him as the successor to Clarence Stasavich.

Building the Pirates into a big winner is a challenge for Mike McGee. But this man thrives on challenges. Being successful is largely a matter of pride, says McGee. At East Carolina McGee calls it "Purple Pride."

Eleven years ago ECU Coach Mike McGee capped his brilliant playing career at Duke by winning the Outland Trophy, the highest honor for a collegiate lineman.

FOOTBALL'S AMAZING MAJORS FAMILY

by TOM SILER, Sports Editor, Knoxville News-Sentinel

The Majors football story began 30 years ago. It still goes on and on, chapter after chapter, sequel added to sequel.

Father Shirley Majors started it all in 1941. And he still coaches, turning out distinguished teams at the University of the South (Sewanee).

John, eldest of five sons and now head coach at Iowa State, was a great All-America runner at Tennessee in 1956. Bobby, the youngest son, now a junior at Tennessee, also is a dazzling runner, safetyman and punter.

It all began because the father, Shirley, married to the former Elizabeth Bobo, detested farming.

He had a "piece of ground," as he puts it, in Middle Tennessee, not far from Nashville, but he hated to farm. He loved football. Shirley, a taciturn fellow who likes to hunt quail and rabbits and chew tobacco, didn't even have a college degree, but he got a chance to coach in 1941. He grabbed it.

Just One Loss

He coached at Franklin County High and at Lynchburg. Huntland (population 258) lured him away in 1949, by which time Johnny was ready to ramble with a football. Johnny scored an incredible 564 points while he played for his father, going on to the University of Tennessee in 1953. Huntland went on winning, losing one game in six years.

There was always a Majors in the lineup. Joe played next for his father, then Bill. Just to break the "monotony" there was a daughter, too — pretty Shirley Ann, and, as you might guess, she was a cheerleader and later married a football player. Larry starred for his father, too, but Bobby, the one now at Tennessee, did not. He came along too late.

In 1957, Sewanee hired Shirley Majors. Sewanee gives no athletic aid, has lofty academic levels, and stresses classical studies as a sort of prep for the Episcopalian ministry. But Shirley cracked the whip and won with the players available. He had an undefeated team his second year there, now has a 13-year record of 66-34-5.

John led Tennessee to an undefeated season in 1956 and the No. 2 ranking in the nation. He finished second in the Heisman Trophy voting and ranks as one of the brilliant single wing tailbacks of all time.

Brother Joe shunned Tennessee, figuring he was too slow for the single wing. He tried Alabama, then transferred to Florida State. His greatest thrill there was in quarterbacking his team to a 10-0 victory over Tennessee in 1958. He's now a lawyer in Tullahoma, Tenn.

Bill Vs. Joe

Bill enrolled at Tennessee in 1957, playing against Brother Joe in that big upset a year later. Bill was a great defensive player and single-wing tailback, finishing in 1960. UT hired him as a coach. He lost his life along with two other coaches in 1965 when their car was hit by a train at a grade crossing in suburban Knoxville.

Larry, considerably smaller than John, Joe or Bill, played for his father at Sewanee, helping to defeat Washington and Lee, Hampden-Sydney, Millsaps and such. He went into coaching, too, and has produced fine teams for high schools in East Tennessee.

Bobby, the baby of the family and the largest as a college player, rolled up fantastic feats in high school in football, basketball, baseball and golf. He finished up at Castle Heights Military Academy in 1967, and followed John and Bill to Tennessee the next fall.

As a 195-pound sophomore, Bobby was used as a flanker back and punt returner. He is not particularly fast but he has a deceptive gait that leaves tacklers reaching. This fall he'll return punts again, do the punting and play the all-important safety position on defense.

Saturday is always an exciting day to the Majors family. No one can rest until he gets the news on Shirley's Sewanee team, on how Bobby and the Tennessee Vols did and how Johnny's Iowa State team came out.

The Majors thrill to every victory and suffer in every defeat, and it'll be that way until their unique story ends—which is likely to be a long way off.

A BIG DAY FOR STAS

To East Carolina University Athletic Director Clarence Stasavich, December 4, 1970, will be one of the most memorable days of his career.

