A Pleasant Surprise.

Friday night's express brought the editor a box which we appreciate very highly. It was sent by Col. J. S. Carr, of Durham, and contained a nice clock, a large package of the old genuine Durham smoking tobacco, several packages of the famous Durham short cut and several packages of the "400 cut plug." The clock represents an extra large size sack of Durham tobacco and has been given a prominent position in the REFLECTOR office, and the force will enjoy many delightful whiffs of these excellent tobaccos. The clever Colonel has our heartiest thanks for the box.

THE LEGISLATURE.

THURSDAY.

Governor Carr's message to the Legislature was an able document and makes a grand showing for the Democratic government and management of North Carolina's affairs.

Excellent advice is given the Legislature to beware of the enactment of partisan legislation and of changing the county government system and the systems of the various public institutions.

An increase of the pension tax to 4½ cents is recommended, as are also the equalization of taxes, the increase of school taxes to twenty-two cents.

The Atlanta Exposition is heartily endorsed and the legislature is asked to make an appropriation for an exhibit.

Fifty thousand dollars contingent appropriation for the penitentiary is asked for and the purchase of convict farms is recommended.

The Governor says that the Shellfish Commission has been unable to enforce the oyster law, as it has no funds, and North Carolinians have defiantly violated the law by dredging for oysters. The Governor emphatically declares that the present oyster law is a failure and suggests a new appropriation to carry it into effect.

The Fusionists began active work in the Legislature.

Senator Mewborne introduced a bill which, under suspension of the rules, was promptly passed, repealing the act of the last Legislature which amended the charter of the Farmers' Alliance.

Grant and Patterson were sworn in as the Senators from Wayne,—Aycock and Smith, Democrats, not appearing or making any claim to seats.

Senate session was very short. That of the House was longer.

Secretary of State Coke notified the House that he was ready to exhibit all bills for public printing under the new law.

Bill introduced by French, of New Hanover, to repeal present election law and replace it by one box and one ballot system.

By Ewart to repeal the county government law and establish county boards of trustees and boards of audit and finance.

By Winburne to make six per cent the legal rate of interest.

French was made chairman of the committee on rules, Ewart of the committee of privileges and elections.

Notices of fine election contests were filed, these being in Edgecombe, Granville, Pamlico and Halifax.

The Preservation of Rolls or of Folded Sheets.

It was only when writing was made upon separate pieces, or sheets, of pliable and perishable material that binding proper was invented to hold the pieces or sheets together and give strength to them and protection and beauty.

But, says the Fortnightly Review, we must distinguish. The pliable written sheet may be either rolled or folded, each giving rise to a form of binding peculiar to itself. The rolled sheet is bound by fastening each sheet to the other sideways and rolling the whole from end to end, the last sheet serving as a cover to all the rest. This form of binding is no doubt the more ancient of the two, and it was a long time in general use. It was used, for example, by the Egyptians—it was probably invented by them—and it was used by the Greeks and by the Romans, and great libraries of rolls existed for some time after the Christian era, and many industries were engaged in contributing to the perfection of the binding. It has, however, been superseded for many centuries by the folded form of literature, the invention of which is attributed to Eumenes, king of Pergamus (from whom, too, comes our parchment, or skin, prepared for writing on), in the third century before Christ. But, if the form has disappeared, the terminology of the roll has survived, and the word "volume," originally a thing that is rolled or wound up, i. e., a roll, is now applied indiscriminately to its substitute, the book of folded sheets.

The folded sheet, or section, as it is called, is bound by simply sewing or otherwise fastening the parts of the sheets to one another at the back crease or fold, and a number of sections are bound by fastening each of them to some common support at the back, so that when all are sewn or otherwise fastened they may yet be free to open and to shut at pleasure at the front or "fore edge."

The invention of the folded sheet thus gave rise to the invention of modern binding, which in its essence is the union at the back of the folded sheets, which together constituted one folded book, or, as I may say, despite the latent contradiction, the folded volume.

Eulogies on Senator Vance will be delivered Thursday of next week in the Senate by Senators Ransom and Jarvis and a number of other Senators. Representative Henderson will call together the House delegation for the purpose of making arrangements there in a few days. Perhaps every North Carolina member will deliver an address.
