Vol. 1.

Greenville, N. C., January 3, 1895.

No. 21.

Local Trains and Boat Schedule.

Passenger and mail train going North, arrives 8:22 A. M. Going south, arrives 6:37 P. M.

North Bound Freight, arrives 9:45 A. M., leaves 10:15 A. M.

South Bound Freight, arrives 1:51 P. M., leaves 2:11 P. M.

Steamer Myers arrives from Washington Monday, Wednesday and Friday leaves for Washington Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

Weather Bulletin.

Rain to-night, Friday fair and warmer.

Granulated Sugar 5 cents a pound, and Seedless Raisins at Old Brick Store.

Messrs Ola and Ernest Forbes went out hunting awhile yesterday afternoon and brought in two ducks and a fine turkey gobbler.

This has been the most disagreeable day since the bad weather commenced. Snow is preferable to the cold rain of this morning.

Agents are taking so many colored hands from points on this road that an extra coach for their accommodation had to be put on the passenger train this week.

The next Newbern fair, which begins Monday, February 18th, promises to be the most interesting yet held. Many attractions have already been secured.

Deputy Sheriff H. T. King stopped some of the darkies who were about to get off this morning. There were matters in Court that required their presence.

There was a big trial before Esquire B. S. Sheppard to-day over the ownerships of a pig. The contestants were Richard Craft and Jerry McLawhorn, the former having sworn out a warrant for the latter. About twenty witnesses were present. The case was dismissed at plaintiffs cost.

Some of the boys out of a job since the new year came in say there is not much fun in loafing. Greenville needs enough enterprises to give everybody employment.

The Free Press says that L. Schultz & Co., doing business at Kinston and Newbern, have assigned. Liabilities about $25,000 with assets between $25,000 and $30,000.

Agent J. R. Moore requests us to state that hereafter no freight or express matter will be delivered to any party other than the consignee unless a written order is filed therefor. No express matter will be received after 8 o'clock A. M. for forwarding the same day.

Falkland Notes.

FALKLAND N. C., Jan 3.—Early last night this town was thrown into much excitement by some one reporting that cotton was burning at Cook's gin house. A large crowd gathered there but could find no fire.

Several changes have been taking place here for the new year. Mr. B. B. King has moved to Goldsboro and his house will be occupied by Dr. Morrill. Mr. C. U. Vines has rented his house to Mr. A. O. Hight and will board.

J. R. Walker Dead.

His many friends learn with sorrow of the death of Mr. J. R. Walker, which occurred yesterday afternoon at the home of his father, Mr. A. S. Walker, ten miles from Greenville. He had two hemorrhagic chills but was thought to be getting along very well, when he took a relapse yesterday and died in a short while. He was about 25 years old and a splendid young man. He clerked during the past fall for Mr. Alfred Forbes and made a great many warm friends here. The community sympathizes with the bereaved family.

According to Dun's Review the business failures in this county during 1894 were about the same in number as in 1893, but the aggregate liabilities were $163,238,404 less.

Mr. Josephus Daniels has resigned his position as Chief clerk of the Interior Department. He will return to North Carolina and devote his whole attention to his paper, the Raleigh News and Observer.

The death-rate of New York for 1894 was the lowest in the history of the city. There were 41,212 deaths. The rate was 21.05 to the 1,000. In the same period there were 17,388 marriages and 55,943 births. The report shows that 156 deaths resulted from small pox, 541 from scarlet fever, 2,371 from diphtheria, 2,177 from heart diseases, 4,762 from pneumonia, 4,687 from phthisis, 2,492 from Bright's disease and nephritis. Died in institutions, 10,015. Died in tenement houses, 26,149.

Gov. Carr has appointed John E. Woodard Solicitor in this the Third district. This is done upon receipt of a letter from Claude M. Benard, who declined the commission. In his letter Mr. Benard says: "I would suggest that you appoint some high-toned and honest and honorable gentleman, such as C. M. Cooke, D. Worthington, A. L. Blow or F. G. James, all Democrats, but who know the facts and I believe would not contest a judgment in my favor at the first term of the Superior court."

According to the report of Comptroller Eckels there are now in the United States 3,650 national banks, of which 483 are in the South, so that the North, with a population about twice as large as the South, has 3,167 more national banks. It is true that there are more and larger cities in the North than in the South, more manufactories, and more business, but still this exhibit shows how the banking business and the volume of currency are monopolized by that section. Is it surprising that, under these conditions, there is a strong and a wide-spread demand in the South for State banks? With the start the North has had, and the abundance of the money in banking circles of that section, and the scarcity of money in this section, we never can establish national banks enough to give our people a reasonable proportion of the volume of money in circulation. The bankers up there say we have money enough, and doubtless there may be for them. Often they have more than they can find profitable use for, while the South hasn't half as much as she needs, and this will always be the case while the present monetary system continues, and the North has the monopoly of the national banks, as she has now.—Wilmington Star.

The total visible supply of cotton for the world is 4,826,751 bales of which 4,494,551 are American, against 4,614,002 and 4,170,702 respectively last year. Receipts this week at all interior towns, 223,274 bales. Receipts from plantations 349,972 bales. Crop in sight, 6,758,952 bales.