On that day in Charlotte, three North Carolinians are to be inducted into the North Carolina Sports Hall of Fame. "Stas" will be one of them.

At a time when records are being set and considered so important to schools, it should perk up the feathers on the Pirates' parrot to know that "Stas" has set a "first" for East Carolina University. He will be the first from ECU to be inducted into the state's Hall of Fame.

It's not unusual for outstanding athletes to turn to coaching after their playing years are over. "Stas" was no exception, but the success he has enjoyed in the coaching ranks separates him from the crowd.

"Stas" first came to Greenville in 1962, as the Pirates' head football coach. A year later he assumed the dual role of athletic director and football coach. Last December he relinquished his football duties to devote full time to the ever-expanding job of directing an athletic program at a major university.

A virtual legend in his own time in the western part of the state, Stasavich built a small college football powerhouse at Lenoir Rhyne in Hickory, where he coached from 1946 to 1961. His Lenoir Rhyne teams won nine Carolinas Conference titles and in 1960 claimed the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics national title.

His string of successes continued when he came east to Greenville in 1962. Three of his East Carolina teams in succession posted 9-1 records and won bowl games [1963-64-65]. In the second year his Pirates were members of the Southern Conference [1966], ECU shared the conference title. His overall record at East Carolina was 50-25-1. His eight years as head coach marked the most successful period in the school's 38-year gridiron history.

When you add this record at East Carolina to his Lenoir Rhyne accomplishments, you come up with a remarkable lifetime record of 170 wins, 64 losses and 8 ties as a college head coach. At the time he retired last December, there were only two other active coaches with more victories than Stasavich - Paul [Bear] Bryant of Alabama and Johnny Vaught of Ole Miss.

A member of the Helms Hall of Fame, Stasavich has been honored as National Coach of the Year twice [1959 and 1964] and District Coach of the Year five times.

Born February 9, 1913 at Georgetown, Ill., Stasavich graduated from Georgetown Township High School in 1931. In September of that year he came to North Carolina for the first time - as an undergraduate at Lenoir Rhyne. He earned an A.B. degree in science there in 1935 and added his M.A. at the University of North Carolina in 1946. He was on the Honor Roll as a senior at Lenoir Rhyne and was named to the Mu Sigma Epsilon honor society.

In addition to distinguishing himself as a student, Stasavich blazed the trail of glory on the athletic field, playing four years of football, four years of basketball, two years of tennis and one year of baseball for Lenoir Rhyne. An offensive end, fullback and defensive tackle in his football career, "Stas" won All-Conference honors three years. He achieved the same distinction as a basketball player. Twice, in 1934 and 1935, he was named to the Charlotte Observer's Flaming Five, an annual recognition of the top five all-around athletes in North and South Carolina.

His first venture into coaching came in 1935 at Campbell College in Buies Creek where he was football line coach, head basketball coach and assistant baseball coach. After three years at Campbell, "Stas" returned to his alma mater in 1938 as football line coach, assistant basketball coach and head tennis coach. His tennis teams won two conference championships.

World War II interrupted his coaching career in 1942. Stasavich entered the U.S. Navy and served with distinction in the European, Mediterranean and Pacific theaters as an LST commander.

After discharge from the service in 1946, he returned to Lenoir Rhyne - this time as head football coach and athletic director. It didn't take long for "Stas" to build his reputation as a winner. In 16 years as head coach at the Hickory School, Stasavich compiled a spectacular 120-37-7 record and won conference championships in 1951-52-55-56-57-58-59-60-61. Today he still looks back on the 1960 National Championship as his "biggest thrill in coaching."

The single wing was Stasavich's offense. In 1969 he was the last remaining advocate of this exciting formation in the major college ranks. He has authored numerous articles on football in general and the single wing in particular.

"Stas" is married to the former Helen Warlick of Hickory and they are the parents of three grown children - Rebecca Ann, Mary Helen and Walter Lewis.

THE VIKING BLOOD BANK

Meet the man who has given away more than 10,000 pints of blood. He personally has contributed no less than 62 pints, or close to eight gallons of his own. His name is Paul Schwegler. Four decades ago he was an All-America tackle at the University of Washington. In 1968, he was inducted into the National Football Hall of Fame.

Meet also some of the 220 football-oriented men who twice each year, if they are in Los Angeles, donate a pint of their blood to help those in dire need. Virile men all, most of them have a prominent football past, though some are standouts of other sports.

Over all, the personable, booming Schwegler, who has a heart THIS big, constantly stands as the prodding chief and cheerleader. When he grabs a fellow's lapels or buttonholes him, things happen. What has emerged is perhaps the most unique life-saving fraternity of its kind extant—The Viking Blood Bank.

It is quite a story, something different, something fine, something inspirational. It also is something that tugs at you, and makes one glad to know such considerate and unselfish people are around.

The story was born in 1951. Schwegler, now a sales executive at 20th Century-Fox, was determined to help a friend in need, Robert Welch. Welch, who had produced NBC's "The Comedy Hour" television show, was suffering from a bleeding ulcer. Blood transfusions were desperately needed. Responding to Schwegler's hurried calls were 10 football pals. Over a period of months, no less than 124 pints of blood were donated for Welch. It kept him alive—for ten more years, in fact.

A Call for More Blood

So the story started. Now, 10,000 pints later, who can tell where this selfless giving to the less fortunate will end? Spurred by the stimulating motivation of the Welch case, Schwegler moved on a much wider scale. First he was heeding a rising call for more blood which emanated mostly from friends of the original donors. Then the pleas from far and wide mounted as the Welch story spread.

Schwegler had but one course—get more blood and get additional men, particularly former football players, to participate.

He went to Ken Hansen, the owner of Scandia, a Los Angeles restaurant. It was there that the 10 original contributors had met at noon on Mondays, prior to visiting the blood bank. They were part of a frolicsome group, called The Vikings, which lunched monthly on the day the restaurant was normally closed. Their Chief was Schwegler.

"Look, Ken," Schwegler said, "this group has been meeting at Scandia for some time before going down to the Red Cross headquarters. Why can't we give our blood right here? Can't we bring a mobile unit to the restaurant, have our usual lunch, and make a kind of party of it?"

"I'll not only go along," Hansen quickly responded, "I'll do more. I'll provide the lunch and the libation for everyone who comes and gives a pint of blood."

500 Pints Annually

The Red Cross was agreeable if 100 pints could be guaranteed. That was no problem whatever. The program is now in its 19th year. The Vikings hold their blood-giving get-together twice each year, in the spring and in the fall. They "play" to Scandia's capacity. That means 220 donors at a time, served by two mobile units. What with other contributions between times, the total bank "deposits" come to around 500 annually.

Two Red Cross units are set up in Scandia's main dining room. In attendance are one physician and 20 nurses. It is a compelling sight.

Van Johnson of movie fame once called upon Schwegler for blood for Elsie Janis and was a regular donor thereafter. Other contributors are Evelle Younger, Los Angeles County District Attorney, Peter Pitchess, the county Sheriff, and Attorney Paul Caruso.

Thanks largely to eight pints of Viking blood, Keith Higgins is alive and living a normal life today. In 1957, when eight years old, Higgins underwent the first open-heart surgery ever performed anywhere, at the USC School of Medicine.

Besides the hundreds of recipients in Southern California, patients from such distant points as Anchorage, Alaska; Portland, Maine; and Miami, Florida, as well as cities in between, have benefited.

Hail to the Chief, not the President in this case, but to the Chief and the men of the Viking Blood Bank.