Statistics Say a Person Is Safer on the Train Than Off—Figures That Will Astonish a Reader—Capital Invested.

In keeping with these constant improvements the safety of travel is now almost absolute. The element of personal safety is even greater for the passenger than for the average person who is not traveling, as may easily be demonstrated. During 1893 the railroads of the United States carried 593,560,612 passengers an average journey of about 24 miles each, or 14,229,101,084 passenger miles. A passenger traveling constantly would accomplish about 260,000 miles per year, and 54,000 traveling constantly would be equivalent to the passenger mileage for 1893, during which year 299 passengers were killed. This is equivalent to an average annual death rate of between 5 and 6 per thousand among passengers. The annual death rate for the population at large is three or four times as great. In other words the probability of death is several times greater off than on a train.

It is curious to note that while freight rates have fallen tremendously, dropping from 6 and 8 cents per ton per mile in earlier years, to less than a cent per ton per mile at present, passenger fares show little depreciation. The average fare on 35 roads in 1848 was 2.85 cents per mile; on all roads now the average is about 2.2 cents per mile. But increasing luxury of equipment has perhaps atoned for this maintenance of old time rates.

The railways in 1893 earned $1,220,751,874, and of this amount $827,921,299 was expended for operation. From the net proceeds an average interest of 4.25 per cent. was paid on the mortgage indebtedness of $5,225,689,821 and an average dividend of 1.68 per cent. was paid on the capital stock of $4,668,935,418, a revenue to stockholders by no means extravagant. It can be said for American railroads that their average capitalization, including bonds and stock, of $62,421 per mile is less than one-third the capitalization of English railways per mile, and considerably less than the average for the world. The total capital invested in the railways of the world at the beginning of 1893 was $33,215,000,000, about $80,000 per mile.

Faces Caught as They Passed Before the Reflector.

Miss Zelle White is very sick.

Col. E. A. Keith, of Ayden, is here to-day.

Mr. R. B. Hearne, of Newbern, is in town to-day.

Col. Harry Skinner left this morning for Raleigh.

Mr. W. B. Wilson went to Par-mele to day on business.

Mrs. B. T. Bailey returned last night from Clarksville, Va.

Miss Lettye McCoy returned from LaGrange this morning.

Mr. P. G. Mayo, of Falkland, spent yesterday afternoon here.

Mrs. J. White has been quite sick some days but is reported to be improving.

Messrs. Harry P. Harding and Johnson Nichols returned to the University to day.

Mr. L. F. Evans, one of the proprietors of the Greenville Warehouse, is very sick at the King House.

Mr. J. C. Tyson has moved his family to town and occupies the new house built by his brother on Greene street.

Miss Sallie Smith, of Black Jack, is boarding at Mrs. Laura Anderson's and attending the Female Seminary.

Mr. R. H. Haves, one of the proprietors of the Greenville Warehouse, returned last night from Chase City, Va.

Rev. M. T. Moye, of Wilson, will preach at Mt. Pleasant church, four miles from town on next Sunday. Everybody invited to attend.

Mr. Paul Hosier left to-day to spend a short while at Suffolk. From Suffolk he goes to Elon College, this State, to attend school there.

The family of Mr. W. B. Duke are moving to Kinston to-day. Two of his daughters, Misses Hattie and Maggie, went over on last night's train.

Another crowd of darkies left this morning for the South.

Misses Rubbers, Nos. 11 to 1, only 20 cents. C. T. MUNFORD. *

Very few people coming in town this bad weather and trade is light.

Mr. W. R. Parker had some unusually fine beef at his market to-day.

Every business man in town should have an advertisement in the REFLECTOR.

It began snowing again early last night but about 8 o'clock changed to rain.

Just before going to press to-day the weather was showing a tendency to clear up.

What have you got in mind to do for Greenville this year that will help advance the town?

The christian as well as the sinner slips these days if he travels around in the snow much.

There is much changing of residence going on among the people throughout the county.

If you want to find out how strong is habit, observe how often you write 1894 instead of 1895.

We are glad to know that Mr. F. C. Harding is going to locate in Greenville and will practice law here.

Mr. Isaac Hardy has moved to town and occupies one of the Elliott buildings on Cotanch street.

We are glad to see the tobacco boys getting back from their holiday trips. The market has reopened.

A fountain pen is as good a thing to have all the year around as during the holidays, therefore you will find a nice assortment of the Parker Fountain Pen, best made, any time you call at Reflector Book Store.

Mr. J. T. Mobley went after ducks yesterday and got 'em. At one shot he killed five and crippled two.

The REFLECTOR predicts that before this year is out there will be a tobacco factory in Greenville. Watch what we say.

The new year begins with bright prospects for the south. It is going to be a year of hard work and rich rewards.

A marriage license was issued yesterday afternoon for H. S. Brown and Olivia Britton. None issued to day up to 2 o'clock.

The goat eats up the posters, the waste basket gets the circulars, the ragman lugs off the handbills, but newspapers with their advertisements are saved and read by the people.