PIRATES OFFENSIVELY

Lots of changes in the offensive line last week against Furman. Guard Mike Kopp replaced John Hollingsworth at one tackle spot and tight end Bob Hileman moved over to the other tackle spot, replacing Tim Tyler, who switched to defense. Sophomore David Callahan took Kopp's starting position (the first start ever for Callahan) and tight end was taken care of by Tony Maglione, who moved over from the defense for the first time to rotate with Bill Croisetiere. The only positions that remained unchanged in the front six were one guard spot (Steve Davis) and center (Mark Pohren). Kopp did a tremendous job at his new position. The Pirates ran primarily to the left side with Kopp and Davis doing the blocking over there. .ECU ran 59 times against Furman (a season high) and passed only 17 times (a season low). The real workhorse was fullback Billy Wallace, who carried 34 times for 127 yards. Tailbacks George Whitley and Les Strayhorn also ran well, though not as often. Strayhorn gained some valuable yards and scored the game's only TD in his best performance since his debut against Toledo in the season opener. He hurt his ankle against East Tennessee and had been way off from then until last Saturday. .Flanker Dick Corrada wrote his name into the ECU record books two more times when he caught four passes for 35 yards against the Paladins. The four grabs gives him a career total of 76 - a new school record, topping by two the 74 by Dave Bumgarner. The 35 yards gives Corrada 453 this season as a pass receiver, topping the old ECU single season mark of 450, also set by Bumgarner. Corrada still needs 176 yards to break the career record for pass receiving yardage - 1,023 yards by Bumgarner. .Punter and tight end Maglione may miss West Virginia game due to leg injury he suffered against Furman. This would leave punting up to either Earl Clary or Jack Patterson, since No. 2 punter Gerald Wrenn is already out for season with broken collarbone. Also hurt - tackle Paul Haug and split end Tim Dameron, both through for season.

WEST VIRGINIA OFFENSIVELY

Like Furman, West Virginia likes to run 70 per cent of the time. However, Mountaineers are bigger, stronger and faster than Furman and can pass more effectively when they have to. Top rushers are halfback Bob Gresham (91 carries for 641 yards and 7 TDs), fullbacks Pete Wood (107 carries for 598 yards and 5 TDs) and Ed Williams (98 carries for 421 yards and 5 TDs) and halfback Jim Braxton (40 carries for 291 yards and one TD). Braxton lines up more often as a tight end than a running back. 170 of his yards came in one game - against Colorado State. .Quarterback Mike Sherwood (hit 70 of 114 passes for 838 yards and 6 TDs) holds almost every WVA passing record. He needs only two more TD tosses for career record 27. Favorite targets are Chris Potts (24 catches for 257 yards and one TD) and Braxton (17 grabs for 351 yards and 5 TDs). .Gresham, incidentally, needs 211 yards for career rushing record. He was held to 18 by Penn State last week when Mountaineers were bothered by wet field - their first outing on natural grass this season. Tackle George Boyd will miss his fourth straight game due to an injury. Other than that, WVA is in fine shape.

PIRATES DEFENSIVELY

Shutout win over Furman was Pirates' first white-washing since a 17-0 conquest of Furman in third contest of 1966 season. .ECU defense is riddled with injuries, yet still managed to play great game against Paladins. Furman had been averaging over 200 yards per game rushing and got only 73 on ground against Pirates. .Pirates rank first in Southern Conference in team defense, allowing 290.9 yards in total offense per game. Surprisingly, Pirates trail opponents in total offense by less than 200 yards - ECU has 2,133 yards gained to opponents' 2,327. .Tackle Rich Peeler and middle linebacker Ralph Betesh were standouts against Furman. Peeler had been in infirmary with acute tonsillitis since Wednesday, but got out at 5 a.m. Saturday and drove all the way to Greenville, S.C., for the game, arriving just two hours before the kickoff. He was weak, yet still played a super game. He's ECU's leading candidate for All-SC honors. Linebackers Grover Truslow and Don Mollenhauer joined the injury list against Furman, but may play against West Virginia. Definitely out against the Mountaineers are end Ted Salmon, middle linebacker David Glosson and cornerback Gerald Wrenn. The latter two are out for season as is linebacker Ron Konrady, who was hurt on first play of season and will never play football again.

WEST VIRGINIA DEFENSIVELY

Middle linebacker Dale Farley (6-3, 242) is one of best in nation. He's back near full strength after a mid-season injury. Last year Mountaineers had All-American middle guard in Carl Crennel. .West Virginia has been extremely tough to pass against this season, yielding 3 TDs passing and 17 rushing.

PIRATES OF THE PAST

JIMMY SPEIGHT

A native of Greenville, Jimmy Speight is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Speight. While a member of the East Carolina football team, Speight became one of the top backs in the Bucs' history, setting several rushing records which stood for years. He played the halfback position for his first three years as a member of the varsity, and switched to fullback as a senior. He was a starter for the final three years of his career. Following his graduation, he was signed by the Baltimore Colts, but went into the Air Force before playing any pro ball. While in the service, he was named to the All-Armed Forces team. Now holding the rank of Captain, he and his wife, Virginia, live in Colorado Springs, Colo., where Speight is an instructor in math at the Air Force Academy.

LOU HALLOW

A native of Goldsboro, Lou Hallow, was another highly-sought high schooler who elected to enter Wake Forest, and then transferred to East Carolina. He was the first Pirate ever to be named to the All-American ranks, attaining that while playing center and defensive linebacker. He was drafted by the Los Angeles Rams, but entered the Marines shortly afterward, and was named to the All-Sea team. He later played in 1958 with the Rams, and presently is in the carpet business in Greensboro. He is married to the former Sue Lanier of Beulahville, and they have four sons. Last year, he coached a Greensboro Pony League team to the national championship.

DICK CHERRY

Dick Cherry, a Washington, N.C., native, was one of the most sought-after players in North Carolina when he graduated from high school. He entered Wake Forest College, but after a short time, transferred to East Carolina where he became an outstanding quarterback. His single game passing record of 231 yards was only recently broken, and he still holds the EC mark of four TD passes in a single game, and 16 in a season. He was a starter all three years of his EC career, which was cut short by illness in his senior year. Following his graduation, he entered the coaching profession, and has become one of Eastern North Carolina's top high school coaches. He currently is the head coach at Washington High School.

TODAY'S OPPONENT

West Virginia University

WOODBURN HALL

Teacher, student, healer, artist, scientist, grower of food and forest, builder of a better world. . .these are the many faces of West Virginia University. It seeks to reconstruct the past, to understand the present, to glimpse and help create the future. The University's concerns embrace the breadth of life. . .plants and animals, man's health, his polluted environment, his prosperity, his comfort, his humanity.

The more than 20,000 students that WVU serves each year are young and old. . .from every West Virginia county and in East Africa (where the University conducts a federally funded agricultural education program). They are coal miners and industrial workers receiving technical training, company engineers keeping up with the newest technology, 18 to 21 year olds discovering the excitement of new ideas, tomorrow's doctors and engineers, teachers continuing their education, firemen, housewives learning about art and how to become wiser consumers.

WVU's organization into 17 colleges, schools and divisions indicates the variety of its intellectual life: The College of Agricultural and Forestry, College of Arts and Sciences, Center for Appalachian Studies and Development, College of Commerce, Creative Arts Center, School of Dentistry, College of Engineering, Graduate School, College of Human Resources and Education, School of Journalism, College of Law, School of Medicine, Divisions of Military Science and Air Force Aerospace Studies, School of Mines, School of Nursing, School of Pharmacy, School of Physical Education.

The most significant development in WVU's recent history has been its emergence as a regional center for graduate and professional education. For the first time in its history, WVU awarded more than 1,000 graduate degrees at its 101st Commencement on May 17, 1970. West Virginia University has awarded more graduate degrees during the past 10 years than during the previous 90 years.

Pirates Play 14 Games At Home

After finishing runnerup to Davidson in the Southern Conference race the past two seasons, Head Basketball Coach Tom Quinn thinks this might be the year his ECU Pirates go all the way. Forwards Jim Gregory and Jim Fairley – both leading candidates for All-SC honors – return to lead the Pirates. Also returning from last year's team which posted a 16-10 record are guards Mike Henrich and Julius Prince and forward Lyn Green. And there's help coming up from last year's strong frosh team in the persons of 6-10 pivot man Al Faber, guard Dave McNeil and forward Dave Franklin. If the sophs develop quickly it could be a very pleasant season for Minges Coliseum fans who will get to see the Bucs play 14 home games including a big one against Davidson on Jan. 19, 1971.
